The question of provincial prohibition, of Dominion prohibition, of world-wide prohibition, is knocking at our doors. It will gain admittance. If provincial prohibition is not possible, as we have been informed by the Premier of Ontario, when we broached the question, because the British North American act will not permit the interruption of interprovincial trade by prohibition of shipments of liquor, surely then our cause should demand an upheaval which will make the Government of the mother country, which gave us that act, amend it to meet our three or four years ago" needs. They are amending their own constitution, and they can amend ours.

A Case in London.

Inspector McCallum, of the city relief office, stated to The Advertiser today that neglect of parents by children is only too common in London. Not infrequently sons and daughters seek to unload their father or mother onto the city, under the pretence that they cannot afford to provide for the old people, when as matter of fact they are well able to do so. In one case, application was nade by a certain woman to have her father placed in the Aged People's Home at the expense of the citizens of London. Mr. McCallum investigated, as is his custom, and he found that there were in all eight or nine children, any of whom could easily ook after the old man. The inspector also learned that the old gentleman had three thousand dollars' life insurance, and he demanded that this be made over to the city, so that the cost of his maintenance would be collected at his death. But when the daughter heard of this she became very indignant, and was at once overcome by such torrents of fillal devotion that she announced her willingness to provide a home for her father. charitable organization or person to Mr. McCallum is strongly in favor whom an appeal is made for help of a bill to compel sons and daughters may be permitted to lay a charge of to look after their aged parents, when the latter become too old to work.

Tomorrow (Wednesday), and Thursday, an expert demonstrator will be here and give practical demonstrations on the use and operation of these Adjustable Dress Forms. We are fortunate in securing this demonstration at this time, just before the opening of the spring dress-making season, and we would strongly impress upon every woman who attempts dressmaking in the slightest degree the advisability of coming to this demonstration. These Adjustable Dress Forms are solving the dressmaking problem to a large extent, as by the aid of one of these many inexpensive dresses are now being made at home instead of at the dressmaker's. With the perfect-fitting STANDARD PATTERNS and an Adjustable Dress Form, any woman who can use a needle or sewing machine can be her own dressmaker, which is really becoming more and more of a necessity each season. THE FITTING PROBLEM has always been the trouble, but now the fitting for all may be done on the same form, which can be adjusted to almost any size or

SHARP CRITICISM BY SIR WILFRID

Elmo, Glengarry, father of Rev. Dr. C. W. Opposition Leader Takes Part In Debate on the Tariff Commission Bill.

Premier Makes a Statement Which Is Flatly Contradicted by Mr. Guthrie.

Ottawa, Feb. 12 .- Whether the duties vould be to act, as Mr. Ames says, "in sympathy" with the protectionist views of the Government, or, as Mr. White proclaims, simply to collect accurate and comprehensive data for the information of the Government, was in essence the point at issue in today's continuation of the debate on the bill creating the board. The House went into committee on the bill, and spent most of the sitting in discussing the clause defining the duties and scope of the commission. Sir Wilfrid Laurier took part in the discussion for the first time, covering succinctly the criticisms previously directed against the Government's proposal as being in disguise, a movement for higher protection. He announced himself "tariff for revenue man," and aptly applied to the hazy declaration of the Finance Minister in favor of "moderate protection," the old squaw's comment on whiskey: "A little too much is just enough." When the House

sidered?" asked Sir Wilfrid Laurier. "and what are they going to be?" Mr. White said the success of the commission would depend upon its qualified for the duties with a special thing again during the present ses-DR G. L. Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that under the interpretation of his bill, which the minister had sought to impose upon the House, the members would be simply statisticians to colect information and report to the minister. This, of course, could best be done by the staff of the department. The real purpose of the commission. as he saw it, was to prepare a brief for the minister and secure information for him along the lines of his conception of political economy. The minis. ter had declared himself to be a moderate protectionist. "What is his definition of moderate?" asked the Liberal leader. "What is the difference between moderate and immoderate protection? I never heard of a protectionist calling himself immoderate. He is always moderate, no matter how high he wants taxation. The line of distinction is hazy and difficult to define. The Power Behind. "Well," observed Sir Wilfrid, smiling, "on a recent occasion he proved that he had more power than those inside the cabinet." (Liberal cheers and laughter.) Mr. Ames had informed the House that the members of the commission must be "in sympathy with the well known senti ment of the present Government. This sentiment had been defined by the Minister of Finance as that elastic thing "moderate protection." it was not in accord with British institutions or responsible government to make permanent appointments Members of Young Australian League apon such a basis. high court bench of Ontario. Mr. White described the Liberal attack as a sham fight. They were reading into the bill what was never in it. It ill became Liberals to stand in the way of light. "I believe," said the Minister of Finance, "that if the Liberal Government had had a tariff commission there would have been no election on Sept. 21 last. f the proposed tariff commission were not in possession of the facts when they negotiated the reciprocity agreement, and the result is that we are here and they are there. If the right hon, leader of the Opposition had had the information United States had, we would still have been here instead of there, though he looks very well in both places.

"I am quite happy on this side,"

Sir Wilfrid Laurier directed attention to the fact that the Finance Minitser had failed to state his definition of moderate protection. "I am left," said he, "to apply the old squaw's comment on whiskey: 'A little too much is just enough.' If I saw any evidence of, or even intention of, impartially seeking the facts, it would be different. My honorable friend says that if we had had information there would have been no election, and we would not have been here while they are there. Looking at the long faces which perpetually people the benches on the other side of the House, I have felt that there are compensations in the exchange of positions. There is far more joy on this side. (Liberal cheers.) There have been occasions when we have sat here watching the faces yonder grow longer, and longer, and longer-(renewed cheers and laughter)-and I venture to say we shall see the same Under the circumstances would urge my honorable friend not to waste any sympathy that maye be more needed elsewhere. #### ANOTHER ORIENTAL PHENOMENON.

China a republic! The thing seems preposterous. There is a suggestion of opera bouffe in the very notion. At first glance it looks as fantastic as the burlesques of the Orient on the comedy stage. But there it is: the Manchu dynasty out by a self-denying imperial edict; the republic in the next moment by edict of the Prime Minister, Yuan Shih Kai, who appears to be the living link between the old and the new orders, and the only fountain of author-

It jumps out of a kimono into a tailor-made suit of the latest cut. Or rather it discards the strain t-jacket it has worn for uncounted centuries, for the flowing robes of liberty.

. The immediate cause of the metamorphosis is plainly seen, of course, in But what deeper causes lie behind the effect? The Chinese have been the most conservative people in history; with political institutions, social customs, and an economic organization unchanged for centuries. The index of national development is not more plainly contained in the Government's railway statistics for the year ended June 30, 1911. Each page of a report of more than 200 pages adds its interesting chapters to the whole stupendous story of empirabuilding.

The total railway mileage reported for the year was 25,400, representing an increase of 669 over 1910, aithough actually 1,600 more miles were in operation, but were officially regarded as being still under construction. There are 6,223 miles graded or being graded, and 3,834 miles on which track is laid or being laid.

In 1835 Canada had not one mile of railroads, and since then it has grown at the rate of about 540 miles a year to strike an average. In 1896 Canada had 15,977 miles of railway. When the Laurier Government went out of power there were about 35,000 miles constructed or under construction. The railway mileage for 1911 was distributed by provinces as follows, with the increase during the

The Ontario Government will borow $5,000,000 for the development and me as though the women were going olonization of Northern Ontario. In for total abstinence." That this is belated legislation is the only criticism that will be offered. The hopes built upon the construction of the Temiskaming Rallway have been only feebly realized in the clay belt. Cobalt was a rich discovery, but agricultural progress has been much slower than the resources of the country further north have warranted. Lands that must be cleared of timber are not as inviting as the treeless prairies, even though the sale of the wood gives a return for the labor of clear ing. The Government, too, has been backward in road-building and in otherwise paving the way for the set. tler, and the freight charges of the Temiskaming Railway have been burdensome. Transportation facilities must be improved and cheapened, and the state must give the pioneer a help ing hand in the improvement of the land. It has been suggested that lands be cleared at the public expense and then sold to settlers, or that settlers be advanced public money on the security of the lands. A vigorous policy on original lines will have to be worked out if New Ontario is to yield the wealth of its soil as it has vielded the wealth of its mines. There is as easy as in Western Canada. It must be gratifying to the leade of the Opposition to find his own advice, and the advice of his party before he became its leader, accepted completely by the Government. A Liberal administration won a great portion of New Ontario for the provnce. Another Liberal administration projected the railway which has opened up the mines of Cobalt and the millions of arable acres. The Liberal party in Opposition is pledged by its record to promote all well-considered schemes for the development of this great heritage. #### HOME FOR MOTHER

[By Cynthia Grey.]

There are people who think that marriage is the aim of every girl's life, but in this they are mistaken.

There are women who believe that duty is higher than love, and there is no duty which lies so near to the heart as the maintenance of the dependent mother. The daughter who is her only support must think long and earnestly where not only her but her loved parent's interests are so vitally

> Many a suitor might present himself and have boiled it repeatedly, but cannot plead for her heart and hand, but the question remove the stamping. Can you tell has to be weighed well. She feels that it would me of any way in which I could make it look all right, as I put quite a lot not be hard to love a certain one. He has much of work on it, and would like to have in his favor-a good disposition, affectionate, and it look real nice? Thanking you in he has a good position, which would insure his wife against worrying regarding the support. He tablespoons chloride of lime in half a has become a regular visitor, has spoken of his pail of soft water; drain the clear love and hinted of wanting to marry her; but in it for fifteen minutes, then rinse; soap all these conversations he has not uttered one well and let it remain in warm water word of her poor, old, dependent mother. In his calculations he seems to have made no provision quite removed with this treatment, for her. A few words that he says just as she is on the point of accepting him turn the scales against him. They were: "Mothers cannot expect to keep daughters with them always! They must part some time if they would marry!"

She knows that her mother would not be a happy member of such a son-in-law's home, and she decides that better single blessedness than to cause her mother one heart pang. No one knows better than the daughter does how hard her widowed mother struggled to bring her up and give her an education.

The young man who would interest such a girl must begin by making love to mother. First of all, he would have to prove his worth and future good intentions to her parent.

Let no one think that the mother who loves her child keeps her from marrying from motives of her own support. It is the young man who steps nobly forward and who says to such a daughter, "My home shall be your mother's home." the words which will touch a responsive chord in most daughter's hearts, and win them.

Cynthia weakened a little at that Certainly she wondered why her model chauffeur chose to express his opinions so "Do you happen to know the name of the said."

"He didn't. I noticed what he paid—out of sherr curiosity. Perhaps I ought to send her something."

But dear Cynthia was making believe to be quite amused by a notion that had just suggested itself. She leaned forward in the darkness and touched Medenham's shoulder.

Though it was no simple matter to back and turn the Mercury in that rough and narrow road, Medenham accomplished the manoeuvre with a skill that the French-man appreciated to the full. For the first time he noted the number when the tailamp revealed it. "X L 4000," he commented to himself.

"We have had a quite eventful day, she said with an air of motherly solicitude turning to the distrait girl by her side. "I am sure you are tired. What between an extra amount of sight-seeing and poor Count Edouard's unfortunate mistake, we have been in the car nearly twelve hours." "How did Fitzrey discover that we had taken the wrong road?" asked Cynthia, rousing herself from a perplexed reverie.

Advice for Orphan.

Dear Miss Grey: I am an orphan o 16. and wish for advice.

1. Is it proper for a girl of 16 to have several different men calling on her every week? 2. If so, should she kiss them? 3. Is soul-kissing wrong? If so, why? 4. What will help a girl to decide on which man to take ORPHAN.

A.-1. Girls of 16 are rather youn to have men callers, unless they look upon them as merely friends. Evidently you do not. Better wait until you are at least two years older before giving the men so much thought. You are only a girl-just postpone thè beaux for a while, 2. Certainly not! 3. Yes, for girls who kiss men indiscriminately become common-and lose the respect of the best of men. Isn't this reason enough? 4. If she loves him and he loves her, she will not need help to decide. It is to be hoped that her affections will be fixed on one who is entirely worthy.

L. C. I. HOCKEY TEAM DEFEATS ST. THOMAS COLLEGIATE 8 TO 6

Splendid Contest Played at the Princess Rink Last Evening-London Collegiate Girls Play a Tie Game With St. Thomas Girls.

[BY JINX.]

Many O. H. A. hockey games have seen played in this city that were not half so interesting or near so fast and exciting as the hockey match at the Princess Rink last evening, when the London Collegiate Institute team defeated the St. Thomas team in a Tri-County League game by the score

It was a good game of hockey, there was no doubt about that, and the large crowd of students representing both teams, had ample opportunity to cheer for their respective sides. The crowd must have numbered about one thousand, and there were just as many girl students in attendance as there were male scholars, showing that Canada's national winter pastime catching on with the ladies.

But then, of course, it must remembered that an added attraction was a real game of hockey between two teams of high school girls, representing both the London and St. Thomas Collegiates. This contest was played before the league match, and, n the words of the office boy, it was some game. It was such a strenuous struggle that the score ended a tia, one all, and although there were many who would have liked to have seen the London girls pull out a victory, one and all were loud in their praise of the splendid efforts of the girls from the Railway City, and if the local girls could not do any better than tie their opponents, it was because they were pitted against a tax that was equally as clever as they, and not for any lack of effort on their

To the close observer and a real hockey expert, it might have appeared that the L. C. I. girls were just a little bit better than their opponents, but then the St. Thomas girls felt a little strange, being away from home, and this may account for any little faults in their playing.

THE GIRLS' GAME. The game started off with a rush, even as the O. H. A. games sometimes do, and before very long-it must have seemed like ages to some of the girls—the visitors tallied the first goal Miss Baker being the lucky player. It was then nip and tuck between the two teams, and for a time the puck was kept pretty much in the centre of the ice with all the players taking an occasional rap at it. How-Miss Marjorie Tolhurst, of the L. C. I., was not content to let the St Thomas girls go home with the laurel wreath in their possession, so she made a very pretty, and at the same time, dainty and dignified shot which landed in the nets, much to the dismay of the St. Thomas goalkeeper and the visiting ladies in general.

Such was the state of affairs at half cime, neither team being able to break the tie, and in the second half matters continued about the same. Several times it looked as though a score was coming, but much to the disappointment of the spectators and the players there was nothing doing.

Once the St. Thomas goalkeeper, who was a very pretty little girl by the way, nearly let the puck get past her, but she recovered it in time to push it out of the danger zone, and after that there was not much chance for the local girls to tally, the game end-Ing with the score still a tie Harry Lecky, of London, and Lawrance, of St. Thomas, officiated, but neither one dared to be so imprudent as to penalize any of the play-The teams were:

THE SECOND GAME.

There was nothing ladylike about the second game. It was fast from the start, and both teams travelled hard all the way. of play, and it looked as though the team was going down to de feat. McRoberts was now playing his position at point, and was hugging the goal, while McQueen contented himself with occasional rushes into St. Thomas territory. Finally, Slater put one in the nets, and started the rally that eventually placed London 'n Ross followed with another a minute later, and the score was tied. Ross scored the sixth, and Slater snoved in the seventh from a puck-off in front of the goal. McQueen and Kingsworked a nice combination which resulted in the eighth goal, and soon after Delaney scored the sixth for St. Thomas. No more scoring was done from then on, and the game ended 8 to 6.

ROSS A STAR.

For the winners, Ross was the bright particular star, with "Baldy" Mc-Queen and Slater close seconds. 'Mushy" Ross, as his fellow students call him, is some hockey player, and how he came to be overlooked when the London Junior O. H. A. team was picked, is hard to reason out. Speedy, a quick thinker, and a perfect stickhandler, Ross has all the good qualities of a good hockey player, and his clean playing was the feature of the

THE SECOND HALF. Woodstock septette was out-ed in the second half and the locals chased them about mercilessly. Two tallies were quickly notched, but the Baby City representatives sustained their lead by adding one to their credit, making it 4 to 2. After this it was all Berlin. Shortly before the close of the game Goalkeeper Lefler, of Woodstock, was rendered unconscious by a shot off Boettger's stick, but pluckily resumed after a ten-minute delay. For Berlin the forwards worked like a clock, while the defence was there like a concrete wall, which was largely responsible for the defeat of the visitors.

Captain Sandercock, Smith and Gill were the best for the losers, while Lefler in goal worked like a veteran in the initial period. Berlin will meet the Toronto Canoe Club in the semi-finals. The teams:

Companies, amounted to $3,278,616.00.

The insurance act this year for the first time calls for an apportionment of the profits on deferred dividend policies that have been in force at least five years, such apportionment to be made, however, only at intervals of five years from the date of policy. Notwithstanding this provision, the former practice of computing all profits earned to date of statement has been followed, and consequently the amount of profits accrued and unpaid or earned on policies upon which the next distribution falls due in 1912, or subsequent thereto, totalling $16,231.11, is largely in excess of the requirements of the act.

SUCCESS.

[Judgé.]

"I can truthfully say I am a success," said the literary man who had easy, said the literary man who had as surplus, and the accumulating profits account is correspondingly reduced. EDWARD E. REID, B. A., A. I. A.,

The President, Mr. John McClary, in moving the adoption of the Report, said: The Report of the Directors and the accompanying Financial Statement for ear ending Dec. 21, 1911, present the affairs of the Company in so full and lear a manner as to require but little to be further said by way of explanation.

The New Business, and the Premium and Interest Receipts of the year, each show a large increase over any previous year; while the payments to Policyholders for Claims, Matured Endowments, etc., aggregated considerably less than the like payments for the previous year. The total Insurance in Force at the close of the year also shows a large in-rease, and now aggregates over Twenty Millions. The Assets also show a substantial increase, and now amount to over Three and One-half Million Dollars of high-class securities, yielding a good rate of interest on the investments. The Liabilities of the Company have, as usual, been provided for in the most ample manner. Notwithstanding the rigid treatment in this connection, characteristic of the Company, the surplus over all liabilities shows a very gratifying ncrease, evidencing care and efficiency in the conduct of the busines The rapid growth of the Company's business made it necessary to provide more ample accommodation for the office itself, and the large addition to the Head Office Building, completed during the past year, should afford this for some

I have much pleasure in moving the adoption of the Report The Vice-President, Dr. A. O. Jeffery, K. C., in seconding the adoption of A.

The statement presented, and the comments of the President, indicate very clearly that the business of the Company during the past year was of a most satisfactory nature in every important particular.

clearly that the business of the Company during the past year was of a most satisfactory nature in every important particular.

The amount of new business transacted by the Company has doubled in the short period of three years, and in the same time the business in force has inmade without sacrificing the interests of existing Policyholders is amply demonstrated by the fact that not only has the surplus of the Company increased nearly 30 per cent in the period indicated, but the actual profit distributions to Policyholders are larger than the estimates of the company furnished the agents when the existing rates first came into force.

The Company's surplus remains unique in its character, as is indicated in the existing rates first came into force.

The Company's surplus remains unique in its character, as is indicated in the credit of any participating policies of the Company. Profits due or accruing at the credit of any participating policies of the Company. Profits payable at intervals a fund is maintained out of which these profits are payable when due without. Of the policy liabilities, the only 4 per cent Reserves now carried by the builk of this Reserve is for 20-Year Endowment business, all of which will mature together to over $$55,000, showing an increase during the past year of $250,000, Reserves actually decreased during the year. Reference should be made to the exceptionally favorable mortality experienced, as indicating the careful selection of risks. The actual losses in the Ordinary Branch were much below those of the previous year, notwithstanding the increased volume of business, and the ratio of claims to premiums in the Industrial Branch showed a very gratifying decrease.

I have much pleasure in seconding the adoption of the Report.

I have much pleasure in seconding the adoption of the Report.

The Report was adopted unanimously.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the agents and other employees of the Company for the very efficient manner in which their duties during the year had been discharged. The vote of thanks was briefly acknowledged on behalf of the agents by J. F. Maine, Inspector of Agencies, "Industrial" Branch, and Geo. McBroom, Inspector of "Ordinary" Branch.

The following Directors were re-elected for the current year: John McClary, Presiden; Dr. A. O. Jeffery, K. C., Vice-President; W. F. Bullen, Sir George Gibbons, Thos. H. Smallman, T. W. Baker, W. M. Spencer, Judge Bell (Chatham), W. J. Christie (Winnipeg).

But Result of Churchill's Visit Passengers Stalled for Thirty-Six Hours Lived On Soda Biscuits.

Belleville, Ont., Feb. 12.-Passen-

thrilling experience. Although Madoo is but twenty-six miles distant from the city, the train did not reach its destination until 5:10 on Sunday morning. The train became stalled in a snowbank three miles west of West Huntingdon Station, and remained there thirty-six hours. For over twenty-four hours all the passengers had to eat were some soda biscuits. Saturday afternoon the mail clerk, Mr. Chas. Moore, and other male passengers started out to obtain omething to eat. From where the rain was stalled to the nearest farmnouse across the fields was about a mile, but it was found impossible to reach the place without the aid of snowshoes, which, of course, were unavailable. The party then walked down the track for three miles, and, available. much difficulty and enduring severe cold, reached a farmhouse. There they related their experiences, and were provided with a meal, the first for several hours, and also given refreshments in abundance for those who were upon the train. The track was in such condition that the party were gone several hours. On board were five women and three babies, one of the later being sick, but was attended to by Dr. Harper, of Madoc, who was a passenger. The party were compelled to melt snow in order to obtain water to drink. Two engines and a snowplow sent from Belleville to relieve the belated train were also stalled in snowbanks. After the train started it only proceeded at the speed of one mile per hour, and went thirteen miles at this rate.

Appearance of Edna Maud of the Pantomime.

London, Feb. 12 .- A pretty story is told of Prince John of Wales, the 6year-old son of King George and Queen Mary, and the tiny 7-year-old fairy would not change the position of the dancer, Edna Maud, now appearing at one of the pantemimes.

Little Edna has been an expert dancer since the age of 3. She has become a great pit of society and with her mother went to dance before the will not be persuaded by outside in- guests of the Durhess of Albany at the the compact honor-latter's house near Esher. "The Genius," and he gave Belwin's asco his theme for his great play, in which David Warfield is now appearing, The Return of Peter Grim." Plays in which the Indian predominated, when written by the better dramatists, have een uniformly successful, and when De Mille gave Edeson the play in which he nade such a success he believed that another would prove the same. It was accepted by A. G. Delamater, who is one of the prominent producers of New York, and he has given the play a sumptuous mounting. It is a most interesting play, full of gripping incidents and stirring situations and with a most pathetic love story. Seats Wednesday at 9 a.m.

"Peaceful Valley."

"Peaceful presentation by a number of amateurs at the Grand Opera House was one of the most satisfying performances theatre-goers have been privileged to witness in recent years. The mantle of charity is generally thrown over a critcism of amateur theatricals. Mercy is often strained to the breaking point.

However, the severest criticism may be set against the performance and the performers, and they will measure up exceedingly well, much better than was anticipated. As a result, the large audience was completely satisfied with the presentation "Peaceful Valley" is one of the oldfashioned enjoyable kinds of play made famous by Sol Smith Russell. It is brimful of homely humor, and there are many opportunities for clever acting. Few were overlooked by the cast last night. The honors of the evening, of course, went to Mr. C. E. Carruthers in the role of Hosea Howe. His appreciation of his lines was marked, and he brought to bear upon the expression of the character the ability to say clever things cleverly. The role fitted him in every point. His was an exnagic of David Belasco's name, coupled cellent bit of acting. Shanghai, Feb. 10 .- A week or so ago our Pen Fu ordered every man's queue cut off. Many at once did so but the businessmen were opposed Also some other classes. So the magistrate wrote a concilatory proclamation, delaying the time a few days Then he resorted to the method of appointing a great gathering of Chinese of all sorts, especially the scidiers, at the Kashing Fu School.

The only requirement for entrance was a "queueless head." About 1,000 were present. The Fu himself with his officers appeared before the people and then gave an account of the history of the Kuh-mintang movements in Kashing. One of the most interesting features of the occasion was the presentation to the volunteers of a number of goodly presents, from rice in quantity to dressed pigs and other delicacies of all sorts. ## HAWKED THE MUFF!

Lady's Fur Were Apprehended By the Ponce.

A Chatham man who gave his name as Frank O'Brien, and an Englishman named Nathaniel Farker, were charged with the theit of a fur must valued at $12, by a London lady in the police court this morning.

It was shown that the muff had been picked up by them at the East Loncen station of the Grand Trunk and pawned in a Clarence street shop. Both were allowed to go. According to the evidence of the complainant, she forgot the muff, and left it at the East End uepot on Feb. 6, before boarding a train for Toronto. After her departure, three men, including the two prisoners, who were present at the time, took posses sion of the muff and raised $1 50

A letter from the Chatham authorlties was to the effect that O'Brien was considered very respectable, and that he had held very good positions. He is honest, but liquor is his failing. For that reason he was given an op-Parket met while tramping at Welland, but claimed that they did not know who the third party was. The city. #### TWO STREET CARS MET IN MIDDLE OF BRIDGE

Owing to Frost On Windows, Motormen Could Not See Their Danger.

The rising temperature in the mornngs and afternoons is welcome to no lass more than the motormen on the ondon street rallway.

The past six or seven weeks have been a particularly anxious time for them owing to the dangers in handling their cars. The slippery rails, the frosted glass on the vestibule, and the cold all con-spired to make it unpleasant.

Some very narrow escapes serious accidents have occurred. The other day two Wellington cars met on the bridge at the foot of Wellington street, and only quick actin on the part of both motormen in plugging their cars alone prevented a seriou mishap. The motorman on the car going south forgot that he had not passed the up-bound car, the frost on the panes of glass making it very difficult for him to see. As he got in the centre of the bridge the north-bound car loomed up ahead of him, Both motormen saw each other at the same time, and immediately plugged machines. They bumped a little, but no dam age was done. Had they struck full ilt a terrible accident would have happened.

The panes of glass on the vestibule are clearing off nicely the past day or we, and the motormen are enabled to see better. As a result, travelling is much safer. "We are praying for milder weather," a motorman stated to The Advertiser. "The past six weeks have been trying on us.

TOMORROW IS THE DAY YOU GET THAT VALENTINE

A Noticeable Increase in the Number of Sales This Year.

Tomorrow is the day of St. Valentine, the jovial saint of long ago, in whose memory boys and girls of var-Cupods and hearts.

lous ages exchange expressions of affectionate regard in the form of dainty creations of pasteboard, lace This year there is a noticeable increase the number of valentines being sent out. Dealers claim that their sales are larger than in other years. At the postoffice the clerks and officials say that the valentine mail will be equally as large, if not larger, than racing livery horses on Queen's in other years. Tonight will be a avenue. heavy night for the postoffice clerks, and the first delivery tomorrow will be a hard morning's work for the lettercarriers.

Many new types of valentine are being sent out this season. The art valentine is each year growing more popular, and new shapes and styles are each year appearing in such numbers that one wonders at the ingenuity of the valentine designer's brain. The old face vaylentine of 20 or 30 years ago is rarely met with, and one would have and remained in that condition for 20 to look in a great many shops to find minutes. He recovered without medi- the real old-fashioned article today.

DARK MONTHS BLAMED

People Think Niagara Power Bells Are Excessive. Complaints are numerous at the city hall these days that the bills for hydro-electric lighting are going up at rather an alarming rate. It is claimed that the January accounts are rather larger than was expected, and many of the consumers are wondering whether or not they are being subjected to an increase in power At the city hall, it is claimed that here has been no change whatever in the rates—that they are the same as garet, in Niagara Falls; Mrs. (Clara)

LEVY COST ON ASSESSED VALUE

Ald. Richter's Idea for Pavements On Certain Highways in This City.

WRIGHT FOR MACADAM

City Engineer Says They Wear as Well as the Best of Them and the Cost Is Reasonable.

"I think macadam pavement is the very best possible for this city," said City Engineer Wright. "It will last as long as the best of them, perhaps longer, and the cost is very reasonable. I think it will give the very best of satisfaction all round."

It has been suggested that the cost of such a pavement be levied on the basis of assessment on certain streets, principally leading highways into

London. For example, take the Wharncliffe road: This is a very much travelled thoroughfare. It will be necessary to portunity to mend his ways. He and put it in repair, or rather build a new road at a very considerable expense. Some of the property along this street is assessed at $8 a foot. In the opinlatter has since disappeared from the lon of Ald. Richter, it would not be fair to assess this land for the full of value of the roadway, particularly as As a result, Ald. Richter thinks that

He promised to go to work if releas- He is at present working on a scheme to obviate this difficulty, and arrive at a proper basis of assessing the cost

Macadam roads will predominate in oad building in London in the future if the council adopt the report that

This type of construction will recommended altogether for South London, and will figure largely, it is expected, in road building in the resilential portions of the city.

The form of construction will be a five-inch base of concrete, either of broken stone or gravel, then a layer of broken stone of two inches in hickness on top of that, with bituminous or tar binder, and on top a light layer of torpedo stone for a top dressing. This will cost about $1.25 per square yard, and will last for many The foundation will last for all time to come, and the top dressing can be put on at any time at a small cost.

There is no doubt that much of this class of pavement will be built elsewhere, as the price is considered very reasonable.

City to Pay Part. "The city should pay a fair propor-tion of such local improvements," said Ald. Richter. "I think that it should be made on the basis of assessment." Other problems will be dealt with, such as restricting the use of certain pavements to certain areas, and the ike, which will be taken up shortly. City Engineer Wright is preparing a report on this question, which will be considered by the council at its next

THE LONDON LIFE

The Annual Report Was a Very Satisfactory One.

The annual report of the London life Insurance Company is another in long series of exceptional success, and is the most encouraging of many the feature of insurance business in London. That its future is as bright as any financial institution in the Dominion goes without saying.

The receipts for the year were prac ically a million dollars, an unprecedented amount. This is one of the largest years on record, and shows kingston PASTOR

The trapping of Mr. Sparkins having progressed so favorably, Mrs. Malderton, accompanied by her daughters, started on the following day by a most circuitous route, to a rather dismallooking old establishment, where they were greeted by the proprietor. They requested the finest silks in the establishment, and, in the usual routine about the store, Mr. Smith, the clerk, who was most familiar with that line, was called to attend to the requirements of the customers, being reprimanded by the proprietor, who informed him that he was never at hand when wanted. Smith bounded lightly over the counter and presented himself. Malderton collapsed, the young ladies screamed, and a scene such as the narrator did not care to dwell upon ensued. Horatio was discovered. Professor Bell-Smith displayed his versatility in giving a dialogue of two costermongers, who were discussing the knighting of Sir Henry Irving, the famous actor. The costers were both regular theatregoers, and one had a most interesting story to tell his companion of Irving and Terry, after having witnessed "The Merchant of 'Venus'."

In concluding, he recited the story of "The Cure of Calumet," one of Dr. AND THE CURE WAS QUICK AND Drummond's habitant narrations. A vote of thanks to the professo was moved by Mr. T. H. Purdem, K.C., who expressed the appreciation of the

Dr. C. O. Fairbank, Was Elected President at Enthusiastic Meeting Held in Sarnia.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Feb. 12.-The Lambton County Publicity Association held its annual meeting in the town hall today. The meeting was well attended and highly satisfactory from every standpoint.

Dr. C. O. Fairbank: was elected president; John Farrell, vice-president; Mr. R. Stirrett, secretary, and Johnson Macadam, assistant secretary. Dr. Fairbank's report was both in-adopted by the association, Will Report. Much important business was transacted, and standing committees were appointed to inquire into, and make reports on, the following industries in Lambton County: Dairying, the raising of sugar beets, fruit and vegetable production, and the raising of seed

The object of this association is iterest the outside world in the agricultural and fruit-growing possibilities of the county, thereby insuring an increased population, a larger production, and an enhanced land value, Publicity booklets have been published and distributed throughout Canada, the United States and England. Advertisements in various magazines are also used. Ten thousand copies of the publicity booklets were purchased by Ontario Government last year and dis-tributed throughout Great Britain.

Heartily Supported. The county council has given its nearty support and co-operation to Mar. the association , and has repeated its grant of a thousand dollars of a year ago. The campaign conducted by this enterprising and progressive association has already begun to bear fruit, and it is expected that before another xperience the biggest boom in its his-

Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus Rejected by Montreal Judge.

[Canadian Press.] Montreal, Feb. 12 .- Judge Charbonneau has rejected the petition of Charles Girard for the issue of a writ of habeas corpus, in order to secure his release from custody at the hands of the local detectives.

The petitioner represented that a low days ago he had been taken into custody by members of Chief Detective Carpenter's staff, after instructions had been received from the Haileybury authorities. He claimed that the proceedings in connection with his arrest were illegal, inasmuch as the instructions received by the local officers were simply telegraphed. A piece of fiannel dampened with contended that, even granting there was a warrant issued for his arrest in to the affected parts is superior to Haileybury, such warrant could not be obtaining money by false pretences DUTY ON METERS

HAS BEEN INCREASED

Water Commission Now Pay 30 Per Cent On All Such Goods.

ut some of the mysteries of custom laws, and they are not delighted with their experience. It is costly.

For many years the commissioners have been paying 271/2 per cent on water meters. On the last consignment re-ceived the duty was fixed at 30 per cent, and the waterworks department had to disgorge $35 more than was expected.

The reason for the increase is given by the officials, although it is not considered highly satisfactory. According to the schedule, if the larger portion of the meter was of iron the duty would be 271/2 per cent, if of brass, 30 per cent. Formerly the meter was in the first class, while the recent order puts it in the second class. As a result, the extra harge is made.

"It does not seem fair," said Chairman ococke. "We are paying enough now."
