to say that he played a very poor game but the "lives" were low, so that it did not matter to him; indeed, with his newly awakened love of gambling he would have liked the stakes higher.

While the game was in progress a new-comer entered. He was a tall, thin man, with sharp eyes and lantern jaws; he was very well dressed, perhaps a little too smartly, and he carried himself with an air strangely compounded of swagger and slink.

"Hello, Captain White!" exclaimed one; "and where have you turned up from?"

The captain smiled as he moved with a gliding, sinuous gait to the settee. "Just back from foreign service, boys," he said; and Sidney, though he was listening absently, was struck by the peculiar, toneless smoothness of the voice and its cockney accent.

"Why, let's see; how long is it you have been away?"

The captain shook his head. "Oh, a deuce of a time," he replied, with cheerful evasiveness, "though now I look round the old place it seems only the other day. What is it—pool? Count me in next game, boys!"

He sat and looked on, drinking two whiskies and sodas with a speed and facility which indicated a long practise in the operation, then found a cue and joined in. He played remarkably well, and Sidney watched him admiringly, and envied him as he put down the balls with the smoothness and ease of a professional.

"Here, this won't do, Captain; you'll have to come in with a couple of lives, won't he, Mr.— I beg your pardon, sir, I don't happen to know your name," said one of the men to Sidney.

CHAPTER XXII. There are always plenty of rooms to be obtained in George Street at that time of the year, and as Sidney had plenty of money at his command, he chose a fairly handsome suite, paid for a month in advance, and said he would dine and sleep there that night.

The landlady was all obsequiousness—she had obtained twice her usual rent—and assured "Mr. Richards" that she would make him comfortable.

He sauntered about Piccadilly for an hour or two—Sir Edward had not yet put him up at the Fortune Club, so that he had nowhere to go—then returned to his solitary meal. It was all right enough, but he did not very much enjoy the admirably cooked sole cutlets and souffe, for the folly of the step he was going to take loomed heavily upon him all the while he was eating.

When he had got through the meal he wondered what he should do with himself. Then he thought of some billiard-rooms off the Strand, to which an acquaintance, on unusually flush occasions, had taken him, and, calling a cab, had himself driven there.

On his previous visits to this place he had thought it very "smart" and "sporting," but with his newly acquired experience, he looked round the rather dingy room with a barely concealed air of contempt.

It was a respectable place enough, and two or three clerks, a building barrister and a journalist were playing pool. Sidney seated himself on the raised settee, and ordering a whiskey and soda, watched the game. Presently he was invited to join, and he took a cue. It is scarcely necessary to him that it would be safer if he took them in an assumed name, for someone might identify his own with that of the Starborough family.

Which Was The Heir?

CHAPTER XXI. (Continued.) I love to hear you say that, darling," she murmured. "And I know it's true. But a registrar's! I've read about that kind of marriage, and always hated the idea; but I suppose it can't be helped. Shall we be married at once?"

She hid her face modestly against his shoulder, so that he did not catch the eager, anxious gleam in her eyes. "Fancy us being husband and wife! Can you fancy it, dearest?"

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Grantville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Grantville, Vt.

out. Of course, we must comply with all the proper legal forms.

"Of course!" she echoed, with a barely suppressed earnestness. "Oh, but think of your being away from me for a whole fortnight, Sidney! I'd—I'd almost rather not be married."

"I can run down in between. I've only to take rooms somewhere and live there for a day now and then," he explained.

To whom it may concern: This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT myself as well as prescribed it in my practice where a liniment was required and have never failed to get the desired effect. C. A. KING, M. D.

They sat and talked for over an hour, and before that time she had convinced him that her consent had been wrung from her. She sped to the cottage—looking behind her with lingering glances—with a heart beating furiously with anticipatory triumph and glory—the Countess of Starborough!

But as Sidney went slowly to the house, his enthusiasm and eagerness rather diminished. After all, it was as important step he proposed taking; after all, he was the future earl, and—and, well, Rachel, for all her prettiness and charm, was scarcely fitted to the wife of so exalted a personage. Besides, there was an awkward secret respecting her father. She did not know that her father was a convict—perhaps if he told her, she wouldn't insist upon a marriage? But he had scarcely sunk low enough for such a piece of baseness, and he sighed perplexedly.

The next morning he went to London. He said nothing to Sir Edward of his visit, but he sent a respectful little note to the earl, asking if there was anything he could do for him in town, to which the earl returned the courteous reply that he could not think of troubling Mr. Bassington with any commissions, the same always being executed by his lordship's agents.

The Evening Chit-Chat
 By RUTH CAMERON

It seems to me that it is every woman's artistic duty to make a deliberate effort to dress in style. Now, before you become indignant at that sentiment, please let me add a modifier. I don't mean in "the" style, but in "her" style.

For every woman there is a certain style of costume in which she looks the best. There is the woman, for instance, who looks best in plenty of fluffy ruffles and dainty ribbons and frothy laces, and then there is the woman who looks like a walking junk shop if you put any of these things upon her, but like a queen in the simplicity of severe things.

And it isn't a matter of figure only, but also of face and personality. The clothes of the perfectly gowned woman fit her face and her personality, as well as her figure.

Every woman should know her own style. What is yours? Ever think that matter over or do you just wear what's fashionable and let it go at that? That's the way most women do. Occasionally they get a costume that just suits their personality, and everyone says, "How well you look," and they wonder what makes that inexpensive dress so much admired, but in nine cases out of ten they don't know enough to study the matter and find out.

I know a girl who is a Quaker in personality. Last winter she had lavender-grey gown made with very simple, full lines and a lot of something soft and white around her throat. She was perfect. That was because the gown matched her Quaker personality.

But she didn't analyze her success. She just thought that it showed that white up round her throat was becoming to her, and this year she is hideous in a tight fitting, light blue gown with a white yoke.

I know another girl who believes in this theory and lives by it. She is a girl whose prettiness is of rather old fashioned type—the picture-of-grandmother-when-she-was-a-girl kind of prettiness.

She knows this, and although she very much admires snubby-toed shoes and tailor made things, she never yields to the admiration, for she knows that they are not for her.

Instead she wears, as much as she can, soft, full, dainty things, flowered muslins that make you think of grandmother's garden, and soft white stuffs like the roses that grow in it.

And she is a satorial success. She and her clothes match.

I think every girl, when she gets old enough to dress herself, should look over—and into—herself, and say, "What is my style? Am I the fluffy ruffle style or the snubby-toed, broad shouldered, severe but sporty style, or the one piece gown style, or the quaint old fashioned style, or what am I?"

And after due thought and experimentation, having found the right style, I think she should stick to it. If all American girls would do this I have no doubt we could take the palm of being the best dressed women in the world away from our Parisian sisters.

Ruth Cameron

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

ARMOUR FOR THE PAGEANT OF LONDON.

Story of Two Terrified Burglars.

In the Electra Theatre, Upper Norwood, 20,000 pieces of armour are being manufactured for the great Pageant of London, the central feature of the Festival of Empire, to be held at the Crystal Palace this summer. The theatre is a scene of extraordinary activity, as the first performance of the Pageant is fixed for Mary 23rd. All kinds of armour and weapons, from the stone-axe of the Ancient Britons to the tilting suit of the tournament knight, are being made, and historical accuracy is insisted on in each case.

In an interview yesterday, Mr. Fortner, the armourer, told some interesting stories concerning the work of making imitation armour for pageant and other purposes.

"Altogether," he said, "something like 20,000 pieces of armour and arms will be required for the Pageant of London. Perhaps the most difficult to make is the tilting armour, as the original was lavishly decorated. A suit of this armour would weigh 108 lbs., but the Pageant suit will be no heavier than one's ordinary clothes."

"From the outset we were instructed that every piece of armour made must be historically correct, and I assure you that neither pains nor expense have been spared to faithfully carry out the instructions. The longest and weariest search was for examples of the early periods, particularly from B.C. 66 (where the Pageant commences) until the Norman Conquest, 1066. Particulars for this period can be obtained only from old manuscripts, monuments, statuary or coins. One part of a particular suit of armour may be found on an old tomb with the shield and helmet missing.

"Some of the shields which will be used in the Pageant are copies of very rare specimens in private collections.

"What is done with our armour after the Pageant? It is to be sold—no, not for another Pageant but to private individuals, clubs and hotels for decorating purposes. You are surprised? Many a piece of grand old armour hanging on the walls of a grand old mansion is just—paper, mache! But it is so exquisitely made that no one, not even an expert, could detect the sham from a distance of a few feet.

"Mention of this phase of the work recalls to mind an amusing incident. The country house of a gentleman to whom I had sold a set of arms for hall decoration, was entered by burglars. Aroused by the noise the householder went down stairs and discovered two men gathering together the silver in the dining room. The men sprang up as he reached the hall. He stepped back in alarm and seized the first weapon that came to hand; this was a terrible-looking war-hall. The householder brandished the weapon, threatening to brain the men if they moved. Awd by its appearance, the burglars crouched in a corner until the police arrived, and then the householder told them the weight of the war-hall—a few ounces!

"Another gentleman to whom I had

Tells How She Brought Her Sick Daughter Back to Health.

"My daughter enjoyed a vigorous and happy childhood," writes Mrs. Eugene Jardine, from Shepherd's Point. "Being an only child, our anxieties were great, when just at her approach upon womanhood, her strength failed and her mind became somewhat depressed. Her appetite became so variable that no effort I could make to supply variety and changes of diet would induce her to take comfortable meals. I never saw a girl tire out so quickly—she had nothing to fall back upon, no resistance at all. Her natural functions were checked and her color was blanched. It looked like pernicious anaemia until I found how quickly Ferrozone was building up her blood. Even the first sign of redness in her cheeks, and the improved interest she began to take in things, gave us courage. This improvement was only the beginning of good that Ferrozone started. Jennie's appetite improved, and her daughter's case proves Ferrozone the best tonic treatment for growing girls. It restored Jennie's health when we were almost in despair, and I hope many other mothers will see their girls use it too."

It's from twelve to twenty that every girl needs iron for her blood—a bracing tonic to keep her vitality high—all she requires is combined scientifically in Ferrozone: try it, one or two tablets with meals; 50c. per box, six boxes for $2.50, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

sold a set of 'ancient armour' returned home one night to find his wife in tears and the armour ruined. The servant had endeavored to brighten up the 'beastly rusty weapons' with emery cloth and metal polish. Unfortunately the 'rust of ages' was a secret paint.

"The most costly of the armour made for the Pageant of London will be that used in the tournaments. Much of the original was beautifully chased or inlaid with precious metal. The arms used in the Queen Elizabeth scene are also of beautiful workmanship and have been carefully reproduced in every detail. In part 1, scene 5, of the Pageant, which will represent the Norman Conquest, A.D. 1066, the pieces of arms number 2,500; they have been carefully reproduced from the famous Bayeux Tapestry."

Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, is taking inordinate interest in the preparations that are being made for the Festival of Empire. At the request of the organizers Her Royal Highness is having sent to the Crystal Palace, for inclusion in the Canadian section, the famous collection of North American Indian relics and other objects of interest which were collected during the Duke of Argyll's Governor-Generalship of Canada. Princess Louise is a well known sculptor and has graciously consented to have a replica of her statue of the late Queen Victoria placed in the Crystal Palace. The original statue is in the beautiful gardens of Kensington Palace.

Coughs, Colds BRONCHITIS

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected parts. It's because the healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes, because its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhozone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis or Throat Trouble.

The wonderfully-soothing vapor of Catarrhozone instantly reaches the furthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing, curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid, which goes merely to the stomach, and fails entirely to help the throat or lungs.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing, and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only, 50c. $1. at all dealers.

P. M. G. Report.

We have read with interest the Report of the Postmaster General for the year 1908-9, which is just published. The heavy expenditure of the department is due to steam subsidies, which although paid directly for the carriage of mails, are indirectly a subsidy to promote freight and passenger traffic and are therefore largely an overweighing of expenditure on this department.

There are other features of book-keeping which it is necessary to note in order to place this department in a better light in regard to its apparently excessive expenditure over revenue. One fact is that "over $17,000 in Customs duty is collected on parcels handled exclusively by the Postal Department, for which no credit appears in postal revenue account."

As the Postal Telegraph Revenue for 1907-1908 is given as $50,542.29, and 1908-1909 as $63,343.64, it is somewhat surprising to find that the P. M. G. estimates that there is every year $50,000 worth of business handled free "On His Majesty's Service." It would be interesting to learn how this is distributed through the different departments of the Government, and whether any deductions, and if so, how much, has to be made for service messages in connection with the Postal Telegraph Department itself or whether the whole should be charged to other departments and credited to the Postal Telegraphs.

Although it is a matter of book-keeping and makes no difference to the Government ultimately, except as a check on the departments, this would place the Postal Department in its proper light in the Public Accounts. The excess of Expenditure over Revenue which is shown as $16,043.43 would disappear, and instead of this the Postal Telegraphs would be in credit, while other departments would be charged with the business they transact over the Postal Telegraphs.

Clean Legislators if Not Clean Legislation

The United States Senate is adding to its privileges in remarkable fashion. It has established at the Capitol some "senatorial baths," which, according to the "Washington Post," are "rivalling in magnificence those of ancient Rome." These baths are for exclusive use, at the public expense, of senators, judges of the Supreme Court, and members of the Executive.

Attached to them by a special lift is a gymnasium, where the senators may "daily chase the medicine ball" or "disport themselves on the rings and horizontal and parallel bars prior to taking baths at intervals in a trying session."

In order that nothing may be wanting for the comfort of the harassed senators and judges, the following appropriations have now been included in the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial Appropriation Bill:—
Attendant in charge of the bathing-rooms, who will be a professional masseur, salary £360; Two attendants of the bathing-rooms, £145 each; Janitor of the bathing-rooms, £145. The idea of thus appointing a Federal masseur impresses the New York World as an imposition on the public purse, but the majority of writers seem to approve of the new institution as a powerful deterrent to legislative corruption. "If we cannot have clean legislation we can at least have clean legislators," accurately reflects the general sentiment of the indulgent American public.—Daily Mail.

Kite's Good Prospects.

The Telegram had a conversation to-day with Capt. Dan. Martin of the schr. Cedella, which was in the Gulf, and he says that he saw the smoke of two steamers on the 17th March to the N.W. of his schooner, and believed that both ships were in the hoods. This was N.N.W. of Bryon Island, and that day Capt. Martin sighted the first harps and captured three families of hoods. The harps lay to the S.W. and he is certain that the two steamers alluded to were the Labrador and Kite, as next day he was near the Viking, Southern Cross and Harlaw to the W.S.W. He is firmly of the opinion that the Kite will pick up a load of old and young seals. The schr. Bessie Jennex got 30 white coats on the 17th, and the Golden Roy, Capt. Bragg, was picking up seals in the same ice, so that both vessels will have fair if not full loads.

Schooners' Big Bills.

The work of discharging the schr. Cedella, of Channe], Capt. D. Martin, finished this morning at Job's, South Side. She turned out 2,136 young harps, 340 old harps and 100 old hoods, or an aggregate of 2,180 seals, valued at $3,573.70. Her crew of 12 men shared $148.16 each. The Milledred, which has 1,300 seals, will afford her crew of 10 men about $109 each.

FIRE! FIRE!! FIRE!!!

"Ayre & Sons mammoth departmental stores narrowly escaped destruction at 11.30 to-day, and but for the promptness and energy of the employees they might have been badly damaged. In the wholesale hardware department on the third floor, the tinsmiths were sealing some tins of paint received in a damaged condition, when in some way a quantity of turpentine was spilled over a gasolene stove near. The result was that the fluid caught fire, the flames quickly spread to the windows and walls, the apartment was filled with smoke, and Mr. Jas. Ayre telephoned the Central Fire Department, the men responding with their apparatus. While the firemen were rushing to the scene, the employees used the "Protector" fire extinguishers kept in the building, and in less than 5 minutes the chemicals coming from the short hose attached to these had quenched the blaze. The window ledges, walls and stock were damaged to the extent of about $400."—Evening Telegram, April 5, '10.

When the tenant returned home yesterday she says she could not get in the front door and was asked by the landlady to come to the rear. It is said that about ninety thousand Americans have crossed the border and located in Western Canada during eleven months, and it is expected that six hundred Canadians, residents of the United States, will leave New England in a month for the Canadian Northwest. Such a state of affairs is sufficient to drive any person to the Antarctic regions.

2 More Sealers Arrive. EAGLE HAILS FOR 27,000 HARPS

The S. S. Eagle, Capt. Joseph Kean, arrived at Bowring Bros. at 4.15 p.m. yesterday hailing for 27,000 prime young harps.

The ship left Westleyville at 8 a.m. on the 12th and had clear water till she reached the Barracks, off Fogo, when she encountered the foe. She led all the way, the next vessels being the Newfoundland and Algerine.

On Sunday, the 13th, the three ships got away from the rest, and Wednesday morning, the 16th, they were in the heaviest Arctic floe, the ice being in big sheets, and her companion ships were then about 10 miles astern. In forcing through the first white coat was met this day, but it had been partly eaten by some marine animal. On the 14th and 15th several old seals were seen, and Wednesday, the 15th, after forcing through the ice for a while the ship was turned around, steamed a few miles south to get through the slack ice, and struck a sheet which contained old seals.

Some of the crew were sent after these, and two gunners were despatched to a big lake of water, these latter returning with 4 old seals, reporting that they had killed a bitch which had pupped, and evidently suckled its young, while the rest of the crew reported thousands of old seals in the direction they had taken. The ship was then about 50 miles S. E. of the Grois Islands. The Newfoundland and Algerine ranged up alongside that evening at 4, and there being no means of penetrating N. N. E. the ship backed out from between the sheets, and then steamed south until a lead was had to get north, and the vessel burnt down at midnight. St. Patrick's morning she steamed S. E. until she got the line of the old fat that were seen the previous day. The day was stormy with fog and rain, and the ice was jammed tight. She saw a sign of old seals again at 10 a.m. that day while running N. E. At 5 p.m. the crew were gladdened by the sight of several white coats on the ice. The Algerine was 4 miles distant on the port side, and the Eagle kept steaming on until 8 p.m. when she burnt down in thousands of white coats in the southern patch. All hands were over the bows at daylight. Friday, the 16th, and the slaughter began. The weather was fine, the ice loose and the seals scattered off to the westward the seals were more numerous, so that most of the men were sent in that direction. Friday 10,000 harps were killed and panned.

Saturday, the 19th, the weather was bad and only 3,000 were accounted for, and the ship with the Algerine pretty well cleaned out all the seals in this locality. The ice going together that evening the men had to haul most of these seals to the ship, and it took until Thursday, the 24th, to get this 13,000 seals stowed away. The men working by moonlight until nearly midnight. On the 25th the men were again busy killing. At noon one master watch came on board reporting plenty of seals and asking for more flags. The ice loosened a bit and the ship steamed 3 miles N. N. E. and burnt down in the thick of the fat, and all hands including the firemen were busily engaged killing, and 9,000 were killed that day, and on Saturday, the 26th, 8,000 were cleaned up. The ice being in big sheets the ship could not reach her pens and the men had to haul from the pans, a distance of from 1 to 2 miles, each day, until Thursday, the 31st March, when a gale came and parted the big sheets. At 5 p.m. that day the last seal was hoisted on board, and 26,500 were under decks. Friday, April 1st, she started south, and that evening got 600 more seals.

On Saturday last the Funks were sighted, and that day and Sunday the ship remained in the ice. Thousands of old seals were seen these two days. One of the tubes in the boiler becoming leaky they were detained all Monday until 5 p.m. repairing. Tuesday a N. W. gale blew with heavy frost, and she left the ice at 10 a.m., but a choppy sea ran and she had to return to the shelter of the floe, but again left for home at 1 p.m., and had a good run to port.

The ship was in wireless communication with the Florizel all the spring. The Beothic was seen Saturday last with 23,000 old seals outside the Funks, and her chances of the old fat are very good, as the Eagle saw many old seals in the water there Tuesday. All the other ships were left in the whelping ice Thursday evening last 40 miles N. of the Funks, but there were no old seals about then. The Neptune, Saturday, was with the Beothic and Eagle 30 miles outside the Funks, and hailed for the weight of 12,000 seals, old and young hoods. Bowring Bros. have now 118,000 seals in port, and with the Ranger, Aurora and Kite to hear from.

BELLAVENTURE, 36,000.

The S. S. Bellaventure, Capt. Job Kneen, arrived here at 6.30 p.m. yesterday with 36,000 prime young harps, except 1,000 old.

The ship went down with the fleet of modern ships from here on the 12th of March, being in company with the Florizel, and with that ship she struck the seals on St. Patrick's Day. In about 6 days the crew estimate that they at least killed and panned 50,000. When the ship struck the fat it was foggy, and only 1,300 were killed and hauled on board. On the 18th all hands were out at daylight and panned 11,000, and next day also good work was done, though the ice was in heavy sheets and the ship could not force through it well. The crew worked with a will on the succeeding days. On Saturday last the crew put their last young seals on board. A couple of days ago the ship on her way home struck thousands of old seals in the mouth of Bonavista Bay, and 900 were killed. If the ice had come together the men say that they would have killed a ship-load in a few hours so numerous were the seals. The 900 taken were batted, not one being shot. The Beothic came in while the Bellaventure's men were at work and secured at least 1,000, and remained there after the Bellaventure left for home.

We congratulate both Capt. Joseph Kean and Job Kneen on their success.

Mr. Job Has News.

Capt. Job Kneen of the Bellaventure handed Mr. W. C. Job a letter last evening, dated March 31st, from Capt. G. Barbour of the Beothic, in which Capt. Barbour stated that he had 25,000 seals and intended being them down and remaining out until he, if possible, secures a full load. Capt. J. Kean also brought a letter to Mr. Job from Capt. Alpheus Barbour of the Neptune, in which it is stated that the ship hauled for 3,200 young hoods, 200 old hoods and 1,000 old harps, or the weight of 12,000 young. Prospects were good for securing a large trip of old fat.

THURSDAY, April 7, 10. Rademaker's Hoppies are a sweetmeat of Dutch origin, and somewhat resembles Butter Scotch. They have, however, a delicious flavor which makes them "different." It is impossible to render that difference in words; in order to appreciate it, Hoppies should be sampled. We believe this tasty sweetmeat will become very popular. At the Military Road Branch. As the Bellaventure was hauling out into the stream from A. J. It fell with a resounding crash and broke off two of the stout props underneath.

Betterment of Their Employees.

Special Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, April 6.

Improvements and increased wages for its employees, rather than melior for stockholders, is to be the official attitude of the Western Union Telegraph Company hereafter. A resolution to this effect was adopted today at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Company in New York. Robert Clowery, President of the Company, said all earnings of the Company above the present dividend rate of three per cent per annum will be put into the property in order to raise it to the highest standard of efficiency. The Company has plans for improving the working conditions of its employees and re-arrangement of salaries. There will be no horizontal increase. Our policy will be to treat employees individually as human beings, as not in bulk as a mathematical problem rewarding merit as it deserves in all cases.

The Fishery Dispute.

Special to Evening Telegram. WASHINGTON, April 6.

An array of Counsel greater in number and more illustrious in reputation than ever before assembled at the Hague to engage in the trial of a special case, has been retained to represent Great Britain and the United States, in the determination of what is undoubtedly the most important issue ever presented to the great peace tribunal. Technically this is the determination of differences which have arisen between the two Governments, as to the true intent of the provisions of Article I. of the Treaty of 1818, defining the fishing rights of Canadians and Americans in their respective waters. The issue of greatest importance is the determination of a right of a Colony, a Province such as Canada or Newfoundland, by local legislation to deprive persons of rights conferred by Treaty between the principals. On June the First next the arbitration tribunal is to meet at the Hague to hear the arguments. The Arbitration Court will consist of Dr. Heinrich Lammasch, of Austria, Umpire, who will act as President; Louis F. Drago, Argentine Republic; Jonkheer A. (?) Desavornin Lohman, of the Netherlands; Judge Geo. Gray, of Delaware; and Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada. The Agent of Great Britain in this arbitration is the Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice of Canada. The counsel on the part of Great Britain, are the Rt. Hon. Sir William Robson, K.C., Attorney General of England; the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Finlay, K. C., former Attorney General of England; Sir Herford Richards, K. C.; and on the part of Canada, John S. Ewart, K. C., and Geo. Shepley, K.C., W. H. Felley, on the part of Newfoundland, the Hon. Sir Edward Morris, K. C., Premier of Newfoundland, and Hon. Sir James Winter, K. C., former Attorney General of Newfoundland, and Hon. D. Morrison, K. C., Attorney General of Newfoundland; and the Solicitors are Messrs. Blake and Redden. The Agent of the United States is Chandler Anderson. The United States Counsel are Senator Root, Geo. Turner and Samuel J. Elder; and the associate counsel are James Brown Scott, Solicitor for the Department of State, Chas. D. Warren and Robert Lansing.

To Crush Revolt.

Special to Evening Telegram. CONSTANTINOPLE, April 6.

Fourteen battalions of Turkish troops here have been ordered to North Albania, where a revolt has broken out. The trouble is attributed to resentment against the new taxes, and is causing the Government much anxiety.

Advises Conciliation.

Special Evening Telegram. MADRID, April 6.

The Spanish Cabinet to-day despatched to the Cabinets of Peru and Ecuador telegrams enjoining these Governments to adopt a conciliatory attitude toward each other. The Spanish Government considers that it was its duty to tender this advice as King Alfonso is the arbitrator of the boundary dispute, which gave rise to the ill-feeling and subsequent war talk among the people of both Republics.

Author of "Parnellism and Crime."

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, April 6.

In an article in Blackwood's Magazine, Sir Robert Anderson admits authorship of the famous "Parnellism and Crime" series of articles published in the Times in 1887, which culminated in the publication of the Pigott Forgery. Sir Robert Anderson was then adviser of the Home Office and later during the proceedings of the Parnell Commission became head of the investigation division of Scotland Yard.

Biggest Aeroplane.

Special to Evening Telegram. PLAU, Germany, April 6.

The biggest aeroplane yet constructed, the invention of Major Von Parsowal, has just undergone its successful preliminary trials here. The new flyer is a monoplane with a four cylinder motor of 120 horse power. It carries 170 pounds of benzine, and it is calculated it will remain in the air for 3 hours. The breadth of the planes is 45½ feet, and the length of the machine is 45 feet. It is propelled with torpedo-like floats for descending on water and wheels for the land.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

Mr. Michael Stapleton, for many years clerk in Mr. Joseph Ross' grocery store, has accepted a position with Mr. E. E. Parsons in the same line of business. Mike is one of our most popular young men, and Mr. Parsons is to be congratulated on securing his services.

The social and concert in the Methodist Hall last night was well attended and most enjoyable.

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. The preparatory service will be held on Friday night.

It was with general regret our citizens heard of the loss of the s.s. Iceland. She is the last of the sealing steamers formerly owned by Messrs. John Atum & Co., and brings back to the minds of many former bright days in this town.

Our Carbonare friends are no doubt very liberal. They believe in the text "It is more blessed to give than to receive." At any rate they made an attempt to give us a case of small pox lately developed there. On Sunday last several people were engaged fitting up the hospital here and getting it in readiness to receive cases of small pox from the sister town. Harbor Grace has not one case at present, and when the above news was circulated, our prominent citizens immediately entered a protest against such a proceeding. Up to the present time the patient has not been sent up. Our people think it would be very unfair. We hope our Carbonare friends will soon have the disease stamped out.

CORRESPONDENT. Harbor Grace, April 6, '10.

Hi-PO Waterproof Dry Batteries

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE, during recent years, has demonstrated that dry batteries, if properly constructed and protected, are ideal for ignition purposes.

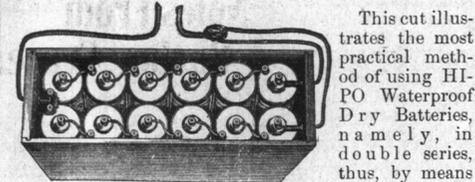

These two essential qualities are combined in the HI-PO waterproof dry cells.

It is a well known fact that the old-type zinc-cells are short-lived when exposed to moisture. Water and dampness have not the least effect on the HI-PO waterproof dry batteries, which can even be left standing in salt water without risk of short current.

Owing to the new patent process under which they are manufactured, the HI-PO waterproof dry cells are protected against all outside influences, each individual cell being built up and sealed in an insulated case.

The HI-PO waterproof dry batteries are used with absolute safety on land, on water and in aerial navigation; they are suitable for any work in any climate.

The HI-PO waterproof dry cells have a much longer life and give more service, size for size, than any other battery made.

This cut illustrates the most practical method of using HI-PO Waterproof Dry Batteries, namely, in double series, thus, by means of a switch, one set is allowed to recuperate, while the other set is in use. (Repair Dept.)

THAT PETITION FROM BAY BULLS.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—My attention was drawn to an item in one of the papers last week referring to a petition got up some months ago on behalf of Dr. Giovannetti and which was signed by two Parish Priests and a large majority of the voters of the two parishes. I am told there was a reply from some sympathizer of the Government (if not the party, most concerned) in which some reference was made to fees. It was also stated the petition was not sent to the members.

Now, while I do not wish to dabble in a newspaper controversy, I consider, however, some light should be thrown out on the matter of the said petition.

Nearly three years ago, Dr. Giovannetti came to this district at the request of our Priest, and with high testimonials. He was commended to the people by the priests of both parishes. What was ever done on the shore worth noting that our priests did not take the initiative in and in the matter of the doctor everyone knows that it was sympathy with suffering humanity and charity, of which politicians know not the shadow, that prompted them to secure a doctor they could commend to the

Got Father Morriscy's "No. 10" Just in Time To Save His Life.

Mr. Aylward's letter tells the story: Campbellton, N.B., Feb. 5, 1909. Father Morriscy Med. Co.
During the winter of 1907, while travelling on the Gaspé Coast, I contracted a severe cold which settled upon my lungs.
After I returned home I wrote to Father Morriscy explaining my case. I received a letter from him with a prescription for his medicine, which could not be filled at the time here. After one week's delay I received it, just in the nick of time to save my life. After one month's use I felt like a new man.

Yours truly,
Jno. Aylward.
There is not much time to lose when a cold settles on the lungs. Pneumonia kills within a week. With Father Morriscy's "No. 10" at hand, you don't even have to wait for a doctor. "No. 10" cures all throat and lung troubles. It is a real Lung Tonic, and fortifies against future attacks. Trial bottle 25c. Regular size 50c, at your dealer's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co. Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

dred people and their spiritual leaders must be sacrificed to the humors of a nabob.

The writer is aware that unavailing efforts were made to bring about an amicable settlement, but the people were to learn that they had elected not a representative, a servant, but a cruel tax master.

On December last the matter of the doctor was again taken up in the churches of the two parishes on a certain Sunday, and the whole question lucidly thrashed out, making it doubly clear that this was at no time a political matter; that as the doctor was dismissed by the Government, it was in order to again approach the Government by petition by every free and independent voter from Cape Reddick to North Head. This was done by every man who had the courage to openly call his soul his own, or who was not actuated to oppose by some political or other spite.

The writer who signed himself "Main Bridge" says the petition was not given to the members. I have made enquiry into the mode of procedure, and think due etiquette was observed in the case. Does "Main Bridge" imagine that the whole people of Bay Bulls and the other settlements are such a lot of lick spittles as he may have found in some individual cases, or that with cringing canine servility we are prepared to kiss the toe that kicks us. Humility is a virtue, but craven, supplicant cowardice is unworthy a man. Let me inform "Main Bridge" and the public generally, that the petition in question was sent to the Governor in Council through Mr. James Kent, and that a copy of same was forwarded by him to Mr. Cashin, and his support to the prayer of the petition solicited by him being a member of the Executive.

As far as I can learn he took no action on the matter—consistent to the policy of crush. I am also aware that at an opportune time the Premier was approached in the matter, but it would seem that the power of procrastination was resorted to, as Mr. Kent was obliged to ask in the Assembly if any action had been taken on the petition, when he was told that the matter was under consideration: to the Greek Kalend I suppose. These are the dry facts of the situation, but there are facts bearing upon the doctor's case not, may not be, quite so dry should occasion call them forth.

"Main Bridge" complains of the doctor's fees, and advises re-adjustments of rates and mileage for Bay Bulls I suppose. The fact of the matter is that the doctor's charges are less than in similar cases elsewhere; he does not push people, and in many cases makes no charges. Everybody knows that there are people to be found who like the doctor's pills but who cannot relish his bills; and "Main Bridge" may be one of that stamp.

Now, in point of population, sound standing, and commercial importance, this portion of the Ferryland District is in no way inferior to the more favoured section. Bay Bulls had a Doctor and a Magistrate long before Cape Broyle. Ferryland was always regarded as being somewhat aristocratic, drawing its prestige from the fact, no doubt, that it once was distinguished by the residence of a "live lord." It may one of these days rank in importance with the "Guy Colony." However, for years past it has been the fortunate possessor of a medical official who dispenses justice with his drugs at the measure of 375¢ a year. Bay Bulls has no such privilege. It may be that we are such a law-abiding people, though there may be a scattered pane of glass broken, and a little smuggling done by a few of the more spirited element, and therefore any ordinary citizen who may be able to scratch his name in hieroglyphics can settle our disputes with equity. It is a slight upon Bay Bulls to be thus treated. We have taxation without fair representation. This is an important seaport town and should have a medical officer and magistrate combined, whose known qualifications would give confidence in both his dispensaries. Dr. Giovannetti is eminently qualified for such an office.

This appointment was absolutely non political, made at the request of two parish priests, and recognized by every man of intelligence as done in the best interest of the public.

Matters were progressing satisfactorily until a conglomeration of old Tories and Liberal deserters decided to join their fortunes in a new venture under the title of the People's Party. No sooner had Mr. Cashin secured a fat salary as Minister of Finance, with the coveted title of honourable, then he set to work to clear out of office every one who dared have the courage of his conviction in the late political campaign, with characteristic disregard for the personal feeling or civic rights of either priests or people. Such action was not alone vindictive, but unjust, cruel, and tyrannical, unworthy a man with any claim to honor, or one spark of philanthropic regard for the people who elected him. In the turning out of the doctor especially there was a haughty, disdainful, domineering piece of acting worthy only of a man that can hate an honest opponent, and abuse his power to crush him. In the effort to kill Giovannetti the object was evidently to trample on all opponents—priests and people—even the innocent should suffer with the guilty.

Although the council that cancelled the appointment was largely composed of members of the late Government were not so pliable to Mr. Cashin's wishes in the case of an old postal servant marked down for slaughter, the worthy aspirant to his job has to wait (on Executive responsibility), but twenty-three hundred people and their spiritual leaders must be sacrificed to the humors of a nabob.

In my opinion, if the men who signed the petition in question felt as I do the indignity that has been flung at us by our so-called representatives they would assemble in their strength from every settlement the next time Cashin passes through, and demand from him, as the trustee of their rights, a satisfactory answer to that petition. We are paying our share of the revenues from which Mr. Cashin draws his big salary and "pickings," and even now many of his erstwhile supporters are leaving our shores while he is letting off gas on the prosperous state of our finances. What a pity he could not congratulate himself on the success of the seal-fishery.

I must apologize for the length of this letter, but I wanted to give an outline of the situation as I view it. It may so happen that I should have to take up points therein another time, I would prefer not, but should I be drawn into the fray I would remind "Main Bridge" that I have lots of ammunition and that I am a "dead shot." The only just settlement of the question at issue, and the only one that will satisfy the public is to appoint the doctor medical health officer with sufficient salary for the discharge of his important duties. It will be money well spent (and for which there is already precedent), it will show that the people responsible to us have some sense of their obligation, and that they recognize that they, though supreme here for a little while, will be some day amenable to a higher law than that which is founded on the whims of a people.

Least suspicion for this letter should be cast upon the Doctor or the clergy, I beg to say that none of them know anything of its authorship.

I will answer no silly comment, nor enter into any matters of a private character. I shall deal with the Government (who ever it may be) as a public servant and await the impartial judgment of the public on the merits of the case.

Thanking you, I remain yours truly,
JOHN CULLY.

The cure was thorough and complete and we give all credit to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

St. Bon's Dance.

About three hundred people attended the dance held by the ladies of St. Bon's Association at the British Hall last night. The event was a great success financially and socially. The ballroom looked very attractive, thanks to the Newfoundland Highlanders who allowed their decorations to remain up. The T. A. band furnished the music in good style. During the evening refreshments were served by the ladies in charge. The full programme consisted of 20 dances, including waltzes, quadrilles and lancers. The affair was kept up till 3 in the morning. The ladies who worked so indefatigably to make the gathering a success were Mesdames McKee, Flynn, Channings, Duchemin, Ryan and Kelly.

There will be a concert in the T. A. Don't say you can't come to this concert; for if you can't come you can send some one else. Hard cash counts in helping people out in this world, and goes a great deal further than an hundred and one "poor fellows." We don't want pity, we have that on deck already. We want money, and we promise you the worth of your money if you come. This is a grand chance, for you can be charitable and get the worth of your money at the same time. Remember Friday in the T. A. Hall, and bear in mind it is going to be a grand affair.

Asked About Kite.

Mr. J. S. Munn of Bowring Bros. wired Forteau yesterday forenoon asking if the Labrador had reported anything of the Kite. The following reply was received at 5 p.m.: "Labrador reports three steamers in patch. Names not given." As the Kite was reported to be in company with the Labrador, it is hoped that she is one of the steamers alluded to and that she will pick up a good trip.

Scalded on Eagle.

A young man named Pendergast, of St. John's, a fireman on the Eagle, had both of his feet scalded Monday last. One of the tubes in the boiler became leaky and the scalding water gushed out on him and he narrowly escaped more serious injury about the body. He was attended by Chief Engineer Alex. McKimley, and after arrival Dr. Tait was summoned to the ship and attended him, after which he was driven home.

HOW CAN WE COUNTER-ACT

THE INCREASED COST OF LIVING?

A second's reasoning will supply the answer. Beef and pork are dear and getting dearer all the time; and the cost is out of proportion with their food-value.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR

contains more nourishment than any other, because it contains the greatest amount of gluten, the health-giving nutriment of wheat.
