CHAPTER XXIII.

He pressed his hands over his burning eyes. He had heard no word of his love since he had told her that his wife was living. That was weeks since, and there had been no sign. He did not know why he ought to expect anything. All this while Gladys had not been out of his waking thoughts for one hour. He had found a little pleasure in the belief that she would be always true to him—in life and death.

But now! He read the news again, and declared that it was all a cruel lie.

"It cannot be!" he repeated, again and again. "My darling's heart is mine forever. It was no light love, to change in a day or a year. Her sweet eyes expressed steadfastness and truth. No—no—she can never change! I will not believe it; I will not believe that she is untrue to me."

Thus did he argue, and he felt that Lady Gladys could never bind herself to another. She belonged to him by right of his love for her, by right of her love for him. He would not believe her capable of such fickleness. She had promised to wait for him, even though their next meeting were in another world. He remembered her tears, her kisses, her faithful, resolute eyes, her fervent tones. No—no! This story was a cruel libel, and he cried, aloud:

"Oh, my darling! my darling! What is life without you? What will all the long years of the future be without you? We are wedded in heart, in spirit, and yet we dare not meet again! God help me! God help me! This anguish is greater than I can bear!"

And yet the anguish to come was greater still.

CHAPTER XXIV.
Sir Charles walked out into the soft September sunshine to nurse his bitter grief. At times like these he did not dare to meet his mother; he would not add to her misery by showing the anguish that he endured—by showing that his life was blighted. For her he had an infinite pity and tenderness. She was not wicked; she had never been wicked; but she was weak; she had no moral courage. She had been attracted by his father's title, by his political fame, when a mere child. She had mistaken silly sentiment for love, and had married a man double her own age, because he admired her pretty face, because his suit was advocated by an ambitious father.

She soon found that the baronet, who dreamed of regenerating the world, of founding a plan of universal citizenship, had very little time to devote to a peevish young wife, whose chief pleasure was a ball or a garden party. She pined for congenial society, and as there was no sympathy between husband and wife, they drifted very much apart. Lady Gladys had but one brother, Edgar Emsden, and he was accounted a scapegrace. He was disinherited, in favor of his sister and sister's husband. Then followed his disappearance, and the baronet's disgrace, disappointment and death.

It was a bitter ending to a vain woman's dreams, and she hid herself from the world because the world rejected her. Father, husband, brother, all were gone, and she had nothing left but her little child, whose life was to be tinged with the misery of others. A malicious fate seemed to follow Lady Gladys, culminating in the terrible act whereby she placed herself within reach of the criminal law.

And now her sorrow had reached its cruellest stage. She had ceased to repine openly, conscious of the penalty her folly had cost her son. To guard against a surprise, Sir Charles had gravely informed her that the woman he had married might appear at any time. She could not help seeing how altered he was of late, not dreaming of its cause. To her the one nightmare was "that woman!" The creature appeared to her in her sleeping and waking moments. Every sound on the bell started her into an agony of fear and expectation.

The young baronet pitied his mother from the bottom of his heart. She was scarcely responsible for her actions. He did not hold her so, now that he had taken the trouble to measure her character. Her life had been one long disappointment, and she blamed everybody but herself for it.

That very morning he had seen her tremble at sight of the post bag, and had assured her that there was nothing fresh concerning the trouble that had impeded them some weeks since. "I dreamed of that woman last night, Charles," replied Lady Gladys, "and you know that there is always something in my dreams. I thought that she agreed never to molest us—never."

"There was such an agreement," said Sir Charles, wearily.

"I would do so," he said, vehemently. "I would get rid of the incubus forever—but for one thing. To do so, would mean raking up the past."

Lady Gladys shuddered.

"There, dear mother, don't let us refer to it. Perhaps she will never trouble me. It may have been a mere threat on the part of Ebenezer Lupin. He is a man that I cannot trust."

His mother was crying weakly. "It is a living death to me—it is worse," she said. "When the Horleys come, with those people you met at Swinford, the Craythornes, I was too ill to see them. My first thoughts were of that woman, and I became hysterical. It was unfortunate that you were away. Oh, how the Horleys will gossip! I am sure that everybody is talking about us in the village."

Then it was that Sir Charles left home to write his reply to Herbert Gardner, and to post it with his own hands in the village post office. He did not notice that everybody stared at him curiously; but there was the usual courtesying from the villagers, the usual cheerful greetings, for the young man was beloved everywhere. He had a splendid character for honesty, for manliness, and for kindness of heart. In a few years he had turned his estate from a wilderness of poverty and discontent into a garden of prosperity and brightness.

He returned home and read the awful news of Gladys's engagement—the other he accounted as nothing in comparison; he read it, and told himself that it was untrue, and went out into the fields, where none could see his misery.

He would see his love again—he could not rest until he knew the truth. But what right had he to complain? Had he not sinned against her beyond all pardon in the eyes of man and woman? He had won the first fond love of her gentle heart, knowing that he was already bound to another. And yet, in the selfishness of his great love, he claimed her as his own forever. He would not admit that Lady Gladys had a single right to think of any other lover. Such inconsistency appalled him! If this wicked report had emanated from Lord Cecil, he would find means to punish him.

For two days he watched the papers, hoping to see a denial of the announcement; and then, unable to bear the uncertainty any longer, he went to Swinford, determined to see Lady Gladys. He would know the truth, at any cost!

He walked from the railway station through the ways that had grown familiar in so short a time, a dull pain at his heart. He passed through the field wherein he had first seen his love—wherein the bazaar had been held—and he remembered her as she burst upon him, like a vision of beauty and delight, under the warm rays of the July sun. The laughter—the chatter—the rustle of skirts, and the odor of a thousand flowers seemed to be about him again, and he cried:

"Oh, Gladys, my own love!"

The sound of his own voice startled him, and he continued on his way, hoping to see the graceful form that was so dear to him before he reached the house.

When the abbey came within view he was struck with its air of desolation. Many of the windows were shuttered, and the footman he encountered on the lawn informed him that the family had gone away only the day before.

"Gone away!" he echoed, blankly. (To be continued.)

A SONG OF APRONS.

How much more attractive many common things are made to-day than they used to be.

I am thinking to-day especially of aprons.

Do you remember the days when aprons used to be made of one pattern (and of a practical pattern), a long oblong material shirred to a band that fastened around the waist and tied behind in something appropriately known as apron strings?

The Aprons of Yesteryear. Blue or brown checked gingham or crease was the almost universal material for the everyday apron and the best apron some plain white material. If you wanted a very grand apron you hemstitched it. And do you remember a little later the tentative appearance of that affair known as the apron, a much smaller, white apron trimmed with lace and perhaps a bow of ribbon, but worn more as a show than for actual usage? But I will not embarrass you by asking it is too much a leading question to ask what year you graduated from high school, or whether you remember such songs as "Goodbye Golly Gray" and "Sweet Marie."

Such however were the aprons of yesteryear, a utilitarian unimagination, colorless, conventional collection. And now for the apron of today, from the shop windows or your wardrobe.

The Aprons of To-day. What gaiety of color, what crispness of material, what infinite and alluring variety, what trim and coquettish charm of cut, you will find! I wonder that the poets do not write verses to their lady's aprons. Or perhaps they do.

The change has been gradual of course, first a break from the old convention of checked, gingham or figured percale into a new freedom of pattern and perhaps the enhancement of pings. And then a break into a new variety of cut. At first these new cuts were none too beautiful but gradually they began to show a sense of fitness and line, and to-day there are so many fascinating patterns for aprons that it is hard to choose between them.

And then there came a still more radical idea to the makers of aprons—that after all there was no law which forbade the use of other materials than gingham in the making of everyday aprons, and straightaway they blossomed out in the kitchen that most delightful beautifier and brightener of daily life, that indoor replica of the flower garden, the cretonne apron.

I love my aprons. The drawer in which they lie is a treasure chest to me. My friends know that I have a special fancy for aprons and birthdays and other gift days are forever bringing me some new sample of the charm an apron can achieve. But I never have too many.

SHE LOOKS HER BEST. I am sometimes sorry that I was born too late for certain things—among them the chance to collect old furniture and an old house when such things were plentiful. But as a compensation I am glad that I waited to come until the days when, thanks to the evolution of the apron, one may look as well in one's kitchen as in one's living room. In fact I think the young housewife sometimes looks better when she ties on her gay apron and busies herself against the background of a shining, well kept kitchen than she ever does at any other time.

source of electric supply other than itself. The light itself," he adds, "is radiated from a minute metallic candle of secret composition."

The lamp is said to produce its light without the generation of heat, the temperature of the bulb never rising above 10 degrees Fahrenheit, instead of 100 degrees, as in the case of an ordinary metal filament lamp.

It can be made in any size or power, from the household lamp to powerful arc lights suitable for cinema projection and street lighting. The cost of the lamp for household use is estimated at about twelve shillings, and it is expected to be on the market this summer.

One of the ways in which they manage to do this is by exuding a sort of natural gum as soon as they obtain any water. A botanist, while studying plants in North-West Africa, found that out of 906 varieties more than 36 per cent were marked by this feature. The plants, after being wetted and then dried, adhered to whatever was beneath them.

The first rainfall glues them to their places, giving them an opportunity to start their struggle for life. Even a heavy dew will suffice to glue them to the spot!

This ability to stick to the ground also serves the purpose of assisting the young root to make its way into the soil, as well as helping the sprouting plant to escape from its imprisonment inside the seed.

More Facts About "East Lynne."

GREATER THAN THE PLAY—GREATER THAN THE BOOK.

"East Lynne," which has been secured by Mr. J. P. Kieley for presentation at the Nickel, Newfoundland's most popular theatre, is considered by movie critics throughout America as the greatest recent picture achievement. That the screen, the same medium through which so much that is unworthy and deserving of censure, should be the latest channel for the telling of "East Lynne," is something to afford an honest pride to everyone connected with the moving picture world. There are no others like it—for "East Lynne" is in a class by itself—but if its producers can approach its mark in the photoplays of the immediate future, the films will have justified themselves far beyond any whisper of censorship or even of criticism. No book outside of the Bible has found its way into so many homes or has moulded more lives, in the reading than "East Lynne." No play in the English language has even approached the number of its presentations.

In its film form produced by Hugo Ballin, with a superlative cast headed by Mabel Ballin and Edward Earle, "East Lynne" can and will reach every movie fan. Thus this picture will link the generations and will preserve forever the epic story.

With the Rod.

(Western Star.)
Dr. Clap landed 35 salmon from the Tidal Pools of the Codroy River.

There was not much fishing on Crabbes and Fischell's rivers last week.

At Fox Island River salmon are reported plentiful, but not many rods there.

There were 400 pounds of salmon taken from Robinson's River the first week in July.

There have been 320 salmon taken from the Grand River up to a week ago, and fishing continues good.

Little River is in good shape for fishing and some fair catches have been made. There are good many rods on the river.

On the Serpentine all the pools are occupied at present, and good fishing has been experienced at some of the pools.

Two sportsmen who were on the Upper Humber came down last week, they having landed 425 lbs. salmon. The fish were very plentiful and of a fair size.

Milderburger and Mullins who were fishing at Overfalls Pool, Grand River, secured 40 salmon each. They went home about a week ago.

On Wednesday last Donald and Noble Pettit had some good fishing at the Falls Pool, on Hughes Brook. They landed seven salmon one weighing 12 lbs. and another nine pounds, the others from 3 to 5 pounds; and 13 sea trout, averaging 5 lbs. each.

Bottled Sunlight.

An electric lamp which will burn for three years without current has been invented.

This new product, which is described by manufacturers as "bottled sunlight," is the work of an Italian engineer, J. Tomadelli. The secret of its mysterious property is guarded very carefully. Those responsible for its manufacture even state that armed detectives are on duty night and day around the experimenting factory.

The lamp is described by its inventor as a "self-sustaining, incandescent electric light, that will burn a long time without connection with any

Seeds That Use Glue.

Natural glue, which they use to stick themselves to the ground, is secreted by some seeds. In neighbourhoods which are subject to long dry spells, it is important for plants to get their seeds underground quickly, especially if the spot is a windy one.

One of the ways in which they manage to do this is by exuding a sort of natural gum as soon as they obtain any water. A botanist, while studying plants in North-West Africa, found that out of 906 varieties more than 36 per cent were marked by this feature. My Own Dear Newfoundland.

A piece of earth, adrift at sea,
My native land, estranged, but free,
Nor ice nor fog doth bother thee,
My own dear Newfoundland.

Thy people blessed with every grace,
With kindness stamped on every face;
Where strangers find a welcome place;
My own dear Newfoundland.

One travelled far and drank of life;
Its dregs—its sorrows, joys and strife;
Now finds his love renewed and rife
For dear old Newfoundland.

Where'er I roam, I'll take my stand,
For thee my own dear Newfoundland.

Municipal Council.

WEEKLY MEETING.
The weekly meeting of the Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and Councillors Martin, Outerbridge, Vincombe, Collier, Ryan and Dowden were present.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, the following matters received attention.

J. L. Noonan, Secretary of the Regatta Committee, drew attention to the rubbish at the head of Quiddi Vidi Lake, and asked that same be removed. The request was acceded to, and the Sanitary Supervisor instructed to attend to the matter immediately.

Communication was read from Mr. J. Harvey, re necessity of having rail placed about the retaining wall at Browning's Bridge, as during the past week, some children playing there had fallen over the wall into the river. A fence will be placed there.

H. Foster's communication, with regard to hoppers, Stewart Avenue, was referred to the Sanitary Supervisor, and Medical Officer of Health.

Mr. J. Ashley protested against permit being issued Mr. C. A. Bourne to install electric motor in building adjoining his dwelling, Water Street, for the purpose of driving machinery. He stated that if such motor and machinery were allowed in the building the vibration resulting from same would be such as to make it impossible for him to remain there in comfort. The matter was the subject of a lengthy discussion, and the Council decided that in view of the strong protest entered, and as the buildings referred to are only of wooden construction and if installation were permitted vibration and annoyance would necessarily follow, permit for this motor be refused.

A communication was read from the Secretary of the Nfld. Board of Fire Underwriters in reference to new erections within the City Limits, and it was ordered that in future information with regard to new buildings be forwarded the Board.

Mr. R. J. Sullivan asked that in the event of an electrical inspector being appointed, his application for that position be borne in mind. The application was ordered filed.

Mr. J. Sookes asked what decision the Council arrived at in regard to the houses which at present encroach on the street line, LeMarchant Road. The removal of those houses has been the subject of considerable discussion by several councils, and it is the general opinion that, in their present position, the houses are dangerous to traffic coming to the city from Cornwall Ave. Consideration was deferred to a special meeting, when ways and means will be discussed, and the Solicitor for the ground landlord will be asked to attend.

Mr. J. M. Carberry, on behalf of the Church Wardens of St. Michael's Church, notified the Council that it was their intention to proceed with the erection of a Rectory on LeMarchant Road, and pending submission of plans they asked permission to immediately begin the excavating and other preliminary work before commencing the building. The request was acceded to, and the City Engineer is to give street line and all other information required.

Application of H. J. Stabb and Co. to repair roof of building, Water St., was referred to the City Engineer. As this building is within the fire zone, further information is required.

Mr. Jas. Oakley will be permitted to make alterations to front of his building, subject to the Engineer's approval.

The following plans were passed:—E. P. Bailey (dwelling) Blatch St.; N. Bennett (dwelling) Water Street, West; R. Bennett (dwelling) corner of Hamilton and Sudbury Streets; M. J. O'Brien (extension) Mundy Pond Road; A. E. Hickman (extension) Military Road; J. Williams (addition) Hamilton Avenue, provided he install water and sewerage.

The Council were unable to grant permission to the following, owing to there being no water or sewerage available in localities where appllicants desire to build.—M. Carberry, Long Pond Road; F. McKay, Alexander Street.

Application of J. B. Hall, to extend dwelling, Prince of Wales Street was deferred. He must submit proper plan, showing location, etc.

The City Engineer reported that during the past week the work of covering the Conduit at Windsor Lake had been completed. This work, which was performed by Mr. Wm. Edney, was one of our most reliable and experienced masons, was badly needed. The capping of LeMarchant Road, from Bastow's to Hamilton Avenue, was undertaken. A further shipment of some 250 barrels of "Tarvia" has arrived, and efforts are being made to put other city streets in good condition as speedily as possible.

Tenders were ordered to be called for supply of Quarry Spalls.

The Newfoundland Motor Association's request, which came before the Council at last regular meeting, was again discussed. It was pointed out that to remove the electric poles near the old fire hall, Southside Road would be an expensive undertaking as the whole row would have to be shifted. Regarding the electric light pole near St. Clare's Hospital, which in its present position is considered dangerous to traffic, it was ordered that it be moved back to the new street line immediately.

The City Clerk reported that the collectors were now distributing the bills for the current half year. The payment of rates on or before September 15th will entitle the taxpayer to a discount of 10 per cent.

A number of young ladies asked last week that a certain portion of Long Pond be reserved for ladies and children. This matter was given consideration by the Council during the past few days, and it was decided the request be acceded to. The Engineer is to have a wharf and other requisites placed there, and men and boys will not be permitted to frequent this particular portion of the pond. The Instructor will be notified to have this order strictly carried out.

Reports of the City Health Officer, Sanitary Supervisor and other departmental reports were read; accounts presented were ordered paid.

There being no further business, the meeting then adjourned.

B.I.S. OUTING.—The regular weekly outing of the B.I.S. was held last night at Donovan's. There was a large attendance. Special trains were run for the convenience of visitors to the outing.

A further shipment of some 250 barrels of "Tarvia" has arrived, and efforts are being made to put other city streets in good condition as speedily as possible.

Tenders were ordered to be called for supply of Quarry Spalls.

The Newfoundland Motor Association's request, which came before the Council at last regular meeting, was again discussed. It was pointed out that to remove the electric poles near the old fire hall, Southside Road would be an expensive undertaking as the whole row would have to be shifted. Regarding the electric light pole near St. Clare's Hospital, which in its present position is considered dangerous to traffic, it was ordered that it be moved back to the new street line immediately.

The City Clerk reported that the collectors were now distributing the bills for the current half year. The payment of rates on or before September 15th will entitle the taxpayer to a discount of 10 per cent.

A number of young ladies asked last week that a certain portion of Long Pond be reserved for ladies and children. This matter was given consideration by the Council during the past few days, and it was decided the request be acceded to. The Engineer is to have a wharf and other requisites placed there, and men and boys will not be permitted to frequent this particular portion of the pond. The Instructor will be notified to have this order strictly carried out.

Reports of the City Health Officer, Sanitary Supervisor and other departmental reports were read; accounts presented were ordered paid.

There being no further business, the meeting then adjourned.

B.I.S. OUTING.—The regular weekly outing of the B.I.S. was held last night at Donovan's. There was a large attendance. Special trains were run for the convenience of visitors to the outing.

The City Engineer reported that during the past week the work of covering the Conduit at Windsor Lake had been completed. This work, which was performed by Mr. Wm. Edney, was one of our most reliable and experienced masons, was badly needed. The capping of LeMarchant Road, from Bastow's to Hamilton Avenue, was undertaken. Motor Field Day.

DISCUSSED AT GENERAL MEETING—ROAD COMMISSION'S REPORT—WILL ERECT SIGN-BOARDS.

The Field Day which the Motor Association has had under consideration will be held on Wednesday afternoon, August 16th, on the North side of Quidi Viel. This announcement was made on behalf of the Field Day Committee by Mr. L. M. Marshall at the general meeting of the Association held at the West End Restaurant yesterday. The programme consists of a hill climbing contest on high gear, to be won on time. There will be four classes competing in this event.

1st. Cars up to 20 h.p. including Fords.
2nd. Cars up to 25 h.p.
3rd. Cars up to 30 h.p.
4th. Open.

Speed tests for time will also be run in the same classes. A slow speed race by elimination, to be run in heats two cars in each heat, will be run in three classes, 4 cylinder, 6 cylinder and open class. Other events will include efficiency tests, and obstacle races. It is also proposed to include a 100 yards dash, pony vs motor car which should prove a feature of the Field Day. Competitors will pay an entrance fee of $2.00 for their first event and each succeeding entry will cost $1.00. The Committee in charge are also arranging to engage a band for the occasion and it is believed the Field Day will equal in interest our annual Regatta.

REPORT ON ROADS.

The report of the Road Commission was presented by Mr. T. Soper, who announced that the work of repairing the Portugal Cove Road had commenced and it was hoped that the representatives for St. John's East would make an allocation of $1000 so that the road near Windsor Lake could be widened. Mr. Soper further stated that to date 593 cars had registered, and the taxes collected amounted to $16,500 of which the Commission would receive $8,250. There were still about ten cars in the city to be heard from, another 40 around Conception Bay, and 10 others on Bell Island. He believed the greater part of these cars would be registered very shortly, so that the Commission together with the $10,000 grant from the Government would have the handling of about $20,000 this season. Repairs to machinery and other incidents would cost about $2,000 leaving $18,000 from which must be deducted last year's over expenditure of $6,000, and the remainder would be available for road work. During the week Messrs. Colbourne and Cramm of Bell Island were in the city, and while they were willing to pay their motor taxes they would also like to be able to expend their share of the amount collected in repairing their roads. Mr. Soper assured them he would do all possible for them, and he made a motion which was unanimously passed by the Association, that in view of the public spirit shown by the Bell Island motorists that their Committee be given the spending of the money paid by them for this year.

Mr. Soper also stated that several conferences were held with the Minister of Public Works on the matter of the Conception Bay roads at which Mr. Duff was present and as a result the immediate expenditure of $750, on the roads between Carbonear and Harbour Grace, Bay Roberts section and at Brigus, was arranged. This was very satisfactory to the Conception Bay motorists who are now readily getting their cars registered. Another important matter dealt with by Mr. Soper, was that telephone poles were being erected on Topsail Hill near Arthur Duff's residence that were too close to the road. Poles were also being erected opposite Woodford's property at Octagon Pond which were also a menace to motorists and did average ten feet from the centre of the road. Mr. Soper urged immediate action in this matter, and was unanimously decided that the Minister of Public Works be written by the Association asking that he give this matter prompt attention. It was pointed out that for safety the poles should be at least 35 feet from the centre of the road, as at present they are far too near and a source of great danger.

SIGN BOARDS READY.

Dr. Macpherson announced that the sign boards were now ready except being painted and he asked for suggestions as to where they will be erected. The Secretary was authorized to write each member of the Association asking them to communicate with Dr. Macpherson who is chairman of the Committee any likely danger spots. Several matters of minor importance were then discussed after which the meeting adjourned.

Making Black

Men White.

Changing the colour of black men and women to white, rejuvenating the aged, and rendering the operation of appendicitis bloodless are among the wonders which Dr. O. F. Fedroso, of Brazil, claims he can perform! He explains that in changing the colour of black men he withdraws blood from the left arm and places it in a special apparatus, where it is treated. Then, after heating it, he re-injects it into the right arm. His discovery is the result of fifteen years of experiments, principally on rats, and he claims that he has been able to turn black rats white in a fortnight.

Fertilize the Potatoes.

MAN'S REQUEST OF HIS ASHES TO HIS TRUSTEES.

A request that nobody should "waste time in attending my funeral," was contained in the will of Mr. Jas. Campbell Christie, F.G.S., a retired schoolmaster, of Cathcart, Glasgow, who died on November 28, leaving personal property of the value of £3,270.

Stating that "the absence of the usual formalities will give poor Mr. and Mrs. Grundy something to talk about," Mr. Christie asked that his body should be cremated with "the utmost simplicity." He recorded that he paid the fee on February 3, 1907, and desired that "the ashes of my body shall not be preserved. They may be disposed of by the crematorium, or used by any of my trustees or others to fertilize their potatoes."

"My Back Aches"

BOTH liver and kidney troubles are usually first detected by backache.

When the liver is to blame you have pains under the shoulder blades and down towards the right side.

When the kidneys are deranged the pains settle in the small of the back.

In either case you can obtain relief promptly by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The liver and kidneys work hand-in-hand in eliminating poisons from the blood. Neither one can be greatly deranged without the other being affected.

Because they correct the action of both these great filtering organs, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills afford relief in complicated derangements which ordinary medicines do not seem to touch.

Mrs. Alex Gordon, Walkerton, Ont., writes: "A few years ago I suffered from kidney and liver trouble, with pains in my back. I had heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills being good for this, so I commenced taking them. I had only taken a couple of boxes when the trouble was all removed."

Few medicines have ever attained to such universal use as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This is because they afford prompt relief from the most common ills of humanity—backache, constipation, indigestion, liver and kidney derangements.

Islets Probably Discovered

The reported discovery by an American pleasure craft of hitherto unknown islands in the Pacific near Kingman's shoal, south of Hawaii, has been followed by a statement from the hydrographic office of the United States navy that they reported and probably is a rediscovery of Washington and Palmyra islands, situated near the latitude and longitude given. A bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society briefly describes the islands mentioned: "There would be nothing new in the rediscovery of Pacific islands," says the bulletin. "Many of them have been inhabited or were abandoned years ago, and to all appearances are virgin islands. A number of small islands have been reported and several cases double and triple lines testify to this circumstance. The most recently reported discovery is in a region fairly well frequented by ships, since it is within 300 miles of the mid-Pacific station of the Central-Pacific cable on Panning Island and is even closer to the steamship lanes between Honolulu and American Samoa. Palmyra Island, which lies about 120 miles south of Kingman's reef, was discovered 120 years ago by the American ship "Palmyra." In 1812 the United States took formal possession of the island and made it a part of the territory of Hawaii. It is of coral, five and a half miles long by one and a half wide and its highest point is only six feet above the sea, making it a precarious place of residence. In case of a tidal wave should strike it, there are no inhabitants. "Washington Island, about 100 miles southeast of Palmyra and only 75 miles from the Panning Island cable station, was discovered in 1793. It is three and a half by one and a half miles and its 'highlands' top those of Palmyra by four feet. The soil is rich and the island is covered by a luxuriant growth of coconut trees. Something over 100 people live on the island. "Kingman's reef itself has on its rim two tiny islands that have appeared on large-scale charts of the central Pacific for many years."

Some French Ways of Serving Strawberries. Cream is not served with strawberries in France; instead they are lightly sprinkled with kirsch, cognac, red or white wine, and champagne, and served with powdered sugar. Strawberry Tarts. These are most delicious when made by the French method. A shallow tin is lined with pastry—either short or flaky. Before the tin is put into the oven it is filled with dried harkots or pellets of bread to prevent the middle of the pastry from rising. When the pastry is cooked these pellets are taken out and strawberries are placed one by one into the tart. When full, a specially made syrup is poured over them to form a jelly when cold. Fraises au Marsala. One by one specially chosen oranges are cut into small pieces and mixed with strawberries which have lain for some hours in Marsala wine. Mousse Glace a la Creme Chantilly. Half a pound of strawberries is pressed through a sieve; half a pound of sugar flavoured with vanilla, and the juice of one lemon is then added to the fruit. Sufficient cream to fill a small pudding basin is whipped up and mixed very rapidly with the fruit. The mixture is poured into a mould leaving a cover, and this mould is set into ice mixed with coarse salt. In about two hours the mousse is ready to turn out, and is served with water biscuits. Confiture au Fraises. This is the way the French housewife makes strawberry jam. To every pound of fruit is allowed one pound of sugar, a quarter of a pound of raspberries, and the juice of a lemon. The fruit is washed and prepared and passed through a hair sieve by means of a woolen pestle. The sugar is placed in a preserving pan with a little water and set over the fire. It is sufficiently cooked if the sugar forms little bubbles when a spoonful is taken from the pan and blown upon. Then is the time to put the fruit into the syrup. It must be stirred all the time. As soon as the jam begins to boil the pan is drawn back, covered with a white cloth, and allowed to stand for a quarter of an hour. It is afterwards put back over the fire. When it begins to boil again the juice of one lemon is added. Boiling is continued for another five minutes, after which time the jam is finished. Strawberry jam made by this method keeps for a long time.

The Conquering Camera.

The camera is obviously the conqueror to-day, for photography plays a wonderful part in bringing East and West together, and the pictures of scenes and personages far removed from the ken of the average man and woman have been brought right home and placed on their tables and in their book-cases, so that at any leisure moment they may take a peep into the hitherto unknown, to them, and visualise for themselves the beauties and splendors of foreign capital cities, their buildings and suburban surroundings, and note the quaint costumes of Oriental as well as Occidental people and races. But it is the camera of the moving picture man that is the real means of showing living pictures, and reproducing from life scenes that move on the screen. Men and women of the past—kings, queens, warriors, statesmen, philosophers, prelates from the very pages of history are reproduced by the camera and when filmed are projected on the screen, and live, move and have their being as it were, in full sight of audiences who are more or less familiar with them through the printed word of history as it is in book form. Ancient and modern personages and episodes are all alike to the moving picture producer. Does he want a film from ancient times? He gets to work and employing an army of writers, artists and actors, begins the reproduction of the particular scenes which go to make up the picture required, whether it be the Fall of Man or the Siege of Jerusalem by Titus and his Roman legionaries. History, whether profane or sacred has many attractions for the multitude in the printed word, but to see all the characters portrayed pass in review before the eye on the screen is surely the ne plus ultra of education. No country is so sure of itself or its future, which does not need a bit of advertising. And so the camera man has come to be the educator of the universe. He packs his outfit from the frozen regions of the Arctic circle to the torrid zones of the equator. No mountain is too high, no forest too dense for his passage. By land and sea, braving perils and dangers, he pursues his educational way, and from the terrae incognitae he brings back information backed up by real photographs, which have more value in their purpose as educational factors than half the text books now in use. For the eye of the camera is a faithful recorder. True, pictures are often faked, with a view to concealing something that it may not be judicious to show, or maybe to impress something very important and seemingly impossible upon the human mind. But when all is said and done there is something so attractive about the modern photoplay, modern in the sense that it is practically a new science, that draws the mind, and the mind directs the body and the body receives orders to go along, in order that the eye might see and the mind retain the wonderful phases of life as shown on the screen. As an institution the screen theatre has come to stay. Why not then make use of it, within limits, to advertise a country. Merchants are not above having illustrations of their wares thrown on the screen, for which they are delighted to pay. Countries need not fear to have their harbors, rivers, lakes, forests, towns, industries shown in like manner. In this way millions who have not known will be benefited and educated, no less than the country which makes up its mind to this end.

Many Trippers.

40 GOING ON PORTIA.
Forty round trippers have so far booked passage on S.S. Portia, which leaves Port tomorrow evening and will go as far north as Grandy, calling at Twillingate, Battle Harbour and Pack's Harbour. The Portia goes first to Twillingate with 3000 hogs-heads of salt and from there will go direct to Battle Harbour. On her return trip the ship will bring 200,000 lbs. of fresh salmon to the Cold Storage Company. Mr. Tipping of the Newfoundland Atlantic Fishery's Company, is a passenger on the ship.

Wireless Man Returns.

TWO STATIONS DISMANTLED.
Mr. J. J. Collins, local agent of the Marconi Company, has returned from a month's tour of inspection which embraced Cape Ray, the Straits of Belle Isle and Battle Harbour. Mr. Collins left St. John's for Cape Ray, where he met Mr. H. A. Coade, Canadian Government Wireless Station Inspector. The Cape Ray station has been closed down and Mr. Collins took an inventory of the apparatus there, after which the station was dismantled. The apparatus was shipped to Point Amour. At Point Riche also, the wireless station was dismantled and the apparatus shipped to Point Amour. Mr. Collins and Mr. Coade stayed some time at Point Amour, where they reinstalled the Cape Ray and Point Riche apparatus. This is now the connecting station with the Straits of Belle Isle. There are three operators at Point Amour. Battle Harbour, which is a Newfoundland station, was visited by Mr. Collins alone. He inspected and overhauled the gear, which was improved last year. Before that time, messages had to be relayed from the Straits of Belle Isle, but now there is direct connection with Foggo. Mr. Collins reports good fishing in Northern Labrador and in the Straits. Very little is being done at Battle Harbour. The weather is bad, and while at Point Amour, he experienced 65 hours of continuous, dense fog.
S.U.F. CLUB—A meeting of the Club will be held on Saturday night at 9 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

C. L. B. Camp Notes.

BRIGADE TRAINS TO TOPSAIL.

The C.L.B. Cadets annual Camp at Topsail opened yesterday, and will end on July 28th. The first St. John's detachment, numbering over eighty N.C.O.'s and lads, headed by the bugle band, left the Armoury at 10.50 a.m. under the command of Lieut. Colonel K. F. Goodridge. Major R. H. Tait, M.C., Capt. A. S. Lewis, Lieut. H. C. Hayward, A. B. Perlin and R. G. Ash accompanied the Battalion over the road. Fortunately the morning was cool and there was no dust, so that good time was made in marching the 14 miles from the Armoury to camp. A short halt was made near Brookfield, and another at "Corona," the residence of Messrs. John and Fred Davey, where refreshments were served to the Brigade. Before leaving "Corona" Lieut. Col. Goodridge thanked the Messdames Davey and the ladies who assisted them, for their kindness. It was especially good of them as they had been helping at the Garden Party on the previous day. He called for three cheers, which was given with a will. After another short halt at Octagon Pond, the Brigade proceeded on to Topsail, where they arrived at 4 p.m. The pioneer squad had been working all the morning and the tents had been erected, and the cooks were preparing for tea when camp was reached. The tents were transported from the C. of E. Orphanage grounds on Wednesday night under the direction of Lieut. F. Reid, and the fact that they were erected when the Battalion arrived is an excellent tribute to the work of the Pioneer Squad, which was under the supervision of Lieut. Mott, Camp Quartermaster, and Lieut. Reeves, Medical Officer. A detachment of 25 lads from Bay Roberts under Capt. French and Lieut. Mercer, arrived on the "Pawnee" during the afternoon, and Major Lindsay of Bell Island also came to camp with a small detachment from the Wabana Company. Lieut. Col. Goodridge and several other officers returned to town after tea.

Nothing happened in the initial frame, but the Lions cut loose with their big sticks and at the end of the fourth had 7 runs scored down. Things therefore looked rather nice for them.

But here's where the uncertainty of baseball comes in. When William held them hitless for three innings. Clouston's gang kept their pecker up still, and in the fourth showed across 2.

A stern chase is a long chase, and a 5 run lead will only an inning to go is almost hopeless—but not quite, as was proved when the Wanderers started banging Walter all over the lot, and before their riot could be quelled they had tied her up.

Churchill had now replaced Donnelly, and when the extra innings started the Lion sluggers could not stir him.

The Wanderers on the other hand now seemed to have struck their batting stride, and they mauled the old spheroid again for a tally of 3.

The score by innings was:—
Wanderers... 0 0 0 2 5 3—10
Lions... 0 1 4 2 0 0—7

The second bout was between the Cubs and B.I.S. and produced the finest exhibition of baseball seen here in years.

There were only two errors, and one of these was really a fielder's choice. Both fields were airtight.

It was practically a pitching duel between O'Leary and Joe Murphy, but the former had all the honours with 9 strikeouts to the latter's 5.

In the third O'Leary pitched nine balls, retiring three men, thus working the 1-2-3 stunt.

The Cubs started things when O'Leary walked Goss. Bill ambled to third, and when Stan tumbled over he flashed across the plate, for their only score for the evening.

It was not until the third that Mooney scratched, and O'Donnell's single brought him in.

The beginning of the fifth found the score tied. The bad men of the Cubs came up, and two of them perished on the sac, when their team-mates vainly wished the ozone at Stan's offerings.

The Irish turn found Mike Power at the plate calmly waiting as Joe wound up his lanky frame. The next moment the ball was sailing up near the western goal posts away over the heads of the outfield. Mike laid down his flats a la Fred Phelan, and was safe a mile before the ball got in.

Besides putting the game on ice, it was the first home run of the season, and a dandy at that. Anyone partial to Bell Buys should shake Mike's mitt as he gets 500 of them to-day for his stunt—and he doesn't smoke.

Following this, O'Leary was safe on Constantine's error. Jimmy Power singled, and they worked a double-stee, with Power sacrificing.
The score by innings was:—
Cubs... 1 0 0 0 0—1
B.I.S. ... 0 0 0 1 0 2—3

A return cricket match between the Shamrocks and Fieldians has been arranged for to-morrow afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock sharp. Undoubtedly there will be a large attendance there to see the old time champs seeking revenge for the trimming the college old-boys gave them when they last met. The following will be Shamrock eleven:—Tom Ryan, Ned Furlong, P. Wallace, Mike Finn, Pat Berrigan, J. S. Keating, E. Morris, Jerry Savage, Ned Power, Dug French and Billy Wallace.

The Saints and C.E.I. are the opposing teams in to-night's footer game, and a good clash is looked for. The C.E.I. have called out the Land-sturm and Smith, Churchill and Stick

In the Realms of Sport.

Old Homer wrote a rhyme or two which won him lasting fame. For he never homed a homer in a red-hot baseball game.

Now we'd sooner have Mike's homer than all that Homer wrote, For Power homed the homer That got Joe Murphy's goat.

They played real baseball again last night, and the fans got lots of thrills. A five inning doubleheader was the card and consisted of the Mount Cash preliminaries.

The first clash was between the Lions and Wanderers. The only new face we scanned in the lineup was Myra Keener's, who, in the early days of the game used to backstop for the Shamrock the year they won the championship.

Billy Callahan was in the box for the champs, with Rocky Donnelly opposing him.

Nothing happened in the initial frame, but the Lions cut loose with their big sticks and at the end of the fourth had 7 runs scored down. Things therefore looked rather nice for them.

Memorial Day

ST. JOHN'S, JULY 2, 1922.
Frigid stone, insensate brass,
For those who cried "They shall not pass!"
Yet they have passed, whose mortal Clay
But waits a more enduring Day
Than brass or stone can give.

Sounding cymbal Strident brass—
What does it mean to those who pass
Along Life's bright and blithe highway,
Forgetful of that brave array
Who died that we might live?

Ah, well! We hardly can forget
Those valiant souls who passed. And yet
The wounded, neither rich nor poor,
Find peace a harder fight than War!
Shall we not help them to endure
Life's Handicap and Live?

Frigid stone! Insensate brass!
"Remember those who held the pass!"

Regatta Ripples.

At to-night's meeting of the Regatta Committee the following crews were entered:—Antares, Mercantile, Football, Factories, War Veterans, and Intermediates.

Crews entering for both Intermediate and Open races must produce certificates.

The Boulevard, at its lower end in a bad condition and needs repairs. A few hours work by the Council employees would make the thoroughfare passable.

Some hundreds of people were at Lake side last evening and all the motor boats were out.

The Fishermen crews so far have been put in an appearance. Being busy with their avocation, they will have little time for practice.

The Intermediate Fishermen will all probably carry of the laurels this season.

Quite a number of applications for prizes have already been received.

The Football crews are practicing and great rivalry exists between the C.L.B., C.E.I., Star and Cadets. The latter had first practice last night but not with a full crew. The "stars" appear to be making the best start according to the men with the best.

It is reported that the Outer Cove fishermen, winners last year in the Peter, will row the Cadet this season.

Harvey's truckmen's crew were out to the Toco last night and showed up. This was their first spin this season.

Harvey's Mercantile crew is being coached by the veteran A. G. Williams. The crew practices daily at the Toco.

ENTERED BY CANADIAN CUSTOMS.

The Newfoundland schooner Sea King fell into the snare of the private fleet yesterday afternoon and was taken into custody by S.S. Margaret.

Another runner's scalp to string the second in twice as many days, says the North Sydney Herald of Monday last, July 17.

The Margaret sailed from North Sydney about one o'clock yesterday and was back in port with her cargo about four. The Sea King was taken between Bird Island and Point St. John's.

She failed to stop when called and headed in for shallow water but the Margaret put on full steam ahead and cut the schooner off on escape.

The capture is a comparatively small one, amounting to thirty-six kegs of St. Pierre rum and three hundred dollars without the duty. The liquor was transferred to the Margaret on her arrival with her prize.

It is understood that the master, who is also owner, was closely questioned but refused to give any information about the consignors or shippers, or to disclose his destination. It is thought the schooner was bound to a Bras d'Or Lake point.

The Sea King belongs to Isle aux Lacs, Newfoundland, and William France is owner and master. The vessel is unregistered, being less than tons.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, July 21.

There is a favorite remedy for mosquito troubles, because it is a good ointment—an ointment different from the ordinary advertised eczema remedy, being more medicated and more skillfully prepared. Many obstinate cases of eczema, some of them cases that have not responded to ordinary remedies, have been cured by the use of this soothing, itching destroying ointment. It is one of the best remedies, if applied after insect bites, to relieve the itching, kill the poison and prevent inflammation. Price 50c.

Salt Ship in Port.

The Seapool with a cargo of fishery arrived in port at 6:30 p.m. yesterday and anchored in the stream.

A number of schooners which have been for some time awaiting the arrival, immediately hauled alongside when the work of discharging began. The Seapool has over tons of salt all of which will be used to relieve the shortage reported from different sections of the island.

The Will

There comes a time in the life of every man when he must leave his worldly possessions to the care of another. In anticipation of this, therefore, the first obligation resting on an individual who is possessed of property is the making of a will, and this should be done before the capacities become impaired by time or the ravages of disease.

The Funny Side of Politics.

A BUDGET OF STORIES ABOUT PARLIAMENTARY PEOPLE.

(From Tit-Bits.)
During an election a certain colonel who was standing for a constituency invited his sergeant, who had a reputation for rough and ready eloquence, to address one of his meetings.

Concluding his speech, the sergeant said: "My fellow-citizens, vote for my colonel! Vote for my colonel, and he will lead you, as he led us, like sheep to the slaughter!"
This is one of the stories told by "The Under-Secretary" in "The Lighter Side of Politics" (Mills and Goon). Here is another:—
At an electioneering meeting held in a village schoolroom, the chairman, rising gravely from his seat, opened with:—

"Ladies and gentlemen, this is a most momentous campaign. There are grave issues to be discussed. Lately we will hear, I hope, these great questions from our best speakers, but for the present we will listen quietly to our candidate."

He knew!
They were rival candidates, and the one said to the other: "You haven't a chance to win; it's a donkey to a strawberry against you."

"Indeed," the other replied, "that doesn't sound very encouraging, but perhaps you wouldn't mind apologizing for the liberty you've taken in calling me a strawberry."

On one occasion the late Sir Henry Smith, M.P. for Colchester, asked a farmer for his support. "I'd vote for you, Sir Henry, as usual," the man replied, "only you're such an old fool."

"Fool, am I?" was the retort. "Then I'm the very man to represent you!"
A young candidate who was contesting his first seat approached a farmer.

"I am the candidate for this constituency," he said, "and I'm just taking a look around."

"Oh, that's all right," said the farmer, "so long as you don't take anything else."

It is recorded of a worthy barrister, who had reached a stage in his career when much whisky-and-soda had wrought palpable havoc with his complexion, that when he had concluded an eloquent speech, a man in the audience got up and asked what made his face so red.

"Blushing at your impudence," was the quick reply.
A rather pompous orator rose on one occasion to make a speech at an electioneering meeting. He began: "Mr. Chairman, I have lived long enough—" "Hear, hear," filled in a member of the audience. The candidate resumed his seat amidst a roar of laughter.

"The new woman orator waxed eloquent. "And what," she demanded, "is to be the result of our emancipation?"

"I know," shouted a little man. "Ah," returned the woman, "the little man with the bald head thinks he has solved the problem that we have come here to discuss this afternoon. We will gladly give our attention while he tells us what is to be the result."

"Cold dinners and ragged children," roared the little man.
A portly lady was addressing a meeting on temperance.

"My friends," she said, "I myself had a husband who was addicted to the bottle. He was a great trial to me, but one day I persuaded him to take the pledge. He did so, and—oh, my joy was so great, so overwhelming, that I flung my arms round his neck and kissed him."

"And serve him jolly well right, too," added a voice from the crowd.
A well-known politician, who had been invited to serve as a substitute at a meeting, was announced by the farmer-chairman in the following manner: "This here is our substitute. I don't know what he can do. Time was short, so we had to take what we could get!"

Experiment With Reindeer.

HUDSON'S BAY CO. TRANSPORT SEVERAL HERDS.

Though 252 years old as a trading Company, and though it had losses in 1921 along with other Canadian Companies, the Hudson's Bay Company is youthful enough to look forward to improved conditions and greater prosperity as the years roll by and Canada grows. The Company's stores throughout Canada operated at a loss during 1921, according to the Governor, Sir Robert M. Kinderley, in his remarks at the annual meeting in London, England, recently, and they have no extravagant hopes for 1922, as the first five months of 1922 have proved disappointing. The business obtained from their 195 trading posts, however, was considered satisfactory as the prices for fresh furs had been well maintained and the profits had remained good. Farm land sales were the lowest since 1910, but they would come up again as soon as demand increased.

The Governor was able to show that the Company is keeping up to its ancient tradition as a progressive explorer and adventurous trader. About 18 months ago a separate Company was formed for an experiment with reindeer, and the Governor reports that 550 animals were successfully transported from Norway to Baffin Island. This is a favorite plan of Stefansson's, and it will be ten years before it can be expected to bring in any appreciable profit if it works out as well as expected. Stefansson thinks it may be the basis of a great Northern reindeer meat and hide industry. —Saturday Night.

Fish's Safety Pouch.

FINNY FATHERS WHO ACT AS NURSEMAIDS.

The majority of fish are very bad parents. Once their eggs are laid they leave them to look after themselves, taking no interest at all in the babies that hatch out from them.

are however, fish which show parental affection, but, curiously enough, it is usually father who, so to speak, pushes the pram, whilst mamma has a good time.

The Danger Warning.
One of the best of the finny fathers is the pipe fish, a little eel-like creature with a long snout. He is often to be found in weedy pools, and has developed a pouch just like that of the kangaroo, in which he keeps his numerous family safe from all dan-

New Ropes Make Noise.

Very thick new ropes have just been attached to the contrivance which fastens to the dock the ferry-boats which I use daily. These ropes creak and groan and make other noises when the strain is applied. Every time I see a rope I am reminded of the action of some individuals when they get a new job of any importance. Haven't you noticed that some fellows, when they get a little authority, swank and swagger and make a lot of noise to attract attention to themselves. They want everybody to sit up and take notice that they are on the job and that they are somebody.

Light from Shell Fish.

After experimenting for eight years, an American scientist has succeeded in producing cold artificial light by chemical means.
The discoverer is Dr. Newton Harvey, of Princeton University, and the substance upon which he worked is "Luciferin" which is obtained from a tiny Japanese shell-fish about the size of a flea. "Luciferin" is very like the material from which glow-worms produce illumination, but before Dr. Harvey's discovery scientists had never succeeded in obtaining light from it after it had been separated from the fish.

Dr. Harvey found that "Luciferin" regained its vitality for a short time if placed in contact with oxygen, and after many experiments he discovered a secret substance which causes "Luciferin" to give off light for as long as is required.

This light-giving substance is dissolved in water, and in a dark room gives a blue flame strong enough to enable a person to read at four feet.

But haven't you also noticed that the most efficient executives and bosses are those who go about their duties quietly and harmoniously, without bluster or bravado? Whenever I go through an establishment and see a fellow tearing about and shouting loudly, I somehow feel he's afraid he'll be overlooked if he doesn't attract attention by making a lot of noise. And my deduction always is that he is likely to be right in thinking this way, because the thoroughly efficient foreman or superintendent or executive prefers to let his work speak for him and to be judged by results, not by boisterousness.

Do You Want to be Rich?

MILLIONAIRES' ADVICE ON THE WAY TO MAKE WEALTH.

If a man fails to die a Croesus it is not for lack of guide-posts to riches provided by men who have been successful in discovering the road to wealth.

Lord Leverhulme's maxim is: "If at first you don't succeed, try another method." There's a right way to do everything," he says. "Don't give up; find it, and then go ahead. Don't spare yourself. Work hard; look on obstacles as stepping-stones, and you'll get there."

There is no false pride about this maker of millions. "I find out men who can do things better than myself," he says, "and then assist them to do those things." And to this method, allied to concentration and hard work, and to "bold advertisement" (on which he has spent over $15,000,000), he attributes his success as a money-maker.

Mr. Henry Ford, the multi-millionaire motor manufacturer, who is as well known in England as in America, confesses: "I owe everything I have achieved in life principally to the habits of hard work and thrift I acquired as a boy. I have had more than my share of failures, discouragement, and even ridicule; but I have been able to smile at them and go on all the stronger."

"A thick skin, ambition, and an iron will—these are the qualities that make for success. But most of my success in money-making I owe to the fact that my men work with me. Our interests are the same; and that gets the best out of them and out of me."

Mr. Gordon Selfridge's motto, which has a place on his writing-table in his Oxford Street establishment, is: "To travel hopefully is better than to arrive; and the true success is labour." He has lived up to it, with splendid results. He has always been an optimist and a hard worker. As a boy he made up his mind to be one of the biggest store-owners in the world, and he has done it. The secrets of his career are his optimism, an untiring energy, a genius for organization, and an unflinching courtesy to customers.

When the writer once asked Sir Thomas Lipton the secret of his success, he answered: "Work hard and save hard." "There's no fun like work," he added; and there is no doubt Sir Thomas was never happier in his life than when he was busy, in his first Glasgow shop, working early and late.

Lord Beaverbrook, who has proved that he knows the secret of money-making as well as anyone, says that when you take a job you should think less of the salary than of what it leads to.

From Street-Hawker to "Wool King." "If necessary," he says, "let the present pay for the future. Work cheerfully and don't spare yourself. Never mind what you are asked to do—do it as well as you can. Let your employer see that his interests are yours. Forget yourself entirely in studying him; work as if you were working for yourself and not for him. Promotion is sure to come if you go in these lines; and the time will follow when you, in turn, can become an employer."

No less wise is the advice of Sir James Hill, of Bradford, who, from being a street-hawker, has become a millionaire baronet and "Wool King." "Begin at the bottom of the ladder," says Sir James; "but keep your eyes always on the top, and remember that each rung brings you nearer it. Don't mind climbing slowly, so long as you do climb."

"Give all your mind and energies to the business in which you are engaged; and of every pound you earn, save every penny you can spare. Pay as you go—avoid debt like the plague; be scrupulously honest and honourable, and the reputation you thus get will be the best part of your capital." —Tit Bits.

Every Woman Should Know

That cheap soaps and even some dear soaps will ruin her clothing, also good soap costs less than good clothing; therefore, when a woman buys cheap injurious soap, she loses more than she gains, because cheap injurious soap will rot her blouses, dresses, etc., and will also rot her husband's and children's clothes. Again cheap soap will hurt one's hands, will take the paint off doors and spoil linoleum. Every woman KNOWS that Sunlight Soap is the very best kind of Soap, it is so good and so pure that it won't hurt a baby's tender skin. Sunlight Soap is made with the purest materials procurable. Clothes washed with Sunlight Soap will outlast clothes washed with injurious Soap. Tell your washerwoman to use Sunlight Soap. It will be good for her hands, good for your clothes and in the long run will be best for your husband's pocket.—Jy 17, 22

WALT MATON

HURRYING ON.
Time is slipping, time is slipping, with a haste I can't explain; soon we'll do our Christmas shopping in the winter alet and rain. Precious months are slipping by us, and they never will come back, and we use a s o m e language pious when we view the almanac. Half the year is now departed, half the year is spent and run, and I'm feeling broken hearted when I view the work undone. Vain and useless was my planning, and I now take in my sign; Father Time is always canning noble hopes and dreams of mine. I have scarcely done a quarter of the things I planned, I see; for the days and weeks are shorter than the blamed things ought to be. All the months are bob-tailed speeders, each the worst you ever saw; and I feel, oh, gentle readers, that there ought to be a law. For we can get nothing finished, we can wind up nothing here, and our store of life's diminished every time we flap an ear; and the moments, never stopping, whisper that we're nearly through, and the time for Christmas shopping will be with us P D Q.

WASTING TIME. LONDON, July 21. The League of Nations Council resumed its sessions, excluding the Press and provoking the renewed criticisms of the British Press. SENTIMENTAL. WASHINGTON, July 21. The appointing of a commission to investigate the coal mining situation, despite the refusal of mine workers and minority operators to accept such arbitration, will be made in due time, according to an announcement from the White House. Harding said American welfare will not permit those assuming to serve it to deny for any reason to supply such a necessity as fuel, thereby jeopardizing life, health and happiness.

WATERFORD TAKEN. DUBLIN, July 21. Waterford, which was yesterday defended by Insurgents, today fell before an attack of the Nationalists, who took fifty prisoners.

SHARP ENGAGEMENTS. CORK, July 21. National forces are shelling the city, their fire being directed upon the artillery barracks according to a statement by Republicans, who have evacuated and attempted to destroy the barracks. They also admit Free State entry into Waterford, but not the complete fall of Cork. Inhabitants are leaving to escape the bombardment, but the city is comparatively quiet, and telegraph communication is maintained. The statement describes minor actions along the whole frontier between Free State troops and Insurgents.

SPORTSMEN DOING WELL. Anglers had splendid sport on the salmon rivers during last week, according to reports coming in from the different wards.

Salmonier River is perhaps the higher. Twenty-five rods took 250 fish.

On the Southeast River, Placentia, 10 rods landed 50 fish. Two American sportsmen, Dr. Davis, New York, and a Mr. Van Dyke, of East Orange, N.J., are on the river and doing well.

Meers, H. Hutchings and W. H. Rempe, who were at Trepassy, had a splendid time, taking 100 fish running to about 4 lbs each. Two, however, tipped the scales at 13 lbs. Three other rods are on the river.

Fishing on the Humber is very good and 6 rods took 101 fish.

Dr. Miller, of Philadelphia, is on Little River. He has taken 8 fish, one of which went 23 lbs.

On Harry's Brook 29 salmon were taken by 6 rods.

A large number of English and American sportsmen are on Portland Creek River, River of Ponds, and Hawke's Bay River. They report splendid fishing.

At Indian Brook, Hall's Bay, three

Household Notes.

Frozen fruit mayonnaise makes an excellent salad dessert.

A little toy funnel is excellent for filling salt and pepper shakers and vinegar and oil cruet.

Spread Bartlett pears with moistened whipped cream and serve on salad with mayonnaise.

Empty baking powder cans make excellent receptacles for staple supplies on the camping trip.

Cut circular holes in the lid of a cardboard box and place in the picnic hamper to hold bottles.

A MARINE PICTURE.—A score or more of schooners berthed around the salt steamer Beapool, anchored in the lower basin, presented a very busy scene. A large number of people were at the King's Wharf this morning watching the sight. Parsons the photographer took some excellent pictures with his camera.

EXPRESS ARRIVES.—The express which was derailed shortly after leaving Port aux Basques Wednesday, arrived in the city at 5.30 a.m. to-day.

BANKER IN PORT.—The Lunenburg banker Alicante, two days from the Grand Banks, arrived in port this morning to Job Bros. & Co. The vessel reports for 1,700 qts. of fish on two battings. The Alicante lost her cable and had to put in here for a new one.

GOVERNOR WILL INSPECT.—His Excellency the Governor has wired from Grand Falls to the effect that he will be pleased to inspect the C.L.B. Cadets, now camped at Topsail, at 3.30 p.m. Thursday. His Excellency has inspected the C.L.B. camp every year since his arrival here.

It is now time to secure your Jam Pot covers. Bishop's Dry Goods have them, and advise quick buying, as many people were disappointed last season, when jam pot covers were all sold and they could get none.

TAKING SALT CARGO.—S.S. Portia, which was expected to sail to-day for Labrador, will not likely get away before to-morrow evening being delayed loading salt. A part of the cargo, some 2,000 hogheads, are for Ashbourne, of Twillingate, and the balance will be landed at Labrador ports.

SOLD SKIMMED MILK.—A charge of selling impure milk was brought against a man in the Police Court to-day. Accused was not a regular milkman but supplies the butterine factories with milk. On this occasion he had sold the commodity skimmed. He pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and costs.

The Annual Garden Party in aid of R. C. Church, Portage Cove, will be held on Wednesday, August 23rd, and the people of Major's Path, Cove Road, will hold a Party on August 16th, to get funds for their New School Chapel. Friends and patrons are asked not to give donations to anyone who has not a book signed by the Pastor.—July 21st.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of my dear mother, Mary Ann Sheppard, who died at Catalina on July 23rd, 1920.
Softly at night the stars are shining
On thy lone and silent grave;
Where thou hast dearest mother
Whom we loved, but could not save.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of our dear son, Malcolm Lush, who was killed at sea on board the S.S. Canadian Seignior, July 21st, 1921.
One year has gone our hearts still sore
As time rolls on we miss him more;
There is no link death cannot sever
But love and remembrance last forever.
When shadows are falling fast and still
And the heat of the day is done;
I see through the dusk as a mother
Will
The face of a loving son.
And every night as the sun goes down
And the toll of the day is done,
Oh! I long for the boy who loved us
And the smile of our boy who is gone.
'Tis not good-bye, dear Malcolm,
'Tis only just farewell for a little while
When we with you shall dwell.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of our dear son, Malcolm Lush, who was killed at sea July 21st, 1921, on board the S.S. Canadian Seignior. Days of sadness will come o'er us,
'Tears in silence often flow;
For memory keeps you ever near us
Though you were killed one year ago.
Time will pass and years roll by,
Whatever be our lot,
As long as life and memory last
You will never be forgot.

In our hearts we mourn the loss of him we loved so dear,
Whom we give to clasp his hand
His gentle voice to hear.
His loving smile and welcome voice
That was so dear to us.
He's resting now in heaven above in God alone we trust.
Ever fondly remembered by sisters and brothers.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of Mary Book, who died July 21st, 1921.
I die so soon and yet I die
To win the crown of life,
And miss how soon the Victory,
How brief my hour of strife,
My soul a fevered dewy sweat
Shall blossom at the Saviour's feet.

HIS DIARY.

July 20th.—I did this day set out to walk to Topsail, being that I am now putting on much flesh and my chiropractor would have me exercise myself. The walk did take me nigh on 4 hours, nor did I reduce myself, but rather add to my weight with a multitude of blisters. At Topsail, mighty weary, and did go to the camp of the C.L.B. Cadets, who did this day walk out, and there had tea, and indeed, I was mighty hungry.

Football Reminiscences.

C.C.C. VS. B.I.S.
 Played on July 19th, 1897.

This match, the 16th of the Association Championship Fixtures, was played on Llewellyn Grounds last evening before an average gathering of spectators, and after a rather interesting game ended in a win for B.I.S. by 2 goals to 1.

On lining up at the start of the game it reminded one not a little of school boy days, Gulliver and the Lilliputians being forcibly illustrated in the appearance of the teams—the B.I.S. men towering head and shoulders over the Cadet boys. It was also noted that the C.C.C. played without their officers, Arthur Donnelly and J. Shea being conspicuous by their absence.

The B.I.S. played down hill the first half, having everything in their favour, and it was thought that they would surely "pile it on." The Cadets, however, put up a grand game and more than held their own, their back divisions especially putting in some grand work, so that, try as they might, the B.I.S. could not score, although with anything like accurate shooting they might have succeeded on more than one occasion. Half-time was called without any scoring, the C.C.C. having if anything the best of the game, so far, the passing game being indulged in by them to better advantage than by their opponents.

On resuming, the play got faster, the Irishmen evidently meaning business and their superior weight began to tell. The gallant Cadets, however, continued to check them, till about 15 minutes of the half had been played, when, from a run up the field, the ball, during a scrum in the mouth of the C.C.C. goal, was banged through somehow or other, it being rather difficult to tell just how it got there. Goal No. 1 for the B.I.S. On the ball being centred, and almost from the kick of the Irishmen came again, and the youthful Cadet goalkeeper (Hanley) was beaten once more. 2 for the B.I.S. This was hard on the Cadets, but nothing daunted, they continued to play with great pluck and determination, and at length, just within 5 minutes of time their efforts were rewarded. From a splendid bit of passing play the ball was nicely carried down the field and Brophy getting possession with a splendid shot beat Jordan amidst ringing cheers for the Cadets. Time was called shortly after with the result: B.I.S. 2 goals; C.C.C. 1 goal. Referee, F. Maynard, Linesmen, Messrs. Vinicombe (Terra Nova) and Garland (C.L.B.).

Measuring the Stars' Heat.

The smallest and most sensitive instrument in the world has been constructed by Dr. W. W. Coblentz, an American scientist. Used for measuring the heat given off by the stars, it will respond to the heat of a candle fifty miles away!

The instrument is about the same size as a full-stop, and is formed by welding a dot of bismuth on to the end of a fine platinum wire. The joint is placed inside a vacuum tube containing a fluorite window, and connected by almost invisible wires to a galvanometer consisting of a fine coil of wire and a tiny swinging mirror.

The tube is then placed inside a large astronomical telescope, which is set so that the rays of the star will fall upon the joint. Because of the different properties of the two metals—bismuth and platinum—an elastic current is generated. The current flows through to the galvanometer, and the mirror is moved according to the amount of heat that has played upon the joint.

To maintain as perfect a vacuum as possible, the tube is surrounded with calcium, which absorbs the air. Fluorite windows are used because fluorite is always transparent; some rays cannot penetrate glass.

Salvage Notes.

Miss Flossie Stead, after a very pleasant week's stay at Salvage Bay, visiting friends and relatives, returned to Salvage yesterday. She expects to return to St. John's the first part of August.

Mr. Maxwell Lane, who had been spending a year at Bp. Field College, City, returned home last week. Max is looking well after his winter's sojourn, and we wish him honor in his Junior Associate.

Messrs. A. Lane and J. Hiscock, college chums of Max, also arrived at the same time and left for home—Flat Islands—next day.

Mr. Abel Ralph, who was teaching last year at Long Pond, arrived here Monday on his way to Flat Island to spend a well-merited vacation.

Magistrate James and Constable Tucker of Greenspond arrived by S.S. Malakoff yesterday on their usual spring visit to the uttermost limits of the Greenspond Magistracy.

Messrs. Hafferton of Bar Harbour left for Labrador yesterday in the schooner "Jem and Max." Besides the regular crew a number of planters went down to spend the summer months at St. Julien's, French Shore. We wish one and all success.

Mr. Owen Burden in the schooner "Mildred B." arrived from St. John's Thursday night. Mr. Burden expects to get away to the Labrador this week.

The codfishery is a blank on this part of the coast. The highest trap here does not exceed ten quintals. Salmon is also very scarce and prospects were never worse.

During Examinations week Mr. S. J. Hafferton spent a very pleasant time at Flat Island. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hafferton. Both enjoyed their stay very much at Mrs. J. Samson's.

After much delay the roof of the Teacher's residence has been newly shingled, making it watertight. A coating of paint is now required to complete the value, and incidentally the look of the place.—COR.

World's Wonder Bridges.

THE LAST WORD IN ENGINEERING FEATS.

In various parts of the world—in Australia, Canada, and America—plans are going ahead for the construction of four massive bridges which, when completed, will be among the greatest engineering feats in history.

Most wonderful of all is the structure to be erected over the Hudson River at New York. It will be 6,660 ft. long, or over 700ft. longer than the famous Brooklyn Suspension Bridge, and over 1,000ft. longer than the Forth cantilever bridge in Scotland.

The great skill that will be required in the construction of the new bridge may be judged from the tremendous weight it will have to carry. The central span will be 3,240ft. in length, and there will be two decks for traffic.

Tower Bridge Tiny in Comparison.
 On the upper deck—22ft. in width—will be a roadway with a tramway on either side, and outside this will be two footways each 17ft. broad. The lower bridge will have ten lines of railway track.

From the standpoint of actual length the Australian bridge, which is to be erected over Sydney Harbour between Dawe's Point and Milson's Point, is the next in importance. Beside it London's puny 940 ft. Tower Bridge would be dwarfed into insignificance.

Unlike that over the Hudson River, the bridge will be a single decker with four lines of railway, a road 35 ft. wide, a motor-car road 18ft. wide, and a 15ft. pathway for pedestrians. The central span will be 1,600 ft. in length.

While not to be compared with either of these structures, the bridge to be erected over the Detroit River between Detroit and the Canadian city of Windsor will be none the less remarkable. It will have two decks. The upper deck will have two 28ft. roadways, two 7ft. sidewalks, and a double tramline; while the lower deck will be devoted to four railway lines.

About 1,700ft. in length, with a main suspended span of 1,800ft., the bridge will be over 400ft. longer than the Quebec bridge, the famous structure, the hoisting of whose central span was accompanied by two disasters involving a total loss of eighty-eight lives.—Tit-Bits.

MIRARD'S LINIMENT USED BY VETERINARIES.

Gambo Notes.

Quite a number of passengers arrived by the mail ferry and registered at the Bayview Hotel.

Mr. H. Fowlow leaves by Thursday's express for Trinity to spend a few weeks vacation with his parents.

Mrs. H. G. Ivany, who has been spending a couple of weeks vacation with her parents returns to her home at Grand Falls by Sunday's express.

Some of the folks who anticipated taking a trip west in August were obliged to defer it until a later date owing to some difficulty in getting holiday leave.

Mr. J. P. Burke, representative of the Crown Life Insurance Co., who has been here the past few days left by Sunday's express for points along the west coast.

Mr. George Saunders, Govt. Line Repairer, who is repairing the main telegraph line east, was with us on Sunday last, and reports doing good work.

Mr. P. J. Cahin has carpenters employed doing the necessary repairs to his house and store. A fence has been erected and newly painted, in addition to the verandah, makes the place very attractive.

Mr. J. M. Curran's mill is now working in full swing.

Salmon are reported plentiful up the river.

Owing to no accommodation here, many tourists who would visit this place are prevented from doing so. The Station Hotel which has been closed for the past year or so we learn will likely re-open sometime during the fall.

Kitchen Tips
From the Navy.

HOW TO CUT NEW BREAD.
 Among the many things they do well in the Navy is cooking. In the Manual of Naval Cookery just issued there are valuable hints that the housewife will not find in domestic cookery books. For example:

Before cutting new bread dip the knife into a jug of boiling water. By this means the thinnest slices of bread may be cut from a new loaf without trouble.

When cutting bacon into rashers warm the knife first and it will cut both easily and neatly.

Game will keep sweet for several days if it is sprinkled over with freshly ground coffee.

Lemon juice is useful in removing grease from wood.

Stoning raisins will not be found so sticky a task if a little butter is rubbed on the fingers.

Lemons will yield their juice more freely and easily if they are placed in a fairly hot oven for five minutes before using.

Among other useful items of knowledge for the kitchen is:

3 pennies weigh 1oz.
 12 pennies weigh 1-4 lb.
 1 breakfastcup of flour equals 8oz.
 1 egg equals 2oz. of butter or suet.

P. HUMPHREYS, well-known automobile man of St. John's, who declares he is the best thing to eat for a stomach "trouble" and in poor condition. St. John's, Nfld., restored his health.

After giving everything up and believing I was right now, I can't praise Tonic too highly for it has done in my case." declares P. Humphreys, proprietor of the Motor Co., Hebron, Md. For three years or more I suffered indigestion. After eating I would be sick with gas and my heart palpitated until it interfered with my breathing. I was habitually nervous and my nerves were all the time unsteady. I got thinner and I was a shadow of my former self. Tonic has given me a keen stomach, my trouble has disappeared, my nerves have steadied and I have gained several pounds. Tonic, to my mind, is the best thing for stomach trouble and run-down condition. It is sold by all good druggists.

There Be Another Flood?

Many parts of the world scientists discovered signs that the sea level is higher than it is now. America and other countries, there are a thousand or more feet above the ocean. What has happened to the enormous quantity of water that disappeared when the sea level was in its present level? It is imprisoned in the ice-caps of the Poles, and particularly in that of the South Pole. It is known that the world has altered its Ages and Heat Ages. When the Ice Age arrives the ice formed in the preceding Ice Age melts, and the water rushes into the sea, raising it to a level of feet. Then the Ice Age comes, the water freezes again, and the sea shrinks. It is believed that we are approaching another warm period, and that when it arrives the sea will rise and flood the result. The scientists hold the opinion that the melting of the ice and the water that may occur quite suddenly. They say that as the sea becomes warmer the ice-caps will break up and the ice will then be swept by currents towards the equator. It will melt, thus bringing about a short time instead of the usual long period. It is believed that the great flood of the future will be in this manner.

Articles Missing.

The evilly disposed parties who have been about the C. O. Orphanage premises during yesterday's Garden Party, made off with a set of reins, horse whip and a pair of shoes. As the identity of these thieves has been discovered, it is as well for them to return the stolen articles immediately, and the necessity of being arrested is hereby dispensed with. A word to the wise is sufficient.

U.S. CO-OPERATES.

THE HAGUE, July 20. The United States Government figured in the closing scenes of the Hague Conference, which to-day passed into history without accomplishing its aim, which was the reaching of economic accord with Soviet Russia. M. Caster, of Belgium, made the statement that he was authorized by the American chargé d'affaires to say that the United States Government would adhere to the resolution which had just been adopted whereby the Governments engaged not to assist any of their citizens in attempts to acquire property in Russia which belonged to citizens of other countries and was confiscated since November, 1917.

DIRECTORATE RESIGNS.

TORONTO, July 20. An official announcement given out at the Canadian National headquarters this evening said that the directors of the system had handed in their resignations to the Government to facilitate the re-organization of the directorate. It was intimated by one of them, though, that no one wanted to be quoted that the directors of the Grand Trunk Railway would shortly follow their example and resign. D. H. Hanna, the retiring President, stated that the resignation of the Canadian National directorate also included resignations from the Board of the Canadian Merchant Marine.

PIRATES AT WORK.

MIAMI, July 20. The converted auxiliary schooner William S. Albany was held up by motor boat pirates of Gunkey to-day and her master, Capt. Edgcombe, shot dead on the deck, according to a wireless message received here.

AN ECHO OF THE RAILWAY STRIKE.

BUFFALO, July 20. Two boys and a woman were shot to-night when railroad detectives fired on a mob of five hundred people in the Erie yards in Spence Street. The boys will die, surgeons say.

Capized Liner.

MEN HURLED INTO SEA BY SUD-DEN LIST.

The capsizing of the Brazilian steamer Avare in Hamburg Harbour recently is one of the most curious accidents of the kind since the H.M.S. Royal George turned turtle off Spithead in 1782.

She was formerly the German steamer Sierra Nevada, 15,000 tons, built for the North-German Lloyd. As such she entered Valcaea Docks, at Hamburg, for repair, before being handed over to Brazil. The Brazilian crew numbered 120, but most of them were ashore. There were many German workmen aboard, and it is estimated that 100 men were on deck when the vessel heeled over. A pilot was in charge, but according to the Germans the Brazilian captain was responsible for what happened. A start had been made with filling the starboard water-ballast tanks to trim the ship, and it is alleged the Brazilian captain gave the order to stop this, saying enough water had been taken in. The Avare was towed out of dock swaying from side to side, and suddenly she threw herself over the starboard and sank. Men, maats, spars, tackle, barrels, and boats were hurled into the water together. According to some accounts not more than 30 men, according to others 70 or 80, were below at the time. These were drowned. Of the men thrown into the water almost all were picked up by small craft. The captain and officers were saved.

Lucky Horseshoes.

Why do we regard horseshoes as lucky? Many people believe that the superstition comes from the sea-rod Neptune, whose horses were looked upon as sacred. A horseshoe picked up on the road was supposed to belong to one of them. But the truth is that the horse is the national animal of the British people. The first Saxons who came to this country were Hengist and Horsa, both of whose names mean horse. Smiths were regarded with peculiar reverence, since theirs was held to be almost a sacred art. Do not forget that horseshoe is lucky only if its points face you as you find it, for luck streams out from them. If it is lying the other way, walk round it until you are opposite the points; then pick it up and carry it with the points upmost. Nail it on your door in the same position. Good fortune will then be showered—so says the old belief—over your house. If the points are downward as it hangs on the door, the lucky influences will pass into the earth and be lost.
