Guelph Evening Mercury

MONDAY EVEN'G, JAN. 27, 1873

Town and County News.

BLACKWOOD—The Leonard Scott Publishing Company, of New York, have placed this old established monthly upon our table. The contents are varied and interesting as usual.

ACCIDENT ON THE W. G. & B. R.—On Sunday, a new conductor named Groves, is rumored, slipped on the track, in the village of Fergus, and the cars passing over one leg, severed the limb.

OFF THE TRACK—The six o'clock train did not leave Fergus this (Monday) morning till ten o'clock, on account of the tender running off the turn-table. Various were the disappointments experienced.

This contract for building the line between Wingham and Kincardine on the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway, has been awarded to that prince of contractors, William Hendrie, Esq., of Hamilton.

COUNTY COUNCIL—The first meeting of the Wellington County Council takes place to-morrow at 2 p.m., when the Warden for 1873 will be elected. There will likely be three candidates, Messrs.
Mair (the late Warden), Massie and Laidlaw.

MONK REFORM PRESS—We have received the first number of a nicely printed and well got up paper, having the above heading, and published in Dun-ville. The new paper takes the place of a smaller one hitherto published in that village. We wish the enterprise every success.

THE HERNDON'S—The Herndon Opera House Company are here, and will give in the Town Hall to-night, Maggie Mitchell's five act play entitled "Fanchon, the Cricket." See advertisement and illuminated posters. The Herndon's have played before a Guelph audience before, and if we may speak from the satisfaction they gave on the occasion, we are warranted in saying that they will be treated with crowded houses during their stay here. Go and hear them to-night.

KNOX CHURCH ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.
—The anniversary sermons in connection with this church were preached yesterday, (Sunday) morning and evening, by the Rev. Donald Fletcher, of Hamilton. The commodious church was well filled on both occasions, and the interest manifested by the worshippers was evidence of the practicability of the ideas advanced by the preacher. We have seldom listened to a discourse more suitable to the occasion. The Soiree, for which ample provision has been made, will be held this (Monday) evening, commencing at six o'clock. A number of gentlemen from a distance, together with the ministers of the town, will address the meeting, and the choir will sing appropriate pieces at intervals during the evening.

THE LATE HENRY TAYLOR—Those who emigrated to Ontario, when it was a howling wilderness, and devoted their lives to the clearing up and improvement of the country, and by their industry and perseverance raised themselves to independent positions, and made for themselves and their families comfortable homes, are now dropping off, one by one.
Their sturdy ranks are being gradually thinned, but their works stand as a monument to their memory, compelling us to respect the spirit of energy and independence which induced them to struggle through the many difficulties which, in their early lives, surrounded and almost humbled them. These thoughts are suggested by the death of the late Henry Taylot, Esq., one of the first settlers in Eramosa.
He was born in the County of Kerry, Ireland, in the year 1813, emigrated to Canada in the year 1833, and settled in the same year in the vicinity where he resided till his death on the 21st inst. Although he was a man of retiring disposition, and never took any active part in the political history of the Township—although often solicited to do so by his friends—yet he was widely known and respected for his generosity and hospitality—for his manliness and honesty of character, and for the consistency of his life in regard to his religious principles. He was a man of no pretensions, and though he expressed his sentiments and convictions of right and wrong in a blunt straightforward manner, yet he was a man of good sound judgment and delicacy of mind, a lover of progress and education, and his loss will be deeply felt by those who have been associated with him during the past. A very large number of friends and neighbours followed his remains to the tomb.
The Rev. Mr. Smith, his pastor, preached his funeral sermon, in a very impressive manner, which could not fail to affect every hearer.

Local and Other Items.

The new freight depot, for the Great Western Road at Detroit, was taken possession of on Monday last by a legion of officials and assistants, and the first train entered the depot.

The vote taken in Innisfil, on Friday, on the Innisfil-by-law in favor of the Hamilton and Northwestern Railway, as far as heard from, stands: For the By-law, 210; against, 44, with one place yet to be heard from.

HEART DISEASE—The European Mail says that the death returns from heart disease in England and Wales during the last twenty years have been steadily progressing according to the registered mortality. In the year 1850, the recorded fatal cases numbered 11,356; and in 1870, the cases numbered 25,359.

CONSIDERABLE excitement has been caused in commercial circles in Ottawa by the number of business men who have failed within the past week. Several additional failures are rumored, causing great uneasiness. The effects of the monetary stringency will be disastrous to many (infant) enterprises in the country adjacent to the capital.

SUSPICIOUS—A travelling circus lately gave an entertainment in Varren County, Ky., for the benefit of one of the churches. The good brethren gobbled up all the money, and as the manager of the show couldn't pay his hands, they levied on wagons, &c., and the show disbanded with a row. So much for serving God and Mammon at the same time.

DIDN'T HE DO IT?—An "engaged" young gentleman got rather neatly out of a little scrape with his intended. She taxed him with having kissed two ladies at some party at which she was not present. He owned it, but said that their united ages made only twenty-one. The simple-minded girl thought of ten and eleven, and laughed off her post. He did not explain that one was nineteen and the other two years of age. Wasn't it artful?

WANT OF CARS ON THE GRAND TRUNK— Within the past two days orders for over twenty car-loads of coarse salt have been received by manufacturers at Seaford, from Montreal. This salt is wanted to take the place of Liverpool salt for curing meat. These orders could not be filled on account of scarcity of cars on the Grand Trunk. There are now only wards of seven hundred car-loads of freight awaiting cars at Seaford station.
The lack of facilities for moving this freight is a serious injury to business men and the prosperity of the place.

SAD CASE—A peculiarly sad case has just come to light in Toronto. A man left England with money and ticket for San Francisco, leaving a wife and family in England to follow him in six or eight weeks after he reached San Francisco, where he hoped to meet friends, who would assist him. At Quebec, or thereabouts, he lost his ticket and money, and on arrival here had only twenty-five cents. He has failed to get work, and is now in the poor-house. He fears that his family's supply must have been exhausted.

FOUND DEAD—An old man of the name of Thomas Catterson was found dead on Monday, the 18th inst., on the 3rd con-, Blenheim. His body had lain from Thursday morning until Monday succeeding, only about twenty yards from the highway, and was so covered with snow as not to be seen. He had apparently stumbled, from cold, into an excavation and was frozen to death. He was of an sound mind, and often wandered away for days at a time, and consequently no alarm was raised by the neighbors. When found one foot was bare and the other had on a stocking. The thaw on Monday brought him in sight.

THREATENED EPIDEMIC IN RUSSIA— The capital of Russia is threatened with an epidemic as terrible as that which not long since devastated Buenos Ayres. Dr.
Mowat, lately a British delegate to the International Statistical Congress, asserts that the cholera has found a resting place in St. Petersburg, on account of the neglect of sanitary precautions in that city. The soil upon which the houses are built is saturated with sewage, and the canal, which intersect the city are great open sewers, and at the same time sources of water supply to a portion of the population. The amount of filth deposited in the canals is so great that authorities, it is said, are afraid to disturb it for the purpose of removal, lest the attempt should cause a pestilence. St. Petersburg, however, is probably in no worse condition than most Oriental cities.

THOUGHT TO BE LOST IN THE SNOW— The Hamilton Times says:—On Friday afternoon it was rumored amongst the farmers doing business at John street market, that Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stephens, of the Township of Binbrook, had been lost in the snow. They started on Thursday afternoon last for Hamilton, and have not since been heard from. It is said that the road they took runs only a short distance from the brow of the mountain. They were seen about dark driving along through the storm, not far from the mountain's edge. Some of their friends were in the city yesterday making enquiries concerning their whereabouts, but could find out nothing.

Fears are entertained that in the blinding storm they mistook their way and drove over one of the awful precipices which abound in the vicinity of Albion Mills, and elsewhere, along this dangerous road.
The road along which they travelled is now being actively explored, but the snow has drifted into the gorges to such an extent, that even if the fears of their friends and acquaintances are realized, their bodies may remain some time before being discovered.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES

Further Particulars of the Loss of the "Northfleet."

The Khivan Difficulty.

The Queen's Liberality.

Another Collision.

Aggressive Incital of Russia.

Stabbing in New York.

Boiler Explosion—The Killed and Wounded.

Ex-Empress to Leave Chiselhurst.

London, Jan. 25.—The ex-Empress Eugenie has concluded to leave Chiselhurst, and will soon take her departure therefrom. She will not, however, leave England, but will take up her residence in some other part of the country.

It is reported this morning that a steamship has been discovered sunk at the scene of the collision, off Dungeness light-house, on Wednesday night. The opinion is becoming general that the vessel which ran into the Northfleet also went down with all hands before the emigrant ship sunk. The owner of the Spanish steamship Murio, who landed at Dover two hours before the collision occurred, believes it was his vessel which was in collision with the Northfleet, and that both were destroyed.

Bombay, Jan. 26.—A Lahore newspaper reports that Sidar Abdul Bahmar, under Russian instigation, has captured Fort Hissar, a dependency of Cabul, and Shahistan in Cabul. The Governor of that province has been appointed as prisoner to the Russians. Hissar is a good starting point for the Russians in any movement they may contemplate against Afghanistan or Turkestan. The same authority states Sidar Mahomet Isa Khan has made a successful attack on Shahistan in Cabul. The Governor of that city was likewise captured, and delivered over to the Russians.

London, Jan. 25.—There is much uneasiness felt in the city in consequence of the English note to Russia regarding the disputed boundary question in central Asia. In the settlement of the relations between the two powers, a few years ago, on the Forth understanding, England only required Russia to abstain from the invasion of Afghanistan, but the boundary of that territory was left undetermined.
The present note declares that the northern boundary of Afghanistan commences at the Lake of Serikiol, in the Pamir Steppe, thence follows the Oxus to Kadajh-saleh, and from that point westward to the Persian frontier. The note further states that England has informed the Emir of Afghanistan that he may fight the Russians if they cross this line.
The Russian reply declares the desire of Russia is to maintain good relations with England; but it refuses to accept the indicated boundary because it includes countries which never belonged to Afghanistan, but were always independent.
Russia's object in taking Khiva is apparently to establish depots, and hold and occupy the whole of the valley of the Oxus. England draws this line to interfere with Russia's purpose, and to enable her to render the better to hold the Hindoo Kash as a line of defence when the day of fighting comes.

THE TEMPTATION.

CHAPTER II.

MRS. DOBSON'S LODGING-HOUSE—JIM POTTS COMES OUT IN A FAVOURABLE LIGHT.

Number twenty-four Banwell Row was situated in a quiet, clean, though some- what humble street off one of the main thoroughfares, and at its door, a quarter of an hour later, the vehicle stopped, and the sufferer was carried in, much to the consternation of Mrs. Dobson, who was, however, speedily informed by Annabel of the state of matters, and being a good, warm-hearted soul, her interest and sympathy were at once enlisted in behalf of the unknown gentleman who was in such a grievous case.

"Oh, dear me, what a dreadful thing, to be sure," she exclaimed, holding up both her hands at the sight of the pitiable appearance. "But I am glad, my dear, you brought him here, being vacant, as you know, in the first floor, and every- thing convenient to make him comfort- able. Please to bring him up stairs, Mr. Weston. Lawk-a-me, but he seems to be badly hurt, poor, dear gentleman; and the vagabond wretch that went and did it will, I do hope, be sent over the seas for the crime."

From which rather lengthy speech it will be seen that Mrs. Dobson was garrulous, which was, indeed, the case in all circumstances; but, as her talkativeness was accompanied by a genuine kindness of disposition and a readiness to oblige, every allowance was made by those who knew her for this little weakness; and if those who did not know her noticed the peculiarity at first acquaintance they had only to look at her honest face, and note the genuineness of her tone, to under- stand and appreciate her. In most respects, Mrs. Dobson was a model lodging- house keeper, and was to be prized accordingly.

It was pleasant to observe the alacrity with which she bestirred herself to meet the exigency that had arisen. Some people would have been rendered useless by surprise and agitation, but she, while full of wonder, and agitation like- wise, was not for a moment at a loss as to what should be done; but, taking Annabel's arm, she and the young girl quickly ascended the stairs together, and had the bedroom almost ready by the time that Philip and Jim Potts reached it with their moaning and half-incon- siderable burden.

They laid him on a sofa-couch, and as he sank into it, Annabel, who had flung aside her bonnet and shawl, had a cushion ready placed for his back to recline on. Its softness was a welcome change from the position in which he had neces- sarily been hitherto, and he turned to- wards her a grateful look, though the pain he suffered was still great, and his breathing very laboured.

"Now, where can the first doctor be had, Mrs. Dobson?" asked Philip. "Dear me, yes, sir. The poor gentle- man must have a doctor, and it's most likely Doctor Thurlow will be at home at this hour. He lives at No. 4 round the corner, and never goes out at night but when he's sent for. I don't know as how a better man could be had, for he is a man of uncommon skill, as I happen to know, for when Mr. Simcox lodged in this floor—that was him as I had before Mr. Jellytop as left last week, Miss Annabel dear—he had a sprained ankle, and Dr. Thurlow gave it the best of treat- ment, as I can honestly declare."

Long before the speaker had got this length—indeed the moment she had mentioned Dr. Thurlow's address—Jim Potts nodded to Philip, as much as to say, "I'll bring him" and darted from the room. In a singularly short space of time he was back, and the doctor, with him, short as the way was between the doctor's house and No. 24 Banwell Row, Jim had put the medical man in posses- sion of the main facts of the case, and he was ready to make his investigation the moment he entered the chamber. By his direction the patient was undressed and put in bed; then he bled him copiously, which relieved almost immedi- ately the painful obstruction in the throat, and removed the most distressing symp- toms, after which he supplied a large blister to the shoulder and back, and administered a composing draught, which he anticipated would produce a long, re- vivifying sleep.

While these remedial measures were being adopted in the bedroom, Philip Weston and Jim Potts sat together in the parlor, waiting to know the result of the doctor's efforts, and to have his opin- ion of the case in general. "Ah, and so you are called Jim Potts, are you?" said Philip, after eyeing his companion for some time in silence, and being favorably impressed with the cheerfulness of character he displayed, his good humor, his prompt readiness of action, and his cool, self-possessed, yet perfectly respectful, manner.

"That's my name, sir. You don't find it a very ugly one, I hope, sir?" "By no means. I think it a very nice name, and highly expressive of the char- acter of its possessor. We have never met before, and, excepting the unfortu- nate adventure which has brought us to- gether, I am glad to make your acquaint- ance. You are the sort of fellow, I like."

"Very much obliged to you, sir; and I returns the compliment," answered Jim, with a bland smile. "I like you, too, sir; you are a real gen'lam, sir."

"Oh, no; not at all, laughed Philip. "I am only a merchant's clerk, and at present out of a situation. I was return- ing from an unsuccessful application at a warehouse near the docks, when Annabel and I came on the rascal doing the robbery in Woolman's lane."

"Well, sir," rejoined Jim, "I am sure the gen'lam has uncommon reason to thank you for comin' up the lane at that precise moment. He ought to put you in his will, sir, for something hand- some."

"Nonsense, Jim," returned Philip, with a smile. "In the first place we shall hope there is no immediate ur- gency for the making of his will; in the second place, he may not have much to bequeath; and thirdly, suppose he has, the services I have been fortunate enough to render him to-night does not entitle me to expect or deserve any such recom- pense."

"Very well put, indeed, sir," said Jim, with an approving nod. "Then sentiments is a honor to you, indeed, sir; but, praps, sir, you won't object if I venture to differ a small bit from you, would you?"
