o 4 on Cambridge.

The odds on Cambridge are generally admitted to be extravagant, and it is probable that but little money will be invested at that rate. The time tests, and their sliding are superior to similar work done by the dark blues. They average 21/2 pounds lighter than the Oxford men, but the general material seems to be slightly superior. Curiously to be slightly superior. Curiously enough, though Oxford is daily losing in public favor, the dark blues are improv ng in form, and those who are most inti mate with Gold's splendid power and re-sources and the strengthened Oxfords, still claim that if Gold, who is the Ox-

"For a detailed statement of the standing of the subordinate lodges, also the supreme lodge, I refer you to the report of the question of the cost of management. As supreme grand secretary, which report of the supreme grand secretary, which report given in detail, contains the financial standing of each department of our society's work, also the numerical status of our subordinate lodges. From these reports you will find that we have over 11,000 members in good standing. The financial standing of the subordinate lodges has somewhat improved over last year, and while stating the past year is $19,732, only $3,098 less than the amount paid for sick benefits. The juvenile department I fear does not DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT receive the attention which it deserves. I am pleased to note the increase in the numerical strength in this branch of our society work, and the funds to the credit of the juvenile branch is encouraging. It may be gratifying to know that there ha only been one death in the juvenile department during the year. I ask the adult members of our lodges to give more attention to the juveniles; it will repay you for all your efforts.

GRAND SECRETARY'S REPORT. The annual report of the grand secretary, ecelpts of the year to be $53,372, with a salance on hand of $2,256. The grand secretary says that considerable difficulty is experienced in obtaining the lodge returns on time for the annual statements, owing to the fact that many of the subordina lodges hold their quarterly meetings during the last two weeks of the December quarter. Their books and accounts having o be audited, it means a delay of two to three weeks, sometimes four weeks, before the bulk of the returns are received at the head office, necessitating the leaving out of much statistical information. This difficulty would be entirely removed if the supreme lodge held its annual session in April or May. This would then give the supreme secretary's office an opportunity

READJUSTMENT OF AGES. "One of the most important subjects," far, as the House of Commons was concerned, after a very hard struggle we succeeded in carrying the bill through. It was then sent on to the senate, and much to our surprise the bill was thrown out, so that our efforts were, to a certain extent, unsuccessful. The chief, and I may say, the call of the most important before and to be discussed at this supreme lodge meeting is the readjustment of the ages and to issue new debentures for the sum of $210,000, payable in 20 years amounts of payment by members in connection was the feel. San Francisco, March 23.-In a letter rom Capt. McQuesten, surgeon of the I'wenty-eighth regulars now at Manila, he tells of the release of A. S. Peters, a photographer, captured and tortured by Filipinos. Peters was made prisoner while taking pictures outside the lines, was thrust into a filthy gaol, where he was visited by a native captain, who tested his sword on his body and threat-ened to kill him. The rebel chief then called in a number of native savages, all armed, who executed a war dance and made passes at Peters, one of them wounding him in the arm. The next morning he was taken to Malolos, where he found eight Americans, two English men and Spaniards. From there he finally secured his release through the intervention of American officials.

Villages were washed away, the natives taking to the bush, having been forewarned by the roar of the approaching wave. Rakahange is counted as one of the high islands in that part of the Pacific, but from all that we heard the mountain of waters swept it like a sea-level shore, and it was miraculous how the people escaped, if indeed they did so. The reports were of the most meagre kind as to the escape of the inhabitants of Rakahanga. Some went so far as to say that the island had entirely been by the flood, which had swept it out of every vestige of life, but

While the vessel was at Suwarrov on the way back to Sydney," Mr. Bell continued, "the natives carelessly remarked that one big devil devil from the sea had washed ashore a little way off two months ago. They did not know it by name, only that it had two heads. We went along the beach to where the gigantic animal lay, and long before we
