YARMOUTH-BOSTON ROUTE.

Work of an Extensive Character Being Prosecuted at Evangeline Wharf, Yarmouth, Where It is Expected the Lines of the Boston-Yarmouth Service Will Dock. Discontinuance of Boston-Digby Route Announced.

As stated in a previous issue of The Times, a company which has recently been formed, will assume control of the D. A. R. steamers Prince Arthur, Prince George and Boston, and the other ships of the company's fleet (Prince Rupert, Prince Albert and Yarmouth); not being included in the deal. It is not known here what plans the new concern have made for the Yarmouth Boston route, but it seems probable that the two Princes will run as in former years, the Boston perhaps helping out in the rush season. A report, however, says that the Boston may perform a summer service between Boston and St. Andrews, N. B. The latter place has for summer visitors several C.P.R. magnates and it is just possible that the big Canadian corporations are financially interested in the plans of the new company. If it is, the public may never know it but all have as many guesses as they wish to make. It may be added that the summer steamship service between Boston and Digby has been cancelled. At first this was merely a rumor, but the discontinuance of the service has been officially announced—not only by the D.A.R. management, but also by the newly formed corporation. The staffs of Yarmouth-Boston steamers will probably remain for the present about as they are, except perhaps, colored waiters may take the place of those now employed. Work of an extensive character is being prosecuted at Evangeline wharf and appearances are that the steamers will dock there this summer. When the tourist travel is over the boats will go to some American port for overhauling—at least that is what is said in steamship circles. P. Giffins, general manager D.A.R., came here recently by special train from Kestville, accompanied by Engineers Fullington and Bailey and remained for several hours inspecting the work at Evangeline wharf.—Yarmouth Times.

The D. A. R.

The Canadian Pacific is Doing Big Things on Various Sections of the Road.

What the C. P. R. intends doing with the Dominion Atlantic is evident at many points on the road. Several heavy steel bridges are being put in, taking the place of wooden and lighter structures. Mr. Ripley, a trusted official of the Canadian Pacific, is in charge of construction. It will take time however, to carry out the improvements contemplated but all will be of a substantial character. After the bridges are put in the company will turn its attention to the roadbed which means the putting down of many miles of heavy rails and otherwise improving the system. The government, too, will be called upon to get busy with the Windsor branch, which extends from the town of Windsor to Windsor Junction—a distance of thirty-one miles. It is possible though that this piece of road may pass into the possession of the C. P. R.

Not so many years ago the Dominion Atlantic would, it was believed, obtain it but for causes which are known to those most interested the transfer never took place.

The city of Halifax should be greatly interested in the above matters. It should point out to the government that the Windsor branch is not today suitable for heavy traffic. The day is rapidly passing when a short freight train will be seen on any railway. They are expensive if nothing else and a company like the C. P. R. will not tolerate them. What the government can or will do this humble journal does not know, but it does know that there are several heavy grades between Windsor and the junction which if extra heavy trains are to be hauled will require considerable power to grapple with. What the remedy is the C. P. R. will probably suggest. In this connection it may be said that there are many people who think the C. P. R. will move the valley products to a point near Annapolis or Digby and have their boats call for them instead of using the government road from Windsor to Halifax, paying therefore a good stiff proportion of the rate. Of course if the government is disposed to transfer the branch to the C. P. R. conditions will change in favor of Halifax.

There are other rumors in connection with the purchase of the D. A. R. by the C. P. R. One is that the latter has definitely decided to construct a carry for service between St. John and Digby. The ship, it is said, will be five hundred feet long and will have carrying capacity of thirty or thirty-five cars. It is claimed by many that such a boat could not be operated between the two points but those who profess to know say that similar ferries are operated with great success in the Baltic. This is too big a problem for the newspapers and therefore the Times is more than willing to let the subject drop. Another rumor is to the effect that in a short time the D. A. R. will be known as the Dominion Atlantic division of the C. P. R. and that the general officers will be in Montreal. There are other reports but the above will be sufficient to ponder over for a few days.—Yarmouth Times.

Union of Maritime Provinces

(Kentville Chronicle)

We in the Maritime Provinces have been rather grouchy for sometime because of the treatment, real and imagined accorded us regarding the immigration question. We have not been getting our share, or that is the way we feel about it anyway, and the fact is plain enough. We are not, now is there a reason? Are the people of these three provinces in anyway to blame? Most assuredly they are.

Three small provinces, similarly situated, and similar in climate with vast resources of farm and forest, of mine and sea, are conducting three immigration campaigns, running three agencies, with their thousand and two incidental expenses and trying to compete against Ontario with the dollars it can spare and against British Columbia backed by the millions the giant railroad corporations spend in booming these provinces further west. Perhaps you know, or if you do not, we will inform you that British Columbia backed by one of these great railroad companies has driven Nova Scotia fruit out of several large shows in Britain where exhibitors from this province have won in the past; and now if any exhibition fruit is sent over, our fruit is exhibited at smaller shows where British Columbia fruit is not in evidence.

This scattering of the energies of the Maritime Provinces in this one matter of immigration alone is like trying to shoot a bull's eye at 1,000 yards with a 12 gauge gun loaded with buck shot. It's alright as far as it goes, but it don't go far enough.

Confederation in this one matter alone would bring results of moment enough to repay any province all imaginary losses it would sustain by sinking its individuality.

Rural Dearyery Meeting

The Clergy of the Rural Deanery of Annapolis were assembled "in Chapter" in Bridgetown on Monday and Tuesday of this week. All Rectors of the Deanery were present, and a most profitable series of sessions were held, the first being on Monday afternoon when, after the usual routine business, the Rev. M. Taylor, Rector of Weymouth, read a thoughtful and scholarly paper on "The Virgin Birth of Jesus Christ." Both the paper and the subsequent discussion showed the members of the Chapter to be quite abreast of what is being written on this subject at the present day.

On Monday Evening a public meeting was held in St. James' schoolroom, at which a most interesting address on "The Revision, Enrichment and Adaptation of the Book of Common Prayer" was given by the Rev. Wm. Driffield, Rector of Digby. Of this address we hope to give a report next week.

Tuesday's proceedings commenced with a celebration of Holy Communion at 8 a. m., at which service the Rev. C. W. Neish, Rector of Granville Ferry, preached a very scholarly sermon (ad clerum) from Jeremiah 1-9, 10.

From 10.30 to 11 miscellaneous business was transacted, the allotted portion of Greek Testament read, followed with exegesis by the Rev. W. S. H. Morris, Rector of Middleton.

A luncheon was then partaken of at the Rector's.

In the afternoon, 3 to 5.30, the last session was held, at which a paper was read by the Rev. Wm. Driffield, on "Confession—its history and practice." This was well discussed.

A discussion on "The Possibilities of a Deanery S. S. Association" was also introduced by Rev. Mr. Neish.

It should be mentioned that prior to the meeting "in Chapter" a meeting of Clergy and Lay representatives was held to elect a Deanery representative for the Board of Governors of King's College, Windsor. The Deanery has been most ably represented for the past five years by Mr. H. L. Jones, of Weymouth, and he was again the unanimous choice.

The next meeting will be held at Weymouth on Monday and Tuesday, September 9th and 10th, for which a full programme has been arranged.

Royal English Hand-Bell Ringers

On Victoria night, May 24th, the Royal English Hand-Bell Ringers, from Horbury, England, occupied the Primrose Theatre, and gave one of their superb musical and vocal exhibitions. The Company consists of nine artists, who between them manipulate no less than 172 bells. In "Cavalleria Rusticana," "The Hallelujah Chorus" and "The Caliph of Baghdad," the company evoked the heartiest applause, their renderings of each of these pieces being exceedingly beautiful. One could scarcely imagine the various expressions evoked from these delightful instruments. In every case—solo and overture—encores were demanded.

In no less wise the vocal capabilities of this company are also splendid,—in solo, quartette and double quartette. Humor is not lost sight of, as in Mr. Dawson one sees the true topical humorist.

The announcement that these entertainers will again favor a Bridgetown audience before the close of the present season was received with an enthusiasm that promised a cordial reception.

MUST BE CLEAN.

Montreal Milkmen and Storekeepers Summoned to Court for Filthiness.

In pursuance of a policy to start the new license year with a strict and systematic enforcement of the pure food regulations, Dr. Hood, chief of the pure food department, laid informations against ten milkmen in the Recorder's Court for keeping their milk cans in a filthy condition and for watering their milk.

Six grocers and one baker have been summoned to court to answer charges of keeping food exposed to dirt and contamination.

If any such plant disease, insect or pest is discovered in any nursery, the Secretary for Agriculture shall, on the report of an inspector, inform the owner, manager, lessee of such nursery of the fact and no vegetation shall be removed from such nursery until permission in writing so to do has been obtained from the Secretary for Agriculture.

7. The Secretary for Agriculture may authorize, by writing under his hand, any person to have in his possession, in the Province of Nova Scotia, any such plant disease, insect or pest for the purpose of scientific investigation only.

FRED F. MATHERS,
Clerk of the Executive Council.

RYMENEAL

Marshall-Young.

A quiet but very pretty home wedding took place this morning, at half-past nine, at the home of Mr. Abram Young, when his only daughter, Alice, Beatrice Young, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Rev. Albourne N. Marshall, of Winnipeg. Owing to a recent bereavement in the family only the relatives and immediate friends were present.

Friends of the bride had transformed the room in which the ceremony took place into a perfect bower of apple blossoms. The bride, who wore a beautiful gown of ivory duchesse satin, with trimmings of tulle and baby Irish lace, and carrying a bouquet of bride roses and carnations, looked exceedingly lovely as she entered the room leaning upon the arm of her father.

Rev. N. McNeill officiated at the ceremony and Mrs. McNeill played Mendelssohn's wedding march. A dainty luncheon was served, after which the bride and groom left on the 12.21 train for their future home in Winnipeg. En route they will visit all the principal cities including Montreal, Toronto and Niagara.

The bride's going away gown was a tailored suit of black messaline satin with black marquisette blouse over white silk, and black plumed hat.

Excitement in Bridgetown.

Intense excitement was occasioned yesterday morning when it was learned that Mrs. Gordon Goldsmith had disappeared from her home on the previous evening, and her whereabouts were unknown, and great relief was experienced when she returned safely last evening.

Mr. Goldsmith stated that she left the house at about half-past eight, with the intention of calling upon a friend, Mrs. Thomas Marshall, on Church street. As it was not an uncommon occurrence for Mrs. Goldsmith to spend the evening with Mrs. Marshall, Mr. Goldsmith was not uneasy that she had not returned at ten o'clock when he retired for the night.

Awakening some time after midnight he discovered that Mrs. Goldsmith had not returned. He then became alarmed and started out to search for her, but did not arouse the neighbors until after daylight, when it was found that she had not visited Mrs. Marshall. Searching parties were then formed and telephonic messages sent in every direction. No trace of the lost woman could be found, and the melancholy idea became fixed that in mental aberration she had thrown herself in the river, but though boats were out all day no trace could be found.

The mystery was solved when the arrival of the D.A.R. freight returned the missing lady to her home, greatly exhausted but with a mind perfectly clear to tell of her wanderings.

It appears that she passed by the house of Mrs. Marshall and found herself on the H. & S. W. Railway track. Not realizing where she was or where she was going she found herself this morning at Wilmot, about eighteen miles from Bridgetown. Thinking about her home and family she then turned about and retraced her course along the highway, reaching Middleton about noon. She was overtaken by Dr. F.S. Messenger between Middleton and Lawrenceton and given a drive of a few miles, but he did not know her nor did she give him any information regarding herself.

By the time she reached Lawrenceton station she was clear enough in her mind to realize that the evening freight would bring her home, but did not think to telephone to her friends, which would have relieved them of many hours of anxiety, the freight not arriving here until seven o'clock.

Mrs. Goldsmith is in delicate health and lost a little daughter about a year ago, a grief from which she has never recovered, consequently her temporary mental aberration is easily accounted for.

It is hoped she will fully recover from her dangerous experience as soon as she has time to secure rest from her exhaustion through travel and lack of sleep and food.

IMPROVED SERVICE ACROSS BAY

(St. John Standard, May 16th)

Clarence Jameson, M.P., of Digby, arrived in the city yesterday from Ottawa and was seen at the Royal Hotel last evening by the Standard. Mr. Jameson said while he was in Montreal, he had a talk with the C.P.R. officials and is hopeful that next year there will be two steamers on the Bay route, the Prince Rupert and the Yarmouth, the Rupert carrying passengers and the Yarmouth freight. Mr. Jameson said he also had hopes that before long there will be placed on the route a steamship capable of making twenty-two knots that will connect with the C.P.R. train for the west. This will give a through service between Montreal and Halifax via Digby which he states will be four hours faster than the present service over the I.C.R.

He said that he also had in view the dredging of the channel at Digby by dredging operations this year, when it is hoped to make it possible to secure the shipment of apples from the Annapolis Valley, and in another season the apples will be shipped from Digby inasmuch as the grades are easier, and where now a locomotive can haul but twenty-five cars to Halifax it could haul forty-five cars to Digby and the congestion which now exists at Halifax will be relieved by creating another outlet at Digby.

ILLUSTRATION FARM AT CLARENCE.

Representatives of Committee of Conservation Farm Association at Clarence. Selecting Farm for Displaying Advanced Methods of Farming.

Through the Agency of the Commission of Conservation, represented by Messrs. Nunnick and Fixter of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, an Illustration Farm has been established in Central Clarence. This is the first of a series of four to be established by these gentlemen, the districts chosen being Annapolis, Colchester, Pictou and Antigonish.

A large and representative gathering was held on the evening of May 24th, at Central Clarence when the association was formed and a farm selected, that of V.B. Leonard being the one unanimously chosen.

The following officers were elected: President—Eldon Marshall
1st Vice-Pres.—C. Jackson
2nd Vice-Pres.—S. B. Marshall
Secty.-Treas.—F. W. Ward.

The farmers are invited to associate together for the purpose of getting useful information from each other and from the experts of the Commission of Conservation, a sort of a local improvement association. Among the topics to be studied are crop rotation, seed selection, fertilization, fuel, power and water supply, and the suppression of weeds and insect pests.

Following are the aims and objects of the Association:—
SECTION I.—To co-operate with the Committee on Lands and the Experts of the Commission of Conservation in the investigation of various rural problems; to promote the general advancement of rural industries in the neighborhood; and to encourage the use of such means and methods as will improve the quality and quantity of the products of the farm while maintaining or increasing the fertility of the soil, more particularly through the use of an Illustration Farm in the neighborhood.

SECTION II.—To discuss ways and means whereby farming may be made more satisfactory by improving the surroundings and conveniences of the dwellings; by stimulating interest in the performance of farm operations in the most workmanlike and enjoyable way and by fostering a love for the study of nature.

SECTION III.—To consider and adopt means for the improvement of the social life of the community by having the people meet frequently to discuss questions that concern the whole community, and by encouraging co-operation and united action in directing and utilizing the local forces and agencies for these purposes.

The experiment will be watched with much interest by Clarence and other sections.
Mr. Leonard is considered one of the most progressive farmers of the Valley and his farm is excellently adapted for the purpose of illustration of the most approved methods of farming.

To Be a Clean Town.

Death to the parasite, to filth and disorder is the slogan of the Town Council and the local Board of Health, says the Tribune.

This week notices have been posted warning all persons to have their rubbish, filth of any kind, manure, animal bedding and other offensive substances, removed before May 24, and further notifying all persons who keep pigs within the town limits to dispose of same before that date.

This forward movement for civic improvement is becoming universal throughout Canada and the United States and everyone will be glad to know that Windsor is becoming alive to the economic value of presenting a clean and tidy appearance.

The Windsor Town Council is leading in this splendid reform and has already taken steps toward establishing a suitable place for civic dump. With the incinerator in operation and receptacles provided for holding waste paper that is usually left lying about, there will be no excuse for dirty streets and unsightly sidewalks.

OUR PREDECESSORS

New York, April 20—The American Museum of Natural History, in New York City, which is the greatest scientific institution of its kind in the world, has brought near to completion a collection of the strange mammals, nearly all of them now extinct, that inhabited the earth during the period immediately preceding the first appearance of man.

The age of mammals appears to have begun about 3,000,000 years ago. It was then that the earliest known horses, no larger than modern foxes, roamed over the plains of North America.

So great a length of time is not possible for the finite human mind to grasp. But a more vivid impression of it is conveyed by the statement that 3,000,000 years ago on the Alps, the Pyrenees, and the Himalayas had not as yet come into existence, but were level surfaces washed by the sea.

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF THE GREAT reptilian dinosaurs at the close of the epoch known to geologists as the Mesozoic was coincident with the uplifting of the mighty chain (previously represented by a string of more or less scattered islands), which today we know as the Rocky Mountains.

With the opening of the age of mammals began a rapid evolution of creatures of this class. Contemporary with the little horses and tapirs in North America were certain apelike animals with short faces and large eyes.

Hampton, N.S., May 20, '12
Editor the Weekly Monitor:
I enclose a copy of a poem that I have composed, giving a true account of an incident that occurred at my home a few days ago.

Yours truly,
W. K. CRISP,
THE BACHELOR'S GUEST
(A true story)

In the spring of nineteen-twelve, in a village on the shore, A boy went to see a bachelor friend, And he had done before.

It was nearly the hour of noon, And the boy had a good appetite, So he gave his friend some very plain hints

Now the friend was very generous, And hoped it would do him good, So he put on the table a plenty Of the very much wished-for food.

While dinner was getting ready, The boy two apples ate, And when he sat down to the table Found a dish beside his plate.

Of baked beans the dish held a pint and half, And he ate them every one, And the other things he ate besides, 'Till tell you just for fun.

There was half a cup of sweet pickles And of potatoes, two, And of coarse bread at least six slices, Which I think were not a few.

And the butter it took to spread them Would almost give you a shock; And about half a cup of apple sauce Was added to the stock.

For drink, half a pint of cold water And a cup of cocoa would do; And to finish up he ate one cake, Its a wonder he didn't take two.

Now I've heard that some creatures are hard to kill, And some, they say, have nine lives, But I'm glad since he ate this dinner great I can say the boy survives.

And now, dear boys, who read this tale, Don't try this record to beat, Unless you beat it by seeing What a moderate meal you can eat.

Mayer Fitzgerald, of Boston, at a recent temperance banquet, was discussing a drink cure of little efficacy.

"When I think of this cure," he said "I recall a poor old man with a red nose, who entered a magistrate's office and said:

"I'd like to take the pledge, if you please." "Very good," said the police clerk, "And how long do you wish to take it for?"

"In the past," said the old man, "I've always took it for life."

Found on examination papers of high school students: "The Greeks planted colonists for their food supply."

"He had nothing left to live for but to die." "The heart is located on the west side of the body."

"The Greeks were too thickly populated to be comfortable." "The brain is situated in the abdomen."

Price of Lobsters Takes a Tumble

Big Supply From Nova Scotia Sends Quotations From Thirty-five to Twenty Cents a Pound.

Bangor, Me., May 21—With the big lobsters from Nova Scotia coming by thousands in every steamer, the market price in Maine ports has been knocked down from thirty-five cents a pound to twenty cents, and the native fishermen are wishing there were no such place as Nova Scotia.

The consumer of lobsters occasionally gets his innings, but usually he has to pay a price that would have frightened his father half to death.

The very biggest lobster worth eating, say one of three pounds, could be had for twenty-five cents, a fairly large one for twelve or fifteen cents, and ordinary lobsters at ten cents each.

But the Maine fishermen made the same mistake with the lobsters that the Maine lumbermen did with the big pine trees—they caught them indiscriminately, by the million, regardless of age or size, forgetting the dollars of tomorrow in their haste to grab the dime of today.

Since artificial propagation was instituted there has been a gradual recovery from the verge of famine. Millions of baby lobsters are planted every year, and there are substantial and steadily increasing crops of mature fish.

A roddy, glowing skin, such as is common among the Scandinavians, and often among English men and women, is a rarity among us, even little children losing the wonderful wealth of color upon emerging from babyhood.

All Happens in a Second. A second is the smallest division of time in general use, and when we consider that in one year there are about 31,558,000 of these periods it will be built without them.

Having a Hard Time. "Here I've been running for years," said the hall clock, "and I haven't moved an inch. I wouldn't mind that so much, but ever evening about 8.30 the young lady of the family turns me back because she says I'm too fast, and then in the morning the old man comes along and grumbles because I'm too slow."

Dangerous. "Why don't you praise that sausage more?" demanded the grocer. "That sausage is all right." "It doesn't pay to praise sausage too highly," retorted the new clerk "It might wash its tail."

Deep Joke. She—Miss Hawty's dimple is awfully deep, isn't it? Looks like a gimlet hole. He—Perhaps that's what gives her such a bored expression.

COIN IN THE AIR.

Big Money to Be Made in the Manufacture of Aeroplanes.

Obviously the most immediate buyer of aeroplanes in quantities must be the British Government. Our War Office admits that we must have air squadrons in quantities, and is offering a bonus of $75 to every officer who gets his aviator's certificate, says an English writer.

The ordinary man does not buy field guns or torpedo boats, but the firms who make such things make handsome profits for their shareholders.

France has already over 250 military aeroplanes, and M. Messimy, the French War Minister, said, only the other day, that this was merely a beginning, and that he foresaw a time when every battery of artillery would have with it eight, fast aeroplanes, carrying one man each, to act as range finders, and to communicate the effects of artillery fire.

Every infantry and cavalry brigade will have its air-scout section. And there will be big, fast machines, carrying two or three or four men each, which will do the long-distance scouting far into the enemy's country.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 1912.

—What is Annapolis County doing to secure its share of the tourist trade? Beyond the circulation of booklets by several of the choice summer resorts of which the province boasts no endeavor has been made to attract the travel through the Valley or to hold it when it gets here.

The tourist travel is no inconsiderable asset to the province. Yarmouth is credited with an annual revenue of $150,000, Digby with about $200,000,
Kings County about $100,000, Halifax
$100,000, Chester $100,000 and Cape Breton about $50,000. Where does Annapolis County's share come in?

The Colonial Arms, the largest summer resort in the County is attracting by its natural charms and its superior management an increased traffic each season. The same may be said of the Kedgemakooke Lake resort. The Milford House at the Milford Lakes gets a moderate and steady patronage, Annapolis gets a small modicum of summer travel.

Bridgetown, Middleton and Lawrence-town's patronage is almost nil,—and why? Because no effort is made to attract it. Hampton, Port Lorne and Margaretville, admirably situated to develop into tourist resorts, are making a creditable effort to hold the patronage that has drifted to their beautiful shores, practically unthought.

Yet there is ample room for organized special development of the tourist traffic in this section.

It is too late to make plans and preparations for the present season, but why should not our town councils and our boards of trade form a county organization to make plans for systematic development.

In the United States and along the C. P. R. a practice is in vogue of building a chain of summer hotels at various points. These being owned by a corporation are under one management, and visitors remain at one point until they wish a change and then move to another. The idea has been worked out very successfully.

A well-known former resident of Bridgetown, who visits here each season and has travelled extensively through the summer resorts of the States expresses it as his opinion that the top of the North Mountain, near the Crosskill Lake is the most ideal spot for a large tourist hotel that he has ever seen. With the grounds laid out as a park, relieved by spaces at intervals, giving a wide sweep of shore and valley only a few miles distant on either side the view would be superb and the climate unexcelled.

Annapolis County with all its natural advantages should not remain in the back ground in the matter of summer travel.

Shower Party.

A surprise shower party was given
Miss Beatrice Young by the B. G. C.
Club and a few other friends at the home of Mrs. B. D. Neily on Monday night.

A wishing well had been arranged in the centre of a table which was beautifully decorated with apple blossoms.
Pink ribbons were attached to all the gifts which were hidden in the well.

A cut-glass bowl from the B. G. C.
Club was also presented by Miss Florence Lee, with an appropriate address. Miss Lee referred to the good times the girls had enjoyed since forming the Bachelor Girls' Club and expressed their regret at losing Miss Young from their ranks.

Miss Young feelingly expressed her appreciation and invited all the members to a parlour picnic in Winnie-rest year.

good from present indications and despite the heavy fruit crop of last year the fruit trees are blooming well.

DRIVING ACCIDENT AT DEEP BROOK.

A bad driving accident occurred at Deep Brook, Annapolis County, last Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Geo.
Spurr and Miss Wade, of Granville, the latter a teacher in the Deep Brook schools, were out driving when their horse shied near the Deep Brook bridge, throwing out the occupants.

Mrs. Spurr had an arm broken in two places, two ribs broken and was more or less bruised. Miss Wade appeared to have escaped injury at the time, but after resuming her teaching Monday morning, she was taken ill from the shock, and was obliged to close her school and return to her home in Granville. We understand that Mr. Spurr fortunately escaped with slight bruises. Their many friends will wish them each a speedy recovery.—Digby Courier.

THE RIFLE AND THE SMALL BOY

Little Jimmie Kirk, near Pictou, was shot in the back by a companion named Day, aged thirteen, with a 22-calibre rifle. Day was arrested, charged with murder but is out on bail pending future developments in the condition of the Kirk boy, who is much younger than the boy using the rifle. Those allowing children like these to handle firearms without proper supervision ought to have the charge preferred against them, while the dealer supplying ammunition to young boys ought to have a sentence of many years in penitentiary imposed upon them for such careles-ness. We are altogether too careless in this matter. Nearly every week we see indications of this amongst the small boys on our streets.—Xc.

HAIL STONES AS LARGE AS EGGS IN QUEBEC.

St. John's, Quebec, May 25.—Hail stones as large as eggs knocked down flimsily-built barns, lightning struck the Roman Catholic church here and several other buildings throughout the district, and a terrific cloudburst washed out three big sections on the Boston and Maine Railway line, last night, during the most spectacular storm of recent years.

A bolt of lightning struck St.
John's church, 140 feet up the steeple and flames broke out a few minutes later. The heroic priest of the church, Rev. Father Berleau, and a soldier, were the first to go up into the steeple, with hammers, and after a line of hose was brought up by firemen, led the fight on the flames.

At Henryville hall as large as eggs fell. About forty windows in the content were completely broken and several barns are down.

Check on Cancer is a Success

Paris Doctors Hear the Results of Treatment by Arpholins.

Paris, May 15—Prof. Letulle read recently an important paper before the Academy of Medicine on the new treatment of cancer discovered by Dr. Julius Gneada, of Agram, who has pursued his researches in London, Berlin and Paris. Dr. Gneada reports a particular case of cancer which he operated upon two years ago in Paris, and which, after an immediate relapse, submitted to his treatment, with the result that the progress of the cancer was arrested. The patient, a lady now eighty-one years of age, continues in good general health, without any evidence of cancerous growth remaining.

Dr. Gneada explains his treatment. He does not profess it to be a miraculous cure of various forms of cancer, but what it accomplishes is the arrest of cancerous growth, with a certain amount of improvement in the general health of the patient owing to the necrosis of cancerous parts.

The paper as read before the Academy was too technical to be summed up by a layman, but the substance of the communication is that the treatment prevents the formation of new cancerous growths, and shrivels up to a certain extent those that exist.

TO DETECT ICEBERGS.

Discovery That Will Enable Steamers to Tell Presence of Ice.

Copenhagen, May 25—Elihammer, a prominent inventor, claims to have made a discovery which will enable steamships to accurately locate icebergs and rocks at a distance of 1200 yards through darkness or fog. He refuses to explain his discovery or give any details, but says it is very simple. He will offer the device to all the trans-Atlantic steamship companies as soon as it has been patented.

HALIFAX GIRL BURNED TO DEATH IN SASKATOON.

Halifax, N. S., May 22—A telegram from Saskatoon states that Miss Katie Anand, daughter of the late F. W. Anand, immigration agent of Halifax, was burned by the explosion of a gasoline stove yesterday morning, and died last night. She was nineteen years of age, and was on the staff of the Royal Bank, Saskatoon.

Half Moons to be Marked

It is learned that the marine department have decided to locate a danger signal on the range of low flat rocks, extending seaward about three miles from Blanche Point, on the Shelburne coast, and locally known as the Half Moons, though named on the latest charts the Salvage ledges. This broken reef, the top of which is just awash at high tide, is the most dangerous spot on all the western shore, perhaps in the whole province. It is the turning point for all coastwise craft, after rounding Cape Sable, bound east, and for west bound vessels it stands like a barrier in their course, on which they are the more liable to strike, in foggy weather, as the current, during flood sets somewhat on a shore in that locality.

It is a common thing, also for fishing schooners on the inner banks to run for Cape Negro harbor, only a few miles to the eastward, and in thick weather, either from fog or snow-squalls, it is a most perilous undertaking, and often ends in mishap, as in the case of the American schooner the other night. The list of wrecks at this place is a long one, including several tramp steamers, as well as sailing vessels. The ex-servant of the life saving station at Blanche, who has kept a journal of all such casualties since he took his position, has it on record that he has rescued the crews of twenty vessels stranded on these ledges. The action of the department therefore in erecting a sufficient safeguard, whether a diaphane, or an automatic gas buoy, will be gladly welcomed, as well as mariners in general. It is something which the several captains of the south shore boats have urgently requested, and the local shipping will benefit by it to a still greater extent.

The comet has since been located by the Greenwich observatory and is now visible every night through telescopes.

FEARED HE HAD CONSUMPTION

"Fruit-a-lives" Cured Him

St. Stephen, N.B. Jan. 17th. 1911.

I wish to tell you of the great good "Fruit-a-lives" have done for me. For years, I was a martyr to Chronic Constipation and Stomach Trouble. I was greatly run-down and my friends feared I had Consumption. I tried numerous doctors and all kinds of medicines, but received no relief until advised to try "Fruit-a-lives" by Mr. McCready of St. Stephen, and am pleased to say that I now enjoy excellent health. "Fruit-a-lives" are the best medicine made, and I strongly advise my friends to use them.

CABLE TO SEAL ISLAND.

M. H. Nickerson, inspector of life-saving stations, who was in Halifax last week, told The Halifax Herald he had just learned what steps were being taken to lay a telephone cable from Seal Island to some point on the Yarmouth shore, connecting with the mcs. important of the Tusket Islands. A similar cable will be laid from Cape Negro Island to the mainland, which will put the Black Point life-saving station in direct communication with the lighthouses on that island.

This will be one of the greatest accommodations to both places. Seal Island has now a permanent population of nearly three hundred. Besides being a life saving station it has two fish firms, carrying on quite a business; and in the proper season it furnishes a large portion of the live lobsters shipped to Boston via Yarmouth. It will readily be seen that a telephone would be of the utmost importance from a commercial as well as humanitarian point of view.

Cape Negro Island has almost as many people and is one of the best known fishing stands on the western coast.

BY HIS OWN HAND.

Mr. Ambrose Burke, of Grafton, died suddenly on Monday morning. About four o'clock he called his housekeeper, Mrs. Keddy, and told her that he had but a few moments to live; that he had swallowed carbolic acid. She at once summoned the household and assistance from the neighbors. Dr. Killam was called, but the unfortunate man passed away before anything could be done for his relief.

An inquest was held, Dr. J. B. March, coroner, Mr. Thos. Lawson, foreman of jury. Mrs. Keddy was the only witness called. After hearing her evidence, the jury found a verdict of suicide while in a fit of despondency.

Mr. Burke was fifty-seven years of age. He has been subject to fits of despondency in the past and has been quite erratic at times. He leaves ten children; seven sons and three daughters. These have, in their tragic bereavement, the sincere sympathy of all who know them.—Berwick Register.

SALVATION ARMY CAPTAIN FOUNE DROWNED

The Body of Captain Howland was Discovered in Water at Yarmouth.

Yarmouth, May 22—Late this afternoon the body of Captain Howland of the Salvation Army here was found in the water near the old wharf at what is called "Town Point," near Chebogue in this County. A party in a launch were going up the river when they discovered the body near the shore in shallow water. There were no marks of bruises on the body, and the manner in which the captain came to death in such a place is at this time unascertainable.

It is known that Captain Howland left here this morning to go through outlying sections of the town, and the County near the town for the purpose of selling papers and collecting for the Army work, and why he was down near this old wharf where the country is practically unpopulated is hard to say. Undertaker Sweeney was despatched from here for the body, and it was taken to his rooms. An inquest will be held in the morning.

The deceased leaves a widow and three small children. He was transferred here from Fredericton, N. B., about three weeks ago, succeeding Lieutenant White.

GREAT LOSS IN FOREST DISTRICT.

Torrents of Rain Cause Much Damage in the Niagara Fruit Lands.

St. Catherine's, Ont., May 21—Heavy damage is believed to have been done to the fruit crops throughout the Niagara district as a result of unusually heavy rains last night. Robert Thompson, president of the Niagara Peninsula Fruit Growers, yesterday said little damage would be done unless a steady twenty-four hours' rain set in and washed the blossoms. It is feared the torrents which fell during the night ruined many of the blossoms.

The efforts made to relieve the famine situation in China have proved insufficient and reports of terrible suffering in the Kiang-Su and Anwei districts continue to come in daily to Shanghai. Since last September the famine has prevailed in these districts, it being brought about by the floods which swept over the country, ruining crops and spreading devastation. The reports received state that one-third of the population has died of starvation. Dead bodies are lying along the roadways and along the grand canal.

A North Dakota farmer roused his new harvest hand from slumber in the hay-mow promptly at three a.m.

"Well, if they're tame, maybe I can slip up on them in daylight."

DON'T think that concrete can be used only for building bridges, silos, walls and walks; because if you do, you will probably overlook all the places where you can use it now.

T. L. Irving, of North Georgetown, Quebec, used concrete for 81 different purposes on his farm in 1911.

There are probably at least a dozen profitable uses for concrete on your farm at the present moment.

Perhaps you haven't thought of Concrete, except for a new barn, or a silo, or some other big improvement for which you aren't quite ready yet. That's why you should read

"What The Farmer Can Do With Concrete"

It will open your eyes to the hundreds of uses that other farmers have found for this material. In plain language, and with the aid of many photographs, it explains just what these uses are, and how they can be applied to your farm.

Concrete can not only be used for all the purposes to which wood has been applied, but also many others for which wood would never be suitable.

It is not only a building material; it's a "handy" material, something that you'll grow to depend upon more and more, as you learn its possibilities.

So write for this book. You'll find it isn't a catalogue, nor an argument for you to buy our cement. Every one of its 160 pages is devoted to telling you what farmers have done and can do with concrete.

TWO POINTS OF VIEW.

"The minute I get to New York I always feel shabby, no matter how well dressed I felt before," said a woman from a less metropolitan city who sometimes goes to New York. "I declare it spoils my pleasure. I feel as if everybody was staring at my clothes."

"Why, I never felt like that," answered another woman. "There are so many wonderful things to look at in New York that it never occurred to me that anyone would look at me."

Shy and self-conscious people sometimes write me to ask how they can overcome their misfortune. I hereby recommend them to these two women. Let them avoid the point of view of the first and try to get that of the second, and they will be on the high road to recovery.

Each of us, for himself, is the centre of the universe. That is a law of psychology. Even the most unselfish person cannot think of the world in any other way than that. Although he may wear himself out in the service of others, he must still think of this universe of service as built around himself. As I go through a railway station, or look out a trolley car, it interests me to realize this, and to think how each commonplace person I see before me is the centre of a little universe of his own.

And yet there are people like the woman I first quoted who are always fancying that they are the centre of other people's universes.

Don't worry about receiving too much attention from others. Unless you are signally beautiful or signally disfigured, you are in no such danger. Half the time when you think people are staring at you, they are only looking at you as they look at the trees, or the houses they pass, with entirely indifferent half-seeing eyes.

I often think with amusement, of a conversation I heard between two girls. One was a rather pretty girl with a vanity out of all proportion to her pretensions to beauty. Said this girl with a simper: "My dear, is my hat crooked, or is there anything the matter? I've seen so many people staring at me that I know there must be something wrong." I am sure it would have been evident to a babe in arms that she expected to be told that it was her charm which had made her the cynosure of so many eyes.

But the second young woman, who has a reputation for her frankness, ignored this bait, and answered: "What made you think they were staring at you?"

"Why, I saw them, of course," explained the pretty one indignantly. "Then you were staring at them just as much," triumphantly pointed out the blunt young person. "And there wasn't anything wrong or remarkable about them, was there? People have to look at something. They can't walk along with their eyes closed. That's all it meant. I wouldn't worry if I were you."

But the pretty young woman looked much less relieved than she should have.—Ruth Cameron.

THE REDEMPTION OF A BEST PARLOR.

In many farmhouses there is a room known as "the best parlor," which is a kind of family "art museum," wherein are stored the furniture, the books, the pictures and all kinds of fancywork considered too "bright and good" for everyday use. It sounds as if it ought to be a pleasant place, but we all know that it is actually the most uncomfortable room in the house. It is generally kept very dark so that no impertinent ray of sunlight shall wander in to fade carpet or curtains, and often, alas, it is almost empty, for it is only opened for very special company two or three times in the year.

Now there was one of these discouraging state chambers in a western farm house, but at last its owners decided to make it really useful and this is what they did: First, in remodeling the house they enlarged the room and added a fine large window. Then they bought some extra chairs and convenient tables. Apparently they turned out the useless ornaments with which it had been cluttered in the past, and confined their simple attempts at decoration chiefly to the walls, but they found room for a few books and they took care to have some good cheerful lights. All this was done two years ago, and since then the two boys and two girls of the family "have given many parties" in that room and no one has got more enjoyment out of the affairs than their parents. In fact they think it "the best investment they ever made."

MANNERISMS THAT SPOIL BEAUTY.

Did you ever notice how few people there are with smooth foreheads? About nine out of ten have very distinct horizontal lines across the forehead—and not only middle-aged and elderly people, by any means. I have seen girls of twelve with these disfiguring lines plainly marked.

Now, these lines are caused by the almost universal habit of raising the eyebrows and wrinkling up the forehead when one is surprised, puzzled, or worried, and there isn't a bit of use of trying to get rid of them by rubbing cold cream or skin food into them, so long as you cling to the habit that causes them.

Then there is the deep wrinkle between the eyes, known as the "frowning line." You know how you get that line all right, don't you? Well, if anything, its more disfiguring than the horizontal lines, because it gives the face a sour, unpleasant expression that is absolutely fatal to beauty.

Another bad facial habit is allowing the corners of the mouth to droop. The result is a look of fretfulness, self-pity, weakness, and irritability that would spoil the appearance of a Venus. If persisted in long enough, this habit will cause deep, unsightly tell-tale wrinkles at the corners of the mouth.

Someone has said that it is absolutely impossible to feel depressed or low-spirited so long as you keep the corners of the mouth curved upward. And, do you know, there's a great deal of truth in it? Try it next time you get the blues.

"But," you protest, "I have these habits, and at this late day it is too late to get rid of them."

Well, that's just where you and I differ—you can get rid of them. In the first place, of course, you must banish the bad mental habits that lie back of them. A wrinkled forehead shows a wrinkled mentality, and a drooping mouth is the evidence of drooping spirits. Cultivate a sane, healthy, calm, courageous way of looking at life. Don't stew and fret and worry over small perplexities and problems and troubles. Don't ever, ever allow yourself to pity yourself.

Then when you find yourself mechanically dropping back into the old bad mannerisms, just simply stop it. Keep it in mind, pay attention to it. If you find your forehead twisted into knots, your brows drawn together in a forbidding scowl, or your mouth drooping to touch the point of your chin, drop everything else, and straighten your face out. Bring your eyebrows back where they belong—raise the corners of your mouth—there now, smile. Look pleasant, please!—Mme. Jeanne La Place, in Woman's World.

THE DAUGHTERS ON THE FARM.

Some farmers, when they think of giving their children a good education have a mistaken idea that this must involve a move to town; but the fact is that frequently the removal to the city of the farmer's family collectively or of his sons and daughters individually only means—as one has put it recently—that they "sacrifice the chance of being potential units in order to become futile atoms in the great whirl of city life."

Another mistake often made by the farmer in the treatment of his children, his daughters especially, is his unwillingness, even when he is perfectly well able to be liberal, to give them any definite monetary allowance. Now, whenever possible, a girl ought to have a little money and a little time which she can call her own and use in the gratification of her individual tastes and the development of her special talents. She should have a dollar to spend occasionally, without being thought extravagant, on painting materials or music, in going to a concert or buying a good book, or subscribing to a magazine which she feels might be helpful to her.

But if this is impossible, as in some hard circumstances it may be, her parents should take her frankly into their confidence, explain the state of the family finances, and allow her the satisfaction of taking her part voluntarily in the combined family struggle against misfortune, instead of keeping her in blind and unwilling submission to economies for which she does not see the reason. In nine cases out of ten, the young girl will respond bravely to the appeal to her selfishness and affection.

It is worth while for every farmer by means of labor-saving contrivances judicious planning of those portions of the farm work which tend to press heavily upon the women, and even by actual help in the heavier duties of the house which so sorely tax the strength of a delicate woman or a

"I Suffered Years With My Back."

Backache resulting from weak kidneys, a bad cold or other cause, usually renders the sufferer unfit for work and often results in permanent disability.

"I suffered for years with my back, or kidney trouble, and have tried a number of remedies from different physicians. More than a year ago, one of our local druggists induced me to try Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and after using them some three months I found a decided improvement in my kidneys, and I am glad to say that I hope soon to be fully restored to health." J. P. ALLEN, Ex-Judge City Court, Glasgow, Ky.

girl scarcely full-grown, to see that his wife and daughters do not become mere slaves to toil.

As surely as they are allowed to do so, not only they themselves but the home life will suffer, losing its beauty and brightness; and when households where the women are overworked and overburdened, as in some districts, by the hundreds, the life of the whole community will deteriorate and more and more the young people will flee to the towns from the unceasing grind of the country.

Up to a certain point the girl is less prone to revolt than the boy, and in consequence is perhaps in more danger of suffering serious and permanent injury to her health of mind and body.

But even when the problems of work and of the allowance have been settled satisfactorily, it is still possible unfortunately that farm life as an ideal one for girls may break down at the point of her social needs. Alone, Adam could not be content in the very Garden of Eden, and for her best development a girl absolutely needs society. It is a great and blessed thing for her to be a member of a bright, intelligent, happy family circle, but she will need society outside her home. It is well for her to meet with other young people of her own sex—and of the opposite sex. The craving of adolescent boys and girls for society "has its source," says an American professor, "in the sex instinct; then so predominant, and is not therefore to be regarded as a piece of superficial sentimentality, but rather as a profound law of nature." Wise parents will endeavor not to suppress this natural instinct but to guide it into right and healthy channels.

A rural community may have a very beautiful type of so-called social life, which more readily than the restless, hurrying city life, will flower into helpful and lasting friendships; but, like everything worth having, it is costly in time and thought and effort. "A man that would have friends must show himself friendly." And it is no light matter for man or woman, boy or girl to be a true friend.

"GOODBYE, MOTHER EARTH"

I want you to think of life, my young friends, as a party—a big party in a large, lovely house and grounds. You know what you do when you leave. The girls all say "Good night, I've had a lovely time." The boys say "I've had a splendid time." That is how we will leave this pleasant world we will say "Goodbye, Mother Earth, we have enjoyed ourselves so much playing in your streets and gardens and fields and shops and homes. We have left a great deal undone that would have helped and pleased you. We are very sorry. Please forgive us. We know you do. We have tried to play fair. We cannot stay longer. Father is calling us. Here are all your marbles. We've had a splendid time. Good night."

And in some fairer clime we'll say "Good morning,"—Rev. Douglas Hemmison.

There never was a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. This is shown by the increase in sales and voluntary testimonials from persons who have been cured by it. If you or your children are troubled with a cough or cold give it a trial and become acquainted with its good qualities. For sale by all dealers.

MOUTH BREATHING IN CHILDREN

Mouth-breathing, during the growing years, directly affects the development of the face, causing the roof of the mouth to become highly arched and the upper teeth to protrude. If an acute cold is not present, the cause of mouth-breathing must be sought by an examination of the adenoid. This mass of lymphoid tissue often, becomes enlarged in a child as a result of attacks of the disease to which children are subject, or from repeated colds. A variety of ills may result from this enlargement. The conditions attendant upon it—an imperfect supply of properly purified air to the lungs, and oxygen to the blood—delay the development of a child physically. The bones do not receive their proper sustenance; and their growth, as well as that of the entire body, is seriously interfered with. The poor circulation does not often appear listless, lacking in concentration and backward in his studies.

If a child's general health could be kept in a perfectly normal condition there would be no disease such as that presented by the adenoid; but when this condition has once established itself, the harm it may do is incalculable. As well as blocking part of the passage through which the child must breathe, being located very near the opening of the passage from the back of the nose to the ears, it shuts the necessary ventilation from these parts, interfering with the hearing. Further more the adenoid's diseased condition may communicate itself to the ear itself, causing a thickening of the tissues, and deafness.

Too much cannot be said in the urging of thorough ventilation, simple nutritious diet, plenty of outdoor exercise, and the cold morning baths. Colds should be contended with, and broken at once. There are many effective means to do this. It is not necessary to allow them to run the "three days course"—or longer. Inhalation and gargling of hot water, with a little salt, as soon as the cold makes its appearance, persisted in several times a day, will be likely to check a cold in its incipient stages. And even in a condition of apparent health, the passages of the nostrils should be watched, and kept clear with hot water, and soft with the occasional introduction of a little oil or vegetable cream. Throat, mouth and nostrils should be sprayed from time to time with a mild disinfectant such as glyco-thymoline.

COSTLY TO SWEAR IN CORNWALL

Man Who Used Naughty Words on Street Must Pay $22.85 to Town.

Cornwall, Ont., May 13—It is not gentlemanly to swear on the streets of Cornwall or anywhere else, but it is becoming an extremely expensive habit here. The other day Charles Smyth had a man named Lozon before the Police Magistrate for using bad language on the streets, and before the Magistrate's session was over it had cost the offender no less than $22.85. The Chief is bound to put a stop to the practice, and will deal similarly with all cases which come under his notice. The same man was fined $10 and costs for creating a disturbance for both fines, he was sentenced to forty-two days in jail.

BOY MET HORRIBLE DEATH.

Montreal, May 13—Eight-year-old Arthur Maynes, was dragged to death by a horse belonging to his father in a field yesterday. The horse, with a rope round his neck, was grazing. The little fellow tied the loose end of the rope round his waist and the horse became frightened, dashed around the field, dragging the boy after him. When the horse started the boy fell, and every time he was jerked along by the rope, he received kicks from the hind hoofs of the frightened animal. He was horribly battered.

The good old American city of Philadelphia, Pa., has eight large public school gardens in operation, where 13,000 little gardeners are at work with rake and hoe. Part of the regular teaching time is taken in instructing scholars how to plan their plots for different crops, dividing the space into sections, and using their computations as exercises in arithmetic. This is better than the exclusive deadening routine of textbooks.—Ex
