SULLIVAN-KILRAIN BOUT RECALLED

Match Was Made in Toronto—Boxing Again in Mississippi.

With the news that the State of Mississippi is at least open in spots to the boxing comes the recollection of the blow that was struck in that state.

Reference is made to the memorable encounter between John L. Sullivan and Jim Kilrain at Richburg, Miss., on July 8, 1889, the fight being made in Toronto, the prize money was $10,000.

The great battle lasted for 75 rounds, with John L. the victor, after the judges of the fight had made a unanimous decision. When the judge had finished the count on Sullivan it also means a couple of columns that are sure to interest play-goers and devotees of the Theatopian art.

CANADIAN'S SYMPATHY
FOR BRITISH REGAL SORROW

Extended by Premier and R. L. Borden—House of Parliament Adjourns.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—(Special.)—At the opening of the house of commons this afternoon, on the orders of the day being called, Sir Wilfrid Laurier rose and said:

"Mr. Speaker,—For reasons that will be appreciated even before they are uttered, I rise to suggest that the house should not proceed with business, but that it should be adjourned. Honorable gentlemen are aware that Lady Victoria Grenville, the eldest daughter of their Excellencies the Governor-General and Countess of Grey, has departed this life. A young woman, not yet 30 years of age, happily married, the mother of three children, she succumbed last evening to an insidious disease, against which she has fought with great fortitude, but unfortunately, fought in vain.

"Sir, the relations which have always existed between the holder of the office of governor-general and the people of this country have always been of the most intimate and affectionate, and never have Canadians been in deeper sympathy with the people of another country than they have been in sympathy with the people of Great Britain. It will be admitted by all that the death of the princess has been a national grief, and that the people of this country will be doubly sympathetic to the people of Great Britain in their sorrow for the death of the princess. It will be admitted by all that the death of the princess has been a national grief, and that the people of this country will be doubly sympathetic to the people of Great Britain in their sorrow for the death of the princess.

GIRLS APPLY FOR POSITIONS
Some Re-Engaged as Once-Invitations Will Begin To-Day.

All the girls who left the Bell Telephone Company's employ on Wednesday last applied individually yesterday morning for positions with the company. This was done on the advice of the strike committee. Up to last night, not many of the applications had been forwarded. Manager Dunstan stated that probably twenty or thirty girls were taken back, but there were not many positions actually vacant, but that there would be a great number of openings when the girls who had been re-engaged as once-invitations will begin to-day.

Under these circumstances the sympathies of the people of Canada, will pour out to their excellencies in this sad hour of their affliction.

"I have the honor to move, seconded by Mr. Borden, that this house will now adjourn until Wednesday next."

The house adjourned at 3:15 p.m.

INDIA'S NEED.
Education Greatest Requirement—Country is Growing Commercially.

Saini N. Sing, a native journalist from the Punjab, India, yesterday addressed the Canadian Club on 'India's Position in the British Empire.'

Education, he said, was the country's greatest need.

"The backward country was growing under English care, India was becoming commercially aggressive, and there was now a movement among the educated classes for constitutional self-government. This did not mean disloyalty, but it was the best compliment to the education England had given them.

"The educated classes in India, three or four times the population of Canada, and India might become a second Canada. Many of them, they have noted the progress of the Boers, thought themselves as worthy of the privilege of self-government as the Boers.

Emotional Young Man Creates a Sensation at Preachers' Meeting.

Yesterday morning Charles Chalmers, a painter, created a sensation at the Ministerial Association's meeting by advancing a petition from a seat at the back of the room at the Y.M.C.A. just as Rev. Mr. Hill had finished praying, and addressing the meeting. He looked so pale and overwrought that his friends, who were closed by emotion, said with his eyes closed he spoke, that his friend, Rev. Robert Hall, who entered, did not for a long time recognize him.

He said he had decided to leave all and preach the Gospel in the promise: 'If I be lifted up, I will draw all men unto me.' He said he was a stroller for a moment on high, and power could be obtained to cast out devils, heal the sick, and speak with tongues in Christ's name.

He censured the pastors present and said they had not this gift, and caused great emotion by his wild and unfeeling speeches in an unknown tongue.

OBITUARY.
Robert Paul.

The funeral of the late Robert Paul will take place this afternoon at the family residence, 364 East King-street, at 2 o'clock, at the home of the immediate relatives. Robert Paul was one of Toronto's pioneers. He came to this city in 1847 and lived here ever since, highly respected for his honest methods and his manner of advocating them. Mr. Paul was thoroughly in touch with the whole of Toronto's prominent residents. He knew them well and they knew him. The better they knew him the more they trusted him. In his declining years he was proud of his substantial friends. He was sedate and dignified and a stickler for formality. Deep regret will be felt by many families in Toronto when they hear of Mr. Paul's death. "So the machinery has broken down at last," remarked one of his friends. "He was a great man."

His sons are: David Paul of the Farm Limited Company; William Paul, of the same company; and Harry Paul, of Simcoe Township. The daughters are: Miss Emma Paul, Toronto, and Mrs. Ed Adamson, Toronto.

Wm. Coates.

Brookville, Feb. 4.—William Coates died this morning, after a few weeks' illness, resulting from a fall. He established a jewelry business here 50 years ago. He was 72 years of age. He is survived by his wife, one son, H. B. Coates, Brookville, and one daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) H. Warren of Inkerman, Ont.

THE MENDELSSOHN CHOIR
OPENS BRILLIANT SERIES

First Concert in Massey Hall a Glorious Success From Every Viewpoint.

Massey Hall was crowded last night, upon the occasion of the first of a series of four concerts by the Mendelssohn Choir, under the direction of A. S. Vogt, assisted by the Pittsburgh Orchestra, with Emil Paas as conductor. Indeed, all the tickets for the series have been sold, and some of the subscribers have been unable to get tickets, so that other concertists are to be given on the return of the choir from New York.

Last night a very delightful program was given, with a rendition quite in keeping with the high excellence which the choir has attained in former years, and ranked it with the best on this continent. The program was a thoroughly appreciative one, and recalls very numerous occasions of the kind, and the choir's performance was a repetition would mean to the performers.

The program opened with 'A Faust Overture,' not the one which precedes the opera by Wagner, but a reworked one, which he wrote at Zurich in 1855. It opens with a grand and noble march, which is followed by a waltz, 'Judge Me, O God,' by Mendelssohn. It is a noble and dramatic work, and in the 'Andante Animato,' 'And Then Will I Go to the Altar of God,' exhibits beautiful modulations and the grand dramatic while the male voices hold on to the sustained note of the line preceding.

The 'Challenge of Thor' is a grand piece of dramatic music, in which the choir entered feelingly into every word of it and gave it that force and virility which its spirited and defiant sentiment demands.

'Don Juan' was a tone poem by Richard Strauss, one of the greatest of living composers, which, in the duel and death scene, is unquestionably passionate. After the crash on the cymbals there is an eloquent silence, in which the choir entered into the grand and melodious duet. The selection was well received, and as an encore the overture to 'Lohengrin' was given. The choir's performance of the 'Lohengrin' overture was a masterpiece of precision in attack in the moderate maestoso. The final movement, 'The Pilgrimage to Kevelaar,' by Liszt, was a delightful poetic illumination of a ballad by Heinrich Heine. The choir's performance of this work, and George Hamlin the tenor soloist.

A rhapsody by Chalmers, 'Especially,' proved that the Pittsburgh Orchestra is capable of playing any music which is possible in music. When the score, the author had grave doubts whether it could be played or not. Its alternative motives, the crisis-cross action, the melody after the beat, as in some modern rag-times, mixed in with the past waltz strains and some parts of the common. It took well with the audience, and was a most successful and harmonious simple and feeling 'Traut-Wings of a Dove,' a four-part chorus, 'You Stole My Love,' and the descriptive anthem, 'Jubilate, Amen,' in which the choir sang in full voice, and at other times a mere echo, carried the anthem from the cathedral on the river below, mingling with the solo, 'Hark, the Vesper Bells are Stealing!'

GRAND JURY REMARKS UPON MATTERS OF TIMELY INTEREST IN THE COURTS.

The publication in newspapers of advertisements of noxious drugs and of 'manufacturing details' of certain criminal cases, were deplored in the address of the assize grand jury presented to Justice Mabee yesterday.

The jurors also expressed dismay 'at the amount of false swearing and withholding of the truth by several witnesses in some of the cases and the utter disregard for the oath taken before giving evidence.

'The many cases of tampering with ballot boxes, and the case in which the present system, issued by boards should more frequently follow corrupt practices at elections, not alone for the offending individuals, but also for the electoral district where widespread corruption was clearly shown to exist.

The jurors also viewed with apprehension the disposition to discriminate in the speedy administration of justice between those who are accused who have influence and wealth and those who have not. 'We trust that no such harsh will be permitted upon the fair execution of Canadian justice,' said the presentment.

'Referring to the case of Charles McGill and the Ontario Bank, we are of the opinion that it is the duty of the government to at once establish some system of inspection of banks and other monetary institutions which will safeguard the investing public from deceitful and fraudulent practices, issued by boards of directors, who, apparently, in this instance, have been grossly negligent of their duty as trustees for the shareholders of the bank.

'We are impressed with the startling increase of drunkenness and disorderly conduct in the city of Toronto, and no doubt, much of the overcrowding in jail and the Ontario Prison is the result of this increase in drinking and attendant crimes.'

The other publication of details of criminal trials, newspapers sold news, and like other vendors, sold largely the commodity that sells the best, and that the public seem to like best. Newspapers in Canada, and, doubtless, upon a high plane, and largely drawn from seeing the American press teeming with the details of the world which was now going on in New York.

His lordship thought that recent revelations connected with the management or mismanagement of at least one bank would bring about new regulations that will render unlikely the occurrence of the things in future.

THRU OLD ENGLAND.

The Toronto Camera Club demonstration hall was filled to overflowing to hear and see W. H. Moss' illustrated lecture, 'Thru Old England.'

The slides, which were of mechanical perfection, carried the auditors thru the storied castles and great houses, the beautiful landscapes and the humbler, the no less picturesque, cottages of the poor, with some illustrative of thousand-year-old scenes in the history of the light little isle. Mr. Moss' talk on each as thrown on the screen was illuminating, and everybody present was delighted.

The present informed the club at the close of the entertainment that of 110 slides sent down by the Toronto Camera Club to the American Interchange 94 had been accepted, a large percentage. Naturally all were pleased with this phenomenal success.

FREE TO BE UNTIL CURED

With good, vigorous health everything is possible—wealth, happiness, success. Without it there is only failure. Electricity furnishes all that good to build up a strong, hale, confident, successful man—iron for the blood, vim and fire for the nerves and brain, strength for the muscles, good digestion. It does all that medicines do, as well as what they fail to do. In my forty years' success I have proven this by the thousands of weeks I have restored after other treatments failed. To convince every sufferer from debility, varicose, loss of energy, indigestion, lame back, etc., I give my famous Electric Belt absolutely free until cured.

ment," in the last number of the North American Review, Arthur Twining Hadley, president of Yale University, dealing with this point, said: "The president of a large corporation is in a place of public trust. In an obvious sense, he is a trustee for the stockholders and creditors of his corporation. In a less obvious, but equally important sense, he is a trustee on behalf of the public. While this is true of any corporation, it is especially true of public-service companies."

Nothing can be plainer or more reasonable than the proposition that when the people, thru their representatives, entrust the operation of a public service or utility to a private company, it is the duty of that company to limit its capitalization to the lowest amount consistent with the proper conduct of the undertaking and to make the lowest rates and charges, after allowing a fair return upon the sums invested and providing for other proper charges. If the proceeds of bonds or stocks issued are not needed for the proper purposes of the enterprise, their issue is a direct breach of public trust. Pronouncing on this matter, the Supreme Court of the United States said: "If a railroad corporation has bonded its property for an amount that exceeds its fair value, or if its capitalization is illegitimate, it can not impose upon the public the burden of such increased rates as may be required for realizing profits upon such excessive valuation or fictitious capitalization."

And, again, the same court remarked: "We hold that the basis of all calculation as to the reasonableness of rates to be charged by a corporation maintaining a highway under legislative sanction, must be the fair value of the property being used by it for the convenience of the public." These dicta are clearly applicable to all corporations undertaking the operation of public services, and their soundness in law and equity is undoubted.

It is reported that President Roosevelt favors the proposal made by Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin by which railroad charges would be limited to a fair return on the property actually invested. The president's line of policy in regard to public-service corporations is stirring up revolt in many of the states against the outrageous over-capitalization which is their common earmark. It has, therefore, been very pleasing to Wall-street to discover that Mr. Roosevelt holds $10,000,000 per cent. bonds of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad, for the repeal of whose charter an application by the state is now pending in the Minnesota courts, on the ground that the company has ceased to perform the functions for which it was created. A Wall-street journal seizes the opportunity to instruct the president on the subject of his anti-railroad campaign and repeats the argument that it is really a campaign against American investors, big and little. Now that Mr. Roosevelt, in the effect of the Minnesota application, Wall-street thinks that he will read Mr. Roosevelt, the president, a lecture with that subject as the text. Taking the Wall-street journal's article in hand, The New York Press, which is a strong and able supporter of the rights of the public, makes some valuable comment on the position of the holders of "watered" and "other fictitious stocks and securities" who are "innocent purchasers" who make such a play in pro-corporation literature. It says:

"The habitual effort of Wall-street is to create the belief that when corporations are forced to live up to the law they will be generally suffering an distress. Always those who resist the proposal to limit the railroads to stocks the supreme court says is a fair reward for their services will tell us how many thousands of shareholders there are in those corporations. The sufferings of the 'corporation widows and orphans' when justice is had by the courts are shown in tearful pictures. Indeed, a large number of so-called 'innocent purchasers,' including President Roosevelt, are going to suffer when the laws of the state and the nation are enforced, as President Roosevelt and the state officers mean to enforce them. But if thru their neglect to make their influence felt in railroad boards of directors, the shareholders have permitted the corporations in which they have invested to suffer in pocket, perhaps the holders of bonds, when they are not legally responsible for the acts of the corporations, do not deserve to suffer. If so, they have their remedy in proceedings in equity or in appeals for relief to legislatures and congress."

"Purchasers of watered stocks, and stocks issued in violation of the charters of the corporations, as was done in the case of the Great Northern, are either imprudent purchasers or they are deliberately gambling on the possibility that the courts will not destroy the counterfeit values which they have put their money. In either case, they have no ground for complaint when government steps in to protect the people against the extortion which is practiced in order to declare dividends on these unlawful stocks. And the sufferings of the 'corporation widows and orphans' who may find that they have bought green goods from Wall-street dealers, are as nothing to the general suffering caused by taxing every man, woman and child, including the stockholders themselves, as well as all who do not hold stock, in order to keep up the fictitious value of the counterfeit shares. The same demands that these extortionate charges upon the people to pay dividends on over-

THE RAILWAYS AND THE BOARD OF RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS FOR CANADA.

Forty-sixth Article. In our initial article we made the statement that it was our intention to try and ascertain whether this country was to be governed by the people or the railways. There is not the slightest doubt that in the end the people will govern, but there is just a little doubt that at the present time the people of Canada are absolutely at the mercy of the carrying companies, and this state of affairs is entirely due to the fact that the government has allowed the railways to gradually assume powers that they were never intended to exercise, until today they practically ignore the law and the law-makers—they have become a law unto-themselves.

We have made the charge that the board of railway commissioners is incompetent, and we have offered to prove that this is the case.

We have made the charge that the tariffs of the railways are arranged upon an exorbitant basis, and we have also offered to prove the correctness of our statement in this respect.

Neither the board of railway commissioners, the government, nor the railway companies have attempted to question the correctness of the charges entered against them, and we assume that they are unable to deny the truthfulness of our statements.

In order to try and force a reply from some of the parties interested, we propose to make a statement which should draw an answer of some kind from the board of railway commissioners, or the government. We recently drew the attention of the government and the people to the fact that the Grand Trunk Railway was discriminating against the Canadian route and declined to issue thru bills of lading for traffic routed that way, when destined to points in Europe reached by vessels plying from Portland, Maine.

It is a question that cannot be ignored either by the government or the board of railway commissioners, and if they do not answer it the people of Canada will assume that the information which has come to us with regard to the Grand Trunk Railway Company dominating the government, is correct.

(These articles have appeared daily since Monday, Dec. 3.—Ed.)

capitalization shall stop. Tens of thousands of stockholders may suffer when the railroads may be but their sufferings are those incidental to the establishment of popular rights. The greater sufferings of eighty millions of people are the sufferings of victims of a great injustice which must be remedied."

SAVE THE BEACHES.

Editor World: The announcement is made by some of the newspapers that the beaches have been saved by a plan put forward by Engineer Rust and his colleague, Engineer C. B. Smith. This we presume is the route that was announced with a great flourish a day or two after Mr. Smith's appointment as having been discovered by these gentlemen in one day's looking over the ground between here and Scarborough, altho the best engineers of the Grand Trunk, the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern have taken months and years to locate what they consider the best lines for those routes.

Let us consider what this wonderful discovery consists of and what features it presents that will make it acceptable to the property owners at the beach, the railways interested and the minister of railways at Ottawa. The people at the beach strongly object to any line of street running city south of the Kingston-road. The objection was just as strong to the route chosen by the Canadian Northern, north of Queen-street, as to the Grand Trunk south of that thoroughfare. It is the property owners at the beach, the railways interested and the minister of railways at Ottawa.

WANTS $50,000 IN BONDS CAN'T BE ACCOMMODATED

Hon. A. J. Matheson, provincial treasurer, has received a belated application from an Ontario man for $50,000 worth of Ontario government bonds.

As they have all been disposed of months ago, the request was referred to one of the purchasers of the bonds.

Now the city proposes to deal with the viaduct question and unless somebody has courage enough to protest, for this job also, altho he had had no experience whatever because there has been no opportunity to gain experience in this line in Canada. From the very nature of the project, you must go to some large city like Chicago or even Buffalo to find a man who is capable of handling such a big question from practical experience.

That is one trouble with Toronto, that they are trying to run it on local lines, forgetting that it is becoming a metropolitan city, and we must plan longer than a year or two ahead unless we are prepared to pay two or three times what it would cost today now face us if the solution is left a few years longer.

Viola Allen, Lily Langtry and Large Audiences.

"Cymbeline" among the plays of Shakespeare, has always appeared with peculiar force to the poetic temperament. Just before Lord Tennyson crossed the bar he asked for his favorite drama and the open volume lay beside him on his deathbed. "Cymbeline" is but a name—it only recalls the figure of Imogen, the perfect wife, the royal lady whose purity, courage, devotion and resignation make her the bright and particular star in the dramatic constellation of heroes. It was natural, and indeed inevitable, that Miss Viola Allen should essay a role for which her own qualities of person and heart especially fit her, and in these days the lovers of the higher drama do not know that more gratifying or unnumbered opportunities and rich aesthetic appeal.

Miss Allen, following the modern habit, has given pains enough to set the story in a brilliant setting, combining in curious mixture Roman luxury and modern refinements. In this drama Shakespeare is even more supremely different than his usual custom to the classic nocturne. This critics who are less than than pendents, count a grievous fault. But the poet's eye was in the repulsive and the other leading characters, but for against which the virtues of Imogen are more sharply outlined.

Miss Allen, Imogen, has to run the whole gamut of emotion, and not the least test of her art is the external comes, she increases in intensity. In the first blush of her young affection, wedded only to be separated, she discloses the finer qualities of her nature. With Cotten, Miss Allen's Imogen was simply scornful, complete self-sacrifice which is the finest test of her strength and purpose. From that point on, every action serves to heighten and color the impersonation by adding new revelations of the hidden recesses of her nature. With Cotten, Miss Allen's Imogen was simply scornful, complete self-sacrifice which is the finest test of her strength and purpose.

Miss Kempfer, besides her gifts of clever acting and her winsome personality, is the possessor of a soprano voice of exceptionally clear quality and delighted the audience with some tuneful ballads, neatly interpreted. She declares she has quite fallen in love with Toronto and its people, and she is looking forward with keen anticipation to making closer acquaintances at her reception to be given on the occasion of the conclusion of the night's performance.

Hal Reid is well-known to Torontoans as a writer of stirring drama, and he has written a play which is a masterpiece of dramatic art. The play is a masterpiece of dramatic art. The play is a masterpiece of dramatic art. The play is a masterpiece of dramatic art.

NEGLECTED CHILDREN AND THEIR SMOORS

Staff Inspector Archibald Gives an Address at Bradford Children's Aid Society.

Bradford, Feb. 4.—Staff Inspector Archibald of Toronto to-night delivered an address at the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society.

The staff-inspector gave an interesting account of the mode of procedure adopted and put into practice in the children's court of Toronto, where more than one thousand children, of various ages and under, were dealt with during the year, not one of whom was sent to jail. He also emphasized the necessity for the enactment of drastic measures for the protection of the honor, wife, mother and children from cruel and brutal treatment at the hands and feet of the drunken husband and father, which, after all, it is the parents who are responsible for three-fourths of the neglected and dependent children falling into the hands of the society.

Mr. Cookburn explained how every half year he and the directors went minutely over all the reports from the branches of the society, which were examined once or twice a year and verified. The inspector went over the general account of the society and the affairs of the head office, but could detect nothing for this million dollars was being studied all over 30 branches away from Toronto.

Believed Statements True. After the staff-inspector gave the statements of the society, he was asked if he believed them to be true. "Yes, and I asked if they were true and asked about the changes from year to year, and they were explained to me."

COCKBURN DISCHARGED

Continued From Page 1. An extended absence of McGill in New York, Mr. Cockburn captured McGill for disbarment in being away so long. McGill answered that he was a private trader, but could not do his other duties, too.

John Platt, director since 1905, denied as false the various allegations of McGill concerning the knowledge of the directors of the bank.

Mr. Cockburn a Witness. George R. Connor stepped into the box at 4.35 and was sworn. He told the jury that he had no knowledge of the bank's affairs.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

Finance Committee Make
Changes in Recommendations.

The finance committee of the education board have had added after six meetings $100,182 to the teachers' pay roll as compared with last year, and yesterday made further alterations increasing this figure.

Owing to a rider in clause three, there are two H. S. assistant teachers who will receive the same salary as the year as the high school assistants who were just hired last September. It is not unlikely that this rider will be removed to benefit the older teachers. The salary of the principal of the Alexandra Industrial school was increased to $900, and Principals Groves and Bruce were again increased $200 each, bringing their salaries to $1900.

It was decided to recommend an expenditure of $26,000 instead of $20,000 in enlarging Queen Alexandra school by six rooms instead of four. The committee endorsed a recommendation of Inspector Hughes that an additional class be opened at Brock, Huron, Grace and Parkdale schools.

Staff Inspector Archibald Gives an
Address at Bradford Child-

Bradford, Feb. 4.—Staff Inspector Archibald of Toronto to-night delivered an address at the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society.

The staff-inspector gave an interesting account of the mode of procedure adopted and put into practice in the children's court of Toronto, where more than one thousand children, of various ages and under, were dealt with during the year, not one of whom was sent to jail. He also emphasized the necessity for the enactment of drastic measures for the protection of the honor, wife, mother and children from cruel and brutal treatment at the hands and feet of the drunken husband and father, which, after all, it is the parents who are responsible for three-fourths of the neglected and dependent children falling into the hands of the society.

Mr. Cookburn explained how every half year he and the directors went minutely over all the reports from the branches of the society, which were examined once or twice a year and verified. The inspector went over the general account of the society and the affairs of the head office, but could detect nothing for this million dollars was being studied all over 30 branches away from Toronto.

Believed Statements True. After the staff-inspector gave the statements of the society, he was asked if he believed them to be true. "Yes, and I asked if they were true and asked about the changes from year to year, and they were explained to me."

Mr. Garvan took his seat. District Attorney Jerome sprang a decided surprise by asking the court to exclude the testimony of the principal expert. By doing this Mr. Jerome at one blow disclosed the fact that the court believed that the expert's testimony was not reliable.

COBALT---Portage Bay Extension Will Again Attract Attention---COBALT

COBALT IS IMPORTANT ON SCIENTIFIC GROUNDS

Writer in The Scientific American Points out the Possibilities of Cobalt's Uses.

Alban Porter, writing in The Scientific American of Cobalt says:

The new mining region which is being explored in Northern Ontario is perhaps as important from a scientific standpoint as from the fact that it is of considerable extent. While the principal output has been silver, it is now known beyond question that the percentage of the cobalt in the ores is so high that this interesting substance will probably be utilized to a far greater degree in industries than ever before. While many reports have been current about the mineral wealth of this region, fortunately its natural formation as well as the mines which have been known have been investigated by such experts as Prof. William Earl Hilden of the London Geological Society, Dr. Robert Bell of the Canadian Geological Survey, and Prof. Nichol of the Canadian School of Mines. All of these mineralogists concur as to the extent of the ore veins and the percentage of metal which they contain.

It may be needless to say that the small quantity of cobalt utilized in industries has been almost entirely in the form of an oxide. While it is known to form an alloy with iron, or manganese, and is superior to nickel for plating on metal, the difficulty of separating it from the elements with which it is usually combined has caused it to be employed almost entirely as a pigment. For this purpose it is mixed with glass, the cobalt fused with borax results in a beautifully tinted glass. In a single year such a small quantity has been produced that less than fifty tons of the ore are consumed by the various industries in America. The bulk of the oxide is imported, most of it coming from New South Wales, Switzerland and New Caledonia.

Those who are familiar with the geology of Ontario are not surprised that the ore deposits in the vicinity of the Town of Cobalt should be of this nature. The new mining centre is but ninety miles northeast of Sudbury, which, as recently stated in The Scientific American, has become one of the greatest nickel-producing centres of the world. The rocks of the Lower Huronian age and the Kewatin formation come to the surface for a considerable distance in the vicinity of Cobalt, outcroppings of ore extending as far as 500 feet above Lake Temiskaming, while workings in the lake itself have also yielded one of a high grade. Also the principal mining operations at the present time are being conducted immediately around the town of Cobalt, ore containing a larger percentage of not only cobalt and silver, but also some gold, has been found in Ingram, thirty miles north of the present field, while a vein has also been located thirty miles south, which gives 23 per cent. cobalt, 7 per cent. nickel, 23 per cent. arsenic, with a mere trace of silver, but averaging nearly 100 worth of gold to the ton. While the entire region about the Kewatin and Huronian has been partially examined, the experts to whom we have referred believe that the Huronian and Kewatin strata, which contain the ore, extend near enough to the surface to make the ore-bearing region fully sixty miles in length and of unknown width.

As we have stated, the examinations of the veins thus far opened have been sufficiently exhaustive to give an idea of the character and grade of the ores, while a number of the mines has been opened to a sufficient extent to make a conservative estimate of the possibilities of the output. While silver is the principal output, the ores are remarkable for their diversity. They include native silver, smaltite, niccolite, argentic cobalt, bloom, nickel bloom, iron pyrites, arsenic, copper and iron pyrites and zinc blende.

The principal vein stone thus far opened is calcite, the considerable quantity of quartz is taken out mingled with the ore. Some of the outcrops so closely resemble pure silver that the latter is taken out as a by-product. The statements have been made as to the richness of the field. It has been claimed that pieces of ore taken at random from the veins at Cobalt showed the following percentages when analyzed: Silver, 14.41; cobalt, 11.27; nickel, 3.74; arsenic, 44.15.

It will be noticed in this analysis the percentage of cobalt nearly equaled that of silver. A careful study of another portion in the vicinity, however, gave 15.6 per cent. of cobalt, merely a trace of silver, and 61.74 per cent. of arsenic, the percentage of nickel being 7. These figures can be taken as a fair standard of the grade of the ore in the district, although some of the mines contain a considerably larger percentage both of silver and cobalt. The bulk of the ore is transported to New Jersey for reduction, the average cost of transportation per carload being $150. The quality of the metal, however, is such that the several mining companies have been sending not only the first-grade but their second-grade ores to be treated, as the second-grade assays from $300 to $300 per ton.

The La Rose mine, which was the first to be opened and has been worked the most systematically thus far, furnishes at present the best illustration of the extent of the veins. The main shaft at this mine is down to 100 feet and drifts have been made for a distance of over 200 feet at this level. These drifts show that the vein of ore is as extensive as first as rich as the portion which was first discovered. The mine was one of the first to be investigated by the mineralogists. Here the diamond drill has bored to a depth of 350 feet, ore being found at the greatest distance from the surface. The Trettheway mine contains ore of such a grade that 50 tons of it have actually yielded 100,000 ounces of silver, in addition to 12 per cent. cobalt and 31.2 per cent. nickel. Like most of the other operations in the district, however, this mine consists of merely an open cut which at the present time is 15 feet in length and 25 feet in depth; the vein of ore averages but 8 inches in width, which will give an idea of the percentage of metal which it carries. The veins thus far located throughout the district are not noted for their size. They average from 10 to 12 inches, in one or two instances widening to 18 inches. The geologists are still in doubt as to the formation of the veins, but believe they were created by the action of highly heated water which permeated the narrow vertical fissures where they are found. These fissures cut thru the rocks of the geological area to which we have referred.

Owing to the presence of so much ore near the surface, mining operations in the Cobalt district are notable for the crude methods employed. As already stated, the majority of workings are practically on the surface, the earth and rock covering being stripped off and open trenches dug to conform to the size and direction of the vein. Some of the largest producers have not been mined to a distance of 25 feet below the surface as yet. The system usually employed in getting out the ore from these workings is to utilize explosives, sometimes the pick, to loosen the formation, when it is loaded into buckets and hoisted by means of a boom derrick to the top. The windings operated by hand-power is one of the common methods. Sidings of tramways have been laid from some of the larger mines to the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, a line which the Canadian government has built thru this district from Toronto.

At La Rose and a number of the deeper mines where shafts have been sunk, the ore extracted from the chambers on the various levels is carried to the foot of the shaft by wheelbarrows, loaded in the buckets, then hoisted by windlases and cables to the surface, a steam engine of suitable horse-power being installed for this purpose. The buildings at the larger mines consist merely of the shaft-houses—a frame shed covering the mouth of the shaft and hoisting machinery—and stock house, where the ore is broken up into suitable sizes and sacked for shipping to the smelters. Some of the companies have not even provided storage for the ore, and it is a common sight to witness open air awaiting opportunity to be hauled to the railroad station.

Owing to the difficulty of securing the cobalt and nickel by the process employed at the New Jersey smelters, it is understood that a very large portion of these valuable substances is wasted in the effort to obtain all of the silver which is contained in the ore. A reduction works is now in course of construction at Cobalt in which the German process utilized in the United States is known as Saxon ore. This process uses containing cobalt, arsenic and silver are so economically treated that nearly all the cobalt and silver are saved. The mining department of the Canadian government works are being constructed under the supervision of two German metallurgists who are familiar with the treatment of these ores. Readers are aware that Thomas A. Edison has been making an elaborate series of experiments for several years with the view of producing an electric storage battery which will be more economical and durable than the types now used for commercial purposes. From time to time reference has been made to the work which Mr. Edison is doing. It is known that during the last year he has made several examinations of mineral deposits both in the United States and Canada. In a recent interview he made the statement that he had discovered a process for lead which would revolutionize the storage battery. The metal which he intends utilizing is cobalt, and it is evident that he has discovered a process by which it can be secured from the ore in such a form that it is available for his purposes. The cobalt contained in the various nickel ores thus far exposed in the United States, however, is insignificant compared with the extent of the ore in the new mining district. As Mr. Edison made the statement he returned to after he had visited this section of Canada, it is probable that he will utilize a portion of its output in the new battery which he has announced he is about to manufacture. The advantages of this battery over the majority of types in use are appreciated when his statement is quoted. This is to the effect that for $200 a battery can be constructed and equipped which will supply motive power to propel a vehicle for two passengers a distance of 100,000 miles before another need be substituted. In other words, by the use of cobalt, Mr. Edison believes he has found what might be called a permanent battery.

NIPISSING NEW OFFICERS.

Are Elected and President Earle Retains His Position.

New York, Feb. 4.—At a meeting of Nipissing Mines Company directors, held Saturday, Captain J. R. Delmar, A. Morrell, E. C. Converse and Col. Robert M. Thompson resigned, and in their places were elected W. B. Thompson, Eugene Meyer, Jr., Frank Sherman and J. G. Hopkins. President Earle remains not only as director, but as president of the company. It is estimated that the value of the ore shipped by the Nipissing Mines Company in December aggregated over $50,000, which is considered a good average, considering the severe weather.

Earnings of the Nipissing Mines Company in January were between $50,000 and $60,000. The company has $500,000 cash on hand, including ore in transit, which is valued at $400,000.

An official of the company says that under the new management work of development will be pushed forward with a view of earnings, in January, of between $100,000 to $200,000 a year, the present rate, on a capitalization of $6,000,000, requires $1,000,000.

Silver Star Sells a Claim.

The Silver Star Mining Company have effected the sale of their property in Coleman Township to Toronto capitalists. It is estimated that the value of the property will at once decline a dividend of 50 cents per share, which is a good one. The company still holds another claim in Coleman Township which is supposed to be in a better position still.

Coleman Township.

There is no portion of Coleman Township attracting greater attention at the present time than that in which are situated the properties of the Cobalt Union Mines, Limited. This company, as well as several other strong companies operating in the district, are actively pushing development work, and shafts are being sunk with every foot in depth showing more valuable minerals. There is no doubt that this section will very soon report a number of shippers.
