THE WEST DURHAM SEAT VACANT BECAUSE OF BRIBERY BY AGENTS

Charges of Bribery Proved Against Gerrie, an Agent of Thornton and the Election Declared Void—The Other Charges Dismissed—Judges of One Mind.

Trucker. The evidence of the Woodward established the charge.

Justice Street said he had come to the same conclusion of agent and corruption. There was abundant evidence that Gerrie had been bribed by Thornton.

The officers by which was never carried out. The charges taken, that of James McLaughlin of Darlington, he being charged with offering votes to a voter named Lynch for his vote.

After lunch the examination of James McLaughlin was continued. He had by accident attended one committee meeting only. He had not attended Thornton's nomination meeting.

No Agency Shows.
The court then decided that the case of agency had not been made out in McLaughlin's case, and the charge of attempting to bribe Lynch was dismissed.

The Woodward case was resumed, the defence having produced witnesses to prove that the Woodward was reported in a neighborhood in which they live to be a respectable citizen.

The plaintiff produced James Hunter, W. W. Trull, James Hunter and Horace Houston, leading and respectable men, who had known the Woodward for 30 years, and each swore as to the good character and trustworthiness of James and Frank Woodward.

Agency Proved.
Chief Justice Falconbridge then said charges 5 and 10, as to agency of Gerrie, were well established.

His action as to agency of Gerrie in his own name as scrutineer, and had the same voters' list used at the polls that had been used at two meetings where voters were also objected to one voter, named A. S. Hardy.

RELATIVES GET REMAINS.

Rutledge's Body Was Surrendered by the Authorities on Saturday Night.

Anonymous Wreath of Roses Delivered at Railway Station on Saturday.

The remains of Frank Rutledge were yesterday morning taken to Streetsville for interment. The hearse left the home of Charles Rutledge at 7 o'clock for the Union Station.

The body was handed over to the relatives on Saturday night, and was removed to the undertaking establishment of A. P. McCabe & Co., East Queen-street, where it was prepared for burial.

No Service at the House.
There was no service at the house, and at the time of the funeral only a few intimate relatives were present.

The coffin lay in a floral spray and one large white lily, placed there by relatives. Shortly before the cortege left for the station a man approached Undertaker McCabe and gave him a little bouquet of roses, with the request that it be placed with the other flowers.

The cortege consisted of the hearse and one carriage, the latter containing the deceased's brother and sister-in-law and three other friends. At the Union Station the party was joined by several others, who waited there until the departure of the train bearing the remains.

Someone Sent Some Roses.
The train pulled out on messenger arrived at the depot, bearing a beautiful wreath of roses. It did not bear the sender's name.

The body was placed on P.E.R. No. 5 train for Streetsville, and left at 7:45 o'clock. Attached to the car was a certificate from Coroner N. A. Powell stating that deceased was 32 years of age, and that death resulted from a fracture of the skull.

NOT A LETTER IN THE DOCK.
Gerrie and Were Communicated With on the Day That "Stable" Boy Was Killed.

There has been much speculation as to how the prisoner in the dock in which Boyd was killed knew that the revolver was in the trunk in the car of Gerrie and Sumner-Smith. Their evident anxiety for the cabin to urge his horses is looked upon as conclusive proof that they were expecting something unusual on the usual morning trip to the jail.

In this connection a startling story has leaked out which reflects no credit upon the vigilance of the county authorities who were supposed to be keeping a strict watch on the desperadoes.

The matter occurred when the men were en route to the jail after the trial on Tuesday night. On that day the prisoners were taken into an ante-room at the Court House during the adjournment for lunch.

When Rutledge was searched after death by Dr. Richardson, a small chambray bag, which was two inches long, was found attached to a string around his neck. This little bag contained the picture of a handsome woman, as well as a lock of brown hair, tied together with a pink ribbon.

CHARLES STEEL FOUND DEAD.
Eight Young Man Succumbed to Heart Disease at His Home Yesterday Afternoon.

Charles Beverly Steel, a young man, was found dead yesterday afternoon at his home, 1 Blackfriars-place. He was up and about the house as usual early in the morning and appeared more than ordinarily cheerful.

After partaking of dinner he complained of feeling unwell, and laid down on the sofa. His father, two sisters and one brother were away from the house at the time, and when they returned, about 9 o'clock, they found that he had expired during their absence.

Deceased had not been in the best of health for some years, and his death was not unexpected. In March, 1899, the young man sustained a severe injury to his head by falling from a car at Wellesley and Sherbourne-streets, and this is said to have hastened his death. He was 18 years of age, and his mother is out of the city at present, and is critically ill.

The baronet, the latest aspirant for female favor, was made from that sweet fabric, lace Oxford. It is the ideal summer dress, as well as a top-notch metropolitan style. As usual, 100 yards of 30 Yonge-street is the first to show this graceful cloth.

Annual Displays.
At Tuesday night's meeting of the Astronomical Society a series of papers on the Aurora will be read and some beautiful lantern slides shown. The meeting will be held in the Canadian Institute and visitors will be welcome.

Good Advice for the Wet Weather.
Summer is at last with us, and there is a certain accomplishment of the third law of nature, that the wet weather is here. There is no more refreshing or healthy beverage than Canada's first mineral water, "Radium."

Wedding Flowers.
We are always pleased to furnish estimates for any flowers you may wish to send for our cut flower price list. Dundas, 5 King West, 445 Yonge-street.

SHERIFF AND GOVERNOR ARE ALL RIGHT

The article in the Hamilton Herald of Saturday night in which the World's General Editor is quoted as saying that the Sheriff and Governor are all right is a gross misstatement. No one is to be blamed for the death of Boyd, officials should not be blamed when mistakes occur. In a word, the whole contention of the World is very childish.

There is more sense in the World's articles on the existing system of appointing sheriffs and jail governors than in the articles on the existing system of appointing sheriffs and jail governors. The World's articles on the existing system of appointing sheriffs and jail governors are a disgrace to the World's editorial staff.

In other words, the Attorney-General's spokesman confesses that the system is bad. It is a matter of fact that the system is bad. It is a matter of fact that the system is bad.

Does this not prove all we claimed, namely, that the system was bad, and must be changed, and that the incompetent men under who had a system ought to be removed?

When Judge Robertson's infamy was made public, the World called for his resignation. In the public interest, it is the duty of the public to maintain that both the sheriff and the governor of the jail should be removed. And in the public interest, the system of selection of the officials should be abolished forever.

But the Globe and the Hamilton Herald are quite satisfied with things as they are. The people are not, any more than they are, satisfied with the whole administration of justice in Toronto, as far as the province and the province's interests are concerned. And yet a change is coming.

UNITED STATES AND RECIPROcity. Canada should be in no haste to sign a treaty with the United States looking towards the establishment of commercial reciprocity between the two countries.

The countries of Europe are paving the way for reciprocity with the United States, not only as well as for themselves. Let Canada wait and see what effect the aggressive action of united Europe will have in causing the United States to deal more equitably with the nations with whom it trades.

The United States has begun to talk on American public opinion. The press is beginning to favor the adoption of reciprocity as the only means of meeting European opposition. The Buffalo Express, a supporter of the administration, and a strong protection organ, says that the manufacturers, in their demand for reciprocity, will find more pliable material to work with than they have in the past.

It is just possible the United States delegates may be more disposed to make a reasonable reciprocity treaty with Canada than they formerly were. But Canada, however, should not rely upon their having been converted. Canada will greatly strengthen her position by raising her tariff to the same height as that of the United States.

When it comes to actual negotiations, Canada will then have a valuable concession to dispose of, viz., the lowering of her tariff, for the benefit of the United States manufacturers. For this concession the United States will be prepared to give a gold price. The World has all along contended that this was the best way for Canada to obtain fair treatment from the United States. Our position has been sustained by the changed attitude of the United States in the face of a threatened European coalition. Let Canada join combination, or at least put into practice the policy recommended by the commission and she will stand a good chance

PAN-AMERICAN ARBITRATION.

The New York Herald again refers to the forthcoming Pan-American Peace Congress, and suggests that the success of the congress is menaced by a dispute as to the scope of the proposed arbitration. Chile, we are told, is unwilling to take part in the congress unless the arbitration is restricted to the dispute between Chile and Peru. It seems to us, however, that there is no direct interest in this congress. Our dispute with the United States is somewhat analogous to that between Chile and Peru. The latter country desires to have the dispute settled by arbitration. Chile opposes arbitration, in reference to the Alaskan trouble Canada proposes that the dispute should be submitted to impartial arbitration. The United States has declined the proposition.

The Herald has no desire or intention to go into the merits of this controversy or to take either side. But as the parties themselves have not been able to settle it, it would seem to be an eminently fit subject for arbitration. Each, of course, contends that it is right and the other is wrong. Well, the very purpose of arbitration is to ascertain from a fair and impartial tribunal which is right and which is wrong, wholly or in part. Can any fair-minded person accept the idea of arbitration, and then refuse to accept it?

The principle laid down by the Herald is an excellent one. It is one to which Canada, as an independent American State, should adhere. It is one to which the United States should adhere. It is one to which the United States should adhere.
