CHAPTER X.—(Continued).

It was then two o'clock in the afternoon. By five o'clock Rosalind had in her hand the Saracen dagger and another dagger—though not, of course, the diary, which Clarke had carried off long ago. At about three she had gone to sit by Pauline's bedside, and here, with the lamp flaring brightly, not two feet from her right hand, had remained over an hour. Pauline lay quiet, with a stare in her wide-open eyes, gazing up at the ceiling. Every now and again her body would twitch into a gawky and awkward kind of position, a stupid expression would overcloud her face, a vacant smile play on her lips; then, after some minutes, she would lie naturally again, staring at the ceiling. Suddenly, about half-past four, she had a kind of seizure; her body stiffened and curved, she uttered shrieks which chilled Rosalind's blood, and then her whole frame settled into a steady, strong agitation, which set the chamber all in a tremble, and could not be stilled by the two persons who had her wrists in their grip. When this was over, she dropped off into a deep sleep.

borne's address, thinking that she would go and get her suspended letter, and, if she saw Osborne himself offer him a note of cheer—"all will be well." Her driver rapped for her at the house door, she sitting still in the cab, a hope in her that Osborne would come out. It seemed long since she had last seen his face, since she had heard that sob of his at the sundial at the Abbey. The message went inward that Miss Marsh had called for a letter directed to Mr. Osborne by her; and her high spirits were dampened when Jenkins appeared at the door to say that the letter would be brought her. Mr. Osborne himself having just gone out.

In sober fact, Osborne had not stirred out of the house for days, but her promised call "in person" should occur when he was absent, but at last, unable to bear it any longer, he had made a dash to see her, and was at that moment venturing to knock at her door.

However, though the news was damping, she had a store of high spirits that afternoon, which pushed her to leave a note scribbled with her gold pencil on the back of a letter—an act fraught with terrible sufferings for her in the sequel. This was her message:

"I will write again, meantime, do not lose hope! I have discovered that your poisoned dagger has been in the possession of the late lady's maid, Pauline. A small thing, but mine! I am now taking it to Inspector Furneaux's."

seek stiffened a little. Their eyes met sadly, and dwelt together several seconds, in a stillness like that of somber skies before lightnings fly out. Truly, Rupert Osborne's millions were unable to buy him either happiness or luck, for it was the worst of ill-luck that he should not have been at home just then.

CHAPTER I.

When Rosalind's contemptuous eyes abandoned that silent interchange of looks, they fell upon the envelope in Rupert's hand, nor could she help noticing that round the flap it was clumsily stained with gum. Yet Osborne had written to her saying that it had been unopened.

The other woman stepped to the door of the cab.

"Miss Marsh?" she inquired, with an assumed lack of knowledge that was insolent in itself.

"Yes," Osborne left this for you if you called.

"Thank you." The business was ended, yet the lady's secretary still stood there, staring lazily at Rosalind's face.

"Drive on—"

"Wait, cabman!" cried Hylda imperiously. "I cannot let you waste your energy as you do. You believe that Mr. Osborne is friendly; and you offer him my friendship."

Plays and Players

CHATTY GREEN OF THE GREEN ROOM

The following taken from the New York "Mirror" should be of interest to many theatregoers in St. John: "Margaret Anglin has successfully resumed her professional work after a short interval of rest, and thus her best friends rejoice. Miss Anglin, by the way, comes naturally by the mental alertness that among other things distinguishes her as an actress and as a woman.

Her father was a man of phenomenal memory. As a newspaperman in New Brunswick he had been known to write verbatim reports of long and stormy meetings without having taken a single written note. In replying to an opponent in the hearings, he would quote the exact words which that opponent had used, it is said, and when the correctness of the quotation was challenged, reference to the notes of stenographers present would show that Mr. Anglin was right.

Miss Anglin is one of the cleverest of the amateur theatrical company whose performances at Rideau Hall were among the most charming features of the Dufferin days. Thus Miss Anglin inherited from both sides of the house qualities which would make her a star in the Grand Opera House, New Haven, on Monday next.

Edmund Brees, who opened his first New York season as a star at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday, after a prolonged absence from the stage, has returned to his native land, where he will play at the Grand Opera House, New Haven, on Monday next.

William Faversham has made arrangements with E. Lyle Swett, of the Haymarket Theatre, London, for the production next April in that house, of Edward Knobloch's comedy, "The Man in the Moon." The supporting company will probably be that now playing in Daly Theatre, Mr. Faversham, although an Englishman, has played in London since his debut in the Adelphi Theatre, London, in 1880. All these plays of St. John audiences seeing Mr. Faversham this season has been abandoned.

Regulations were begun by Sir Thomas Slaughtery of the C. P. R. some time ago to have him make a Canadian tour, but the London engagement will defer it for this season at least.

Marcus Lowe is planning to build three new theatres in Manhattan, New York, for the addition of sixty other playhouses in cities of the Middle West have also been made.

Fred Terry is going to star his charming and talented comedies, "The Man in the Moon" and "Romeo and Juliet," very soon, and promises an elaborate revival of the play, "Miss Nellie's" under the management of Herbert French early last season, and is considered one of the most promising actresses on the London stage in recent years.

Paris has acclaimed a musical version of "Don Quixote," with music by Jules Massenet and a libretto by Henry Cain as a genuine success. Ever since Cervantes wrote his great work, musicians have been inspired by the immortal figure of Don Quixote. A "Don Quixote," by Musset, was produced in Italy in 1830. The other (libretto by Barber and Carré, music by Boulanger) was brought out at the Theatre Lyrique, Paris, in 1860. All these works, however, were but short-lived and soon disappeared from the repertoire. The new French version has been given by Géo Lacombe at his new London house next November and will be followed by Géo Lacombe.

An actor well known to local audiences, Daniel Frazer, is planning on a tour of the world, and has announced his intention of organizing with Robert M. Hunter, who is playing with him in "The Spendthrift," a company to present the latest successes on a round-the-world-tour. This will be the second Mr. Frazer has conducted, and he is planning on making a start at the close of the season in San Francisco.

A memorable ceremony was a presentation to Miss Ellen Terry at the New Theatre, New York, last week. The founders of that institution presented to her a gold medal in recognition of her distinguished services to dramatic art. The magnificent theatre was completely filled with notables in every walk of life, including the majority of the founders and many others prominent in the worlds of society, art and finance, and nearly every prominent actor, singer, author and play-wright in New York City.

Daniel H. Morris, a nephew of the late Lewis Morris, has written a satirical novel of early life in Rome, which he calls "As the Gods Deceit." Mr. Morris has been named after an actor and the unusual honor falls to Billy H. Van. He is just in receipt of a letter from the Rev. Father Heilly to the effect that the name of his home town, Georges Mills, N. H., has been changed to Van. The town council decided that, owing to the number of people in their home town, the very of improvements and charities that Van and the Beaumont Sisters have been re-quest they could do to show their appreci-

SUGGESTION FOR MR. HAZEN

The following paragraph from the Toronto News should be brought to the attention of Premier Hazen: "The Ontario government's successful departure in spreading agricultural information in different parts of the province is likely to receive marked attention at the session of the legislature which opens tomorrow. Remarkable results have attended the establishment of agricultural demonstrators in fifteen different counties."

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES

The problem of collecting taxes on personal property in New York has proved so great for the department of taxes and assessments. The tentative personal assessment rolls for 1911 show a decrease of one-third from those of 1910. This does not mean that personal property is shrinking in New York, but that a new plan has been adopted because under the old system it was impossible to collect the taxes.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

THE ONE REMEDY in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which cures all ailments and an infallible baby-feeding agent and a certain cure for all ailments.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to put its every ingredient on each outside bottle wrapper and state to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of any kind. THE ONE REMEDY is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. It is trifling with your most precious possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

AND so she's going to marry THAT man," said the lady who always knows something. "That little effeminate, soft-voiced sissy—after all the chances she's had."

"I don't wonder a bit," said the lady who always knows something. "I think he's just the kind of a man a woman always falls in love with."

"What is the kind of a man a woman always falls in love with?" asked the writer-man. "I often make all the ladies in my story go daffy over one man or another, but story-ladies have to do what I tell them, and I'll be hanged if I could pick out the man that real live ladies will fall in love with."

"The only thing I can be sure of is that they won't like the man you'd think they would. There's Oglethorpe, for instance, one of the best men the Lord ever made and women run from him as if he had the pest."

"Why do you say pick out some perfect chick to call the best man the Lord ever made?" inquired Molly. "I'd as soon pick out a man as a woman."

"Why?" demanded the writer-man. "Oh, because," explained Molly succinctly. "Well, what, in a man do women like best?" pursued the writer-man. "You ladies must know. Tell me."

"A man with good, broad shoulders," said Molly. "The man who always gives up his seat in a street car when women are standing," said the lady who always knows something.

"The man who never talks about other women," I contributed. "The man who keeps his nails well manicured, and says 'Good morning' when he comes in to the office, and takes off his hat in an elevator," suggested Molly.

"The man who is good to his mother and takes his sisters around sometimes," added the lady who knows something. "The man who doesn't treat you half decently," put in the writer-man. "A woman and a dog and a hickory tree—the more you beat them the better they be, you know."

"Why, I wonder, does it improve a hickory tree?" mused Molly. "If that isn't just like a woman," growled the writer-man. "But why?" persisted Molly.

"Never mind," said the writer-man with dignity. "You are distracting us from the main issue."

"If that isn't just like a man," mimicked Molly. "Children," said the lady who always knows something, "cease your quarrelling and listen to my nice plan. We'll ask Ruth to ask the great public."

"Bully," said the writer-man. "Lovely," cooed Molly. So will the great public please consider itself asked.

What sort of a man do women like best? If you'll kindly contribute your ideas of the subject we'll have a symposium some day. Only remember there are a lot of you and make them short—not more than a hundred words.

Your individual observation must have taught you each something on the subject. Won't you share it?

FOR SKIN DISEASES A Treatment That Costs Nothing Unless It Provides Satisfactory Relief

I have a grayish-white ointment with a pleasant odor that is clean to use. I believe is the best known remedy for the relief of skin diseases. It is especially efficacious for overworking economy, various forms of ring worm, acne, pimples, blotches, insect bites, letter, certain forms of ulcers, sores and wounds. It is strongly antiseptic, cleansing, soothing and healing. It stops all itching and burning caused by skin eruptions. I am so positive this ointment is unequalled that I offer it with the distinct understanding that if after having given it a reasonable trial you are not satisfied with the results, you will have no more of it and I will without charge select no more or obligations whatsoever.

I want you to try this ointment. The first application is a refreshing sense of relief and because of its germ destroying power it keeps the germs from coming back. It cures eczema and many other eruptions. It quickly allays the inflammation, gives relief to every flamed surface, and helps restore healthy tissue. It is particularly active in relieving skin ailments peculiar to children. You certainly cannot lose anything by trying it. I would not dare make this offer except I am positive all Eczema Ointment will satisfactorily benefit you. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can only obtain it at my store—The Retail Store, Chas. R. Wasson.

A St. John Wedding The Council gave in conclusion, with motions duly put, etc. The Aldermen began to rave, and stamp about on foot, sir. They argue "pro" and argue "con." They argue up and argue down. Then place the matter on the shelf, sir.

A winterport for Canada, which takes up their attention, a perfect port without a day. New piers and pier extension. They argue "pro" and argue "con." They argue up and argue down. Then place the matter on the shelf, sir.

Now comes expansion of industry, and then some city bonds issue. With methods for redemption. They argue up and argue down. Then place the matter on the shelf, sir.

Envoi This is the moral of my song. Will be "upon the shelf, sir. And like the maiden all forlorn. Who at the present styles may scorn. But sticks to those of yesterday. When Prince Charming fled, sir. So shall St. John be "en passe."

Unless Commission weeds her? "We trust that this will be one of 1911's June weddings and that each and every citizen will have an old shoe to throw after the newly wedded pair, a symbol of good luck and prosperity."

"AN OLD SLIPPER." MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Bain Mason and Freeman Hoover, fishermen, of Tantler, fifty miles from Halifax, were found drowned yesterday by a searching party. The men had gone about fishing, suspecting that they had been drowned, an opening was made in the ice of a small lake and the bodies were found. They were brothers-in-law.

Before the ship subsidy committee in the U. S. Congress yesterday, Alford W. Doolittle, manager of the New York Journal of Commerce, testified that his paper had refused the offer of a bribe of $100,000 for the insertion of an article in one issue supporting the ship subsidy legislation. Spain had also tried to buy its influence for $100,000 during the Spanish war.

At a meeting of the board of trade of Sackville last evening, Dr. W. W. Andrews, president, was made the recipient of a travelling bag and Mrs. Andrews a hat trunk. They will leave today for Regina, where Dr. Andrews will take up his duties as president of Saskatchewan college.

Once you have used PURITY FLOUR you will readily pay the little more it may cost.

Until you have actually tried PURITY FLOUR you may demur at the trifle more it costs you than lower grade flours cost—but your first sack will show you why that seemingly higher price is a real economy for you

PURITY FLOUR

That trial sack (which you ought to order this very day) will teach you what Purity Flour is worth to you, as contrasted with an ordinary flour.

PURITY FLOUR is milled from only the kernels of the choicest Manitoba hard wheat—the world's wheat staple.

From the 84 grain elevators which grow and operate, we select the finest wheat of the year's crop. This, at our mills, is so treated that only the most richly-nourishing part of the wheat berry goes into a PURITY sack or PURITY barrel.

The result is a flour so strong that it produces more bread for a quantity used than ordinary flour.

But bulk of product is not all you are to expect of PURITY FLOUR. You are to expect lighter, snowier bread; bread that has the nutlike sweet, wholesome taste every housewife tries to put into the bread she bakes.

PURITY FLOUR, moreover, is not merely a bread flour. It is an every-purpose flour. It makes the kind of pastry you can be proud of—cake that invites praise—biscuits that are an asset.

No only is PURITY flour for economy's sake, you see, but the flour for quality baking. Thus, the few extra cents which it may cost you actually insures you against baking disappointments. PURITY FLOUR is the flour you will never be without, once you fully test its unusual merits.

Begin with a small trial sack, if you are dubious. Your grocer can supply you.

Sussex, Jan. 25—A meeting was held this evening in the hall of the Medical Faculty of the University of London, to select delegates to the Liberal convention at Hampton on Feb. 15, when candidates in opposition to the Hazen administration will be selected.

The meeting was a large and representative one of the Liberals of Sussex. W. H. Culbert was appointed chairman and R. H. Arnold secretary, and the following delegates and substitutes were selected: Mr. A. Jeffries, Dr. W. H. White, Joseph Hornbrook, J. R. McLean, George S. Bryden, Wm. Howard, Arthur Keith, Dr. N. "Pneumonia"

Pneumonia is nothing more or less than "Lung Fever," or as it is used to be called, "Inflammation of the Lungs" and the results come entirely from a local source; such as taking a violent cold.

There is more or less difficulty in breathing; a cough, at first dry, but soon accompanied by raising a thick, sticky, rusty-colored matter, composed of a mixture of phlegm and blood.

There is only one way to prevent pneumonia, and that is to cure the cold just as soon as it appears. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will do this quickly and easily.

Mrs. E. W. Bowman, Fenelon, Ont., writes: "Three years ago I caught a cold which ended in a severe attack of pneumonia. I was unable to speak loud enough to be heard across the room. Last winter, however, a friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, saying it had helped her. I bought a bottle and used it. I am glad to say it was completely cured. I also find it a good medicine for the children when they have colds."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; the price 25 cents.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

IN HONOR OF BURNS

Clan Mackenzie and Camp Rothesay Celebrate Anniversary At Dinners

Last evening the Scots of St. John did honor to the memory of one of Scotland's greatest sons, Robert Burns, the bard of the Heather. At Wananaker's restaurant, Camp Rothesay, No. 114, South of Scotland, had down an excellent dinner. A fine programme of songs, cornet and violin solos was rendered, also several selections from the instrument beloved by all Scotchmen—the bagpipes.

In reply to the toast to Robert Burns, Lieutenant Colonel Baxter spoke briefly of the poet's life and early death, and said that though his life was short he had left an immortal stamp on the literature of England. Brought up under the puritanical precepts of his parents, this plough boy had left a memory in Auld Lang Syne which was endless. "Burns" poetry is full of human sympathy. Hardly has he been dead a century, yet his name is still remembered by the people of every land.

The toasts of the evening were as follows: The King (God Save the King), A. Campbell; Robert Burns, A. Campbell; Lieutenant Colonel Baxter; Grand Camp, F. Z. Fowler, N. L. MacDonald; British Scots, J. P. Britton, Rev. J. J. McCoskell; Ladies, G. E. Logan, D. D. McArthur; Our City, His Worship Mayor Frink; A. White's restaurant, Clan Mackenzie commemorated their countryman's memory. A fine menu was served, after which the evening was enjoyed in toasts and music.

The Rev. I. A. Maclean was the orator of the evening. He gave an admirable address, speaking at length of Burns' life and works. Those who gave addresses were J. Roach, J. Murdoch, Mayor Frink, Alexander Macaulay, Judge Ritchie, C. K. Cameron, Roy Cameron, J. H. MacLeod, W. F. Hathorn, M. P. P., and John E. Wilson, M. P. P.

An interesting meeting was held last evening at the Dominion Lighthouse board, organized by the Dominion Lighthouse board, at the residence of William G. Aswell, was reappointed Scott Act inspector at a salary of $200. There was a discussion regarding the law concerning peddlers and it was decided to have a summary of the law published in the next issue of the "Star" and "Kings" at the south end of the parish of Hampton, N. B.

Managers were extended to Warden Gilbert and Secretary Treasurer Ott.

GOVERNMENT OF CITY BY A COMMISSION

A Practical Address on Subject of Live Interest Here
Secretary of U. S. National League Gives Practical Pointers to Cities of Canada in Talk to The Ottawa Canadian Club

(Ottawa Citizen.)
An intensely practical and interesting address was given by the Canadian Club on Saturday by Clinton Rogers Woodruff, secretary of the National Municipal League of the United States. The subject was
"Government of City by a Commission."

The commission form of government is a subject which has attracted the attention of many people here in view of the fact that the city of Ottawa is contemplating the adoption of this form of government.

Under the old system of municipal government, the city council was responsible for the management of the city. The council was elected by the people and was composed of members of various political parties.

Under the commission form of government, the city council is abolished and a commission is appointed by the people. The commission is responsible for the management of the city.

The city of Des Moines, Iowa, took the matter up with some modifications.
The chief safeguard is the chief safeguard is the chief safeguard.

government, the city council is
abolished and a commission is appointed by the people. The commission is responsible for the management of the city.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Lindsay, Ont., Jan. 25--(Special)--I think it is no more than right for me to thank Mrs.
Pinkham for what her kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me.

When I wrote her some time ago I was a very sick woman, suffering from female troubles. I had inflammation of the female organs,
and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor told me that I must give up all hope. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,
and I bought a bottle of it. I took it regularly, and in a few days I was able to get up. I continued to take it, and in a few more days I was able to walk any distance. I am now perfectly well, and I can
thank Mrs. Pinkham
for what her kind
advice and Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done
for me.

There are other reasons for the success of this powder. One of the most important is the concentration of power in the hands of a few men who cannot escape responsibility. If anything goes wrong in affairs of the city, these few men are responsible. They cannot dodge their responsibility. There are so many others with co-ordinating, overlapping, and conflicting jurisdictions that one never could tell who was responsible for the bad part of the system.

While the power is concentrated there is no one to call the merit system, city service reform, the choice of men for subordinate positions because of their abilities. This fitness is ascertained in the first place by written and oral examination, and the man who proves his fitness is appointed irrespective of his political or religious views. After their appointment, they have to serve for six months on probation.

The next safeguard is known as the recall. It can be exercised on a petition signed by 25 per cent of the ratepayers which call on an official to stand a new election for six months.

I might take a good deal of time in telling you how commission government has made out. But let me say that, as the result of six or seven years of observation, there has not come to my notice a single instance of a city governed under this form having applied for change. On the contrary, the list of commission governed cities is constantly lengthening.

In reply to Fred Cook, Mr. Woodruff gives information as to the number of cities in office of the commissioners. He said the commissioners ran from three to twenty in most cases. The length of term runs from two to four years, and three years is the average time. There is a great deal of diversity also in the provision as to the time to be devoted by the commissioners to their work. In the larger cities they are required to give all their time, and it is provided that they shall not be paid. This is a very important provision, for in the United States we have not seen the kind of municipal officials as they should be paid, nor have we given municipal work that dignity and consideration which is by right its own.

At the monthly meeting of the Public Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon, H. A. Powell, K. C., filed his answer to the reply made by Barnhill, Ewing & Sanford, in connection with the charges of the Board of Trade in reference to the rates of the N. B. Telephone Co.

Mr. Powell's reply is in the nature of a general denial of the claims of the company, and their contentions regarding the rates charged being reasonable. He claims that the fact of a subscriber being able to get in touch with people in other parts of the province does or should not materially affect the rates for local exchange, because that deals with another service with a distinct tariff of assets and charges.
The matter was laid over until this morning.

delegation of west side citizens, composed of Capt. J. H. Crowley, W. O. Dunham, G. S. Hayes, Rev. C. E. Scott, S.
M. Wetmore and C. B. Lockhart, was heard relative to complaints regarding service of the St. John Street Railway Company in Carleton Place. They claimed that the service was not as it should be. This matter was also adjourned till today.

Rev. J. H. A. Anderson and Rev. W.
Marshall returned yesterday afternoon from Chipman, where they assisted in inducing the new Presbyterian pastor, Rev. Edwin Smith, Mr. Anderson presiding, and Rev. Messrs. Townsend and Frank Hend, of Sussex, delivered addresses, while Mr. Pint, of Chipman, welcomed the new clergyman. The stipend is $1,200 and

ONE OF WORST CASES HE HAS EVER HEARD OF

Donald McMaster M. P. Speaks of David Russell Matter
Leaves Again for England But Will Return to Conduct the Case--Further Particulars in the Remarkable Series of Events

Montreal, Jan. 25--Donald McMaster, M. P., left for England tonight. Before he went he said: "I will return to conduct the Russell case, which is the worst I ever heard of. If they had got Russell into that lunatic asylum for seven five minutes, his evidence and allegations in his land suit for $1,200,000 would not have been worth the paper they were written on."

At noon today a second writ was served at the instance of David Russell upon the officials of the Pinkerton detective agency, as announced on Saturday. The writ was served by Mr. Russell's lawyers, Mr. Hinson & Campbell, Saturday morning, claiming $200,000 damages for alleged actions on the part of that detective agency. The suit entered today claims additional damages of $200,000 for breach of contract. The plaintiff claims in addition the return of $2,000 paid by him to the Pinkerton.

The plaintiff's declaration, served with the suit, sets forth the claims of Mr. Russell in interesting detail. In effect, it is such the same as his declaration in the $200,000 case.

The suit is taken against Wm. A. Pinkerton of Montreal, and Allan Pinkerton of New York. John W. McNamara, who was made a party to the first suit, is not included in this one, though according to the plaintiff's declaration the most of Mr.
Russell's business with the agency was done through Mr. McNamara. Mr. McNamara this morning would not discuss the particulars of the case.

"There is nothing to it," he said. "All I can say is to express sorrow that Mr.
Russell has been advised to set in such a manner by his detectives and others."

When the fact of the badge game which one Pinkerton of Pittsburgh and an associate named Allen tried to play upon Russell was discovered, Russell employed McNamara to work on the case, and advanced him $2,000 as a starter for the case. The Pinkertons reported that it was quite true that Patterson was the holder of $7,500,000 claim, and a man of good standing in the community, although they admitted that the man who had accompanied him to the Windsor was not his wife.

Russell, however, went to Pittsburgh with detectives and lawyers, and discovered that the report made was a hoax. Patterson's claim was worth about $10,000, that he was a man of no standing whatsoever, and that although his family was a respectable one, Russell alleged that McNamara came to the Windsor, and admitted that he had attempted to deceive the plaintiff, consequently he was discharged from further service.

A Sleeping Powder
Then followed, however, a plot by Russell out of business, and a private secretary in the employ of Russell, it is alleged, was to put a sleeping powder in the plaintiff's coffee at the Manhattan Hotel, New York. Russell, however, sat on the opposite side of the table, and the secretary wired back to Montreal that the thing had miscarried. The man to whom the other telegrams were sent has given up this document, and many others of a very compromising character.

More especially, and to the plaintiff, was written an appeal to Russell for six months.

The plea, which is now in court, goes on to say: "More especially, and to the plaintiff, was written an appeal to Russell for six months."

"In furtherance of their said plot and conspiracy, the defendants also maliciously made similar false and libelous statements and reports to members of the plaintiff's family, and to his employees and intimates, friends and acquaintances, for the purpose of deceiving and misleading them, and that in fact did deceive and mislead them."

That, moreover, the defendants and others (whose names are presently unknown to plaintiff) unlawfully co-operating with them, did, in fact, send to plaintiff false and misleading telegrams, and the defendant, McNamara, did cause to be sent to plaintiff a decoy telegram signed by another, and did further personally write and send to plaintiff two other telegrams, which he forged in the name of another, the whole as to do other plaintiff in the City of New York, until he was finally compelled to resign. The defendants' plot and conspiracy was sufficiently perfected, to enable defendant to commence action, to wit, on the 21st day of October last, 1910, when the plan of action as prepared by defendant was to enter the plaintiff's room at the Manhattan Hotel in the City of New York and there to 'overpower' him and procure plaintiff's incarceration in a lunatic asylum without opportunity for defence or remonstrance.
The matter was laid over until this morning.

It is understood that Donald McMaster has worked up the legal part of the case, but the detective work was done by the famous New York office, "W. J.
Burns, who spent several weeks in this city, and who has succeeded in winding a net around several people, making the case one of the most interesting ever brought before the Montreal courts. A trial by jury is asked for, and arrests will follow as the case proceeds.

THE COTTON FIRE.
The adjustment of the loss in connection with the fire in the cargo of cotton aboard the Manchester Steamer, has not yet been made. Until the water soaked cotton in the scows at York Point is hauled to the York mills, adjusting cannot be commenced. The question as to whether the water soaked cotton can be adjusted, a loss will have much to do with the matter. From what can be learned the adjusters representing the insurance people take will constitute the loss, while the cotton mill officials assert that the loss into which the water soaked should also be included.

NO LICENSE FOR NUGENT IN AVENUE

Liquor Law Commission Heed Protest—Friars to Get License—Hotel Case Talked Over and License Granted

The board of liquor license commissioners met last evening and considered the applications for liquor for the ensuing year. It was decided to refuse the application of M. J. Nugent, of Douglas avenue, on the grounds set forth in the petition from the residents of Lansdowne ward. All the other applications were granted, including that of Ernest Friars, Mill street, a new applicant.

There was some discussion as to the advisability of refusing other applications, among the number, it is said, being the Hotel Edward, James D. Driscoll, proprietor, but it was finally decided to grant licenses.

RECORD CARGO ON GRAMPIAN

Most Valuable Yet Taken Out of St. John and Total Nearly Three Quarters of a Million Dollars

The largest and most valuable cargo taken out of this port in years, if not the most valuable carried from here by any steamer, is that aboard the Allan liner Grampian now on her way to Liverpool. The cargo runs close to the three quarters of a million dollars, being $741,839 and is nearly double the value of that on the C. P. R. Empress of Britain which was $457,573 and up to that time the record.

The composition and value of the cargo follows:—

Foreign Goods

250 Sacks Flour, 238 piece lumber, 68 maple logs, 1089 doors, 223 bales cotton, 2380 boxes lead, 2159 boxes provisions, 2800 boxes meats, all valued at $540,562.

Canadian Goods

Three tales of cloth, one sleigh, 2350 bags flour, three boxes silver plate, one case of raw furs, crates, washers, one case closets, 2520 bags meal, 76,363 s. feet deals, 2111 boxes, 90 cases, 317 bales leather, one bag of fish, 2800 boxes cheese, all valued at $301,277, making a total of $841,839.

This large cargo will bring the export total, which was something like $100,000 before last year, well ahead and with the manifest of the Australian liner Wakatane, which is expected to prove very valuable, the figure will be much ahead of last year. Such a condition is particularly gratifying in view of the fact that the early indications were not so promising.

ANOTHER AIRING OF CONSTABLES MATTER

H. W. Robertson Submits Affidavits—Will be Taken Up Again

Another airing of the charges made by H. W. Robertson against the constables of the city in general, and one in particular, was given this morning in the city court before Judge Ritchie, but after a few remarks and the submission of two affidavits by the barrister the matter was postponed for two weeks or longer, if necessary.

Mr. Robertson this morning submitted two affidavits sworn before H. H. Pickett, supporting statements which he made against Constables Crawford and Richard Heffer.

In the case of J. R. Vanvart vs. Anderson he produced an affidavit in which he contended that Constable Heffer refused to return money on a levy. The execution was issued on Dec. 11, 1908. He also mentioned the name of Constable Crawford in connection with a case of the International Harvester Co. He also submitted an affidavit in this case. He said that it had been claimed by the constables that he owed them money, but he had offered to make a settlement, and in some instances had done so.

Heffer had claimed that the lawyer owed him money, but Mr. Robertson said that he had repeatedly sent letters to the constable asking him to meet him about the matter, but nothing had been done on the part of the constable.

Ransacking of Stocks

Here a Little! There a Little! A Little Here, a Little There! Here and There a Little!

We have been busy the past few days. Oak Hall customers found ripe "plums" in all the stocks. Nothing that was an odd lot, or that was a broken stock, or that would not be again renewed this season has been held sacred from the blue pencil.

No store could, all the time, give bargains such as these if we tell of. Such a claim would be preposterous—there's no money in it, and stores want to make money! We gain in bettered stocks, and friends the store makes.
