THE PLEBISCITE.

At this writing it may be said that the Prohibitionists have won a victory, but whether it will prove a barren one remains to be seen.

Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island have gone heavily for the affirmative, while Quebec has returned a very sturdy negative.

Ontario has repeated its answer, although with lessened emphasis—given in the last plebiscite, and British Columbia has polled a surprisingly strong vote for prohibition.

Victoria contrasts remarkably with Vancouver, but the size of the vote has surprised everybody.

UNREST IN CHINA

A Member of the British Legation at Peking Stoned by a Mob. The Emperor Thought to Have Been Assassinated—Situation Viewed With Alarm.

London, Oct. 1.—The British foreign office today received a dispatch from Her Majesty's minister at Peking saying that Mr. Mortimer, a member of the British legation, on returning home yesterday with a lady was attacked by a mob, which stoned and covered him with mud. Later in the day the American missionaries were similarly attacked, as was the Chinese secretary to the American legation. The latter had some ribs broken. Sir Claude Macdonald, British minister at Peking, reports there is a dangerous feeling abroad. Steps have been taken to call the attention of the Chinese government to these outrages.

London, Oct. 2.—A special dispatch from Shanghai, published today, says that telegrams furnished by the Taotai, or local governor, to the Chinese paper there allege that the Emperor of China committed suicide after signing the decree which placed the Dowager Empress at the head of affairs in China. This is understood to mean that the Emperor was assassinated. All English-speaking secretaries and principal members of the Chinese foreign office, it is further announced, have been seized and banished.

According to a dispatch to the Times from Peking, the correspondent of the Imperial decree issued on Friday dismissing from office and banishing Chung Yau Huan, Li-Hung Chang's foreign office, it is further announced, have been seized and banished. Washington, Oct. 3.—Secretary Long, on the receipt of advice at the state department showing the existence of threatening conditions in China, has ordered Admiral Dewey to send two warships immediately to Manila to be ready to take up the situation as it develops. The department of diplomacy will study the situation in Manila and the direction of diplomatic negotiations with foreign powers. Chicago, Oct. 3.—A P. Swineford, ex-governor of Alaska, who is in Chicago, has been arrested on a charge of conspiracy to overthrow the government. The great majority of those who have taken part in the past year's movement in Alaska, within a pistol shot from the deck of the steamship which carries them, are now in process of development. There is gold on the islands of Alexander Archipelago and on the mainland from the southern boundary as far north as Skagway and Dyea.

New York, Oct. 3.—The World says: Unless Henry George changes his mind within the next 48 hours he will not be the free-silver candidate for governor. The declaration, according to information furnished the World, was written on Saturday. However, a determined effort will be made to get him to allow his name to be used. It became known yesterday that Mr. George had definitely decided not to run. His withdrawal was due to two reasons. First, because he knew it was hopeless to fight, and second because he would play right into Mr. Platt's hands by running against Judge Van Winkle.

St. Paul, Oct. 3.—A Rice Lake, Wis. special says: In the burned district of acres of the different towns have had news burying the dead animals. In the territory between this city and Byron and Cambridgeport in every instance where homes were destroyed, nothing was saved. People barely escaped with their lives, and many people saved themselves by taking refuge in their wells. A meeting was held at the opera house in this city last night and committees were appointed to raise funds. As far as known only three deaths have been reported, but many have received severe injuries.

NANCY GULFORD REMANDED. London, Oct. 3.—Dr. Nancy Gulford, widow of a British diplomat, was remanded in the Bow street police court here today for a week. The initials 'N. A. 7' were found on articles in her possession. The police had traced the articles to a strike in the near future.

ALL EYES ON ATLIN

Passengers on the Cottage City Proceed Another Northern Rush Next Spring.

Some Gossip From the Gateway Cities and an Incidental Reference to Salmon.

There was considerable uncertainty yesterday regarding the Cottage City. It was reported she had arrived early in the morning and proceeded to the Sound, but enquiry was made and the knowledge that she had not reached there. It was known that she left Juneau shortly after the City of Seattle and no explanation of the delay was obtainable. All doubts were dispelled, however, by her arrival at the outer wharf shortly after a quarter to twelve in the evening and the explanation was a very simple one, the boat having called at the cannery in Yes Bay for a cargo of salmon. This caused a stop of twenty-four hours.

The Cottage City had a very large passenger list, mostly people from the coast cities coming down for the season. There were also a few from the interior, three or four from Dawson and about a dozen from the newer gold fields at Atlin Lake. The latest arrivals from the Klondike city left there on September 12 and therefore brought no news. Two of them had goodly amounts of gold, one being estimated at $20,000, the proceeds of a sale of a claim on Sulphur creek, and Ole Olson, who has recently made a transfer of an Eldorado claim for $20,000.

One of the passengers who left Dawson early in the summer and joined in the rush to Atlin was enthusiastic in his account of the richness of the mines there and in his belief that next summer there will be a rush into that district greater even than that to the Klondike last year. He says Birch creek is proving far better than was ever anticipated and displayed a nugget valued at $26 taken from there. The man in question is the owner of a beach and creek claim on Birch, which cost him the modest sum of $25 owing to the lack of confidence in the district in its original location. The present owner says his investment is distinctly all right, for adjoining claims have been sold at $2,000 each, and that has been followed by others to the value of thousands next spring. He says the district around Atlin is an ideal country for prospecting, a rolling country, with the richest soil in the province and affording room for thousands of prospectors.

Other men from Atlin were equally enthusiastic, and their advice amounted up amounts to a strong recommendation to the people of British Columbia to awaken to a realization of the big thing that has been found in the gateway territory. They say the advantages of the Atlin district compared with the Klondike are great and innumerable. In the first place the miner season is less trying and severe. The ground never freezes more than a foot or two below the surface, and there is no need therefore for burning operations. There is an abundance of water for mining operations, plenty of timber for all purposes, and considering quantity of diggings taken out of what are really only the surface scratches there is every reason to believe the diggings will prove fully as rich as anything in the Klondike. Stanley of Skagway, one of the most earnest believers in Atlin's great destiny, and in company with several others of the gateway territory, has been seen by those who read the full text of the report published in the Times of the 12th inst. But the general opinion, even in Juneau, is that the building of the Skagway railway has forever settled the question of transportation to Atlin, as to other interior points, and that to that route the crowds will flock next year. The Skagwayans are consequently elated with the prospects of a large and permanent settlement there. As a result of the statement made in the Seattle Times and reiterated in the last evening's issue to the effect that Captain Hunt had been given a satisfactory man offered Major McKinnon, the passenger on the Cottage City said it was certainly news to them. They say that, Captain Hunt has given every satisfaction and no complaint of any kind has been made regarding his administration of affairs. It would be interesting to learn upon what information the Seattle Times made the announcement mentioned.

From Dawson comes by the Cottage City full confirmation of the report that Commissioner Ogilvie had stated that until positive proof of wrong-doing on the part of Gold Commissioner Pavlov he will not entertain any suggestion of suspending that official. Mr. Ogilvie has publicly announced that if anyone will furnish definite charges and facts to him, he is ready to investigate, but vague general "kicking" will be consistently disregarded. The Commissioner of the Cottage City who left on the 12th—express the opinion that nothing more will be heard of the accusations and that nothing could be found to back them up. Superintendent Duncan, of the Teardrop mine, was a passenger on the Cottage City. Seen by a Times man he had nothing new to report, being rather more interested in the news of the world in general. Mr. Duncan confirms the opinion that the district is all right, his judgment being founded upon what he has learned of the country from men whose ready knowledge goes beyond the possibility of question. The Teardrop still keeps its place as one of the best paying properties in Alaska and will, Mr. Duncan says, continue to do so for some years, that one cares to prophesy about. The shipment of salmon from Yes Bay was the subject upon which another gentleman had most to say. Interested in anything, which promises to prove a profitable investment, Mr. Haskins, of San Francisco expressed a strong belief in that in Prince William Sound the San Francisco people who operate the Boston cannery have a good thing. The salmon were exceedingly plentiful and very few more being caught than could be handled. Traps are employed and the supply was simply enormous. This, so contrary to the experience of cannery men in more southern latitudes, the Fraser and Columbia, gave the Yes Bay canners a golden opportunity, but beyond the quantity of the catch they were unable to go. There is a certainty, however, that next year the number of canneries will be increased. Yes Bay, which is an arm running out of Prince William Sound, is described as an ideal harbor. Among the passengers were many excursionists returning from a holiday trip to the Alaskan lights. They say that they had a good time, but the season is getting too far advanced for comfort, the cold weather making the seclusion of the saloon very desirable. Another passenger from Juneau said the Dalton Express company has ceased operations for the season and will try the experiment of wintering 140 head horses on Hochi. Indians say the snow on the Yukon falls to a depth of twelve to fourteen inches in winter, and that stock can secure abundant food. They say that the report of the murder of Isaac Martin is without foundation. Martin had a cargo of mail on a boat for Dalton at Alasca, and was robbed on of $900, and while in company with the mounted police, he dropped behind and was never seen afterwards. He had been drinking quite heavily, and on several occasions had threatened suicide, and it is thought he carried out his threat. Other robberies reported on the Dalton trail are not credited by the Canadian police, who say the stories of the men do not agree, and both refused to remain in witness against the accused. During the season, 3,500 head of cattle and 380 sheep had been delivered on the Dalton trail, most of which will be butchered at Lewis river and taken to Dawson on the ice. Indians on Glagion river are creating some trouble. In July several men were drowned at Salmon. Indians robbed bodies of watches and other valuables and refused to give up the effects to the Canadian police without being paid a royalty, and when the police attempted to use force the Indians crossed the line to American territory and threatened to shoot the police if they came into United States domain. Among the very few passengers who departed here was Mr. Edward D. Seif, of the Dalton trail, who returned from his season's work in the vast field in which the company is conducting operations. Mr. Seif has nothing to say of publication of his report being merely one of business interest to the directors of the company. The work undertaken by him is pushed on with all possible dispatch and the outlook is sufficiently encouraging.

NEW C. P. R. STEAMER. A First-Class Vessel Under Construction at the Nelson Ship Yards.

A Miner reporter yesterday afternoon visited the Nelson shipyard, where the new steamer plates are being laid out for construction. The vessel was originally intended for the Stikine river trade, but when the Klondike boom broke in 1897 it was decided to build the machinery and plates from Vancouver to Nelson and build a steamer for the passenger traffic between Gow river and the Klondike. When completed the vessel will be the largest and finest built on the outer coast. It is 100 feet long, 30 feet beam and five feet hold. It is what is known as a composite boat, with a hull of bottom and steel plates, 5-16 inch thick, above water. The machinery is of the most modern type, the engines having 16 inch cylinders and stroke of 72 inches. A steam pressure is 175 pounds, and a speed of 15 knots per hour is expected to be attained. It is fitted with steam cylinders and a complete system of electric light. The smoking room is 45 feet long; the dining room is 27 1/2 and the ladies' cabin, 40 feet. There are six staterooms, which are being fitted up in first-class style. The bar is situated on the port side far forward and the same side as the saloon and the linen room. On the starboard side are the purser's office and room and the steward's room. On the upper deck are the mess rooms for the officers and a large room for the waiters. The work of construction is being carried on under the supervision of James M. Bulker, foreman, and the vessel is expected to be in the water in about seven weeks and be ready for service in six weeks. Fifty-five men are at present employed and the work is being pushed ahead as rapidly as possible. The fittings of the vessel are first-class in every particular and no pains are being spared to provide for the comfort and convenience of the travelling public—Nelson Miner.

SCHOOL OF MINES. Probabilities Are That One Will Be Established in Rossland.

A. J. McMillan returned yesterday from a visit to Vancouver and Victoria, and he has given a very favorable account of a number of Rossland men. McMillan, when at the coast, saw several members of the public interested in the establishment of a school of mines. Regarding the school of mines which it is proposed to establish in Rossland, the Mining Union, presented to the government a resolution passed by that body strongly supporting the scheme. Messrs. Brown, Cotton and Attorney-General Martin, three members of the government who were interviewed, seemed disposed to consider the matter favorably, but they pointed out that until the session of the local legislature there is no government grant from which financial aid can be obtained.

Mr. McMillan had a long interview with Attorney-General Martin regarding the unsatisfactory condition of the titles to land in and about Rossland, and the Attorney-General promised that, on his return from Quebec he would go fully into the whole question of the Corbin land grants and titles to land affected thereby.

A LITTLE CHINA WAR

A Secret Society Attempts to Levy a Tax on Gambling Houses and War Results.

Victoria's Chinese Quarter Now Engaged in an Inter-Paction Strife.

Yesterday was a holiday in the cluster of shacks yelet Chinatown, and the picturesque though malodorous lanes were in holiday array. The every-day dreariness of the district, and the place to the gaudy yellow and green sikeu togery, and all the denizens of the Chinese quarter were at peace with each other. The celebration was, second only to the New Year's celebration, when the Chinese "treated the moon." It was over the moon, and the moon was in, and, according to the Confucian calendar, "The Feast of the Moon." At night the celebration was at its height and the thousands and a little excitement more as if a slice of the Orient had been transferred to Victoria's doorstep. Quality marked lanterns hung from the eaves of the buildings, and the streets were filled with processions of festive Celestials bearing presents one to another and going through all the motions of a dance. It is not probable, he asked, that they should have sunk some of our battalions? Should the special gun be eventually adopted for the use of the Chinese, and why would he fight in skirmishing orders, as armies now have to do. The Chinese officers of the world could not stand before a modern battery of artillery. It would cost $500,000 to demonstrate its power, including the building of a Chinese secret society in Victoria. He would save $500,000, because it would pay for the construction of fighting machines. Naval and military authorities were strongly opposed to the adoption of the aerial torpedo. We can be thankful to a friend for a few acres, or a little money; and yet for earth, and for the great benefits of our being, our life, health, and reason, we look upon ourselves as under no obligations to the state. How often we look upon God as our lord and feeblest resource! We go to Him because we have nowhere else to turn. His mercies are all around us, and life have driven us, not upon the rocks, but into the desired harbor.—George MacDonald.

REFUSE TO SPECIFY. A Newspaper Man from Dawson Unable to Secure Definite Charges Against Officials.

Among those now in the city who have had good opportunities of studying the conditions in Dawson, is Henry Marley, the representative of the New York Herald. He has lately returned from the North, where he spent most of the summer and where he examined, as only a newspaper man can, different phases of life in the Klondike. Mr. Marley says that the discoveries which he has made by no means exhaust the list of evils which have developed, when the enterprising prospector has covered a few more leagues of territory. He has the opinion that the remote creeks to which it would be hardly for miners to penetrate without a couple of year's provisions at their disposal, were exhausting my strength. I finally my child passed away, and then I realized my physical condition. Shortly after I was attacked with neuritis, pains in the shoulder, which shifted to my right side after three weeks, and settled there. The pain in my side grew worse, and after a few days I became unable to leave my bed. In addition to my bodily trouble I became melancholy and was very much reduced in flesh. My friends remarked my condition as dangerous. I remained in bed several weeks; it seemed so. It is impossible to describe the agonies I suffered during this time. A skilled physician was in constant attendance upon me. He said the worst case of anemia I had seen, and general neuritis he succeeded in getting me out of bed, and after a few more weeks I was able to do some light housework. But I was only slowly recovering my former self; my appetite was very poor and that maddening pain still clung to my side and also spread to the region of the heart and lungs, darting through and about them like lances cutting the flesh. Every few days I had to apply cotton oil and fly blisters to my chest, and had to leave my bed. My friends gave up, thinking I had consumption, I too, really thought my end was near, fearing most that the pains about my heart might take me off any day. During all my illness I had never thought of any medicine other than what my doctor prescribed. I had been a very successful prospector over the Enterprise one day my eye fell upon the statement of a cure made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The case resembled mine in some respects. I read and re-read the article. It hunted me for several days notwithstanding I tried to dismiss it from my mind. At last I asked the doctor whether he thought these pills would help me. He looked at me a moment and then remarked: "Well, perhaps you had better try them. I believe they do work wonders in some cases, and if they do not cure you they will certainly do no harm." That remark opened to me the door of life, for had he said "No" I should not have used the pills. When I had used two boxes I began to feel better, my appetite improved. Notwithstanding that the proprietor had been warned during the forenoon by the police that they would shortly enforce the law, he kept on working until eleven o'clock in the evening to afford justification, in their opinion, for the law. I have been working cordially being done, and the case will be called on Monday. It is said that proceedings will also be taken against the leading hotel in the city, the bar of which was entered and the law enforced. An alteration followed, saying he would stand the costs himself. He may have an opportunity to make good his promises.

SMOKELESS POWDER.

Mr. Maxim Thinks It a Crime Not to Use It.

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—Hudson Maxim, of New York, the well-known expert on explosives, read a paper before the chemical section of the Franklin Institute on "Smokeless Powders, and their Application in Warfare."

Mr. Maxim maintained that it was a crime for a nation not to use the most destructive weapons that could be secured and not to be always prepared for war. The more terrible were the weapons the more would be the loss of life, because war would not be so quickly precipitated. There would have been no war with Spain, he contended, had it not been for the kind government and some other governments had firm belief in our unpreparedness. Smokeless powder was one of the improvements that would give an enemy great advantage, either on land or sea. It had been offered to the United States government, but because of the government's inactivity and penury it had been rejected by our troops. Black powder was used by our troops at Santiago, and in consequence of the loss of the battle in killed and wounded that no smokeless powder had been used.

With regard to high explosives, Mr. Maxim strongly advocated the use of the aerial torpedo, and predicted that it would yet be adopted. The American fleet, he said, expended $2,000,000 in the purchase of torpedoes and the fleet of Cervens's fleet only 3 per cent. If torpedo guns had been mounted on the hills and had covered a radius of nine miles, they would have been asked, that they should have sunk some of our battleships? Should the special gun be eventually adopted for the use of the Chinese, and why would he fight in skirmishing orders, as armies now have to do. The Chinese officers of the world could not stand before a modern battery of artillery. It would cost $500,000 to demonstrate its power, including the building of a Chinese secret society in Victoria. SORROWS OF SEALER SAM.

The Story of One of the Abbie Deering's Crew and What He Got in Lieu of Wages.

Something happened to Sam Moore, a sealer of the Abbie M. Deering, in a fur warehouse on Wharf street, this morning, which will be more definitely known to-morrow when the city and town are under the searchlight of scrutiny upon the man's story, in the police court. The Abbie M. Deering arrived yesterday from Behring sea, and to-day Capt White was disposing of his catch at one of the fur houses. Moore says he waited on the captain and asked for his pay, to which the skipper replied that he had very little coming to him, and that he would pay him when he liked. Moore captured his opportunities, when the captain, so he states, struck him a stunning blow under the eyes, knocking him down, and about to several of the other members of the crew who were present to "go for him."

Mr. Deering's statement was that Moore "went for him" in a name which from the captain's standpoint, left little to be desired. Whatever the case, may have been, Moore is now in the police court, having been charged with the assault. He was found guilty, and sentenced to six months in the reformatory, and the case will be ventilated to-morrow.

An Afflicted Mother

NURSING HER DYING CHILD HER HEALTH GAVE WAY.

Anemia, Followed by Neuralgic Pains, Racked Her System—Her Friends Feared That She Could Not Recover.

From the Enterprise, Bridgeport, N.S. "Mr. and Mrs. James A. Diehl, who live about one and a half miles from Bridgeport, are highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. Mrs. Diehl has passed through a trying illness, the particulars of which she recently gave a rehearsal the last evening of her life. In the spring of 1896 my health gave way. In addition to my ordinary household duties I had to nurse my child who was ill of a sick child. In the hope of saying my little one, it did not occur to me that over-work, loss of sleep and anxiety were exhausting my strength. Finally my child passed away, and then I realized my physical condition. Shortly after I was attacked with neuritis, pains in the shoulder, which shifted to my right side after three weeks, and settled there. The pain in my side grew worse, and after a few days I became unable to leave my bed. In addition to my bodily trouble I became melancholy and was very much reduced in flesh. My friends remarked my condition as dangerous. I remained in bed several weeks; it seemed so. It is impossible to describe the agonies I suffered during this time. A skilled physician was in constant attendance upon me. He said the worst case of anemia I had seen, and general neuritis he succeeded in getting me out of bed, and after a few more weeks I was able to do some light housework. But I was only slowly recovering my former self; my appetite was very poor and that maddening pain still clung to my side and also spread to the region of the heart and lungs, darting through and about them like lances cutting the flesh. Every few days I had to apply cotton oil and fly blisters to my chest, and had to leave my bed. My friends gave up, thinking I had consumption, I too, really thought my end was near, fearing most that the pains about my heart might take me off any day. During all my illness I had never thought of any medicine other than what my doctor prescribed. I had been a very successful prospector over the Enterprise one day my eye fell upon the statement of a cure made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The case resembled mine in some respects. I read and re-read the article. It hunted me for several days notwithstanding I tried to dismiss it from my mind. At last I asked the doctor whether he thought these pills would help me. He looked at me a moment and then remarked: "Well, perhaps you had better try them. I believe they do work wonders in some cases, and if they do not cure you they will certainly do no harm." That remark opened to me the door of life, for had he said "No" I should not have used the pills. When I had used two boxes I began to feel better, my appetite improved. Notwithstanding that the proprietor had been warned during the forenoon by the police that they would shortly enforce the law, he kept on working until eleven o'clock in the evening to afford justification, in their opinion, for the law. I have been working cordially being done, and the case will be called on Monday. It is said that proceedings will also be taken against the leading hotel in the city, the bar of which was entered and the law enforced. An alteration followed, saying he would stand the costs himself. He may have an opportunity to make good his promises.

CONSEQUENCES OF THIRST.

The Demand for Liquor on Election Day Causes Trouble for Hotel Men.

While the vote upon the momentous question of "to drink or not to drink" was in progress yesterday, the blue-coat men of the city were kept busy preventing possible infractions of the law, forbidding any traffic in liquor on election days. With but few exceptions the law was scrupulously observed, the proprietors being unwilling to incur the risk of having their establishments raided by the police. In a number of cases the saloon and bar room doors were propped open, affording not only ready access to the police, but a continual view of the bar from the street. One saloon was entered when the doors were locked and a party of saloons were found inside, but they had evidently not been drinking.

The only saloon against which action was taken by the police, was the one known as the "Blue Coat." Notwithstanding that the proprietor had been warned during the forenoon by the police that they would shortly enforce the law, he kept on working until eleven o'clock in the evening to afford justification, in their opinion, for the law. I have been working cordially being done, and the case will be called on Monday. It is said that proceedings will also be taken against the leading hotel in the city, the bar of which was entered and the law enforced. REPORT OF MERRITT.

He Tells of the Operations Around Manila—Held Afloat From August 10.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The report of General Merritt on the operations about Manila was made public to the board on August 10, 1898. After a very brief history of his operations, General Merritt says that he had been in Manila from August 10, and had spent most of the summer and where he examined, as only a newspaper man can, different phases of life in the Klondike. Mr. Marley says that the discoveries which he has made by no means exhaust the list of evils which have developed, when the enterprising prospector has covered a few more leagues of territory. He has the opinion that the remote creeks to which it would be hardly for miners to penetrate without a couple of year's provisions at their disposal, were exhausting my strength. I finally my child passed away, and then I realized my physical condition. Shortly after I was attacked with neuritis, pains in the shoulder, which shifted to my right side after three weeks, and settled there. HAPPILY MATED.

A Kootenian Woods and Wine One of Victoria's Fair Daughters.

The house of Mrs. Munro, Ridge street, on Wednesday afternoon, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Rev. Dr. Campbell celebrated the marriage of her daughter, Miss Catherine J. Munro, and James W. Smith, a young public of Alinworth, Kootenay, B. C. The bride was beautifully and artistically decorated with flowers, vines and white silk, with chiffon, pearls and diamonds of the valley and orange blossom. They visit the Sound cities before reaching Alinworth, where they will make their home. They carry with them the congratulations and best wishes of a large circle of friends.

RICH MICA DEPOSITS.

British Columbia Produces the Best Grade Ever Found.

S. Winter, a stove and furnace manufacturer of Moncton, New Brunswick, has returned from a trip to northern Canada, where he went to examine mica deposits. Starting from Kamloops he went to Cache, a point more than 200 miles north of Kamloops, and situated in the Rocky Mountains. He found the mica deposits to be from 40 to 600 feet thick, and brought out more than 500 pounds of specimens. These samples are of excellent quality, being very transparent and of unusual thickness. The mica is found in a large quantity, and the tests show it can stand greater heat than any other mica in the world. Mr. Winter has bonded the property and will probably connect with a company to develop it.—Rossland Miner.
