THE QUEEN AND A LADY SINGER.

Among the passengers who left Charing Cross Station recently for Paris was a sweet-faced dark-eyed little lady, who had been in London for three days unknown to the general public, and who, within the space of fifteen hours had had the honor of singing first of all to the Prince and Princess of Wales at Viscount Iveagh's reception on Tuesday night, and to the Queen at Buckingham Palace on Wednesday afternoon. Mme. Maria Galvani is the name of this very fortunate vocalist, and it was only in consequence of an engagement today at the Paris Galette that she has been unable to prolong her stay in England.

"I have never crossed the Channel before," said Mme. Galvani, to a Standard representative, "and naturally I was engaged to sing at Lord Iveagh's house in the presence of the Prince and Princess of Wales. However, the entertainment went off all right, and some of the audience were extremely charming to me, paying me compliments which I most appreciated. When my husband and I returned to our hotel we were surprised to find that we had arranged to leave London on Wednesday morning.

"Early on Wednesday we paid our hotel bill and took our luggage to the station in a four-wheeled cab. I was in charge of the railway company, and not seeing it until we reached the station, I was told by the railway company that we had been invited to lunch at the hotel and to call on Mr. H. S. J. Booth, who had invited us to lunch. The three of us were enjoying ourselves when suddenly Mr. Booth was called away from the table to answer a telephone call. When he returned he received a command from the Queen that I should sing to her at Buckingham Palace at 2 o'clock. What was I to do? I could not appear before Her Majesty in my dress, and I had not had time to get my trunks away from the railway company after I had registered them. Well, that lunch was never finished.

AT THE PALACE.

"We rushed off first to the station, and there Mr. Booth managed to get me a special carriage to take me to the palace. I don't know how I should have gone on if I had not had his help, because we only speak Italian and Spanish, and just a little French. Then he took me to a saloon, and

ASTORY OF SEDITION IN INDIA.

The methods which, it is claimed in some quarters, are adopted by those intent on poisoning the minds of millions of India against British rule are strikingly illustrated in a short story which appears in the current issue of the Pall Mall Gazette.

The situation which gives the writer the story is as follows: Private James Smith, a foreman on the railways in the course of some cavalry manoeuvres and is trading along with his horse in a camp. As a matter of fact he is not and some time after dark has fallen he reaches a native village.

"Floating on the surface were half a dozen little objects that bobbed innocently in the ripples and showed white in the light of the lantern. A castor oil lamp had been blown out and the water was poisoned—had been poisoned before his eyes by a soldier.

"Truth and lies rolled together and refrangible of the truth of statements they had been ready to believe professed.

THE FAKIR'S PLOT.

Private James Smith was dragged out and beaten and sore for several days; and the faked. The villagers wanted to make him drink of the "poisoned" water but the faked was against his advice. "The well is useless to you henceforth for it is tainted with both poisons. Therefore drop him in it."

Now the faked was only too eager that the village should be embroiled with the authorities; he knew that the villagers would be much too simple minded and too anxious to sacrifice Private Smith's horse for it would be of use to him. Consequently when search was made for Private Smith his horse would be found in or near the village. That, in its turn, would almost certainly lead eventually to the dragging of the well and the fishing up of a soldier's body. Then there would be the devil to pay, with the faked as a result of how poor and disaffected with government. That would be so many men gained.

But Private Smith was not thrown down the well. He was rescued by a night patrol which happened on the village just in the nick of time.

The upshot was, firstly, that Private Smith was stiff and sore for several days; secondly, that the village had quartered upon it a force of punitive police, to show them that soldiers must not be hurt or drowned in the hands of dandies; thirdly, that the faked, who turned out to be a defaultering babu from a commercial office in Calcutta, was sent to the Andamans for ten years.

And yet—would you believe it?—the villagers dug a new well!

"POISONING" THE WELL.

"Hush! Watch him, and see if he goes not to the well!" he whispered. Naturally that is exactly what the faked did. The bucket was lowered three times before his thirst and that of his horse had been satisfied.

"There!" said the faked impressively to those nearest to him. "I did not tell you that the government sent me to tamper with the wells? Smith was attacked and tied up, and then the faked led his audience to the well to prove that it had been poisoned.

Truly, this pseudo-faked was a useful man to those who employed him. He was not one of the posturing deceits who acquire merit and earn sanctity by measuring their length along the road all the way from Calcutta to Be-are, or by some similarly foolish and impressive act. He was another breed—a new breed that has sprung into existence, or perhaps has only renewed its existence, and which are sent out from various centres to poison the minds of the country folk, to tell them the "real truth" about the British and the aims of his rule.

The bucket was again lowered. It was easy for the faked to drop several false bread pills into it, and then it

THE SIGNALLER IN A BATTLE TO BE PROTECTED

A large part of the danger, and with it much of the romance, will be taken out of the duties of the flag bearer in future wars by a system just invented in England for use in the British army. No longer in the heat of an action will the fire of the enemy be centred on the regimental signaller or "flag waver" as he is generally called. For the first time in the history of military warfare an effort has been made to protect the man who is generally the first one to be hit because doing his duty he invariably finds himself exposed to the fire of the enemy before any of his fellows.

The signaller's duty is to take him to the firing line whence he has to report the fight. It is good tactics to get him out of the way as quickly as possible so as to leave his army in uncertainty as to the movements of their antagonists. Therefore the best marksmen are always deployed in position where they can concentrate on the unfortunate signaller.

EXPOSED TO FIRE.
In the past he had no way to hide his presence. His fellows might take sheltered positions but he had to see and he had to wave his flag and for every minute of the time that he was performing this vitally important duty a leaden ball was falling around him and it was rare indeed that he succeeded in getting away unharmed.

But now a British officer Col. B. R. Diets of the Seventh Dragoon Guards has come to the front with a new disk signal which will have the effect of making a more hopeful chance for the signal man since it will do away with the flagwaving method. The colonel's invention, which has met with the approval of the foremost military experts of Great Britain is a disk about a foot in diameter with a hollow metal handle. On the disk is a semi-circular flap wound in a spiral operated by a bolt action, and this displays an entirely white or black disk as required. The Morse code is used, and dots and dashes are used, according to which color shown.

A NEUTRAL SHADE.
The portion of the apparatus directed toward the enemy is one of those neutral shades, which, in the language of warfare, is known as an "invisible" color because it is so difficult to detect against the background or ordinary landscape. The same idea has been pursued in the case of battleships, which in time of actual conflict get their fighting color, a dull gray, which harmonizes so well with the rest of the marine landscape that it minimizes their danger of being seen first, and makes them a harder target to hit at any distance.

The colors on the disk have been so arranged that they can be read with the naked eye for two thousand yards, and with binoculars for a distance of almost four miles.

Now will the signal man have to stand up when using this modern invention, as was the case with the old flag.

WILL LIE IN SAFETY.
With the flag he had little chance to signal to his officers unless he stood to the left of his height in order to elevate his flag above the surrounding landscape.

But the length of the pole on which the disk is mounted will make it an easy matter for him to lie in safety, almost comfort, behind some sheltering rock or wall, take his observations with a field glass, get his data about the enemy, send the information, and then when his usefulness at this particular point has vanished, move to another point without being of rigid riding with dozens of bullets.

Thus does the march of invention continue to take the romance out of warfare.

A lot has already been in the same order for other callings.

The sailor's life used to be regarded as one of the most hazardous and the perils of the deep were told of in pathetic phrase times without number as being something that could be by no human agency be lessened. But only a few weeks ago the wireless telegraph showed what could be done in the way of making the sea safe.

Now the millionaires' amateur driver is being perfected that will take him out of the class where the insurance companies regard as a poor risk. In all the great modern mines there are telephonic devices which will permit him to breathe hundreds of feet under the earth with every ounce of natural oxygen shut off.

Stringent Anti-Pass Law for New Hampshire
—Women's Suffrage Losses— Columbus Day Legal Holiday.

CONCORD, N. H., Mar. 22.—A stringent anti-pass bill was passed without a dissenting vote by the New Hampshire legislature today, and it is generally believed that it will also go through the senate. The act in general follows the lines of the federal anti-pass law but in some respects is even more stringent. The persons to whom it shall be legal for railroads or other common carriers to grant free transportation are strictly limited. Railroad employees will be permitted to ride free, but this class is very clearly defined and does not include attorneys employed by a railroad company. The passage of this act is in line with the platforms of both the Republican and Democratic parties in the last campaign.

The territory is within the Olympic National Forest, and is a region which from time immemorial has formed the summer range and breeding grounds for the Olympic elk, a species peculiar to these mountains and rapidly decreasing in numbers.

NEGRO HALL BOY HAS CONFESSED HIS MURDER

Artist Acquitted of Perjury Charge—Engineer and Fireman Killed—Will Raise the Massesoll.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Close questioning in his cell here tonight of Joseph Yango, the young negro arrested at Chicago, charged with the murder, on March 18, of Isidore de Valiant, night clerk of the Eastern Hotel, is said by the police to have brought out a confession in which the prisoner admitted having planned the crime but threw the blame for its execution upon unnamed accomplices.

Yango, who had been employed as a hall boy at the Eastern Hotel, gave robbery as the motive of the crime. When arrested de Valiant's watch was found in his possession.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Martin Norman, the artist, was acquitted by a jury today on a charge of perjury. The indictment specified that Norman had made an affidavit that his daughter, Dora, formerly of Gloversville, N. Y., was dead, whereas as a matter of fact the girl was still alive.

Norman took the witness stand today and testified that he had told the jury that the child was dead, but that he had not taken the oath to that statement. He desired, he said, to obtain $15,000, which he had secured in Dora in order that he might re-invent it as a higher rate of interest.

MANY CONFIRMED IN STONE CHURCH

The confirmation service held in the Stone Church last night was of a very impressive nature. Bishop Richardson administered the rite to twenty-one candidates, twelve of whom were males and nine females. The fact that the males were in the majority and also that more than two-thirds were adults made the confirmation class a rather unusual one.

The candidates were presented to the bishop by the rector, Rev. G. A. Kuhring, and in addressing them the bishop gave a thoughtful and encouraging address based on the gospel to the confirmation service. He showed that the foundation of Christian life should be laid in faith in God as the God of love; faith in Christ as a personal Saviour; and faith in the Holy Ghost as the Sanctifier. Touching on the word "edifying" he showed its relation to the building up of Christian character. In closing he referred to the opportunity given them of showing forth the power of the Spirit and confessing Christ before men.

There was a large congregation present at the service.

His employees told him, he said, that they were afraid they would get into trouble of some sort if they kept him. He said that everywhere he asked for work he was refused as soon as it was discovered who he was.

GOVT. IS THOROUGHLY CONSIDERING QUESTION

OTTAWA, March 22.—It is probable that one of the most important and serious debates of the session will come upon a resolution now standing in the House, E. Foster's name on the order paper declaring that Canada should delay no longer in assuming her proper share of responsibility and financial burden necessary to adequately provide for her own coast defense. The present situation in Great Britain in connection with the revelations made that the British naval supremacy is seriously threatened lends an unexpected interest to Mr. Foster's resolution. The agitation already under way in Canada for a more active participation in the maintenance of the Empire in respect to Imperial defense, stimulated as it is by the prompt action of Australia and New Zealand, gives a new turn to what might otherwise have been considered a resolution outside of the realm of practical politics at the present juncture.

Members on both sides of the house are now seriously discussing the question as to whether Canada can longer afford to stand aside from active participation in the maintenance of British naval supremacy on the excuse that national resources should be devoted to present development of national resources, thereby strengthening immediately threatening the British Empire. Members of the opposition in caucus this morning unanimously agreed to vigorously support Mr. Foster's resolution in the commonsense and the caucus broke up with cheers.

MRS. KUHRING AGAIN CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Annual Meeting of Women's Auxiliary of Stone Church Held
There was a large gathering in Stone Church yesterday afternoon to attend the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the church. Mrs. Gustav A. Kuhring was again chosen president of the auxiliary. At the opening the usual prayers were recited.

The president of the diocesan board, Mrs. Walker, was present at the meeting and was introduced by Mrs. Kuhring, who occupied the chair. In consideration of her efforts it was decided to place Miss Elizabeth Patton as a life member of the diocesan board.

The various reports were submitted and showed that the auxiliary was in a flourishing condition.

The treasurer's report showed that a large amount had been realized during the year. The total distributions amounted to $74. From the mite boxes yesterday $25 was secured.

A large bundle had been sent to the Northwest, valued at $10. It included outfits for four Indian children. Three suits of every kind of wearing apparel were sent. The work will be continued throughout the coming year.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. G. P. Smith, honorary president; Mrs. G. A. Kuhring, president; Mrs. J. H. Hamilton, 1st vice president; Mrs. John McAvilly, 2nd vice president; Miss Barlow, 3rd vice president; Miss Edith Skinner, secretary; Mrs. J. S. Fisher, treasurer; Mrs. C. W. DeForest, dorcas secretary; Mrs. Ella, local secretary; Mrs. Morrison, literary secretary; Miss Helen Frink, junior superintendent.

The delegates were then chosen for the annual meeting of the Diocesan board. Mrs. John McAvilly was appointed by the president. The others are Mrs. Howard McLeod, Mrs. Murray and Miss Helen Frink.

A WOMAN'S BACK WAS NOT MADE TO AGNE.

Thousands of Women Suffer Untold Misery Every Day With Aching Backs That Really Have No Business To Ache.
Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to bear the burden of life. It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Backaches come from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order. Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

Mr. O. Warren, Radcliffe, Mass., writes: "I was troubled with very severe pains in my back for years. I tried every thing I could think of, but they did me no good. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking two boxes, I have not been troubled since."

MODERN VIEWS OF THE BIBLE WILL BE TAUGHT

TORONTO, Mar. 23.—The board of Regents of Victoria College, Toronto, federated with the University of Toronto, tonight unanimously adopted a resolution permitting the teaching of modern critical views of the Bible, promulgated by Rev. George Jackson, of Sherburne Street Methodist church, this confirming Jackson's appointment to the new chair of the English Bible.

MAMMOTH FOSSILS.

The German government has decided to send an expedition to the southern part of German East Africa to search for, and make a careful collection from, the remarkable deposit of Dinosaurian bones discovered last year by Professor Eberhard Fraas in the upper Cretaceous formation of Tendaguru, in the Lindi district. According to the report of Professor Fraas published last August, the deposit resembles that of the famous Bone Cabin quarry in Wyoming, from which the Americans have obtained so many remarkable gigantic reptiles.

The huge bones he weathered out on the surface of the ground, and can be followed by digging into the sandy soil some feet beneath them. Many of the bones are in their natural relative positions, showing that at one time some parts of the skeletons were buried before their surrounding soft parts had decayed, and Professor Fraas publishes a striking photograph of a nearly complete hind limb and foot before removal from the excavation in which it lay.

All the specimens brought back by Professor Fraas for the Royal Wurtemberg museum in Stuttgart, where they are now mounted, belong to a large herbivorous Dinosaur which he names Gigantosaurus. They appear to represent an animal from 14 to 15 metres in length, closely related to the well known Diplodocus and Morosaurus from Wyoming. The skull remains unknown, but both vertebrae and limbs are represented by numerous specimens.

Further explorations will probably result in the discovery not only of the missing parts of Gigantosaurus, but also of other reptiles which must have lived with it.

BRITISH FLAG FLEES POLES FROM THE POLE, THANKS TO SHACKELTON

LONDON, March 23.—The Polar regions are gradually yielding up their secrets to human perseverance and determination. Ernest Shackleton of the British navy, who left his permanent quarters last autumn for a dash to the Pole, has succeeded after an arduous sledge journey of 1,708 miles, which occupied 126 days, in reaching within 111 miles of the South Pole, or 354 miles nearer than the distance attained by the Discovery expedition, of which he was an officer. As the expedition to the south was undertaken rather for the purpose of geographical survey rather than with the idea of reaching the Pole itself, it may be said to have succeeded beyond the most sanguine expectations.

New Departure. Profiting by former experience in the Antarctic regions, when all the dogs succumbed to strain and rigors of the climate, Lieutenant Shackleton made some departures from the usual preparations for a sledge party across the snow and ice. He took with him a motor car which could be converted into a sledge and substituted poles for dogs and light wooden sledges for heavy ones.

The main expedition of which Lieutenant Shackleton was in command, reached latitude 82.32, longitude 162.02, while a second party pushed forward to the southern magnetic Pole, reaching latitude 72.25, longitude 104.02. The British flag was left flying at both places.

The narrative of Lieutenant Shackleton's achievements shows that the expedition endured the greatest trials and privation. The motor car which was useful in the preliminary explorations, failed on the uneven surface of the barrier ice. Briefly summarized, the results of the expedition are that a point was reached within 111 miles of the South Pole; the magnetic pole was the South Pole; the magnetic pole was discovered at 82.32, longitude 162.02; eight mountain chains were discovered; Mount Erebus, 11,120 feet in altitude, was ascended by the party; new coast and high mountains were discovered; the air was found to be pure; the sea was found to be calm around the South Pole was disproved.

Described Dash. Lieutenant Shackleton thus describes the dash to the pole: "The Southern party composed of Adams, Marshall, Wild and myself, and four ponies and a supporting party consisting of Brocklehurst, Pringle, and three sledges, started on November 3 we left Hut Point, on November 3 we left Hut Point, with a party of six men and sledges on White Island, which we reached on November 5 for four days by a blizzard. The supporting party returned to the permanent quarters on November 7. Owing to the bad light among the ice crevices, Adams and his pony were nearly lost.

"A few days later we reached the depot at latitude 79.35, longitude 168.02, where we approached the radio and other provisions previously left there. We commenced to reduce our daily rations, and travelled south along meridian 168 over a varying surface of ridges and mountains of snow, alternating with soft snow in which the ponies often sank to their bellies.

"In latitude 81.04 we shot a pony and made a depot of six hundred and forty pounds of meat to be used on the return trip to pick up our depot on the plateau, guided by our outward tracks, for the dogs attached to the fat poles had been blown away.

The Harmony Of Home

Does Not Mingle With or Emanate From The Table of Dyspepsia. In the home, meal time should awaken in all the inhabitants a peculiar harmony of joy which will make for the home the abiding place of interest and happiness.

All physicians agree that mirth and joy at meal time does much toward digestion. Mirth thrills the whole nervous organism of man, the cells wherein are stored valuable digestive juices, empty their contents under the nerve stimulation and promote the highest degree of digestion.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are little storehouses of digestion which mix with the stomachic juices, digest food, retinge the mucous membrane and its nerve centres, give to the blood the great wealth of digestive fluids, promote digestion and stays by the stomach until all its duties are complete.

It matters not what the condition of the stomach Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets only improve the juices and bring quiet to the whole digestive canal, of which the stomach is the centre.

THE HOME AND CAREER OF VICTOR HUGO.

lived, the lord of a literary salon, with Thophile Gautier, Banville, Meurice, Nodier and Vacquerie as faithful admirers, and received Lamartine and Dumas, Alfred de Vigny and Alphonse Karr, Balzac, Victor de Broglie, musical and artistic celebrities. The visitor to the museum in apartment 107 of the rue de la Harpe, which was divided into flats in the Parisian fashion, and the really historical rooms are those of the second story.

THE TOURIST WHO WISHES TO REALIZE THE "APARTMENT" AS IT APPEARED IN THE FORTIES HAS BUT TO ARRANGE HIMSELF WITH A COPY OF VICTOR HUGO'S SOUVENIR OF THE "DEUX EMBRAS," WHICH IS A VERITABLE GUIDE-BOOK. MOUNTING THE "STONE STAIRCASE" WITH SQUARE LANDING AND A FORGED IRON SEVENTEENTH-CENTURY RAMP TO THE FOUR INDICATED, HE WILL READILY RECOGNIZE THE ANTE-CHAMBER, "LIGHTED AT ONE CORNER BY A LONG, NARROW WINDOW," LEADING TO THE DINING-ROOM. THIS DINING-ROOM IS EVIDENTLY THE ROOM MORE PARTICULARLY DESCRIBED BY FORSTER IN HIS "LIFE OF DICKENS" AS THE CHAMBER WHERE THE FRENCH POET RECEIVED THE ENGLISH NOVELIST.

The "gorgeous tapestries" represented a scene from the "Roman de la Rose"; the "canopy of state" was draped of heavy blue and gold damask; and the deep, old-fashioned d window-recess, hung with red damask curtains—propitious "cozy corners" for confidential chats—were also remarkable and happily designed.

Here the reception-rooms terminated. Victor Hugo's bedroom occupied the site of two small rooms looking on to the courtyard; one of these is now fitted up to represent his "chamber mortuaire." Then came several rooms outside the museum—they now form part of another residence, but the equipment of their backs, they resemble a museum. The dining-room was a fifty degrees below freezing and a violent blizzard raged for the night. The men explored an old crater at an altitude of 11,000 feet.

THINK SHEFFIELD ST.
BELLE IS IMPLICATED

MONTREAL, N. B., March 24.—It is supposed that a Sheffield street woman from St. John is concerned in the case of James O'Brien, who was arrested in Fredericton on Saturday last on the strength of information given by Chief Sirois, who went to the capital and yesterday returned with the prisoner. Steps will probably be taken in the matter. O'Brien will be brought before the local court Saturday morning next to answer to the charge of stealing silverware from a Montclair residence on June 28th last.

ETIQUETTE
An Old Question—Men Press His Head About His Absurdities.

"Whether to eat fish with a fish knife and fork, a fork and a bit of bread, whether to serve champagne in a tumbler or a goblet—it is quite absurd to be troubled about these matters as right and the other as wrong and to admit or dispute a person accordingly. The average rule of etiquette has nothing to do with courtesy, with good breeding, and it is no criterion of courtesy or of good breeding."

"Smile at me, nephews and nieces," he resumed, "because I tuck my napkin under my chair. Yet why should I tuck my black broadcloth coat with turkey stains or smears of cranberry sauce? It is a rule of etiquette, you say, that the napkin may only be placed across the knee—an absurd, shameful rule!"

"It was a rule of etiquette in France during the reign of 'Le Roi Soleil,' the great Louis XIV., that when the king visited a sick subject, the king too, must lie down in a bed, on the ground that it would never do for a subject to maintain a more informal attitude than his master during the audience. Louis XIV., visiting the Marechal de Villars after Miquet, lay in a bed beside the suffering soldier in that way."

"Behold the absurdities of etiquette and let me do with my napkin what I please."

UNQUESTIONABLE.
"Don't you think this dealing in futures is awful?" asked the young woman who would like to reform the world.

"I don't know much about it," confessed the woman with suspiciously wavy hair, "but I'm sure it must be much nicer than dealing in pasta."

NO ROOM FOR ARGUMENT.
"Yes," said the young wife, proudly, "I have always given something expensive when he gives presents."

"So I discovered when he gave you my watch," rejoined the young husband. "And with a large open-faced watch he continued to audit the monthly bills of his alleged better half. We unreservedly second any resolution of condonation."

SHOT HIS WIFE'S FATHER,
THEN KILLED HIMSELF

An Old Bludge Settled by Double Tragedy
In Pennsylvania Town.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., March 24.—Lynn Hodges shot and fatally wounded his father-in-law, A. P. Anderson, at the home of the two at Youngsville, Pa., a few miles south of James town, in a late hour last night. A few minutes later Hodges placed the same revolver in his own hand and put a bullet in his head. The shooting took place in front of Mrs. Hodges, who is a daughter of Anderson. An old dispute was renewed when Hodges stepped up behind the old man and placed his revolver at his back, fired, the bullet penetrating the lung. Mrs. Hodges alarmed the neighborhood with her screams. Twenty minutes later, as neighbors began to arrive at the house, Hodges stepped outside the door and shot himself. Both men will die.

ECZEMA CURABLE? PROVEN!

Attorney at Moline, Ill., Convicted by Oil of Wintergreen Compound.

There is nothing that will convince a lawyer as quickly as evidence. Now, here is some rather startling evidence of a simple home cure for eczema which convinced one lawyer, F. C. Ehrhart, attorney at Moline Ill. He cured himself of wintergreen compound mixed with thymol and glycerine as in Dr. D. D. Prescription, cured him in thirty days after thirty-two years of suffering.

"For thirty-two years," writes Attorney Ehrhart. "I was troubled with eczema scabs all over my face, body and head. I could run a hair brush over my body and the floor would be covered with scabs equal to all a basket. I tried everything—salves, internal medicine, X-ray—all without result. Just a month ago I was induced to try Dr. D. D. Prescription. The itch was relieved instantly; so I continued. It is just a month now and I am completely cured. I can run a hair brush over my body and the scabs have dropped off."

"I can only say again CURE ECZEMA. I am now starting all eczema sufferers on the right track."

BERSERFORD RETIRES
FROM ACTIVE SERVICE

LONDON, March 24.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, commander of the Channel Fleet, hailed from his flag at Portsmouth today, thus bringing to an end fifty years of active service. He was given a rousing send off by some 10,000 enthusiastic admirers who were gathered around the dock-yard gates. The Admiral is now a free lance and it is expected that he will take an active part in the agitation for a big navy.

SCHOOL TEACHER SHOT.

NEW YORK, Mar. 24.—Anna A. Mangin, a public school teacher, was shot in the head and instantly killed early today, while on her way to public school in 10th street, between Second and Third avenues, where she taught. A man who is alleged to have shot her, was arrested by the police as he was about to turn the weapon on himself.

NOTHING LIKE THEM

Nothing that St. John has had for many years in the way of successful openings has quite equalled the universal approval that the Dunlop-Cooke Co.'s opening of spring costumes, coats and dresses has met with. Such an establishment in St. John, where ladies could have made to special order at comparatively short notice, or from stock, garments of the most modern design, and at the same time avoid having the same thing as worn by nearly every other lady, is indeed a great advantage. During the first days of the opening beautiful costumes were shown at from $20 to $85 in all the new colors and colorings, the predominant new shades in taupe, London smoke, oxbow, wisteria, Cuneo, blue, blue, blue, moss green, etc. New models are being added every day.

The show windows present a most attractive appearance and frequently throngs of delighted people fill the vestibule and side walk in front of the store. The magnificent show rooms fitted with rich Flemish oak and brass cases and British plate mirrors and carpeted floors form attractive surroundings for this most attractive exhibit for ladies high class wearing apparel.

THE WHITLA KIDNAPPERS
QUESTIONED BY POLICE

"John Doe," her mysterious partner, pressed of the matter. He walked into the chief's office cautiously. Every question that he was asked he answered guardedly. Chief Kohler asked him about himself, his name, and asked him how long he had been in Cleveland and a score of other questions. "You tell me the answers first, then I will tell them back to you," answered the suspect.

The chief told him of a number of places he had traced him in the last two days, watched him buy food, drink and eat. He told him what he ate on Monday night for dinner and what he ate Tuesday night after the ransom money had been paid to the kidnapers. The second meal was of far better quality than the first said the chief. "Listen to what the woman tells you. Whatever she says, do," he remarked once to the police.

The woman herself said during the course of the night, "I am the kidnaped woman. I could run a hair brush over my body and the floor would be covered with scabs equal to all a basket. I tried everything—salves, internal medicine, X-ray—all without result."

While questioning the Whitla boy in the old residence, the kidnapers also questioned the man and woman occupant of the room at the restaurant of the Hotel Thorpe across the street. The discovery of Billy Whitla's hiding place was made by Detective Berenshaw after a talk with Billy. The boy remembered little distinctly but recalled that he had been kept in a house from which he could see tall trees, a stone church and the sign of Thorpe's Hotel.

SHARON, Pa., March 24.—For the purpose of identifying and getting possession of the man and woman occupant of the room at the restaurant of the Hotel Thorpe across the street, Chief of Police Crain, Detective Kemmerling, District Attorney Ideiger started for the Ohio city this morning. Upon their arrival there it is believed identification of the couple will be established, especially if woman. From her attitude it is thought probable she is the wife of the man who has been suspected of implication in the abduction, and her vivid remark concerning the effect her arrest would have on the people of Sharon, was out of the suspected woman in common property, and should the Cleveland man prove to be the one now suspected it will certainly cause a sensation.

MANUFACTURERS WANT
A DUTY ON TIN PLATE

Enterprise at Northburg, Ont., Cannot Continue Without Protection.

OTTAWA, Mar. 24.—A delegation from Northburg and Brockville headed by Andrew Broder, M. P., and William C. Cook, president of the Canadian Sheet Steel Corporation, Ltd., today waited upon Hon. George F. Graham and the Hon. J. H. Macdonald, minister of duty on tin plate of fifteen per cent against the United States and of twelve and a half per cent against Great Britain and other countries. It is claimed that the tin plate enterprise which was started some time ago in Northburg, Ont. has found it impossible to carry on the enterprise in Canada without the protection asked. As the government has many times considered the question of placing a duty on tin plate and it was thoroughly gone into by the tariff commission before the last revision of the tariff it is not thought that the application will meet with the approval of the government on this occasion.

Mr. Graham promised to lay the matter before the government.

A successful high class sacred concert was held in St. John Presbyterian church last night in which several of the leading talent of the city took part. Solos were given by Messrs. E. Bonnell, S. J. McGovern and J. A. Kelly and Miss Bessie Thompson and Mrs. L. M. Curran. Messrs. McGovern and Kelly sang a duet "So Thou Littlest Thy Divine Petition," from Stainer's "Crucifixion" while Mrs. Curran and Miss Thompson rendered "Very effectively "Forever with the Lord" from Gounod. The piano duet by Mrs. J. M. Barnes and Mr. D. Arnold Fox was well received as were also the violin solo by Mr. W. P. Phelan and the select readings by Miss C. J. Leach. There was a large number in attendance and every number of the programme was heartily appreciated.

HUSBAND'S SUIT FOR DIVORCE REFUSED

Minister Named as Co-respondent. Says He Has Been Reduced to Peddling Patent Medicine.

BOSTON, Mass., March 23.—On the ground that Gilman W. Brown, a wealthy resident of West Newbury, had condoned the offences alleged to have been committed by his wife, his three libels for divorce were thrown out of court by Judge Lawton in the Middlesex County Supreme Court at East Cambridge today. The suit, which has been on trial for several weeks, was the first of its kind in the history of the state, principally because of the fact that Brown had named as co-respondent Rev. Dr. Frank Atherton, formerly Congressional minister at Hooksett, N. H., and Georgetown.

On stand today Mrs. Brown denied the allegations of her husband that she had been unduly friendly with the minister. Rev. Mr. Atherton said as a minister he had befriended Mrs. Brown when she was in trouble and she was a victim of persecution. "As a result of this persecution," he said, "I was reduced to selling sewing machines and peddling patent medicines for a living."

THE COST OF
GOOD HEALTH

Will be Lessened by the Timely Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

How much money is wasted on useless medicines. How much time is lost; how much pain endured simply because you do not find the right medicine to start with. Take the expert advice of thousands who speak from experience in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and you will save time, money, and above all, you will be healthy. Proof of this is found in the statement of Mr. J. A. Roberge, a well known resident of Lachine, Que., who says: "I am a boatman, and consequently exposed to all conditions of weather. This exposure began to tell on my health. The cold led to weakness, loss of appetite, pains in the limbs and side. I tried several medicines but they did not help me. I passed poorly at night and lost much in my work. I was almost getting into chronic invalidism. One day while reading a newspaper I was attracted by the statement of a fellow sufferer who had been cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I bought a bottle and took it as directed.
