

INCREASED INDEMNITY ASKED FOR

Government Supporters Feel That if Insufficient Money for Other Things

MEMBERS ALLOWANCE

Should be Added to and Let Other Things Wait—Premier Says He Will Lay Matter Before Gov't.

Fredericton, April 16.—In the Legislature this evening Mr. LeBlanc, speaking to the item of $4,700 for extra members' indemnity to the members of $100 each, said that last year the House had assumed that something would be done towards increasing the seasonal allowance of $500. He was not afraid and not ashamed to put himself on record. In Ontario the allowance was $2,500, and in Quebec $2,000. Nova Scotia paid $1,000. The Government should take this into consideration.

Mr. Michael said that the seasonal indemnity in New Brunswick bore no comparison with that in other provinces, and yet the House passed more bills and received more delegations than in other provinces. His constituents were willing that indemnity should be increased, and had told him so. The salaries of heads of departments also should be increased. There were instances of their deputies receiving more than did the Minister. One feature in New Brunswick which did not hold in other provinces was the work which a member had to do during recess in connection with the highways.

That was deserving of increased indemnity alone. The revenue could be increased. There were the Crown Lands as well as other resources. Heads of departments would not get less than $10,000, and the industry and opposition officials should receive more than he did. He would advocate a seasonal indemnity of $4,000. Mr. Tilley said that with the members in the cabinet the increased salaries would prove expensive. He would suggest amalgamation of some of the departments. Some ministers earned their salaries, others had their work done by deputies. The man who attended to his job should be paid a reasonable salary. He would suggest that more than $2,000. He would suggest three ministers. An active man could handle two departments and attend to his duties all the time. As far as seasonal indemnity was concerned he would suggest $500 as not being out of the way. Last year it had been estimated that such would be the amount and this year it was expected.

WHAT IS A "JAZZY JAG?"

It is up to the Attorney General of B. C. to Say.

Victoria, B. C., April 16.—"What is a 'jazzy jag'?" The attorney-general of British Columbia has been asked to answer this question before the present term of the provincial legislature closes. In a set of questions filed with the legislature Mr. J. Pooler, (Esquimalt) asks for particulars as to the amount of alcohol purchased by a Vancouver Company during the last three years to be used in the manufacture of favoring extract. Finally, he inquires: "Does the extract manufacturer produce what is technically known as a 'jazzy jag' among the users?"

GRAND TRUNK DEAL CAUSES LOTS OF TALK

In Parliament, the Question of Ratification by Shareholders Being Uppermost.

GOVT OWNERSHIP

Again Severely Criticized—Amendment by Hon. Mr. Fielding to Refer Back to Shareholders, Rejected.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Ont., April 16.—The Bill to correct and confirm the agreement under which the Dominion of Canada is acquiring control of the Grand Trunk Railway system opened up quite a wide field of discussion in the Commons today. The legislation was read a second time, and was taken up in committee of the whole, and had been anticipated, the attention of the members was directed at both stages particularly to the section which provides that the agreement as corrected is hereby declared to have been sufficiently ratified by the holders of the stocks of the Grand Trunk. The position was an odd one. The Government, which last session believed it would be unnecessary to require ratification of the agreement by Parliament, after its approval by the Grand Trunk stockholders, found it desirable to seek ratification of the contract. The Opposition, which last session unanimously demanded ratification of the agreement, today criticized the proposal to confirm the contract. Hon. C. J. Doherty, in his contribution to the debate on the second reading, said that the importance of the section had been exaggerated. It was true that some questions had been raised as to the legal sufficiency of the method taken to summon the Grand Trunk shareholders' meeting last February because of the failure to send special notice to two holders of five per cent. Great Western debenture stock in this country. The Minister of Justice, however, pointed out that these debenture holders, while they would have been entitled to attend the meeting, would not have been entitled to vote upon the resolution calling for ratification of the agreement. They would simply have had the right to sit and watch the other stockholders pass a resolution to authorize the Canadian Government to guarantee their holdings of debenture stock without prejudicing the value of that stock. However, he pointed out that if the country was to acquire the capital stocks of the Grand Trunk every precaution should be taken to see that they were acquired regularly and free from apprehension of attacks upon title based upon any possible divergence in the agreement from the precise terms of the statute of 1919. Hence, make assurance doubly sure, the Bill proposed confirmation of the agreement.

Some professional opponents of government ownership and operation of railways, like D. D. MacKenzie, of North Cape Breton, found in the Bill an occasion for a re-opening of the subject discussed last session and a general denunciation of the Grand Trunk purchase. The position of the majority of the Opposition was: Let the agreement stand as it is; let the Parliament correct mistakes which it made; let the Grand Trunk Company make good any mistake it may have made. This attitude found expression in an amendment presented by Hon. W. S. Fielding. The ex-Minister of Finance proposed merely to declare that the agreement, as corrected by the insertion of the name of the Vermont and Providence Railway line and the correct description of the control of the Pembroke Southern, "shall be as binding and effective as it would have been if the alterations set forth in the first section of this Act had been made in the schedule at the time the agreement was ratified."

The Opposition was finally rejected, although a few Opposition members showed in committee some inclination to insist upon the production of information respecting the earnings of the Vermont and Providence line, three miles in length. The provision for correction of the agreement, however, led to a demand for further alterations. Hon. MacKenzie King, who had expressed no opinion on the ratification section, proposed to insert in the agreement a clause to restore the pension status of men who had suffered a reduction of that status as a penalty for participating in the Grand Trunk strike of 1916. This proposal was raised some days ago by a resolution which Colonel J. A. Currie introduced. The resolution was withdrawn, according to the practice, after many members of the House had approved of its principle, and members of the Government had promised to direct the attention of the board of arbitrators to be appointed to the proposition that the cost of restoring the pension status of the railwaymen involved be regarded as a liability of the Grand Trunk Railway Company.

AMUSING INCIDENT IN BRITISH COMMONS

Wordy Dispute Between Lady Astor and Another Member Over Their Seats.

SALARIES OF THE SCHOOL INSPECTORS

Suggested That These Should be Increased to $2,500—Premises Promises Considered.

Special to The Standard. London, April 16.—There was war between Lady Astor and Sir William John Hicks. It is over a particular corner seat in the Commons which each covets. Returning from illness yesterday, Sir William found his seat occupied by the only woman member, who, it seems, substituted her card for his, on the back of the seat. Sir William forthwith appealed to the Speaker, who the House roared with laughter. T. P. O'Connor, who sits immediately above the displaced chair, interrupted to ask whether the women were not subject to the usual canons of good feeling and asked "Ought not consideration be shown to a lady member?" The Speaker ruled that Sir William technically was right, adding "I am sure that all members will observe good feeling and consideration one to another. Sir William Hicks here and increasing uproar removed Lady Astor's card, applying his own. He told the Speaker that a long correspondence had been exchanged between himself and Lady Astor about the seat. He afterwards told me he didn't propose to publish the correspondence, but wanted it known that he had definitely offered to permit Lady Astor to speak from his seat whenever she desired."

AMHERST INDUSTRIES WILL SOON BE REVIVED

Special to The Standard. Amherst, N. S., April 16.—A large number of men are now at work in the Malleville iron building erecting re-rolling and erecting machinery. Today an official of the Canadian Car and Foundry Co. expects that one blast furnace will be in operation by the first of May. This will prove good news to the people of Amherst. It marks a revival of the great old industrial days. The optimists of the town are now predicting a splendid future in store for the busy town. As is known, the Malleville iron building, nine hundred feet in length, was dismantled when occupied by the German prisoners. Machinery was stored away. Now the machinery is being re-erected. The furnaces and ovens are being put in place. Work is being done at a rapid pace. It is expected that the plant should be booming and booming big.

STEEL MERGER TO INCLUDE ST. JOHN CONCERNS?

Financial Circles in Montreal Believe That Such Will be Found to be the Case.

THE CONSOLIDATION

Of Interests Will Bring a Very Large Amount of British Capital to Eastern Canada and Large Army of Workers.

Special to The Standard. Montreal, April 16.—Credence is given in local financial circles to a report that more than one St. John enterprise will be linked up with the half billion dollar steel merger which is being promoted by British interests. Stanley Elkin has admitted that at his recent conference with Col. Morden he represented the Maritime Steel Company, and it is now reported that the representative of the British capitalists has been in consultation with a number of other concerns in Eastern Canada engaged in the production of iron and steel products. In addition to effecting an amalgamation of the Dominion Steel Corporation and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, the plans of the British capitalists are now understood to embrace the consolidation of other eastern Canadian plants manufacturing iron and steel into finished products. It is not expected that under the merger the constituent companies will lose their identity, but will be merely fitted into a general scheme of operation, abolishing overlapping of effort and providing for a steady production of various classes of commodities required by the plans of the new corporation. It is now known that the proposed consolidation plans on taking over the control of the Canada Steamship Lines interests on the ocean, and also other shipping concerns, and it is expected it will sooner or later become interested in the shipping on the Atlantic Coast.

BUDGET DEBATE ENDED; SUPPLY NOW TAKEN UP

Considerable Progress Made With the Various Items, Many of Which Created a Lot of Discussion.

Fredericton, April 16.—Once more has the Liberal party of this province resumed its minority and has emphasized its total disregard of the rights of the people. The party of Messrs. Foster and Veniot who were put to a test fall to stand in spirited declarations have been heard from Government members this session, extolling the virtues of the Liberal party and pledging adherence to the principles of British fair play and justice today to testify its sincerity of purpose when the vote was called on the amendment of Dr. Baxter which in substance was to order an election for filling of the Carleton County vacancy, the Government supporters forgot all about fair play and played the game of politics instead, ignoring the much valued principles of their party that there can be no taxation without representation, and turned down the amendment.

Mr. Mersereau, of Stanbury, who a week ago told his party that they were not acting squarely, and were playing poor politics in not filling the vacancy was whipped into the today and mesh as a lamb voted against granting Carleton its right. It was a sorry spectacle.

The vote was 15 to 19 against the amendment, and the original motion was then carried by the same vote reversed.

Fredericton, April 16.—(Assembly Chamber)—The House met at three o'clock.

Mr. Burdell presented the report of the committee of standing orders.

Mr. Tilley introduced a bill relating to the Intiantown and Lancaster Ferry.

Hon. Mr. Robinson gave notice that on Tuesday next he would move for the suspension of rule No. 77 to permit the introduction of a bill to incorporate the Central Trust Company.

Hon. Mr. Roberts gave notice that he would move on Monday next for the suspension of rule No. 77 to permit the introduction of a bill to amend the Consolidated Statutes, and another to enable the parish of Lancaster to assess for recreation grounds.

Hon. Mr. Byrne moved that the order for third reading of the bill relating to the Grand Manan Light and Bower Company be rescinded and the bill referred back to a committee of the whole House.

Hon. Mr. Robinson on the order of the day being called, said that it was not his intention to prolong the Budget Debate or to speak at length on the amendment moved by the Hon. Leader of the Opposition. He wished to point out that in view of the fact that it was the constitutional right of every citizen to have full representation in the Moncton was entitled to two members, whereas it had only one.

The two hon. members who sat for Carleton gave the proposition that the population larger representation than the city of Moncton had at the present time, and while he sympathized with the idea that Moncton was entitled to its full quota he would not go to the extent of holding supply in order that it might be accomplished.

Mr. Mersereau said that he had previously made a statement in regard to the vacancy in Carleton. He had expressed only his own opinion and he had not changed it. He believed, however, that the government would in the near future do the right thing by the County of Carleton, and he was wishing to have supply further delayed he would vote against the amendment.

On the amendment being put by Hon. Mr. Speaker the House divided as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Young, Tilley, Baxter, Smith (Carleton), Taylor, Campbell, Potts, Peck, Crockett, Pinder, Sutton, Grimmer, Smith (Charlotte), Carson, Hunter—15.

Nays—Hon. Messrs. Foster, Smith, Byrne, Veniot, Murray, Dugal, Roberts, Burdell, McGrath, Dyar, Leblanc, Michaud, Leger (West), Leger (Glenora), Robichaud, Bordage, Melanson, Mersereau, King—19.

The original motion that the House resolved itself into a committee of supply was carried by the same vote reversed.

Mr. Baxter asked that the names be recorded in the Journals of the House. The House then went into committee with Mr. Leger (Kent) in the chair and took up consideration of supply.

Administration of Justice

Hon. Mr. Byrne on the appropriation for administration of justice said that he wished to refer to a few articles which had been referred to his department. The expenditure last year was $29,776 against $25,512 for 1918, the last year of the old administration. The salaries in 1919 amounted to $5,750 against $6,755 for 1918. The increase had been brought about by adding $200 to the salary of Court Stenographer S. D. Simmons, $100 to the salary of Clerk Gill and by establishing a salary of $500 for the Clerk of the Divorce Court instead of sitting in fees. That accounted for the full increase over the salaries paid in 1918.

The department had also increased the salaries of Miss Blanche Whitehead and George B. Legend, court stenographers, but it had been done on the order of the Chief Justice. The stamp fees now derived from the Divorce Court, which formerly went to the clerk, more than paid his salary. The traveling expenses of stenographers and court reporters was greater than in 1918, but the department was not responsible for that. Unfortunately there has been an increase in crime during the year which was probably in a measure due to the abnormal conditions following the war. The jury fees in 1918 were $4,150 and in 1919 $4,189. If Hon. members would look at the reports they would find that the County of Carleton had in the year 1919 paid over jury fees which had accumulated since 1914. The total amount was $3,675, a portion of which, of course, belonged to the year 1916. While there had been efficient on the expenditure of administration of justice no specific case was pointed out wherein a saving could have been made. The issue of the St. John Equity Court expired soon after the government took office, and a new lease was made at an increased annual rental of $450. A grant of $650 had been made last year to the St. John Law Library. While the government had abolished the commission on Succession Dues the amount saved was not shown in the accounts. They had collected $7,000 in Succession Dues last year and under the rate of commission formerly paid there was sufficient saving to pay the salary of the deputy attorney general, and leave a balance to the credit of the government. No expense had been incurred by the department that could have been avoided. Contingencies were smaller last year than in any year under the old administration, and they included those of the deputy attorney general.

Mr. Tilley, speaking on an item of expenditure on Brown Tail Moth extermination asked what the necessity of the expenditure was. He understood that the search for this moth was over.

Hon. Mr. Foster asked that the item stand until the Hon. Minister of Agriculture, who was ill, would be in his place.

Amusement Tax Expenses

Mr. Potts, speaking to the item of Amusement Tax expenses asked what it was for.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the item provided for the salary of the Amusement Tax Inspector, the other half being provided by the Public Works Department under the Motor Vehicle Tax. Half of this stenographer's salary also was in the item. There also was an estimate for a considerable number of additional ticket choppers which would be distributed among the theatres of the province and paid for by them on an installment plan.

Mr. Smith (Carleton) said that various places in the province were on Chatouqua circuits both winter and summer. The entertainment offered on those circuits was educational and highly moral. It has been at Florenceville during the winter and he had noticed that amusement tax had been collected. He considered it unfair that such a tax should be imposed upon an entertainment of that class. He believed the government should consider the matter. He did not believe that Chatouqua should be classified under the head of amusement.

Hon. Mr. Foster said his Hon. friend could readily appreciate that the amusement tax was imposed upon amusements of various classes except paying amusement tax, however, he would consider this matter. The law made exceptions of entertainments which were religious, patriotic or charitable in nature.

Mr. Smith said that Chatouqua would be classified as a religious entertainment and there was no doubt that during the war it had been patriotic in nature.

Mr. Tilley said he did not agree with his Hon. friend from Carleton. Making an exception of Chatouqua entertainment would be opening a door to trouble. He had attended the Chatouqua at St. John and had failed to observe its religious features but had seen vaudeville and plays and had heard music. Besides being educational at Chatouqua had its financial features and would not come into the category of all except under substantial guarantee.

Mr. Smith said there had been no vaudeville at Florenceville. He had been informed on excellent authority that Chatouqua did not pay its expenses but had the deficit made up by a number of wealthy residents of the United States.

Night Session

Mr. Tilley on the committee recommending recess adjourned to allow the item of Contingencies to the Public Works Department had increased from $42,000 to $9,000.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that was made upon the basis of last year's expenses. Postage stamps alone cost over $3,000 and considerable went for telegrams, telephone messages, stationary and extra stenographic assistance.

Mr. Smith (Carleton) said that it seemed to be gaining ground. He noted that citizens stenographers were employed, but not all of them the whole time.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that the department was not over-manned. Considering the fact that $3,000 was expended last year the staff was not large. Many of them worked during the summer months overtime without extra pay. All cheques were mailed now direct from the office. The work in connection with the auto branch was increasing every year. Last year they collected the sum of $18,000. Stenographers were paid $600 and $700 per year.

Mr. Tilley—That is not enough.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that they were granted bonus of $100 each last year.

The Text Book Committee

Mr. Baxter on the item of $100 for the text book committee, said that in view of the talk that had been heard concerning Myers' history many would like to know who composed that body, and what were their duties.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that some of the members of the committee reside in other provinces. He promised to secure the information and submit it to the House.

Mr. Campbell said he would like to know on behalf of Mr. Potts, as to the location of the Schools for the Deaf, which received aid from the province.

Hon. Mr. Foster said when the School for the Deaf was closed in St. John, the pupils were sent to institutions at Montreal and Halifax. The province paid so much per head for their education.

Mr. Campbell said that when the first school was started for the Maritime Provinces, that New Brunswick's claim should be considered. It seemed that all joint institutions were located in Nova Scotia.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the school at Halifax had been established for many years. They had been greatly assisted by heavy endowments which did not seem to be available in this province.

Mr. Baxter was glad that there were no separate schools for the blind in the Maritime Provinces. The number of people unfortunate enough to be deprived of sight was small enough to be handled by the institution, and it would be hard to get another man who would devote so much talent to the work as did Sir Frederick Fraser. The school for deaf and dumb at St. John had been generously supported by worthy citizens, but had its limitations. The system of teaching

Struck Coal

Hon. Mr. Smith said that was not correct, but coal had never been struck in paying quantities.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that in St. John, Gloucester county, six years ago the diamond drill had gone through thirteen inches of coal.

Mr. Young said that he was one of a number who had lost $500 each some years ago working the drill near Taymouth. They had found traces of coal and he believed a good vein was near there, but hard to locate.

Hon. Mr. Smith said that the drill was let out on fee. Two applications were in for it, one of them at Lake George.

Mr. Young said the mining laws were not fair. Private persons took all the risk in search for minerals and the Government imposed a royalty. The Government should take some of the risk.

Mr. Tilley speaking to the item of labor bureaus, said that he judged from the amount of $1,000 to be voted that it was not the intention of the Government to meet the Dominion half way in the proposition of maintaining the labor bureau on a basis of equal sharing of the expenses. The bureaus were of general benefit to the country, and the offer was a generous one on the part of the Dominion.

Mr. King said that he did not recognize any great advantage in the labor bureaus. In connection with his coal mining operations at Minto he had had occasion to correspond with the Moncton bureau. Twice in February he had communicated with that bureau in an attempt to get miners and did not even get a reply.

Hon. Mr. Murray said he wanted to know what the Department of Labor at Ottawa was for. The Dominion had made this offer merely for the purpose of getting the provinces to assume the burden. The Federal authorities should not try to shoulder responsibility.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said he had received requests from the City Council.

COLONIZATION ROADS UNDER DISCUSSION

COLONIZATION ROADS UNDER DISCUSSION

Demand from French-Speaking Member for Better Facilities for Newcomers.

Fredricton, N. B., April 16.—In the Legislature this evening Mr. Leblanc, speaking to the item of colonization roads said that he regretted this was an item which was very little discussed. His own county of Restigouche had more colonization than any other county of the province. Each year it was the same $5,000 appropriated by law and $2,000 voted to the House. There was talk of immigration but he would point out that without any effort on the part of the government a considerable number of very desirable citizens had come into the province. What had the government done for them in colonization roads or in any other way? As far as immigration was concerned he would remind the House that some forty years ago settlers were brought from the Old Country and placed upon some seventy lots in Balmoral, Restigouche County. The government cleared the land and built houses and assisted in every way. Today the descendants of that one of those settlers were there. The majority of the party left in a few years. Their farms had been acquired by native Canadians who were the only people to send into virgin forest to make homes. Along the International Railway in Restigouche County there were settlements made within a few years which had a population totalling seven or eight thousand. This district had been created a separate parish and sent two members to Restigouche County Council. It did not look right to vote the magnificent sum of $7,000 for all the colonization roads in the province. He admitted that the Hon. Minister of Public Works had come to the rescue in the Parish of Grimmer, and had assisted on the highways. The province of Quebec was preparing to spend $5,000,000 in colonization. Why could not the House vote $5,000 instead of $2,000?

Mr. Baxter asked if Grimmer or Hazen Settlements could be reached by highway. Mr. Leblanc said they could not. The only roads were in the Settlements themselves. Mr. Michael said he concurred in the remarks of his hon. friend from Restigouche. Madawaska also had its colonization problem. There was a tract there improperly furnished with roads. He would direct the attention of the House to the fact that the encouragement of settlement was one very effective way of readjusting Maritime Province representation at Ottawa. It was highly desirable to encourage those who would stay on the land. If the hon. members would go to the northern counties they would gain some idea of the hardships which settlers underwent. He noted that the Department of Lands and Mines had an estimate of a doubled revenue. A good part of that money should go to colonization roads. $25,000 would not be too much. Mr. Tilley said he had visited that section of Restigouche under discussion and he concurred in what had been said about the industry of the people who had made the settlements. At the time of his visit the roads were impassable. Probably they had been improved since. He would direct the country from which money should be withheld. He agreed that native Canadians made the best settlers. Mr. Potts said the matter deserved careful consideration. A vote of $2,000 on this item was insufficient. The hon. members who had brought up the matter should let it drop. If they were sincere in their request for a large vote it was all right. If they were playing politics for the purpose of impressing the people of the new settlements, it was all wrong. He wished the people of the district in question to have good roads, in fact he expected to go there and speak to the people. He would suggest that the matter lie over for a while.

Mr. Veniot Wants More Roads to Spend Money On.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that the Hazen and Grimmer settlements had been opened some ten years ago. He had visited them then when they were a few log cabins and in 1918 he had gone again and found a population of at least 7,000 people. Roads existed from Kedgwick to St. Quentin within the settlements. The people wanted highway connection whether north of Campbellton or south to St. Leonard or St. Annes. It would be 35 miles to St. Leonard and 22 miles to Campbellton. The route had been partially surveyed and a proposition had been placed before the Dominion Government to open a road from St. Quentin to Siegas. If the Dominion would see its way clear to give a 40 per cent assistance to a principal farm road, the work would go on rapidly. If the province had to act alone it would take longer. The custom had been to spend money for colonization roads on opening the roads. Later the settlers did $30 worth of road work each. He did not consider that system a good one. While this Restigouche colony was the largest and probably the most prosperous one in the province there were others. An attempt was being made to colonize returned soldiers on the Blue Bell tract in Victoria Co., and a bill was before the House to purchase for settlement purposes from the New Brunswick Land and Railway company a tract of 4,000 acres back of Gonsen Ridge, Madawaska county. After those schemes came others in Northumberland, Gloucester and Kent. There was on foot a scheme to establish soldiers settlement between Somers and Bathurst. The distance between the two places was about 13 miles. Twenty-four miles of highway to Bathurst would be cut off a journey of sixty-four miles. The Department of Public Works was debarred from opening new roads. That was under the Department of Lands and Mines. His suggestion to make to the hon. minister of that Department, either that a larger amount be spent on colonization roads or that the matter be placed entirely under the Department of Public Works. Under the present arrangement the work was merely a subordinate part of a large and important department. Under the arrangement which he had suggested there would be some one who would consider the opening of such roads part of the departmental duty. As far as the suggestion just made by hon. members was concerned it was going too far to ask for an increase of $20,000. It was not money for the purpose, but under conditions of the present year would not be warranted. When Grimmer Settlement first was opened such an amount would have produced magnificent results. He would suggest that the hon. members of the counties concerned meet with the hon. Minister of Lands and Mines and hold a consultation in the matter.

Mr. Young said that the County of York contained quite a little town located on the Transcontinental divide of the C. N. R. which possessed no means of communication with the outside world except a railway. That was Napadogan, a sub-divisional point with a growing population. There was no highway, but the construction of a stretch of nine miles of road would connect the place with Williamsburg and give easy access to the settlement. The people wanted the road could not come under farm settlement, however, because the Nashwaak Pulp and Paper Company owned the intervening land. Hon. Mr. Veniot said this would come under the Department of Public Works. He could inform the hon. member and the House that a survey for that road had been ordered and was partly done. The survey would be completed by the late summer or autumn. It had been decided to construct the road. Mr. Baxter said he would support the movement for increased money for colonization roads and he felt that if the members interested requested an increase they would get it. He noticed by the public accounts that 12 per cent of the appropriation last year remained unexpended. Either the hon. Minister of Lands and Mines did not want to spend the money, or the members of the counties concerned did not press him. Hon. Mr. Smith said that applications for colonization road money usually were three times larger than could be met and the money had to be distributed throughout the province. An expenditure of $7,000 was authorized last year, but the terms were not met in all cases. This had been on account of the scarcity of labor. There had been $2,000 to be expended in Restigouche county but it had not all been spent because money could not be secured to do the work. In one year, however, Restigouche over expended. Money for colonization roads was not for maintenance, but for opening the roads. Mr. Young asked if there was any statute defining the duties of settlers toward the roads. Hon. Mr. Smith said there was not. After the roads were opened the Department of Public Works assumed control. Hon. Mr. Foster said the hon. member for Restigouche (Leblanc) had made reference to the fact that there had been no increase for some time in the appropriation for colonization roads. The statement was hardly correct. The records showed that the amounts had been as follows: 1912, $300; 1913, $3,600; 1914, $5,500; 1915, $4,500. The appropriation at the present time, $7,000 in all, was considerably greater. Colonization roads money could not be applied to roads already built, and on that account could not be used on existing roads in Hazen and Grimmer Settlements. He had visited those settlements himself and had travelled on the best colonization roads away back

In the settlements. He fully appreciated the desirability of inducing settlers to come in, particularly those who would aid in working out the problem of increased production. What he deemed the most necessary were roads leading to the railways. Hon. Mr. Byrne said that if his hon. friend from St. John county (Baxter) would look at the public accounts for some years back he would find that his remarks with regard to unexpended appropriation for colonization roads would apply with much greater force to the government of which he had been a member than to the present administration. Hon. Mr. Veniot said that the parish of Grimmer had not suffered in the matter of highways. There had been $14,000 to be expended by his department, but more work was laid out than could be done. Hon. Mr. Foster said that this matter could be dealt with under supplementary estimates. It being six o'clock the committee arose to resume at eight.

THE LITERARY DIGEST has no political axe to grind, and the absolutely impartial and non-partisan nature of the poll is guaranteed and protected in the most complete manner. It is the duty of all men and women to have their own opinions on the problems that now face their country and to express those opinions in the choice of their President in the approaching conventions and national election. This unofficial Presidential Primary, the greatest and most representative ever conducted in the history of America, will serve as a vehicle for the unhampered expression of popular opinion, and will have a very large influence on the nominating conventions of both great parties. WATCH THIS POLL IN THE LITERARY DIGEST. BEGINNING IN THE ISSUE OF APRIL 17th, the returns from this national poll will be recorded, summarized, and analyzed, State by State, through successive numbers up to the actual meeting of the great conventions in Chicago and San Francisco. These reports will have unique and decisive interest for political leaders, the press, and citizens of the whole country, and will be awaited eagerly. DIGEST readers, of course, will get them first and in the most complete detail. At the same time, and all through the year, THE LITERARY DIGEST will be gathering carefully and reporting all the facts and opinions on all sides bearing upon the great problems and issues which are being discussed and which must be settled by the national election. THE LITERARY DIGEST is wonderfully equipped for this service by a system built up at great expense through many years of careful work, and reaching into thousands of newspaper and periodical offices in all parts of the world. The reader can depend upon THE LITERARY DIGEST with absolute certainty as it reveals, from week to week, free from all prejudice and partisanship, the real state of the Nation's mind, the real facts affecting all issues, and the progress of all the great problems toward settlement. Several Cases of Theft Dealt With Police Constables, Corey, Saunders and McFarlane gave further evidence in the police court yesterday afternoon in the case of William McNulty who together with John Callahan, was charged with the assault of W. J. Colahan in a barn off Hookland Road on the night of April 3. The case was then postponed.

William Williamson charged with stealing a bag of flour from the warehouse of Steves Bros on Erin Street was sentenced to two months in jail. The judge told the accused that it was only out of consideration for his mother that he made the sentence as light as he had.

Sydney Kixister, held for the theft of money from clothes in the locker room at the Y. M. C. A. has also been charged with the theft of an overcoat, the property of Ronald Patterson, taken from the Y. M. C. A. last November. The accused pleaded not guilty.

Ronald Patterson was called upon to identify the coat. He said that on Saturday in November he had gone to the Y. M. C. A. at twelve noon. He changed into his gym suit in the locker room and went out on the floor. When he returned at four o'clock the coat was gone.

He valued the coat at $30. It had been purchased by witness at M. C. A. The witness was cross-examined by the accused, who showed the coat in a very business-like manner. In answer to the defendant's questions the witness acknowledged that he had never seen the accused before as far as he knew. He admitted that it was possible that there were other coats and color as the one produced in court.

The witness said he had been sent to identify the coat on hearing that a coat had been found in the Public Library.

Detective Biddescombe said he had been called to the Public Library the day before to get a coat which had been left there. In the pocket of the coat he found a letter from the accused addressed to the Minister of Penitentiaries at Ottawa asking for an increase in his pension of $30 a month, as his arm was giving him considerable trouble and the money he now received was not enough to keep him.

He said that the accused had been arrested Saturday afternoon for stealing money from clothes in the Locker Room of the Y. M. C. A. in the same room from which the coat disappeared in November. The accused had given the detective the wrong address when asked where he resided. Witness was not aware that the accused was a pensioner.

The case was allowed to stand over until Tuesday afternoon.

The morning session was a busy one, eleven cases coming before the attention of the court. Alfred Foster was charged with acting together with others in breaking into a shed and stealing dry goods valued at $400, the property of Thomas French. The complaint said he had loaded his wagon on Saturday with dry goods which he was taking to the country to sell. When he opened the shed on Monday, the goods were gone. Some of the stolen articles were found by the Mrs. Tucker, Brussels Street, concealed between the walls of the attic.

The case will be taken up again on Monday at eleven o'clock.

Robert N. Bean was charged with breaking and entering the warehouse of Ames-Holden and McCready on March 18 and stealing two pairs of boots, also of stealing a pair of binoculars valued at $20, the property of Harry Simons.

Joseph Gilbert, of Gilbert's Second-hand Store on Mill Street, gave evidence concerning the binoculars, and John Owens, shipper for Ames-Holden, told of finding the break on their premises. The case will be taken up again on Tuesday morning.

James Murphy was charged with stealing a case of whiskey from the steamer Cabotia valued at $32.00. Officer Spiney who made the arrest gave evidence of finding the accused in the act of walking off with the case. Cyrus Inches represented the Anchor-Donaldson Line. The prisoner was remanded.

William Howe, charged with using threatening language to Sergeant O'Neill, West Side, was allowed out on a deposit.

Linton Kachivals pleaded guilty to having liquor in his possession. Fined $200.

George Carr pleaded guilty to illegally having liquor in his possession and was fined $200 or six months in jail.

John Williams, who pleaded guilty to stealing some ladies wearing aprons, was again remanded.

William Carr, charged with assaulting his wife, was fined $20 or two months in jail with hard labor.

Albert McAuliffe, who was given in charge by Mrs. Helen Lacey on charges of being drunk, treating a disturbance and using abusive language in her residence in Germain street, was remanded.

Board of Governors Of Kings College

The Board of Governor of Kings College met yesterday at the Church of England Institute, Princess Street, His Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton presiding. The meeting was perhaps the most momentous in the one hundred and thirty years of the University's existence, as the question of the continuance of the college in Windsor or its transfer elsewhere was definitely decided on, the whole board voting that Windsor, N. S. be continued as the seat of the institution, and that steps be immediately taken to replace main college building destroyed by fire in February by a building suitable to the present day needs of modern education. The decision will doubtless be hailed with delight by the old students of Kings with whom the memory of their old alma mater and its picturesque surroundings will ever be sacred.

Prior to yesterday's meeting there had been some doubt as to whether University would move to Halifax and form an alliance with Dalhousie, looking toward the establishment of a great provincial university into which other colleges might eventually merge.

It developed during the meeting that shortly after the fire, informal and unofficial overtures had taken place between representatives of the two colleges with a view to ascertaining whether such an alliance was feasible, and the adoption of the Toronto University scheme was agreed upon as the basis of co-operation. The identity of the two establishments would thus be preserved, as well as their respective traditions and character.

On looking into the matter further a very strong and representative group of men agreed that the inadequacy of the endowment of the two colleges rendered impossible the creating of a central university and the scheme was therefore abandoned.

This announcement clears the air of uncertainty and doubt, as to the future policy of Kings, and with absolute unanimity the board adopted the policy of rebuilding at Windsor and the establishing of a new building wherein the worthy traditions and ideals of the old university could be fittingly carried out.

This vision of a great service was the inspiration of yesterday's meeting and steps were taken for the launching of an appeal to the people of the Maritime Province for a large sum of money for rebuilding the college and placing the endowment of the institution on a basis which would meet the demands of this modern age.

Just what that amount would be has not been decided, but at least $500,000 will be asked for. A strong committee of laymen were appointed to formulate further plans before definite steps would be taken to secure the desired sum.

A delegation from the board will present the claim of the college to the Synod of Fredericton when it meets next week. Those present at yesterday's meeting were: His Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton, Mr. J. R. Belyea, Rev. W. W. Judd, Rev. W. H. Hewson, Mr. J. R. Belyea, Rev. W. W. Judd, Rev. W. H. Hewson, Mr. J. The S.S. Minnedosa Arrived Yesterday

Brought Total of 1,866 Passengers—Herbert Cabwalla-ber Committed Suicide by Jumping Into the Sea—Boy Died on Voyage.

S. S. Minnedosa, C. P. O. S., arrived here yesterday morning on her thirtieth trip across the Atlantic. She came from Liverpool and docked at No. 2 shed shortly before 10 o'clock, bringing a total of 1,866 passengers—612 cabin and 1,254 steerage, also 1,000 bags of mail and parcel post and a general cargo. Exceedingly rough weather was experienced throughout the whole voyage.

On the 8th of April, when the steamer was almost in mid-ocean, a young returning Canadian soldier named Herbert Cabwalla-ber, committed suicide by jumping overboard. A life boat was put off, although the sea was rough and the steamer herself rolling heavily. However, the man had gone down before assistance could be of any avail. A baby died and was buried at sea on Thursday last.

Among the passengers on board was Miss Elsie Hallimore, daughter of U. W. Hallimore, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, New Westminister, British Columbia, formerly of St. John. Miss Hallimore has been visiting relatives in England for the last year. Before going to her home in the west she will be the guest of Mrs. Hope Grant for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Coates were also listed as passengers for St. John, and Mrs. E. Smith with her two children for Hoyt Station, N. B. Three returning Canadian officers were also on board.

A colonization party brought out by the C. P. R. was also on board in charge of a Mr. Rowe. They were met at the dock by Mr. McBuff, colonization agent for the C. P. R. The colonizers are going to Western Canada to settle on C. P. R. farms. Twenty-five are going to Calgary, 3 to Winnipeg, 3 to Edmonton and 1 to Lethbridge.

Five special trains left in the afternoon and evening with the passengers. Bishop and Mrs. Lethouse are among the passengers. Mr. Lethouse is Bishop of Keewatin.

Lady Mason was listed for St. Andrews, N. B.

DODGE CARS STAND UP TO EVERY TEST

For Five Years Have Made
Good in Every Particular.

IMPOSSIBLE TO FILL ORDERS COMING IN

Was the Car Chosen by U. S.
Government for Staff Use
by Army During Great War

When Dodge Brothers covered their connection with the Ford Works, they did so with the intention of manufacturing an automobile which in construction and price would be the logical step for a Ford owner who wished to make a change to something better; for the man who was "feeling" with driving a large, expensive car and wanted a smaller car giving comfort, and economy in operation and upkeep. The mere announcement that Dodge Brothers intended to make a new car, with their name, reputation and skill behind it, brought in thousands of orders for the car from all over the Continent. Prior to any details as to price being known, and even before a model of the car was turned out, such was the enviable reputation of these two Dodge Brothers, that orders for over 40,000 cars were received.

Such was the start some five years ago. Since then over 400,000 Dodge Brothers Motor Cars have been fabricated and yet today the factory is still some 50,000 cars behind actual sales. Despite the fact that Dodge Brothers' Works have been constantly extended and now cover some 90 acres of ground, despite the fact that some 30,000 employees turn out between 500 and 600 Motor Cars each day, the demand continues to outstrip the best efforts of the factory.

The cause is not far to seek. It is, briefly, that from the first automobile turned out, down to car No. 450,000, Dodge Brothers' Motor Cars have demonstrated their ability to "stand up" under every kind of usage and under all conditions, with the minimum of repairs and replacements. All followers of the automobile game are quite familiar with the fact that the United States Government chose Dodge Brothers' Motor Cars as equipment for the Staffs of the American Expeditionary Force both in France and in the camps at home. The reputation of the cars made for "indestructibility," both on the shell-torn roads of France and while doing duty in the training camps in America, is history. Dodge Brothers' Motor Vehicles "stand up" because nothing but the best materials to be obtained are used in their construction. A drop forging is put in place of a casting, wherever this can be done. Flank bearings throughout, slight of them in the rear axle alone. Practically the entire car—axles, springs, wheels, frame, body, upholstery, motor, etc., is made in the Dodge factory under expert inspection. No chance for any outside manufacturer of any of those parts to send in a batch of components not up to standard, as might possibly happen if parts were brought from outside. One of Dodge Brothers' Motor Cars is quite as good as the next, same material, same careful inspection, same attention to detail. Another important feature of the Dodge is the beautiful and durable enamel finish. The body, fenders, cowl and hood are pressed steel, dipped in enamel and passed through a thermostatically controlled heat room, where the enamel is baked on. This is then rubbed down and the process repeated four times. The result is a finish which lasts for years. No matter how much mud one of these cars has accumulated, put it on the wash-stand, a good wash and polish bring out the original lustre of the enamel as good as new.

Dodge Brothers manufacture six types of bodies on the one chassis, Sedan, Coupe, Touring Car, Roadster, Screen Body Business Car and Panel Side Business Car. The latter two are express delivery vehicles and, as with the other types, the factory is quite unable to supply the demand for these handy, economical commercial jobs.

The Victory Garage & Supply Co., 92 Duke Street, this city, are Dodge Brothers' Direct Dealers for New Brunswick; and associate Dealerships have been arranged as follows:—

Victor's Garage, Moncton.
Lawlor & Barry, Newcastle.
J. F. Rice & Sons, Edmundston.
Maguadavic Garages, St. George and St. Stephen.

During the year Associate Dealers will also be appointed in Fredericton, Woodstock, and Bathurst, so that a very complete Dodge Service throughout the province is promised. Each one of these dealers will carry a full line of replacement parts, and road-signs will be placed conspicuously on all highways leading into their towns, informing drivers of Dodge Cars where they can go for their Service.

FISCAL POLICY.

Much use has been found for the phrase "adequate protection," since Sir Robert Borden introduced it into the terminology of tariff discussion. By its opponents, protection was almost invariably spoken of as if it meant high protection, ultra protection, a piling on of duties without regard to any other consideration than the term of the protective tariff. The statesmen who framed and administered the National Policy had their minds fixed on national ends. They were sane planners for the national welfare, and nothing could be more means than the assailing of them as men in league with interests, bent not on benefiting, but on plundering the country. These sound economists were well aware that excess of protection would be little better than deficiency of protection. They aimed to adjust the tariff advantage to home industry so as to give the largest benefit to our producers, consistent with the least burden to consumers. Adequate protection was always the idea of the men who moulded the tariff on National Policy lines. It is well always to keep this in mind, and, for that purpose, Sir Robert Borden's phrase ought to take the place of the single word "protection."

Besides yielding a large revenue and fostering the industries of the country, adequate protection fosters all other legitimate sources of revenue. It is truly the National Policy. It is possible to revise the tariff—through the process may involve the reduction of some duties—as to make it more efficient for the fostering of industry and for the direct production of revenue. Every change in it that conduces to both these ends conduces also to its value as the mainstay of all national revenue policy. Tariff revision is a task to which should be brought great stores of knowledge of our industrial conditions and of our industrial outlook and an intimate acquaintance with the national finances. Sir Thomas White has a genius for fiscal business. We have large expectations from the present Minister of Finance, but we should have been very sorry had Sir Thomas White vacated his seat in the House, as he thought of doing, when he left the Cabinet. His counsel and advice should be freely drawn upon by the Government in the work of arranging the tariff and working out its general scheme of taxation. Whatever other imposts the Government may devise, it must have adequate protection if those imposts are to be the fruitful source of revenue to the country needs.

OUR MERCANTILE MARINE.

If anybody two years ago had prophesied that the middle of 1920 would see Canada in possession of a fleet of ocean steamers more than paying their way, with a shipbuilding industry representing an enormous investment and employing upwards of 50,000 persons, and with sight of the completion of a programme which will once more, after a lapse of nearly forty years, place the Dominion upon the map as a mercantile power, he would have been jeered at as an irresponsible optimist. That, however, as the Ottawa Journal points out, as precisely what has happened. Beginning with nothing more to build upon than the enterprise and genius of our people, the Government has succeeded in an incredibly short space of time in giving the country a fleet of ships which, worked as an ocean extension of the National Railways, provides a national asset of immeasurable value, particularly at a time when tonnage is a crying need and expanded exports are our economic salvation.

It is not necessary to repeat the figures given by Mr. Ballantyne in Parliament; suffice it to say that, despite the blue-ruin predictions of the Jeremiah, these Government ships last year made a handsome profit and can be turned over to private enterprise today for more than what they cost. In addition, Canada has been provided with a plant for the manufacture of steel plate, thereby ending the condition by which we were dependent upon the United States for perhaps the most vital shipbuilding commodity; and today ships are being turned out of Canadian yards at a figure substantially lower than that quoted by the yards of the Republic.

Taken all in all, what has been achieved ought to be a matter of pride to any Canadian whose patriotism is not submerged by partyism. For, quite apart from the economic side, which, in itself, justifies what has been done, it is a splendid thing to have the ships of Canada sailing the seven seas, carrying the white Ensign and the goods of this nation to the ports of all the world and upholding those traditions of the sea which are among the heritages of the race from which we come.

CANADA'S STRIKE LOSS.

The present year, let us hope, will be much freer from labor troubles than last year was. According to the Labor Gazette, during 1919 there were 398 strikes and lockouts in Canada. The number of employees involved was 128,000, and they lost 3,942,000 working days. If the average pay was $4 a day—it was probably higher than that—the productive loss was nearly $16,000,000, or about $116 each. From the employee's point of view, perhaps the loss in production cannot be termed a loss financially—to him or her. Of the 398 strikes, 233 were for higher wages, and 137 strikes and lockouts were for shorter hours. The increase in wages would at least offset the loss of income during the strike, and in most cases exceed it. But the three million and a half hundred thousand lost working days do represent a real loss to the nation. If the strikers were in a separate economic compartment of life, their idleness would affect only themselves. But they are not. For every day each worker stayed away, other workers were made idle, or handicapped in some way in carrying through their particular business. An article of commerce may pass through a dozen or two dozen hands in the market, then through another dozen or two hands in the distribution. If one link in this chain is missing, then the continuity is broken, and often the whole work held up. A fine illustration of what a strike in a "key" operation may mean was shown in Chicago, when railroad switchmen went out, throwing scores of thousands of factory workers out. Labor men are interdependent, and if they strike and they please they cannot avoid disrupting production and service in many directions. If the strikers last year lost nearly four million working days, the general loss to the country can safely be estimated at ten million working days, or a full working year for 30,000 men.

THE PROHIBITORY LAW

We have received a rather lengthy communication from a correspondent who signs himself "One who believes in Conversion and not Coercion" on the subject of Prohibition. We entirely agree with what he says, but as we have returned to publish several other communications that have advanced opposite views, we must, to consistency, decline to publish this one also, at this stage of affairs at any rate. (Special Cross-Atlantic Cable Service to The Standard, Copyright.) London, April 15.—The bill which would give voting enfranchisement to women at the age of 21 was stubbornly resisted in the Commons today. Attempts are being made to raise the age to 25 or 30. Sir Frederick Bantury declared when the present enfranchisement act was passed it was declared women did not want to sit in parliament. "English women did," retorted Sir Bantury, referring to the first woman member, American birth.

penance, I wrote the Commissioner, Mr. James Friel, Moncton, who had summoned me in regard to my dues. He told me to send him a copy of the summons which unfortunately I had lost. In the mean time he also wanted me to send a line from the constable who served me with the summons, which meant double expense. He had a copy of the court record, what more did he want?

I also wrote to the Honorable W. E. Foster, Premier of the province, receiving very little satisfaction for an answer. When the party were returned to power they all claimed to be angels of honesty. Some of the Conservative party may not have been the most honest people in the world, but no man ever heard tell of the Conservative party getting down to robbing the laboring man like the present administration has done.

I lost a day's work, also paid my own expenses, which a man working by the day cannot afford to lose, to oblige the Foster-Veniot combination. I do not think such a parcel of thieves and robbers existed since the Jesse James gang was at the height of its career as a band of robbers. We have at Fredericton today. But I trust to have a chance at the polls in the near future.

"Oh, My! How the Doctor Did Alarm Me When He Said it Was Your Heart"

"WHAT did he say?"
"Well, he says that the great majority of people who had the 'flu' have suffered afterwards from weak heart action."
"I never had heart trouble."
"No, but the way the doctor explains it is that the nervous system is so weakened by the 'flu' that there is not enough nerve force left to drive the machinery of the body."
"That is about the way I feel, for I have no appetite, and do not feel able to stir."
"No, and you do not seem to digest the little food you do eat. So you cannot expect to gain strength. Why not try some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"
"Oh, I do not see how that would help me."
"Now, John, I think that is exactly what you need. It always helped me when I got run down in health, and I hear so many saying the same thing that I think you should give it a trial. You know yourself that you are not gaining any these days."
"How would that help my heart?"
"Because it enriches the blood and increases the nerve force. Anything that strengthens the nerves will naturally strengthen the action of the heart, for the heart, like the stomach and other organs, is dependent on the nervous system for operating power."
"Well, you talk as though you knew. I guess your training as a nurse is coming in useful."
"Will you try the Nerve Food, then?"
"Yes, I will give it a good trial, for I want to get around, and not sit here like an invalid."
"I am so glad, for I feel sure it will soon get you feeling all right again."

REV. A. L. TEDFORD SUCCESSFUL IN WEST

Former Pastor of Tabernacle Church Makes Good Impression as Evangelist.

The friends of Rev. A. L. Tedford will read with interest the following from the Moses Jaw Evangelical Times: "The evangelistic meetings in the Baptist Church have met with splendid success all the week. The attendance has been most encouraging every night, indicating the real interest that the meetings are arousing. The preacher, Rev. A. L. Tedford, delivers his messages in a fearless and fearless and telling fashion. There has been a splendid response, and a goodly number have decided to give themselves to the service of God."

Mr. Tedford spoke on Thursday night of the three classes of people whom God calls fools: "The first class is the man who has not his heart. 'There is no God,' the second class was the man who reaped great crops and filled great barns, and said 'I have all that I need,' but he forgot that God was a demand of him his soul, and the third class is the man who builds his house on the sand, and when the storm comes it does not stand. He emphasized in the latter two that every man's life must face the judgment of God."

On Friday night he spoke on life before but a passing mist, coming from God and going back to Him again. The few years between the coming and the going ought to belong to God, else the life is marred and all that is best is lost.

The congregation is looking forward to a great day on Sunday, when Mr. Tedford will speak three times. The morning subject will be, "In the Wilderness with God"; at 3 o'clock, "Keep Thyself from Idleness"; and in the evening, "Why I Believe in a Hell." These services will be continued all next week. It is hoped that many will take advantage of them.

WHY A. J. MACLEOD PRAISES... DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Nova Scotia Man Gives the Reason Why He Advises Sufferers from Kidney Trouble to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

My dear friend, N. S. April 16th. (Special)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills" helped me wonderfully. My back is better and as I haven't taken any other medicine since starting them they must have done me a lot of good.

In these words Alexander J. MacLeod, a well-known resident here gives his reason why he praises Dodd's Kidney Pills and why he says, "I would advise anybody who has kidney trouble to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial."

The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills are popular all over Canada is that people have tried them and found them good. Dodd's Kidney Pills have been in use in Canada for more than thirty years. They have been used by thousands of people suffering from various forms of kidney trouble, such as rheumatism, dropsy, sore back, weakness, diabetes and Bright's disease.

Ask any one of these thousands to give you his opinion of Dodd's Kidney Pills. It is on the relief afforded sufferers from kidney trouble that Dodd's Kidney Pills have built up their reputation as the sovereign remedy for sick kidneys.

Thorp has painted portraits of four other Presidents—Grant, Garfield, McKinley and Cleveland.

The Lincoln portrait has just been accepted unanimously by the Senate, and is the only Lincoln portrait in the Senate corridor. It will hang with Stuart's Washington, Sully's Jefferson and the copy of Stuart's Adams.

Through the interest of Charles Sumner and other Senators of the period just following the war, Colonel Thorp was authorized to paint his conception of Lincoln. A study was built secretly for him on the roof of the Senate wing of the Capitol, which he occupied for twenty years. He was given the privilege of the floor of both House and Senate, so he could consult men who had known Lincoln. He studied carefully the life and writings of Lincoln and had painted every extant photograph and painting of the martyr President.

His conception of Lincoln is different from others in that it presents Lincoln in a more smiling and more animated mood than is generally depicted. The smiling, yet gentle and tender character of the eyes is especially notable.

TORCHY AND SHIRTY STORIES

By SEWELL FORD

IKKY-BOY COMES ALONG

Being a parent grows on you, don't it? Course, at first, when it's sprung on you so kind of sudden, you hardly know how to act. That is, if you're makin' your debut in the part. And I expect for a few months there, after young Richard Hemmingway hadard came and settled down with Vee and me, I put kind of a ragged amateur performance as a fond father. All I can say about it now is I hope I didn't look as foolish as I felt.

As for Vee, she seemed to get her laces and business perfect from the start. Somehow, young mothers do. She knew how to handle the youngster right off; how to hold him and what to say to him when he wailed or how to soothe him when he was in a rage and made no sense at all to me. And she wasn't fussed or anything when company came in and caught her at it. Also, young Richard seemed to be right at home from the very first. Didn't seem surprised or strange or nervous in the presence of a pair of parents that he found wished on him without much wailing. Just gazed at us as calm and matter-of-fact as if he'd known us a long time. While me, I remember those weeks before I got over feelin' kind of panicky whenever I was left alone with him.

But are we acquainted now? I'll say we are. In fact, as Harry Lauter, Clenny I might say. Why not, after we've stood two years of each other without any serious dispute? Not that I'm claimin' any long-distance record as a model parent. No I expect I do most of the thing I shouldn't and only a few of them that I should. But 'Ikky-boy ain't a critical youngster. That's his own way of sayin' his name and mostly we call him that. Course he answers to others too; such as Old Scout, and Snoodlekins, and young Rough-houser. I mean, he does when he's in the mood with important enterprises; such as hauling Buddy the Alredale pup, around by the ears; or spoonin' in milk and cereal, with Buddy watchin' hopeful for sideways; or pullin' out the drawer of Vee's work table.

It's been hinted to us by thoughtful friends who have all their scientific hope on bringin' up children, although most of 'em never had any of their own, that this is all wrong. According to them we ought to start right in makin' him drop whatever he's doin' and come to us the minute we call. Maybe we should do. But that ain't the way it works out, for generally, we don't want anything special and he seems so wrapped up in his private little affairs that it don't seem worth while breakin' in on his program. Course, ma'am! Buddy around may seem to us like a frivolous pastime, but how can you tell if it is or isn't the serious business in life to 'Ikky-boy just then? Besides, Buddy seems to like it. So as a rule we let 'em finish the game.

But there is one time each day when he's always ready to quit any kind of fun and come toddlin' with his hands stretched out and a wide grin on his chubby little face. That's along about 6:15 when I blow in from town. Then he's right there with the merry greetin' and the friendly motions. Also his way of addressin' his male parent would give another jolt to a lot of people, I suppose.

"Hi, Torchy!" That's his favorite had.

"Reddy yourself you young freesty," I'm apt to come back at him with a followin' which I scooch to meet his flyin' tackle and we roll on the rug in a clinch, with Buddy yappin' delighted and makin' in pronounced by. Finally we end up on the big davenport in front of the fire-place and indulge in a few minutes of lively chat.

"Well, 'Ikky-boy how you and Buddy been behavin' yourselves, eh?" I'll ask. "Which has been the worst outcrop, eh?"

"Buddy had dog," he'll say battin' him over the head with a pink fist. "See?" And he'll exhibit a tear in his snappers or a scowled about by.

"Huh! I'll bet it's been fifty-fifty, you young rough-houser," I'll say. "Who do you like the best around this joint anyway?"

"Buddy" is always the answer.

"And next?" I'll demand.

"Mamma" he'll say.

"Hey, where do I come in?" I'll ask, shakin' him.

"Then he'll screw up his mouth into caverns and say: "Torchy comes in name Torchy Torchy!"

I'll admit Vee ain't so strong for all this. His callin' me Torchy, I mean, I mean she does her best, too, to get him to change it to Buddy. But that word don't seem to us on 'Ikky-boy's list at all. He picked up the Torchy all by himself and he seems to want to stick to it. I don't mind. Maybe it ain't just the thing for a son and heir to spring on a perfectly good father chucked over it besides, but it sounds quite all right to me. Don't hurt my sense of dignity a bit.

And it looks like he'll soon come to be called young Torchy himself. Unhuh. For while there Vee was sure his first crop of hair, which was wheat colored was like hers, was going to be the color emblem of his permanent tatch. But when the second growth began to show up she had to revise her forecast. Now there's no doubt of his achievin' a pinkish set of wavy locks that'll make a fresh painted fire hydrant look faded. They're gettin' brighter and brighter and I expect in time they'll show the same new copper kettie tints that mine do.

"I don't care," says Vee. "I rather like it."

"That's the brave talk Vee!" says I. "It may be all he'll inherit from me but it ain't so worse at that. With that hair in evidence there won't be much danger of his bein' lost in a crowd. Folks will remember him after one good look. Besides, it's always sort of cheerin' on a rainy day. He'll be able to brighten up the about 100 per cent. boy? He's full of pep and jump and go, same as Buddy, and he's just naturally got to test it out.

"I fail to see," says Auntie, "how teaching him to use slang is at all necessary. As you know that's something of which I distinctly disapprove."

"Now that you remind me," says I, "seems I have heard you say some thing of that kind before. And take it from me I'm going to make a stab at trainin' him different. Right now, Richard, approach your father."

"Ikky-boy lets loose of Buddy's collar and stares at me in pish."

"Young man," says I serene. "I want you to lay off that slang stuff. Ditch it. It ain't lady like or refined. In the future when you converse with your parents see that you do it respectfully and proper. Get me?"

At which 'Ikky-boy looks bored.

"Where?" he remarks hostilely, man'ing a grab for Buddy's stubby tail and mawin' it.

"Perfectly absurd," snorts Auntie, "refrain! haughty to the boy window."

"Disqualified!" says I under my breath. "Might as well go the limit. Snoodlekins. We'll have to grow up in our own crude way."

That was the state of affairs when Mrs. Proctor Butt comes crashin' in on the scene of our strained domestic relations. Trust her to appear at just the wrong time. Mrs. Butt ain't I call her, and she lives up to the name.

She's a dumpy built blonde lady, Mrs. Proctor Butt, with projecting front teeth, bulgy blue eyes and a hurried, trottin' walk like a duck making for the pond. Her chief aim in life seems to be better posted on your affairs than you are yourself, and of course that keeps her reason sibly busy. Also she a lady gatherer of Gushville. Now, I don't object to havin' a conversational gum drop tossed at me once in a while, sort of offhand and casual. But that ain't Mrs. Buttinski's method. She feeds you raw molasses with a main spoon. Just smears you with it.

"Isn't it perfectly wonderful," says she waddin' in fury, "that your dear darlin' little son should be two years old? Do you know Mrs. Robert Gibbons just told me of what an important day it was in the lives of you two charming young people, so I came right over to congratulate you. And here I discover you all together in your beautiful little home, proud father and all. How fortunate!"

As she's beamin' straight at me I has to give her some comeback. "Yes, you're lucky, all right," says I. "Another minute and you wouldn't find me here for I was just—"

Which is where I gets a frown and a back-up signal from Vee. She don't like Mrs. Proctor Butt a bit more than I do but she ain't so frank about lettin' her know it.

"Oh, please don't run away," begs Mrs. Butt. "You make such an ideal young couple. As I tell Mr. Butt just can't keep my eyes off you two whenever I see you together."

"I'm sure that's nice of you to say so," says Vee, blushin'.

"Oh, every one thinks the same of you, my dear," says the lady. "Only I simply can't keep such things to myself. I have such an impulsive nature. And I adore young people and children, positively adore them. And now where is the darlin' little baby that I haven't seen for months and months? You'll forgive my runnin' at it this unreasonable hour, I know, but I just couldn't wait another day to—oh, there he is, the darlin' cherub! And isn't that a picture for an artist?"

"I'm glad to be some rapid-draw paint shiner if he was to use 'Ikky-boy as a model just then for him and Buddy was havin' a free-for-all mix-up behind the davenport that nothin' short of a movie camera would have done justice to."

"Oh you darlin' little fellow!" she gurgles on. "I must hold you in my arms just a moment. Please, nothin' mayn't I?"

"I'm afraid you would find him rather a lively fellow. Just now, warns Vee. "You see, when he gets up playing with Buddy he's apt to—"

"Oh I shan't mind a bit," says Mrs. Butt. "Besides the little dears always seem to take to me. Do let me have him for a moment?"

"You get him, Torchy," says Vee.

So after more or less maneuverin' I untangles the two, shins Buddy in another room, and deposits 'Ikky-boy, still kickin' and strugglin' indignantly, in whatever lap Mrs. Butt has to offer.

She then proceeds to rave over him. It's enough to make you seasick. "Positively," she exclaims, "what exquisite curls of spun gold!" she gushes. "And such heavenly big blue eyes with the long lashes and his little rosybud nose. O-o-o-o-o!"

From that on she spouts in baby talk, while she mauls and paws him around like he was a sack of meal. I couldn't help glancin' at Auntie, of that's one thing she and Vee have agreed on, that strangers want to be baby. Besides Auntie never did have any use for this Mrs. Butt anyway and hardly speaks to her civil when she meets her. Now Auntie is squarin' in in her chair and I can guess how her fingers are itchin' to rescue the youngster.

"I'm precious little sweetie, ain't you?" gurgles Mrs. Butt, rootin' him in the stomach with her nose. Won't you let me kiss your sweet little pinky?"

"She's just tryin' to haul off one of his shoes when 'Ikky-boy cuts loose with the rough motions, fists and feet both in action, until she has to straighten up to save her hat and her hair.

"Does one little toe-tiss," she begs. "Say," demands 'Ikky-boy, pushin' her face away frostily, "where do you get that stuff?"

"Wha-at?" gasps Mrs. Butt.

"Lay off 'at tant you," says he. "OO—oo give 'Ikky-boy a big pain, oo does, G'way!"

"Why, how rude!" says Mrs. Butt, gaspin' around bewildered, and then she spots the approvin' smile on Auntie's face, she turns red in the ears.

"Say, I don't know when I've seen the old girl look so tickled over anything. What she's worked up is almost a grin. And there's no doubt that Mrs. Butt knows why it's there, she's got it."

"Of course," says she, "if you prove of such language—" and handin' the youngster over to Vee she straightens her hair and makes a quick exit.

"Bang!" says I. "I guess we got a slap on the wrist that time."

"Lay off 'at tant you," says Vee holdin' her chin well up. "She had no business maulin' baby in that fashion."

"I ain't worryin' if she never comes back," says I. "I'd just promised Auntie to train 'Ikky-boy to talk different and—"

"Under similar provocation," says Auntie, "I might use the same expressions—if I knew how."

"Hip, hip, for Auntie!" I sings out.

"And as for your not knowin' how that's easy fixed. 'Ikky-boy and I will give you lessons."

And say, after he'd finished his play and was about ready to be tucked into his crib, what does the young soldier do but climb up in Auntie's lap and cuddle down folksy, all his own motion.

"Do you like your old Auntie Richard?" she asks, smoothin' his red curls gentle.

"Uh-huh," says 'Ikky-boy, blinkin' up at her mushy. "Ow a swell Auntie."

Are we back in the will again? I'll guess we are.

BEIRUT SEETHING HOTBED OF UNREST

By Sir Percival Phillips.

From the deck of the Baron Call (the most dilatory steamer that ever sailed from the Syrian coast northward from Port Said), Beirut was the fairest picture of a town I had seen this side of the desert. Which should have been sufficient warning to expect the worst. The real Beirut reminds me of nothing so much as Kingston after the earthquake.

We elbowed our way into the crowded harbor, and gazed hopefully on her deceptive beauty. Tier upon tier of white houses rose steeply from the water's edge; there were alluring splashes of green among the rooftops, ornate public buildings, church domes, and minarets; a background of steep mountain slopes reaching skywards to the snowy crest of Lebanon, lost in drifting clouds. A desirable city indeed, obviously outranking in size and splendor her competitors for the rich trade of Syria.

The harbor shouted as much. Thirty steamers of half a dozen nationalities struggled for room inside the little breakwater, demanding more or less profane along in as many languages as German beganin' a beginning of a new and better life—and exhibited the latest general on her bridge deck.

A trim Messageries mailboat edged daintily through the horde of anchors. Greek, Italian, Japanese, and Portuguese freighters—some of them renamed German freighters—beginning a new and better life—and exhibited the latest general on her bridge deck.

A troop of Algerian Infantry at the quay. Soldiers overran the foreground of this lively scene and the tricolor of France flew taut in the morning breeze.

Beirut is the great base of the new Army of Occupation, and looks it.

When a brusque young Lieutenant of colonial infantry had stamped our passports—rejecting those not bearing the visa of his Consul at Port Said—we were at liberty to go ashore and be disillusioned.

The mirage vanished like an Arabian Nights' set at Drury Lane.

Remained only the usual dirty, dust-strewn, down-street city of the East, crying out for fresh paint and sanitation.

The only patient people are the poor, the starving poor. They take with great cheer the dolos of rice given them by the kindly French, but they seem to have little interest and less hope in the future. They have suffered much. As I came back to my dilapidated steamer I saw little ragged children hovering in the roadway. A laden lorry dashed by at breakneck speed. They darted into the dust, and when it had passed groped their way with eager hands. They were searching for grains of corn that might have fallen from the bursting sacks.

"Why, how rude!" says Mrs. Butt, gaspin' around bewildered.

"Hi, Torchy!" That's his favorite had.

The healthy child sleeps well and during its waking hours is happy and cross but always happy and laughing. It is only the sickly child that is cross and peevish. Mothers if your children do not sleep well, if they are cross and cry a great deal give them Baby's Own Tablets and they will soon be well and happy again. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation, colic and indigestion and promote healthful sleep. SHORT OF BREATH Could Hardly Walk Without Resting.

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?" Now, when the heart becomes affected, there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety. On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nervous unstrung Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nervous system. Mr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N. S., writes: "I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting, as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work on the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man." Price 50c, a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

To the Editor:—
I don't know how it is where you are at, but where we are at most of the conversation amidst the house wives these days is swamping recipes for things that you can't eat and how much kick there is in this one or that one and how big a percent of alcohol and etc. Ladies that use to refuse a grape juice high ball because it had the word high ball in it are now wondering what can they put in grape juice to give it a wallop and most of them has quit carrying powder packs around with them so as to make room in their bag for a cake of yeast. Before Belgium began the last war with Europe, the Germans was supposed to be the greatest chemists in the world but if hard study and persistence gets people any place, why pretty near every New Englander of the opposing sex will soon be wearing a great big registered pharmacist's badge on their apron.

—I been spending most of my evenings around in different people's houses—

I can remember back in the old colonial days when women done their own cooking, why they use to be a lot of rivalry around the different neighborhoods about whether Sallie Adams could bake nicer bread than Amy Mason and etc. And then came a long stretch of yrs. when the women couldn't no more understand a cook book than a time table, and when their husbands was hungry, why they stayed down town and eat. But now the prohibition waves has brought back all the old rivalry and jealousy, only now the argument in old New England is, which is the best brewer, Sarah Stein or Becky Goldberg?

No Home Talent.
Well friends since the saloon become the rich man's club I been spending most of my evenings around in different people's houses because they don't seem to be nobody in my own home that has got the brewing instinct. Well I have tried everything that was set in front of me and most of it is what you might call neither here nor there but once in a while you run across a concoction that brings

Put a pt. of sour milk in a rain bbl. Add the whites of 1-2 doz. Class C eggs and one order of hashed brown potatoes. Go to Rye Beach and pick up a few beach girls. Tip the bbl. on its side and roll back and th. on it like you was drawing. Add the yolk of an olive and a cake of yeast and one raisin. Cook in a slow oven.

Add the juice of four golf clubs to the yolk of one candy and pour into a glass. Stand near the bar for several yrs. saying "Hootch moan!" Drop a raisin and a cake of yeast in it. Do the Highland Fling and blow into the bag with a pair of baccinaps. Put a Harry Lauder record on the phonograph, and set it near the bag. Change the needle and replace all the dots.

Add a cake of yeast to some junior hops. Dip the brush in hot water and moisten the board thoroughly. Put some shaving cream on the brush and work out a good lather. Pour it into the above. The kick comes from the guys that drink it.

"Don't"
The word "don't" is in general use and it is recognized by grammarians as a good English word, but it must be remembered that "don't" is a contraction of the verb "do" and the adverb "not" and it is equivalent, therefore, to "do not" and not "do don't". "Don't" should be used only where the two words "do not" may be put in its place.
Correct usage permits the employment of "don't" only with a plural noun or pronoun, or with the personal pronoun "you". Never say, "he don't," "she don't," "I don't," etc. Even the most untrained ear will detect the error when, for example, "he do not" is spoken or written, but the incorrectness of "he don't" is not so apparent.
Such use of the word "don't" as in the sentence, "One swallow don't make a spring" is heard frequently, but its incorrectness becomes apparent when "do not" is substituted for "don't" and the sentence becomes "One swallow do not make a spring."
The proper word to use when a contraction for "does not" is desired is "doesn't"; for example, "One swallow doesn't make a spring."—Copyright, 1920 by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

A MODERN MIRACLE.
Our "wet" friends said when it went dry All business would be knocked sky high.
But we observe at Sixth and Main They're selling bread and not champagne.
At Fifth and Elm they even dare To replace drink with underwear.
Where once the Admiral held sway Are clocks and watches on display.
At Eighth, near State, where flowed the can, Is meat to feed the inner man;
Across the street the candy store, Suppliers the wine shop there before.
At Main, near Fifth, are "glasses" clear Where once were glasses stained with beer.
At Vine, six-twenty, "stews" were found, Now tasteful oyster stews abound.
At Eighth, near Broadway booze expires And in his place are ario fires.
At Fifth, near Race, where men oft reeled Now they may have their "sodas" all "reeled."
At Fifth and Broadway a cafe Stands as a grocery today.
The old Fox Hall is gone for sure And there you'll find fine shirts galore, And just across the avenue Confections shine instead of brew.
At Vine, near Ninth, a stock of pets Succeeded the goods loved by the wets. And so we might go on, but time Will not permit another rhyme—
Go back a year and scan the stores Where men once staggered through the doors.
Then look again and you will see The soft-souled men, erect and free, Come through the same doors nearly clad,
With happy wife and children glad, All armed with baskets filled with meat,
And bread and groceries to eat.
And when you see this with your eyes You'll know that God is with the drys, Ciochmann Commercial-Tribune.

BUNK.
Bunk is a form of salve which is spread in thick layers on the common people whenever somebody wants to break into office.
Every four years we start out in January to elect a President and several thousand palpitating party workers, including the unobtrusive and nimble-footed postmaster, and in order to do this successfully the Bunk factories are set to working in three eight-hour shifts. This Bunk is prepared with the utmost care by experts who are not over 9 per cent. biased, after which it is worked up into boiler plate and stump speeches and fed in copious gobs to the spoolbound voter. If all the Bunk which is discharged every Presidential year could be gathered together in one compact lump, it wouldn't leave breathing room for a goat.

—I REFUSED TO RESPOND TO A CAREFULLY THOUGHT-OUT PIECE OF APOLOGUE BUNK.

Bunk is a valuable asset in many quarters aside from politics, however. How many trustful young wives whose husbands have come trembling home at three o'clock in the morning have been disarmed by a fluent flow of rhetorical Bunk couched in the key of some well-known gospel hymn? One sure of the greatest disappointments in life is a keen, far-seeing wife who refuses to respond to hastily thought-out lines of apologetic Bunk and insists on verifying her husband's story after the telephone.
Bunk is said to be derived from Buncombe, but in reality it is derived

Over a million copies have already been thus distributed to those who wrote for them from all over the world. There is no obligation whatsoever involved in this offer, nothing which you are required to pay in any way, either now or in the future. It is just simply an out-look on life. The book is a 32-page book of 72 pages, 8,000 words, and 30 half-tone photo reproductions. It has endeavored to give a straightforward talk to men, young and elderly, single and married, and a concise compendium for self-reference, a perfectly plain discourse upon those important personal matters relating to vital strength of men, the preservation of vitality, its possible self-restoration, its legitimate uses and its wasteful abuse. Every man should be in possession of this book. One part describes a little drugless mechanical vitalizer which I make and distribute, but whether or not you wish to see one of these vitalizers is for yourself to determine.
However, aside from anything it contains in reference to my vitalizer, the book should be read by all for its real worth. Therefore, please use free coupons below.

SANDEN, Author.
Reader, the whole world is today alive to the importance of a better general understanding of sex hygiene. The much-discussed science of eugenics is teaching the great mass of people that strong, healthy, rugged parents beget equally sturdy children.
Manhood, no matter where it is, is what condition of life we find it, is the single power that most fascinates both men and women. The one who radiates this many influence, this result of a vigorous, sturdy nerve force, is the one who forges to the front, while weaker people stand aside.
It is my opinion that any man may hope for a complete restoration of his manhood and vigor if he but

THE RIGHT MAN FOR A TROUBLED TIME.

By William T. Ellis.
The International Sunday School Lesson for April 18 is, "The Victory of Gideon's Band."—Judges 7.
"Once upon a time there was a man." It was a troubled time a man of today. Everything seemed out of kilter. National feeling had slumped. Patriotism had given way to prejudice. Every one seemed to be looking for himself alone. Each was guarding his own refuge and store. There was a new order of things without and within the land. The Midianites, the "children of the East," were overrunning Israel. The book of the Judges, in the valley of Jezreel, even as I saw them last year.
An optimistic sentence says that, "Because hunger is food must needs be." In so dark an hour there had to be light ahead. Deliverance was inevitable, since the case was so desperate. Out of the heart-ache, sadness of the thoughtful and silent patriots there was bound to be born deliverance. No day ever dawned for any nation that the light of love or country does not burn in its hearts. Long-suppressed peoples, like the Koreans, may seem to be on the sure road to national extinction, where lo, in a blaze of reckless ardor, patriotic flames forth to astonish the world, and to give warrant of ultimate deliverance. In unexpected places the men for the hour appear. Gideon was such a man. A million men so low that there are not patriots who heed the principle.

A Time of Testings.
Like Joshua, the Midianites came down from the East, on forsy. Then was Gideon's opportunity, and he sounded a trumpet call to all the faithful of the land. The response proved, as is the case on every such occasion, that there are friends of the good cause beyond count or expectation. Always God has His loyal legions. More than thirty thousand Israelites answered the summons of Gideon.
Evidently it was the religious note in Gideon's patriotism that made appeal to his host. They knew him as a contender for Jehovah. They trusted him, but they trusted more his trust in God. Gideon was a led leader. As Bayard Taylor sang:
"He who would lead must first himself be led; Who would be loved, be capable of love; Beyond the utmost he receives; who claims The rod of power must first have bowed his head; And, being honored, honor what's above; This knowledge of the men who leave the world their names."
Paradoxically, the thousands who heeded Gideon's call were too many for the divine purpose. They could easily assume that it was their might that had overthrown the Midianites. Not a conventional eastern song of victory, but a "Recessional" was to be the music of this anticipated triumph. God wanted the people to know that He was fighting for them, and that it is not always on the side of the strong; as, lastations. So all who cared to return home, some twenty thousand, were allowed to do so, leaving ten thousand behind.
Still they were too many. There must be no room for human vanity after the glorious victory. A right and unique, yet appropriate process of selection went on. This was to be a victory of faith and fitness; so only those soldiers who drank on the run as it were, stooping down only so far as necessary to lift a handful of water to their lips, were chosen. They were ready to fight even while drinking; no foe could take them by surprise. The others, who abandoned precaution, and knelt down to drink, were rejected. So Gideon went into battle with three hundred men.
Waging war by psychology is no modern invention of the Germans. Gideon tried it out successfully. For, with his hidden lamps, and his simultaneous blown trumpets, and his trained shout of the battle slogan, he threw the Midianites into a panic, while causing them to turn their swords against one another; and to flee in utter rout. God and Gideon won a victory over the oppressors in their night, by the aid of a few fit soldiers. For then, as now, the battle is not to the strong—Germany should have won the way, by all military odds—but to the faithful tried by a great ideal who fight on the side of God and righteousness.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS.
A man's life is no larger than the objects to which it is given.—Henry Churchill King.
The Holy Spirit is the power for the doing of small things on high levels, which constitutes practical holiness.—Rev. J. Stuart Holden.
He that respects himself is safe from others; He wears a coat of mail that none can pierce.—Longfellow.
A man's reputation is what his fellow men think of him; his character is what God knows of him.—Anon.
He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance, with increase; this also is vanity.—Ecc. 5:10.
I find earth not gray but rosy; Heaven not grim but fair of hue, Do I stoop? I pluck a poppy, Do I stand and stare? Alas! Blue.—Robert Browning.

In a few short years all our restless and angry hearts will be quiet in death, but those who come after us will live in the world which our sins have blighted or which our love of right has redeemed.—Bancroft Dush.

STORY ABOUT LORD BEAVERBROOK DENIED

Ormsby Burton in his London letter says: Rumor had it that Lord Beaverbrook was to be the connecting link in an Anglo-American combination which would, among other things, exploit American films in Great Britain to the disadvantage of British productions. He was said to have a large financial, almost a controlling interest in Provincial Cinematograph Theatres and in Associated Provincial Picture Houses. He was also alleged to be closely connected with the newly-established Canadian branch of the Famous Players-Lasky company. Moreover, there was the additional fact that in the recent issue of £1,000,000 offered by Provincial Cinematograph Theatres a preference was given to holders of shares in Picture Playhouses, the company which was directly affiliated with Famous Players-Lasky.
At the annual meeting of the Cinema Exhibitors' Association in London, A. E. Newbold, M. P., said on authority of Lord Beaverbrook, that the newspaper magnate had no connection with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, or its subsidiary companies, except for a small holding acquired a long time ago in the American company.

Unique Moving Picture Contest

Miss Mary L. Sharkey of 227 Main Street Won Imperial Prize — Only Recognized Ten of Twenty Business Men Shown.

The unique moving picture contest which concluded at the Imperial Theatre on Friday resulted in Miss Mary L. Sharkey of 227 Main street, North end, winning the $25. Miss Sharkey had only ten of the twenty social merchants named correctly, which shows how much at sea the large number of contestants really were when trying to discover the identity of the man who stood with their backs to the camera. St. John is at least not a very promising field for Pinkerton Detective Bureau recruits. The contest was a bit tricky, it must be admitted. There were gentlemen in the list with whom some of the older residents are probably not yet acquainted, men who occupied prominent positions in agencies for famous wares but who came to St. John from outside places. Then again the contour of a person's back is not always a safe guide to identification and so the whole town became very much mixed up. Indeed, some of the guesses were ludicrous and many lists were incorrect from beginning to end. One contestant evidently thought the game was to name all the leading officials in town regardless of the movie mysteries, so they started in and named them in order of precedence just like a proper list in high society. Doubtless the following list of merchants who figured in this darksome plot will startle some of the wise ones who thought they knew every body in town and could "tell them a mile off," as the saying goes: No. 1—His Worship, Mayor R. T. Hayes. No. 2—Donaldson Hunt, clothier etc. No. 3—Jack Marr of Marr Millinery etc.

THE L. O. B. A. FAIR

The fair being held by the Ladies of the L. O. B. A. in No. 27 Hall Market Building has been most successful the attendance being good every evening. Last night the Bean Toss prizes were won by Miss Rita Long and Len Grace. The prize drawings will be announced next Wednesday when the L. O. B. A. will celebrate their Silver Anniversary. A social is planned which will be held in the Orange Hall and a splendid programme is arranged for this occasion, which will be of a social nature and open to all friends of the L. O. B. A. No. 18—J. P. and J. H. Driscoll, Atlantic Motor Co. No. 19—Joa. Wiesel, shoe dealer. No. 20—W. M. Twigg, Chevrolet cars. So now the cat is out of the bag, if the merchants will excuse the use of this homely old saying. Many people had a lot of fun out of the contest and the Imperial people had a lot of work. One sure thing that developed out of the contest was this: that a great number of St. John young folks were to read long chapters of— not Doyle, but Doyle, the Doyle who wrote the Sherlock Holmes yarns for therein they will find much to quicken their perception for rapid glancing and glancing, to say nothing of keen observation of people so that they will know them again when they see them. No. 4—J. Royden Thomson, Victory Garage. No. 5—David Magee D. Magee's Sons, furriers. No. 6—A. E. Henderson, Clothier. No. 7—Adam Shand, Florist. No. 8—Fred L. Coombs, Motor Car Equipment Co. No. 9—Arthur Vail, American Globe Laundry. No. 10—T. P. Orr, Underwood Typewriter Co. No. 11—John Bond, Restaurateur. No. 12—P. A. Wilson, Toledo Scales Co. No. 13—J. Bruce McPherson, grocer. Fine Programme Given Last Evening

Concert Held in Exmouth St. School Rooms Under Auspices of the Tuxis Boys Was Enjoyed by Large Audience. A concert was held last evening in the Exmouth Street School Rooms under the auspices of the Tuxis Boys. The Excelsior Class of the Church. Under the direction of Harold Hooper a string orchestra has been trained and many expressions of surprise and delight were heard from the audience at the splendid way in which the boys rendered their selections. Their playing was most creditable, and members of the orchestra and their conductor were congratulated upon their playing. A varied programme in which the Excelsior Chorus was assisted by other artists was given, and the large audience which filled the school room showed their appreciation by hearty applause. During the intermission the girls of the G. G. I. T. who President is Miss Annie Withers, sold home-made candy. Proceeds of the entertainment are for fitting up the Excelsior Class room. Fred Withers presided. Members of the orchestra are Harold Hopkins, Robert Millson, Ernest Hopkins, Walter Thomas, George Pedersen and Harold Evans. The accompanists were Miss Mabel Sandall, Mrs. V. Pedersen, Miss Nellie Myles. The programme was as follows: Selection, "The Talsman"—Orchestra. Reading—G. Stevens. Banjo Solo—W. Thomas. Solo—Miss M. Myles. Club Singing—Miss Cox. Violin Solo—V. POPULAR PRESENTATION At the Vocational Rooms last evening a fountain pen was presented to Miss Annie McInerney. The presentation was made by Mrs. T. H. Lydon in behalf of the pupils in G. Class who took this way of expressing appreciation of Miss McInerney's splendid work during the winter months. Although taken by surprise Miss McInerney made a neat response thanking the class for their thoughtfulness.

WINDSOR CHAPTER I. O. D. E. DANCE

A delectable dance was held last evening by the Windsor Chapter, I. O. D. E. in the Masonic Hall, West St. John. This is the last of a series of dances which have been given by this Chapter in aid of their funds, and all have been very pleasant affairs. The guests were received by the Regent, Miss Gertrude Lawson, and Mrs. Arthur Coster and Mrs. D. W. Newcombe who acted as chaperones. A programme of eighteen dances and three extras were enjoyed, music being furnished by Miss Kinsman's orchestra. There were about one hundred and fifty guests present. Mrs. A. C. Smith was convener of the dance committee. William Burden of Fredericton passed through the city last evening en route to his old home in Dorchester where he will visit friends. CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have heard noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmitin (double strength), and add to it 1.4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Choked nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing, or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. JUVENILE COURT The case of a young lad nine years old, who has been found sleeping in a barn, was taken up before the Juvenile Court yesterday. It appears that the lad is a vagrant and an orphan. The case was held in camera. Pat McDougall of Dorchester was in St. John yesterday on a short business trip.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid. Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea. He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and, furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, to remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices. Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. The harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

ENGLISH COMMONS
TURNS DOWN BILL

To Make Divorce Easier—
Lady Astor Opposes Recommendation of Royal Commission.

By Commentator.
(Special Cross-Atlantic Cable Service to The Standard, Copyright.)
London, April 15.—Great disappointment was caused among the advocates of easier divorce laws by the common defeat of the recommendations of the royal commission.

Lady Astor was among members who voted against the motion, she being sharply criticized for her attitude.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, president of the divorce law union, said: "This decision is very explicable, but we are bound to win in the end. The common law is only putting off the happiness of a lot of unfortunate people for a year or two. I have read Lady Astor's speech, and was shocked by it. Her contention seems to be that women would lose by a change in the divorce laws and that they do not demand it. If that is her view, I do not think she has gone very thoroughly into the question and in taking this position she has assumed great responsibility.

"I know for a fact a large number of people were waiting for this bill to pass before leaving the country. They are placed in such a horrible position that they are determined if the bill is not passed, to go to some land where divorce laws are more liberal."

WINNIPEG MAYOR'S
LIFE THREATENED

Winnipeg, Man., April 15.—Threats against Mayor Charles F. Gray's life, contained in a letter received from Vancouver, will be investigated by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The letter was signed "Holshovik, Soviet Committee," and informed the mayor that men without work would kill him when they decided to take united action. The letter reads: "We Bolsheviks will all go to jail together but before we go we will have blood running on the sidewalk and your blood it will be. We will kill your gang by thousands. The workers are getting hungry. No work." Mayor Gray believes the letter was written by a man who was insane.

DUNLOP
CORD TIRES

IF YOU had the time to note the tire equipment on automobiles these days, you would believe, as we do, that

- 1920 IS A DUNLOP YEAR
- 1. The ascendancy that shows on our sales record, naturally tallies with the "road" record.
 - 2. You may not know where rubber comes from, but after a purchase you'll soon know that it goes into Dunlop Tires.
 - 3. Try "Traction" or "Ribbed." The verdict on these two exceedingly popular tires is:
 1. That the Quality Never Varies.
 2. That the Mileage Keeps Adding Up.
 3. That the General Serviceability is Matchless.

vining Facts—Sullivan
Been Equalled—His Re

(Philadelphia Ledger.)
John L. Sullivan's name went down in ring history as a terrible slugger. At least that is the impression which the fight fans of today have. He was called "The Great White Hope" because he was so big and so strong. Could he punch as hard as Jack Dempsey? These are questions which the young men of today are asking their dad and granddad. The writer was an admirer of Sullivan from boyhood. What a terrific kid with real blood was not when old enough to venture out right, the one ambition was to see Sullivan in action. When that ambition was satisfied there was a greater one. I wanted to know this great model gladiator. His acquaintance was sought and a friendship which lasted until the day Sullivan was buried was the result.
Sullivan the man and Sullivan the pugilist was studied from every angle. The day he died he did not bear the mark of his many ring battles, scores of which were fought with men whose gloves were made of iron. His ears were perfect and his face was unblemished. That answers the first question in a most emphatic manner. It proved beyond dispute that John Sullivan was one of the most scientific men of his class in the ring. No man can take part in hundreds of ring battles with small and large gloves without carrying some marks which proved his defence was fruitless. Sullivan had a wonderful defence. Often after a contest his arms would be discovered from the elbow to the wrist, proving conclusively that he was a superb blocker and an adept at carrying leads and counters with his forearms.
Some will say that because Sullivan would tear in with one sole purpose knocking his man out he did not need any defence. It was the lack of defence that beat Terry McGovern in that notable bout with Young Corbett when the featherweight champion was defeated. Sullivan was champion for ten years. Was only beaten once, after he had been virtually made over twice as a physical man. When Corbett threatened Sullivan's spot, 1893, in New Orleans, the former California bank clerk who had no peer as a boxer in his class. He was the fastest hit man the ring ever produced. Much more for John L. Sullivan's science. Could he hit as hard as Jack Dempsey?

WAS THE LATE JOHN L. SULLIVAN REALLY A SCIENTIFIC BOXER?

Philadelphia Writer Compares Former Champion to Jack Dempsey and Answers Questions by Producing Convincing Facts—Sullivan Defence One That Has Never Been Equalled—His Record a Marvellous One.

(Philadelphia Ledger.)

John L. Sullivan's name went down in ring history as a terrible slugger. At least that is the impression which the fight fans of today have. Was he scientific boxer? Could he punch as hard as Jack Dempsey? These are questions which the younger men of today are asking their daddies and granddaddies. The writer was an admirer of Sullivan from boyhood. What American kid with real blood was not? When old enough to venture out at night, the one ambition was to see Sullivan in action. When that ambition was satisfied, a greater one seized the writer in its meshes. He wanted to know this great modern gladiator. The acquaintance was sought and a friendship which lasted until the day Sullivan was buried was the result.

The man and Sullivan the pugilist was studied from every angle. The day he died he did not bear one mark of his many ring battles, scores of which were fought with small gloves, some with bare knuckles. His ears were perfect and his face was unblemished. That answers the first question in a most emphatic manner. It proved beyond dispute that John L. Sullivan was one of the most scientific men of his class in the ring. No man can take part in hundreds of ring battles with small and large gloves without carrying some mark which proved his defence was faulty. Sullivan had a wonderful defence. So much for John L. Sullivan's science. Could he hit as hard as Jack Dempsey?

Gambling On Baseball Games

Chicago National League Official Says It Will Be Curtailed This Season—Manager Fred Mitchell Makes a Statement.

Chicago, April 15.—Gambling on baseball games will be curtailed this season, according to officials of the Chicago National League Baseball Club, who have started a movement against the practice. It is claimed that numerous bets are made on the strength of who the opposing pitchers are to be. This year Manager Fred Mitchell, declared he will not announce his pitcher until the time his batting order is handed to the umpire, just before the game.

Manager Mitchell, whose home is in Boston, declared he knows of numerous instances in which the wagers were placed after the pitchers had been selected. He said he also knows of a certain hotel waiter who was paid $5 a day by a gambler, for obtaining from the visiting manager the name of the pitcher who was to perform for the visiting club that day.

"Most of the betting is done in the pool rooms downtown," said Mr. Mitchell, "and I believe if the proprietors of these places do not know who is going to pitch they will not be so keen to accept wagers. By withholding the name of the pitcher, I believe much of the gambling will stop."

"If we desire to keep the sport pure, gambling must be eradicated. The Chicago club is to do all it possibly can to stop it. President William Veeck always has taken steps to keep it out of the ball park in Chicago, and I am going to attempt to keep the men in the pool rooms from betting by giving out the pitcher at the last moment."

"Gambling is not to creep into the game and ruin it for the future fans and players if I can help it," Mitchell continued, "and if there is the least suspicion of it on my team an investigation will be made and the man or men who are apprehended will not stay a minute."

Y. M. C. A. To Enter Senior Ball Team

The Y. M. C. A. baseball team had a meeting last night in the "Y" building, and judging by the fine squad of candidates present the possibilities of a strong team in the City Senior Baseball League is assured. Plans for entering a team were discussed, while the question of an intermediate team was left over to see what further material is available.

It was decided that any player not present at last night's meeting, and wishing to try for either team, would be afforded an opportunity to get in touch with the secretary, Ray Ponderton. The next baseball meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday at 6:30 for the initial workout of the baseball season of 1920.

Leach Cross, former contender for the lightweight crown, has just signed to appear with Eddy Polo in "The Vanishing Dagger".

Y. M. C. I. BOYS HAD AN ENJOYABLE HIKE

With Physical Instructor McNamara, One Hundred and Ten Hiked to Indiantown, and on Return Enjoyed Refreshments and Music.

Physical instructor Joseph McNamara last evening led one hundred and ten boys on a hike through the city streets, and from start to finish it proved most enjoyable, although some of those participating were slightly fatigued on their return to the rooms. It was intended to hike out the road, but owing to the muddy condition of the roads the streets in the city were used. Leaving the "Gym" about 8 o'clock, the party hiked down Waterloo, to City Road, thence to Paradise Row, up Main as far as Indiantown, returning via Main, Mill, Dock, King, Charlotte, Union and Waterloo to the Y. M. C. I.

After a bath and rub down, the boys were in fine condition for refreshments served, including coffee donated by T. H. Eastbrooks, and a programme of music, Miss Vera Campbell setting most acceptably as accompanist.

Will Enforce Rules

Notice Sent Out by Belgian Olympic Committee.

New York, April 15.—Late reports from Belgium indicate that the Olympic Games eligibility rules, always strictly enforced in past Olympiads, will be observed to the letter in the international meet at Antwerp next summer. The slightest infraction in the status of an athlete is sufficient to bar him from the games, according to Frederiek W. Heines, secretary of the American Olympic committee.

The rules are as follows:

Admission—Only amateur athletes to be admitted to the Olympic games. "Necessary condition required for the representation of any given country—it is necessary to be a native of any given country or a naturalized citizen of same or of the sovereign power to which said nation forms a part."

"Whoever has taken part in any Olympic games as a citizen of any given nation cannot be admitted in any future Olympiad as a candidate for any other nation, even if he has been naturalized in that country, save and excepting cases of conquest or the creation of fresh states, duly ratified by treaty."

"In case of naturalization, the naturalized subject must supply adequate proofs that he was an amateur in his native country up to the time of his change of nationality."

$5.00 the Set

The man who usually chooses a heavier hammer or a thicker pen will extend a glad hand to the new Gillette "Big Fellow". It is thicker and weightier in the handle than either the Standard or the Bulldog Gillette Safety Razor, and it seems more at home in a muscular grip.

The illustrations give a fair idea of the size of the Big Fellow, but note that the head, while heavier, takes the standard Gillette Blade.

The case of polished Gum Wood—mitre-cornered, waterproofed, and very compact—is a worthy companion to the "Big Fellow".

The set includes twelve blades, double-edged—the kind that abolished Stropping and Honing for all particular shavers.

Ask some good dealer to show you the "Big Fellow". If he hasn't it in stock, he can get it for you.

Bankruptcy Act Has Been Prepared

Excellent Summary of the Salient Features for Business Who is Too Busy to Read Act in Its Entirety.

The following resume of the Bankruptcy Act has been prepared by N. L. Martin, chartered accountant, 73 King street, Toronto, and secretary of the Canadian Paper Trade Association. It is an excellent summary of the salient features of the Act and will be read with interest by the business man who is too busy to wade through the act in its entirety.

The new Bankruptcy Act passed by the Dominion Parliament is to come into effect on the July 1 next. The Act applies to all corporations, with the exception of banks, railways, trust and insurance companies and to all persons except farmers and wage-earners earning less than fifteen hundred dollars per year.

It provides that an insolvent debtor may make to an authorized trustee an assignment of all his property for the general benefit of his creditors.

It provides that a creditor, or several creditors together, having a claim of five hundred dollars or more, and knowing a debtor to be insolvent and unable to collect his account, may apply to the court to have the debtor adjudged a bankrupt. The circumstances of the case will be passed upon by the court. The court may dismiss the petition of the creditor, may stay the proceedings, or may grant an order, as the circumstances warrant.

It provides that a debtor who has made an assignment shall be known as "an assignor"; a debtor who has been forced into bankruptcy by his creditors shall be known as a "bankrupt."

It provides for the discharge of an honest debtor who has turned over his assets for the benefit of his creditors.

The Act is designed to provide a uniform law throughout the Dominion, to make proceedings quick and cheap, to abolish preferential creditor abuses, and provide for the discharge of the honest debtor.

Trustees.

Trustees shall be known as "authorized trustees," and shall be appointed by the Governor-in-Council. All authorized trustees must furnish general bond before acting as such, and provide special bonds in each estate, unless relieved by vote of the creditors. The creditors pass from trustee to trustee, and shall vest in another.

On a receiving order being made against a debtor, the property of the debtor shall forthwith pass to, and vest in, the trustee named therein, and in case of change of trustee, shall pass from trustee to trustee, and shall vest in the trustee for the time being during his continuance in office without any conveyance, assignment or transfer whatever.

A trustee may carry on the business of a debtor so far as may be necessary for the beneficial winding up of the estate, and may incur obligations and make advances for such purposes.

No trustee shall deposit any sum of money received by him as trustee into his private banking account.

Trustees may retain the lease or may disclaim same, and may assign the lease or sublet the premises for the unexpired term.

Rent is preferred in an amount not exceeding the rating of the distrainable assets, and not exceeding three months accrued due prior to the assignment, plus the cost of distress, of any.

Accrued rent under leases shall rank upon the estate as an ordinary creditor, but not more than for three months.

Trustees shall have power to sell patented articles without being bound by any restrictions, such as may apply to ordinary traders.

Trustees may pay dividends promptly, not later than six months, and earlier, if required by the inspectors, and thereafter when sufficient money is on hand to pay 10 per cent.

Unclaimed dividends shall be deposited with the Minister of Finance. The remuneration of trustees is limited to 5 per cent. of the cash receipts.

Inspectors' fees are done away with, only their out-of-pocket expenses being allowed.

Any person who is not being a trustee, advertises or represents himself to be such; or, being an authorized trustee, either before providing the bond required, or after providing the same, but at any time, while the said bond is not in force, acts as or exercises in any of the powers of an authorized trustee; or, having been appointed an authorized trustee, fails to observe or to perform any of the provisions of the Act, or fails duly to observe or perform any act or duty which he may be ordered to do, observe or perform by the Court, pursuant to any of the provisions of the Act, shall be guilty of an indictable offence, and liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or to a term not exceeding two years imprisonment, or to both such fine and such imprisonment.

Creditors.

A creditor who maliciously endeavours to force a debtor into bankruptcy shall be liable to a fine of one thousand dollars or two years imprisonment, or both.

Secured creditors, in cases where the trustee elects to take over the security at the valuation placed upon it by the creditors, shall not be entitled as herebefore, to an extra 10 per cent.

A provision for ratifying compositions and compelling minority creditors to accept the will of the majority, providing the same is approved by the Court.

Claims by husband or wife for wages, money or other property lent to the debtor shall not be entitled to claim upon the estate until all the creditors have been paid in full.

Claims for wages, exceeding three months, by father, son, daughter, mother, brother, sister, uncle or aunt shall not be allowed until all other claims have been paid.

No officer, director or shareholder of an insolvent corporation shall be entitled to claim wages exceeding three months until all other claims have been paid.

Debtors.

A debtor who has made an assignment shall be known as "an assignor," a debtor who has been forced into bankruptcy by his creditors shall be known as "a bankrupt."

The debtor must attend the first meeting of his creditors for the purposes of examination and giving information.

The debtor must give an inventory of his property, a list of his creditors and his debtors, and do everything to assist the trustee in winding up the estate. If the debtor fails to perform the duties thus imposed upon him he shall be guilty of contempt of court and may be punished.

Fraudulent preferences given within three months preceding an assignment may be set aside.

Assignment of book debts, unless registered in accordance with provincial statute, shall be void as against trustee.

All settlements made by debtors within one year previous to an assignment, except in good faith and for valuable consideration, shall be void as against the trustee, and shall be void within five years previous to such assignment, unless it can be shown that the debtor was unable to pay his debts in full without aid of the property assigned.

All marriage contracts for the future payment of money to the wife, or husband, or children of the debtor, where the debtor had not at the date of the marriage any estate or interest in the property assigned, shall be postponed until all claims of other creditors have been satisfied, unless the contract has been executed previous to the assignment, and even if executed, shall be void if the payment or transfer were made within six months of the assignment.

Other Provisions.

Banks must notify the trustee of the existence of any balances standing to the credit of the debtor.

Unliquidated damages arising otherwise than by reason of a contract, promise or breach of trust shall not be provable.

An undischarged bankrupt may not obtain credit to the extent of fifty dollars or upwards from any person without informing that person that he is an undischarged bankrupt under the penalty of a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or one year's imprisonment, or both, or if he enters into any business under a name other than that of which he was adjudicated a bankrupt without making such disclosure.

If a person having been adjudged a bankrupt and re-entering business fails to keep proper books of account he shall be liable to a fine of one thousand dollars and to one year's imprisonment.

Proper books of account are defined as such books as are necessary to exhibit or explain the transactions and financial position of a trade or business, including a book containing entries from day to day in sufficient detail of all cash received and paid, as well as an account of all goods sold and purchased and statements of annual and other stocktaking.

Certain amendments to this Act will be submitted to Parliament at this present session, but these amendments will only affect minor details. The Act, applying as it does to all Canada, will supersede the present Dominion Winding Up Act and all provincial legislation with regard to bankruptcy, and will thus provide a uniform law for all Canada. It is at once the most satisfactory, expeditious and economical banking legislation in the English-speaking world.

INDIAN SEARCHING FOR HIS FAMILY

Cherokee Who Spent Seventeen Years in Prison Looking for Wife and Child.

Muskogee, Okla., April 14.—Jack Teekahlanneesky, brave of the Cherokee tribe, is searching the Oklahoma hills for his squaw and his child. Teekahlanneesky last saw the pair between the bars in the end window of "Ten Spot," the prison car that carried him from Winita to Leavenworth seventeen years ago, to begin a life term for a killing that white men said was murder.

The Night Hawks were Cherokees, sworn to resist the whole invasion with their lives. Wolf, a Cherokee too, helped white men against his brothers. The Night Hawks drew lots. Teekahlanneesky took the short straw from the medicine men's hand. Wolf was killed by two bullets and the trial of Teekahlanneesky in the Federal District Court was brief.

A white man told of the creed of the Night Hawks with a passion Teekahlanneesky might have understood, he didn't hang upon the prairie he had sworn to keep free of white men's horses.

Instead they looked him up for the rest of his life.

President Wilson pardoned Teekahlanneesky. The brave came to Muskogee, stayed one night and disappeared into the Spavinaw hills, in the eastern part of the State, to search for his squaw and child.
