KEMP CAME HOME TO PRESENT FACTS REGARDING SHIPS

INVESTIGATES POSSIBILITIES FOR TRADE WITH CHINA

Canada's Trade Commissioner, J. W. Ross is in The City. Apparently Few Local Products Which Could be Imported by China.

Canada's Trade Commissioner to China, Mr. J. W. Ross, is in the city on a trip of investigation of the possibilities of export trade with the Oriental country for some of the city's manufacturers. He arrived here last evening and will remain until tomorrow.

In conversation with the official this morning enquiring as to the possibilities for local industries in the field in China was made. Mr. Ross while he has yet not made the necessary investigation stated that he had so far learned that apparently there are few industries in this city which manufacture goods which China has to import.

"The principal products which she imports are iron and steel goods, nails, hardware, enamelware, and many things which are used in construction," he remarked. As to boots and shoes he stated that China manufactures a cloth shoe which is commonly worn by her people; Japan manufactures a higher grade leather kind from which she secured a supply and that also many sandals are worn by the people.

The only opening there might be was for shoe soles.

After an interesting conversation the visitor produced a list of products which China had to import. It was a long list. Among them were the following goods manufactured in this city: auto parts, candies, and chocolates. Enquiry as to whether this did not indicate that there might be an opening for the tire trade with China, the fact was pointed out that American tire manufacturers are in a position to outdo in China Canadian tire makers in competition. And in regard to the others mentioned, chocolates and candies, the possibilities for these were going to be investigated by the official as well as many others. This morning and afternoon he was shown about some of the manufacturing plants and met some of the prominent manufacturers. After an investigation it is quite possible that several openings after all will be revealed for the benefit of local manufacturers.

Mr. Ross has been the commissioner in China for fifteen years. He arrived here on his last journey on April 1st. He is now touring the country in order to learn the conditions and to make openings for export

FEDERAL INTERFERENCE WITH MUNICIPAL RIGHTS

PROPOSES TO OVERRIE AGREEMENTS

(Special To The Record.)

TORONTO, May 9.—"It is another instance of the federal government interfering with provincial and municipal rights," said Sir Adam Beck, when asked his opinion on the action of the Railway Committee of the federal house, which proposes to give the Railway Board power to override agreements regarding rates existing between municipalities and railway companies holding Dominion charters.

"This will nullify all agreements as to rates existing between municipalities and such companies as the Burlington Radial company. What right has the Dominion government to interfere in this matter? It is another example of what they are doing continually. What concern of the people of Canada as a whole is an agreement between a railway and a municipality, regarding rates? With the sanction of the Railway Board they can now raise the rates as high as they like. It is unjustifiable."

Sir Adam also pointed out that this proposed change would not affect agreements with companies holding only provincial charters, such as the Toronto Street Railway.

REGINA, VISITED BY IND. RELS. COM'N FOUND RADICAL

INDORSED O-B-U. PROPOSAL

(Special To The Record.)

REGINA, Sask., May 9.—(By Main Johnson)—Although Regina is an administrative and distribution center, rather than industrial city, these workers who are here, are, to judge from evidence submitted to the Industrial Relations Commission, radical in their views. They showed hostility towards cooperation with capital, as strong if not stronger than in Calgary, and different from the average attained in Edmonton and Saskatoon. Theoretically their views almost resembled those expressed at the Coast, although, in fact, conditions here are infinitely better. They also rather suspected ulterior motives in the inquiry.

Probably because it is not the head office of the company, neither employer nor employees were present to speak for Imperial Oil Company, Regina's largest plant, employing 500 men. The company is inaugurating locally the plan of cooperation and benefits, as it is doing in the East. The commission of Regina include machine shops, cash and door factory and building trades. As for distribution, the Eatons and Simpsons have large establishments, and this is also one of chief centers for implement houses. There is one strike in progress now, that of the carpenters.

A vote will now be taken by the Trades and Labor Council on a general sympathetic strike. At a meeting held last week, the trades and labor council by an overwhelming majority, decided in favor of the one-day strike, as contrasted with the present international craft system. A referendum in individual unions now being taken.

Except for the striking carpenters, there seems to be little unemployment, less than anywhere else visited by the commission up to date. T. M. Mulvey, provincial labor commissioner for Saskatchewan, gave figures for the whole province, showing that at the end of April, 1900 people who had no employment were registered at his office. These he said were people who wanted a particular kind of work. In other classes of employment there was room for about 1,500 workers.

Regina yesterday appeared more cheerful than any other western city. Its people are well dressed, and there was aboard an air of light heartedness. Huge crowds, led by a long automobile procession, were proceeding to the park to see the opening of the western Canada baseball league, and as the notices said, "to chase away the clouds of the last four years."

Yesterday morning a detachment of Regina men reached the city from Siberia and were visiting a war veteran, as in their heavy, broad-striped woolen jackets, they marched through the sunny streets, to the sound of sprightly music. Officially, however, in determination before the commission, did not reflect this optimism of the streets.

AUSTRIA TO LOSE ITS NAVY.

MONTH MAY ELAPSE BEFORE PEACE PACT IS COMPLETED

GERMAN GOVERNMENT MAY ASK CHANGES

PARIS, May 9.—It is generally believed that the German Government will answer the delivery of the treaty of peace by proposals relative to certain phases of the document. A competent commission will examine the German Government's answer and if modifications are necessary, the German Assembly will be notified.

It is expected that in this rejoinder, the enemy will be allowed four or five days to agree definitely to the whole treaty. It is therefore probable that from twenty-five to thirty days will elapse before the pact is finally signed.

DIVIDED IN THEIR VIEWS.

PARIS, May 9.—German delegates to the peace congress are considerably divided among themselves, in their views on the peace terms submitted by the allied and associated powers. It was intimated today by British authorities, a Reuter statement says.

LIFE SAVING HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

IN TORONTO FIRE, TODAY.

(Special To The Record.)

TORONTO, May 9.—At nine o'clock this morning, flames burst through the roof of the life-saving station at the Eastern Gap. Fifteen minutes later the whole building was in a mass of flames, the fire belching forth through the roof, doors and windows. There seemed to be little chance of anything being saved.

As soon as the fire was discovered the Marie and Henrietta, tugs of the Canadian Steamship Co., moored at wharfs a short distance away from the fire, sailed out to sea and the crew tried to stem the fire. The building is likely to be a total loss and for a time at least the old familiar building, which was the first to be seen by those coming across the lake, has disappeared. The loss will reach many thousands of dollars. Much valuable equipment was inside the building.

CONSPIRACY TO GET SAILORS TO MUTINY.

LONDON, May 9.—A conspiracy to induce British sailors to mutiny and soldiers to desert themselves, by marching out of their barracks, has been discovered, according to the Daily Mail. The premises of various persons have been searched and documents seized.

Jurisdiction this matter falls today the sheriff stated that until this matter had been completely cleared up and he was able to secure three men who were willing to take on the work, the guarding would be done by the guards at the jail and during the night by the one night watch now appointed. The sheriff considers that this system of guarding the prisoners will be found adequate to prevent his duplicating his escape.

"My relations with McCullough terminated when he went away," said Rev. R.N. Nelles former spiritual advisor to McCullough who had visited McCullough many times prior to his escape on April 15. "The appointment was made by a number of considerations connected with the work and until I have fully taken the matter under my consideration I should not care to say. Eventually I may have something to say."

"McCullough, in some of his previous letters, professed to be a married man but he then endeavored to evade his sentence," said the reporter.

"I think almost any man would make an effort for his freedom," concluded Mr. Nelles.

CEMETERY BEING TAMPERED WITH

At the Park Board meeting held on Wednesday evening the matter was brought up that lately tombstones were being wilfully mutilated and flowers that were placed on graves following the burial ceremony were taken away after the mourners and others had left the cemetery. The Board were indignant at vandalism of this kind and have decided to take the necessary steps to see that it is not repeated and, if the practice is not stopped at once the guilty parties if found out will be severely dealt with.

Cemeteries are held sacred for the dead. Any person going into a cemetery should do so with reverence, and if all reports are true the place has been made anything but what it is intended for. The Board are striving to make it a beauty spot, a place where the relatives can commune in silence with their departed ones and with this in mind the Board will carry out the idea for which it is to be used. The breaking of tombstones is pure destructiveness and will not be tolerated for a minute. At present there are no restrictions as to when parties, whether having any business or not, can visit the cemetery but, it would not be surprising were the Board to set an hour in the evening when the place would be closed to the public. This will not be necessary providing the above mentioned practices are not continued.

Miss Lorraine Conrad and Miss Ruth Bechtel left this afternoon for Sebringville, where they will be the guests of the Misses Erb of that place.

NEWSPRINT INQUIRY AT FORT FRANCIS

Company Diverting Overplus of Power

TO MILLS ON AMERICAN SIDE

(Special to The Record)

OTTAWA, May 9.—Mr. Thomas L. Philip for the Fort Francis mills, which are accused of diverting power generated in Canada to the United States to a greater extent than the law allows, thereby increasing the cost of paper manufacture on the Canadian side, put Engineer O. S. Zelner of that print inquiry, by Commissioner ringling, to prove that in 1918 an average of slightly more than 4,000 horsepower was retained for use in Canada.

Mr. Philip produced an agreement between the company and the Crown to the effect that 4,000 should be thus retained, but Mr. W. N. Tilley for the publishers, contended that other statutes provide that there shall be a fifty-fifty division, with a surplus of 1000 kept on the Canadian side.

"We admit that more than half the power went to the States. There will be no dispute about that," said Mr. Philip.

Commissioner Pringle remarked that the Fort Francis mill, according to Auditor Clark's figures, had made a profit of 15.61 per cent. on newsprint in the July-November period, without allowing for cost deductions claimed by the publishers and had made an average of $8.72 from March

Sergt. W. A. Sterling, M.S.M., son of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Sterling, returned home from overseas this morning on the 11.10 train. He was given an enthusiastic welcome. Sergt. Sterling enlisted in the Northwest at the commencement of the war. He looks fine and is enjoying good health.

Yesterday the new well on Morley street was connected up with an air compressor, the juice turned on the idea being to see just how much water the well would produce. The proper contrivances for measuring the flow were put in place and when the motor was started up a magnificent flow was the result. This morning according to the test between 450,000 and 500,000 gallons of water can be secured per day and when this well is connected up with the present system there will be ample water for all needs.

1917 to the end of Nov. 1918. When Mr. Dahlberg still contended that the price allowed the Fort Francis mill is too low, the Commissioner remarked: "Well it's a good thing you have got the Appellate tribunal to go to then."

Government Auditor G. T. Clarkson has figures which show that the diversion of Canada generated power to the United States mills increased the cost of manufacture at Fort Francis from $5.17 to $6.69 per ton of newsprint. Mr. Dahlberg would, however, only admit that the cost had been increased by $2.01, his claim being that the increase totalled $72,839 on 36,102 tons in eleven months of 1918.

Mr. Dahlberg pointed out that sulphite is not manufactured in this Canadian mill but imported from the mill across the boundary. If the mills were to be considered as separate units, this sulphite should be charged into Canadian costs at market price and not at cost as has been the case and such a method, he contended, would offset the decrease in costs which could have been obtained by using 50 per cent. of the power in Canada. The witness said that his company gets as much as $100 per ton for sulphite, which is made of screenings and "any refuse about the mill." "It is worth it too," he added.

Surplus sulphite not used in the mills and sold elsewhere, fetched $95 per ton in 1918 and cost only $51 but there is now no market for it.

ST. JEROMES' STUDENTS STAR IN A BIG SUCCESS "THE CALL"

A Tragedy Drama Impressively Rendered Before Crowded House. Repeat Performances Have to be Given.

Once more St. Jerome's students demonstrated that dramatic art which the citizens have enjoyed in on past occasions when they rendered a program. Last evening they excelled in "The Call," a tragedy drama in three acts. A crowded house was present and witnessed the performance at the college auditorium.

The play is one that has its moral value as well as its entertaining features and humor. The story depicts the results of an irreligious father thwarting the preference of his son and the wish of the mother that the young man study for the priesthood after the completion of his college studies. It shows that the father's bad turn in the life of her dear son down on the path of destruction and finally becomes a murderer condemned to die. It previously had cost the mother's life who worries over the bad turn in the life of her dear son. The father ultimately, however, when he realizes the results of his action, repents and becomes a Christian, devoted to the faith.

In the rendering of the program the students did justice to the drama. Judging by past performances and the success of Prof. H. J. Jack Deane son, bygone years with all castes which he directed this was to be expected. Generally speaking the whole personnel did commendably. PTE. H. S. OSTELL WAS INJURED

Particulars not Available

The following telegram was received by Mr. John J. Ostell this morning, regarding his son, which has caused speculation and surprise:

1375 Sincerely regret inform you 751500 Private H. Smith Ostell missing; Machine Gun Corps officially reported admitted 32 Stationary hospital April 23 of gunshot wound foreigner."

Director of Records.

As to where the fighting at this late date took place it would be interesting to know. This morning Mr. Bert Ostell was seen, he expressed the opinion that his brother must have been injured in some riots in Germany where he was with the army of occupation. And yet about a week ago a letter was received by a member of the family from Belgium written by him. In that letter he expected to be home by June. The wording of the telegram is obscure insofar that he is reported missing and also states he is in the hospital.

In connection with this incident it might be stated that a brother-in-law returned to the city some time ago, Corporal Jack Britton who had been in service for nearly four and a half years. He enlisted with the 34th battalion in 1915 with Private Bert Ostell. He was wounded twice. Bert as is known also received his scratches in the big fight but is as spruce and active as ever.

interpretation. Of all music, sacred music is the most lasting. There is something in it that one never tires of hearing and so fine was that of "The Holy City" last night that those who were unable to be present missed a rare treat indeed.

The Choir of the Church acquitted themselves well. There is that volume especially in the forte, passages that cannot help but carry one along. Their phrasing was beautiful the passages being very marked and their full power was especially noticeable in crescendo passages the climax being well worked up.

The production was a credit to the members and to their instructor and it will bear repetition in the very near future.

The choir were assisted by Mr. Harry Webster of London who delighted the audience with his masterly rendering of the difficult solo parts besides assisting greatly in the chorous work.

Mr. Gibson was seven years in the Merchants Bank here, and has been connected with the Merchants for seventeen years, and is well fitted in every way for his new position.

CARELESS SHAMPOOING SPOILS THE HAIR.

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary multifid coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teapoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get multifid coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

BELLEVILLE, May 8.—Under the auspices of the Ontario Railway Association a meeting of more than 100 representatives of municipalities from Cobourg east to Kingston, was held here today in the interest of radial railways. Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, addressed the gathering, which was presided over by Mayor Platt.

Letters to NewsRecord

ANOTHER OPINION ON DEMOCRACY
Editor, News Record:

Your readers have waited in vain for Mr. John F. MacKay's letter on democracy as it pertains to booze. It is not unlikely that this wait will continue indefinitely for the specific reason that democracy and booze are incompatible—they do not mix. In his two efforts on the question Mr. MacKay has exhibited a desultory rambling, a sidestepping of the real issue, an indulgence in a vague sort of personalities, and a few far fetched conclusions without any proof therefore. His finale always promises more light on the subject. Here's hoping.

In contrast to such mundane efforts let us again quote ex-president W. H. Taft of the U.S.A. Mr. Taft is one of this continent's greatest constitutional lawyers and brings to bear upon the subject a trained mind, an extensive and varied experience, and an observation extending over many years of his own life in his own sensitive, progressive native country. He says, "The people have spoken. This is democracy. The amendment has been adopted and with all good citizens, I am strongly in favor of the enactment of the most practical laws to secure the rigid enforcement of the declarations of the amendment. This is the duty of every citizen in a democracy. A citizen who is in favor of the enforcement of only the laws for which he has voted, and in the principle and wisdom of which he agrees, is not a law abiding citizen of a democracy. He is something of an autocrat. He is willing to govern but not to be governed. He is not willing to play the game according to the rules of the game."

As in 1894 and again in 1902 the people of Ontario spoke in no uncertain terms condemning the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. It is quite evident then that the minority ruled in Ontario for these last twenty-five years and it is about time the principles of democracy were asserted. The people of Ontario have but two alternatives—the abject surrender of their inherent right of self government or the national annihilation of the liquor traffic. Between such a choice free men cannot hesitate.

From time immemorial leaders of men have been strong exponents of absolute prohibition of the demoralizing traffic in alcoholic beverages. In Herodotus; Lycurgus, the Spartan law giver; Solon; Confucius; Zoroaster; Pythagoras; Moses and Mahomet were all total abstinents from intoxicating liquors and enjoined this principle upon their followers. From St. Paul, St. Augustine, St. Francis of Assisi, Martin Luther, and John Wesley have come the strongest denunciations against allowing the traffic in any civilized state.

But the democracies of the nineteenth century have greatly extended total abstinence among all classes of people and attacked the trafficking menace by more vital methods. Everywhere now the youth are trained in total abstinence, not anymore by voluntary organizations but by order of and at the expense of the public educational systems. To-day the medical profession as a body are exceedingly active in their propaganda against the use of intoxicants. Science consistently condemns alcohol as its beverage. Labor leaders and the heads of large industrial concerns unite in their endeavor to encourage abstinence in the interest of the individuals concerned and also for the general advancement of industry and national well being. In the scientific, political and religious life of the people it has been repeatedly proven that intoxicants are a hindrance to all advancement, while total abstinence is recognized as a sure sign of progress and stability. To-day national leaders everywhere have adopted total abstinence as a principle of life and have derived enormous advantage therefrom. All these facts are well known. They cannot be refuted, and yet in the face of all this and much more that could be said, Mr. MacKay wants to raise his weak argument backed by his own weak and rambling conjectures against the overwhelming odds. As well try and champion the traffic in human flesh and blood; highway robbery, brigandage, polygamy, absinth, opium et al. Their day is gone; so also is booze.

The question naturally rises—why this intense loyalty and subservience to the liquor interests that conspire against everything good? Let Mr. MacKay tell us without any verbose flow of words on non essential side issues why he camouflages the millstone of booze with the principle of personal liberty.

Mr. MacKay should know if he knows anything about democracy and personal liberty that men and women living in a civilized state of society and enjoying its benefits and advantages must pay for it by a surrender of many of their predilections for the welfare of society.

Gen. Booth put it tersely "Others." Our Motherland in her Bill of Rights declares it thusly "Government is constituted for the protection, safety, prosperity and happiness of the people, and not for the profit of private interests of any one man, family or class of men." All the foremost nations of the world have copied and declared those same terms—Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The personal liberty advocated by Mr. MacKay's type of democracy is pure selfishness and its resultant end is too well known. It has often been exhibited in drunken brawls that immediately end in the police court, and destined a train of crime, pauperism, insanity, suicide, murder, premature death and economic waste. Nobody wants it. It is not democracy or personal liberty. Personal liberty and democracy stand for the duty of good citizens in every country to see that no evil is permitted to continue which undermines the home, makes void the work of educational forces and mitigates against the physical and moral well being and industrial prosperity of the people.

The liquor traffic is the direct antithesis of personal liberty and democracy in that it is widely admitted to produce just such an evil effect. Therefore it most needs be the duty of every patriot to use his influence and citizenship to apply the final and complete remedy, viz., nation-wide and international prohibition of the traffic in intoxicants. All for the good of the nation and home. W. A. Brauer, U.S.A. (1913) puts the whole matter in a nutshell thusly:

"We are living in an age of altruism, the greatest word in our vocabulary is 'Brotherhood' It is reaching out toward the common good of all men. We are learning that every man is his brother's brother. That manhood is worth more than money; that the greatest wealth of a nation consists, not in material things, but in a clean, noble and efficient citizenship, and that Government should give its protection to no traffic that injures or destroys its citizens."

It may interest Mr. MacKay to learn what the leaders of the opposition to prohibition have to say. A careful study of the following, a part of a leading editorial in the National Liquor Dealers' Journal September 10, 1913, should inspire every enemy of the liquor business with a spirit of confidence concerning the wisdom of the strong fight waged by democracy loving people for their rights.

"Ultimately all questions must be settled by moral standards; saved in this way can mankind be saved from self-effacement. The liquor traffic cannot save itself by declaring the government is incapable of coping with the problem it presents; when the people decide that it must go, it will be banished. We are not discussing the benefit of justice of prohibition; but its possibility, and its probability in present circumstances. To us there is 'The handwriting on the wall,' and its interpretation spells doom. For this liquor business is to blame. It seems incapable of learning any lesson of advancement, or any motive but profit. To perpetuate itself, it has formed alliances with the slums that repel all conscientious and patriotic citizens. It deliberately aids the most corrupt political powers, and backs with all its resources the most unworthy men, the most corrupt and recreant officials. It does not aid the purification of municipal, State or national administration. Why? Because it has to ask immunity for its own lawlessness. That this condition is inherently and inevitably necessary we do not believe, but it has come to be a fact, and the public which is to pass on the matter in its final analysis believe anything but that anybody can tell it of the liquor business. Why? Let the leaders of the trade answer. Other lines of business may be as bad, or even worse, but it is not so plainly in evidence. The case of the liquor traffic is called for adjudication by the American people and must be ready for trial. Other cases may be called later, but the one before the court cannot be postponed. But, as in the past, the men most concerned are playing for postponement, not for acquittal. Is it because they fear the weakness of their defense that they fear to go on trial? Looking the facts in the face is best. There are billions of property involved, and an industry of great employing and taxpaying ability; but when the people decide that the truth is being told about the alcoholic liquor trade, the money value will not count, for conscience aroused puts the value of a man above other things."

We will be pleased to have Mr. MacKay criticize these arguments. We are ready to defend them but as far as foolish personalities, we say—taboo.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, for the use of this valuable space, I am Sincerely yours, Edgar D. Heist.

THE HOUSING QUESTION

All thoughtful men are convinced that there is, in this city, a serious shortage of houses. Three quarters of the number who heard Director Ellis explain the principle and scope of the new Housing Act, are satisfied that this community would be well-advised were it to adopt the Act.

Mixing with those who find objections to its adoption, we find the apprehension existing that trade may, after peace is signed, drop off and a period of dullness follow. These argue that were this to ensue, there would be no need of additional houses.

It is difficult to accept the view that a business depression will follow the signing of peace. The nations which have been at war since November last been turning their energies to peace undertakings. This could not be fully done until the treaty was signed. When it is, there will be a deal of reconstruction work to be done and Canada will be asked to supply large quantities of materials and commodities. The amount of export trade transactable with Europe will be gauged by Canada's ability to furnish credits.

As far as this community is concerned, may we not take the actions of our larger firms, as a barometer? Capital is proverbially timid. Did it believe that there would be a year or two of slackness, not a dollar would presently go into extensions. They would shorten sail, until the sale expanded itself.

Is there a firm that is taking in sail? Not to our knowledge. On the contrary there are numerous instances where industries are enlarging their premises and outputs. In several instances these would expand still more, were mechanics available. Where expansion of plants is being made, it is of necessity, since building costs were never before so high.

While it is conceivable that within a twelvemonth there might be a few months of quietness, there are many indications that Canada is on the eve of a longer and greater period of prosperous development than it has ever experienced. History attests that countries victorious in war, afterwards experienced several decades of growth and expansion.

Canada will not for some years encourage immigration. It will encourage farmers but not mechanics to come in. As we see it, nothing less than a crop failure can retard the country's industrial activity.

Again, the British preference on certain Canadian goods will act as a magnet to draw branches of American factories to Canada.

Let us return to a consideration of the Housing Act. Ours is a practical people. They would not desire the city council to appoint a Housing Commission that would rush up a big list of houses for everyone who applied. But, having had the Act explained and the point clinched that the number of applicants to receive houses can be limited to responsible persons, there should be no misgivings.

Having witnessed the electorate endorse Hydro power and Hydro radials, purchase the street railway and undertake other municipal enterprises, the Record is convinced that it is not a lack of enterprise that is proving the stumbling block. Instead it is a desire to proceed wisely and carefully.

The merit of the Housing Act, as explained by Mr. Ellis is that it need not be adopted in its entirety. The council can confine operations to building houses for those who either own a lot or have saved enough to be able to pay 15 per cent. of the cost of house and lot when completed.

This much would be safe and make it humanly certain that the prospect would stick it out and pay for his home according to the agreement.

Since every house erected under the Act would be sold before being built, the erection of them would not injure general property values, as might be done were a large number of houses for rent erected.

No other suggested method of supplying the shortage of homes possesses the same merits. It furnishes money at 5 per cent.; stipulates that the houses shall be of a substantial character; sells these only to would-be owners, and enables them to buy a home with monthly instalments no greater than a rental.

Nowhere else can money be borrowed for this purpose at 5 per cent. Six and seven per cent. are ruling rates. The saving in interest alone to the mechanic will on a house erected under the Housing Act from $400 to $600.

The success of any public or private enterprise depends largely upon the men who head it. This city has a score of able and experienced men who would be willing to serve upon a Housing Commission and whose acceptance of office would be an assurance that their duties would be well-performed.

Careful commissioners would not attempt to build more than 25 or 30 houses the first season and would take every precaution to make certain that the buyers were responsible men.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS COMPANY

Parliament has taken an important step toward making a financial success of the railways the country now owns and may acquire, in placing their management into the hands of a commission or board of trustees. The Canadian National Railways will be incorporated as a company and the commissioners placed in a position where, freed from political influences, they can operate it as business enterprise.

Some M.P.'s wished control over finances to remain with the parliament of Canada and others pointed to the experience of the United States as a weighty argument against public ownership. These overlook the point that the United States has not acquired a single mile of railway. All that government has done was, during the past two years, to assume control of all the railways in the republic.

There is a wide difference between control and ownership. Under control their railway systems were coordinated for war services and duplication of services reduced. The giant war task before them justified concerted effort. Had control not been taken and the systems temporarily unified, the railways would have broken down under the strain. Uncle Sam had to foot a big bill but reaching the desired goal justified the procedure.

When viewing their experience, it should be borne in mind that every railway system there expected that the roads would be handed back to their owners after the war and seized the opportunity to have their railways bettered while their government controlled them. Numerous railway heads acted as though they did not desire to see their government demonstrate that public ownership should follow public control. There was much passive resistance.

The situations there and here are not identical. Every privately owned railway in Canada, with the exception of the C.P.R., has financially gone to pot. The public of Canada has become wearied of the process of shovelling money into the coffers of weak railways. Yet it was obligatory to continue this or adopt the alternative of acquiring them. Canada has through its representatives made a virtue of necessity.

While the people of the Dominion as a whole favored the acquisition of the C.N.R. and would acquire the G.T.R., later to be followed by a unification of these with the Intercolonial and National Transcontinental, the majority are opposed to their operation by a federal department or committee. These have seen how politics bedevilled the Intercolonial, making of it a vote-catching device.

Governments change too frequently to allow of M.P.'s successfully operating a railway system. Any riding having a section of government railway expects favors and its member, if he values votes, feels he may not refuse favors to his constituents, even though these be inimical to the public interest. His supporters are more keen to get favors than the member is to grant them.

Even were there only a branch railway which had passed into the country's possession, it would be advisable to take it out of politics. As the situation stands to-day, Canada has 11,400 miles and will, when the G.T.R. is acquired, have 6,400 additional miles of railway. The situation calls for not only freedom from political influence, but, for its management, ability of the highest order.

Had parliament retained control over these publicly-owned railways, the selection of managers on merit would have been a difficult matter. Political favoritism would probably have found entry, and "good fellows" usurped places requiring absolutely capable "fellows."

In supporting the plan to place these publicly-owned railways under a competent, impartial and independent commission, Sir Thomas White pointed to the Hydro-Electric undertaking and declared that it is under Adam Beck, the greatest example of public ownership. He proposes to administer the publicly-owned railways in a similar manner.

Given equally good management as that obtaining on the Hydro-Electric Commission, these state-owned railways will, within a reasonable period of time, become not only self sustaining, but a profitable enterprise. Get the right class of men, free them from political interference and the results will be satisfactory.

Extracts of Exchange

PEACE

Addressing the British House of Commons, Hon. Winston Churchill, Secretary of War, expressed his views on Peace with Germany, as follows:

"Peace, put at its very lowest, means a state of affairs where certain common interests are recognized, where the beaten side, having taken their beating and having paid their forfeit—that is a matter which must be attended to, may still have a chance of life, and have a chance for the future and some means of atonement. I do not think we can afford to carry on this quarrel, with all its apparatus of hatred, indefinitely. I do not think the structure of the civilized world is strong enough to stand the strain. With Russia on our hands in a state of utter ruin, with greater part of Europe on the brink of famine, with bankruptcy, anarchy, and revolution threatening the victor as well as the vanquished, we cannot afford to drive over to the Bolshevik camp the orderly and stable forces which now exist in the German democracy. All the information I receive from military sources indicates that Germany is very near collapse. All my military advisers, without exception, have warned me that the most vital step we ought to take immediately to secure victory is to feed Germany, to supply Germany with food and the raw materials necessary for them to resume their economic life.

"But the situation in Germany is grave. The Socialist Government of Scheidemann and Ebert and Nostke is tottering, and if it falls no one knows what will take its place. If Germany sinks into Bolshevik anarchy she will no doubt be skinned alive, and not only will there be no indemnity, but we shall ourselves be impoverished, and our trade revival will be paralysed by the increasing disorder and ruin of the world. I ask you not to let your eyes be blinded with false counsel. The policy which the Prime Minister has consistently pursued in Paris amid all the difficulties and turmoil of that tower of Babel has been clear and simple—to disarm Germany, to feed Germany, and to make peace with Germany. A way of atonement is open to Germany. By combating Bolshevism, by being the bulwark against it, Germany may take the first step toward ultimate reunion with the civilized world. I am sure the advice you would receive from those gifted soldiers who have conducted our armies to victory would be to feed Germany, to make Germany do her share in clearing up the mess and ruin her Imperialistic Government has caused, and to stand by meanwhile, with a strong British and Allied Army on the Rhine, to guard against foul play or any failure to comply with our just and reasonable demands.

"Very great perils still menace us in the world. Two mighty branches of the human race, the Slavs and the Teutons, are both plunged at the present time in the deepest misery. The Great Power which was our foe, and the Great Power which was our friend, are both in the pit of ruin and despair. It is extremely undesirable that they should come together. Germany is struggling against breaking down into Bolshevism. But if that were to happen it would produce reaction which it is no exaggeration to say would reach as far as China."

WAIT A MINUTE

"IN THE DAY'S NEWS"

Twenty-seven years ago to-day, in the Italian province of Lucca, was born a little princess who was destined to play in later years a unique role in the great European war drama. The little princess was Zita of Parma, who later was to become the Empress Zita of Austria. What a strange fate has been hers! From the quiet of a convent school at Zampert to the brilliant salons of Vienna, to the imperial throne and to the retreat in Switzerland, spans the career of this young woman of twenty-seven who began life as a member of a family long deprived of all semblance of royalty except the name, attained of her life in exile.

TO-DAY'S ANNIVERSARIES

1775—Jacob Brown, a Quaker farmer who became commander of the United States Army, born in Bucks County, Pa. Died in Washington, D.C., Feb. 24, 1828.

1810—John Brougham, celebrated actor, manager and author, born in Dublin. Died in New York City, Jan. 7, 1880.

1853—The first ocean steamer arrived at Quebec.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved line of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim that the body cells will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by A. J. Root in Kitchener and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nerve stress, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, put this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

Mothers!

Your little one won't smile
If its liver's full of bile.
Cascarets set things right
When kiddies' tongues turn white.
They bring relief and joy
To constipated girl and boy.
Children think them dandy—
They are mild cathartic candy.

Children gladly take Cascarets when cross, feverish, bilious, constipated, because Cascarets taste like candy. If your child has a tainted breath, coated tongue or a cold—give Cascarets as directed on each 10 cent box. Then don't worry. Cascarets work like a charm and can not harm the child's tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

The Easiest Way To Invest

Canada, following the example of other Allied countries, has made it possible for wage earners—men and women—to invest in safe securities without effort.

These securities are called War Savings Stamps.

The cost now $4.04, but by compounding interest, the $4.04 you invest now will be worth $5.00 in 1924. There is no other security in which you can invest such a small amount that is as safe and that bears so high a rate of interest.

Or you can start with 25 cents, by buying a Thrift Stamp. When you have sixteen Thrift Stamps, you can exchange them for a War Savings Stamp.

You take no risks. The Government of Canada guarantees to pay you back your money—with interest—at any time during the five years, or to pay you in 1924 $5.00 for every $4.00 (and a fraction) you invest now.

War Savings Stamps

NATIONAL KITCHENS. An Experiment That the English Women Are Trying

The English women have gained the vote, but political emancipation is not complete liberation, says a London correspondent of the New York Evening Post. Within the household itself there are disabilities and tyrannies from which she has still to be freed. For many enlightened persons have been crying out against the economic wastefulness of the tradition which requires each of twenty housewives living in twenty consecutive houses to spend several hours a day in cooking separate meals for her own family. A solution was the national or community kitchen.

The national kitchen, started as a temporary wartime expedient under the pressure of food scarcity, is likely to become a permanent institution.
Its benefits are too conspicuous for it to be allowed to pass away when more normal conditions return.

There is no need to tell the advantages of these kitchens. The most obvious are the large economies effected in food, fuel and labor. As compared with the middle class, or working class household, the national kitchen can buy to better profit can utilize expensive labor saving devices, can employ better skilled assistance, and can turn to good account "substitutes" which the ordinary housewife has not yet learned how to deal with. During the wheat shortage these kitchens, by encouraging the use of rice, barley, oatmeal, beans, lentils, swedes and onions, saved many people from an undue consumption of bread. No one can tell how great a boon the national kitchen has been to many a household where the mother has to be at work outside the home for several hours of the day.

The movement for the establishment of public kitchens began in the evening in 1917. The experiment was tried in various provincial towns and in the London, and gave such satisfactory results that it was officially sanctioned. At first, it had many suburban hindrances to overcome. Nothing but the hardships of the food situation would have enabled it to conquer the tenacity of the old habit and the prejudice which confronted it in so many quarters.

A reminder of the "soup kitchen,"
which used to dole out portions to the starving poor. There was accordingly in many families some apprehension lest respectability should be compromised by any dealings with it.
In many towns opposition was shown by the local authorities. It was publicly declared that it was a disgrace to the community to have such a place. Some critics of the scheme expressed an honest anxiety that it should encourage idleness.
They really believed that the housewife would have nothing to do if she had such a place.

referred to as valuable in itself that it soon gathered headway. In some places a national kitchen was established in private enterprise. A group of public spirited men and women formed themselves into a company, as shareholders, and ran the kitchen
as a business proposition. The more usual plan has been a combination of municipal, state and private effort. The Food Ministry has assisted a local committee by a grant of 25 per cent. of the cost of equipment, together with a further 25 per cent. on the running expenses. The local authorities have also provided the building, the rates or local taxes. This has left to private effort the responsibility of meeting the cost of initial stocks, the running costs, and the risk of a loss in the early days. As a rule, only the cooks and the kitchen staff are paid. The superintendence and serving are undertaken by voluntary helpers, many of them were Salvation Army and social workers of the neighborhood.

In school feeding
schemes, on a most useful preparation for the larger undertaking, as, for instance, in Bradford, where it had been shown that 10,000
meals could be cooked by the labor of one skilled cook and one baker,
with a few unskilled assistants.

to be the of plan to set up in each district, one central kitchen, from which several depots are supplied. The meals, as soon as cooked, are sent by motor transport to these depots,
where customers apply for them,
bringing their own jugs, basins, plates and other receptacles. At the New Bridge Street Depot in London for a small deposit containers can be had for taking meals to neighboring offices and stores. In some places, however, the central kitchen scheme does not work well, owing to the shortage of gasoline and drivers, and the consequent difficulty of getting a large number of meals delivered at several depots at about the same time of day.

"You hear?" says Seaton turning to Vera. "It was Grunch who betrayed you. You are satisfied now?"

"On that point, yes. I suppose I should offer you an apology," says she slyly. "But with a swift glance at his father how can I be satisfied when—"

Her voice breaks. "Sir," cries Seaton addressing his father with sudden passion "why did you speak to her of this? Grunch's malleous tongue is surely too well known to move you now to anger or hatred. Why have you deliberately insulted your brother's child?"

"There was no insult," the old man's clear voice is as calm, as unmoved, as though he were answering some ordinary question about the weather. "I may have told her as I tell you that if she chooses to do such things as society disapproves of, she must only submit to the consequences and consider herself ostracized."

"Compromised," you said. "Well, it is as good a word, you are welcome to it," replies he mildly, "but a flock of dust off the arm of his shabby coat with an unflinching air."

"I shall not permit her to believe that," says Seaton firmly. "The whole affair arose out of the purest accident; it might have happened to anybody."

"Quite so. I entirely agree with you, and then 'anybody' if a woman would have been in the room—I beg pardon, I believe compromised is the word you prefer."

"Pshaw," says Seaton, with a quick motion of the hand, as if flinging the idea far from him, "let us have no more of such petty scandal. You forget, surely, that when you seek to compromise Vera, you condemn me your son."

Dysart shrugs his shoulders. "The man is never in fault; so your world rules," says he lightly. "You persist, then, in your insult," says Seaton going a step nearer to him, the veins swelling in his forehead. "You still say that she—"

"I say that, and more," replies the old man, undaunted, a very demon of obstinacy having now taken possession of his breast. "I feel even bold enough to suggest to her the advisability of an immediate marriage with you, as a means of crushing in the scandal that is sure to arise out of her imprudence."

"Go, Vera, leave the room," says Seaton, with great emotion. "Why should she go? It seems to me you give her bad advice," says Mr. Dysart, looking from one to the other with a satirically friendly glance. "Let her rather stay and discuss with us your marriage with her."

If he had been so foolishly blind as to hope by this bold move to force Vera into an engagement, his expectations are now on the instant destroyed by his son. "Understand, once for all, that I shall not marry Vera," says he white with anger and some strong feeling that he is almost powerless to suppress. "Were she to come to me this moment, and lay her hand in mine, and say 'I will be willing so far to sacrifice myself, I should refuse to listen to her.'"

Vera, for the first time since her entrance, lifts her head to look at him. Was he thinking of Miss Butler? Was he true to her at last? A little bitter smile curls her lip. "I thank you," she says with a slight inclination of her head towards her cousin and with a swift step leaves the room.

CHAPTER XXX.
The worm of conscience still begins thy soul
As the last sound of her footsteps dies away in the hall Seaton once again faces his father. The shame, the humiliation has gone from his eyes, but in their place is an anger, so cold, so relentless, that the old man's heart, callous as it is, sinks within him.

"I have endured a good deal from you," says Seaton in dull measured tones "I have made up my mind, within the last half-hour, to endure no more. Honour must be dead with you, the affection you profess for me, mockery. I shall not submit to be your puppet any longer."

"My puppet? Say rather that I am yours," cries Dysart vehemently. "When I move, when I speak, is it not all to further your good?"

"Mine, mine? Was it for my good that you now grossly, unpardonably, hunt and insult that poor child whom relentless fortune has flung into your hands? Good Heavens, that you should breathe, and still have no power to feel the torture you inflict on others! Is it nothing to you that her delicate young soul should be seared and troubled, that all her childish trust and softness should be killed in her? Yet the long corrected harshness and indignity to which she has been subjected whilst under your roof has tended to that end. I for one refuse to stand by and see I am unable to help her; I shall at least spare myself the misery of seeing her deteriorate beneath your cruelty day by day." He moves towards the door.

"You mean that you go now, not to return?" With an indomitable will the elder man forces these words from between his fixed lips, with a calmness, a courage too, that would have been admirable in a better cause.

"You have understood," returns Seaton coldly. His hand has now reached the door, he has drawn it partly open. There is no sign of relenting in his face, and all at once Dysart's evil courage forsakes him, and an agonising pang contracts his breast. This his son is the sole thing life has left sweet unto him; his affection for his son the one pure stream that flows over the cumbered, embittered existence day by day, grows more unendurable to him. To let him go means eternal darkness.

Finian Red Guards are now masters of the situation at Petrograd.

That is the proportion of medicine contained in Zam-Buk, and that is why Zam-Buk's healing powers are so superior to ordinary ointments, which contain about 5 per cent. medicine and the balance animal fat.

Zam-Buk contains absolutely no animal fat or harsh mineral drugs, but is composed exclusively of extracts of medicinal plants and herbs and vegetable oils. These are so blended, refined and concentrated that they contain the maximum amount of soothing, antiseptic and healing power.

In addition to this, Zam-Buk has marvellous powers of penetration. It thus reaches and destroys all germs in the underlying tissues, leaving no trace of disease to break out again.

Zam-Buk is best for all skin diseases, ulcers, blood-poisoning, and piles. All dealers, 50c. box.

Stomach Troubles Are Due to Acidity

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are, in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as bisurated magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

HOW THIS NERVOUS WOMAN GOT WELL

Told by Herself. Her Sincerity Should Convince Others.

Christopher, Ill.—"For four years I suffered from irregularities, weakness, nervousness, and was in a run down condition. Two of our best doctors failed to do me any good. I heard so much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, I tried it and was cured. I am no longer nervous, am regular, and in excellent health. I believe the Compound will cure any female trouble."—Mrs. ALICE HERRICK, Christopher, Ill.

Nervousness is often a symptom of weakness or some functional derangement, which may be overcome by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as thousands of women have found by experience.

If complications exist, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions in regard to your ailment. The result of its long experience is at your service.

NUKOL STOCK AT 50 CENTS

Is recommended to you—Because—

THIS year's output of Nukol fuel is practically sold now, before being produced. This calculation is based on numerous daily requests, during the past 4 months, for Nukol fuel. Each unit of machinery recently purchased will turn out 10 tons of Nukol nuggets per hour at a good profit. Other units of machinery will be added as rapidly as required. This estimate of production is based on the calculations of our Technical Expert. His figures are based on production of fuel similar to Nukol in Pennsylvania. With Nukol selling so much cheaper than coal when coal this winter will be about $14, the market a tremendous with never a doubt about dividends. The first Nukol factory in Toronto is expected to be operating this summer. Other factories for other cities and towns in Ontario are planned. Nukol is the biggest thing in Canada today, it is the need of the hour—and the Investment Opportunity of the hour—For You.

Not Made of Garbage or Refuse. It Earns While It Burns. Made of Coal Dust, Black Loom, and Fuel Oil.

You will do well to act promptly and get Nukol stock now at 50 cents. The price has doubled during the past four months and will go to 75c—then $1—before long. A client who recently bought $5,000 of Nukol at 50c hesitated when Nukol stock could have been bought four months ago at 20c, costs money to hesitate. Don't hesitate. Nukol is proven beyond doubt to be a wonderful fuel. Get it now before the stock rises out of your reach. Call—phone or write—but don't put it off. Do it now.

You know that leather has been going steadily upwards and we have it on the authority of wholesalers that prices are going still higher. Here's your chance to stock up with shoes at less than present wholesale cost. At the prices we are quoting it will pay you to outfit the whole family with enough shoes to last a year or so. Died in Toronto.

The death occurred in Toronto

Met Local Members.

There was in the city yesterday
Miss E.D. Dunlop, the assistant editor of the Women's Century, the official organ of the National Council
of Women. While here Miss Dunlop
met a number of the members of the local Council with the hope of rejuven-ating the work here which like in many other places was held up in 1914 by the war. A conference was also held with a number of the teachers at which Miss Matthews presided. Like in all libraries the Women's Century has been placed on the tables in the local institution.

At present there are only four inmates at the County Jail, two serving time for fraud, one for infringement of
the O.T.A. and one awaiting trial
for shooting with intent to kill.

No Clue to Miscreants.

clue to the perpetrators.

NEW SYSTEM

--OF--

Profit Sharing

with our customers.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS AND THOSE WHO SHOULD BE:

We wish to announce that we have adopted a new profit sharing plan by which our customers will share in our profits.

The new plan is what is known as THE CASH SALES SYSTEM of profit sharing,
and is very simple.

Every customer spending a Dollar in our Store will receive a profit sharing card which will entitle the purchaser to at least 5 per cent. There are no strings to it, no obligation whatever on your part. All you have to do is to buy your Goods from us and take home the profit sharing Merchandise, samples of which are shown in our window.

Don't be backward in asking your friends to save these cards for you, if they are not already saving them for themselves. You will be surprised how soon they will count up.

Through this Profit Sharing Plan we hope to greatly increase our business and the greater the increase the greater the profits we'll be able to share with our customers.

You will find our prices the lowest obtainable, quality and service considered,
that can be purchased anywhere.

Drop into our store at any time and we will be only too pleased to explain further our PROFIT SHARING PLAN and at the same time show you the valuable PROFIT SHARING MERCHANDISE we are giving away free.

Yours very truly,

Some Rooster.

Mr. Abe Utley, who is some chicken fancier, has a rooster, of the Baron English Leghorn breed, that has started to crow, although the chick is only 7 weeks old. This is something unusual and Abe wonders if anyone can beat this.

Expected Home

Nursing Sister Clara Detweiler is expected home this evening from overseas. Her home is in Centerville.

Honored By Friends.

Miss Freda Doering, bride elect was pleasantly surprised at the home of Miss Lulu Axt by a number of her girl friends last evening and was made the recipient of a kitchen shower in view of her forthcoming nuptial event.
Doubtless to say Miss Doering appreciated this kindness on the part of her girl friends. The evening was spent in music and social intercourse
after which a dainty lunch was served.

Died in Toronto.

The death occurred in Toronto
on the morning of Wednesday, May 7th Norma, the one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Kressler of that city formerly of this city. The funeral was held in Toronto this morning
where interment also took place.

Met Local Members.

There was in the city yesterday
Miss E.D. Dunlop, the assistant editor of the Woman's Century, the official organ of the National Council
of Women. While here Miss Dunlop
met a number of the members of the
local Council with the hope of rejuven-
ating the work here which like in many
other places was held up in 1914 by
the war. A conference was also held
with a number of the teachers at which Miss Matthews presided. Like in all libraries the Woman's Century has
institutions.

At present there are only four inmates at the County Goal, two serving
time for fraud, one for infringement of
the O.T.A. and one awaiting trial
for shooting with intent to kill.

No Clue to Miscreants.

Burglars entering through the back window of a home on St. George Street Brantford, yesterday morning found Hey Wong residing there. They beat him until he became unconscious and when found several hours later he was rushed to the hospital. There is no
clue to the perpetrators.

RECORD PRICE FOR A BALL

John D. Rockefeller's $1,000,000

Victory Loan Subscription

The world's record price for a baseball was reached yesterday at New York when John D. Rockefeller paid $1,000,000 for a sphere autographed by "Christy" Mathewson, coach of the New York Giants, at the Victory Loan rally at the Sub-Treasury.

When Mr. Rockefeller made his offer several baseballs had been sold for magnificent sums, and the rest had been tossed to the crowd. Mr. Rockefeller authorized a representative to announce that if a ball was recovered and Mathewson put his signature on it he would at once take $1,000,000 in Victory notes.

Finally someone surrendered a ball and Mathewson signed and delivered it to the representative of Mr. Rockefeller.

The Bankers' Trust Company gave $500,000 for a baseball autographed and sold by Mathewson, J. P. Morgan & Co. bid $400,000, but did not make any other effort after the raise by the Trust Company.

Arthur Fletcher, captain of the Giants, also received $500,000 for a ball from the New York Trust Company, while Larry Doyle sold one to J. P. Morgan & Co. for the same amount.

The Royal George is to dock at Halifax and the Cassandra at year's Victory Loan, but not so Montreal, instead of Quebec, on or about Sunday.

The Soviet Government in Budapest has declined to accept the terms offered by the G. Roumanians and threatens to fight to the last.

A domestic loan, similar to last year's Victory Loan, but not so large, will be floated, probably in September.
