Dr. Pugsley Scores. There was a brief lull, and Dr. WATER COMMISSIONERS Daniel once more got on the warpath, the House by this time being crowded above and below. At the very outset Mr. Pugsley scored by practically compelling Dr. Daniel to table the original Mayes' affidavit, which for months has been concealed. Dr. Daniel's observations upon it were of a nature of a series of insinuations rounded off by a motion for a parliamentary investigation and a suggestion that the Prime Minister should call upon the Minister of Public Works to resign. Mr. Pugsley began by pointing out that in the affidavit tabled by Dr. man of the board of health, Dr. Niven, Daniel the date had been corrected, and then he launched into a trenchant cuss the advisability of making the criticism of the whole sorry business from the beginning. The Glove YouHave WaitedFor

Come Tomorrow--Your Size and Shade Is Here

French Kid, 79c Pr. 79 Dozen Now on Sale

Same Glove and quality we sold last season though costing us more than we paid then, as we ordered this lot fastened with large pearl dome fastener, which you rarely find on any but the highest grades. This adds greatly to the appearance of the Glove over last season's, and gives it the appearance of a real high-grade, which we are convinced it really must be from the numerous inquiries recently from customers who had these last season. We are not going to predict that every pair will be sold tomorrow, but this would not surprise us, judging by the way they went before, and by the reputation they have for wear. Notwithstanding all this, these Gloves are to be sold at the same price, and if not all sold there are sure to be some colors or sizes short before tomorrow night. They are in tans, brown, grey, white and black. Sizes, $5\frac{3}{4}$, 6, $6\frac{1}{4}$, $6\frac{1}{2}$, $6\frac{3}{4}$, 7 and $7\frac{1}{4}$.

Our Ready-to-Wear Garments

What is it that marks them so different from the ordinary?

It is simply this—that they are not a few dozen of one line and another that are manufactured by the gross and placed in almost every town and city because they can be sold at a price. But not so with our selections. They are in most cases exclusive and individual styles, and that is what this store advocates, not only today, but every day and every week in the year. We aim to give our customers distinctive and individual styles. Every garment a character in itself.

A Fresh Bloom of Spring Beauties Today

Tomorrow you will see in our Millinery display some of the most artistic productions of the season. Great care has been taken to make tomorrow's display the spring show, and some new and novel features will be introduced.

The illustration represents one of the new and charming styles-the Poke, the origination of which dates back generations. But this quaintly pretty and becoming style is frequently revived, and is most popular this season in many of the large fashion centres. We might mention several others, but the most popular, apart from the one illustrated. the the Mushroom, and the Peach Basket, and we are so well-prepared now that you may come tomorrow and feel sure that you won't be more than ten minutes finding the A Hat you want, no matter what price you want to pay.

"The great ball!"

"Yes, sir, a grand party that every one went to. But they did not go, though they had talked about it, and Miss Hermione had her dress ready. And they never went out again, not even to their father's funeral. Think given to imaginings, but that house, of that, sir, not even to their father's

"It is very strange, said he, determined at whatever cost to ask Edgar about that ball, and if he went to it. "And that is not all," continued his now thoroughly reassured companion. "They were never the same girls again after that time. Before then Miss Hermione was the admiration and pride of the whole town, notwithstanding that dreadful scar, while Miss Emma was the life of the house and of every gathering she went into. But afterwards-well, you can see for yourself what they are now; and it was just so before their father died." Frank longed to ask some quustions about this father, but reason bade him desist. He was already humiliating himself enough in thus discussing the daughters with the servant who waited upon them; others must tell him about the old gentleman

LONDON FRUITGROWERS AND VEGETABLE MEN

Large Amount of Business Attended to at a Recent Meeting.

That the fruitgrowers of London and district, members of the O. V. G. A., London branch, are accomplishing nuch good was plainly evidenced by the large amount if business transacted at their meeting held at Byron Hall Wednesday night. There were a large number of growers present, and enthusiasm prevailed throughout. The committee were: Chairman, J. Sharman; executive, S. T. Gale, Dawson, H. W. Wickerson and T. Baker; secretary, Wm. Bartlett, jun., The secretary read the minutes of fast meeting and they were unanimously adopted. S. Dawson read an excellent paper plants and picking, and the members flies around an electric lamp. present gained many valuable points. Raspberry Growing.

J. Sharman spoke on raspberry growing, and he strongly advised the growers to plant only on high, sandy loam soil, and to plant in the spring. His address was well received. H. Wickerson addressed the meeting on potato culture. He declared that ugh the best and largest seed poworked on scientific principles, yet poor crops were sometimes obtained, mony whilst inferior, small seed potatoes resulted occasionally in a bountiful harvest. These were, however, he declared, exceptional cases, and he advised all growers to always plant good

The Advantages. President C. Wesley Baker, of the London branch, spoke on the numer-ous advantages afforded to growers becoming members of the association. He felt sure that the papers read that evening, full of sound practical information, were alone worth the membership fee. He strongly advised the fruitgrowers to produce more fruit for the London market. Home-grown fruits, he declared, would always find better market than the shipped in, the former being more solid and better in every way. As long as fruits were shipped in the local growers should keep on setting out new patches. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to H. W. Wickerson for having defrayed the expenses of the hall. Amongst the growers present were T. A. Baker, L. Dawson, E. Dawson, F. Wells, A. Garthorne, N. Sanderson, H. Wickerson, C. W. Baker, J. Sharman, Gale, J. A. Lawson, F. McNiece, J. H. Frank, A. Montague, H. W. Wickerson, H. Smith, G. Hilburn, J. Boles, W. THE BERLIN POLICE

Act as Censors of Notable's Speech and Get Censured by Superiors.

Berlin, April 15.-The Berlin pofice have many splendid qualities, but discretion is not one of them. They demonstrated the fact in a ludicrous manner when they refused to allow Prof. Hans Delbruck, one of the greatest of German publicists, and editor of the well-known review, Preussiche Jahrbucher, to address a meeting on finance reform, because the police department had not had the legal notice of the gathering. The argument was of no avail that the meeting was an overflow gathering from a neighboring hall, several thousand more people than it could hold had assembled to hear Adolf Wagner on the same topic.

Prof. Delbruck contrived to persuade one constable that the subject matter of his address was not inflammatory, and he was permitted to proceed. He had not got far into his discourse, however, before a trio of helmeted and sabered, tramped down the aisle and called on the speaker to desist from further

LEADS DUAL LIFE FOR FOURTEEN YEARS

Search of One Woman for Husband After His Death Reveals Strange Case.

San Francisco, April 15 .- After 20 years of happy married life, Mrs. Frederick Tobelman, wife of a prosperous merchant, who died March 13, learned today that her husband had another wife, and for 14 years had ived a double life. Romance and tragedy are blended in her story. Her acquaintance and love for Tobelman date back to the days when she was a school girl and he was a sturdy young immigrant, with a determined, carefree manner and the hope of success in his adopted land before him. The revelation of today has prostrated the wife, and she is now in a critical condition in her nome at 93 Buchanan street, within about a mile of the second wife, who is ten years younger than Mrs. Tobel-Mrs. Tobelman No. 2, who was married Oct. 8, 1895, has also been in ignorance of the facts. The courtship lasted several years, and, eventually when he had become a well-to-do merchant, the wedding took place in 1889. Mrs. Tobleman says that during all these years her life has been of the happiest, and at no time has anything ccurred that would direct the slightst suspicion against her husband. She says he was frequently absent for lays at a time, but as it had always een his custom to make short trips the country, she thought nothing

Mrs. Tobelman No. 2 also became equainted with her husband through ouying at his stores. She met him. she says, in 1895, and although she has no recollection of his telling her he was not married, she says she assumed it from the attention he paid her, and consented to the wedding.

AL KAUFMAN IS A PUNISHER BUT LACKS AGGRESSIVENESS

Johnson Witnessed Battle With Tony Ross, But Doesn't Think Much of Him-The Big Fellow Hits Hard But Loses Opportunities-Fight By Rounds.

The New York Sun gives the following tamely. Kaufman had a shade. The New York Sun gives the following account of the Kaufman-Ross fight:

At the Fairmont A. C., with Jack Johnson at the ringside, Al Kaufman, who has been challenging the negro for several weeks, failed to stop Tony Ross, the Italian heavyweight, in a ten-round bout last night. Kaufman handed out a severe beating to his antagonist, but he was so slow in his attack that he lost several chances to score a knockout.

Ross had a great punch in either hand, and was as game as they make them. In fourth round he staggered Kaufman with a right hand smash on the jaw, and in the fifth he sent Kaufman reeling into the ropes with a similar wallop, but Kaufman came back quickly with a left hook on the chin which had Ross in trouble at the end of that round.

Ross Down Twice,

tamely. Kaufman had a shade.

Fourth Round—Ross played for a left, which was short. Kaufman then got to close quarters and hit Ross in the neck swing for the jaw and cliched. Kaufman was so slow that he missed several offers, Ross clinching repeatedly. Ross also put a solid left to the neck. Kaufman with a right hand smash on the jaw, and in the fifth he sent Kaufman reeling into the ropes with a similar wallop, but Kaufman came back quickly with a left hook on the chin which had Ross in the neck with a left. Ross Down Twice.

After that Ross took a terrific beating. In the ninth round he was knocked down twice, but Kaufman, though he did his level best, could not put him away. Ross was full of fight up to the final bell, but he would surely have been stopped in a longer bout.

Kaufman's lack of aggressiveness was his chief fault. He showed that he could take punishment and come back, also that he could hit with powerful effect but until he showed more speed in his attack he would not have any chance with Johnson or Ketchel, it was declared.

missioners at Ottawa. This is the oft-discussed French River-Ottawa line. It is not when it will be completed, but construction work has been already started on the connecting line from Hawksbury toward Ottawa.

The mode of entrance to the capital has not been as yet definitely decided upon, but it is expected the C. N. R. passenger trains will use the present union station there. They will be run in on a spur line, while the through freight from the west will not go into the city yards at all.

The new line will be single track and will extend from Ottawa past Pembroke, thence cutting through the northern country to a point on let, the company's harbor.

RULES DISPLEASED

Objected to Some of Methods Employed by Inspectors.

Inspector Edwards has returned from he Educational Association's convention in Toronto, and reports it to be one of the best ever held. The programme was most comprehensive, and the addresses strong and well thought "The convention was one of the best ever held," said the inspector. "There were some rather strong expressions of opinion on certain things during the week. The high school principals objected strongly to the Minister of Education on the severe and stringent regulations as enforced by the high school inspectors. They were of the opinion that the method of enforcing the regulations was detrimental to the best interests of the school, and resulted in a machinelike organization.

Against Drill in School.

"There was also a strong expression of opinion on military drill in schools. This came from the trustee section, of militarism. I am not quite certain that this attitude is right. The Canadian boy if he is taught to think it wrong to defend himself is likely to be easily oppressed."

"Dr. Garneau of the faculty of education of Cornell University, delivered two very strong addresses. One of them was to have been held in the West Hall, bu that was not large enough, so it was transferred to Convocation Hall. "The kernel of his first address was that the children in the schools should be taught to do things. He pointed ou that the great majority of the men the world for been educated by doing and making things." "In the evening, he dealt with original work by the pupil. He was of the opinion that the children should be taught to do work with their hands and should be taught also to use books as tools for the development of the mind." THE ONTARIO MINING AND TRADING SYNDICATE attracts

As an evidence of this we publish the synopsis of a letter which was received at our office a few days since.

"The United States Securities Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.: "Dear Sirs,-I enclose one hundred dollars for one interest in The Ontario Mining and Trading Syndicate.'

"I shall be glad to hear from you from time to time, re the work and progress. How many of your 420 interests are still not subscribed for? Your proposition gives absolute assurance that it is a sure thing, and I would invest more money later on in it. As far as I know your proposition appears to be a good one, and I have faith enough to invest $100 in it.

'Yours faithfully,

In replying to the above letter we took the liberty to point out that nothing was "a sure thing," but we believe that, knowing the conditions in the field as we do, our offering is "a surer thing" than an investment that deals with the making of a mine, no matter how good the showing.

Our properties are in the heart of rich mining districts and our methods of handling the proposition are bound to result in handsome profits for the investor. Why? Because our proposition is logically correct and absolutely clean in every detail. By the purchase of an interest of $100 you become a part owner of

The Star Theatre.

The Star Theatre, Richmond street will close its doors Saturday night April 17, to make alterations to comply with the new fire rules and regulations of 1909. The proprietor, Mr. Andrews, is sparing no expense to make this theatre when completed one of the safest and coolest in Canada. The manager, Mr. Swanwick, said today that if a fire did take place in the Star Theatre when it opens again, the people would not know anything about it. The operating box, which is the most dangerous thing in the picture houses, will not be in the theatre at all. In the old style theatres everybody had to pass it before they left the building It will be out of the theatre altogether The ventilation part will be of the latest. There will be a fresh supply of air every half hour run in the theatre It will take a week at least to complete the new work of the house. Watch the papers for the programme of pictures, songs and vaudeville. The price of admission will be the same—

Methodist Church will hold their annotation will hold their annual entertainment in Wesley Hall on young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Clampitt left on the afternoon train for the Falls and other eastern points, and on their return will reside at 450 Simcoe fore.

A quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. C. Leitch, 26 Dunas street, yesterday, when Mrs. Jane Merrilees, of this city, was married to Mr. James Bennett. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. B. Sage. Death of R. R. Kernohan.

Robert R. Kernohan died at the resience of his sister, Mrs. William Dunn, Parkhill, yesterday. Mr. Kernohan was 37 years old. The funeral will be held 💍 om the residence of his brother, William Kernohan, lot 5, concession 2, of London Township, on Friday. Froebel Society Lectures.

The opportunity to see a play of Shakespeare, well presented, or to hear ably discussed, is something that does not occur very often. The course of four Shakespearean lectures to be given by Dr. Moulton, under the auspices of the London Froebel Society, must rank as an event to lovers of Shakespeare. Of the plays considered in this course, "Richard III." and "Othello" may sometimes be seen on the stage; but the other two are less well known, although not less interesting. In "Richard III." Shakespeare pictures the "artist" villain, in Othello" we have a drama of jealousy and intrigue. In every lecture Dr. Moulton brings breadth of view and profound knowledge to the interpretation of the play, and his audience sees with him the broad principles underlying these vivid pictures of human life, that are called the plays of Shakespeare. The lectures will be given in St. Andrew's Hall. Clampitt-Ferguson.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Wellington Street Methodist Church parsonage on Thursday, April at 2 o'clock, when Miss Kathleen Ferguson was united in marriage to Mr. Gordon Clampitt, both of this city. The bride looked very becoming in a white silk princess with black picture She was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Ferguson, who wore a very pretty gown of old rose silk, Mr. F. Ramsey acted as best man and the nuptial knot was tied by Rev. H. A. Graham. After the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clampitt, 450 Simcoe street. About April 24 it will open again.
