

OLD CHIEF'S GREAT SPEECH AT OPENING OF THE TOUR

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Addresses Seven Thousand People at Marieville, Quebec, and is Centre of Remarkable Demonstration.

REAFFIRMS THE LIBERAL NAVY POLICY

Marieville, Que., Sept. 7.—Speaking to the electors of the district last night, Sir Wilfrid Laurier made a stirring appeal for his policies in what may be said to be the opening gun of an extended campaign. Sir Wilfrid said in part:

"May my right hand be palsied; may my tongue cleave to my mouth if I ever endeavor to raise up popular prejudices on the great national question of the navy. I know not what the Right Hon. Mr. Borden's policy in this regard may be, but I can state that it will be studied and examined by us on its merits, and on its merits alone."

A BIG AUDIENCE.

In these words did Sir Wilfrid Laurier express himself at a demonstration attended by upwards of 7,000 Liberal followers of the Montreal district at Marieville. The ex-Premier was in fine fettle.

Sir Wilfrid twitted the Government on its acts since its accession to power, starting with the Manitoba school question and ending with the navy and the proposed changes to the National Transcontinental.

REMARKABLE DEMONSTRATION.

That Sir Wilfrid has not lost a whit of his place in the hearts and affections of the French-Canadian people was evidenced by the fact that, several days of rain, which made the country roads almost impassable, and notwithstanding the fact that the skies which had deluged the country during the morning threatened another downpour all the afternoon, nearly seven thousand people gathered to hear the Liberal leader. The demonstration was all the more remarkable considering the fact that the country is not in the heat of elections, and the people of Quebec are only now beginning to recover from the throes of the Federal elections of last fall and the Provincial elections which took place in May.

It was a double significance attached to the meeting at Marieville. It was the "Old Chief's" first appearance in rural Quebec since Sept. 21, and his speech was delivered at the moment when the eyes of Canada were turned toward Premier Borden arriving at Quebec, presumably with a new naval policy locked up in his portmanteau.

POLACK DISTRICT SHOULD BE CLEANED UP, SAYS PHYSICIAN

A physician this morning complimented The Advertiser for having called to public attention the situation among the Polacks in the southeastern section of the city.

"I am glad that such an agitation was conducted, and that it has had the effect of stimulating the board of health in its efforts to clean up this evil," he stated. "There is no doubt but that there is danger of serious epidemic springing up from just such a community as that made up by these Polacks. They have no idea of sanitary obligations, and smallpox or typhoid might break out at any time with the most serious results to the city as a whole. There should be a thorough purging of the houses and their occupants. The Advertiser has done the city a service in bringing the matter so forcibly to the authorities' attention, and in supporting the good work already done by the health board. London is a complacent city in many respects, and needs to be shocked to be aroused."

SLAPPED FACE OF A RUSSIAN GIRL

Her Countryman Says She First Knocked Off His Hat.

Annie Comie, a pretty young Russian girl, had Mike Banick, another Russian, arrested for slapping her on the face last Tuesday evening. The affair occurred on her boarding-house verandah, and according to the evidence, Annie said Banick had never seen each other before.

Annie was talking to a friend at the time, and she claimed that Banick came up and slapped her on the right cheek without a bit of provocation.

Two witnesses told the same story, but Banick insisted that Annie had playfully knocked his hat off, and he had playfully pushed her head away to sort of even up. When Annie stated that the slap had caused her so much pain that she had been forced to stay home for three days, the magistrate let Banick off on suspended sentence and the payment of $150, witness fees.

NEW APPARATUS FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Motor Truck and Aerial Are Fine Additions to the Brigade.

The new apparatus for the London fire department arrived in the city today from the Toronto Exhibition.

The motor combination truck and the aerial were both unloaded and were handed over to Fire Chief Aitken.

The final tests will not be made until after the Western Fair.

"The apparatus is a welcome addition," said Chief Aitken. "The two pieces are of the most modern kind, and will greatly assist us in fighting fires."

JUSTICE TEETZEL ILL

Underwent Operation for Stomach Trouble at Toronto.

Hamilton, Sept. 9.—Word was received here this morning that Justice Teetzel underwent an operation for stomach trouble in London, England, on August 27. His lordship passed through the ordeal successfully and is on the road to recovery. The operation was performed by his family physician, Dr. Stevenson, of Toronto, and Dr. Cameron, also of Toronto, assisted by London specialists. Justice Teetzel has been granted leave of absence until January next.

DISGUISED AS A MAN.

Hamilton, Sept. 9.—A woman disguised as a man tried to gain entrance into the United States on Thursday, but was detected by Black Rock immigration officers and sent back to Welland. She stayed there all night and came on to Hamilton, where she disappeared. Her guise was almost perfect, but the argus-eyed inspectors detected her in time. She was passing under the name of John Young.

LABOR GATHERED IN CONVENTION

Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in Annual Meeting at Guelph.

KEIR HARDIE TO SPEAK

Many Important Matters Are to Come Up for Consideration During the Week.

[Canadian Press.]
Guelph, Ont., Sept. 9.—Before the first session of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada convention opened here today, those in charge announced that all records for attendance of delegates had been broken, almost doubled, in fact. Last year at Calgary there were 175 delegates. This year the credential committee state that three hundred delegates will be accorded seats and votes.

The first session today was largely a matter of pleasantries between civic officials and local parliamentarians, welcoming the delegates to Guelph. President Parker, of the Guelph Trades and Labor Council, opened the proceedings, being followed by Mayor Thorp and Ald. Howard, on behalf of the city council. Hon. Mr. Reaume, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Hon. Mr. Crothers, federal minister of labor, Hugh Guthrie, M. P. of South Wellington, and H. C. Schofield, M. P. of South Wellington, took part in the opening ceremonies. President Waters then took charge, receiving greetings from Fraternal Delegate J. T. Smith, of Kansas City, from the American Federation of Labor. This afternoon is an open date for the delegates, and a trip has been planned to the prison farm, where the labor men will have a chance to hear Hon. Mr. Hanna explain his pet hobby.

On Tuesday the big convention will continue at Page Four.

TWO HORSES BURNED IN MYSTERIOUS FIRE

Charles R. Quick, of Briscoe Street, Suffers Loss of $700.

The barn and stables of Mr. Chas. R. Quick, 100 Briscoe street, were completely destroyed by fire on Sunday morning shortly before 2 o'clock. Two horses were burned to death, and all the wagons, harness, etc., were consumed. The loss is estimated at $700, with a small insurance.

The fire broke out about 1:30 o'clock. It was noticed first by a neighbor, who notified the Quick family. When it was seen, there was no chance whatever of saving the horses, or any of the property. The fire brigade was called, but could do little.

Mr. Quick has no theory as to how the blaze originated.

COLORS NAILED TO MASTHEAD

Hon. Messrs. Fisher and Graham Reaffirm Reciprocity and Navy Policies.

GENERAL ELECTION MAY COME SOON

Sir Wilfrid's Colleagues Guests of Honor at Eastern Township's Demonstration.

[Canadian Press.]
Potters Springs, Que., Sept. 9.—That the Liberal party still has the reciprocity and Canadian navy colors nailed to the masthead was shown at a big banquet given here on Saturday afternoon in honor of Hon. Sydney Fisher. The gathering was the first English-speaking demonstration of Liberals held in the Eastern Townships since the election of last September, and addresses by Hon. Messrs. Fisher and Graham were followed with care by the audience, which largely consisted of farmers.

A Leading Plank.
Both the members of the late Government declared that reciprocity was still a leading plank in their platform, and expressed the opinion that it had not been defeated on its merits, but on a wave of patriotic feeling, coupled with animosity towards the States, while it would in future become more and more necessary in some form.

As to the naval issue they also agreed on adhesion to the Liberal policy, as outlined in the naval bill passed shortly before the retirement of the Laurier Government.

Mr. Graham intimated that the general election might come sooner than anyone thought since that would be necessary to give the Government an opportunity to submit their naval proposals to the people in some form.

PORTO RICANS IN DESPERATE FIGHT

One Man Loses Part of Ear on Eve of His Wedding Day.

BATTLE IN TWO ROUNDS

Second Contender Claims He Was Hit With Instrument, Which Was Denied.

Angel Toro and Jesus Fayas, young Porto Ricans, appeared before Magistrate Add this morning and were found guilty on two charges, one of disorderly conduct and the other of assault and wounding. Both were fined $10 on the first charge and Toro and Fayas were given a fine of $20 for the second charge.

The case arose out of a fight which both men engaged in Sunday afternoon near the river at the foot of Richmond street. Fayas was to have been married today, and it is alleged that he and Toro were celebrating the event.

Finally the two became engaged in a quarrel, and near the corner of Richmond and Horton streets came to blows. They were separated, but not before Toro had received a nasty gash on the top of the head, which he claimed in court this morning had been caused by some sharp instrument in Fayas' hand.

Covered With Blood.
The two men, who were celebrating a house on Richmond street, and Toro changed his shirt, which was covered with blood, and then sought Fayas again to continue the row. He insisted that he had been hit on the head and they would settle matters. Fayas accompanied him and arriving at the spot the fight broke out anew. This time Angel clinched with Jesus and during the clinch, the former bit part of the latter's ear off. Toro then took to his heels.

A charge was laid against Angel, and he was arrested later by Detective Down. In court this morning he elected trial by Magistrate Judd and told his story with the aid of an interpreter.

Toro in Bandages.
His head was bound up and he also had a bandage on his wrist where he claimed Fayas had kicked him. Fayas claimed that Toro's head had been gashed when he (Fayas) had knocked him down on the sidewalk in the first fight.

Magistrate Judd thought a charge of assault and wounding should be laid against Fayas also, and this was done by Crown Attorney McKillop. Fayas elected summary trial and agreed to the evidence already given. Several witnesses, countrymen of the pair, were present, and these answered to the good character and respectability of the pair, and assured the magistrate that such an occurrence between two men was a rare one, and it would not occur again.

To Be Married Today.
His worship was also informed that Toro had a wife and three children in New York, while Fayas had made all preparations to be married today, his sweetheart having arrived in the city Sunday evening. Fayas' ear was badly lacerated, and he appeared in court with his shirt and collar covered with blood.

Both men, with the assistance of the witnesses, paid the fines imposed on them.

IS THERE A REAL HELL?

Dr. Manning Irrevocably Declares Himself as Believer in Literal Future Torment.

In Toronto and other cities recently ministers have been asked to declare whether or not they believed literally in a hell of fire and torment. Rev. Dr. Thomas Manning declared himself Sunday from his pulpit at Dundas Centre Church, as an uncompromising believer in future punishment. He took as his theme "Future Punishment" or "Is There a Hell?"

Rev. Dr. Thomas Manning.

In beginning, Dr. Manning stated that a certain amount of skepticism existed throughout the church, and all classes of people in regard to this question. The reasoning which lead so many to believe in the non-existence of a hell were two-fold in number. (1). There was a gross misrepresentation of what ought to be and what ought not to be. (2). People rejected the teaching of the Scriptures and making up their own minds in regard to the reality of a hell.

ANCIENT PHILOSOPHERS BELIEVED IN IT.
"Socrates, Plato and all the wise men of ancient Greece, living four hundred years before the Saviour, had all the faculties of mind highly developed. They were supreme in the knowledge of all subjects, and they were on the right road of thinking as to the state of the body after death in believing there was a hell," said Dr. Manning. "They all believed in the mortality of soul and the future is according to the life on earth."

"In the study of the Scriptures we find that Christ himself believed in the existence of future punishment," continued the minister. "The word 'gehenna,' meaning hell, is used twelve times in the New Testament and eleven of these times in the first four books."

"The Jews believed 'gehenna' to be a valley where criminals, beasts, filth, etc., were all committed after death, and it was necessary to keep a fire going so the rubbish would not collect. 'God has no use for bad men, and there is the home for them."

WHERE WILL BAD MEN GO?

"Some people don't believe in hell," said Dr. Manning, coming to the climax of his address. "If a bad man doesn't go to hell when he dies where will he go? He won't be given standing room in heaven. Hell is the only place for him to go."

"It was to save us from the pains of hell and sin that Christ came to this earth."

TENTS BY SCORE TO HOLD THE OVERFLOW

Directors Claim They Have Turned Away Many Would-Be Exhibitors—"The Greatest Fair Yet," Says President Reid.

The first meeting of the board of directors of the Western Fair was held in the city tonight at 11 o'clock, and will be met by His Worship Mayor Graham and President Reid. On Tuesday at noon he will be the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the directors, and immediately after lunch he will formally open the new art building, and declare the Western Fair open for business. He will be the guest of the directors for the remainder of the day.

"The Fair is the exhibition," said Mr. Reid, president of the board. "We want to show the Minister of Agriculture what sort of a Fair we have," explained Mr. Reid. "I think we have the finest exhibition in the province, and I am confident we can persuade Mr. Duff of that fact."

"I want to say before we adjourn," continued the president, "that we are proud of the exhibition this year. The exhibits are away beyond anything we have ever had in every department. The only thing needed is good weather. We have the Fair, and if the weather man treats us right, we will have a successful year."

C. N. R. SECURES LAND AT SANDWICH FOR SHOPS

One Thousand Dollars an Acre Paid By MacKenzie & Mann Interests.

The activities of the C. N. R. in Western Ontario were emphasized by the announcement that the company had purchased 50 acres of land at Sandwich for terminals and shops. The price, $1,000 an acre, is considered high, and shows that the MacKenzie-Mann interests are determined to tap this most productive part of the province.

Locally the air of mystery pervades all their operations, and little information is forthcoming regarding the operations of the C. N. R. It has been stated that the company will not bid for the London and Port Stanley Railway.

The directors would consider a proposition to purchase the line outright, and have broached the subject to a number of prominent businessmen as to the chances of securing the road by purchase. The same answer was made by them all—that the London and Port Stanley was not for sale.

JUNE WEATHER FOR BIG FAIR

London's Exhibition, Bigger Than Ever, Gets Away to a Good Start.

SOME THOUSANDS ON THE GROUNDS

Finishing Touches Being Given to Buildings—Midway Opens for Business Early.

WEATHER NOTE.

Summer weather prevails all over Ontario, and the indications are for a favorable week, with possibly a few local thunderstorms.

The Western Fair is away to a good start. The elements have conspired to make the weather as suitable as it possibly could.

The directors have been successful in securing a large and better entry list than has been presented for a long time.

The water commissioners have illuminated the grounds until they have produced the most electrical display in the history of the Fair.

The parks commissioners have made wonderful improvements to the grounds.

The new art building fills a long-standing need.

Taken altogether, this combination of circumstances has produced the best Western Fair.

The grounds resemble a veritable tented city. So many are the tents that one is compelled to wonder where the people will be put, particularly when the big crowds of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday are present. Room will be found for them, but there will be little to spare.

All Exhibits in Place.
The exhibits are all in place. The Main Building is in order. All the pictures, one of the finest collections shown in Canada this year, are all hung. The cattle, horses, hogs and sheep are penned. The exhibits in the various buildings are in order. All that is necessary is that the weather will continue fine until Friday night. If that happens, the largest crowds in history may be expected.

There is a Midway this year. From ten to fifteen of the best shows available have been secured, and the voice of the barker is heard in the land. The shows are opened for business this afternoon, and large crowds are in attendance.

Two Thousand on Grounds.
At noon, there were fully 2,000 people on the grounds. The Asylum sent more than 500 hundred inmates. At 3 o'clock, there were 5,000 visitors, and it is thought that several thousand more will visit the grounds later in the afternoon.

Judging has commenced in every department. The poultry exhibit was not placed until 2 o'clock, owing to the delay of the express companies in handling over the birds. At 3 o'clock Mr. J. H. Saunders, the superintendent, had the judges busy engaged in placing the awards. The other departments were well under way.

"Everything is in readiness," said Secretary A. M. Hunt. "We have all the exhibits placed, and the fair is open to the public. We are expecting the greatest year in our history."

On Wednesday, Sept. 18, he speaks in Cobalt, while the following afternoon he will address a meeting in Ville Marie, across the lake from Hallyburton. On Friday night he speaks in Cochrane. Hon. G. P. Graham and Hon. Charles Murphy will come north with the ex-premier.

FACE BURNED WHEN FUSE BURNED OUT

Fred Groves Suffers Injuries at Springbank Pump-house.

Fred Groves, 769 Princess avenue, was severely burned about the face and arms when a fuse blew out at the Springbank pump-house, where he was working Sunday afternoon.

Groves was standing beside the fuse at the time, and the flash enveloped him, burning his face and arms and partly singeing his hair. He suffered a great deal of pain and was conveyed to Victoria Hospital as soon as possible. Dr. Graham attended the injured man, and he is reported as doing nicely today. His eyes, although sore, were not affected, and it is thought that his recovery will be rapid.

AIRSHIP FLEETS FOR MANOEUVRES

Aeroplanes For Each Division in the Great British War-Play.

NEW PERIL LOOMS UP

England Faces Danger of Running Short on Main Ingredient of Explosives.

London, Sept. 9.—The most interesting army manoeuvres ever held in England, which it was feared the inundation of the country by rains might prevent, will begin tomorrow and continue until Sept. 20. The repulse of a German invasion as conjectured will furnish the general scheme for the operations, since the manoeuvre area adjoins the eastern coast line. Spirited articles in the newspapers, however, depreciate such a theory. The area covered will be Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, Hertford, Huntingdon, Bedford and Cambridge, although the first week's operations will be confined to Norfolk and Cambridge.

Airship Fleets.
One airship squadron and two aeroplane squadrons will be attached to each army, giving each two airships and a dozen aeroplanes. Major-General Samuel Holt Lomax, general officer commanding the first division at Aldershot, and Major-General Henry M. Lawson, in charge of administration at Aldershot, will be in command of the respective armies. The flight will be purely an infantry test. In the general orders mounted troops and wagons are prohibited from crossing the golf greens, and all troops are prohibited from entering dwellings, churches, schools, factories, gardens and orchards.

A New Peril.
New York, Sept. 9.—There would be no ammunition for British guns in time of war, should Great Britain's enemy cut off her supply of nitrates from Chile, according to a declaration made today by Dr. Samuel Eyde, of Christiania, Norway, before the eighth international chemical congress at Columbia University. Dr. Eyde, who is regarded in Europe as an eminent authority on matters of nitrogen, declared that in Norway nitrogen sufficient to generate 200-horsepower was now being taken from the air. "It has been taken for granted," Dr. Eyde said, "that an unlimited supply of ammunition was always to be had. As a matter of fact this is not so. With all her strength England could not put out of commission simply by cutting off her nitrates, the essential ingredient of explosives, from Chile. Nitrate of ammonia produced from atmospheric nitrogen is very pure, and according to the experience of the British navy, has a great bearing upon the life of the heavy guns, the purity of the product, reducing the heat of the discharge."

LT.-COL. WHITEHEAD DEAD

Leading Businessman of Montreal and Former Athlete.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Last night the death occurred of one of Montreal's most prominent soldiers and businessmen in the person of Col. A. Whitehead, who died of heart disease in his 68th year, after an illness of two days. The deceased was one of the few remaining Canadian officers who had served in every Canadian campaign since 1852, when he joined the militia as an ensign at the formation of the Third Victoria Rifles, of Montreal. In 1864-65 he served at the Windsor affair with a provisional regiment, and was also to the front with the Victoria Rifles at the Fenian Raids of 1866 and 1870. He became commanding officer of the Vites in 1877 and retired in 1882. He was, however, again called to active service in 1885, when the Northwest Rebellion broke out, and served throughout the campaign as quartermaster-general on the staff of Gen. Middleton. He was gazetted full colonel last January, when his old regiment celebrated its 50th anniversary, and last June was appointed honorary lieutenant-colonel of the Victoria Rifles.

In his youth he was a famous lacrosse player and amateur athlete. In the past few years he took much interest in the Boy Scout movement, and helped to finance the recent trip of the Canadian Scouts to the Empire meeting in England, while he also was instrumental in securing a splendid camp for the Montreal Scouts at Piedmont. The deceased will be given a military funeral on Tuesday afternoon, when the entire Victoria Rifles will parade as a firing party.

STRATFORD BRAKEMAN KILLED AT OWEN SOUND

Robert McEwen Fell Under a Moving Car While Switching in the Yards.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Owen Sound, Sept. 8.—Robert McEwen, brakeman, an old employee of the Grand Trunk, was almost instantly killed at the Grand Trunk yards here yesterday at noon, when he was thrown beneath a moving car and had a leg severed. The train crew were making a running switch, and McEwen ran down to throw over the lever. As he threw his weight against the bar his hands slipped and he reeled over toward the track, and being thrown against the oncoming car was hurled to the track lengthwise. The heavy express car passed over one leg and crushed part of the body terribly.

SANK WHILE BATHING AND NEVER CAME UP

Roy Allwood, of Bayham, Lost His Life in the Otter River.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Tiltsburg, Sept. 8.—While bathing in the Otter River near Springfield this afternoon, Roy Allwood, aged 25, of Bayham Township, was drowned. Deceased was employed as a farm laborer and was swimming with a companion by the name of Porter, of the same township. By no means a good swimmer, the unfortunate fellow got into a deep hole and sunk in a few moments. The body was not recovered until after 5 o'clock.

PURSE OF GOLD FOR REV. FATHER TOBIN

Congregation of St. Mary's Expresses Appreciation in Tangible Form.

After the celebration of high mass at St. Mary's Church on Sunday morning, Rev. Father Tobin, assistant to Rev. Father P. J. McKeon, recently appointed principal of the new Catholic Seminary to be erected on Sunshine Park, was called to a meeting of the congregation in the basement of St. Mary's Hall. He was then presented on behalf of the congregation with an address and a purse of gold. Father Tobin was popular with the congregation.

Father Tobin made a feeling response to his parishioners. "It is with regret that I sever my connection with this congregation," he declared. "Our association during the several years I have been with you has been pleasant. However, I am going to a responsible position. The appointment as principal of the new Catholic Seminary is an honor to myself and to the congregation I have ministered to. I will endeavor to do my duty to God and the church. I am not leaving the city, but will remain here. I will often see my old parishioners."

The address, read by Master Ambrose O'Donnell, was as follows: "We have been aware—very aware—that our parish of St. Mary's was to be deprived of your ministrations. The voice of sorrowful protest rose to a higher task. The uplifting word, the kindly heart and hand, that during the past seven years, in ready harmony, with our benighted pastor's, were cheerfully and unselfishly used for our best interests, were to be ours no more."

"Yes, we knew it, and sorrowed to know it, and now, when the time has come when the actual separation is to take place, dear Father Tobin, we find it hard to be satisfied, to acquiesce willingly."

AGAINST ARBITRATION

British Trade Unionists Disfavor Intervention in Disputes.
Newport, England, Sept. 5.—Compulsory arbitration of trade disputes is strongly opposed by British trade unionists, who today, at the Trades Union Congress, cast an overwhelming vote against the adoption of the principle.

Nearly 2,000,000 members of trade unions are represented by the 500 delegates attending the congress, which began its sessions Sept. 2.

PARADE OF BLIND.
London, Sept. 8.—Fitzinger Square has never seen a stranger demonstration than that which took place today, when a procession of blind marched thither to ventilate their grievances. Many escorts who could see accompanied and steered the sightless ones, who walked with their arms linked. The speakers, who included two blind men, urged the Government to establish technical schools and workshops for capable blind persons, and to grant pensions to incapable ones.

BORDEN WELL WELCOMED BY CITY OF MONTREAL

Premier Receives Cordial and Non-Partisan Reception by Citizens of Metropolis.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Montreal surpassed herself on Saturday night in the welcome extended to the Right Hon. R. L. Borden, which in a large measure atoned for the formal and indifferent reception accorded him at Quebec.

The Premier reached Montreal on the government steamer Lady Grey, arriving at about 8 o'clock. A mile below the wharf he was met by a large flotilla of gaily-decorated and illuminated boats, tugs and pleasure yachts, which escorted the Lady Grey to the Victoria pier. Grain elevators and freight sheds were also brilliantly illuminated, and rockets and other fireworks added to the gaiety of the scene. At the pier an address was presented by Mayor Lavallee, to which Mr. Borden briefly replied.

Torch-Light Parade.
Following this came an informal reception on the wharf and then the parade to the Windsor Hotel commenced. Hundreds of gaily-decorated autos and carriages were in line, and with ten bands, torch-bearers, political clubs, and other organizations, the Premier, made up a parade of over a mile long. Along the entire route, which was gay with flags and bunting, thousands of citizens greeted and cheered the Premier and Mrs. Borden, who rode with ex-Major Laporte.

The success of the reception was largely due to its non-partisan nature, and to the splendid organizing committee, who had the matter in hand. Early in the week an appeal had been made for a non-partisan welcome, and as a result scores of prominent Liberals acted on the reception and other committees, while the request to decorate the stores and buildings along the route was heeded by all. There was also a certain amount of curiosity to see and hear Mr. Borden, who, in a large measure, is a stranger to the citizens of Montreal. At any rate, the citizens lived up to their best traditions and extended the Premier a welcome more cordial and hearty than any he had ever experienced in his political career. No expense was spared, and so perfect were the arrangements that the whole elaborate program passed off without a hitch.

A CLOSE CALL

Gates Came Down on Buggy When Train Was Approaching.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Guelph, Sept. 8.—A fatality was narrowly averted at the C. P. R. crossing on the Elgin Road last evening, when as Mr. Horton and some ladies were driving into town, the gates came down between the horse and the rig, evidently the operator of the gates saw this, for he lifted them only to allow them to fall on Mr. Horton's wrists, leaving a mark. He then lifted them up once more, and Mr. Horton drove through with the train but a short distance away. Had the train been going at an ordinary rate, or had Mr. Horton's horse been at all balky or fractious a serious accident would have occurred.

Mr. Russell G. McLean, baritone, teacher of singing at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, is opening a studio in London and will be here on Wednesday of each week. This is an excellent opportunity for study with an artist who has received his musical education from the most eminent masters in the European capitals, as well as having the honor of being commanded by the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. Mr. McLean is musical director of Westminster Ladies' College in Toronto, as well as the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church.

DROWNED WITH HANDS TIED.

Lindsay, Sept. 8.—The body of William Morrison, a young man about 21 years of age, was found today in the river near the iron bridge by some boys who were canoeing. Morrison had been missing for some days, and when found in the water both hands were loosely tied with a cord, which would seem to indicate suicide. Morrison is survived by a widowed mother and two sisters. Dr. Blanchard, coroner, considered an inquest unnecessary.

Police Expect to Capture Murderer Bennett on the Brant Reserve.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Brantford, Sept. 9.—Another search of the Brant reserve will be made in an effort to locate the murderer, Jack Bennett. It is stated that Bennett is being protected by friends. Many houses have been searched already without success, but it is believed he will be taken shortly. Since the reward was offered, the police have learned a good deal more regarding the matter than came to light before. Bennett has been seen by reserve residents on several occasions recently, but disappeared when officers penetrated the reserve.

Better than the Sun

Before OMO the usual way was to spread the clothes on the grass exposed to the sun. Now OMO cleanses thoroughly, bleaches and purifies better than the sun can do it. It has the bleaching and purifying properties of fresh country air for linens and all white things. Harms neither hands nor clothes.

No rubbing. Directions are easy. Works quickly. Coffee, tea, cocoa, fruit and other stains disappear like magic.

Safe and sure but must not be used for colored articles, woollens or flannels.

The Girl and Her Mother

By Winifred Black.

So it was the dress of the young girls you met in the streets that drove you to hideous murder, was it, young Mr. Degenerate? That's what you said in that awful confession of yours.

Well, I'm afraid I don't agree with you. Your mind was diseased and perverted, and you had let your will power atrophy, and so you did the awful murder and tried to justify yourself by laying the blame on the dresses of the young girls you passed on the street.

That is ever the manner of your kind—some one else is always to blame for all that you do—some one suggested, some one hinted, some one tempted, and then you fell. No, no, it will not do; that excuse will never hold water.

And yet, these fellows, they really are—aren't they? I saw a girl on the street this very day who might just as well have walked abroad without a frock for all the tribute her dress paid to ordinary decency. And she minced and strutted, and paraded and ogled, and with her walked her mother, a good woman and an honest one, decently clad and really respectable to look upon.

The girl? Oh, she was a young goose who thinks that every man who stares at her admires her. She has not the faintest idea of what those clothes of hers really mean to him.

At the springs, where I happen to be just now, every day and every day I see girls who look as if they had run out of the house in their undergarments—girls who look as if they were out of place in decent society, girls who, from their painted faces to their short, scant skirts and their shrieking stockings, look as if they belonged in some of the little cages they show strangers in Oriental cities.

And yet they are decent girls, looking for a decent man to marry and make them the mothers of decent children.

But the mothers of those girls sit by and hear them talk slang, and watch them make eyes at strange men, and listen to them sing the songs that come from their mouths in the wild, and that is the sort of place no decent woman is supposed to know is in existence at all, I wonder what they're thinking, those mothers.

"For when I walk I always walk with Billie," warbles one of those girls in a scant skirt, a waist at her shoulder blades, and a face painted like the face of a world-worn Josephine. "And when I dine I always dine with Billie," and when the suggestive finale of the suggestive song came, mama laughed with the rest of the listeners.

Why, if a girl had sung such a song as that ten years ago in any decent society her mother would have taken her home and given her a good spanking, and then shut her up in a convent to learn better manners.

How amusing the world must be to such mammas! I wonder if they laugh when little Freshface runs away with the chauffeur, because he can "rag better than any one she knows," as just such a little goose did the other day in Denver, to the surprise of nobody but her complacent mama.

Young girls! If the nonsense stopped with them it would be bad enough, but have you noticed—mama herself this year of grace, pray tell?

Mama wears 'em short, too, and scant and tight, and her stockings are as thin as girly's, and her poor, tired feet are as slippery as ice shoes. Oh, mama, and her face! Oh, that tired, saddened, cynical face under a girl's hat, the faded wisps of hair, with the false braid pinned on all too candidly, the juvenile walk, the high treble laugh, the risky stories, the queer songs mama warbles with her frock half off her back.

Dear, dear! I wonder if mama doesn't sometimes want to slip off somewhere and be a "Ma" for a minute—just a plain, tired old ma, with feet that ache and a corset that will come off, and a face that spells love and sacrifice and devotion and simple delight in the pleasures of others.

Poor ma—and poor little daughter. Why doesn't some one take them off into a dark corner somewhere and tell them what they really look like to real people? Maybe they'd behave—for a while.

Do you suppose they would?

White Bread Sandwiches for the School Lunch

Never mix the white and dark meat of chicken. If you are making sandwiches, they are much nicer if made separately. If you wish to go to the trouble, toast your bread and put the white meat sliced very thin on a lettuce leaf which has been spread with salad dressing. Over it place another piece of toast and upon this another lettuce leaf with salad dressing and a crisp slice of broiled bacon.

A bacon sandwich is very palatable, and if one is fond of it, a piece of calf's liver chopped with the bacon makes a select filling for white bread sandwiches.

Soup meat, with the addition of salad dressing and oftentimes a bit of carrot that has been boiled in the soup, is very tasty with white bread.

Of course, all kinds of jams and jellies can be used for the sweet sandwiches with white bread. And a fried egg sandwich is looked upon by some children as a veritable goodie. If you use hard-boiled eggs, cut them in slices, sprinkle them with chopped parsley, a little lemon juice and paprika; or add a little chopped pimento. This filling should only be used with white bread.

Do not, I repeat, mix plain bread and butter once in a while.

A Summer Liver

The liver is likely to grow perceptibly larger in August and September, especially in hot weather climates.

A man finds his liver is troubling him; or he feels sick and enervated and blue, and doesn't know what is the matter with him. His physician tells him it is an enlarged liver. He thinks he knows what to do for that complaint, and immediately takes a course of calomel.

If he were to trace the condition and study his own frame a little more he would know that an enlarged liver is due to an over-supply of food. Instead of a dose, or several doses of a strong drug, he would cut down his supply of food, and secure a permanent, gradual and natural cure.

The liver is the storehouse of the body. Its volume changes constantly. It retains the surplus food, storing it in preparation for a rainy day, in the form of fat.

Ordinarily the liver comes down as low as the edge of the ribs. When it grows larger it pushes downward under the softer muscles and a practiced hand can easily feel it.

Don't be alarmed if the doctor tells you you have an enlarged liver. Just remember it is a case of too much food; eat less and reduce it.

AN AFTERNOON GOWN.

A plain silk skirt, in very pale pink silk, is put on first, and over this is worn a draped tunic of black and white foulard, made in one, with a jacket effect in black satin.

The collar is faced with the pale pink and frills of lace trim the neck of the jacket. Black velvet ribbons, ending in tassels, ornament the front and crystal buttons are used to close it.

Problems of the Fair Sex Solved by Cynthia Grey

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received.]

More Elderberry Wine.

Dear Miss Grey.—Will you kindly answer the following questions for me as soon as possible? 1. How is elderberry wine made? 2. What is the matter with a rex begonia when the leaves wither and drop? 3. Which will be the most fashionable for fall wear, long coats or suits? 4. What is a recipe for maple pie? A READER.

A.—1. Please consult the correspondence column in issue of Friday for this recipe. "Will save reprinting." 2. There is probably some insect pest at the root of the plant. Dig down near the base of the stem with a broad knife and water with tobacco water. If this does not remedy the fault, the plant should be carefully removed from the soil, roots washed and repotted in fresh, clean soil. 3. Both styles will be much worn. Perhaps suits will be most in demand for autumn, and long coats for winter wear.

4. After consulting ten cook-books and failing to find the desired recipe, I've given up. Does any reader know how this is made? If so, maybe she will forward us her recipe.

Not the "Queen-Mother."

Dear Miss Grey.—1. What do you think of a respectable young lady and gentleman who would bitterly quarrel over the lamp while courting? One wanted it turned out, the other left turned dim. Is their love very sincere? 2. I am trying to win the affections of this young man. Would a copy of Alexandra's ragtime band be suitable to give him for violin dance music? 3. As he is very fond of salmon, would a little salmon soup suggest to serve it for a midnight lunch. Thanking you in advance.

ZEALOUS IDA.

A.—I think they are both exceedingly silly. 2. "Alexandra"—not "Alexandra." Don't desecrate the Queen-mother's name by connecting it with ragtime music! No doubt the gift would please him very much. 3. Here are two ways that make very nice dishes: Salmon Mousse—Flake fine the contents of a can of salmon; add one-half cup tomato sauce and yolks of three eggs; when smooth, fold in the stiffly-beaten whites; season with salt and pepper and press through a sieve into small buttered molds; put into a baking pan, surrounding with water, and bake 15 or 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Unmold and garnish with parsley and a little salad dressing. Jellied salmon is made from two cups of finely flaked salmon, 1 tablespoonful lemon juice, 1 teaspoonful minced parsley, 2 drops of tobacco sauce and 1 tablespoonful granulated gelatin dissolved in cold water; add one cupful cooked salad dressing. Wet in cold water a large mold, fill with the mixture and put on ice until thoroughly chilled. Serves with sliced cucumbers.

Should Make a Call.

Dear Miss Grey.—I am to receive a wedding announcement. The young man I am acquainted with, as he resides in our own town. The young lady and her people I have never seen, as they live in a distant town. Please tell me what I should do when I receive the announcement. Am I expected to send a present? Am I expected to call when they return. 2. Will you think of my writing? Thanking you.

SWEET SIXTEEN.

A.—1. It will not be necessary to send a present. Pay a call upon the bride when she is ready to receive company at her home. 2. Your writing is passable, but—shall I whisper it? your grammar will stand much improvement. Why wait get down your old cook books and study this subject a bit?

Who Said Milk Chocolate?

Dear Miss Grey.—I am fourteen years of age, and am studying stenography. Have I a good business hand? Please give recipe for milk chocolate. Thanking you in advance, I am, yours truly,

A.—1. Your writing gives excellent promise. Keep up your daily practice and "arm" motions. It is these that make for perfection, as no doubt your teacher tells you frequently. 2. I wonder if any reader knows how to make this delectable sweet? I have no recipe, but, like "J. M." wish to know how it is made.

No Special Merit in Coat of Tan

Wear your hat in summer when the sun shines brightly. Too strong rays of the sun or too much exposure hurts the skin and are not good for the hair. A moderate amount of tanning which is received gradually may not be injurious, and as a means of getting outdoor exercise and plenty of fresh air it is justifiable. But sitting on the beach bareheaded all day just for the sake of getting tanned is not worth the while. It is due very largely to the effects of light that the skin of the face and hands show the changes which we recognize as those of increasing age. This does not mean that people should not go in swimming, or lie on the beach, or fish or hunt. It does mean that they should not take pains to become severely sunburned and tanned. The point to keep in mind is that violent light is a harmful agent to any part of the skin. If the skin covering cannot act fast enough to stop the work of this agent the underlying tissues are harmed. If the skin does stop it the skin is the part which suffers.

Milk Bottles Need Careful Vigilance

As a general rule, it is safe to say that if milk is clean, if the bottles smell sweet, if the cream line averages two and a half inches, and if, when kept near the ice, the milk remains sweet from 48 to 56 hours, it is safe to use. If it will not answer these requirements, investigate the milk supply, and if it does not prove satisfactory, change to another dealer.

But pure as it may be, milk frequently sours, and whereas the milkman is usually blamed, the fault often lies with the housewife.

Milk should be kept at a temperature of 48 to 50 degrees, and, whereas it stands near the ice, a thermometer usually reveals the fact that the refrigerator temperature is much higher—sometimes registering 70 degrees.

This is not noticeable, because, when the door is opened, the air of the refrigerator is much cooler than that of the warm summer room. It is a good plan to test the temperature occasionally, and if it does not register about 45 degrees, investigate the cause, and, if necessary, purchase a new ice-box.

If, however, the milk must be used and still does not keep well, it should be pasteurized, in order to arrest the action of the deteriorating germs. To do this, fill jars nearly full, plug with absorbent cotton, and place upright in a deep kettle with a false bottom, a wire rack or perforated tin-plate, answering the purpose. Cold water should be poured in until it shows

A DAY IN THE SPORTING WORLD

SIDE LIGHTS ON
MANY SPORTSLONDON WON TWO GAMES
AND INTER-CITY HONORSSammy Smith Pitched Both Games and Was Given Errorless
Support—Timely Batting By Bierbauer, Cocash, Speer, Dinsmore and Gurney Brought Victory to This City.

[BY JINX]

St. Thomas was wiped off the map Saturday at the local ball lot when Johnny Cocash's clever bats beat the Stewart aggregation to a frazzle in both sections of a double bill to decide the inter-city championship, and incidentally satisfy the loud-mouthed fans from Railwayville that the London Canadian League team is a much superior organization than that which represents St. Thomas in the league. It was a cruel shattering of St. Thomas' hopes, but the Cocash organization proved conclusively that when it comes to an inter-city series the Saints look as much like world-beaters as the present list of white horses.

SAMMY PITCHED BOTH.

To Stage-Struck Samuel Smith, erstwhile heavy and local pill dispenser, must a great deal of credit for the victory fall due. Sammy presided on both occasions, and he pitched good ball in the pinches, an ability which all great twirlers are proud to possess. Samuel came to London a few weeks ago in an endeavor to help the home folks land the Canadian League championship, but failing in this he did the next best thing. He gave the local fans a chance to crow over St. Thomas, and perhaps this will give more satisfaction than a whole wad of league ribbons. Smith will be a household word in London for some years to come, and the coming generation will never tire of hearing of the great day when Sammy Smith humbled the Saints twice in the same afternoon and saved the City of London from a whole heap of embarrassment and ridicule. Yes, some of the credit belongs to Sammy Smith.

The score in the first game was 4 to 2, while the second contest was won in the seventh inning by the score of 7 to 5. In both conflicts the London team came from behind and won out in the final sessions, some tall and timely hitting bringing about the desired result just when the hopes of local fans were at low ebb. In the first fracas, Messrs. Bierbauer and Cocash were the gents with the timely swat, while the honors in the second game went to Mr. Dinsmore and Mr. Speer, with Mr. Gurney, recently of St. Thomas, playing a stellar role also. Mr. Gurney, it might be explained, delivered the concluding wallops of the game, a long hit to centre which scored Benny Speer with the winning tally.

The First Game.

The games were largely attended, and the fans were treated to two of the best games of the season. In the first affair the Saints jumped into the lead in the fifth inning after evening the score up in the second chapter. London got one run in the first inning, when Keenan scored on Cocash's single, but after that inning until the sixth Howick held them hitless and runless. In the second inning the Saints scored a run on two hits and delivered another run in the fifth with another pair of bingles. There was nothing doing for the London scoring line until the eighth inning. Previous to that, the Stewart clan's one-run lead looked like a fixture, but the game changed in the eighth.

How the First Was Won. Smith was the first man up this session, and he was thrown out. Gurney then lined a fast one at Powers, who failed to get it, and Keenan was safe. He then stole second, and Keenan was thrown out by Keifel a moment later on a hit in front of the plate. Loevy Bierbauer came up then, feeling that he was due for something, and he lined out a two-bagger to left. Gurney scoring. Cocash then followed with a three-base drive to deep centre, and Bierbauer scored. Fox singled over Howick's head, King getting the ball, but not in time, and Cocash scoring. Fox went to second on Sweeney's muff and Neale's single sent him to third. He was caught off the bag a minute later, when Neale went down to second, and Keifel fooled Fox by throwing to Powers.

The Saints went into the ninth inning needing three runs, but Smith was unshakable, and although he walked Stewart, the other three were easy to get.

The Second Game.

The second game was full of excitement. Stewart changed his players around quite a bit, sending King a second baseman, in to pitch, Sammy Smith went in to work the second game for London, as Fitzpatrick was due to pitch in Buffalo on Sunday, and did not want to work if it was not necessary. In the first session the Saints got three hits and two runs, but London came right back with one in their half and another in the second inning, which evened the score. In the third inning each team added one, and St. Thomas got three in the fourth, making the score 6 to 3 in their favor. Things looked bad at this stage, as King was showing improvement as the game progressed. The locals were giving Sammy good support, but he was tired and was weakening.

Tied the Score. Then the game was tied, and with it no runs for St. Thomas. Not so

PETROLEA, SARNIA, LONDON
IN JUNIOR O. R. F. U. GROUP

Ontario Rugby Football Union Held Meeting to Draw Up Groups—London Club Had First Practice at Tecumseh Park on Saturday.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—At the executive and general meetings of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, held at the King Edward on Saturday afternoon, there was no representative from the Ottawa club, which was expected to play the senior series. There was nothing said about it at the meeting, but if an application is received before Thursday night, when the senior schedule will be drawn up, they may be admitted.

The O. R. F. U. looks forward to a season even more prosperous than that of 1911. The provincial organization is steadily gaining ground, and doing more than any other to foster and encourage the game in the smaller towns and cities. It is expected that the senior champions will again give a good account of themselves in the Canadian championship series.

LONDON'S FIRST PRACTICE. The first practice of the London Rugby Club for the season of 1912 was held at Tecumseh Park on Saturday after the ball games. A large number of players turned out, and the practice was a very pleasing one to the management. Acting Manager Little was unable to be present, and Dr. J. Cameron Wilson had charge of the boys. The work indulged in was of a very light nature, but judging from the manner in which all of those present handled themselves, there is material for a team of exceptional strength for this fall.

For nearly an hour Dr. Wilson had the boys practicing kicking and catching, and after that some time was spent in running and passing. A short run concluded the practice. The next practice will be held on Tuesday night at 6 o'clock, when everybody is requested to turn out, so that the officers may be able to start systematic practices. All candidates for the back division who can possibly be at the park at 4 or 4:30 on Monday afternoon are asked to be out, as the officers wish to have the backs in good shape by the end of the next two weeks.

Among those present on Saturday were: David Davidson, John Wilson, Campbell, Clinger, McKinnon, Chivers, Ardie, Sing, Walden.

Group 5—Peterboro. Convener, Dr. McPherson.

MEL BROCK BEAT
OLYMPIC CHAMPION

Former London Boy Shows Some Speed at Exhibition Meet on Saturday.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Fifteen of the twenty starters in the 15-mile Marathon at the annual meet of the Canadian National Exhibition on Saturday failed to negotiate the course. The winner was Jim Corkery, one of Canada's representative in the Swedish Olympic Marathon. His time was 1:30:09.

The course, which started and finished on the track at the fairgrounds, was in fairly good condition, but a blazing sun stopped most of the running. The second man to finish was Dellow, a post-entry from St. Marys, Ont., while Jimmy Duffy, of the Eaton A. A., another Olympic Marathoner, and the first Canadian to finish in the series, was third. Atwater, of Broadview, Y. M. C. A., was fourth, and the fifth and last man to finish was Weyer, of the Vermont A. C., Toronto.

At ten miles Dellow took the lead, and at the twelfth Corkery moved up and went out in front.

Ted Meredith, of Mercesburg Academy, the "schoolboy wonder" of the Olympic games, was beaten by Mel Brock, of Toronto, in the half-mile. Brock won easily in 1:58-3-5. He finished with a killing sprint, with Meredith and Phillips, the latter of the last stride. "Fighting it out for second place 20 yards, Brock was in front in 49-1-5 seconds.

The cycle races, particularly the motor-paced five-mile event, aroused the excitement of the crowd of ten thousand who saw the meet.

Geo. Goulding, the world's champion, easily won the two-mile walk, and will probably never be seen in competition again.

Gardner, of the Central Y. M. C. A., one of the most recent top job sprinters, won his preliminary and the final of the hundred in good time. He is a husky lad, with plenty of speed, and ought to train into a good man. Harry Trede had a very good job, winning the four-mile race, but Jack Tressider had to tramp his 220 final in 22 seconds to beat Clark, of Alma A. C., Buffalo, and Gardner, of Central.

The surprise of the day was the defeat of Mel Brock by Jack Tressider in the quarter. Tressider made his sprint 20 feet from the tape, and got in front in the last stride. The quarter was run in 49-1-5 seconds.

The cycle races, particularly the motor-paced five-mile event, aroused the excitement of the crowd of ten thousand who saw the meet.

Cincinnati, Sept. 8.—Cincinnati made it three out of four from Chicago by winning the final game of the series here today. Benion was wild, but Gregory, who relieved him, pitched excellent ball. The game was called at 5 p.m. to allow both teams to catch a train. Madden was hit hard, and Summers was not only hit hard, but was wild. Richie entered the game too late to save it. Bescher's home run in the seventh and Clarke's double with the bases full in the third were the features. Evers was put out of the game by Umpire Brennan for disputing a decision. It was announced here today that Player Schulte would not take the eastern trip with the Chicago team, he having been disciplined by Manager Chance in the form of a suspension. ONE POINT DIFFERENCE

Rochester Won and Lost and Are Pressing Close Behind—Saturday's Scores.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—The Royals reduced the lead of the Leafs in the International League championship race here by taking three games in a row from them. The double-header, played this afternoon on the National lacrosse grounds, saw the largest attendance that has ever witnessed baseball in the history of the game in Montreal. In the first game the locals scored a victory by tallying six against the league leaders' pair, and in the second game they shut them out 1 to 0. "Dummy" Taylor shut them out 1 to 0. Rudolph went to the mound in the opener, and did well enough until the eighth, when he went to pieces, weakening so that the Royals crossed the plate five times, putting them in a comfortable lead. He was replaced by Lush, who finished out the game. The score: First Game. R. H. E.

NEW HORRORS OF MEX. CAMPAIGN

Yaqui Indians Favoring the Rebellion Have Taken the Warpath.

CARRY OFF A CIVILIAN

Federals Who Sallied Out to Meet the Raiders Lose a Number of Men.

[Canadian Press.]
Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 8.—Yaqui Indians favoring the rebellion have taken to the warpath, adding new terrors to the rebel-harassed residents of Sonora, along the Southern Pacific Railroad. A band of 100 Indians raided Realito, a hamlet on the Yaqui River, Saturday night and carried away one of the village officials. They attacked Colonia, near the Southern Pacific headquarters at Empalme, and killed two men, a woman and child, and wounded another woman.

A federal guard, comprising an officer and twelve men, were at the Empalme railway station when the attack was made, and they immediately made off to Realito.

The soldiers met the inhabitants of Colonia fleeing before the Indians toward Empalme, and because the non-combatants were between their pursuers and rescuers, the latter were unable to direct an effective fire at the Yaquis. The Indians, however, sent a brisk fire into the townspeople.

Of the dozen federal soldiers who went out to meet the hostiles, five were killed and six were injured. One Yaqui dead remained on the field when the Indians withdrew to the hills. It is reported that four hundred rebels are encamped almost within sight of Empalme.

MRS. A. M. HAMILTON PASSES AWAY

Her Daughter's Recent Death Shortened the End.

Mrs. A. M. Hamilton, the wife of one of London's oldest and most honored citizens, died yesterday at the family residence, 149 Wellington street.

Mrs. Hamilton had not been in normal health for some time, but the end was hastened by the death of her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Cullen, of Shoal Lake, Man., on Aug. 16.

Mrs. Hamilton was a native of Toronto, but had spent all her married life in this city. She is survived by her husband, and three children: Mr. W. H. Hamilton, of the firm of A. M. Hamilton & Son; Mr. Emory E. Hamilton, of the parks commission; and Miss Mary Hamilton, at home. An overflowing measure of sympathy will go out to the family in view of their double bereavement in less than a month. The late Mrs. Hamilton was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. A wide circle will cherish the memory of her gentle and kindly presence. Interment will take place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery tomorrow.

RABIES SCARE

Dog That Ran Wild Near Guelph Bit Many Cattle.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Guelph, Sept. 9.—Word has been received from provincial headquarters by Clerk Marshall, of Nassagaweya, that the dog whose head was sent for examination recently had rabies. This news has caused a big scare in the district, as the animal ran wild around Nassagaweya, then going into Nelson Township. Early this week it came back to Nassagaweya, and bit a number of pigs owned by Duncan Currie and James Ingles, the latter shooting it. All the animals bitten will be watched for symptoms of rabies.

BIG INCREASE IN TAXES

London Township Expects to Pay an Additional Five Mills.

Residents of London Township expect that next year's taxes will be materially increased this year as a result of the many big bridges that are to be built or have been. The rate is likely to go from 8 to 13 mills, and on a farm assessed at $3,000 this would mean an increase of $40. To a man on a rented farm who pays the taxes this is a considerable burden. Some ratepayers say that the bridges should have been constructed more gradually.

NO NEED TO FEAR SCHAEFER'S THEORY

Evolution of Synthetic Human Is Millions of Years Off.

London, Sept. 8.—Prof. Schaefer's much-heralded presidential speech upon the origin of life at the British Association meeting at Dundee has proved a damp squib. The address was anticipated as a damaging blow at orthodox religion, but it has failed. His ex-cathedra declaration that synthetic chemistry may confidently be expected to produce life is met by his fellow-scientists with amused incredulity. Sir Ray Lankester said that evolution of the synthetic human is probably a hundred million years ahead. Sir Oliver Lodge says that while possibly living material may be artificially obtained in the laboratory some day, life may even then not be better understood. Leading theologians, like Bishop Weldon, declared: "There is nothing in Schaefer's address which ought to excite the slightest opposition or uneasiness in the mind of any Christian."

Possibility of Drastic Action by Washington in Mexico Discussed.

Mexico City, Sept. 8.—The news from Beverly, Mass., where Mr. Taft's summer home is located, regarding possible intervention by the United States has created intense interest, but beyond the expression of the opinion that Mexico is not yet unable to handle the situation, it is impossible to obtain anything definite from official headquarters. Only one paper has published the dispatches from Beverly. The others are withholding, as it is feared that such publications might excite the people unduly.

OLD CHIEF'S GREAT SPEECH

Flays the Coalition.
It had been said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the first meeting of the tour he is beginning, would not touch on the naval question. He did touch on it, however, and unhesitatingly reaffirmed the policy of the Liberal party in establishing a Canadian navy. He dealt with the fiscal question by referring his auditors to his pronouncement on the matter at the Reform Club banquet in Montreal. Above all, however, his speech was a merciless flaying of the Conservative coalition, and a minute analysis of their promises before election as compared with their performances afterward.

Summed up, his remarks on the latter point resolved themselves into this: That none of the great issues on which the election had been fought, and the Liberal solutions of which had been so severely criticised, had been dealt with according to the pre-election promises of Premier Borden and his colleagues.

Courage and strong optimism characterized his speech, and with the power of his oratory, the logic of his remarks, and the undimmed force of his personality, he recommended these qualities to his audience.

Start Again.
He rose to speak after the customary presentation of addresses and a few words from Mr. E. Robert, the local provincial member.

"When I was at the school of St. Lin in my boyhood days," said Sir Wilfrid, "when it occurred in class or recreation that I failed to attain the end I was striving for, my old master used to say to me: 'Crache-tout dans les mains, et reprends-toi.' (Spit on your hands, and start again.)"

"Though I am reaching the end of my career, I have never forgotten that advice, and the Liberal party is about to put it into practice with the greatest energy and the greatest confidence possible."

The Skies Cleared.
We, gentlemen, are prouder of our defeat than our friends are of their victory. The skies have cleared. Like St. Paul, on the road to Damascus, the people have had their eyes opened—Conservatives, Nationalists, Blues, you now see the manner of men you voted for. What illusions fallen, what hopes destroyed, what ideals broken, what heroes destituted, what idols overthrown, how much humiliation in place of the great glory that was promised us!

"Look back a year. They said that Laurier must be overthrown. He had sacrificed the rights of the people, he had been a traitor to his race, he had imposed a navy on you. 'Pardonnez-moi, mes amis,' said Laurier to his colleagues, 'they said, and all that he has not done will be done, and those things which he has done badly will be done well.'

Naval Law in Force Yet.
"You electors of Rouville were not deceived, but how many others allowed themselves to be carried away, and are now regretting it, regretting it in fact on the morrow of our defeat."

"The first session of the new Government began on Nov. 15. Every-one thought the first act would be to abolish the navy. But the session passed, and near the first of April it ended, after sitting for nearly five months."

"And the naval law still exists. Your sons are in just as much danger now of being torn from your arms to be killed in the wars of Japan and China as they were under Laurier. Yet it would have been easy to remove the law from the statute books. A bill of two lines only would have sufficed. But it was not done."

Manitoba School Question.
"Then as to the schools. How many times were you told that Laurier was a traitor to his race and his religion? Everyone waited to see the establishment of separate schools in Manitoba, following immediately the elevation of the Conservatives to power. The eyes of Catholics, Nationalists and Blues were turned towards Messrs. Monk, Nantel and Pelletier; it was a solemn hour."

"The opportunity offered itself early. The question of enlarging the boundaries of Manitoba arose. Ah, said the people, 'now we shall get justice; Laurier is not in power!'"

"Then Mr. Monk spoke—Monk, the man who was going to restore all or break up the country. He said that all he could break was his word. Riveted, soldered to his seat, nothing could make him leave it."

"The question has been settled by Laurier," he said. (A voice in the crowd: "Monk, hypocrite!") "Only the local Legislatures deal with it."

"He could not do any better than that. It is strange that many people regret their vote on the 21st of September. If Monk had spoken before his election as he did afterward do you think the result would have been the same? (Cries of "No, no.")

Marriage Question.
"Mr. Monk, speaking at Sorel, recently, said that the marriage question was agitating the people of Ontario. Why? Because one of his friends tried to introduce a bill to make marriages uniform all over Canada. Mr. Aylesworth, during the Liberal regime, had said that the Federal Parliament could not pass such a law, that the question of marriage belonged solely to the provincial legislatures. Mr. Borden believed as we did, and so did Mr. Doherty, but they did not have the courage to regulate the debate themselves. They went to the supreme court to see if two and two made four, or if Mr. Monk voted while asleep, or slept while voting. The supreme court expressed the same opinion as we had uttered: 'They do nothing by themselves, and what they do they do badly. But the result is showing itself. From the day following the elections, dissensions manifested themselves, and the party was torn with disputes. Everyone wanted to be a minister. Do you remember the special train that went from Quebec to Ottawa with a single passenger, and that a certain prominent financier of Montreal be not appointed to the cabinet? The man they wanted in his place was named."

Borden's Reception.
"Today Prime Minister Borden arrived at Quebec. There is a big reception being given him by the people of Quebec, not because they love him, but because he is the Premier of Canada. It is just that it should be so. Had I been a member of the city council of Quebec I would have done the same. Respect should be shown for established authority."

"But a man named Gregoire, of Quebec, writing in Le Devoir, stated the other day that among the bouquets to be handed to Premier Borden on his arrival would be one asking for the head of Hon. Mr. Pelletier. Discord reigns in their camp, and you know the proverb: 'A house divided against itself will fall.'"

"The end that I have always set myself has been to unite the different interests in Canada and make a united country, a united people. You say: 'We want our full share in the government, and when the minority demands its full rights it exposes itself to peculiar humiliations.'"

"They reproach me for my policy of conciliation. But that policy existed before me. I profit by the occasion to say to the Nationalists how wrong a road they travelled in advising the people as they have. The policy of conciliation existed before me. It was practiced by Papineau during the early part of his life, when he was followed by some of the greatest men of our race. But the moment when, obeying exalted hot-heads, he had recourse to violence, he was abandoned by the wiser men who had followed him. The consequences for abandoning this policy of conciliation was a page of history, heroic no doubt, but stained with blood."

Lafontaine also practiced this policy. I took up this old principle of the Liberal party, and for fifteen years I put it in practice. I have fallen, but I never have been as proud as I am today. The prosperity of Canada is, I believe, largely due to this policy of conciliation, because where discord is there prosperity cannot be."

The old Chief dealt briefly with the report that is current that the Conservative Government intends to change the grades of the Transcontinental Railway, and said that while he had not at present the proof of the charge, he would have them. The Government had made no categorical denial of the fact. "If it is true," he said, "I denounce it in advance. Changing the grades will change the nature of the road and destroy its utility."

navy. "You ask me," he said, "why a marine? Why did Laurier establish one? 'I will tell you. In a country like this events move rapidly, and the man at the head of affairs sometimes has to act quickly, to take risks, if he would do his duty for the safety of his country. In Quebec it is easy to talk of the inutility of the navy. But Canada is not comprised of Quebec alone. There is British Columbia at one end of the Dominion and the Maritime Provinces at the other. Should a country like Canada, with the coast line Canada has, remain absolutely without protection? Those who say so are simply demagogues."

"The question is one which must be settled. We solved it in a manner which we believed was our best duty to Canada and to the Empire. It is easy to regret the naval question. He does not seem to be any nearer a solution than he was before. He is going to submit the matter to his colleagues. I do not reproach him for this. But I will say this in advance: Never, never will I raise my voice in appeals to race or religious prejudices."

"After three months in England Mr. Borden has returned. He went to discuss the naval question. He does not seem to be any nearer a solution than he was before. He is going to submit the matter to his colleagues. I do not reproach him for this. But I will say this in advance: Never, never will I raise my voice in appeals to race or religious prejudices."

"We will discuss the matter calmly and with dignity, and I will try to do my duty as a Canadian and a British subject. I consecrated my life to making Canada a nation. If we are faithful to our program the nation will live and the party triumph."

The conclusion of the speech was followed by an ovation lasting several minutes.

Mr. L. J. Gauthier, M. P., made a humorous speech, full of sarcastic allusions, which caught the fancy of the crowd.

The Great Emotional Actress, Margaret Illington.

At the Grand Margaret Illington will appear tonight and tomorrow night in Charles Kenyon's play of tenement life, entitled "Kindling." To Mr. Kenyon, a San Franciscoan, the credit of writing one of the most perfectly constructed and convincingly a pealing plays that has yet been given to the American public must be accorded, for in his treatment of the theme of "Kindling" he has shown originality, skill and power, which stamp him as a genius in the ranks of our dramatists, and to Mr. Kenyon's remarkable play is the wonderful portrayal of Maggie Schultz, by Margaret Illington, which gives her an opportunity that has never been given before to display the splendid emotional powers with which Miss Illington is so generously endowed. As a result of her acting in this role, Miss Illington has acquired another stage picture to her artistic achievements of the past that will live long in the history of our stage as a classic. The power of mother love, and the sacrifices which it will prompt, form the basic theme of the play.

The Farce Comedy "Billy" for Four Performances.
Why a young woman should "ease to love a young man because he has to wear four false teeth, whether she is cease to love him, or will overlook the deficiency in month furniture, because it is the result of heroism in a football game, are problems which Billy tries to solve in the farce of that name, which Albert Phillips and his wife, Lella Shaw, are at the Grand on Wednesday and Thursday matinee and night. But these problems are quickly forgotten in the hilarious comedy of losing the false teeth, and it is the search to find them that makes Billy's desperate condition so amusing to all who go to see the farce. Founded solely on four false teeth that didn't stay where they belonged. For a comedy, "Billy" is an act that could be for the object in view is to make you laugh and forget the trials and tribulations of life, and it carries out every promise which could be made for its merits, and for a fair week attraction nothing could have been chosen by the management more appropriate. "The Great Divide."
"The Great Divide," with an exceptionally strong company in the principal characters, comes to the Opera House on Friday, Sept. 13, for two nights, and matinee Saturday afternoon at 2:30. In this fascinating story of the West, a woman who is attacked by three drunken ruffians, sells herself to the only American in the crowd to save her husband. Recognizing her bondage to her husband, and feeling gratitude is due him, she still hates him for his share in the dastardly plot. She flees from her husband to her old home in New England, and it is here he finds her, when his regeneration is complete, and wins her love by the very force of his own dramatic story, as will be presented and staged will be a fitting close for the week of festivities, and by many will be considered as the feature of the full week of attractions. DO NOT READ BIBLES BUT READ OF GOOD LIVES

Many London People Would Suffer for Belief, Says Rev. G. B. Sage.

"There are many people in this city who do not read their Bible or New Testament from one week's end to the other, but they do read the lives of those people who bear the marks of the Lord Jesus Christ," said Rev. Dr. Sage, rector of St. George's Anglican Church, during the course of a sermon yesterday morning. St. Paul's words, "I fear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus Christ," were chosen as a text, and Dr. Sage suggested that although Christians were not now called upon to bear bodily suffering as they were in the days of the early church, he did not doubt in the least that many of the men and women before him would be quite winning to do so today for the sake of their religion.

CHANGES IN BRITISH ADMIRALTY

London, Sept. 8.—Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, in continuance of his plans for the reform of the navy, today announces further administrative changes. The main feature is the allotment to each lord of the admiralty of specific duties, which are precisely defined and which correspond to the qualifications of the respective lords. These are: First sea lord and admiral of the fleet, Vice-Admiral Sir Francis Bridgman; second sea lord, Vice-Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg; third sea lord, Rear-Admiral Charles John Briggs; fourth sea lord, Captain William C. Pakenham, and civil lord, George Lambert, M.P.

Several lower deck reforms mainly in the direction of the lightening of punishments, are announced.

The whole reorganization aims, like Mr. Churchill's other reforms at running the navy on business lines.

SIX KILLED ON TRACK BY MOTORCYCLE CRASH

Hasha, World's Champion, Instantly Killed With Another Contestant and Four Spectators When Machine Going 92 Miles an Hour Plunges Over the Railing.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 8.—Eddie Hasha, of Waco, Texas, holder of the world's record for motor-cycle racing, plunged over the rail of the course at the new Newark Motor-drome in a crowd late this afternoon, causing the death of six persons, including himself, while six are dying and 13 are badly injured.

The only two of the six dead positively identified up to a late hour tonight were Hasha and Johnny Albright, a Denver motor cyclist, who was riding third in the race. The other four dead were boys and young men among the spectators.

Plunge to Death.
Five thousand spectators were witnessing the finish of a four-mile free-for-all when the daring Texas rider, doing 92 miles an hour, took his fatal plunge. He was riding high on the bank of the track, when the wheel of his heavy machine swerved and struck the upper rail. He was pitched head-first fifty feet into the air. He must have been instantly killed in the collision. His body was shapeless from broken bones when it was picked up, almost at the feet of his wife, seated among men and boys in the bleachers. Albright was thrown headfirst in the other direction into the inclosure of the track, when the champion's wheel came sliding down the steep bank and struck him. He was picked up for dead, but he lived in an unconscious state for more than two hours after his removal to a hospital. He finally succumbed to hemorrhage of the lungs.

The spectators injured were mainly the men and boys who were leaning over the rail yelling encouragement to the riders, when Hasha came tearing into their midst.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

AFTER LOSING POSITION

Henry B. Smith, Formerly of Clinton, Ended His Life at Rochester.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Rochester, Sept. 8.—Melancholy because he had lost his position as floor-walker in the Duffy-Powers department store here, Henry B. Smith, 25, went to his room in Windsor street late last night and turned on the gas. He was found dead in bed this morning. Smith came here from Clinton, Ontario, a year ago. He had been employed as a clerk in the Duffy store and was finally promoted to aisle manager. Two weeks ago he was discharged, the store superintendent telling him he had not "made good."

Smith complained to his landlady that he felt badly over the loss of his position. Last night he called out to her that she would find his room rent on the dresser in the morning. He entered his room, closed the window, stuffed paper in the keyhole of the door, and then turned on the gas.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

TUESDAY'S MARKET WILL BE LARGE

Farmers Will Attend the Fair During Wednesday and Thursday.

With the exception of a few loads of any there were no offerings on the market today. It is not expected that the market will be large this week on account of the Fair. Tuesday will be a fairly active day, but on Wednesday and Thursday the attendance will be small, as those are the two days on which the farmers, as a rule, attend the exhibition.

There was no shipment of live hogs today, but on Saturday McIntyre stated that he intended to ship on Wednesday. He did not say whether the price, but it is probable it will be the same as that which prevailed at the last two shipments, $15.15 per cwt.

Last week was one of the best of the year on the local market, and the sales were brisk every day, except in the vegetable section. Vegetables supply exceeded demand greatly. On Saturday the market was dull for some time, but toward the end the sales became brisk.

MANY "HERE-AGAINS" IN MR. JUDD'S COURT

"Take Me, Too," Said Gallant Frank Harris as He Saw Wife Being Juggled.

William Kelly, who interfered with P. C. Frobyn while the latter was making an arrest, was fined $2 or five days in police court today. He paid the fine.

Frank Harris, a colored man, was charged with being disorderly, while his better half, Lottie Harris, answered to a charge of drunkenness. P. C. McCullough made the arrest, and while he was assisting Lottie to the police station, Frank came up and told the officer to take him too. In fact, he insisted upon being taken, and it was necessary to call out the patrol wagon before the pair were landed in the cells. It cost them both $2 or five days.

Wm. Foster, Wm. Gerry, and Chris Moriarty, a trio of "here-againers," were fined $10 or 21 days in Castle Carter. They took the days.

David Armstrong, who not only gets drunk, but goes home and calls his mother names, was given a month in jail because of his inability to pay $21. Armstrong is an Indian sister and he has been up on different occasions on charges of drunkenness.

Wednesday afternoon, a man asked the magistrate to have him kept away from her as long as possible. "He will not bother you for a month, anyway," said the magistrate as they led Armstrong to the lock-up.

C. P. R. PRESIDENT TALKS OF COMPANY

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Says New Issue of Stock Is Necessary.

RATE CONTROL PROBLEM

Declares That It Is a Matter for the Railway Commission to Handle.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, arrived in the city by special train tonight on his annual inspection tour of the system. He is accompanied by three directors of the company, R. H. Angus, Sir Edmund Osler and W. L. D. Matthews, and by Ferdinand F. Begg, a London financier and a former member of the British House of Commons, now of Montreal, but formerly well known in Winnipeg, and R. Osler, of Osler, Hammond & Nanton.

Sir Thomas and his party were met at the station by Sir William Coleman and A. M. Nanton, George Bury, vice-president and general manager of the road; Grant Hall, general superintendent; J. G. Sullivan and D. C. Coleman also arrived in the city. Sir Thomas' Special, having gone down to Fort William to meet them, Sir Thomas and his friends are guests at the Royal Alexandra.

Sir Thomas interviewed. Interviewed later, Sir Thomas made a full statement of the Canadian Pacific policy with regard to the new stock issue, the issue of stock below market quotations, freight rates, jurisdiction and other matters of much interest concerning the C. P. R. Of the proposed new stock issue, he indicated that it was made necessary by the increasing scope of the company's undertakings, and was in no way affected by the fact that large dividends have been paid. These, he said, were in a great extent, revenue from land sales, quite apart from the earnings of the railway.

"The 'ten per cent clause' he described as a device, saying that for years the company has earned more than ten per cent on its capital investment, and had consequently submitted to rate control by the railway board.

He was full of optimism concerning the outlook this fall. "Last year fearful things were predicted," he said, "but everybody came out all right. It will be just the same this year. You can't keep the west down, and it is impossible to discourage it."

The Stock Issue. Discussing the proposed stock issue of the Canadian Pacific railway, Sir Thomas said: "The policy and affairs of the Canadian Pacific are proper subjects for discussion and criticism by the public and the press of Canada. The company's property would naturally breed some jealousy, and the bogy of melon-cutting, as it is sometimes termed, can be haunted with a degree of effectiveness that would not be possible in other circumstances. No doubt you agree with me that the people of Canada take a just pride in their great railway, would not let any other country have it, and, indeed, while they give it a good many hard knocks themselves, they would not permit any outsider to hit it. While I say the railway is the backbone of the country, a proper subject for discussion in Canada we should start with correct premises or our conclusions will be far from sound. Most people forget or do not know that the cash subsidies, large amounts received from the sale of land and proceeds of land-grant bonds, all of which were applied to the construction and equipment of the railway, play a part whatever in the accounts of the company, the cost of the property having been reduced by these amounts years ago.

The Land Grant. "The land grant has proved to be a most valuable asset, but if we go back to 1888, we find that $150,000,000 of land-grant bonds were issued by the government of the company and fortified by a Dominion Government guarantee of interest, only realized about ninety in the market. This would represent an average price of about eighty cents an acre, so that twenty-four years ago this was the valuation put upon the lands by the investing public. In 1901 the average selling price of the lands was a shade over $3 an acre. In 1902 the first real activity in land sales commenced, due in considerable measure to sales in large areas given to colonization agents at a very low figure, but in that year the average price an acre realized was only $3.26. Since then the price has steadily advanced, and the railway company, the farmer, and the owner of farm lands or any other description of land in Western Canada has reaped the benefit of enhanced values. So that for seventeen years after the completion of the railway the land grant in that vast wilderness was not coveted by anybody, and it was only after 1902 that stupendous efforts and the vast expenditures of the company to attract attention and bring people to the country, commenced to bear fruit, and the land grant became an important feature in the company's financial affairs."

Control of Rates. Sir Thomas passed on to a consideration of the proposed control of rates by parliament, after the company pays 10 per cent dividends. "I notice," he said, "that frequent reference is made to what is known as the ten per cent clause in the company's contract with the Dominion Government. Briefly stated, the contract provided that the company's rate for the carriage of traffic should not be subject to parliamentary supervision until such a time as the company was earning 10 per cent. per annum on the capital actually invested in the work. Dividends played no part, you will observe. It made no difference whether the company was paying 20 per cent, 10 per cent, 5 per cent, or no dividend at all. The determining factor was the earnings resulting from the operation of the railway, for a long time we have not pleased that we were not earning 10 per cent. Our rates and tolls have been submitted to the railway commission, and are dealt with in exactly the same way as those of any other railway company in the country, excepting the intercolonial, which does not come under the jurisdiction of the commission. So that the ten per cent clause, as it is called, has been a dead issue for a considerable period.

But the subject of rates is now before the commission for consideration, and, therefore, I do not think it proper to enlarge upon the subject. It may be taken for granted that, whatever the decision of the commission may be, the 10 per cent clause will not be a factor directly or indirectly. As I said before, it was a condition of the original contract that was swamped and buried by the growth of the company's earnings, and it could not be pleaded now even if the company desired to do so."

Financial Policy. Speaking of the issue of stock at a price below the market quotation, Sir Thomas proceeded:

"Now, any person who knows about the expenditures that have been faced upon us year by year to provide additional facilities apart from the new railway mileage, can understand the necessity for increases in capital account. In the ten years ending 30 June 1912, the company expended in Western Canada for increased terminals, yard, siding, track and other facilities, $75,000,000, and in Eastern Canada nearly $4,000,000, and additional cars and locomotives cost in that same period over $31,000,000, so that we have here an expenditure of $200,000,000 that had to come from the proceeds of sales of common and preference stock and from surplus earnings.

"I think that every financial man who has given the subject thought will testify that the company's financial policy has been wise and prudent. And that its present strong position is due to almost universal faith in the correctness of its methods.

But someone says, if the shares are selling in the market at 270, why let the shareholders have the stock on any lower basis.

The man who asks that question means well, no doubt, but he overlooks the fact that shareholders are the proprietors of the company, who have no guarantee whatever of future dividends who invest their money because they have faith in the future of the company, and take chances on a series of bad crops, or war, or pestilence, or anything else that may at some time or other have a serious influence on the company's revenue.

Bond Holders Secured. The bond or debenture holder has security for his fixed return, but the holder of the common stock is not in that position. The board of directors of the company in determining the issue price of the stock must take into account many things that do not occur to those who lack intimacy with the company's affairs, or indeed with financial affairs generally. "Credit of a Government of a municipality or a railway company is a tender plant that must be handled with the greatest possible care, if money required from time to time is not to cost too much, or is to be promptly obtained. The directors of the company have the only persons who have the intimate knowledge required to determine what the price should be, and this duty is assigned to them by their fellow proprietors. Unless they are reckless or lacking in integrity, they will exercise their best judgment, looking to the future welfare of the company, and if there be substance to the suggestion, or any other cause for disapproval to the shareholders, the directors will be free from blame.

"If, however, the Government were to assume this duty of the directors, and were arbitrarily to fix the premium at which the shares should be offered to the proprietors, or the public, the position and responsibility of the Government would be essentially different from that of the board of directors. The order in council, fixing the premium, would, I think, generally be accepted as an undertaking on the part of the Government that the market price of the shares would never fall below the figure named. Indeed, I do not see how the Government could justify each action without coupling with it a direct undertaking to that effect.

"You will see at once that our Canadian Government would be in an undesirable position if an order was given to the company to issue its shares, at say, 150, and if in the course of time, and by a combination of circumstances that nobody could have foreseen or controlled, the market price of the shares was reduced to a figure that represents a loss to the shareholders.

"Manifestly, while it is probably quite competent for the Government to refuse point blank its approval of a proposed increase in a railroad's capital stock, and thus in all likelihood force restrictions of expenditure, with consequent public loss and inconvenience, there are in my opinion inconceivable grounds upon which that same Government could fix an issue price in

Trusses Like These Are A Crime

Get Rid of Elastic Bands, Springs and Leg-Straps. Such things are a crime. Forced Thousands to Undergo Dangerous Operations.

Trusses like those shown above—the belt and leg-strap, elastic and spring contraptions sold by drug stores, surgical supply houses and many self-styled "Hereditary Specialists"—make life miserable for everybody who wears them.

And—when drawn so tight you can scarcely stand to keep them on—they do no good whatever.

Instead, they often do immense harm—they squeeze the rupture, often causing strangulation—dig into the pelvic bone in front—press against the sensitive spinal column at the back.

The Plain Truth Is This. Ruptures—explained in our free book—can't be relieved or cured—can't even be kept from growing worse—unless constantly held in place. Just as a broken bone can't "knit" unless the parts are held securely together.

And—just as a bandage or splint is the only way a broken bone can be held—the right kind of truss is the only thing in the world that can keep a rupture from coming out.

What a difference it will make when you get that kind of truss. And you can get exactly that kind of truss—without risking a cent of your money.

It's the famous Clutte Truss or Clutte Automatic Massager. Far more than a truss—far more than merely a device for holding the rupture in place.

So different from everything else for rupture that it has received 18 separate patents. Thousands say it is as comfortable as their clothing.

No belt, elastic belt or springs around your waist, and no leggings. Self-regulating, self-adjusting. It is held in position by suction—can't shift or slip—the only truss in existence that is honestly guaranteed to hold your rupture every minute of the day.

Sent on 60 Days' Trial to Prove It. We have so much faith in the Clutte Truss—we have seen it work wonders for so many others—that we want to make one especially for your case, and let you try it at our risk.

We'll give you 60 days' trial to prove that this truss will keep your rupture from coming out, when you are working, and at all other times—that it will put an end to the trouble you've heretofore had with your rupture—that it will improve your condition. If the trial we allow you
