The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol  $\rightarrow$  (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol  $\nabla$  (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaît sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole  $\rightarrow$  signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole  $\nabla$  signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

The Public Archives of Canada, though primarily intended for the preservation of official records, serves the secondary, but not unimportant purpose of furnishing materials for historical study.

History, it need hardly be said, is no longer regarded merely as a field for the exercise of literary skill; it has to a large extent lost its epic character and assumed the severe guise of science. Original documents or faithful transcripts of them must be consulted, and it is manifestly important that these should be made accessible, under as favourable conditions as possible to all serious students. There is in Canada to-day a growing historical school; and it is a satisfaction to know that much benefit has already been derived, by our younger writers particularly, from the resources which the Public Archives have placed at their disposal. The work, of which the first volume is now published, is intended to promote a wider and fuller knowledge of the range and variety of the papers which the Archives contain, and of the manner of their classification and arrangement.

The task of preparing A Guide to the Documents in the Manuscript Room at the Public Archives of Canada has been entrusted to Mr. David Parker, M.A., who was first brought into touch with our collections through compiling for the Carnegie Institute of Washington a volume entitled A Guide to the Materials for United States History in Canadian Archives. Mr. Parker has since been placed in charge of the Manuscript Division of this Department. It is hoped that his work will prove of material assistance to students in the field of Canadian and, to some extent, of general history.

INTRODUCTION.

Probably the most outstanding feature in the rapid growth of the Public Archives of Canada in the past decade has been the acquisition of many fonds d'archives, private collections, and transcripts. One result of these accessions from public departments and other sources was to render inadequate the means formerly employed for making known to the general public the nature of such material. At the same time another difficulty steadily grew worse. The available supply of the early Archives Reports, some of which contain useful calendars, has become exhausted. Furthermore, to locate the documents relating to the average subject, even with the aid of a complete set, usually means a tedious search, for with a few exceptions the Reports are not indexed.* Consequently, it was decided to issue in a convenient form a work which would deal in a broad way with material already calendared as well as with recent acquisitions. The present volume forms the first half of this plan, and includes nearly all the series which are in proper form to be inventoried.

At the outset it is desirable to state some patent limitations of this book. In the first place it makes no attempt to supersede existing calendars, but aims to list the chief subjects and to render them more available through an index. Secondly, only the main topics of each volume or section are noted: subjects of minor importance, or which are concerned with details cannot come within the scope of this manual. In many cases only the name of the topic could be given. To proceed further would require too much space, and often involve disputed questions, with which it is the task of the historian rather than the archivist to deal. Finally, problems of classification and arrangement are touched upon only when it becomes necessary to mention changes made in old series. Such matters are of course highly important, but it is not intended in this volume to encroach upon the sphere of an archives manual.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the Archives Reports, it may be well to state that manuscripts in the Public Archives fall under three heads: (1) old records transferred from various government departments; (2) transcripts made in Europe and America; and (3) collections or single items acquired by gift or purchase.

The first volume includes the various series of both French and English régime, which are usually termed "state papers," and a few collections closely affiliated with them.

Since a large amount of reclassification and sorting must intervene before the material for another volume will be ready for definite description, two years at least will be required before the second part of this Guide may be expected. This being the case, a few notes on the more important collections not included in this volume may prove useful.

Papers from the Privy Council. Minutes of the Executive Councils of Upper and Lower Canada, from 1764 to 1867, and accompanying papers, miscellaneous volumes and loose documents. With a possible exception in favour of series G, this is the most important original collection at the Archives.

Papers from the Department of the Secretary of State. From 1760 to 1840 there are papers of several offices dealing with local administration, chief among them being those of the civil secretaries of the governors and lieutenant-governors, and the provincial secretaries of both provinces.

*None previous to the year 1904 are indexed, and only a few after that date.

There is also a considerable admixture of private papers and other documents of an intrusive character. From 1841 to 1867 the series consist of the records of provincial secretaries of Canada East and Canada West.

Papers from the Department of Indian Affairs.—Volumes and loose papers of departmental and local correspondence, minutes, accounts, land books, etc. Among them may be mentioned the records of the Toronto and Sarnia offices. The entire collection ranges from 1722 to 1867.

Papers from the Department of Militia and Defence.—Registers, letter-books, loose correspondence, pay-lists and muster-rolls, accounts, reports of boards, etc. This material begins with the close of the eighteenth century and continues to the present day, but is not complete for all periods.

Personal Papers and Collections.—The papers of Lord Durham, Sir Charles Bagot, Joseph Howe, John Askin, Col. Claus, and the collections of John Neilson, L. R. Masson, and Sir Thomas Phillipps (in part) are among the most important originals in this category, while the Shelburne Manuscripts, and papers of the Earl of Selkirk, Bishop Inglis, and General James Murray are transcripts of much historical value. There are also many smaller items of both kinds.

Miscellaneous.—The greater part of the material under this heading formerly was in the old series M, which it was found advisable to reconstruct. The series separated from this mass are nearly all transcripts. Among them are ordinances of the intendants, insinuations of the Sovereign Council, aveux, denombrements et déclarations, proceedings of the prévôté of Quebec, parish registers, papers relating to the Canadian post office, despatches from the Commander-in-Chief at New York to the Secretary of State (1755-1783), sundry War Office papers, documents relating to the Hudson's Bay Company, correspondence and other papers relating to the international boundary (1816-1850), etc. In addition to such series, which could be segregated as distinct units, there remains a mass of heterogeneous items which cannot be united to any series, which includes both originals and copies, and which relates to a great diversity of subjects.

GUIDE TO MANUSCRIPT MATERIALS.

SERIES G.

In 1904 a large collection of despatches, letter-books and secretarial correspondence was transferred from the Governor-General's office to the Public Archives. The portions with which we are now dealing are the original despatches from the Colonial Office to governors-general of British North America and to lieutenant-governors of some of the provinces, and the complementary letter-books containing replies. Many of the latter had been borrowed by various departments and were not returned. Those found among the records transferred to the Archives from the Department of the Secretary of State and the Privy Council have been placed with Series G, of which they properly form a part.

Persons who may follow the treatment of this series in the Guide to the Materials for United States History in Canadian Archives will notice that beginning with number 240 there is a divergence between the former and the present aspects of the series. This is due to the fact that the first classification of G was not a proper one, and it became necessary to make certain changes. Several volumes and portfolios are now with the records of the governor-general's secretaries, where they rightfully belong, and other logical arrangements have been made. The old numbers can readily be traced by means of a key-list.

Many portfolios embraced within numbers 108-239 still require minor changes. These will have only a slight effect upon the subjects, but will modify the pagination. Consequently this has not been given; the portfolios will average about 325 pages.

The series as it now stands consists of (1) original despatches from the Colonial Office to governors and lieutenant-governors; (2) letter-books, entry-books, and drafts; (3) interprovincial despatches; (4) correspondence with the British minister at Washington; and (5) a few despatches to and from the Treasury.

A brief analysis is appended as a guide to the various sections of this series.

SERIES C.

When the Canadian government in 1870 assumed the responsibility of providing for defence, the records of the military secretary's office at Montreal, which had been for a long period the headquarters, were sent to Halifax. On the eve of their transference from there to England Dr. Brymner succeeded in obtaining the major portion of them for the recently established Archives Branch at Ottawa. They arrived as a mass of loose papers, and were sorted, classified, and indexed by the archivist. When bound they comprised a little over one thousand folio volumes. The 62425-5½ indexes placed in each number serve as a guide to names and the principal subjects.

This part of series C consists of correspondence with enclosures, returns, and miscellaneous documents received at the office of the military secretary to the commander of the forces in Canada, and a few drafts of replies. It covers the period 1786-1870. An excellent description of the character of this material may be quoted here. "There are papers of every conceivable description. Many relate to trivial matters and the petty details of military administration or the interior economy of a corps or military post, but a great number are of permanent historical value. Some contain only a few words scrawled on a mere slip of paper possibly by the uncertain light of a camp fire in the heart of the woods while a large proportion are lengthy and momentous despatches from the Admiralty, the Treasury Board, or the War Office, bearing the signature of a Secretary of State, or from officers of rank, detailing their operations in the field, while events were still fresh in their minds. . . . Most interesting are the numerous reports and statements of confidential agents, deserters, prisoners, and spies, and the matter-of-fact journals of officers on special service which have thus been preserved. Rough drafts of some very important despatches may sometimes be profitably compared with the finished documents.

"Although dealing in the main with military affairs, these papers will be found to contain much useful information relating to the administration of justice and civil government, the construction of bridges, canals, docks, lighthouses, roads, wharfs, and public buildings, immigration and the location of settlers, the management of Indian affairs, the conveyance of mails, the exploration of the country, the provincial marine establishment and shipping on the Lakes, the state of political feeling, and relations with the United States."<sup>1</sup>

In 1904 another large collection of military records was obtained from Halifax. This included both letter-books and original correspondence. Among the former the most important are those of the commander of the forces in Canada and his military secretary, officers commanding in Nova Scotia, and officers of the Royal Engineers at Montreal and Halifax. A large part of these letter-books are complementary to the original correspondence obtained by Dr. Brymner in 1873. With them should be classed numerous entry-books, a large part of which contain copies of letters received from England.

The bulk of the original papers comprises English and local correspondence received by officers in the Nova Scotia command, and letters of Royal Engineers in various districts.

The records received in 1904 comprise numerous series of official correspondence, some of which are sadly incomplete. As a result several parts have a fragmentary and disjointed appearance. Many volumes and portfolios are not indexed, and in the case of the remainder the character of the indexes varies greatly. Some are arranged alphabetically by names or subjects or both, while others are in the form of a brief calendar or register showing the purport of each letter, and a few are intricate arrangements requiring the use of a key. Therefore the term "indexed" in the following pages which deal with C1175-1760 denotes merely the presence of an index; the variations of good, bad, or complex are too many to be specified in each case.

Besides the material received in 1873 and 1904 there have been added to series C several volumes and portfolios of miscellaneous military documents, some of which blend readily while some should have been placed in other series. As an inventory has been published, however, it has been judged inadvisable to make any changes.

The series as a whole, therefore, consists of three portions: (1) the first 1,000 volumes of original papers, arranged in an artificial and unscientific manner; (2) about 1,500 letter-books, entry-books, portfolios of original documents, etc., which comprise entire and fragmentary series; and (3) miscellaneous items added at different times from a variety of sources.

About one hundred portfolios of original correspondence and other papers at the end of the series are not described in the following pages, as they have not yet received a definite arrangement. This material is chiefly local, and relates for the most part to the maritime provinces.

An inventory of series C by Lieutenant-Colonel E. Cruikshank forms Publication no. 2 of the Public Archives.

- 0-13. 1805-1820. Accounts, warrants, returns, etc. These volumes deal with the financial side of military administration and are concerned largely with Upper and Lower Canada. Some of them are composed for the most part of estimates of pay. There are also bonds, instructions to paymasters, lists of persons in various departments of the service, occasional correspondence respecting roads, lands, etc. Vol. 0 covers the entire period 1805-1820; the remainder extend from 1816 to 1820. The books contain an average of about 125 pages each.
- 14. 1796-1816. Aliens. Passports, and correspondence regarding suspected persons. The most important case is that of Louis Le Couteulx, arrested at Fort George in 1800 by order of the commander-in-chief. Some of the other persons mentioned are Simon Harnot, René Fouquet, Mr. Casino, Gen. Moreau, and Jacob Underkirk. 194 pp.
- 15-28. 1786-1870. Appointments, memorials. The petitions are chiefly for positions, appointments, or relief. A large part of the correspondence is composed of letters from the War Office and the Horse Guards to the commander of the forces in Canada, and relates to promotions and appointments. There are numerous lists of promotions. Many of the memorials give accounts of services rendered in various engagements, etc. The volumes average about 225 pages each.
- 29-37. 1792-1870. Army miscellaneous. A large part of these volumes consists of letters from the War Office and the Horse Guards to officers holding the principal commands in Canada, and of the correspondence between such officers. These communications are valuable for the distribution of forces, their increase or reduction, recruiting, and promotions. There are also various returns of troops, among them a monthly return of forces in Upper Canada, Sept. 25, 1792, circulars, lists, general orders, and miscellaneous correspondence. These volumes are important for the history of military administration in Canada during this period. They average about 260 pages.
- 38-62. 1800-1868. Canals. Largely correspondence of the officers of the Royal Engineers in Canada. The first two volumes extend to 1821, and are chiefly concerned with the St. Lawrence canals at the Cascades, Côteau du Lac, and Split Rock. Other topics are the beginnings of the Grenville canal, plans for the Lachine

- canal, and the improvement of navigation of the Rideau river. Nos. 40-42 inclusive cover the period 1822-1826, and are mainly upon the Grenville canal. The remaining volumes of this section are for the most part composed of correspondence on the construction of the Grenville and Rideau canals. Documents dealing with the St. Lawrence canals are scattered through these later books, and at times are quite abundant. Material relating to the Lachine, Chambly, Carillon, Cornwall, Beauharnois, Welland, and Burlington canals is also found, although it is comparatively scanty. The volumes average 240 pages.
- 63-75. 1792-1870. Chaplaincies. Chiefly military correspondence respecting chaplains and chaplaincies in various parts of Canada. In addition these volumes contain material covering a wider scope, much of which is important for the history of the various religious sects. Such are statistics and letters dealing with the ecclesiastical establishment in Upper and Lower Canada, building and repair of churches, grants of land for religious purposes, burial grounds, etc. The volumes average about 300 pages.
- 76-76A. 1796-1845. Civil government, Lower Canada. The title of these volumes is somewhat deceptive. The material is almost wholly composed of correspondence between civil and military officials in Canada, together with despatches from the imperial authorities. A large part of these documents deal with the civil expenditure, and should be classified as public accounts. Some of them also relate to the military chest. The remaining papers are concerned with a variety of subjects, such as roads, navigation, auctioneers, licenses of different kinds, census returns of Lower Canada in 1831 and 1844, etc. A few relate in part to the maritime provinces, such as Gother Mann's considerations on the boundary between Canada and New Brunswick and the United States, dated April 23, 1802. Pp. 281, 112.
- 77-79. 1792-1845. Civil government, Upper Canada. These volumes are of the same general character as those for Lower Canada. Among miscellaneous papers are documents respecting roads, harvests, various land matters, legislation, Indians, etc., and an undated plan by Capt. A. G. Douglas for the establishment of a military school in Canada. Pp. 173, 148, 194.
- 80-83. 1848-1870. Civil government. The documents for the period 1841-1870 are much more formal than those covering the years 1796-1840. Letters from the civil secretaries at Quebec and Toronto to various military officers are the chief factors. These volumes deal with various aspects of civil administration with which the military service had some connection. Pp. 357, 139, 195, 194.
- 84-101. 1812-1870. Claims for losses. This section relates chiefly to claims for losses incurred during the War of 1812 and the Rebellion of 1837. There are also claims for services rendered. The material consists of petitions, lists of property destroyed, proceedings of boards of claims and courts of enquiry, correspondence, etc. Nos. 84-98 inclusive cover the dates 1812-1815; vols. 95-98 have documents upon the years 1828-1839. The last three numbers of this section are chiefly concerned with claims for losses of soldiers' necessaries and clothing by fires, etc. The volumes average nearly 300 pages each.

- 102-104. 1793-1844. Command money. Returns, and correspondence respecting command money. Nearly all of these documents relate to troops in Upper Canada. Pp. 137, 213, 147.
- 105-163. 1788-1870. Commissariat. General correspondence, returns, estimates, reports, petitions, etc., relating to the commissariat department. In the early volumes are occasional papers which touch upon the progress of settlement in Upper Canada. Nos. 115A-115F are portfolios of abstracts, accounts, certificates, pay rolls and receipts, and relate to the commissariat in Upper Canada during the years 1792-1811. The War of 1812 is covered by volumes 116-120 inclusive. The books average about 300 pages.
- 164-178. 1790-1870. Courts martial. Correspondence, proceedings of courts martial, general orders, petitions, warrants, affidavits, etc. The volumes average about 225 pages.
- 179-183. 1845-1870. Deserters. Civil and military correspondence, circulars, memoranda and returns. These books average about 275 pages.
- 184-186A. 1865-1870. Fenians. Military and civil correspondence in Canada, despatches from the War Office, telegrams, memoranda, returns, reports, etc. These relate principally to the attempts at invasion made in 1866. The three volumes have respectively 234, 168, and 165 pages, while 186A is a portfolio containing over 500 telegrams respecting Fenian plans against New Brunswick.
- 187-222. 1787-1845. Half-pay. Correspondence, petitions, returns, circulars, etc., respecting half-pay, pensions, leaves of absence, and relief of widows and daughters of soldiers. Many of the petitions give details of services rendered. The volumes average about 175 pages.
- 223-244. 1789-1833. Horse Guards. In the early volumes of this section the most important constituents are letters from the Horse Guards and the War Office to the chief military officials in Canada, and correspondence between the commander-in-chief at Halifax and the officer in charge of the forces in the Canadas. These communications relate to staff appointments and duties and various matters connected with military organization. Some of them are long and important. Next in value comes the correspondence of subordinate officers and military secretaries. The remaining papers consist mainly of returns of general and staff officers, petitions, memoranda, requisitions for stationery, circulars, etc. The later volumes are more formal in character, there are fewer military despatches, and the returns deal with more departments of the service. Many of the papers relate to the office of the quartermaster-general. The books average nearly 170 pages.
- 245-246. 1793-1837. Imperial miscellaneous. Correspondence, circulars, proclamations, Orders in Council, addresses, lists of subscribers to various monuments, etc. These papers relate principally to formal matters, such as treaties or regulations.
- No. 245 has two letters of 1793 on an attack ordered against St. Pierre and Miquelon.
- In 246 are a couple of communications to the governor-general of Canada from the Chevalier de Onis, dated at Philadelphia, Nov., 16, 1814, and Feb. 20, 1815, concerning a request made for a temporary loan of $20,000 for the expenses of the Spanish embassy in the United States until remittances should arrive.

- 247-271. 1767-1859. Indians. These volumes relate to the Indian department in Upper and Lower Canada, and are very important for that subject. There are few papers previous to 1793, and a comparatively small amount of material after 1832. Letters addressed to the military secretary at Quebec by persons in the Indian department and army officers, together with copies of numerous replies form the bulk of this correspondence. Communications from the secretary of Indian affairs at Montreal are very frequent in the early volumes. Among enclosures and miscellaneous papers minutes of Indian councils, returns of presents and stores, and reports of boards of survey are plentiful. Apart from details of the administration of the department these records are valuable for the history of the tribes and of their part in military operations during these years. The first two volumes, which are mainly upon the period 1793-1795, have much information about the western Indians, the movements of General Wayne's army, and the treaty of Greenville. Correspondence, minutes of councils, and other papers relating to Indians in the United States are quite frequent until the close of the War of 1812. The books average about 350 pages.
- 272-277. 1805-1845. Lands and roads, Upper Canada. Correspondence, petitions, lists, memoranda, etc., relating to military reserves, and the construction of roads and bridges. The volumes average about 225 pages.
- 278-282. 1792-1809. Lands, etc., Sorel. These volumes are composed of petitions, correspondence, and returns relating to the crown seigniorship of Sorel. Lands, the invalid asylum, and the relief of aged soldiers are the chief topics. The numbers average about 250 pages.
- 283-286. 1797-1845. Mails. Principally letters addressed to the military secretary at Quebec by post office officials and military officers regarding mails, postal routes, the conveyance of despatches, etc. These volumes have a wide geographical range.
Pp. 228, 216, 177, 263.
- 287-315. 1787-1870. Medical. Military correspondence, petitions, returns, requisitions, and proceedings of medical boards relating to the Army Medical Department. Nearly all of this material is confined to the area of Quebec and Ontario. The volumes average about 240 pages.
- 316-319. 1800-1870. Military aid at riots. Correspondence, depositions, general orders, reports and memoranda respecting military aid to the civil power at riots, fires, street disturbances, etc.
Pp. 403, 319, 414, 276.
- 320-343. 1793-1845. Military chest. Correspondence, returns, proceedings of boards of accounts and boards of survey, statements, estimates, memoranda, etc., regarding the military chest, pay of the forces, and the general finance of military administration in Canada. The volumes average about 170 pages.
- 344-362. 1846-1870. Military prisons. Letters from the War Office and from officers in Canada to the commander-in-chief at Quebec and his military secretary on the administration of military prisons. A large proportion of these communications are from the governor and superintendent of military prisons. There are numerous returns, and some certificates, accounts, memoranda, and requisitions. Until about 1850 the prison at St. Helen's Island,

- Montreal, forms the single topic. After that time there is more or less information on prisons or cells at Kingston, Quebec, Chambly, Toronto, and some other localities. Nos. 344-352 inclusive cover the years 1846-1854. The books average about 260 pages.
- 363-365. 1800-1870. Northwest. Canadian military correspondence, despatches from the Colonial Office and War Office, and letters from officials of companies engaged in the fur trade. No. 363 covers the years 1800-1826, and deals with lands of the Northwest Co. at Sault Ste. Marie, early canals at that place, the Red River settlement, the Chenail Ecarte, and various items on the trade and possessions of the Northwest Co., the Southwest Co., and the Hudson's Bay Co. Vol. 364 is confined to the period 1855-1863, and relates to the Red River settlement, the Hudson's Bay Co., and the passage of troops between the east and Fort Garry. No. 365 is occupied with the Red River expedition of 1870. Pp. 269, 375, 83.
- 366-368. 1793-1839. Nova Scotia. These books are composed mainly of letters from the commanding officer in Nova Scotia to the commander-in-chief and his military secretary at Quebec, with enclosures of local correspondence, petitions, returns, etc. This material is valuable for military affairs in Nova Scotia and its dependencies. Pp. 255, 214, 161.
- 369. 1846-1862. Newfoundland. Staff returns, Jan., 1846-May, 1849, Canadian military correspondence, despatches from the Horse Guards and the War Office regarding troops and defences in Newfoundland. 223 pp.
- 1794-1870. Prince Edward Island. Correspondence, petitions and returns concerning volunteer corps, regular forces, defence and ordnance. Pp. 224-340.
- 1859-1869. Nova Scotia. Correspondence and returns, relating chiefly to staff appointments. Pp. 341-375.
- 1821-1869. New Brunswick. Military correspondence, returns, and statements respecting troops, defences, and the fires of 1825. Pp. 376-508.
- 370. 1811-1845. Surveys. Military correspondence upon topographical and hydrographical surveys. These papers deal almost wholly with Upper and Lower Canada, and are mainly upon surveys of roads, rivers and lakes. 191 pp.
- 371. 1797-1844. Telegraphic services. Chiefly military correspondence respecting signal stations along the St. Lawrence. 282 pp.
- 372-380. 1790-1869. Transports. Despatches from the War Office, the Horse Guards and other English offices, Canadian correspondence, returns of various kinds, reports, circulars, proceedings of boards of inquiry, etc., regarding the transport of troops and stores. This material relates both to conveyance between Great Britain and Canada and to transport in the latter country. During the War of 1812 these documents become more closely connected with historical events. There are some facts on the shipment of prisoners of war to England. Vol. 373 has a few reports and returns relating to the provincial marine. These papers naturally have close affiliations with the quartermaster-general's department, and to some extent with the medical service. The volumes average about 240 pages.
- 381-495. 1771-1870. Ordnance and Engineers. Correspondence, instructions, returns of various kinds, petitions, estimates, circulars,

- statements, proceedings of boards of survey, etc., relating to ordnance, fortifications, and other military works in British North America. These volumes are very important for the above subjects. Only one document is previous to 1785. Nearly all of the correspondence is addressed to the commander of the forces or his military secretary by officers in Canada until about 1856. At that time despatches from the War Office and the Horse Guards are frequent, and they predominate in the later volumes. These books average about 275 pages.
- 496-504. 1831-1860. Pensioners. Petitions to the commander-in-chief in British North America, correspondence of the military secretary, despatches from the War Office, medical certificates, etc., regarding military pensions and pensioners. The volumes average about 350 pages.
- 505-510. 1787-1845. Petitions for relief. These petitions are to the commander-in-chief from soldiers, their wives and children, and occasionally from private persons. Letters to the military secretary are also present. The books average about 225 pages.
- 511-519. 1789-1845. Military posts. Letters from officers to the military secretary at Quebec, proceedings and reports of boards of survey, petitions, accounts, requisitions, estimates, returns of ordnance, etc., relating to the state of military posts in Upper and Lower Canada and to their administration. Much of this material is akin to the section entitled Ordnance and Engineers. The volumes average about 235 pages.
- 520-545. 1845-1870. Posts and barracks. Correspondence addressed to the commander of the forces in Canada and the military secretary by local officers, the War Office and the Horse Guards, proceedings of boards of survey, circulars, reports, returns, memoranda, etc., respecting military posts, barracks, and the troops stationed at them in Upper and Lower Canada. This section is in some respects a continuation of Nos. 511-519, but is more concerned with minor and personal matters, and is therefore of less importance for historical purposes. The volumes average about 260 pages.
- 546-598. 1786-1845. Barracks. Local military correspondence, despatches from the War Office, the Horse Guards, and the Treasury, reports of boards of survey, estimates, returns, proclamations, statements, etc., relating to barracks, and the lodging of troops in Upper and Lower Canada. These members average nearly 200 pages.
- 599-604. 1785-1844. Properties in Quebec and Lower Canada. Principally local military correspondence, petitions, reports, memoranda, etc., relating to sites for prisons, barracks and other military buildings, and land matters of a minor character. The books average about 235 pages.
- 605-606. 1796-1851. Properties in Montreal. The material in these volumes is similar to that in 599-604, but is confined to Montreal. It is important for the history of the city and harbour.
- 607. 1847-1856. Quarantine. Local correspondence relating to Grosse Isle. Pp. 208, 269.
- 1851-1867. Railways. Correspondence on the crossing of military lands and works by railways. 133 pp.
Pp. 134-190.
- 1855-1860. Telegraphs. Correspondence of the civil and military authorities on telegraph and cable lines. Pp. 191-256.

- 608-615. 1837-1839. Rebellion. Despatches from the War Office and the Horse Guards to the commander of the forces in Canada, local military correspondence, depositions, reports upon political feeling from secret agents and private individuals, memoranda, general orders, depositions, etc. This material covers the entire period of the Rebellion in Upper and Lower Canada and is important for that topic. There are descriptions of the various engagements, letters on the movements of the troops, military administration, fortifications, aid given to rebels in the United States, and several minor topics. A few papers at the end of 615 extend to 1866. The volumes average about 280 pages.
- 619-633A. 1794-1853. Settlers. Military and civil correspondence, lists of settlers, petitions, duplicate despatches from the Colonial Office, etc., upon immigration and settlement. These volumes are valuable for the above subjects. Material relating to Upper Canada preponderates; next in order come respectively Lower Canada, the maritime provinces, and the Magdalen Islands. The first two volumes have numerous papers relating to the Count de Puisaye and the immigration of French loyalists, and the settlement of William Berczy. There is very little material previous to 1798, and nothing for the years 1809-1813. The books average about 175 pages.
- 631. 1787-1869. Sorel and loyalists. Local military correspondence, petitions, certificates, lists, etc., regarding loyalists, the invalid establishment at William Henry, and the seigniory of Sorel. 407 pp.
- 635-672. 1816-1870. Staff. These volumes deal with a few staff appointments, the quartermaster-general's office, the commissariat, forwarding of warrants, receipt of returns, stationery supplies, etc. The material is routine in character, and for the most part is concerned with topics of minor importance. The books average about 235 pages.
- 673-675. 1790-1844. Relations with the United States. These volumes are composed mainly of despatches with enclosures from the British minister at Washington to the governor-general of Canada. The principal subjects are Gen. Wayne's expedition, Indians, and military posts in the western country, Jacobinism in Vermont, the fisheries, the "right of search," boundaries, the islands in Passamaquoddy Bay, smuggling, defence of Upper Canada during the War of 1812, land claims by private individuals of both nations, naval armaments on the Great Lakes, and claims arising out of the evacuation of Drummond Island. Pp. 236, 244, 273.
- 676-688. These books contain military correspondence relating to the War of 1812. Descriptions of the various engagements by the commanding officers form the most valuable feature of this section. There is also abundant information regarding the numbers and disposition of the British troops, marches and manœuvres of the opposing forces, naval affairs, the popular attitude toward the war, etc.
- Each volume has a few despatches from the colonial secretary, Lord Bathurst, a varying number from the commander-in-chief at the Horse Guards, some returns, and occasional drafts of letters from Gov.-Gen. Prevost to different officers. The bulk of the correspondence is addressed to Prevost. There are numerous enclosures, some of which are original papers. These enclosures are often placed chronologically instead of following the letter in which they were sent.

In consideration of the special interest taken in the War of 1812 at this time, and the fact that the material relating to the various engagements is not uniform in quantity, the main features of each volume have been briefly noted.

676. March 8, 1806-July 30, 1812. The principal items in this volume are the letters with enclosures from Gore to Craig and from Brock to Prevost. These deal chiefly with the expectation of hostilities, condition and numbers of the Canadian militia, preparations for defence, British and United States naval forces on the Great Lakes and Lake Champlain, western Indians, the declaration of war, the situation on the frontier at Niagara and Detroit, the capture of Michilimackinac, and the massacre at Fort Dearborn. Among enclosures may be noted various military returns, Indian speeches at a council on the Wabash, copies of Gen. Hull's proclamation and of a few despatches from him to the United States secretary of war, and letters of Capt. Roberts and William Claus on the surrender of Michilimackinac. 246 pp.
677. Aug. 4-Dec. 26, 1812. Letters from Brock to Prevost and a few to Adj.-Gen. Baynes contain important information upon military and civil affairs in Upper Canada before Brock's death. Several communications to the latter from Col. Procter are valuable for the course of events in the west. There are long and sometimes detailed letters to Prevost from Maj.-Gens. Sheaffe and De Rottenburg, Lieut.-Col. Myers, and several other officers. This volume deals chiefly with the proceedings of the legislature of Upper Canada and the feeling in that province with regard to the war, the attitude of the Indians on the Grand River, negotiations over the armistice, the expedition against Fort Wayne, the capture of Detroit, the Fort Dearborn massacre, and fighting on the Niagara frontier after the battle of Queenston Heights. There is little upon this last engagement or upon the attempt to invade Lower Canada. 296 pp.
678. Jan. 7-May 31, 1813. The material in this number relates largely to the battle at the River Raisin, Col. Procter's difficulties with the inhabitants of Detroit, raids against Elizabethtown (Brockville) and Ogdensburg, the capture of York, the British expedition to the Miamis, exchange of prisoners between Col. Procter and Gen. Harrison, the American success at Fort George, the situation at Prairie du Chien, and the repulse of the British at Sackett's Harbour. In addition, a certain amount of correspondence deals with military administration, the militia, measures for defence, etc., some of it relating to the maritime provinces. There are descriptions of the various engagements by the commanding officers, and returns of killed and wounded. 357 pp.
679. June 2-Aug. 31, 1813. Military operations on the Niagara frontier form the most important topic of this volume. There are descriptions of the engagements at Fort George, Burlington Heights, Stoney Creek, Beaver Dam, and Black Rock by various officers, and also letters on the general situation, movements of troops, reconnoitering expeditions, etc. From the west there are numerous communications from Brig.-Gen. Procter, chiefly to Prevost and McDouall. These relate to actions of the enemy, Indians, the naval forces on Lake Erie, the co-operation of troops, and the expedition against Fort Sandusky.

The capture of the Growler and the Eagle, other operations on Lake Champlain, the building of ships, scouting service, and plans for attacks are the main features of the correspondence regarding Lower Canada.

Material relating to rival armaments on inland waters, the expedition to the West Indies, a few letters from Halifax, several returns of killed, wounded, prisoners, captured stores, etc., complete the volume. 522 pp.

680. Sept. 1-Oct. 31, 1813. The events in Lower Canada during the above period are described mainly by Sheaffe and Glasgow; those on the Niagara frontier and about Kingston by De Rottenburg, and those in the west by Procter. Nearly all of the material centres about Perry's victory on Lake Erie, Procter's retreat and the battle near the Thames, the state of affairs resulting at the western posts from these defeats, progress of hostilities on the Niagara frontier, the American raid at Missisquoi Bay, and the battle of Chateaugay.

Returns and despatches from the Colonial Office are comparatively scarce in this volume. At the end are two undated papers by George Heriot which belong to the year 1815. 367 pp.

681. Oct. 28-Dec. 30, 1813. The most important letters in this book are those from Drummond to Prevost. They deal principally with the actions of the United States forces under Wilkinson and Hampton, the engagement at Chrysler's Farm, the close of the campaign in that quarter, and British operations on the Niagara frontier in December. 346 pp.

682. Jan. 2-March 31, 1814. Drummond's letters to Prevost continue to be the chief feature. The main topics are the attacks upon Black Rock and Buffalo, fighting along the Thames River, the skirmish at Lacolle Mill, and British plans against Detroit and Fort Niagara. 292 pp.

683. April 2-June 30, 1814. This volume relates chiefly to the proposed armistice, British plans for an attack upon Sackett's Harbour and for placing a new fleet upon Lake Erie, the capture of Oswego, the United States navy on Lake Champlain, the raid at Dover, naval affairs on Lake Ontario, the blockade of Sackett's Harbour, and the British defeat at Sandy Creek. Drummond's letters to Prevost are numerous and valuable. 315 pp.

684. April 28-July 31, 1814. Letters from Drummond, Sherbrooke, and Vice-Adm. Cochrane to Prevost, and copies of those from Riall to Drummond are the most important features of this volume. They deal chiefly with the capture of islands in Passamaquoddy Bay, the battles of Chippawa and Lundy's Lane and skirmishes on the Niagara frontier, the burning of St. David's, and the conduct of the United States forces during their raids. 251 pp.

685. Aug. 1-Sept. 28, 1814. This number has important correspondence and returns concerning fighting at and near Fort Erie, the situation at Michilimackinac, British expeditions against Maine and Prairie du Chien, and the capture of the Tigress and the Scorpion on Lake Huron. The principal letters are from Drummond and Sherbrooke to Prevost and copies of those from McDouall to Drummond. 295 pp.

- 686. Oct. 2-Dec. 31, 1814. Letters from Drummond to Prevost and the other correspondence in this volume relate mainly to manoeuvring and skirmishes of the opposing forces on the Niagara frontier, and MacArthur's raid. 263 pp.
- 687. Jan. 2-April 24, 1815. This number deals chiefly with the close of MacArthur's raid, movements of troops, the treaty of Ghent, the close of hostilities, and the restoration of posts. 229 pp.
- 688. March 17-Dec. 10, 1815. Military and diplomatic correspondence upon the restoration of posts, the situation of the Indians at the close of the war, and the distribution of troops. Letters to Drummond from the British minister at Washington and from Lieut.-Col. McDouall at Michilimackinac are the most important items. 253 pp.
- 688A-688D. Oct., 1811-1823. These four volumes contain miscellaneous correspondence and other papers, of which nearly all are within the years 1812-1815. This material relates to the War of 1812, and much of it is important. Some of the correspondence should have been incorporated in vols. 676-688. There are several letters from Procter to Brock in the first two books, drafts to Brock, Adj.-Gen. Baynes, and the civil secretary, general orders, Council minutes, depositions, returns, etc. In general it may be stated that the material during 1812 is more important and voluminous than in the later years of the war, and is especially important for the west. Pp. 239, 206, 158, 203.
- 688E. 1804-1823. This volume relates to the War of 1812, and is of a miscellaneous character. Nearly all correspondence of importance is within the years 1812-1813. There are numerous letters to Maj.-Gen. Sheaffe in 1813 from the military secretary, Col. Procter, and Adj.-Gen. Baynes. These evidently at one time formed part of Sheaffe's papers. Among miscellaneous documents may be found circulars, returns, vouchers, accounts, general orders, certificates respecting deserters, pay-lists and muster-rolls, etc. In the last part of the book are transcripts of correspondence between Sir John Warren, Vice-Adm. Sawyer and Prevost, despatches to the latter from the British minister at Washington, Council minutes, etc. 516 pp.
- 689-694B. 1812-1817. Prisoners of the War of 1812. Vols. 689-694 inclusive are composed of correspondence of officers, agents for prisoners, numerous returns, conventions, petitions, etc. A large part of the correspondence is from the agents for prisoners. The papers relate not only to the numbers of prisoners, but also to their location, state of health, and the negotiations for exchange. Nos. 694A and 694B are large folio entry-books of American prisoners of war at Quebec. They give the name of each, his rank, age, height, colour of eyes and hair, place of nativity, when and where captured, etc. There are 1990 numbers. Vols. 689-694 average about 200 pages each; Nos. 694A and 694B contain respectively 238 and 100 pages.
- 695. 1813-1834. Prize money. Correspondence, claims, certificates, etc., relating to prize money of the War of 1812. 146 pp.
- 695A. This large folio volume has been formed recently from large folded documents which were taken out of Nos. 676-691 when they were rebound. Slips have been placed in these, and an index with proper references is at the beginning of the new volume.

There is some important correspondence, but returns, exchanges of prisoners, etc., predominate. The book contains about 150 pages.

- 696-699. 1861-1866. United States Civil War. Canadian correspondence, despatches from the War Office and the Horse Guards, depositions, memoranda, petitions, reports, returns, etc. This material deals with reinforcements for Canada, militia, preparations for defence, enticing to desert, crimping, secret service, etc. The volumes average nearly 400 pages.
- 700-702. 1805-1841. Canadian troops. Correspondence, petitions, returns, memoranda, etc., respecting the Glengarry Light Infantry, Canadian Fencible Regiment, Canadian Voltigeurs, Canadian Chasseurs, Canadian Light Dragoons, Michigan Fencible Regiment, Mississippi Volunteers, and the embodied militia.
Pp. 229, 177, 236.
- 703-713. 1801-1846. Embodied militia. Correspondence, memorials, returns, memoranda, proceedings of boards of enquiry, muster-rolls, etc., regarding embodied, incorporated, and sedentary militia in Upper and Lower Canada. These books average about 325 pages.
- The following numbers were incorporated with the series about 1909.
- 703A. 1803-1804. Requisitions and returns of arms and accoutrements for the use of the Canadian militia. 8 pp.
- 703B. Dec., 1807. General return of twenty-seven divisions of the militia of Lower Canada from rolls supplied by the captains of companies. 56 pp.
- 703C. Militia pension list for Upper Canada, War of 1812. 102 pp.
- 703D. 1813-1816. Abstract of disbursements made by the deputy paymaster-general of militia in Upper Canada, estimates of pay, and abstracts of warrants. 30 pp.
- 714. 1813-1818. De Meuron's Regiment. Correspondence, returns, memorials, certificates, etc. A few papers relate to De Watteville's regiment. 100 pp.
- 715. 1813-1819. De Watteville's Regiment. Mainly correspondence and memorials. 233 pp.
- 716-717. 1862-1867. Military train. Correspondence, returns, requisitions, memoranda, etc., relating to the military train. Pp. 162, 227.
- 718-719. 1793-1811. New Brunswick Fencibles. Instructions for enlistment, correspondence, petitions, returns, etc. Pp. 186, 217.
- 720-721. 1801-1834. Royal Newfoundland Regiment. Mainly correspondence previous to 1825. Pp. 178, 235.
- 722. 1799-1844. Navy. Chiefly correspondence on minor matters, such as stores, concerning the royal navy. 136 pp.
- 722A-742. 1776-1845. Provincial marine. These papers are important for the history of the naval forces on the Canadian lakes. In times of peace they are somewhat routine in character, though valuable with regard to administration and development of the navy.
- No. 722A is apparently an entry-book. It extends from 1776 to 1784 inclusive, and consists of returns, instructions, estimates, and regulations concerning the navy on lakes Champlain, Erie, Ontario, and the naval depot at St John's on the Richelieu River.
- Vols. 728-736 inclusive deal with the years 1808-1815. Canadian military correspondence, estimates, proclamations, returns, memorials, and proceedings of boards of survey are the principal items. These books are valuable for the War of 1812. There are descriptions of engagements on land and water, such as Capt. Barclay's account of the battle of Lake Erie; despatches to Prevost from Sir James Yeo, Lieut.-Gen. Drummond, Capt. Pring and others; despatches from the Colonial Office; miscellaneous military correspondence, returns of naval forces, memoranda, drafts, etc.

The volumes average about 165 pages.

743. 1799-1804. Queen's Rangers. Correspondence, memorials, returns, instructions for disbanding the corps (1802), etc. 158 pp.
- 744-768. 1788-1870. Royal Artillery. These volumes are largely composed of correspondence, memorials and returns concerning the Royal Artillery in British North America. They average about 190 pages.
- 769-787. 1840-1870. Royal Canadian Rifles. Instructions for the formation of the regiment, correspondence, memorials, memoranda, returns, etc. A large part of the correspondence is from England. The volumes average about 200 pages.
788. 1813-1843. Royal Marines. Correspondence, relating principally to the services of the Royal Marines in Canada during the War of 1812. 40 pp.
- Three letters are concerned with the Royal Navy, 1840-1848, while the remainder of the volume (pp. 46-125) deals with British gunboats on the Lakes in 1866-1867.
- 789-790. 1807-1839. Royal Veteran Battalions. Correspondence, memorials, returns, etc. The majority of these papers relate to the 10th Royal Veteran Battalion. Pp. 148, 175.
- 791-801. 1794-1845. Volunteer. Correspondence, memorials, returns, accounts, estimates, instructions for enlistment, proceedings of courts martial, etc., respecting volunteer forces in Upper and Lower Canada. The first four books extend to 1804 and relate to the Royal Canadian Volunteers. After that time the number of the different corps increased rapidly, especially during 1837-1840. The volumes average about 315 pages.
- 802-823. 1840-1870. Volunteers and militia. This is practically a continuation of Nos. 791-801, with the addition of material upon volunteer militia and military schools. The documents cover a wide range, however, and there are many requisitions. The volumes average nearly 250 pages.
- 824-1038. These volumes are composed of correspondence, memorials, returns, general orders, certificates, etc., respecting the various British regiments or portions of them which were in Canada. The extreme dates are 1786 and 1870. The bulk of the correspondence is from various officers in Canada to the commander-in-chief and to his military secretary. Despatches from the War Office and the Horse Guards, however, are important features.
- The volumes average about 140 pages, and are divided as follows:—

- 1204, 1204B. April 30, 1796-April 16, 1799; July 1, 1799-June 15, 1803. Entry-books of despatches from the War Office to officers commanding the forces in Upper and Lower Canada. These volumes relate chiefly to the administration of military affairs. Not indexed. Pp. 67, 174.

- 1204A, 1204C. April 8, 1796-Jan. 7, 1808. Entry-books of despatches from the Horse Guards to officers commanding the forces in Upper and Lower Canada. This correspondence deals principally with the staff and the distribution of troops. Not indexed. Pp. 49, 148.
- 1204D Aug. 2, 1803-July 11, 1808. Entry-book of despatches from the War Office and the Horse Guards to Lieut-Gen. Hunter, Col. Bowes, and Col. Brock. A large proportion simply transmit general orders. Not indexed. 288 pp.
- 1205-1275. 1795-1830; Oct., 1837-March, 1841; May, 1847-April, 1849. This is a very valuable series of letter-books from the office of the military secretary at Montreal. The letters were written by the commander-in-chief in British North America and his military secretary to military officers and civil officials in Canada and England.
- This series forms the natural complement to a large part of the correspondence within the above dates in the first thousand volumes of series C. There are numerous despatches to the British minister at Washington. Copies of despatches to the colonial secretary which relate solely to civil affairs are not included. Despatches during the War of 1812 should be studied along with those to Drummond, Prevost and others, which are in C676-695A.
- There are no books for the years 1831-1836, but these volumes cover the time of the Rebellion, and the final one of this series begins in May, 1847, and closes with April, 1849.
- Nearly all of the volumes have an index of some kind, although in many cases it consists only of names. They average about 225 pages.
- 1276-1287. Oct., 1830-Sept., 1870. English correspondence. In 1830 letter-books of the commander of the forces and his military secretary were divided into English and Canadian series, and thus vols. 1276-1320 form a continuation of the "Old Correspondence" in Nos. 1205-1270. Vols. 1271-1275 are exceptions.
- Nos. 1276-1287 contain despatches from the commander of the forces to the War Office, Treasury, Horse Guards, Ordnance Board, and other offices in London. There are comparatively few to the Colonial Office. All but the last two volumes are indexed. They average about 420 pages.
- 1288-1320. 1830-1870. Canadian correspondence. Letter-books of communications from the military secretary to military officers, heads of departments, civil officials, and others in Canada. The volumes are indexed until April, 1866, and average a little over 400 pages.
- 1321-1322. April, 1866-1868. Index to Canadian correspondence.
- 1323. Jan. 14-Aug. 30, 1862. Letter-book of the chief of staff in British North America. Instructions, memoranda, and letters. No index. 248 pp.
- 1324. 1807-1811. Classified index of letters received and sent during the administration of Sir James Craig. 228 pp.
- 1325-1329. June, 1815-Sept., 1825. Military correspondence, Upper Canada. Letter-books of officers commanding in Upper Canada. The letters are mainly to officers in that province and to the governor-general's military secretary. No. 1325 is the only indexed volume. They average about 200 pages.

- 1330-1330C. Oct., 1839-April, 1845. Letter-books of the governor-general's military secretary. The letters are addressed to the commander of the forces, the commissary-general, the adjutant-general, and others in Canada. Vol. 1330 has also an account of warrants granted by Gov. Thomson for extraordinary services in Canada, and letters from Sir Richard Jackson and others to the governor-general's secretary. Thirty-nine pages containing a record of the services of the East Norfolk regiment of Infantry and sixty-one pages of correspondence with assignees of the late firm of Poland & Co. help to fill vol. 1330C. Nos. 1330A and 1330B are indexed. The books average about 200 pages.
- 1331. 1785-1808. Entry-book containing letters from the Treasury to various officers in Canada; instructors for the deputy commissary-general, the deputy paymaster-general, and the Indian department; contracts with merchants for provisions, etc. This volume relates chiefly to provisions for troops and the loyalists, administration of the Indian department, and the payment of troops. No index. 233 pp.
- 1332. 1791-1805. Entry-book of instructions, returns, statements, estimates, proclamations, correspondence, etc., relating to various departments of the military service. There is much concerning the Indian department. Instructions and returns are important features of this volume. No index. 184 pp.
- 1333. July 14, 1804-Aug. 22, 1810. Entry-book of circulars and instructions to officers of the several departments. Indexed. 285 pp.
- 1334. Jan. 3, 1808-Sept. 1, 1811. Entry-book of petitions and memorials. These are largely for commissions, appointments, or relief. Indexed. 201 pp.
- 1335. March 21, 1806-Oct. 20, 1807. Military correspondence, Nova Scotia command. This is a letter book of communications from Maj.-Gen. Hunter to the War Office, Horse Guards, Treasury, etc., in England, and to various military officers and civil officials in British North America. This volume deals with military affairs in the maritime provinces and Newfoundland. Not indexed. 280 pp.
- 1336. March 1, 1806-April 3, 1809. Military correspondence, Nova Scotia command. Entry-book of letters from various military officers and others in British North America to Maj.-Gen. Hunter at Halifax. Not indexed. 133 pp.
- 1337-1347. Oct., 1816-Dec., 1876. Military correspondence, Nova Scotia command: English correspondence. Letter-books of the officer commanding in Nova Scotia. This correspondence is addressed chiefly to the War Office, Treasury and Horse Guards, and a minor amount to other London offices. It relates to military affairs in the maritime provinces, Newfoundland and occasionally the West Indies, and often pertains also to civil matters. These volumes are important for the eastern provinces. They are indexed, and average about 400 pages.
- 1348. May, 1851-March, 1871. This is a confidential letter-book of the military secretary, Nova Scotia command, and relates to both military and civil matters. A few letters deal with religious affairs. The correspondence is addressed to various military officers, civil officials and others, both in England and in British North America. Not indexed. 111 pp.

- 1348A. Jan., 1862-June, 1890. Confidential letter-book, containing communications from the officer commanding in Nova Scotia, the brigade-major at Halifax, etc., to various officers in the maritime provinces and in London. This book deals with military administration and matters concerned with discipline. Partially indexed. 174 pp.
- 1349-1375. Oct., 1816-Nov., 1891. Military correspondence, Nova Scotia command: local correspondence. Letter-books of the officer commanding in Nova Scotia and his military secretary. These volumes contain letters addressed to officers and others in the maritime provinces, chiefly upon military affairs. Nearly all are written by the military secretary until about 1862, when those from the commanding officer and from the assistant quartermaster-general begin to preponderate.
- Correspondence with officers in Upper and Lower Canada and in England is slight at first, but increases until it becomes an important factor in the later volumes. Thus the local character of the correspondence diminishes until from 1862 it may be called local, Canadian, and English correspondence. From 1364 onward these also serve as entry-books for letters received from the War Office and the Horse Guards.
- No. 1356A is a letter-book of the officer commanding in New Brunswick. It covers the periods April, 1830-Aug., 1831, and Oct., 1838-Feb., 1840.
- The volumes are indexed, and average about 340 pages.
- 1376-1390. June, 1861-June, 1887. Military correspondence, Halifax command. These volumes supplement Nos. 1363-1374, and are letter-books into which numerous memoranda have also been copied. The letters are from the officer commanding in Nova Scotia and his brigade-major to the War Office, the Horse Guards, and various officers and others in British North America and the British West Indies. They are concerned with military administration and discipline and with local matters. A large part of the correspondence is upon routine affairs. The volumes are indexed and average about 500 pages.
- 1391. Dec., 1878-Sept., 1882. Sir Patrick MacDougall's confidential letter-book. Confidential letters from the commander of the forces in Canada to various military officers and civil officials in England and Canada. Not indexed. 61 pp.
- 1392. March 11-Oct. 6, 1871. This is apparently a letter-book of the military secretary at Halifax, in which many letters received and memoranda have also been entered. This correspondence relates to a variety of military matters throughout Canada. Not indexed. 48 pp.
- 1393-1393C. July, 1861-Feb., 1874. Letter-books of the town-major, Halifax. Letters, telegrams, and memoranda to officers and others upon local matters. The books are indexed, and average about 335 pages.
- 1394. Jan., 1871-March, 1885; April, 1889-Nov., 1893. Entry-book containing correspondence between officers in England and Canada, and memoranda, respecting military instruction. Partially indexed. 70 pp.
- 1395. Oct., 1843-Dec., 1877. Entry-book of statements, requisitions, and returns, pertaining to the departments of the adjutant-general and the quartermaster-general, Nova Scotia. Not indexed. 362 pp.

- 1396. Feb., 1840-May, 1851. Military correspondence, New Brunswick command. Letter-book containing local correspondence of the officer commanding in New Brunswick and his brigade-major. Indexed. 437 pp.
- 1397. Sept., 1876-Nov., 1892. Gymnasium letter-book, Halifax. Correspondence regarding the local military gymnasium. Partially indexed. 289 pp.
- 1398. Sept., 1849-April, 1856. Brigade-major's letter-book, Halifax. Letters from the brigade-major and the town-major to various officers. Indexed. 158 pp.
- 1398A. Oct., 1812-Dec., 1821. Letter-book of the deputy quartermaster-general, Halifax. Letters to officers and private individuals within the limits of the Nova Scotia command. Indexed. 249 pp.
- 1399-1400. Aug., 1865-Feb., 1867. Letter-books of the quartermaster-general, Canada command. Correspondence with officers and others regarding the quartermaster-general's department in Upper and Lower Canada. Indexed. Pp. 306, 405.
- 1401-1403. Dec., 1868-Oct., 1887. Letter-books, assistant quartermaster-general's office, Halifax. Letters from the assistant quartermaster-general, the commanding officer at Halifax, and others to various officials in England, naval officers, and officers in Canada; also memoranda, telegrams, etc. This correspondence is on routine matters, and covers a wide territory. Indexed. Pp. 298, 493, 494.
- 1404-1404A. May, 1848-April, 1851. Letters received by the commanding officer in New Brunswick. Most of these are from the various officers in New Brunswick and the military secretary at Halifax. Indexed. Pp. 170, 148.
- 1405. June, 1861-March, 1864. New Brunswick letter-book. Letters written chiefly by the officer commanding at St. John and the town-major there to officers and others in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Also a register of courts martial covering 26 pages. Not indexed. 332 pp.
- 1406. 1831-1832. Copies of reports by Capt. J. W. Baddeley on the agriculture, commerce, geology, mineralogy, population, defensive works, etc., of the Magdalen Islands. Two maps are at the end of the book. 95 pp.
- 1407-1411. July, 1852-Sept., 1871. English correspondence, Royal Engineers. These letter-books were kept at Montreal, the headquarters of the Royal Engineers in Canada. The letters are mainly from the commanding officer of the Engineers in Canada to the Inspector-General of Fortifications in England. Some of the remainder are to the Deputy Adjutant-General of Engineers, the Director of Works, etc. These volumes are important for the work of the Royal Engineers in Canada during the above period. Many of the records and plans previous to 1852 perished in a fire at Montreal in that year.
- No. 1409A is an index to letters, returns, and other papers forwarded to England, Jan., 1859-Dec., 1867.
- There are no letters for the period Jan., 1867-Aug., 1869; evidently a volume has been lost.
- The books are indexed, and average about 560 pages.
- 1412. Dec., 1859-Feb., 1862. Letters to staff and other departments. Letter-book of the commanding officers of the Royal Engineers in Canada. This correspondence is addressed to the military secretary at Montreal and to various departments of the military service in Canada. Indexed. 500 pp.

- 1413-1414. Sept., 1856-Jan., 1867. Land correspondence. The first is a letter-book and the second a press copy-book. The letters are principally from the commanding Royal Engineer in Canada to officers and others respecting military lands, canals and other properties, their sale, rent or transfer. A few letters received were also copied in these volumes. There is a hiatus from June, 1860 to February, 1863. Indexed. Pp. 488, 416.
1415. Feb., 1863-Feb., 1867. Letters issued to the commissariat department, military storekeeper, military prisons, etc., from the headquarters of the Royal Engineers in Canada. Press copy-book. Indexed. 528 pp.
- 1416-1417. Aug., 1847-Oct., 1848; Aug., 1851-Jan., 1853. Minute-books, office of the Royal Engineers, Montreal. Indexed. Pp. 425, 501.
1418. Ordnance report, and estimates of works and repairs proposed to be carried out by the Royal Engineers in Canada in the year 1849-1850. The volume contains numerous plans. 241 pp.
1419. 1865-1872. Statement of the gross expenditure for improving the defences at Quebec. 65 pp.
- 1420-1423. Reports and estimates of works and repairs proposed to be carried out by the Royal Engineers in Canada in the years 1862-1865. Each volume contains several plans. Pp. 374, 120, 79, 51.
1424. Jan., 1888-Aug., 1891. Schedule of special services, assistant commissary-general's office, Halifax. 98 pp.

- 1438A-1438B. Oct., 1826-Dec., 1840. Letter-books of the Royal Engineers, New Brunswick. Halifax and local correspondence. Indexed. Pp. 367, 243.
- 1439-1441. Nov., 1856-Oct., 1865. Letter-books of despatches with enclosures from the officer commanding the Royal Engineers, Halifax, to the Inspector-General of Engineers in England, and to a few local officers, dealing with barracks. The local correspondence is relatively small. Indexed. Pp. 316, 326, 173.
- 1442. Jan., 1862-Jan., 1866. This is a letter-book relating to barracks, and is composed of letters from the officer commanding the Royal Engineers, Halifax, to the acting military secretary at the same place. Indexed. 262 pp.
- 1443. May, 1855-May, 1865. Letter-book of correspondence from the commanding officers and others in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island, respecting the work of that department of the service. The second portion of the volume serves as an entry-book of letters received from local officers, April, 1855-Dec., 1858. Indexed. Pp. 150, 168.
- 1444. 1842-1849. Annual estimates and requisitions for the works proposed to be carried out by the Royal Engineers in the Nova Scotia command. Not indexed. 456 pp.
- 1445. 1840-1865. Estimates, abstracts, statements, the annual establishments, etc., respecting the department of the Royal Engineers in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. It has a table of contents. 275 pp.
- 1446-1446B. Copies of Mr. Ince's reports on lands belonging to the War Department in Nova Scotia (1856), New Brunswick (1857), and Newfoundland (1859). The last two contain plans. Not indexed. Pp. 82, 54, 73.
- 1447. June, 1859-April, 1862. Letter-book of despatches from the officer commanding the Royal Engineers at Halifax to the Inspector-General of Fortifications, letters to military officers, civil officials and others in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, memoranda, and lists of trespasses. This correspondence deals with lands of the War Department. Indexed. 313 pp.
- 1448. 1837-1873. Entry-book containing sundry deeds and grants of military lands in the maritime provinces, memoranda, legal opinions, etc. Several plans present. Indexed. 129 pp.
- 1449. 1857-1864. Entry-book of memoranda, statements, abstracts of estimates, schedules of tenders for lands, contracts, etc., relating to the Royal Engineers in the Nova Scotia command. Not indexed. 389 pp.

1669. This portfolio contains (1) sundry correspondence of the commanding Royal Engineer at Halifax with the Inspector-General of Fortifications, reports, memoranda, etc., in 1857, and (2) letters to the former from officers at outposts during the years 1856-1857. This correspondence relates chiefly to ordnance and barracks. The portfolio has no index, and is unpagged.
1670. 1859-1894. A small portfolio of miscellaneous correspondence between military officers and civil officials, reports and memoranda on militia and regular troops in Canada. Most of this relates to militia. Not indexed. Not pagged.
1671. 1861-1865. This large portfolio contains correspondence of the officer commanding in Nova Scotia with the War Office; numerous reports on numbers of troops, state of defences, means of communication and transport; telegrams, maps, etc. This material relates to military preparations in British North America and measures of defence from the time of the Trent affair to the close of the Civil War in the United States. There are a few short lists of correspondence. Not pagged.
1672. 1866-1870. This portfolio is filled with military telegrams, correspondence, and reports of various officers in the Fenian raids of 1866 and 1870 in New Brunswick, Quebec, and Ontario. The material is very important for this subject.
- 1673-1675. 1852-1862. Letters from officers in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia received at the office of the chief Royal Engineer in New Brunswick. This correspondence deals with the general work of the Engineers in the last named province. Indexed. Pp. 660, 648, 500.

- 1681-1690. 1844-1871. Letters of officers at Halifax and in New Brunswick, memoranda, circulars, reports, etc. Nearly all of this correspondence is addressed to the officer commanding the troops in New Brunswick, and relates to military affairs in that province. A large portion of these papers consists of routine material, and is of no value except for details of military administration. These volumes are not indexed, and average about 425 pages.
1691. 1849-1862. Local correspondence, memoranda, reports, returns, estimates, etc., relating to works of the Royal Engineers in New Brunswick. Not indexed. 474 pp.
1692. 1851-1853. This volume is mainly composed of correspondence received by the commanding officer in New Brunswick from local officers and from others at Halifax. Not indexed. 618 pp.
1693. 1799-1802. Company ledger. Name of the company not given. 132 pp.
1694. 1812-1824. Roll of Capt. Dechambault's "corps of sedentary incorporated militia," Lower Canada, Nov., 1813; also certificates, general orders, and other documents relating to this corps. 56 pp.
1695. Lists of officers of the militia of Lower Canada during the War of 1812. (Corrected to 1821.) 241 pp.
1696. March 2, 1838-Jan. 15, 1839. Letter-book of the adjutant-general of militia for Upper Canada. Indexed. 451 pp.
1697. June 17, 1840-Aug. 14, 1847. Letter-book of the adjutant-general of militia for Upper Canada. Not indexed. 506 pp.
1698. Sept. 11, 1846-July 29, 1847. Letter-book of the adjutant-general of militia for Canada. Not indexed. 196 pp.
1699. 1855-1863. Register of warrants and payments by the adjutant-general of militia, Canada. Not indexed. 245 pp.
- 1700-1703. These four volumes of original papers, apparently at one time formed part of the Claus Papers. They are composed of letters addressed to Col. William Claus, a few drafts of replies, numerous returns, rolls, lists, proceedings of courts-martial, and miscellaneous documents of a military character.
- Vols. 1700-1702 are labelled "Lincoln Militia" and relate chiefly to the first regiment, 1812-1824. Volume 1700 contains returns, correspondence, etc., respecting militia of the counties of Essex (1787-1794), Oxford (1802-1808), and Northampton (1812-1839). The volumes are not indexed, and average about 275 pages.
1704. 1825-1829. Returns, correspondence, memoranda, etc., relating to militia of North York. Not indexed. 107 pp.
- 1705-1712. These volumes contain the papers of Capt. Noah Freer, who was military secretary to Sir George Prevost during the War of 1812. Placed at first in series M, in recent years in this collection.

- was incorporated with series C. It appears in the Inventory of that series, and has therefore been left undisturbed, although it rightly belongs to the group of personal papers. A large part of this material is valuable for the War of 1812. Each volume has an index of names.
1705. 1786-1811. This volume contains miscellaneous papers, many of which relate to Nova Scotia. The most important are a lengthy, unsigned memoir on Upper Canada, dated 1800; extracts from Capt. P. Hughes's report on roads through Lower Canada to New York and Vermont, the state of military posts, etc.; and the proposed establishment of the provincial marine on the lakes and rivers of Upper and Lower Canada. 108 pp.
1706. 1811. The chief importance of this number consists in its numerous returns. Correspondence relates both to the Nova Scotia command and to the Canadas. There are numerous returns of ordnance and ammunition in various places in Nova Scotia; return of general staff officers serving in Canada, June, 1811; list of invalid loyalists at William Henry, July 1, 1811; returns of pay of all staff officers and persons employed in the several military departments in Upper and Lower Canada, July 29, 1811; report of Lieut.-Col. Bruyeres on the state of the fortified military posts in the Canadas, Aug. 24, 1811; and Maj.-Gen. Glasgow's report on the state of the magazines, storehouses, platforms, carriages, ordnance and stores in charge of the field train in Canada, under the superintendence of the commanding officer of artillery, Sept. 18, 1811. 158 pp.
1707. 1812-1813. The most noteworthy features of this volume are the several local returns; abstracts of general returns; distributions; draft of Prevost's despatch no. 44 to Liverpool; draft of Prevost's proclamation respecting the armistice; letters from the Horse Guards, including instructions on enlistment of the New Brunswick Fencibles; draft of a confidential letter from Prevost to Sheaffe, March 27, 1813; and E. B. Brenton's detailed account of the attack upon Sackett's Harbour, written to Freer on May 30, and ending with a rough pen and ink sketch. 202 pp.
1708. 1813. Returns of regular troops, militia, American prisoners of war, and general orders compose nearly the whole of this volume. Correspondence is comparatively scanty. Material on the militia of Lower Canada is especially prominent. 85 pp.
1709. 1814. Chiefly returns of regulars, militia, and American prisoners of war. There are a few general orders, and some miscellaneous correspondence, of which the most important item is a letter from Capt. Thomas Anderson to Lieut.-Col. McDougal, dated at Prairie du Chien, Sept. 14, 1814, relating to the fighting and general conditions in that quarter. 147 pp.
1710. 1815-1818. At the first of this volume are a few returns of bat and forage money, etc., and correspondence relating to the proposed court martial of Sir George Prevost, and to his death. The remainder of the book is mainly composed of letters to Capt. Freer by various officials on subjects connected with military administration, and drafts of his replies. Somewhat out of the usual line is a memorandum of 1816 on the postal service in British North America by Francis Freeling, secretary of the General Post Office. 105 pp.

1711. 1822-1855. Miscellaneous private papers of Freer. At the end are a few military sketches relating to Lower Canada, and meteorological observations at Montreal, 1846-1868. 229 pp.
1712. Cipher codes and semaphore signals used in the War of 1812. 60 pp.
1713. Sept. 17, 1775-June 1, 1776. Orderly-book of Capt. Anthony Vialar of the British militia at Quebec, containing garrison and regimental orders. 135 pp.
1714. 1775. "Milice Canadienne de la ville de Quebec." List of staff officers, and two rolls of the several companies of French Canadian militia, Oct. 13 and Dec. 1, 1775. 113 pp.
- 1715-1716. Jan. 18, 1817-May 8, 1818. Letter-book of the adjutant-general of militia for Lower Canada. No. 1716 is a copy of 1715. Not indexed. (In French.) 259 pp.
1717. 1812-1815. Alphabetical list of militia officers in Upper and Lower Canada. (By a note of Mr. B. Sulte it appears that this list was compiled by M. Lambert in the course of his researches among militia pay-lists.) 89 pp.
1718. 1817-19. Entry-book of letters, warrants and memoranda from the Commissioners of the Admiralty to navy officers at Halifax. Not indexed. 143 pp.
1719. Alphabetical register of retired officers of the British Army, Navy, and the Royal Marines residing in Canada, with their places of residence and the corps in which they served. No date.
1720. June 4, 1870-June 13, 1871. Brigade order-book of militia in the Northwest expedition. Not indexed.
- 1721-1743. 1831-1879. Portfolios of letters from the War Office to the officer commanding at Halifax. This correspondence relates mainly to routine matters of administration. From 1869 onward some of the despatches are to officers at Quebec and Montreal. Copies for the period 1849-1879 may also be found in the entry-books which comprise C1527-1540 inclusive.
- 1744-1753. 1831-1879. Portfolio of letters from the Horse Guards to the officer commanding in Nova Scotia. This correspondence is largely upon routine matters. Copies of many of these communications may be found in the entry-books which comprise C1527-1540.

PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE.

SERIES Q.

Lower Canada.

This series is a transcript from the original papers at the Public Record Office, London, which, with certain exceptions noted below, now form part of C.O. 42. It is composed of correspondence of the governors, lieutenant-governors, and administrators of Quebec (Lower Canada) and Upper Canada from the first years of British rule until 1841.

Despatches and their enclosures from Canada form the major portion of this material. The enclosures are numerous, and often both important and bulky. Correspondence of the Colonial Office with other departments and with various minor officials and private individuals is an important feature of the later years. This is chiefly inward, drafts from the Colonial Office being rare.

There are nearly 900 volumes in the entire series. Calendars have been made for the greater part of them. Those dealing especially with Quebec (and Lower Canada under the Constitutional Act) are calendared in appendices to Reports on Canadian Archives as follows: vols. 1-57 in the Report for 1890, pp. 1-325; 58-84 in the Report for 1891, pp. 1-200; 85-106 in the Report for 1892, pp. 153-285; 107-124 in the Report for 1893, pp. 1-119; 125-148 in the Report for 1896, pp. 1-252; 149-167 in the Report for 1897, pp. 253-395; 168-186 in the Report for 1898, pp. 397-580; 187-200 in the Report for 1899, pp. 581-713; 201-225 in the Report for 1900, pp. 715-912; 226-241 in the Report for 1901, pp. 913-1042; and 242-246 in the Report for 1902, pp. 1043-1109.

The corresponding records for Upper Canada are calendared in appendices to the following Reports: vols. 278-290 in the Report for 1891, pp. 1-177; 291-310 in the Report for 1892, pp. 286-399; 311-317 in the Report for 1893, pp. 1-50; 318-324 in the Report for 1896, pp. 1-79; 325-334 in the Report for 1897, pp. 81-179; 335-350 in the Report for 1898, pp. 181-329; 351-358 in the Report for 1899, pp. 331-390; 359-388 in the Report for 1900, pp. 391-540; 389-395A in the Report for 1901, pp. 541-601.

These calendars extend into 1838 for Lower Canada and to the close of 1836 in the case of the upper province. Uncalendared records of Quebec continue as far as the close of 1840; those for Upper Canada also include the first quarter of 1841.

In the formation of series Q certain Colonial Office entry-books were placed among the correspondence emanating from Canada. These are letter-books or registers containing copies of despatches and instructions from the Colonial Office to governors, lieutenant-governors, and administrators. The originals now form part of C.O. 43 at the Public Record Office. The plan according to which they were copied, however, makes it inadvisable to reconstruct the series on the lines of the original one, and the volumes are left as constituent parts of series Q. The subjects in these are not given in the following pages, since the originals of most of these despatches emanating from Downing Street are to be found in series G.

Beginning with volume 136 for Lower Canada and 320 for Upper Canada every number—with the exception of the letter-books of despatches from the Colonial Office—is furnished with an index or résumé of contents.

NOVA SCOTIA STATE PAPERS.

This collection has been copied from several series of original papers in London. The greater part was taken from records of the Board of Trade and the Colonial Office. These are at the Public Record Office. Papers at the British Museum and selections from documents at Lambeth Palace form the bulk of the remainder.

All papers from 1603 to 1801 inclusive were arranged chronologically in an artificial series. Minutes of the Executive Council, journals of the Legislative Council and of the Assembly, instructions and commissions were kept separate as sub-series. After the date 1801 this artificial arrangement was discontinued, and transcription of subsequent records has followed the Colonial Office series known as C. O. 217.

These Nova Scotia papers were until recently scattered throughout a large part of the old series M. In the reconstruction of the latter they have been separated from widely divergent material, and placed apart as a separate unit. The next step was an arrangement under the following heads:

- <sup>1</sup>A. Correspondence, 1603-1815..... 158 vols.
- B. Minutes of the Executive Council, 1720-1785..... 18 vols.
- C. Journals of the Legislative Council, 1758-1807..... 20 vols.
- D. Journals of the Assembly, 1758-1807..... 34 vols.
- E. Instructions to governors, 1708-1840..... 6 vols.
- F. Commissions to governors, 1766-1840..... 2 vols.

The main portion of the correspondence is composed of despatches with enclosures from governors and other officials in Nova Scotia to the Board of Trade and the Colonial Office, and draft replies. Copying of this section will be carried on at least as far as 1840.

A calendar of the correspondence from 1603 to 1801 inclusive forms an appendix of 573 pages to the Report on Canadian Archives for 1894. This calendar has not been continued, nor are the volumes indexed.

Bouquet Papers: series A.

Henry Bouquet was born at Rolle in the canton of Berne, Switzerland, in 1719. At an early age he entered military life and after serving in the forces of Holland and of Sardinia he became captain commandant of the Swiss guards at the Hague. On the outbreak of the Seven Years' War in America Bouquet and his friend Frederick Haldimand were persuaded to enter the English army as officers of the Royal American Regiment, which was recruited largely from German and Swiss Protestant settlers in Pennsylvania and Maryland. Bouquet was placed in command of the first battalion of this force and Haldimand was given charge of the second. They arrived in America in the middle of 1756. For a year details of enlistment, billeting and organization claimed their chief attention. In April, 1757, Bouquet received instructions from the Earl of Londoun to proceed from Philadelphia to Charleston to take command of all troops raised or to be raised for the defence of Georgia and the Carolinas. At that post he remained, busying himself in the problems of defence, and occupied with details of administration and the difficulties of obtaining aid from the provinces, until early in 1758, when he was ordered to leave Charleston for New York with his battalion to join the expedition against Fort Duquesne under Brigadier-General Forbes. Here he became second in command and adjutant-general during the campaign. From 1759 until the outbreak of the Pontiac conspiracy Bouquet remained in charge of the western posts, at first under Stanwix and Monckton, and later directly under the commander-in-chief. The beginning of 1763 found him at Philadelphia. When war with the Indians had become an assured fact he was despatched against them. This expedition resulted in a decisive defeat of the Indians at Bushy Run. In the following year Bouquet marched into the Ohio country and forced the Delawares and Shawnees to sue for peace. For these services he was made a brigadier-general. At the close of the Indian outbreak Bouquet was assigned to the command of the southern military department. He died of fever at Pensacola early in September 1765.

Bouquet's papers came into the possession of General Haldimand, his heir and executor. A portion had been accidentally destroyed in 1759. In 1857, William Haldimand, M.P., General Haldimand's grand-nephew, presented these papers to the British Museum, where they form numbers 21631-21660 of the Additional Manuscripts. About 1875 transcripts were made by the Canadian government for the archives. Dr. Brymner's calendar of the entire thirty volumes forms an appendix of 337 pages to the Report on Canadian Archives for 1889.

*There is no satisfactory biography of Bouquet. A short sketch of his life is prefixed to C. Dumas' Relation Historique de l'Expedition contre les Indiens de l'Ohio, and a reprint of this is in the first volume of Clarke's Ohio Valley Historical Series. Parkman's Conspiracy of Pontiac is the best authority. Practically all the articles on Bouquet in encyclopaedias and other works of reference contain errors.

The historical importance of this collection is obvious, covering as it does not only the course of the Pontiac conspiracy, but also a large part of the Seven Years' War in America.

1. 1756-1757. Bouquet's letter-book. Nearly all the letters are written from Charleston, S.C., in June, July and August of 1757, and most of them are addressed to Gov. Dobbs, Gov. Ellis, the Earl of Loudoun, and Gen. Webb. Various matters connected with the war in those parts and the attitude of the colonial assemblies are the principal topics. 96 ff.
2. March 15, 1757-March 10, 1758. Bouquet's letter-book. A continuation of the preceding number. Some of the letters are to Gov. Dinwiddie, Col. Forbes, Col. Stanwix, Gen. Napier, and Capt. Demeré. 122 ff.
3. 1757-1758. Military accounts, South Carolina. 28 ff.
4. March 1, 1759-Dec. 1, 1763. Correspondence with General Amherst. During this period Amherst remained in the vicinity of his headquarters at New York, while Bouquet's letters were written from various places in the west, principally Fort Pitt. Various events of western warfare, a large amount of administrative details, and the Pontiac conspiracy form the subjects of this volume. The miscellaneous correspondence is relatively unimportant. 444 ff.
5. May 20-Nov. 17, 1763. Government instructions to General Amherst. 16 ff.
6. 1763-1765. Letters from General Gage. (Also in vol. 8.)
7. Oct. 24, 1763-June 13, 1765. Letters to General Gage. Penned at various points and also at Philadelphia. War against the Indians and efforts of the colonies for their own protection are almost the sole topics. A few letters are addressed to Sir William Johnson, Col. Bradstreet, and Gov. Penn. 151 ff.
8. March 5, 1759-April 29, 1765. Correspondence with Generals Stanwix, Gage, Monckton, etc. These letters relate to the close of the Seven Years' War in the west, the colonial attitude toward furnishing troops and sharing in the burdens of the war, colonial land claims and boundaries in the western country, and the Pontiac conspiracy. Many of them are concerned with the details of military supplies and the commissariat. 513 ff.
9. May 27, 1758-Aug. 28, 1763. Correspondence with Sir John St. Clair and Captain James Sinclair. Relates to the movements of troops, supplies, the state of roads, equipment, etc. Details of actual fighting are scarce. A few letters advert to the assistance rendered by or reluctant attitude of the colonial authorities. 229 ff.
10. April 24, 1757-Sept. 11, 1759. Correspondence with the Earl of Loudoun and Brigadier-General Forbes. Relates principally to Forbes's expedition of 1758. Only a small proportion of the correspondence is with Lord Loudoun. There are a few miscellaneous letters. 367 ff.
11. July 1-Nov. 29, 1758. Correspondence with Colonel Washington. Relates to the expedition against Fort Duquesne. 76 ff.
- 12-1. June 19, 1758-March 6, 1762. Correspondence of Captain Ourry. Vol. I. Chiefly letters from Capt. Lewis Ourry to Bouquet, the greater part of which were written at Fort Bedford and relate to military affairs in the western country. 312 ff.
- 12-2. March 10, 1762-Sept. 19, 1764. Correspondence of Captain Ourry. Vol. II. A continuation of the preceding volume. Relates to

- occurrences in the western country, military affairs, Indians, and private news. Ff. 313-616.
13. Feb. 9, 1754—Dec. 27, 1758. General correspondence. The first part of the volume contains letters of the Ourry family. Letters to Bouquet commence in 1757, but most of them are dated 1758, and relate to the march against Fort Duquesne. The writers are various officers. 344 ff.
  - 14-1. Jan. 3—July 29, 1759. General correspondence. Letters to Bouquet from officers at Pittsburgh, Ligonier, Carlisle, Fort Bedford, Lancaster, and Fort Cumberland on military administration, various skirmishes, and Indian affairs. 356 ff.
  - 14-2. July 29—Dec. 31, 1759. General correspondence. Continues the correspondence of the various volume and covers the same topics. Ff. 357-726.
  15. Jan. 2, 1760—June 30, 1761. General correspondence. A continuation of the preceding number. Some letters are written from Venango, Niagara, Detroit, and Presqu'isle, and relate to various matters in those localities. 405 ff.
  16. Jan. 1—June 30, 1761. General correspondence. Continues volume 15. Details of social history are more numerous in this number, and Indian affairs begin to attract greater notice. 295 ff.
  17. July 1—Dec. 24, 1761. Letters to Colonel Bouquet. The same kind of material as in the preceding volume. 352 ff.
  - 18-1. Jan. 7—June 22, 1762. Letters to Colonel Bouquet. This volume is of the same general character as 17, but covers a wider territory, the letters ranging from Williamsburg and Philadelphia in the east to Niagara and Fort Pitt, Ligonier, and Cumberland in the west. There is little from Detroit. Indian affairs are prominent, and there is some interesting correspondence between Bouquet and Gov. Fauquier of Virginia on the granting of western lands. 268 ff.
  - 18-2. June 24—Nov. 14, 1762. Letters to Colonel Bouquet. Indian affairs form the principal item. Numerous letters are from Detroit and other western posts. Ff. 269-545.
  - 19-1. Jan. 3—July 17, 1763. Letters to Colonel Bouquet. Chiefly from the west, and bearing on the commencement of the Pontiac war. 324 ff.
  - 19-2. Aug. 21, 1762—Dec. 25, 1763. Letters to Colonel Bouquet. With the exception of the first letter this correspondence relates to the second half of 1763, and is concerned with the various Indian attacks. Ff. 325-631.
  20. Jan. 1—Sept. 30, 1764. Mainly composed of letters to Bouquet from various persons in civil and military positions at Charleston, Philadelphia, Williamsburg, and numerous places in the west, relating to army administration, ravages and disposition of the Indians, etc. 461 ff.
  21. Dec. 7, 1763—May 22, 1765. General correspondence. Only one letter is previous to Aug., 1764. The remainder are chiefly from officers at western points to Bouquet, and relate to the Pontiac war. There are also a few letters from Sir William Johnson on Indian affairs, and some correspondence of Bouquet with Govs. Sharpe and Fauquier. 320 ff.
  22. April 23, 1758—May 24, 1760. Letters from Bouquet to various persons. Nearly all the letters of 1758 are addressed to Col. Forbes, and relate to the expedition against Fort Duquesne. Correspondence of 1759 is written largely at Philadelphia and Fort Bedford

- to different officers, and is chiefly composed of instructions regarding military operations and administration in the western country. 338 ff.
- 23-1. Jan. 6, 1760-July 23, 1763. Letters from Bouquet to various persons. Indian affairs form the most prominent topic, and the latter part of the volume deals with the Pontiac conspiracy. The remainder of the correspondence is chiefly upon military administration and a few marches and minor expeditions. 267 ff.
- 23-2. Oct. 5, 1762-May 2, 1765. Letters from Bouquet to various persons. Important communications to different officers, mainly upon the warfare against the Indians. Ff. 268-541.
24. 1758-1765. Miscellaneous accounts and returns, interspersed with correspondence on the details of military administration. 277 ff.
25. May 11, 1758-Jan. 8, 1765. Papers relating to Indian affairs. Bouquet's correspondence with different officers and Indian agents, miscellaneous letters, minutes of Indian councils, etc. An important volume for this subject. 366 ff.
26. Oct. 31, 1761-April 5, 1765. Public orders issued by General Amherst and Colonel Bouquet. Proclamations, orders, regulations, instructions, memoranda, etc. 79 ff.
27. 1759-1765. General and regimental orders. 94 ff.
28. July 8, 1757-April 27, 1765. Miscellaneous papers. Returns, orders, reports, sketches, journals, petitions, and sundry correspondence on military affairs. 192 ff.
29. June, 1757-Feb. 1758. Cash book, South Carolina. Accounts for subsistence of various companies, officers, etc. 9 ff.
30. Inventory of Bouquet's effects, taken Sept. 4, 1765. 26 ff.

HALDIMAND PAPERS: SERIES B.

Frederick Haldimand was born at Yverdun, Switzerland, in 1718. The record of his early years is somewhat vague. We know, however, that he chose a military career, and gained experience in various parts of Europe. At length in 1750 we find him a captain in the Swiss guards at the Hague, and in 1755 he became a lieutenant-colonel of that body. At the commencement of the Seven Years' War both Haldimand and his friend Henry Bouquet were induced to enter the service of England with the special object of accepting commands in Lord Loudoun's Royal American Regiment, which it was proposed to recruit largely from German and Swiss Protestants in Pennsylvania and Maryland. Haldimand's commission as lieutenant-colonel was dated January 4, 1756, and he arrived at New York in June of the same year. For a time Haldimand and his second battalion were at Philadelphia. In 1758 he was transferred to the fourth battalion and joined Abercromby's expedition against Canada. The following winter was passed in command at Fort Edward. With the summer of 1759 came duties farther west, at Oswego, Niagara, and the new Fort Ontario. In 1760 Haldimand joined Amherst's forces in the campaign against Canada, and upon its successful conclusion settled down for nearly two years at Montreal under General Gage. The next move was to Three Rivers during Burton's absence on the expedition against Havana. In 1763 Haldimand went back to Montreal, but returned again to Three Rivers within a year when Burton succeeded Gage at the former place. For services in this district Haldimand was made a brigadier-general. At the close of 1766 he was transferred to Florida, where he remained in charge of the military forces for six years. At length when Gage received leave of absence in 1773 Haldimand was chosen to take his place as commander-in-chief at New York with the rank of major-general in America. After Gage's return Haldimand continued on the staff with the rank of major-general. In 1775 he was afforded leave of absence, and returned to England. In 1777 Haldimand was appointed governor of Quebec and commander-in-chief of the troops in that province, a position which he held until 1785. After his return to England he was invested with the Order of the Bath. His last years were spent in England and Switzerland. He died at his birthplace, Yverdon, on June 5, 1791.*

In 1857 Haldimand's papers were presented to the British Museum by William Haldimand, M.P., a grand-nephew of the general. They comprise numbers 21661-21892 of the Additional Manuscripts. Transcripts of them were made for the Canadian Archives during the early years of Dr. Brymner's administration.

Although this series is badly arranged in many parts, it is of great historical value. Indeed for the student of Canadian history it is indispensable for the period 1763-1785, and those parts relating to Florida, the Seven Years' War, and the Revolution are important for the American colonies. By means of Haldimand's wide and varied correspondence one can obtain a connected and often detailed account of the course of events in the different regions where he held command. It should be noted that a large proportion of Sir Guy Carleton's public papers found their way into Haldimand's collection and became a part of it.

The volumes are not indexed, but a complete calendar of the series will be found in the appendices to the Canadian Archives Reports as follows:

Vols. 1, 2-2-13	with the	Report	for	1884;
" 2-1, 14-60	" "	" "	" "	1885;
" 61-105	" "	" "	" "	1886;
" 105-148	" "	" "	" "	1887;
" 149-207	" "	" "	" "	1888;
" 207-232	" "	" "	" "	1889.

A continuous pagination has been employed, so that bound separately this calendar would form three volumes of 771, 1028, and 299 pages respectively.

1. Dec. 11, 1758-Sept. 15, 1777. Correspondence with General Amherst. Nearly all of these letters are written within the years 1759-1775, and of these the period 1764-1772 is represented by very scanty material. Until 1762 there are few letters from Haldimand to Amherst; after that date they are frequent. A small amount of miscellaneous correspondence is scattered through the volume. This material is important for the Seven Years' War in America and for Haldimand's commands in Canada and at New York during this time. 390 ff.
- 2-1. Jan. 11, 1758-Oct. 26, 1764. Correspondence with General Gage. Letters from Haldimand do not appear until the latter half of 1763. The volume deals with events at or near forts Edward and Ontario while Haldimand commanded there, and with his subsequent positions at Montreal and Three Rivers. 195 ff.
- 2-2. March 4, 1764-March 20, 1767. Correspondence with General Gage. Relates largely to Haldimand's government at Three Rivers. At

*The best biography of Haldimand is by Miss Jean McIlwraith, in the Makers of Canada Series, from which the above sketch has been partly compiled. See also the article in the Dict. Nat. Biog.

- the end of the book are several letters from Gage to Col. Taylor in Florida, respecting events in that region. 138 ff.
3. Jan. 13, 1767-Dec. 26, 1768. Correspondence with General Gage. Furnishes a good account of Haldimand's proceedings in West Florida at this time. 377 ff.
  4. Jan. 6, 1769-Aug. 29, 1771. Correspondence with General Gage. Relates to Haldimand's commands at St. Augustine and Pensacola. 197 ff.
  5. Feb. 12, 1771-Aug. 28, 1777. Correspondence with General Gage. Haldimand's letters are written at Pensacola and New York; Gage's are penned at New York, London, Salem and Boston. This volume has a wide range: in addition to local news from Pensacola and New York there are numerous references to general politics of the country, treatment of the colonial question by English statesmen, southern Indians, the Illinois country, destruction of the tea at Boston, etc. There are no documents of importance subsequent to 1774. 341 ff.
  6. Aug. 6, 1756-March 30, 1775. Correspondence with General Stanwix, General Abercromby, General Murray, and Colonel Robertson. Until the middle of July, 1758, the volume contains only letters to Haldimand from Stanwix, Robertson, and Abercromby, on recruiting of the Royal American Regiment, and the expedition of 1758 against Canada by way of Lake Champlain. From Jan., 1762, to June, 1766, there are numerous letters between Murray at Quebec and Haldimand at Three Rivers. The remainder of the book contains correspondence between Haldimand at Pensacola and Col. Robertson, D. Q. M. G. at New York. 280 ff.
  7. 1762. Report of General Murray on Quebec. With it are the reports of Burton and Gage concerning their respective districts of Three Rivers and Montreal. 100 ff.
  8. Oct. 16, 1764-Aug. 20, 1766. Governor Murray's transactions at Quebec. Letters from Murray to Lord Shelburne and to the Board of Trade, miscellaneous correspondence, petitions, and various legal papers on the Walker affair and judicial matters. 200 ff.
  9. Nov. 18, 1760-July 5, 1765. Correspondence with Brigadier-General Burton. Deals with civil and military affairs in the districts of Montreal and Three Rivers. There is little previous to 1763. 138 ff.
  10. July 20, 1759-Aug. 31, 1774. Correspondence with Sir William Johnson, and papers on Indian affairs. Few papers are before the middle of 1773. The volume relates only to Indians of the northern superintendency. 179 ff.
  11. Oct. 4, 1765-Oct. 7, 1769. Correspondence with Brigadier-General Taylor and others on Indian affairs. Many of the letters are written to Haldimand by John Stuart, superintendent of Indian affairs in the southern department. The tribes in question are the Creeks, Choctaws, and Chickasaws. There is some miscellaneous correspondence on various matters connected with military administration. 472 ff.
  12. A continuation of volume 11 to Nov. 20, 1774. Correspondence of John Stuart and Charles Stuart with Haldimand forms the bulk of this number. The range is wider than in the preceding volume, Indian affairs forming the dominant subject. 402 ff.

13. May 28, 1765-Aug. 29, 1774. Correspondence with governors of provinces. Chiefly with Govs. Grant, Browne, Franklin, Hutchinson, Shirley, Tryon, Chester, Wright, and Lieut.-Gov. Cramahé. The principal topics are events in the Floridas, colonial unrest in New England, land troubles in New York, and Indian affairs. 233 ff.
14. Aug. 21, 1768-Feb. 1, 1770. Haldimand's letter-book on affairs in Florida. Communications to Gov. Grant and to numerous officers respecting the administration of military affairs in East and West Florida during this period. 80 ff.
15. July 20, 1764-April 30, 1773. Letters and accounts relating to ordnance at Pensacola. Miscellaneous correspondence on ordnance, the commissariat, fortifications, etc. 294 ff.
16. 1768-1773. Accounts of Pensacola. 78 ff.
17. 1760-1774. Regimental returns, accounts, etc., relating to Florida. Also has material upon lands and ordnance. 333 ff.
18. Oct. 10, 1759-May 4, 1778. General orders and letters relating to the garrison at Niagara, etc. Largely composed of correspondence between various officers on military and Indian affairs. 190 ff.
19. 1765-1778. Correspondence with Messrs. Wallace and with Ross & Co. Private affairs, interspersed with sundry political news and social items. 146 ff.
20. Nov. 29, 1766-Sept. 10, 1778. Correspondence with Major Hutcheson. Communications from the latter to Haldimand, written from Boston, Halifax, Staten Island, New York, and Philadelphia, which furnish important details concerning the Revolution. 179 ff.
- 21-1—21-2. April 5, 1762-June 9, 1767. Papers relating to the government of Three Rivers and the iron works. Returns, accounts, and a description of the state of that government, dated May 31, 1763. Ff. 125, 132.
22. 1758-1779. Papers relating to courts martial, etc. 282 ff.
23. 1763-1777. General orders and instructions. 163 ff.
24. 1764-1777. Instructions for the ordnance officers and barracks at Quebec. 26 ff.
25. 1766. Accounts and papers relating to Long Meadow, Maryland. This was one of Haldimand's properties. 41 ff.
26. 1750-1780. Journals of exploring expeditions, maps and plans. Journal of an expedition by J.R. Legardcur de St. Pierre for the discovery of the western sea, accounts of various trips by different persons through Florida, on the Ohio and the Illinois, etc. 102 ff.
27. Nov. 21, 1756-July 4, 1780. Miscellaneous papers, orders and returns. Nearly all the papers fall within the period 1754-1776. The embarkation of French troops in Canada in 1760, various information respecting the west, two letters of John Adams in July, 1775, on the work of the Continental Congress and the invasion of Canada are the principal topics. 504 ff.
28. June, 1773-June, 1774. Ledger of contingent warrants granted by General Haldimand. 26 ff.
- 29-30. 1773-1774. Lists of warrants granted by General Haldimand for contingent and extraordinary expenses. Ff. 25, 35.
31. 1773-1774. Receipt-book for payments, made at New York by order of Haldimand. 58 ff.
32. June, 1773-June, 1774. Cash account and journal of the paymaster to the commander-in-chief at New York. 17 ff.

33. June 15, 1773-Sept. 28, 1774. Correspondence from General Haldimand as commander-in-chief. Written at New York to numerous officers at various places in North America. 314 ff.
34. July, 1773-July, 1774. Letters to the Treasury. Relate to accounts, warrants, etc. 81 ff.
35. Jan. 5, 1773-July 4, 1775. Correspondence with Lord Dartmouth. Important letters between Haldimand at New York and the Secretary of State respecting the temper and actions of the colonials, Indian affairs, lands and settlement in the western country, and fortifications. 171 ff.
36. Sept. 5, 1764-Sept. 27, 1777. Correspondence with Lord Barrington. The latter was Secretary at War. The majority of the letters are in 1773 and 1774 and relate mainly to promotions, resignations, distribution of forces, and various administrative matters. 118 ff.
37. Dec. 17, 1760-June 25, 1778. Correspondence of the ministers with Generals Amherst, Gage, and Carleton. Relates to both military and civil affairs. The bulk of the correspondence is between Carleton and Germaine. 199 ff.
38. Sept. 8, 1775-Feb., 1779. Letters from Lord George Germaine and others to Sir Guy Carleton. A few communications are from the War Office and the Treasury. The correspondence relates largely to military affairs in Canada. 69 ff.
39. June 9, 1776-Sept. 15, 1777. Register of letters from Sir Guy Carleton. Letter-book of communications from Carleton and his secretary to numerous officers and a few civil officials. Relates to the expulsion of the Americans from the province, and Burgoyne's expedition of the next year. 726 ff.
40. July 25, 1777-Aug. 3, 1778. Register of letters from Sir Guy Carleton. Continues the correspondence of the preceding volume, and deals with the close of Burgoyne's campaign, the state of the British posts and forces on Lake Champlain, Indian affairs, etc. 143 ff.
41. 1778-1779. Orders and instructions to General Haldimand. 95 ff.
42. Sept. 20, 1777-June 8, 1779. Letters from General Haldimand to Lord George Germaine and the Treasury. These were written from Quebec, and relate to the state of the province, judicial affairs, depredations of rebel privateers, and supplies. 77 ff.
43. Aug. 7, 1777-Dec. 11, 1779. Letters from Lord George Germaine to General Haldimand. Deal with the defence of Canada, judicial and constitutional matters, and the results of various military expeditions. 178 ff.
44. Feb. 15, 1780-Jan. 20, 1782. Letters from Lord George Germaine. Continues the topics of the preceding volume with the addition of some instructions regarding negotiations with Vermont, and Indian affairs. 126 ff.
45. June 26, 1781-Aug. 2, 1784. Letters from English ministers. Relate chiefly to appointments, Vermont, disaffected persons in Canada, the loyalists, and the evacuation of forts. 177 ff.
- 46-47. March 20, 1776-May 27, 1785. Letters from the Treasury. Communications pertaining to the financial side of military and civil administration in Canada. 314 ff.
48. April, 1778-April, 1786. Letters from the War Office. These relate to routine items of military administration. 183 ff.

49. Jan. 27, 1777-Aug. 26, 1785. Letters to General Haldimand and from the Boards of Admiralty, and Ordnance. These relate to letters of marque, the naval force on the St. Lawrence, ordnance stores, etc. 157 ff.
50. Sept. 19, 1777-Aug. 6, 1784. Letters from the English ministers. They deal with defence of the province, various military expeditions, negotiations with Vermont, loyalists, the close of the war and the civil government of Quebec during this time. 262 ff.
51. April 27, 1778-Sept. 21, 1785. Letters from the Treasury and from and to the War Office. Correspondence, largely of a routine character, on the administration of financial and military affairs. 179 ff.
52. Letters from the Treasury (1783-1786), the Board of Trade (1780-1781), the Ordnance, Navy and Admiralty (1779-1782). The most important are from the Board of Trade on constitutional matters and from the Treasury regarding the expenses connected with the loyalists. 79 ff.
53. 1762-1786. Letters of appointment to various commands held by General Haldimand. 29 ff.
54. June 30, 1778-Oct. 25, 1780. Letters to the ministry. This is the first of a series of six volumes of communications from Haldimand to the colonial secretary together with a few to the Treasury and the War Office. This correspondence is important, giving as it does a fairly complete account of the course of events in Canada, and the various troubles and problems which arose from time to time. This volume deals mainly with the Revolution, the question of French priests in Canada, and constitutional development. 428 ff.
55. Oct. 24, 1780-Oct. 25, 1782. Letters to the ministry. The war, negotiations with Vermont, and the arrest of several disaffected persons in Canada are the chief topics. 237 ff.
56. Oct. 10, 1782-Oct. 6, 1784. Letters to the minister. They relate to the close of the war, ecclesiastical affairs, Indians, loyalists, Vermont, and the evacuation of military posts. 316 ff.

- 19069-19074. 1711-1794. These papers are known as the Brown Collection, and relate to the history of Nova Scotia. They are important for that subject. At least three-fourths of them are between 1720 and 1756. Correspondence of Paul Mascarene is the most prominent item.
- Many of the papers of this collection were copied and bound in the artificial series that now forms part of the Nova Scotia State Papers (q.v.). The rest are contained in three portfolios, which average about 300 folios each.

ARCHIVES NATIONALES.

ARCHIVES DES COLONIES.

Series B.

This series is composed of registers or letter-books, in which were copied despatches, memoranda, and other papers sent by the king and the minister to officials, ecclesiastics, and private persons in the colonies and to others interested in the possessions of France beyond the seas. While orders of the king (ordres du roi) and despatches of his minister form the core of the series, the amount of miscellaneous correspondence and papers is very large.

In the earlier portion the documents have a simple chronological arrangement; later, however, a separate division is made for each colony, as well as for correspondence with intendants at Rochefort and La Rochelle.

The series is calendared as follows: volumes 1-42 in Richard's Supplement to the Report on Canadian Archives for 1899, pages 245-548; 42-74 in the Report for 1904, appendix K; 75-189 in the Report for 1905, volume I, part VI.

This calendar has certain failings, the principal one being due to the fact that Richard omitted many papers that it has since been judged necessary to have copied.

The transcription of this series has at present only reached number 85. Some of the numbers were not copied, as they contained nothing relating to America. This will explain certain gaps.

The volumes have no indexes.

1. 1663-1669. Orders of the king and despatches from the minister to Talon, Bouteroue, Laval, Courcelles, Gaudais, and Abbé de Queylus, royal ordinances, miscellaneous correspondence and papers. ### SERIES F.

This mass of papers relating to the French colonies was gathered together by Moreau de St. Méry (1750-1819), the statesman, administrator and historian, and is known as the Moreau St. Méry collection. Only a comparatively small portion deals with Canada. Many of the originals of these documents may be found in series C<sup>1</sup> and in the registers which comprise series B, but there are numerous papers which now cannot be located elsewhere. Volumes 2-16 inclusive are calendared in Richard's Supplement to the Report on Canadian Archives for 1899, pages 39-191. Some later volumes are calendared in the Report on Canadian Archives for 1905, volume I, part VI, pages 447-505, but only a few have been copied.

This series is a valuable one in many ways, especially with regard to the paternalism of the French government.

None of the volumes are indexed.

2. 1632-1759. Numerous memoirs, a few despatches from the intendant to the minister, miscellaneous correspondence and papers. Indian affairs; fur trade, and the western country; mines; manufactures; agriculture; La Salle and his explorations; complaints against Frontenac and Perrot by other officials; Denonville's campaigns against the Iroquois; narrative of events in Canada, 1682-1712; administration of the colony: relations with the English, and the questions of boundaries and territorial rights in North America; long memoir by Catalogne on seigniories and dwellings of Quebec, Montreal, and Three Rivers, 1715. There are few documents subsequent to 1727. 597 ff.
3. 1603-1670. Letters patent, grants, warrants, decrees, and miscellaneous papers. Enterprises of De Monts; establishment of religious and charitable institutions; missionary and educational work among the Indians; royal regulations for the establishment of good order and police in Canada; warrant to establish a council at Quebec; commerce and the fur trade; administration of justice; prohibition of the sale of liquor to Indians; immigration, and the importation of live stock; the Sovereign Council; manufacture of potash and soft soap. 466 ff.
4. 1670-1676. Despatches from the minister to officials in Canada and Acadia, ordinances and decrees of the Sovereign Council, petitions and miscellaneous papers. Importation of horses from France; duties on tobacco, liquors, and furs; trading companies, and the foreign commerce of Canada; shipbuilding; immigration; communication between the St. Lawrence and the coast of Acadia; prohibition of the culture of tobacco; breeding of cattle; marriages and births in the colony; emigration from Canada back to France; regulations concerning the police and the local government of Quebec; arrest of M. Perrot and the Abbé Fene-
