

CHURCH NOTES

FOR BUSY MEN

GLEANINGS IN GENERAL

CHRISTIANIZE THE JEW.

There is certainly no more important world-wide work than to enlighten the Jew. This people are dispersed all over the world; they are a most energetic race, of the keenest conception, and let us confess it in many ways far more generous than the Christian nations.

CANON HENSON ON THE HISTORIC BISHOP.

Canon Henson writes as follows in the "Churchman," London: "What precisely is this 'historic episcopate' as it is represented by the Presbyter-Bishop of the Pastoral Epistles and St. Clement of Rome? Or by the monarchical Bishop of St. Ignatius and St. Cyprian? Or by the Bishop of the Celtic Church? Or by the Bishop of the medieval Church? Or by the Bishop of Tudor England? Or by the 'ultra' Bishop of seventeenth-century Scotland? Or by the political Bishop of the Hanoverian Empire? Or by the 'Apostolic' Bishop of the Tractarianism? Or by the Episcopal presbyter of the Presbyterian 'High Churchmen'? Or by the 'Descriptive' Bishop of modern Rome? Or finally, by the Superintendent of some Protestant Churches? All equally historic, and so many other forms of ecclesiastical system. History is never a particular, and the tradition which it delivers from the past to the present is too vast and various to serve any particular theory. To my thinking, this phrase, 'historic episcopate,' is unmeaning and unhelpful; it means no more than the particular form of ecclesiastical government which modern Christians possess, and which is repudiated by everybody else."

A SERIOUS BUSINESS.

On the 4th of May a judgment was pronounced by a Judge in Montreal giving the sanction of the Civil Court to the annulment of a marriage pronounced by Archbishop Gauthier. Of course the Archbishop acted by authority of the Pope, and the marriage was not a religious one, but a civil one. The young couple continued man and wife for nearly a year. It was then discovered that there was a "file of sanctimony" between the two, which was a dispensation ought to have been secured. On account of this "omission" the Archbishop pronounced the marriage null and void. The Archbishop's action was not a religious one, but a civil one. In December the marriage was pronounced by the Archbishop null and void, and the young wife joined a religious order. She explained how divorce can be proper under a process of this sort. The marriage having been actually consummated it could not be annulled by the authority of God's Witnesses.

PRAYER AND POULITICE

The prayer of faith will do great things, but it will not save the sick when the latter are so set in their opinions as to neglect the use of the scientific means of recovery which the Lord puts within their reach. If they only will take them. Almost everywhere in the world where a poisonous plant is found growing, an antidote is at hand—it will only pluck and apply it. The Lord who made the body of man made also the instruments of physical recovery. The working in any case must be done by the hand of works through means. It is foolishly to say the least to condemn the results of medical science, and to feed instead on the sure of dreams, thinking that because one has disregarded one law of God—a law of nature—he is thereby put in a position of special advantage in demanding that his prescribers be reckoned for faith. But faith plus means will do wonders. Many a Hezekiah lives longer than he otherwise would if, while he prays, he applies the poultice to his boils. Faith and hygiene, prayer and poultice belong together.—Zion's Herald.

CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY.

"What has the future in store for us? Who can number the millions that are coming to this continent? Who will occupy this Canada of ours? Who can forestall the tides of commerce which will sweep across our land when Canada is the scene of their youth? Who will stretch out her hands towards Europe and Asia? Who can forestall Canada's place in the world's politics when she shall be a world power? Who will stand by her mother in the councils of the empire, and through the empire make her influence felt in the world? Whether the future will be worthy of unworthy depends not on our material resources or our material development, but on the life and the character of our citizens. The life and character will be the outcome of their religious beliefs. If true to our privileges and opportunities, we should be able to do this with the North American continent, to develop the best type of Christian civilization this world has known. This is Canada's opportunity at home."—N. W. Rowell, R. C. Toronto.

RECTOR OF TRINITY AT EVERY DAY CLUB

Impressive Address Delivered Last Night by Rev. R. A. Armstrong

Reason, which differentiates man from other creatures, may be so exalted as to produce evil instead of good results in human life. But reason, rightly exercised, is an inspiration to faith and right conduct. This was the central thought of an impressive address delivered by Rev. R. A. Armstrong, rector of Trinity, at the Every Day Club last evening. The speaker said that those persons who refused to believe anything but what they could understand violated their own professions in regard to everything but religion. The evil results of unduly exalted reason were seen in the French revolution after the Goddess of Reason was enthroned by the populace.

PALESTINE AND THE JEWS.

It is the fondest dream of the true Jew that some day the race will return to its native land of Palestine with the old stories of the temple will be restored, and the sons and daughters of Abraham and Isaac will be gathered about the leaders of the world. That day may be yet afar off. Meanwhile, the Zionist idea continues to take courage and vigor. It is a development is an outgrowth, or subsidiary organization, called the Jewish Colonization Society, which advocates the purchase of land for Jewish settlement in Palestine with a portion of the Baron Hirsch fund. No Jewish exodus from this country is contemplated, but it is believed there are many thousands of European Hebrews who would go gladly.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE

SENSITIVE PEOPLE.

The unhappiest people in the world are the super-sensitive people. They are unhappy because they are always being slighted, laughed at, or talked about. They are looking for slights and are always finding them. They are near-sighted and do not see them, even though you look at them. It is because you do not want to live in the country and are very kind to you, and you live in the town and want to be kind to them. When they are near-sighted, they do not recognize them on the street, it is because you don't want to know them away from their home. The sensitive class do not realize that the change of dress, hat or hair cut, make such a difference in their looks that their own mother would not recognize them, especially away from home. If you are walking or driving with a friend and you are laughing together at some story or incident as you meet the sensitive person, he or she thinks you are laughing at them. If you are talking with a friend as you drive or walk, and the sensitive man or woman you are talking about there is something radically wrong about the suspicious and sensitive. It may be guilt for "Suspicion always haunts the guilty mind." The thief doth fear each bush an officer. If not guilty, it is weakness akin to sickness. All seems infected that the infected see. The strong do not receive criticism. They are conscious there is nothing about them in appearance, dress, or personality to laugh at or ridicule. The sensitive I mean the abnormally sensitive are conceited and attach undue importance to themselves. The world is too busy to discuss the sensitive or their affairs. When the world laughs at them it is because there is something wrong about them. The world does not laugh at unshaven faces, but if a man went down King street with the highest polish of John De Angelis on the bottom of his shoes, he would be seen a shoe shine parlor. King street would be likely to laugh at him. Or if a man went down the street with one clean well shaven and the other side had never known a razor he would likely be talked about.

NEWCASTLE IS CHOSEN BY DRUMMOND

NEWCASTLE, N. B., June 13.—Mr. Drummond and his engineer, Parsons, met the board of trade executive yesterday afternoon. The company accepts Newcastle's offer of a free site and will proceed to build docks here just as soon as arrangements are completed to build a spur line from the intercolonial to the river front. They expect to be shipping ore before the close of navigation this year.

The company have abandoned their survey to Barriere and will connect their beach line from the Mines with the intercolonial at Back's Cut, four miles south of Bathurst. This will make the intercolonial haul nineteen miles longer, but will be keeping the branch entirely north of the Nepisiguit River avoid building a costly bridge which would delay construction six months.

The dredging Bathurst Harbor, if ever done, will take at least two years, and in the meantime Newcastle will be the company's shipping point with every prospect of remaining permanent. Messrs. Drummond's and Parsons' meeting with the board trade was eminently satisfactory to both parties and will result in a special train for Londonderry the same afternoon.

3,000 PERSONS IN PLACE LOSS WERE IN LINE AT $25,000

One of the grandest religious processions ever witnessed in the Maritime Provinces was held yesterday at Memramouc, when over three thousand persons participated in the annual Corpus Christi celebration. From all the surrounding country families assembled to take part in the procession, which was a very lengthy one. Rev. Father Labbe had charge of the procession. The college band, augmented by several musicians from Fox Creek and Moncton, rendered several selections. Under the capable direction of Rev. H. D. Le Blanc, the playing of the band was highly pleasing. The Blessed Sacrament was carried under a cloth of gold canopy. The streets were beautifully decorated with flags and bunting. As the Blessed Sacrament was carried by the Rev. Father Roy, the large numbers on the streets bowed in adoration. Benediction was also sung during the procession. Rev. Father Langlain was deacon, and Rev. Father McDougall was sub-deacon. There were fully 3,000 persons in the procession. Solemn high mass was sung in St. Thomas' Church at Memramouc at 10 o'clock, and concluded shortly after noon.

CHATHAM, N. B., June 13.—Fire destroyed the McLaughlin house, near Red Bank, this morning. William Bell was the occupant and lost not only the household furniture but farm implements and produce stored in the barn, which caught from the house. The origin of the fire is a mystery. A house on Back road near Loggieville occupied by Mrs. Ahearn was struck by lightning Friday evening during the storm and badly damaged. Every bit of plaster was peeled off the walls, a window taken out as with a saw and the roof raised from its supports. The house was completely wrecked by the lightning bolt. Fire then broke out but was extinguished by a neighbor. Fortunately Mrs. Ahearn was visiting her sister at Napan on Friday and there was no one in the house otherwise a fatality would have undoubtedly happened.

NEW PALATIAL CARS ADDED TO SERVICE. MONTREAL, June 13.—The Canadian Pacific made another stride forward yesterday when it added new palatial library-observation cars to its already splendid equipment. These cars, which are intended for trans-continental service, are of two types—the Glens and the Mounts—and when the two series are completed will number 22 in all. They contain every requirement which minimizes whatever fatigues there may be in travelling, each one having elegant sleeping apartments, which provide the utmost seclusion, and a buffet, a well stocked library, writing desks, etc., and a spacious parlor, with wide windows from which the scenery along the line can be uninterrupted viewed. The rear platform will comfortably accommodate a dozen or more people. The cars, which are lighted by electricity and perfectly ventilated, are not only handsomely designed, substantially built, elegantly appointed, and the exquisite fittings and decorations pleasingly harmonize, but they afford additional resting places for the sleeping car passengers for whose use and comfort they are specially intended. Good roads were the first thing the best roads of any country I wider than for two cars to pass feet wide on the main thorough enough for one vehicle, with passenger, and men with hammers breakers. They are then put on the heavy rollers, leaving it as smooth as a billiard table. Road taxes are very high. In Iowa a car or not, pays a cash tax that the landlord was paying about $200. Canadians want good roads, yet learned that they cannot get the trustees raise the assessments they are justified in complaining, poor road work; but if we are to do it with, and then have the crops are wheat, oats, barley, strictly followed. There is but a pared to pastures and hay lands, industries. Roots and bran are the corn, beans or barley mixed. Oil of farn. A six-acre lot produces an and piled up in a row on one side covered with a little straw and frost through the winter. From the wheat is taken to the mill and bran resembles rolled oats and is made into a good feed. It has been a long time. He says it costs him a choice from 16 to 50 shillings per acre, choice farms rent high. Many old are renting, their forefathers having very wealthy and rated much higher than the hand separator is using collar and churned every day by wooden tub about eight inches high with her hand round and round which takes only a short time. It is ready for market day. It is all saw any nice looking butter, nor is the cows in winter time are kept severe weather. Their ration is grass, alfalfa, and the Canadian stock feed expert herdsmen. We could pay more for it. There should be more young men and managers of dairy farms. It is not so place that requires any money to make ten per cent on $100 land. It is just as honorable as plowing a counter in a bank or carrying pills on the American continent. Why? Because they are experts. In every other line and shall we forever labor on our farms? I was at a loss to know how the good animal. I soon discovered how the American dairyman. Every one to the kingdom for competition. To any other people. Every man will plow and chickens. Their shows are one animal stands just as good a champion animal is worthy.

The automobile has found its way into the city streets were best and most of the best established itself, no one regrets that the city man's dollars and not the country purpose.

The feeling still exists in some quarters that the automobile is a luxury. This, however, is not the case. COACHING MARATHON

LONDON, June 14.—The best times
in the Marathon were made by Judge Moore and Mr. Vandenberg. The former, who started nineteenth, overtook
every other coach except that of Mr.
Vandenberg, who was the sixth to get away. Mr. Moore started competition as soon as he left Rushby Park, and this doubtless counted against him in the judging, for his horses were sweating freely when they entered Olympia.
The Vandenberg team, on the other hand, although it covered the twelve mile course in 45 minutes, was quite fresh on arrival.

RESULTS OF EXAMINATIONS

Most satisfactory results were obtained by students at the examina-

General subjects—Harold P. Flem-

eron and Harold Casson.
Pharm—Frank C. Sherman, St. John;
Stephen; Percy L. Long, St. John; Frank
E. Porter, St. John; B. A. Hoyt, St.

These tablets were devised by the

those of his parishioners who suffered from any form of stomach trouble, and they have relieved and cured thousands.

Would-be Suicide Arrested, Pleads Guilty to Drunkenness

CHATHAM, N. B., June 14.—Lester Bobinay tried to commit suicide last evening on three occasions and he put it down to jealousy. Bobinay has been married about one year. Last evening he seized a big carving knife while at home and would have cut his throat had his mother-in-law not interfered and taken the knife away. He then left the house and when opposite H.
Pout's store he seized the awning rope
and twisted it about his neck, jumping off the store steps and attempting to strangle himself. Coughlan happened along and after releasing the rope, put him in the lockup. As he entered the cell Bobinay seized an electric wire and tried to twist this about his neck.

This morning he pleaded guilty to being drunk and received sentence of 12 or twenty days. A little more rain fell today and more is needed if the fires are to be extinguished. At the present time they are not dangerous, but a few days of fine weather would make the situation about as bad as before.

W. A. Doyle, manager for Ned Mc-Donald, the Sydney wrestler, is in vice-pres., Mrs. W. B. Snowball; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. W. B. Scovill.

5 PROSTRATED IN BOSTON AS RESULT OF HEAT

BOSTON, Mass., June 14.—Five prostrated because of the excessive heat
were reported from various hospitals tonight at the close of perhaps the most sultry and uncomfortable day of the year. The mercury climbed to 88 degrees and at 8 o'clock was executing a waltz with 78. Outside the city a light wind swept across the country, but its effects were not noticed in the business and crowded tenement sections.

The will of Rev. Edward Everett Hale, who died Thursday, was filed today in the probate office, naming his daughter, Ellen Day Hale, as executrix. The will was executed
April 25, 1907. To his sons, Arthur, Edward Everett, Philip Lesley and Herbert Dudley, are left each one-quarter of the books in his library as they may select, after Mrs. Hale has reserved such as she would keep at home.

The remainder of the estate is given to Mrs. Hale and upon her death will devolve to the daughter, or in the event of the death of the latter, to the sons.
No inventory of the estate was filed.
New Bedford's mill property will be augmented by $2,500,000 in capital, by 100,000 spindles and by more than 3,500 looms by the erection of plans for which were announced today.

The new mill will be the largest in the city.

LONDON, June 13.—North-east winds entirely to fetes and festivities, but the rain has done its best to spoil ev-

RAIN SPOILS QUEEN'S FETE.

What should have proved one of the prettiest spectacles of the week was utterly ruined by the wretched weather. Rain is no respecter of persons, but it might have left the Queen's fete alone.

Her majesty takes the deepest interest in work for crippled children.
She founded the Queen Alexandra League—designed its badge—in aid of the Ladies' Home College, at Alton. The league is purely a children's society, and for the benefit of the home it organized a fete in the lovely grounds of the picturesque Chelsea Hospital.

The King accompanied the Queen to the fete, and naturally there was a big attendance of gayly dressed ladies and gentlemen, who were in the open jackets. The fete was purely an open air function, and in the pitiless rain that descended all the afternoon their condition was most unhappy.

When the King and Queen arrived
the rain was simply pouring down, dampening dresses, stalls and the excited folk, and the bright happy youngsters had their march cast their majesties and seemed as happy as conditions would allow.

ROYAL ASCOT DRAWS NEAR.

next week. The great world will be in called that part of London which is called West End, or Mayfair, will be regarded as empty, though as a matter of fact the ordinary eye will be unable to detect any difference from its everyday appearance in the season.

If the weather conditions are only what they should be the week will be a brilliant one, for London is full of Americans, colonial and Continental visitors, who, will, no doubt, not regret the opportunity of seeing and being seen at Ascot. All available houses in the district have been rented, and their temporary tenants are entertaining on even a grander scale than usual.

so as to be at Cowes during the regatta meeting, which always begins
on the Bank Holiday, the first Monday in August. That is the day the Tsar is to leave Cherbourg after spending two days with the French president.

On the bank holiday, Cowes is always inundated with pleasure seekers, while the Solent is blackened with excursion steamers. So it is likely that Tsar will so arrange his time table as to reach his anchorage at the mouth of the Medina Monday night after the multitude of holiday.

WHY should you buy a roofing that needs to be painted every little while to keep it tight, when, for the same money or less, you can buy Ama-tite which needs no painting?

Amatite is waterproofed with Coal Tar Pitch, the greatest waterproofing material known.
Water can't get through it. It gives the kind of protection that only the ideal roof can give.

The outer surface is composed of real mineral matter, which makes painting unnecessary.

BRAIN BUILDING How to Feed Nervous Cases.

Hysteria sometimes leads to insanity and should be treated through feeding the brain and nerves upon scientifically selected food that restores the lost delicate gray matter. Proof of the power of the brain food, Grape-Nuts, is remarkably strong.

After about eight years ago when working very hard as a court stenographer I collapsed physically, then nervously, and was taken to the State Hospital for the Insane at Lincoln,
N. Y., a ravine maniac.

"They had to put me in a straight-jacket and I was kept in the worst ward for three months. I was finally dismissed in the following May,
but did no brain work for years, until last fall, when I was persuaded to take the testimony in two cases.

"One of these was a murder case and the strain upon my nervous system was so great that I would have broken down again except for the strength
I had built up by the use of Grape-Nuts. When I began to feel the pressure of the work on my brain and nerves I simply increased the amount of Grape-Nuts and used the food more regularly.

"I now feel like my old self again and am healthy and happy. I am sure that if I had known of Grape-Nuts when I had my trouble 8 years ago I would never have collapsed, and this dark experience in my life would never have happened.

"The power of Grape-Nuts as a brain food is simply wonderful and I do not believe any stomach is so weak that it cannot digest this wonderful food."
"There's a Reason." Look for the little book, "The Road to Wellville,"

MISS ADELINE WILLOCK, of Ridgewood, Victim of Man Who Came as Buyer

NEW YORK, June 14.—Detectives are scouring Brooklyn today in search of a desperado who, in the guise of a prospective purchaser of property, blackjacked and chloroformed Miss Adeline Willock, of No. 102 Odeondonk avenue, Ridgewood, and made his escape with $15,000 in cash, jewelry and clothing.

One man has been arrested on suspicion so far, and the police hope to be able to capture the robber from a description given by the victim.

Miss Willock's house is for sale
and about a week ago a stranger called at her home and asked her like to look over the place. She showed him through the house and the man took a mental inventory of everything.
There was a hitch over the price and the man went away, saying he would return yesterday to see if the owner had decided to sell at his figure.

At the appointed time he returned and after some talk about the price asked Miss Willock to let him look at the upper rooms, again. They went upstairs and when in a room on the second floor the stranger turned on Miss Willock and without warning dealt her a heavy blow with a blackjack.
She fell to the floor unconscious, and to make sure that she would not return to her senses until he had ransacked
the premises he applied chloroform.
Miss Willock was alone in the house at the time and the marauder was able to go through the house at his leisure, selecting the most valuable objects he could find.

THE I. C. R. AS A PROMOTER OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

The Sun had the privilege yesterday of announcing the most progressive and promising departure made in inter-colonial management during recent years—the creation of a new department for the purpose of encouraging and promoting new industrial and commercial enterprises throughout the roads territory.

The new Board of Management, though it has hardly yet had time to work into its working stride, has already displayed an encouraging grasp of inter-colonial conditions and a commendable intention to handle the road as a whole and not as a mere collection of disconnected parts.

As outlined by Mr. Butler in the Sun yesterday, the new scheme is for the creation of a department of industrial development, the duty of which will be to obtain and classify information with reference to business opportunities in the various centres of trade along the route of the inter-colonial, and to circulate this information among possible investors.

The purpose of this is obvious and is worthy of all praise. The failure of the inter-colonial, so far, lies not in any weakness of the railway as an instrument of transport, but in the inadequacy of its territory as a producer of profitable traffic and in the inefficiency of previous managements in the work of encouraging and developing this traffic.

It is in the general The Sun has been preaching for a long time past the dissemination of many because of the conclusion, which the Sun was unable to avoid, that the organizing, developing work so urgently required, could be done more effectively by an active company with Maritime interests than by the government.

A PARTISAN GOVERNMENT. The Standard accuses the Sun of a desire to make trouble in stating that the House government has decided to appoint a Liberal to the position of Chief Superintendent of Schools. That government supporters should accept the possibility of trouble by the suggestion that Mr. Hasen had made a public appointment for other than partisan reasons is significant.

THE CORONATION OATH

The Orange Sentinel vigorously upholds the protest of that Order against the abandonment of the anti-Catholic clauses in British Coronation Oaths on the ground that this would not only weaken the position of Protestantism in Great Britain, but would open the door to the occupancy of the British throne by a Roman Catholic.

Without discussing whether or not this possibility would be fraught with such disaster as The Sentinel fears, we may call attention to the fact, frequently pointed out in the various arguments which have taken place on this question, that no person shall enjoy the crown unless he is a Protestant, and it is also further provided by the Act of Settlement that whoever shall come to the possession of the crown shall join in communion with the Church of England as by law established.

Relating the history of the movement in a comprehensive article, The Halifax Chronicle recalls that in the measure introduced in 1801, a British territorial duty as a stimulus to industrial development—a duty which the Sun has persistently urged, should be provided with the management of the government railway.

FANNING THE RACE FIRES

La Presse, the leading French Canadian paper, is obsessed with the idea that the Imperial Press Conference is a part of a "disgraceful conspiracy" to drag Canada into the "ortex of European militarism."

Without discussing whether or not this possibility would be fraught with such disaster as The Sentinel fears, we may call attention to the fact, frequently pointed out in the various arguments which have taken place on this question, that no person shall enjoy the crown unless he is a Protestant, and it is also further provided by the Act of Settlement that whoever shall come to the possession of the crown shall join in communion with the Church of England as by law established.

ST. JOHN COUNTY AND THE ROAD LAW

The Standard denies the Sun's charge that "the present government has taken out of the hands of the county electors the administration of the roads money."

Without discussing whether or not this possibility would be fraught with such disaster as The Sentinel fears, we may call attention to the fact, frequently pointed out in the various arguments which have taken place on this question, that no person shall enjoy the crown unless he is a Protestant, and it is also further provided by the Act of Settlement that whoever shall come to the possession of the crown shall join in communion with the Church of England as by law established.

THE FUGITIVES

Tardy recognition of genuine literary merit and of a capacity for poetical and original thought is the inspiration men call genius.

Without discussing whether or not this possibility would be fraught with such disaster as The Sentinel fears, we may call attention to the fact, frequently pointed out in the various arguments which have taken place on this question, that no person shall enjoy the crown unless he is a Protestant, and it is also further provided by the Act of Settlement that whoever shall come to the possession of the crown shall join in communion with the Church of England as by law established.

CONTEMPTIBLE FICTION

Discussing the recent change in the management of the inter-colonial, The Free Press of London, Oct. 15, 1908, drops into history with some ridiculous results.

Without discussing whether or not this possibility would be fraught with such disaster as The Sentinel fears, we may call attention to the fact, frequently pointed out in the various arguments which have taken place on this question, that no person shall enjoy the crown unless he is a Protestant, and it is also further provided by the Act of Settlement that whoever shall come to the possession of the crown shall join in communion with the Church of England as by law established.

MR. TAFT AND THE TARIFF

"The consumer is a myth," says Senator Aldrich, the leader of the high-tariff party in the United States Senate, which is a pleasant paradox.

Without discussing whether or not this possibility would be fraught with such disaster as The Sentinel fears, we may call attention to the fact, frequently pointed out in the various arguments which have taken place on this question, that no person shall enjoy the crown unless he is a Protestant, and it is also further provided by the Act of Settlement that whoever shall come to the possession of the crown shall join in communion with the Church of England as by law established.

WHEEL OF COMFORT. In times to come, when a less opulent generation of Britons attain by a more intelligent patriotism have reasserted the old principle of self-seeking politicians of both sides, before the nation, we endeavor to rouse his countrymen, ere it is too late, to a sense of their peril and the responsibilities.

THE STORY OF STRATFORD. "Do you," we asked, "regard the result of the Stratford election as a defeat?" "By no means," replied the late member confidently. "As a matter of fact, the election was a fight, before the fact, never again to be forgotten. I received numerous promises of support, which I did not expect to receive. My victory, were sufficient to assure my constituents of my support. It was a very large proportion of votes, which became very evident, however, as the night fell, the British election was being relinquished to a bare majority, and undoubtedly the general alarm was given. The fact of the election was the submergence in a desperate struggle between the Tariff Reformers and supporters of the government. Practical question was never properly listed."

THE ARGUMENTUM AD HOMINEM. "Oh, I had first of all to make it clear," he said, "that the nation was in a long time from civil employment, was founded. I then found them quite able to agree that the fact of the election penalizes the courageous and hands the patriotic; that it was unfair that the patriotic employees who assisted their employers in the election should be penalized in competition with those who refused equal facilities."

NEED OF COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING

In times to come, when a less complete generation of Britons, actuated by a more intelligent patriotism, have reassessed the old principle of manhood training for the defence of a common fatherland, or when, perchance, some future historian is chronicling the overthrow and breaking up of the British Empire, the name of Captain Kincaid-Smith may be remembered as one of those devoted patriots who, placing the welfare of his country before his own, endeavored to relate to a sense of their peril and their responsibilities.

As a well-known labor authority has said, the military of the British people in the face of a relentless and determined preparation for their union is less culpable than the action of self-seeking politicians of both parties, who, in the supposed interests of their rival sides have not scrupled to minimize an ever-growing effort, such as the training of the nation's manhood to a really efficient defence of our shores.

The vital issue has been systematically obscured by the administration of our parochial parliamentarians, and the clamor of party cries has deafened the ears of the people—like Israel of old—to all the warnings of their prophets. The truth has been hidden from their eyes so that they still know not in this day the things which belong unto their peace. Thus the hero of Stratford was not the successful candidate, but the man who has been the firm politician willing to hazard his political position in an endeavor to induce his countrymen to recognize their danger and their duty. Nothing more making more impressive in its nature, warning could well be received than the utterance of Lord Roberts in the Upper House last week when the veteran soldier employed the opportunity to recognize the coming danger, and setting aside considerations of party, to tell the people fearlessly wherein lay their duty and the permanence of the Empire.

In view of the earnest appeal on the part of Lord Roberts, an interview has been obtained with Captain Kincaid-Smith to elucidate the opinion he has formed at the present as to the attitude of British electors towards the question of compulsory training.

THE STORY OF STRATFORD.

"Do you," we asked, "regard the result of the 20th as a far-reaching condemnation of compulsion?" "By no means," replied the late member confidently. "As a matter of fact, it is the opening of the fight before the question was decided by other political issues, I received numerous promises of support, which even if not enough to assure my victory, were sufficient to promise me a very large proportion of the vote. It became very evident, however, as the fight progressed that national defence was being relegated to a back seat by the growing insistence of social politics, and undoubtedly the general alarm created by the Budget caused its final submergence in a desperate struggle between the two former parties, and supporters of the government. Practically the question was never properly tested."

"Will you tell us, Captain Kincaid-Smith, what arguments you found the people most willing to listen to?" "They were, practically," he replied, "those which so seriously influenced myself as well as those of the Conservative members of Parliament who lately introduced the National Military Training Bill in the House of Commons, and especially the impossibility of maintaining our present naval supremacy, even by means of a two-power standard. I particularly emphasized the fact that other nations have created and still build navies of a size and efficiency never dreamed of a quarter of a century ago; and that today, even with a two-power standard, we are probably less than half the battling power of the world, while a generation hence, owing to the steady growth in the number and power of foreign navies, this proportion will become smaller and smaller. In fact, never again, even with the maintenance of a two-power standard, can we even hope to possess that absolute and unputed naval supremacy which in the past secured both our over-sea possessions and the safety of our home shores. Consequently, I insisted that the suggestions of our political battle-cries, school that a two-power standard for our navy obviates the need of universal service in a national army is a fallacy of a most dangerous description, and in future it will be impossible to preserve the inviolability of our shores unless we reinforce the navy with a citizen territorial force in which every young man is compelled to receive an adequate military training."

"It was impossible to listen to the hero of the Stratford election without being profoundly impressed by the earnestness of the conviction which had prompted him to become a political knight-errant in the hope of stirring his countrymen to a recognition of a strange and unfamiliar peril, one which many of us consider more pressing in its claim under our vigilance than any of our political battle-cries. Our next query attacked the more practical politics of the question. "Having adduced these main arguments, how," we asked, "did you encounter the inevitable barrier of individual self-interest?"

THE ARGUMENTUM AD HOMINEM.

"Oh, I had first of all to make it quite clear that nothing like compulsion, which would take men a long time from civil employ, was intended. I then found them quite able to agree that the voluntary system penalizes the courageous and handicaps the patriotic; that it was unfair that patriotic employers who assisted their employees to attend training should be penalized in competition with those who refused equal facilities. "Parents, especially," said Captain Kincaid-Smith, "welcomed the prospect of a sound physical training for their sons such as only a system of national service can give to the children of the poor." This was a powerful argument, and another of equal potency was that universal service, by inculcating habits of obedience, discipline and punctuality, would largely increase the industrial efficiency of young men, and make them amenable to a far better wage.

A GLOOMY PRECEDENT.

"My experience has convinced me that to make any system of compulsion acceptable to the people at large, they must first be assured that it will not remove young men from civil employment, or render difficult their return to their previous military duties, and that any term longer than forty-eight days would be very difficult to defend against the accusation of conscription. In fact, rightly or wrongly, I believe that the majority of Englishmen prefer to remain unconvinced of the dangers gathering around them rather than embrace any more efficient and self-sacrificing scheme of defence. The nations of the Continent, you must remember, only accepted their present more effective systems during periods of national disaster, and their example after a similar terrible experience, although their Empire would then have passed from them for ever."

"We should like to have your opinion on one more point, Captain Kincaid-Smith. Do you think," we asked, "that the Unionist party, convinced of the best character of their programme, efficient national army than the Territorial force can ever become, should unite with their programme of Tariff Reform a scheme of universal compulsion?"

"Well," he responded, "I feel that such a policy would be one of considerable temerity, though undoubtedly had I received the poll such support as I was initially led to expect, I have encouraged many members of the present Parliament, and many, too, of the General Election, to boldly to include in their programme this vital principle, which many of them sincerely believe to be necessary, but fear to advocate owing to its supposed unpopularity. But the difficulty which leaders of both parties feel in the bold adoption of such a scheme on their programmes might easily be overcome by means of a referendum on the subject, and the opinion of the constituency as to the wisdom of this single question, without entangling a General Election.

"Falling this, I hold that the scheme with the best chance of acceptance at present, is that championed by myself and the promoters of the recent Bill, which adopted the Swiss system as its model. This proposes that, with due exceptions, every man, physically fit, shall belong to the Territorial Army, and be liable between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one to varying periods of training. Taking 40,000 as the basis of the number of young men attaining the age of eighteen each year and excluding Ireland, legal and physical exemptions, as well as those entitled to the regular army and navy, we should have about 20,000 recruits for training at the age of eighteen, with a liability for training extending over six years. In this way 300,000 recruits, and about 70,000 had passed through the recruit course, would be available in the time of emergency. Penalties would be exacted from those who failed to appear, as well as from employers who failed to take back young men compelled to attend training under the Act. This is the principle on which Captain Kincaid-Smith fought the Stratford election, and which he is confident was endorsed by a very large proportion of the electors.

INVITATION OF LORD ROBERTS. MELBOURNE, June 14.—Lord Roberts, speaking at a meeting of the Liberal party at the town hall, Melbourne, yesterday, expressed the hope that Lord Roberts would visit Australia and advise the government on the question of defence.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifon, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knew what I suffered from. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. L. H. HALL, Canifon, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ailments, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women.

Dutch Caps for American Kidlets.

IN HONOR OF WILHELMINA'S BIRTH, MOTHERS ARE MAKING STARCHED AND FLARING HEADGEAR FOR THEIR CHILDREN AND HERE'S HOW TO MAKE ONE.

A dainty Dutch cap had just reached the United States and our small girls are beginning to wear the cap which is characteristic of the pretty little girls in Holland. It is to be worn by our children in honor of Wilhelmina's birthday, the new little crown princess. It is a charming compromise between the cap worn by the royal baby and the Volendam cap worn by Dutch matrons. The Dutch cap is fashioned of strips of linen and embroidered by the mother and embroidered by the child's mother and heavy fluff is quilted into the crown and crocheted by the same loving hands.

NEWS OF THE LABOR UNIONS

Industrial situation. Chicago labor barometer. Winston Churchill's bill. Molders' charge of feudalism. B. & O. shopmen's strike.

The general industrial situation, as reflected in the labor press of the country and reports made to city central unions, is about complete in its nature and activity in the clothing business, and quite marked. The journals of the railway employes show that transportation is becoming greatly stimulated, and iron and steel production is gaining every month. Mining is still somewhat dull, but gradually improving, as is work in the textile and metal and wood manufacturing. Many unemployed have been gratifying toward the rural districts during the past year and engaging in farm labor, thus lessening the competition in trades materially.

By common consent among employers and workmen Chicago is acknowledged to be the storm center of the American labor movement. Under the conditions govern in that city usually become general in the course of time. The spring clean-up in negotiations, strikes, etc., is about complete in the Chicago building trades, and the labor market shows a healthy upward tendency, a pretty safe sign that the industrial depression has about run its course. A total of about 40,000 mechanics in the Chicago building trades have secured increases in wages averaging 25 cents a day. The contractors and union officials are agreed that the workmen are a total of $5,000,000 ahead for the year.

What would American capitalists say if government officials at Washington fathered a bill compelling contractors who do work for and furnish supplies to Uncle Sam to treat with their employees in an organized capacity? That is precisely what the British government, led by Winston Churchill, is doing. The British cabinet has laid before parliament a measure known as the trade boards bill, which is an advanced scheme of social reconstruction, and amounts to the government performing the function of a trade union, especially in trades in which the workers are still unorganized.

These trade boards, which are composed of public officials and representatives of employers and employees, and they will have the power to fix wages, hours and other working conditions. Six months after the trade board is organized the rates they become obligatory and will be enforced by the government. But within the six months period those employers who voluntarily accept the board decisions will be placed on a "white," or fair, list, and will be the only ones eligible for government contracts.

The bill will undoubtedly go through parliament (and there will be no supreme court to declare it unconstitutional). Great Britain will thus become the second nation in Europe to recognize and enforce the minimum wage principle. Belgium enacted a similar law recently. The idea is being agitated in Germany and other countries. The official journal of the iron-molders union charges that the National system. The boiler-makers are taking a secret ballot at present. The machine men are out at Baltimore, and the stokers are threatening to strike. Other crafts are concerned. After a four-year fight with the shop men the Santa Fe Railway made peace with the shop men, a year ago year of struggle the men are getting the same. Huge sums of money were spent by these roads. The B. and O. differences are striking.

From the ordinary newspaper reports the public may have formed the impression that all the sailors on the great lakes are involved in the strike against the "Lake Carriers' Association, and that the latter organization is the whole thing in fresh water transportation. Such is not the case. Unions among the employed at present on over 500 vessels floating on the lakes, and the number is being added to daily. All the lumber carriers, all the passenger steamers and the boats of the four great freight lines are still operated by union seamen.

The Lake Carriers' Association has less than a hundred ships in commission—not one-fifth as many as the independent interests. The total number of vessels controlled by the L. C. A. is 888, and it is generally admitted that a great majority of these will not leave their moorings this season. Of the 90 odd association boats in service nearly all are controlled by the corporations, such as the United States Steel Corporation, the Canadian interests, and the Pickands-Mather Co.

Representatives of some of the smaller concerns are complaining bitterly that they are holding the bag, that their boats are rotting up against the docks, that the pick fellows are getting the pick of the strike breakers, and the cream of the business, and that they favor peace, but are coerced into fighting the marine workers—and threatened with loss of business, and complete bankruptcy if they refuse to co-operate with the large corporations.

The labor people are greatly interested in the announced retirement of J. W. Van Cleave from the presidency of the National Association of Manufacturers. Van Cleave has been an uncompromising opponent of organizations, and declares that the burden of his position has been too great for any one man to carry. It is asserted that Van Cleave's predecessor, David M. Parry, retired from office on account of a nervous breakdown, and now Van Cleave complains of the tremendous strain to which the president of the National Association of Manufacturers is subjected.

Several years ago, when Van Cleave assumed office, he recommended that $500,000 a year be paid for the purpose of creating a way fund to fight organized labor. His recommendation was enthusiastically adopted. It is known, however, whether the entire sum was contributed to the chest but it is certain enormous amounts of money were spent to fight the printers' eight-hour movement, to prosecute the boycott and injunction cases in the courts, to finance the employing butchers in the strike against the meat and assist in other struggles to exterminate the unions.

But, notwithstanding the extraordinary expenditures of the anti-unions, and who were given considerable advantage by the industrial depression and wide-spread unemployment, NOT A SINGLE NATIONAL UNION HAS BEEN DESTROYED, and but few local organizations. The trade unions are, in many respects, stronger today than they ever have been throughout their history. Was the powder worth the candle?

The miners' officials appear to be quite well satisfied with the settlement obtained from the anthracite coal operators. The most important concession that the men obtained was the nullification of the decision of the late Carroll D. Wright's former United States labor commissioner, who held that the mine workers should be required to appeal to the conciliation board after being discharged. This decision, virtually permitted black-listing. The new agreement provides that a man discharged with or without cause can appeal to the board. The total paid-up membership in the United Mine Workers is now 309,000, a gain of 23,000 during the year and the high-water mark in the organization's history.

Indications are that, along with various political questions and internal jurisdictional controversies that will create lively fights in this year's convention of the American Federation of Labor, the prohibition issue will be precipitated to add to the excitement. The conviction of the hotel and restaurant employes in Minneapolis recently appealed to the people of the country to smite the prohibitionists wherever found. This coming brewery workers' convention will demand that action be taken against the "dry" movement, and the cigarmakers and other trades are requesting that a definite stand be made.

Or the other hand the temperance sentiment in the federation is being centralized. Rev. Chas. Stizle, superintendent of the department of church and labor in the Presbyterian Church, who was formerly a machinist and is now a fraternal delegate to the A. F. of L., has sent a confidential letter to prominent labor officials and is urging them on the question of organizing a "temperance fellowship" at the next federation convention in Toronto. Rev. Stizle points out that such a "fellowship" exists among the ministers of Great Britain, a meeting of which he recently attended, and suggests that "the time has come for the organized workmen of America, and especially the leaders among them, to take a firm and determined stand on this question."

A YOUNG CAPTAIN.

William Brewster, a Grimsby, Eng., fishing apprentice, was notified recently by the Board of Trade that he had gained his extra master's certificate qualifying him to act as shipmaster in any part of the world. Brewster was apprenticed from an Essex workhouse, and though he is not yet out of his time out of a stint of study at the Fisheries Institute and practical experience at sea gained the highest honors of his calling while yet under twenty-one.

FREE TO MEN

Until Robust Health, Strength and Vigor is Regained.

Perfect Manhood. The man of courage, of strong heart, of nerves, good health, self-confidence and undaunted energy. The embodiment of success, popular in every walk of life, respected and esteemed by all. Such is the manly man. For forty years, I have been making strong, vigorous men out of the puniest weaklings. A man comes to me weak, nervous, despondent and discouraged; with Drains, Losses, Impotency, Varicose, Rheumatism, Lame Back, Kidney or Stomach Troubles. I give him my world-famed Dr. Sanden Electric Belt, with suspensory, absolutely free, to use for two months. Mind you, not one penny in advance or on deposit. A few nights' use convinces him that he has found the right remedy. It fills him with new life, vigor and strength, and at the end of the time he is only too glad to pay me for the Belt and to recommend it to his friends. This is the way I cure men. This is the way thousands every year regain their lost strength, without the slightest risk to themselves, for if I fail it costs you nothing whatever. You pay me only when cured, or, if you want to pay cash, full wholesale discount.

My great success has brought forth many imitations of my Belt, but my great knowledge, gained by forty years' experience, enabling me to guide and advise my patients, is mine alone and is given freely with the Belt. Be sure you get the genuine. Call and take a Belt along. Or send for one and my two books on electricity and its medical use, which I send free, sealed, by mail.

England's Methods to Increase Her Army

The increase of the British army by the addition of territorial contingents is now being vigorously prosecuted by the War Office, and frequent parades of troops through the city of London are some of the allurement to recruiting. Recently some 4,500 territorial troops marched through the city with horse, foot and gun, and on passing the Mansion House saluted the lord mayor, who stood on the footpath with the sheriffs, Sir Evelyn Wood, V. C., Lord Waldegrave, Sir Alfred Newton and General Codrington, the commander of the City Territorial Army, by his side. The Honorable Artillery Company was naturally the centre of interest, which the Rough Riders, the new field artillery and the Rifle Brigade were received with shouts of welcome.

MANY ATTEND THE CLOSING Netherwood Exercises Tuesday

DISPLAY OF DRAWINGS

Prizes Presented and Interesting Addresses Delivered

Many city people attended the closing exercises of the Netherwood School for girls at Rothsay, which was held at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Prize winners were warmly applauded, as each came blushing forward to receive well merited honors.

A most creditable display of drawings done by pupils of the school was on exhibition in one of the class rooms, which excited favorable comment and reflects much credit upon Miss Madge Robertson of Rothsay, under whose tuition the drawings were made.

Rev. Mr. Daniels was chairman of the exercises, and in a brief and instructive address bestowed congratulations upon the students for the splendid progress made and of the creditable manner in which the standard of the institution had been upheld.

Special features in a programme of songs, recitations and instrumental selections were a chorus by the pupils and a piano solo by Miss Margaret Stewart.

Senator J. V. Ellis spoke in most emphatic terms of the high standard of education maintained by the executive and staff of the school and the splendid results attained.

The prizes and certificates were distributed, consisting of works of the standard authors, among which was a beautiful volume of Shakespeare, donated by the graduates for general development.

A catenetic drill by the entire body of students was held on the lawn, under the direction of Miss K. Greany, of St. John. The drill was very pretty and interesting, being carried out without a flaw.

At the conclusion of the drill tea was served and games were indulged in.

Netherwood School for girls at Rothsay closed yesterday and the young ladies leave for their homes today.

The enrollment for the present contains the same number as last year, there being thirty-six students registered. The accommodation of the institution with the present enrollment is taxed to its utmost capacity.

The principals of the school, Miss Pitcher and Miss Ganong, report that the graduates and older girls of the school have helped materially to maintain the standard of the institution, and in making the past year a very successful one in every respect. There is but one graduate, Miss Ursula Whalley.

Certificates were given as follows:

IV. COLLEGIATE.
Miss Ursula Whalley, with honors in English, chemistry, languages, mathematics, history.

III. COLLEGIATE.
Miss Alice Green, with honors in chemistry, Mathematics, history.

GATHERING WAS MOST SUCCESSFUL YET HELD

The fifth annual convention of the 7th district of United Baptists, which was held at Grand Harbor, Grand Manan, was brought to a close Saturday evening after the most successful session in the history of the district.

Last Friday at 2:30 p. m. the convention opened with devotional exercises, the Rev. E. V. Buchanan of St. George being in the chair. Five ministers and fifteen lay delegates were present, representing twenty-two of the twenty-six churches in the district, also Rev. Dr. DeVolve of Acadia Seminary, St. John, conducted the service, during the course of which he told how a model Sunday school should be conducted.

C. A. Laubman of St. Stephen spoke on adult Bible class work. The pulpits of outside villages were supplied in the evening by visiting clergy. At Grand Harbor the evening session was devoted to education and home missions. Dr. DeVolve spoke eloquently of the "True Nature of Education."

He was followed by Rev. F. E. Bishop, chairman of the Home Mission Board, who spoke of the value of home missions. In his remarks he strongly advocated the amalgamation of the home mission work of the three provinces under the management of one board.

The district passed the resolution, heartily endorsing the movement to Bishop as an amalgamation.

Mr. Bishop was followed by Rev. W. V. Higgins, who spoke on certain fundamental principles of the missionary movement.

The unanimous opinion of the delegates was that this annual meeting was the best so far held, special mention being made of the kindness and attention of the manager, captain and officers of the S. S. Aurora, in carrying the delegates to the place of meeting, also the hospitality of the friends at Grand Harbor, who entertained most royally.

RETURNS FROM WESTERN TRIP

R. B. Emerson Speaks Highly of Country

SASKATOON'S GROWTH

Former St. John Man Likely to be Appointed a Judge

Mr. R. B. Emerson returned yesterday after a three weeks' trip through Western Canada, and in conversation with The Sun spoke in glowing terms of the future prospects of that section of Canada.

Mr. Emerson attended the Street Railway Association convention in Winnipeg while on his way to Saskatoon, where his firm is largely interested in the Enterprise Hardware Co. A. L. Haining, who for the past twenty years has been connected with the firm, is in charge of the Saskatoon branch, which is located in a new block, well stocked for the growing wholesale trade of that city and the immediate vicinity.

Mr. Emerson feels that Saskatoon has a bright future, it having grown in seven years to a city of 10,000, and occupies a similar geographical position in Saskatchewan to Winnipeg in Manitoba.

It already has all the modern appliances and conveniences such as wide streets, grandiose sidewalks, electric lighting, sewerage and telephone services. The residential section is up to date, with many magnificent houses and grounds.

Four bridges span the river to the west side—three railway and one traffic bridge, and the government contemplates a fifth bridge in a year's time to connect with the Provincial University.

Already 12,000 acres of land have been bought and during the present year building operations will be begun on one of the finest universities on the continent.

Department stores have grown up with the city, the largest being J. C. Chair's, and the staff and up to date as the business district. All classes of merchandise are as reasonable as here excepting coal, which averages $11.50 per ton. Rents, however, are exceptionally high.

Educational interests have also advanced in the same ratio and while there are at present three large school buildings and several smaller ones, the city contemplates erecting a new building of from six to eight stories, which are being asked for a large college school building, costing about $125,000.

Mr. Emerson accompanied the Saskatchewan School Board on a tour of inspection of the several buildings and was highly pleased with what he saw, both as regards the staff and up to date appearance of the buildings and quite as good as any of the eastern cities.

While in Saskatoon, Mr. Emerson met James Stratton, a former St. John man, who has a flourishing law business and rumor says there is a judgeship in located in the light of the future.

Summing up his trip Mr. Emerson was strongly impressed with the progress and energy of the people.

A Mother's Breakdown

Her Health So Shattered Her Children Were Taken From Her

It is a sad story, one that is not often heard now-a-days that is told in the following letter by Mrs. Marion R. Kilpatrick, written from her home in Pittsburg, Mo. For about five years I suffered from a complication of disorders, the origin of which my doctor was unable to discover. It was undoubtedly owing to imperfect action of the liver and stomach. I am sure of this because, there was a continual flow of bile and bilefulness in my right side and scarcely anything I ate was digested. I also suffered agony with hemorrhoids. A succession of sleepless nights, and in my side and back, combined with the terrible state of my nervous system, made me wish for death.

I could do no housework, my sisters were unable to do it for me, I disappeared from my family, I disappeared from my friends, I disappeared from my next day. Gradually all my needs disappeared. I put on flesh, looked healthy, had a good spirit and a cheerful countenance. Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me and I know they will cure many other women that wish they were cured.

The most dependable medicine for medicinal purposes in your health is Dr. Hamilton's Pills—refuse any substitute. Get all dealers, 25c. per box, or five for $1.00. By mail from I. Despatch, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

QUESTION IS SENT TO CONGREGATIONS

The Congregationalists Want Opinions of Churches on Union

TORONTO, June 14.—The Congregational Union of Canada decided not to commit itself as a body on the question of church union, but decided by a unanimous vote to pass the scheme of the joint committee on to the various congregations for expression of their opinions.

Rev. W. T. Gunn, general secretary of the Congregational Union of Canada, declared himself in no uncertain tones as opposed to the union on the basis suggested by the joint committee. The Congregational church, he pointed out, has always stood against a creed test, and to accept such a test as the one proposed would be for the Congregational church a decided step back from the liberty it enjoys at present.
