SORDID STORY TOLD HOW BOY WAS HACKED TO PIECES MONDAY

James Taylor Confesses Crime--Shows No Concern, Scarcely Fear--At Once Removed to Jail Last Night Courier's Complete Story as to How Clever Officers Worked Out Mysterious Case.

The horrible mystery of murder which the police authorities of Brantford and Brant County faced yesterday morning is no longer a mystery. James Taylor, known in police court circles as "Taylor, the Spaniard" has confessed. Taylor has told the authorities that he killed Charlie Dawson. He did it shortly after 9 o'clock Monday night and he did it at the very spot where the body was found. The knife with which Taylor the deed has been found and is now in the possession of the police. In fact, Taylor himself led the police to the spot where he threw the weapon early Tuesday morning. He had been employed at the Waterworks and while teaming there threw the knife away in the grass on the Waterworks property. Coroner Dr. Ashton found it in less than five minutes search, he having directed the doctor and the police to the very spot where he discarded the death-dealing instrument. The confession of Taylor winds up inside of 24 hours one of the worst crimes ever committed in County of Brant.

Taylor was another Joseph Kennedy. His confession confirmed the suspicions of the police and officers in every detail. The prisoner has not yet come to a sense of realization of what has happened to him. He is a man of very low mentality, a degenerate in every sense of the word. Taylor can explain why he killed Charlie Dawson or why he hacked him to pieces. The arrest of "The Spaniard" was effected last evening and was promptly bulletined on The Brantford News. He was taken into custody by Sergeant John Wallace and High Constable Fred Kerr Colborne street near Clarence street. He made no resistance in any way. In fact he was arrested for a suit of clothes, and he was not given an inkling of what he was wanted for. In the meantime the officers were accumulating the evidence which more than confirmed their suspicions that Taylor was the murderer of the boy. In fact both officers at 9 o'clock last night were sure that they had landed their man. They had closed the dragnet in such a way that Taylor could not escape.

THE FIRST CLUE RECEIVED.

The first clue which the officers received was from the livery stable of Leslie Anguish. Here they learned that Taylor and the boy had been together on Monday night. This clue led to other developments before 6 o'clock last night. By nine o'clock the officers had the case clinched. It will be remembered that the boy when killed had a package of Players Navy Cut cigarettes in his possession. These cigarettes were purchased by Taylor for the boy. Only one cigarette was taken from the package. Taylor purchased the cigarettes at the store on Colborne street of Mayor Hartman. This must have done just prior to going out with the boy. Sergeant Wallace and Constable Kerr also learned at the livery stable that Taylor had secured a rig during the night. This led to his arrest. These facts ascertained were sufficient to warrant the officers holding the prisoner at any cost. Further developments and they at once decided to proceed to his boarding house. Taylor lived with Charles Stover at 6 Charlotte street. When the officers went there, they were informed that Taylor was not there, but on coming out they saw fight on Colborne street. "Come on Jim," said Sergeant Wallace, "we want you for stealing a suit of clothes."

Taylor immediately denied the charge and made no effort to get away. He had faced many and serious police court charges before with more than usual success and was probably not afraid of this one. When taken to the police station he pretended to go to sleep. The officer on duty had to tie him up and ask him if he wanted supper.

The suspicions of the officers were further confirmed by the first examination of the prisoner. They asked him where he went with the rig he secured from the stable. He replied that he had had a fight with him. The police asked him where the girl was and what was her name. Taylor could not give the name of the girl, but told the officers to go to a house on Drummond street where they could find her. This house was supposed to have been situated near the Canal. It was found that Taylor had not been out with no girl at the house in question and his story received the first flat contradiction since the investigation was launched.

After Taylor's arrest, the officers went to his boarding house and looked over his clothes. They discovered that the suit which Taylor had worn on Monday night had blood stains upon it. On the longer leg were stains and also on the sleeve and they were unmistakable. The clothes were brought to the station.

The officers had also found out that Taylor when he came back to the stable with the rig Monday night had washed his hands. The stable man noticed that he had blood on them and asked Taylor what he had been doing. Taylor replied that he had a fight. The sponge that he had used in wiping his hands was thrown away and was missed by the stableman afterwards.

With these developments to work on, Sergeant Wallace decided that it was time for the third degree. With Constable Fred Kerr, he also summoned Constable Mounce who knows Taylor well and knows his tendencies. In the meantime Dr. Ashton was summoned and in the final rounding up of the case took an important part. The Coroner took the knife and scraped Taylor's finger nails for signs of blood. He was successful in his quest. The blood he examined on Taylor's clothes was also human blood. The case looked complete in every detail before Taylor confessed at all.

PLEADED GUILTY

James Taylor, as Announced in Courier Early This Morning, Admits Guilt--In Police Court To-day.

With head bowed, and in a voice hardly audible across the court room, James Taylor this morning pleaded guilty to the charge that on the 8th day of September, 1913, in the Township of Brantford, he did unlawfully murder Charles Dawson.

A crowd which packed the court room to the doors, greeted the prisoner when he was brought in by a policeman and placed in the dock, and for some moments all eyes were turned in his direction. Taylor sat alone in the dock, with his head bowed, refusing to gaze at the throng which had come to look upon the man connected with the heinous crime for volunteers among the lawyers present and none having volunteered, the case was proceeded with, with Taylor unrepresented.

"James Taylor, the charge against you is that you did on the 8th day of September, in the Township of Brantford, unlawfully murder Charles Dawson," said Magistrate Livingston. "How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?"

There was a pause, and Taylor, who, if his appearances count for anything, could have dropped to sleep on the spot, answered "guilty," in a voice which could hardly be heard at the magistrate's desk. Then he yawned.

The plea was noted, and as a hush fell over the crowd, Magistrate Livingston announced that there was a second charge against the prisoner. "The charge is that you did unlawfully commit adultery upon Charles Dawson," said the Court.

At this point in the proceedings, Mr. Thos. Woodruff, who was present in court, volunteered to act for Taylor on this charge, and he entered a plea of not guilty, and expressed a willingness to waive examination and be tried by a jury.

This ended the proceedings for the present, and Magistrate Livingston announced that the prisoner would be committed to trial on both charges at the next court of the time of Monday night, and previous to and during the hearing, he sat quietly in the prisoner's box, gazing out the window or at the floor. Taylor was dressed in an old shirt, a coat and pair of overalls, while his hair was much ruffled, showing that he had made practically no preparations before coming to court.

The late session of last night to which the accused was subjected appeared to be having its effect this morning, and he yawned quite frequently while he sat waiting for the hearing to proceed.

A delay was caused at the opening, owing to the fact that the confessed murderer was not represented by counsel. He expressed a desire to be represented when asked by Magistrate Livingston, and stated that Mr. Anguish, the livery stable owner, or whom he formerly worked, had promised to get him a lawyer. His own personal desire was that Mr. W. S. Brewster should be called, and the police immediately telephoned to Mr. Brewster's office. That gentleman was unable to appear, however, and after Magistrate Livingston had asked competent jurisdiction to be held in November.

Taylor showed little concern at the announcement, and when a constable beckoned, he yawned and went below.

Among the many visitors to the court, was the father of the murdered child, Mr. Thos. Dawson, and a brother, The father sat near the lawyer's table, eagerly watching the proceedings, while tears came to the eyes of the brother as Taylor was arraigned. They left the court as soon as the case was disposed of.

"Life Sentence Limit" Says James Taylor

"I hope that those fellows will go easy with me," was a statement made to his spiritual adviser, Ensign Trickey, of the Salvation Army, by James Taylor, in his cell at the local police station to-day. Taylor sent for Ensign Trickey as soon as the court proceedings were over and the head of the Brantford Salvation Army corps went immediately to see the accused. He will continue to visit him while in the jail. Taylor, having expressed the hope that he would come often. To Ensign Trickey, Taylor is said to have stated that the crime was committed while under the influence of liquor. He says that he does not remember distinctly just what did happen on the night that the murder was committed, but states that he and the boy were alone.

The prisoner was asked if he realized the seriousness of the offence, but he did not answer. He side-tracked the question to talk of other things. On another occasion he expressed the opinion that a life sentence would be the limit.

Taylor was a member of the Salvation Army corps some years ago, it is said.

Plea of Guilty Can Be Accepted by P.M.

Magistrate Livingston was asked to-day if he could accept a plea of guilty in the police court to a murder charge. His Worship replied that he certainly could accept the plea but the prisoner would be able to withdraw the plea in the High Court. "He can withdraw the plea in the High Court but the fact that he pleaded guilty in the inferior court would stand against him," said Mr. Livingston. Taylor pleaded (Continued on Page 6)

SANE OR INSANE?

Dr. Ashton Unable to Express Opinion About Taylor Until Examination is Made.

This morning when Dr. Ashton, medical expert in the murder case, was asked by a Courier reporter for his opinion as to the sanity of Taylor said: "To all appearances the man is sane. It is a question, however, whether the perpetrators of such crimes as this, which are due to degeneracy are sane or not sane. In France acts of perversion are treated as insane acts. Under British law they are not. Each case is judged by itself."

As Dr. Ashton has not as yet examined Taylor with a view to testing his sanity, he could not, therefore, answer the question.

Soon after the arrest Dr Ashton scraped around, and in under the murderer's finger-nails. The particles of dirt secured will be sent to the Government analyst at Toronto to be examined for blood cells. Portions of the man's clothing on which there was blood will also be sent. While discussing this portion of the case, the doctor stated that Taylor's finger nails were exceptionally short, and his hands bore evidence of having been repeatedly washed during the day.

ATROCIOUS CRIMES IN PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

A wave of crime of a particularly atrocious nature is sweeping over Ontario. In the news of a single day are recorded three terrible murders.

At Ottawa the body of Chas. Rubenstein of Brooklyn, N.Y., a bookmaker's clerk, was found under a pile of coke in a vacant building. The man had been murdered and his body brought to the Ottawa house in a trunk.

At Brantford a 12-year-old boy was almost beheaded by a maniac. The body, hacked to pieces after death, was found in a wayside ditch.

In Essex County, near Windsor, the mutilated body of an unknown woman was found in a cornfield.

There is no clue to the perpetrators of the Ottawa and Essex crimes, but the arrest of James Taylor, was followed by a confession of the crime.

Many Relatives Mourn Little Boy's Sad Death

Sad indeed will be the sight, which will, undoubtedly, be witnessed by hundreds of people when the hearse, bearing all that is left of Charlie Dawson, leaves the residence of the parents at Echo Place to-morrow afternoon and moves slowly to Mt. Hope Cemetery, the last resting place. The young lad was loved by hundreds of residents of the city and community.

Owing to there being quite a large family it is requested that the services, which will start at 2.30, be allowed to be of a private nature. Rev. Llewellyn Brown, of the First Baptist Church will officiate. Besides the family there are a large number of relatives left to mourn the loss of the little lad, so foully done to death. In the immediate circle there are, besides the parents, two brothers and two sisters all at home. The brothers are Tom, aged 14 years and Lloyd, aged 10 years.

The sisters are Isabel and Gwendolyn, both of very tender years. The mother of the murdered boy has two sisters and three brothers. The sisters are Miss Isabel Fritch, of Drumbo and at present in the city, having come here on a visit a short time before the boy was murdered, and Mrs. James Williams of Niagara Falls. The brothers are Wallace, of Ionia, Chas. residing at 119 Albion Street this city, and John, residing in the central part of the city. Mrs. Dawson's father also resides in Ionia.

The father of the murdered boy has five brothers; Joli, living at 108 Waterloo Street, this city, and Henry, living at 100 Marlborough Street, this city. Thomas, of Cleveland, Ohio, George, of Saginaw, Mich., and Spurgeon, of Wolverton, Ont., and two sisters, Mrs. Frank McNaughton of Woodam, Ont., and Mrs. Cameron Findlay, of Lindsay, Ont. Dawson's father arrived in the city this morning to attend the funeral.

"JAMES RAY" TAKES $5,000 FROM BANK

In Spite of Publicity He is Able to Swindle a Bank at Hamilton.

"Ray" operated last week in Ingersoll, Woodstock, Brantford, Berlin, Guelph and Lindsay. It is estimated now that he has secured $25,000.

HAMILTON, Sept. 10. — James Ray, who recently mulcted the banks of many Ontario towns and cities, has evidently not yet wearied in his chosen task of defrauding these financial institutions. Yesterday, it is said, he garnered in $5,000 from another Hamilton bank.

Recent publicity of his exploits has only served to cause Ray to demonstrate his versatility. Yesterday he discarded the role of the Saskatchewan farmer with his work-a-day clothes, his two weeks' growth of beard, his luxuriant moustache and his long gray-black hair. Incidentally he dispensed with his former name and exchanged it for that of William Graham.

A Young Man Now. — Graham was a young, clean-shaven, well-dressed, city-bred young man, but he operated with the same smoothness and success as the Western yokel, "Ray." But, being a city man, he doubled the stakes. Ray contented himself with individual hauls of from $2,000 to $3,000. Graham takes $5,000 at a single play.

Graham operated on the same lines as his rural predecessor. He had the ubiquitous "letter of credit," the deferential manner so alluring to bankers and the same pleasing desire to leave part of his money on deposit. After he had completed his little transaction he is believed to have quietly departed by train for Toronto.

The police are busy on the case, but believe that Graham has shaken the dust of Hamilton from his feet and departed for other fields of activity where banks abound.

Golf Notes

The next event of importance for the September cup which will be played for Saturday next on arrival of the 2 p.m. car and up to the 3 p.m. car. Brantford will play Galt for the third home and home match in Galt, Saturday, September 20th. Galt returns here on Oct. 2nd, and this with the October Cup will complete the regular programme for the summer.

A COMPLIMENT

Early yesterday morning, County Constable Kerr went word to Provincial Inspector of Police Rogers at Toronto, advising him of the murder at Echo Place. The Inspector had to ask Crown Attorney Wilkes whether he should report here or not. Mr. Wilkes replied: "As long as we have vigilant, earnest men like Sergeant Wallace and Constable Kerr here, we need no assistance from the Provincial police."

The compliment, in view of the outcome, was certainly well deserved. At 9 o'clock last night, Mr. Kerr informed The Courier that assistance from Toronto would not be necessary.

Paris News

One of the oldest residents and best known persons in this section passed away early yesterday morning after an illness of some duration. We refer to Mr. Albert Huson, who has resided in Brant County for almost 80 years. Born in Batavia, N. Y., October 1822, he came to Canada with his parents and settled on a farm two miles east of St. George in 1834. He was married in 1844 to Lydia Ann Crandall, who predeceased him some eight years ago. Later he was made bailiff of the 2nd and 3rd division units of Brant County, and moved to Paris and has resided here continually for the last forty years. The late Mr. Huson was a life long Reformer and a Presbyterian. One son, Mr. Horace Huson, is left to mourn his loss. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 to Paris Cemetery.

The death took place in Blenheim Township yesterday evening of Mrs. Emma E. Kennedy, widow of the late William Spiers. Of a very kind and loving disposition, the late Mrs. Spiers was one of the best liked residents and was claimed as a friend by all the residents of the vicinity of Princeton and Pichwood, where she had made her home for so many years. A grown up family survive. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to Richmond Cemetery.

Ephraim Boakes, a farmer aged 59 years, passed away on Sunday at his home on the Governor's road, east of Paris. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon to St. George Cemetery.

Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Cumore Street, had his left ankle fractured when she slipped and fell in her garden yesterday.

The engagement is announced of Miss Maie Redher, B. A., of Bowmanville, formerly of Paris, to the Rev. W. S. Blyth, M.A.B.L., of Hamilton, Ont. The wedding will take place on Sept. 25.

Social and Personal

Miss Warren left for Tacoma, Wash., this morning.

Mr. Gordon Hunter is a visitor at the Western Fair to-day.

Mrs. C. M. Butler returned to the city yesterday after spending six weeks with friends in Peleeboro.

Mrs. R. E. Fitness and daughter, Louise, of Detroit, are visiting Mrs. J. A. Verity, 89 Peel street.

Last evening Mr. G. C. White, organist, and choir leader at Colborne Street Methodist Church, gave a corn roast for members of the choir. The corn was prepared on the lawn of Mr. Wilfrid Moyer, Echo Place, July 30 being present. The usual good time was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchings of 8 Winnett street, had a very pleasant surprise on Tuesday when they received a very handsome wedding gift of two rockers and a lovely refrigerator from the fellow workers of Mr. Hutchings of the Matthew-Laing Co. Limited.

On Wednesday, Sept. 3rd, a very successful talent tea was held at the home of Mrs. C. W. Grantham, 66 Alfred street, in connection with Colborne street Methodist church Ladies' Aid Society. After a short programme, a goodly supply of home made cooking, fancy work, etc., was disposed of, greatly to the benefit of the funds of the society.

About sixty of the Calvary Baptist young people went on Monday evening by radial and came to Echo Place, where a most enjoyable corn roast was held. The evening was all that could be desired, and by the light of a big bon-fire, they regaled themselves with all the delicacies appropriate to such an occasion. Music, games and story-telling so pleasantly passed the time that the hour for home going came all too soon.

The marriage of Mr. Max Vieweg, Secretary treasurer of Bow Park farm to Miss Hedwig Herold, eldest daughter of Mr. Otto Herold, manager of Bow Park farm, takes place the first of October. Owing to the death of a grandmother recently the wedding will be attended by the members of the family only. It will take place in the "White House," Mr. Herold's residence, and Rev. Rembe of the German-Lutheran church in Hamilton, will officiate.

The parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Vieweg, as well as his little brother Heinz, are arriving from Germany to-day to spend six weeks at Bow Park and to be in attendance at the interesting nuptial event. Mr. Vieweg and Miss Herold will meet them at Buffalo.

Yates, of Montreal formerly of Brantford, who on the recommendation of the Duke of Connaught, Grand Prior, approved of by His Majesty, King George V., has been promoted from grade of Esquire to Knight of Grace in the order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem. Sir Louis H. Davis of Ottawa and Mr. W. J. Gage of Toronto are also created Knights of Grace. Mr. E. J. Chamberlin, President of the Grand Trunk Railway System, an Honorary Knight of Grace; and Mrs. A. E. Gooderham of Toronto, a Lady of Grace. Major F. L. Vaux of Winnipeg, Mr. George Bury of Winnipeg (General Manager of the C. P. R. western lines), Lt. Col. J. T. Fotheringham of Toronto, and Mr. W. K. George of Toronto, are created Esquires. Mr. H. G. Kelley of the Grand Trunk receives the rank of Honorary Esquire, while Dr. James A. Hutchinson of Montreal, Lt.-Col. F. Penton, M.D., and Mrs. Boomer of London, a re-made honorary associates.

The order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem is one of the oldest orders in the British Empire and a Knight of Grace is its most coveted honor. The title does not carry with it the title of Sir as in Knighthood, but the honor is a much rarer one as the member of Knights of Grace is very limited.

EVERYBODY RELIEVED.

The crime for which one, James Taylor, has made full confession, shocked every Brantford hearthside yesterday. To-day, while sympathy is still poured out in abundance to the grief-stricken family, everybody feels relieved that the dastardly deed will not go unpunished. Incidentally, the manner in which Sergt. Wallace, High Constable Kerr and Coroner Ashton with associates set about their work in clearing up the mystery, stamps them as public officers in whom the public can well place their confidence.

TIGHT MONEY.

"Tight money" the bank managers say. Yes, money is truly tight when men of reputed capital have to go knocking at the doors of the head office to secure legitimate loans for legitimate business.
Money is loose, however, when a stranger drops in. Yes, money is truly loose, when strangers leave their cards with the managers, submit a letter of introduction and walk off with a roll of bills, of astonishing proportion.

Truly there should be no more talk of stringency on the money market.

NO CRIMINAL TYPE

Most people are under the impression that there is such a thing as a distinctly criminal type of human and that the unfortunate individuals who allow animal passions to sway the greater part of their lives possess distinct characteristics that mark them out from the rest of mankind. Books have been written in support of this theory, which has received a very wide acceptance.

In a recent publication sent out under the authority of the British government, Dr. Goring, who is a deputy medical officer at one of the penal establishments, gives the result of an examination of three thousand criminals, the conclusion at which he arrives being thus based on greater experimental data than any previous criminological inquiry. He fails to find any evidence to support the theory of a special criminal type. "With respect to measurements and the presence of physical anomalies our statistics present a startling conformity with similar statistics of the law-abiding classes," he says:

"In mean head length there is no difference between criminals and University students, in mean head breadth there is only one mm. difference between convicts and the University college staff, in mean head index Oxford students as well as the University staff are almost identical with criminals, and in mean circumference of head criminals and Scottish university students correspond in similarly close degree."

In other words, so far as physical conformation of heads is concerned the greatest criminals may be outside our prisons—like the most insane are said to be outside the asylums.

These investigations do not show, however, great differences between the law abiding and the criminal classes. The latter are of poorer physique, weigh less, and are deficient in intelligence. "Four per cent. of persons in the general population belong to the professional classes, and the number of convicted thieves belonging to this class is three per cent. If it be borne in mind that ninety-five per cent. of all persons sentenced to imprisonment are convicted of committing acquisitive offences it will be realised not how much but how very little any absolute standard of poverty is associated with the committing of crime." The greater number of offences are committed because when the opportunity offers the power of resistance to temptation is lacking.

Dr. Goring states definitely as the result of his inquiries that criminal tendencies are inherited on the same general lines as physical and mental characteristics. Defectives of the present generation are rearing the criminals of the future. While, however, the marriage rate amongst criminals is approximately that of the general population, the birth rate is less, and in this fact we may take as much comfort as we can. If we could isolate all our criminals we might cause them to die out.

Smile and the world smiles with you, unless you are in a prohibition district.

UNEMPLOYED INSURANCE

The gigantic scheme of insurance against sickness in the old land has tended by reason of its wide ramifications to obscure the equally important, though less complete, measure securing payments to workers while unemployed. The first annual report recently issued shows favorable work for 1st year, culminating in a balance of eight million in favor of the unemployed fund, and this notwithstanding the strain of the first year's establishment.

This favorable showing is due largely to the great boom which has brought unemployment in the skilled trades to the lowest point yet reached. At present the insurance is confined to the workers in ship building, engineering, building trades, iron-workers, construction of vehicles and saw milling to a certain extent. While that act has been in force for twelve months, benefits have been paid for only half of that period. At one point the maximum of unemployed had reached 118,000 and fell as low as 67,000, the number of insured being two and a half millions. The gross income reached over eleven millions of dollars and enabled the favorable balance noted above to be secured. "The good state of trade during the past year," declares the report, "has contributed perhaps more than any other single fact to making it administratively possible to launch the scheme of unemployed insurance at all."

While it is too soon to judge of the ultimate economic and social effects, the experience gained and the balance secured will, it is hoped, enable success to be secured when tested by a time trade of depression. What can be said, however, is that the first difficulties have been overcome, the scheme has proved administratively practicable, and has justified the actuarial calculations on which it was based, while it has increased six fold the numbers of workers protected by insurance against distress caused by unemployment. At the same time, and this is an important point, it has encouraged rather than discouraged voluntary provisions for the same object.

The labor exchanges have assisted materially in this successful experiment. We are further told that there is no suspicion of any considerable amount of malingering. Finally, testimony is given of the goodwill of employers and employed in aiding this national work the scope of which will now very probably be enlarged.

PROBLEMS OF SEX IN YOUTH.

The International Congress on School Hygiene, which met in Buffalo a few days ago, devoted some time to the discussion of teaching the children sexual physiology. The opinion was unanimously held that the moral and physical welfare of the youth of our age would be advanced if they had a better knowledge of matters arising out of the relations of the sexes. These are not as a rule discussed before children, and ignorance of those things that are of vital importance to the race is the consequence. Or, if not ignorance entirely, yet an imperfect knowledge, gained under improper influences. For the policy of silence, it was thought, might be substituted a policy of high minded expression, for which the schools could be utilized.

We are not sure that ignorance is so prevalent among children as might be supposed. They probably know much more than their grandfathers and grandmothers knew at the same age. Unfortunately much of that knowledge is acquired under conditions and associations that tend to prurience of thought and immoral conduct. So far as that knowledge has any effect, ignorance would be preferable from a moral point of view, and possibly also from the physical.

That knowledge is preferable to ignorance on general principles is unquestioned. But a little knowledge is often a source of danger. Just how much should be given, constitutes the problem which it is not easy to solve. That the parent should be the best teacher will be admitted. But the fact seems to be that very few parents attempt to perform this duty. Whether from indifference, or from a false modesty, or from an honest belief that the less said about those things the better, the result is the same. The child's best counselor and teacher remains silent.

If the parent neglects this duty, who shall take it up? The family physician might do something, and very probably does so in some cases. The clergyman would probably get into disrepute if he took the matter up publicly, though he is often blamed for not doing so. And we doubt if, in these days, he can get near enough to the children of his flock to be able to talk to them confidentially. Who, then, shall come to the res-

Sordid Story Told By Slayer

HOW CRIME WAS CLEARED UP BY POLICE

The Crime—A ghastly murder. The murdered—Charles Dawson, 12 years old. Time of deed—Shortly after 9 o'clock Monday night. Scene of Crime—Blossom Avenue, under a tree near farm of William Tottle. The Slayer—James Taylor, described on police records as follows: Age 27; half-breed Canadian Indian. Time of arrest—6 o'clock, Tuesday. Officers who made arrest—Sergt. John Wallace and High County Constable Kerr. Time of Confession—Midnight. Those present at confession—Sergeant Wallace, Constable Kerr, Coroner Ashton, Constable James Mounce. Evidence secured by officers before confession:
(1) Taylor was driving with boy on night of crime.
(2) Package of cigarettes bought by Taylor found on boy's remains.
(3) Contradictory stories told by Taylor as to his movements night of crime.
(4) Blood stains on clothing which he wore.
(5) Blood stains on finger nails found after close examination by Dr. Ashton.
(6) Taylor was seen washing his hands on return from drive with boy. He explained blood by stating that he had a fight.

EXCELLENT WORK BY THESE MEN

Quietly and effectively like the best trained police officers one could find anywhere, Sergeant John Wallace a veteran of the Brantford Police Force, and High County Constable Fred Kerr, made the arrest and cleared up doubtless the most ghastly murder in the annals of crime in Brant county. To these officers belongs the credit and to them alone for the diligent manner in which they put the slayer of poor little Charlie Dawson behind the bars. Coroner Dr. Ashton gave expert advice to the officers which enabled them point by point to follow up each important clue. All credit to all concerned.

GAVE HIM GRUELLING

With Sergeant Wallace leading, Taylor was taken from the police court cells and was given a stiff grueling. To their great surprise, even, they were successful before they had ever hoped to be. Taylor confessed all.

THOUGHT BOY WOULD SQUEAL

"Why did you kill him, Jim?" "I killed him because I thought the kid would squeal on me," was Taylor's reply, and he was no more concerned about it than if he were taking a chew of tobacco.

Thus it was that the death of Charlie Dawson was due to the instinct of fear aroused in the breast of his fiendish slayer, and his death was to have covered up a crime, lowest of any in the depths of human inhumanity. Taylor was another Joseph Kennedy.

FINDING THE WEAPON

Having heard Taylor's sordid story, they asked him what he had done with the weapon. Taylor has been recently engaged in driving a team for Anguish, and it was while on his trip with a load to the waterworks that he discarded the knife with which he had slain 12 year old Dawson. He told the officers that he thought he could find it, and they immediately suggested going down to the waterworks properly for it. A motor car was secured from the Mitchell garage and driven by Mr. Mitchell himself, the entire party proceeded to the Holmedale. Everybody, even Taylor himself, got out and helped to find the knife in the long grass. It was Dr. Ashton who first exclaimed, "I have it!"

AN ORDINARY KNIFE

The knife found was an ordinary jack-knife, but a very large sized one. It had two blades, the largest of which would be three inches long. It was covered with blood, and it was with this weapon that Taylor hacked his victim to pieces.

MADE NO OUTCRY.

Taylor was asked if the boy made any outcry. He replied that the lad never made a murmur. His first slash was across the boy's throat, by which he all but severed the head. After that the fiend rose in the man, and he hacked and carved at other portions of the boy's body, even though he had long since ebbed. It took Taylor more than 200 minutes to complete his gruesome task," according to his own story.

SLEPT WITH CLOTHES ON

The clothes which Taylor wore when he murdered the boy, he slept in that very same night at his boarding house. He changed them next morning before he went to work. The man evidently had no concern, absolutely no sense of the realization of the awfulness of his deed. He has none yet.

HUSTLED TO JAIL

Immediately after Taylor's confession and the discovery of the knife, he was hustled to the county jail, where he is now being closely guarded in the strong room. The jail authorities will have no repitition of the Kennedy suicide, if vigilance will prevent it.

MURDERED ON THE SPOT

The remarkable part of Taylor's confession is that he says the crime was carried out on the spur of the moment right where the boy's body was found. This the officers did not look for. They thought that the murder was committed at some other place, and the boy's body taken there. Taylor's crime was not premeditated. It just occurred to him suddenly, that the boy would tell on him for the dastardly crime of which the boy knew, and the boy only besides himself. The crime is an unmentionable one, and the penalty for it, in its severest degree, is life imprisonment.

MARKS OF VIOLENCE

Additional marks of violence on the boy's body were discovered by Dr. Ashton, and this gave the police their most important theory to work upon. The boy and Taylor had been out several times previous to Monday night, and this strengthened the clue.

JOKED WITH THE POLICE

Just before Taylor went with the police to the Holmedale, he said he thought it would be cold going down as he had no overcoat. The police promptly let him have one of their great jackets and bundled him into it. "You would make a good policeman, Jim," remarked Desk Man Steve Cara.

"You bet I would," said Taylor with a chuckle.

Absolutely no worry or concern was felt by the prisoner, and the chances are that when he was safely put away in the strong room at the jail, that he went to sleep as soundly as if he had never known what jail or a murder charge was.

cern was felt by the prisoner, and the chances are that when he was safely put away in the strong room at the jail, that he went to sleep as soundly as if he had never known what jail or a murder charge was.

WILL BE ARRAIGNED

Taylor will be arranged on a charge of murder. The inquest into the death of Charlie Dawson will probably be a very simple affair on Monday next. The presiding Coroner will be Dr. Raphael, who has just recently been appointed for Cainsville.

MENTALLY DEFECTIVE

Taylor, the prisoner, is considered mentally defective, but he has wandered into all sorts of petty crime frequently in the last few years. About two years ago his wife died, leaving a number of small children. It is not known by the police where the children are at present, although it is thought they are being taken care of by the Children's Aid.

CONVICTED OF THEFT

Taylor had been convicted of theft in the police court. He is not a Spaniard, as his police name might imply. He has lived here practically all his life, in various places, but seldom outside conditions of squalor, when he was keeping house for himself.

BIG CROWD IN POLICE COURT

Magistrate Livingston Had Numerous Cases to Dispose of This Morning.

Attracted to the police court by the arrest of James Taylor, on a charge of murder, and the probability that he would be arraigned this morning, a large crowd assembled at the police court this morning, and to celebrate the occasion, Magistrate Livingston had before him a docket which occupied some hours. The majority of the cases were of a minor nature, but took up much time. "Not guilty, sir," said Amos Black, when charged with selling liquor without a license. The police were therefore called upon to produce their evidence, and several witnesses were called. No one was able to state positively that Black had ever been selling liquor, although men had been seen to enter his place apparently sober and come out drunk. The charge was therefore dismissed.

On a charge of having liquor in his possession while "billed," Black was convicted on the evidence of the police, who told of finding whiskey and beer in the home of the accused, and a fine of $20 and costs was imposed.

A case against Wm. Taylor, charged with having liquor in his possession while on the "billed" list, occupied considerable attention, a fine of $10 being imposed. A charge of disorderly conduct was dismissed.

A number of drunks appeared on the carpet and were given the usual chance to make good, while one or two disorderly cases were shelved for the present time.

The adjourned cases of Welby Lutes, charged with assault upon his wife, and Chas. Biggs, charged with non-support, were settled between the parties. "There was really nothing else that he could do," said Sergeant Wallace at the present time Acting Chief of Police, when asked this morning how the confession was wrung from Taylor so soon after he was arrested.

"His stories were so conflicting that he was at last bound to admit that he was not telling the truth and when he became convinced, and he saw that the evidence was against him, he just had to admit that he was the man. From the time that the murder was discovered, the police worked unceasingly in their efforts to run down the murderer, and when finally Taylor was placed under arrest those in charge of the case had evidence enough to bring a confession from almost any criminal."

SAVE GIRLS FROM EVIL INFLUENCES

Montreal Presbytery to Fight
Methods of Employment
Bureaus.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—A determined effort to stamp out the traffic in immigrant girls, and their exploitation by employment bureaus is to be made by the Montreal Presbytery. Headed by the Rev. John Chisholm who brought to the attention of the Presbytery meeting yesterday the unwholesome influences by which they are often fleeced by employment bureaus, a committee of the presbytery was formed to investigate the entire question, to seek means of protecting the girls and of correcting the abuses of which they are the victims.

Mr. R. Hunter Craig, M. P., for the Govan division of Lanarkshire, from 1900 to 1906, has just died suddenly in his seventy-fifth year.

THAW IS FREE MAN TO-DAY

But How Long He Will be Free Remains
With U. S.

COATICOOK, Que., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw was seized in his quarters by immigration officials at 8 o'clock this morning and rushed shrieking and fighting to awaiting automobile, which bore him away to the Vermont border.

On his way to the automobile Thaw shouted at the top of his lungs that he was being kidnapped, and immigration officials sought to quiet him with assurances that such was not the case. Notwithstanding he fought like a madman and smashed a window with a bottle as the officers dragged him down the stairs.

The suddenness of the manoeuvre took both Thaw and his counsel entirely by surprise and literally carried them off their feet. It was reported here, though not confirmed, that the immigration officers acted under instructions of the Minister of the Interior.

The destination of the automobile, save that it was some place in Vermont just over the border, was unknown to any persons except its passengers. It was reported that Thaw would be taken to Norton Mills, Hector Verrett of counsel representing New York state in the fight to have Thaw brought back to Mattoon, said that he did not think that William T. Jerome, commander-in-chief of the New York state legal forces, was at Norton Mills. Mr. Verrett added that nobody knew that Thaw was to be taken so suddenly to Vermont.

Ottawa in the Dark.
OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, who is acting Minister of the Interior, was in conference for several hours yesterday afternoon with E. L. Newcombe, deputy minister of justice, and Hon. Arthur Meighen, Solicitor-General, on the legal aspects of the Thaw case. It is believed that the result of that conference had a direct bearing on Thaw's sensational deportation this morning, though this cannot yet be verified. Officials here so far profess absolute ignorance of the deportation.

They Were Dumbfounded.
MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—The members of Thaw's family and his lawyers here were dumbfounded when they learned that the immigration authorities had deported Thaw.

"I am simply paralyzed," said J. N. Greenshields, K.C., the leader of Thaw's band of lawyers. "I cannot understand it, with a writ of prohibition and habeas corpus out it seems to me to be utterly impossible to believe. It is all beyond me. It certainly is a disgrace, and a disgrace to our administration of law. All we can do, if Thaw has been forced across the line, is to bring Roertson, the assistant superintendent of the immigration department before the court of King's Bench, but what good will that do us?"

Mr. Greenshields received a telegram from Thaw's secretary, notifying him that Thaw had been taken to Norton Mills, Vt.

W. K. McKeown, another of the Thaw counsel, said: "Deportation of Thaw in the face of the writ of habeas corpus, certainly looks like contempt of the Court of Appeal."

This morning before the news came that Harry K. Thaw had been deported by the immigration authorities, Mrs. Mary Copeley Thaw issued the following statement to the Canadian Press:

"Montreal, Sept. 9.—This purpose of deferred visit of myself and younger son, J. C. Thaw, as well as the second visit of my daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carnegie, are purely family matters, prompted by affectionate interest in the son and brother, H. K. Thaw.

"It is not the intention of any of us to interfere in the slightest degree with H. K. Thaw, or his counsel, in the management of his case. It has been demonstrated already that he is abundantly able to manage his own affairs.

"For these reasons we have declined and will continue to decline to be interviewed by newspaper representatives of Canada or of the United States and hence this explanatory communication to the several Associated Press agencies of our country and Canada.

(Signed) Mary C. Thaw.
Thaw in the United States.
VAVERILL, Va., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw arrived here shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

He had been released by the Canadian immigration authorities and was an absolutely free man, as nobody representing the state of New York or the state of Vermont was there to take him.

The Canadian immigration officials left Thaw at Norton Mills and then told him he was free to go wherever he liked. The newspaper men, who had followed Thaw then offered him room in an automobile and brought him here.

"This thing has been such a surprise to me that I don't know what I shall do yet," said Thaw to the reporter when asked for a statement.

STEWARTSTOWN, N.H., Sept. 10.—Thaw reached Stewartstown shortly after 10 o'clock. No attempt was made to arrest him here. He stood about the village square for about fifteen minutes, then re-entered his automobile without announcing his destination. About 11 o'clock he stopped at a farmhouse near Stewartstown and then continued on his journey.

Doherty Did It.
OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Hon. C. J. Doherty, as acting Minister of the Interior Department, in a brief statement on the Thaw case, says he rejected the appeal from the decision of the immigration board of inquiry, upholding its findings and ordering the deportation of Thaw forthwith. This was therefore carried out this morning. The writ of habeas corpus or writ of prohibition issued at Montreal did not enjoin the immigration authorities from taking this step, according to the minister.

They're After Him.
ALBANY, N.Y., Sept. 10.—A requisition upon the Governor of Vermont for the return to New York State of Harry K. Thaw, was signed by Acting Governor Glinn recently and sent on for use in the event of Thaw being returned to the Vermont border by the immigration officials.

Mr. Glinn was advised to-day of the latest move in the Thaw case but declined to comment on it. Superintendent John B. Riley of the State prison department, expressed surprise when informed that Thaw was within the boundaries of Vermont. "I hope he will be in Mattoon by night," he remarked.

William T. Jerome and Deputy Attorney-General Franklin Kennedy were reported to have spent the night at Manchester, Vt., on their way to Albany.

COATICOOK, Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw, removed forcibly from his quarters here to-day is now a free man in American territory, travelling in an automobile with a number of American newspaper reporters.

The Mattoon fugitive was dropped over the border by the Canadian authorities into Vermont. Alone, dazed and free, he did not know what to do. The newspaper men following him took him into their cars and are now travelling with him. Already they have passed from Vermont into New Hampshire. As the car progresses men report Thaw's movements.

The situation Harry Thaw finds himself in to-day is by far the most extraordinary that has marked the progress of his sensational case since he fled from the Mattoon asylum August 17. Believing this morning that he was being kidnapped, he resisted forcibly his removal from Coaticook, only to find that the outcome of his quick dash in an automobile to American territory, was to bring him unexpected freedom and place him in the hands of the men who up to the present time had devoted their energies to the reporting of his case. Thaw was dazed at the suddenness of the events of the morning without his array of legal counsel he did not know where to turn for advice. After a short consultation with the newspapermen the automobile hired by the reporters with Thaw in it went to Avarill, Vt. Here a brief stop was made and by 10 o'clock he had crossed the Vermont line into New Hampshire.

Inasmuch as Thaw is now a free agent his next moves depend upon his own volition provided, of course, that he is not discovered and apprehended by the authorities of New York State, or placed under restraint by the local authorities of some town in several places and she swore out a warrant.

Justice Jefferies will be asked to decide whether the dance is improper.

WHAT'S THE USE.
"I am worth ten thousand dollars," said the player from the bush. But I failed to notice any signs of gladness on his mugh.

"I am worth ten thousand dollars," he repeated with a sigh. And he wiped away a teardrop that was shining in his eye.

"I am worth ten thousand dollars to the man I'm working for. But I haven't had a two-bit piece for seven days or more."

Taylor's Record
With the Police

Thaw and Drunk Charges
Have Been Preferred
Against Him

The horrible murder charge against James Taylor, the police department records show to be the first crime of any great importance that Taylor has ever been mixed up in. Four minor matters and drunk charges without number, and supplying billed men with liquor compose the offences. He has been under the eyes of the police and composed a portion of the army of men which although committing no crimes of any note, give the police considerable trouble.

Taylor is about 30 years of age and a son of the late Nathan Taylor. Coming here with the rest of the family from vicinity of Boston, which is south of Brantford and close to reserve line. He has four half brothers, Nathan and John, who reside in Calgary or vicinity, it could not be learned which, and William and Bert of this city. Both the Calgary brothers have records. His brother William some years ago was sent down for six months for perjury in connection with the theft of a quantity of jewelry at Canfield Junction in which one of his brothers in the west was the prime mover. Sergt. Wallace had charge of the Canfield Junction case. His other brother Bert, is respectable.

Taylor's record apart from the drunk charges are here given:
On Nov. 4, 1907 he was charged with the misappropriation of 240 lbs. of tea consigned to J. Taylor, city. In connection with this offence he paid $785 and $825 costs.

Jan. 27, 1912, he was charged with the theft of a pair of gloves, the property of Oscar Misener, city, and was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

In Feb. of 1912 he was charged with vagrancy and again allowed to go. At the time of his marriage he had also had some difficulty with the police.

Opening Up Gravel Pit.
Messrs. Wright, Hazzard and Cohen, who have the contract for raising Lorne Bridge, have their steam shovel at work skimming the earth off a gravel pit on the Jackson property, the gravel for which will be used in the concrete work in connection with the raising of the bridge and the retaining wall which will be built along the river in front of Jubilee Terrace.

Prison Farm Work.
A communication is on file at the city clerks office from W. E. Burch, county clerk of Oxford county, stating that arrangements have been made with the Hon. Mr. Hann, who will be at the prison farm, at Guelph, on Thursday, Sept. 30th for the purpose of receiving delegations to discuss prison farm work. The city council have been asked to attend in a body or else send representatives to the meeting.

Elected Officers.
The Electrical Workers Union, No. 443, held a very largely attended meeting in the Labor Temple on Monday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Past President, A. Martin, J. Bell and F. Smith.

PHILOSOPHICAL PHOENIX AND THE WEATHER

MURDERED MAN HAS TWO CHILDREN

TORONTO, Sept. 10.—The cool wave is now centered in the St. Lawrence Valley, while pressure is now much below the normal. A few showers have occurred in the Maritime provinces, also in the west with some heavy thunderstorms in Manitoba.
Forecast. Moderate to fresh east to south winds; fine with a little higher temperature. Tuesday—Mostly fair with some local showers by night.
Temperature. For the past twenty-four hours, highest 65, lowest 34; same date last year, highest 84, lowest 63.

Somewhat Mixed.

Lord Curzon recently achieved a wonderfully mixed metaphor in connection with the phrase, "The ship of state," as have many politicians before him. Sir George Balfour used to mix his figures very well and his utterances. Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff recorded with delight. It was he who described a £2,000,000 loan to India as "a sea bite in the ocean," and declared that "the pale face of the British soldier was the backbone of the Indian army."

Not the Fool That He Seems

When James Taylor confessed, did he display the instinctive cunning of a fiend? That is the question which police officers are asking to-day. They claim it is not a question of sanity or insanity, but a case of remarkable cunning. Taylor has sought himself out of police court frequently on various minor charges by perjury and deceit, and he has many times cleverly answered cross-examining lawyers. His confession may have been well thought over before he made it, hence the remark to Esquire Trickey that he hoped "they would go easy on him"; also his remark that he thought a "life sentence would be the limit."

HOW PINNEY POOLED SOME KALKATIVE PLAYERS.

Edward Finney, Coast League arbitrator, was umpiring a game in Portland some time ago, when a ball of p'd a bat and sliding off struck him official on the side of the head. He became stone deaf in one ear. Recently, while umpiring in Sacramento, Cal., he was struck with another foul tip, and to his surprise found he could hear as well as ever. The umpire didn't say anything about his recovery, but waited a few days with interesting results. It seems that players, knowing which was his deaf ear, made it a practice to express their opinion of the umpire in low tones when out of range of his good ear. They don't do it any more.

TAYLOR AT TRICKS FOR SOME TIME

Ed. Pyne, porter at the H. and B. electric railway station, when he heard of the arrest of James Taylor, went to police headquarters and reported an incident that occurred in the wash room at the station about 12 o'clock one night some time ago. He discovered Jim locked in the apartment with a boy about 7 or 8 years of age. He seized the man and led him to market street intending to hand him over to a policeman. The lad persisted in saying that the man

JAMES MOUNCE FIRST INFORMED

Confession From James Taylor Fell to Him Before Any Other.
James Mounce, County Constable, assisted materially in getting the confession out of James Taylor. Mounce knew him well at the Anguish Livery stable. "It was Mounce who first heard Taylor say that he committed the crime. He was closed alone for some time with the prisoner early this morning. Then he came out and Taylor admitted his guilt to the other officers. At that evidence of such a strong nature had been secured that the officers felt positive they had the guilty one in their grasp. However, the confession, helped some."

CIGARETTES AND SUIT OF CLOTHES

"Of all the clues received, the package of cigarettes, with only one gone, combined with the fact that Taylor made the purchase on Monday night was absolutely the strongest." So said High County Constable Kerr at noon to-day. "After we found the cigarettes and discovered the purchase, we knew then it was only a question of time until we found blood stains."
Following the cigarette clue to the logical conclusion, the officers discovered that Taylor had worn a blue suit which when recovered showed blood stains. That settled the case. Incidentally Taylor was first arrested on a charge of stealing a suit of clothes. It was the officers who stole the clothes and they got the right suit.

FATHER OF BOY KNEW SON'S SLAYER

This morning John Dawson, the father of the murdered boy, said that he knew Taylor and although he was a foul mouthed man he never believed that he would have been guilty of such a horrible crime. About 10 years ago, when Mr. Dawson was employed in the shipping room at the Massey-Harris Co., Taylor was employed in another department of the shop. He had seen Taylor around town, but he had never had anything to do with him and he was not aware of the fact that his son had ever known him.

Scene of Crime A Pretty Spot

All day yesterday and to-day the morbidly curious in large numbers have visited the scene of the crime. Anything more peaceful or beautiful than the surroundings of this brutal murder could not be imagined. The road where the poor boy was found is one of the prettiest side roads in the County of Brant. All along from the main highway just beyond Cambridge are neat homes with a profusion of flowers in the front gardens. Golden rod is along the road in profusion whilst there are many shade trees. Well tilled fields and grazing meadows with stock herds of cattle are to the right and left, whilst in the distance stretching along the valley of the Grand River, are the lush lands of Bow Park, with hundreds of sheep pasturing thereon—easily one of the finest farms on the continent. The whole vicinity is replete of peace and prosperity—the very last place for the setting in of the most brutal crimes ever recorded in Ontario.

Signed it for the Police

Following Taylor's confession that he had killed Charlie Dawson, a statement of his actions on that night was taken down by the police and signed by the accused. This statement the police have in their possession and it will be kept for use in Taylor's trial. The confession may be presented at the inquest which will be resumed on Monday night, and if this is done, it will go a long way towards simplifying the proceedings, and enabling the jury to bring in a verdict with very little delay.

Little Boy In Danger

A case which undoubtedly should be investigated has just come to light. While playing ball in the school yard at the rear of the Alexandre school Friday afternoon, little Bruce Scanlon, residing at 230 Dalhousie street, received a very severe fright.
Some unknown threw a stone which hit a foreign woman living in the first house on the south side of Wellington street, west of the school yard. She became very angry, and rushing around into the school yard grabbed Bruce and was dragging him away, exclaiming "Me cut him throat. Me taku him in the house. Me cut him throat." His older brother, aged 12 years, seeing his brother's plight, rushed over, grabbed his brother by the hand and dealt the woman a blow. She released the boy and went into the house.
Mr. Pyne remarked that the little boy and his brother, who reside in the station and streets as very late hours and he thinks the police or the Children's Aid Society should take action.

FIVE PITCHERS IN FIRST INNING

Newark Won From Baltimore in a Slow Game Yesterday. NEWARK, Sept. 10.—Five pitchers were used in the first inning of the game with Baltimore yesterday in which the locals won 8 to 5. For the Orioles Cottrell could not locate the plate and Danforth was sent in to relieve him with the bases full. One run came in before the Indians were retired. Schacht strated for Newark by passing two men and then filled the bases by making an error. He was yanked and Lee sent into pitch, while Holmes warmed up. Three runs were scored on Lee before Holmes took up the burden. Home run hits by Middick late of New York Americans, and Northern were features of the game. Score: Newark 8, Baltimore 5.

FOURTEEN MEN ALL PERISHED

A Terrible Airship Tragedy is Reported From the North Sea. [Canadian Press Despatch] HELGOLAND, North Sea, Sept. 10.—Torpedo boat destroyers with their search lights flashing over the dark waters, remained all night at the scene of yesterday's airship catastrophe in which fourteen officers and men out of a crew of twenty-one perished when the new German marine dirigible, Zeppelin L. 1, while flying from the German coast to this island was wrecked in a hurricane. No further airman living or dead, were discovered to-day. Thirteen corpses, including those of Capt. Metzger, chief of the naval airship service; Capt. Hamme, commander of the wrecked dirigible and Lieut. Baron von Maltzahn and the Engineer Officer Wehmer undoubtedly are confined in the cabin of the airship which lies at the bottom of one of the deepest parts of the North Sea. The fourteenth victim was picked up by boats launched from the destroyers, but he was dead when taken out of the water. The airship was engaged in reconnaissance work in connection with torpedo boat manoeuvres, and when struck by the gale was being towed from 5,200 to 5,000 feet. She was equipped for a thirty-hours' cruise and was observing actual warfare conditions. The balloon had sustained a heavy loss of gas due to the cold atmosphere and already was unmanageable when caught by the storm. The entire amount of water ballast was thrown overboard, but the airship failed to respond and fell into the sea at a point about eighteen miles north of Helgoland.

INSTANTLY KILLED IN AUTO CRASH Very Bad Accident Happened in New Jersey Town. CALDWELL, N.J., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Laura Thompson, widow of L. A. Thompson, builder of scenic rail-ways and once proprietor of Luna Park, of Coney Island's famous amusement places, was instantly killed last night in an automobile accident near Pinebrook. Her sister, Mrs. H. Boyle, was with her in a runabout which Mrs. Thompson was driving. Turning out to pass a truck which was met on a steep hill, Mrs. Boyle was thrown clear of the car and the car ran under a heavy oak railing placed to guard the roadway edge. Mrs. Thompson's body was caught between the car seat and the railing and crushed. Mrs. Boyle was thrown clear of the car and into the soft meadow land a few feet below. She was not badly injured, but suffered from the shock of seeing her sister killed.

ATHLETICS LOST TO WHITE SOX The Mackmen Were Beaten by the Score of 2-0. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—The White Sox shut out the Mackmen yesterday in the first game of the series by the score of 2 to 0. The Mackmen could not fit with men on bases against Russell. Ping Bodie crashed the ball into the left field bleachers for a home run in the second inning. Score: Chicago 2, Philadelphia 0.

TWO GAMES FOR WASHINGTON Cleveland Went Down to Defeat Twice on Double Header. WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Washington out-classed Cleveland in both games of yesterday's double-header, winning by 8 to 1 and 3 to 2 and gaining two full games on the Naps for second place. Gregg was wild in the first game and Cullop, who relieved him in the second inning, was hit hard, as was James in the seventh. Boelching gave the visitors but four scattered hits. Blanding was driven from the box in the third inning of the second game, while Walter Johnson held the visitors safe at all stages. Ayers, a recruit from the Richmond Club, of the Virginia League, twirled the last inning of the second game and made a good impression. Score: First game: Washington 8, Cleveland 1; second game, Washington 3, Cleveland 2.

GIANTS TOO MUCH FOR THE LEAFS

The Kelleyites Were Beaten in Exhibition Game 10-3. TORONTO, Sept. 10.—The exhibition game between New York and Toronto at the Island grounds yesterday afternoon resulted in a victory for the visitors by 10 to 3. Fault was found with good reason for the team that the Giants placed on the field. The stars of the team, with few exceptions, were conspicuous by their absence. Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, played first base and while it is claimed he has made great improvement since joining McGraw's outfit he did not shine with any brilliancy. The Indian, however, gave 5,000 spectators an exhibition of his speed when he made a home run in the first inning, and by stealing second and third bases in the seventh, which was an easy task owing to Schwab's labored effort in delivering the ball. Score: New York 10, Toronto 3.

PROVIDENCE WINS The Grays Made Thirteen Runs Off Fourteen Bingles. JERSEY CITY, Sept. 10.—Providence made it two in a row by taking yesterday's game from the Skeeters by a score of 13 to 7. It was a slugging bee from the start to finish, the Pests showing in front until the two final rounds, when the Grays pounded the pellet hard, and, assisted by some loose fielding by the opposition, filled out with eight runs in their last two times at bat. Score: Providence 13, Jersey City 7.

M'GRAW HAD WINNER FOR ELEVEN YEARS

Since John J. McGraw went to New York to take charge of the Giants on July 19, 1902, he has always managed to keep them near the top of the heap. Many men have built up winning clubs only to have them gradually disintegrate until the whole thing had to be done over again. When a cog of the machine were out there was no new part ready and waiting to replace it. Little by little the machine would break itself apart.

Often this has been no fault of the managers. The owner has refused to see the writing on the wall and has been unwilling to spend money for repairs, preferring to let well enough alone until it was too late. McGraw has not been handicapped in this manner.

McGraw the Boss
As far as the handling, and the development of the team is concerned he is the boss. He has bought and sold and traded as he wished. The result is that in the 11 years that he has led the Polo grounders his team has won four flags and is but a few games away from the fifth. Five pennants out a possible 11, and sixteenth that was lost through a technicality is a pretty fair average.

Now that nothing but a baseball miracle can rob the Giants of another bunting it seems to us rather interesting to trace McGraw's methods and his building up of his present team, which is probably the best balanced aggregation that he has ever put together. When the Little Napoleon took the club it was last by some 15 games. He immediately started his building up process by releasing over half a dozen men.

Releases—Twelve
"You can just as well let just with a dozen less," said the new leader when Freeman objected. About the only players retained out of that first lot were Mathewson, Taylor and Bowerman. With him McGraw bought Bresnahan, McGinnity, McCann and Jack Cronin. He bought Devlin from Newark, Warner from Boston, picked up Browne from Philadelphia, it was too late that season to finish any place but last, but the parts for a future machine were assembled. With all his ability McGraw probably could not have accomplished what he did had not John T. Brush, one of the ablest men ever connected with baseball, purchased the New York club. Mr. Brush immediately realized that he had a natural leader and gave him a free hand and every possible assistance. In 1903 Gilbert was secured from Baltimore, Merretes from Chicago and Ames from the New York State league. That year the club jumped from last to second place.

Big Trade in 1904
One of McGraw's first big trades came in 1904, when he gave Brooklyn Charlie Babb and Jack Cronin for Dahlen. Wiltse came to the Giants this same season from New York State league and McGraw won his first gamelan for this city. The next year New York paid $10,000 for Seymour, and having secured McCormick from Jersey City traded him for Donlin in a three-cornered deal by which McCormick went to Pittsburgh and Seiring to Cincinnati. Ferguson was bought from Louisville and Strang obtained from Brooklyn. This year the Giants were world's champions.

The Giants looked like sure winners in 1906, but suffered from a series of misfortunes and finished second. In 1907 the team commenced to go back and McGraw acted promptly. He made his famous five for three trade, giving Ferguson, Browne, McGann, Dahlen and Hannan for Teney, Dirdwell and Needham. He bought Merrett from St. Louis for $10,000, which up to that time was the largest price paid to a minor league club for an infielder. The Prides of Gotham finished fourth, the lowest they have finished since the year McGraw took charge.

Rebuilds Whole Team
The youngest man have come to the Giants in the past five years. One remembers Marquard's purchase price. Bresnahan went in 1908 in a three-cornered deal to Murray, Schiel and Raymond. That same year Crandall and Herzog were drafted. Snodgrass taken from a western college which up to that time was the largest grass taken from a western college. McGraw's success as a leader to enumerate them in a paragraph. He was one of the ablest and smartest ball players of his day; he can handle men; he makes up his mind in a flash and has absolute confidence in his own judgment; he knows a ball player at a glance; he can impart his own knowledge to others; he is never blinded by sentiment—these are a few of the reasons he is able to build up a winning team.

With Edged Tools

By Henry Seton Merriman, Copyright, 1894, by Harper & Bros.

"So would I," said Jack, turning sharply in his chair. "If"—Oscar laughed curly and waited. "If," continued Jack, "I could. But I am more or less bound to go on now. Such chances as this do not turn up every day. I cannot afford to let it go by. Truth is, I told some one who shall be nameless—that I would make money to keep her in that state of life wherein her godfathers, etc., have placed her; and make that money I must."

"That's about my size, too," said Guy Oscar, somewhat indistinctly, owing to the fact that he habitually smoked a thick stemmed pipe. "Is it? I'm glad of that. It gives us something in common to work for."

"Yes," Guy paused and made a huge effort, finally conquering that tactfulness which was almost an affliction to him. "The reason I gave the other night to you and that chap Durnovo was honest enough, but I have another. I want to lie low for a few months, but I also want to make money. I'm as good as engaged to be married and I find that I am not so well off as I thought I was. People told me that I should have three thousand a year when the gov'nor died, but I find that people know less of my affairs than I thought."

"They invariably do," put in Jack encouragingly. "It is barely two thousand, and—and she has been brought up to something better than that."

"Um," "You mostly are. Mine has been brought up to something better than that too. That is the worst of it."

"I believe implicitly in this scheme," said Oscar. "It is a certain fact that the men who can supply pure simiacine have only to name their price for it. They will make a fortune, and I believe that Durnovo knows where it is growing in quantities."

ply that the "something" was quite sufficient for his requirements. "It was about my engagement," Jack went on deliberately. "I do not know how it was, but they did not hit it off together. She was too honest to throw herself at his hand, I suppose, for I imagine a pretty girl can usually do what she likes with an old man if she takes the trouble."

"Not with him, I think. Seemed to be rather down on girls in general," said Oscar coolly. "Then you know him?" "Yes, a little. I have met him once or twice—out, you know. I don't suppose he would know me again if he saw me."

Which last remark does not redound to the credit of Guy's power of observation. "They paused. It is wonderful how near we may stand to the brink and look far away beyond the chasm. Years afterward they remembered this conversation, and it is possible that Jack Meredith wondered then what instinct it was that made him change the direction of their thoughts."

"If it is agreeable to you," he said, "I think it would be wise for me to go down to Longo and get my intimate to Durnovo that we should be glad of his services."

"Certainly."

By 7 o'clock the next morning the canoe was ready, with its swartly rowers in their places. The two Englishmen breakfasted together and then walked down to the landing stage side by side.

"Take care of yourself," said Oscar gruffly as Jack stepped into the canoe. "All right."

"And bring back Durnovo with you," Jack Meredith looked up with a vague smile. "That man," he said lightly, "is going to the plateau if I have to drag him there by the scruff of the neck."

SOUVENIR FURNACE (New Idea Series)

Keeps the house warm and cosy in the severest winter weather, and heats all rooms equally well. It is very simple to operate—just touch the lever and you dump the ashes; there never can be dead coals at the sides of the firepot; the ashes are readily removed. It is easy to control the heat and regulate the fuel consumption, which means a saving of 25% to 50% in fuel bills. It is a clean and healthful furnace—gas and dust cannot get into the hot air chamber and then into the living or sleeping rooms. It forces pure air through the whole house.

The Souvenir Furnace is made in Hamilton, the stove centre of Canada, by THE HAMILTON STOVE & HEATER COMPANY, Limited. Successors to Gursey-Tilden Co.

Sinking through the floor, a member of the jury at a coroner's inquest at Southgate, recently, underwent an alarming experience. HALDANE IS DELIGHTED WITH WESTERN TRIP

Canadians and Americans Vied With Each Other In Hospitality, He Said.

FISHGUARD, Sept. 9.—Viscount Haldane and Miss Haldane arrived on the Lusitania yesterday afternoon. The Chancellor gave an account of his general impression of his brief visit to the United States and Canada. "Our reception," Viscount Haldane said, "was of the most cordial nature. We met nothing but almost overwhelming kindness and attentions. The Americans and Canadians seemed to vie with each other in this respect, but the most impressive feature of the visit was the remarkable unanimity at the great meeting in Montreal. After it was over a very distinguished American made the remark that we seem to be the people of the day, and that statement was no exaggeration of the obvious sentiment of the thousands who were assembled. The enthusiasm with which the King's message was received by Canadians and Americans alike was very striking. Viscount Haldane had not seen any English expressions of opinion of his remarkable address on higher nationality delivered in Montreal. He learned with pleasure of the cordial welcome it received on this side of the Atlantic. The Chancellor was asked whether he did not think that there was an unwritten code which was traditionally the test of no less than to the English-speaking nations, and sufficiently strong to bind them together, but he laughingly declined to commit himself, replying, "We escaped the tail of a great storm on leaving New York, fortunately only coming in for the backwash of it."

The Tiny Paris of Clamaborough, North Devon, a little village, has a population of only 45, so that baptisms, marriages, and burials are not very frequent. A nest on a sheep's back was found at Buckland Brewer, near Bideford (Devon) recently. During sheep shearing operations on the farm of a man named Cox, one of the shearers cut into a fleshy substance, and examination showed that he had cut in half a young starling, which was in a nest that had been built in the sheep's wool, and which contained two other fledglings still alive.

To recover his hat, a man lost his life at Cleethorpes (Lincoln) the other day. A farm laborer, named George Lidgard, of Irby, lost his cap during a ride on the "Figure Eight" railway, and when the car stopped he pushed his way past the manager and went on the track to recover it. A car descending the incline struck the man killing him instantly.

A remarkable fight between a cat and a hare is reported from Folkingham (Lincolnshire). A cat started to attack a young hare, when the mother came to the rescue of its young, and, jumping on the cat, fiercely fought it for some minutes. The fight ended by the cat taking flight and being chased by the hare.

Patterson was 62 years of age, and was born in Texas he is said to have brought the first big herd of cattle in Alberta thirty years ago. QUEEN MARY'S PORTRAIT is being painted at the request of the King by Mr. W. Llewellyn, A.R.A.

Queen Mary's Portrait—the second version—which is being painted at the request of the King by Mr. W. Llewellyn, A.R.A., is to be hung either at Windsor or Buckingham Palace. It will be a modification of the original painting, the portion of the new picture being a portion of the Garter Chamber at Windsor, for which Mr. Llewellyn has made special studies, and there will be other changes, chiefly of rendering and effect. It will be finished in the autumn. This is the fourth painting of the Queen by Mr. Llewellyn. In addition to the state portrait exhibited in the Academy last year, he has painted one for the city of Liverpool. Copies of previous portraits are to be sent by the King as gifts to British Embassies and Legations abroad, and to Government Houses of the Colonies and India. About eighty copies each of the King and Queen are required, and in the course of time they will be despatched to almost every part of the world. This work will occupy some years.

MR. R. H. REVILLE RETURNS HOME

Mr. Ralph H. Reville, who has just returned from a trip to the coast, told the Courier this morning that he was greatly impressed with the wonderful wheat fields of Alberta and Saskatchewan. For hundreds of miles in these two Provinces last week he travelled through the harvest belt. Grain everywhere has been cut and in many places threshing is actively going on. He saw several samples of the new wheat and states that experts say that it has never been so good. The crop will go from 20 to 25 bushels per acre and the quality in the majority of cases will be No. 1. Very little of any of the crop will grade lower than No. 2. When it is remembered that last year the yield was practically No. 4 and 5, the difference in the value of this year's crop and 1912 can be readily imagined. He states that it is conservatively estimated that the value of the crops this year in the West will reach $250,000,000.

Mr. Reville states that the financial stringency in the West is still very acute, although of course this will be removed to some extent when the crops commence to be marketed. "Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilled. I wrote them and got the New Method Pamphlet. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $15 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $31 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS SESSION

Repair of Pavement Subject of Much Report by City Engineer.

A special meeting of the city council was held in the council chamber last night. Present were Mayor Hartman, Ald. Charlton, Gillinwater, Minshall, Broadbent, McEwen, Pitcher, Woolams, Ward, Sutch, Hollinrake, and Suddaby.

Brant Ave. Pavement

It was decided to award the contract for re-facing the pavement on Brant Ave. to the Warren Bituminous Paving Company, the price for same being $1.22 per square yard.

The Mausoleum

On a recommendation of the Board of Works' Committee it was decided to enter into an agreement with the International Mausoleum Company for the erection of a Mausoleum to be erected in Mount Hope Cemetery and that the City Solicitor be instructed to prepare the necessary by-law.

The Sanatorium Road

It was also decided that the city should pay half the expenses of building a roadway up the approach to the Sanatorium from Mt. Pleasant Street to the building.

The Board of Health

There was a deputation present from the Board of Health, who were there for the purpose of discussing the petition from a number of merchants in reference to a disagreeable odor that is supposed to come from a certain establishment in the city. As it was a special meeting the deputation was not heard.

The City Engineer's Report

The City Engineer's report, in reference to the Brant Ave. pavement was submitted and read as follows:

The Chairman and Members of the Board of Works, Gentlemen—I have been requested by the City Solicitor to report to the Council what, in my opinion, will be the best means to be adopted to put the pavement on Brant Avenue in a proper repair.

I find that the Westrumite surface on the Easterly side of Brant Ave. from Dalhousie Street to James Street and on West side between Dalhousie Street and Lorne Crescent North is in such a state of disrepair that the only effectual method of dealing with it is to have the present surface removed and re-surfaced with some other material.

The present Westrumite surface is laid on a 3-inch concrete foundation put down by the city. I have considered the question of re-surfacing with a broken stone Portland cement concrete. The present concrete foundation is crowned to allow of a 2-inch surface between the gutter and the brickwork and this would largely have to be followed. While at the gutter a thickness of 3 inches might be obtained, 2 1/2 inches would be the greatest depth obtainable halfway between the brickwork and gutter and this could only be secured by lessening the fall between the brickwork and the centre. At the edge of the brickwork 2 inches only could be obtained, or by taking out one brick about 1/8 of an inch more at the surface. The question as to whether a proper bond could be obtained between the old and new concrete is one not easily settled, many authorities holding that it could not. If two concrete surfaces failed to unite in a satisfactory manner, the top surfacing would be liable to shell and crack. In concrete pavements it has been found necessary to leave transverse joints across the pavement commonly called expansion joints, these extending from the top of the pavement to the bottom of the concrete. In this case in order to obtain this joint the concrete being laid, would have to be broken out across the pavement at points about 30 feet apart, and relaid leaving a joint extending from the bottom to the top of the pavement.

Report to Board of Works, Sept. 2, 1913

Steel plates 3/16ths of an inch thick and 2 1/2 inches in depth laid on each side of the joint flush with the concrete would have to be used to prevent chipping at the joints. The surface would be strengthened by the use of wire reinforcement extending from the curb to the gutter. The cost of a re-surfacing with concrete in the case of Brant Avenue, I estimate at 85 cents per square yard. In view of the uncertainty of the results obtainable from the use of Portland Cement concrete on an old foundation, I was authorized by the Board of Works to obtain tenders for removing the surface of the old pavement and re-surfacing with Bitulithic and Asphaltic Concrete, on the basis of a guarantee bond for 50 per cent. of the amount of the contract for the maintenance of the pavement in perfect condition for a term of 5 years. Tenders for Bitulithic were received, the price being $1.73 per square yard, but the price was considered too high. We had obtained, unofficial figures from a reliable firm (who has paving contracts in St. Catharines and Lindsay) for the removal of the old Westrumite pavement and re-surfacing with 2 inches of Asphaltic Concrete at a cost of $1.25 per square yard, and the same figures for a 2 1/2 inch surface of sheet Asphalt, the former now being considered the better pavement. This pavement composed of graded, broken stone mixed with cement of the standard of Trinidad Asphalt Cement for a base requires a special plant for laying, and the firm who met the committee and gave the estimate found they were unable to tender owing to the plant not being available.

At Kingston, at the present time a cheaper form of asphalt pavement known as asphalt McAdam is being put down by the city at a cost of about 85 cents per square yard. This is composed of broken stone from 3/8ths to 1 1/4 inches in diameter mixed with Bermuda Asphalt. This pavement some of which was laid last year was examined by the overseers and myself and while it may be suitable for residential streets would hesitate to recommend it in a street subject to the heavy traffic of Brant Avenue, and it is not a pavement for which a guarantee for maintenance can be obtained.

My recommendation for putting the Brant Avenue pavement in a proper state of repair is that the North side of the street between Dalhousie Street and James Street and the South side between Dalhousie and North Crescent, North, be re-surfaced with Asphalt concrete the estimated quantity being 6,000 square yards and the estimated cost $8,000, and that the remaining holes in the Westrumite paving on Brant Avenue be repaired with the same substance, and that the brickwork which has had in a few places be repaired by the city, the estimated cost of the repairs being $500.

In the event of it being impossible to obtain tenders which would insure this large amount of work being done this fall, I would recommend that the worst block, being that between Church and Waterloo Sts., be re-surfaced with Asphalt Concrete, at an estimated cost of 1,250, if it is possible to get a reliable company to tender for this small amount at a reasonable rate, and to give a five-year guarantee. The balance of the pavement could be temporarily repaired by using the best of the old surface, picking out and re-surfacing the bad holes. By watching the pavement and treating the holes in this way as they appeared it could probably be made to last till the Spring or if this did not prove satisfactory tar and broken stone would be used. The estimated cost of these temporary repairs is $100.00.

I remain, gentlemen, yours faithfully

Board of Works

Alderman Suddaby, chairman of the Board of Works, submitted the following report which was adopted: To the Mayor and Council of the City of Brantford, Gentlemen—The Board of Works beg leave to report as follows:

1. We submit herewith report of the City Engineer on the repair of the Brant Avenue pavement, and recommend that the tender of the Warren Bituminous Paving Company for removing the old surface and re-surfacing with asphalt concrete on the East side between Dalhousie Street and James Street, and on the West side between Dalhousie Street and Lorne Crescent North be accepted, the price being $1.22 per square yard, and that the City Solicitor be instructed to prepare the necessary contract and by-law.

2. Your committee has considered the letter of September 8th of Mr. K. V. Bunnell, Hon. Sec. of the Brant anti-Tuberculosis Association and the accompanying report of Mr. Alen M. Jackson of August 27th, and recommend that the council provide funds for bearing one-half the cost of construction of a road to the Sanatorium defined in said report as near route No. 2 on the condition that the county council bear the balance of the cost, and that the Board of Works be authorized to assist the county council and have an agreement drawn up and completed as to how the work is to be done.

RACE TRACK MAN IS MURDERED AT OTTAWA

Body of Abe Rubenstein, of Brooklyn, Employed as Bookmaker at Recent Meet, Found in Cellar of Empty Building.

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The body of Abe Rubenstein of Brooklyn, N.Y., an employee of Nathan Shapiro, a bookmaker of St. Louis, Mo., was found in the cellar of a vacant building on Somerset street late yesterday afternoon, under a pile of coke, while nearby was a blood stained trunk, in which the remains had evidently been taken to the place.

Rubenstein was last seen the night of Thursday, August 28, and his employers notified the Ottawa police the following day of his disappearance from his rooms and work at Connaught park race meet. The body was badly decomposed, but that Rubenstein was murdered, the police have no doubt.

Have a Clue.

The police are working on a strong clue obtained from a real estate man who has the renting of the place. On Saturday, August 30, a man who gave no name, called at the real estate agent's, and obtained the keys of the building, saying he wanted to open a clothing store and was looking for a location. He was given the keys and retained them until the following Tuesday.

In the meantime, the police think the body of Rubenstein had been packed in the trunk, whose committing the murder awaiting an opportunity to dispose of it. Between Saturday and the Tuesday following, the body is thought to have been taken to the place, which is a house recently remodeled into an apartment, with several stores on the ground floor. The discovery yesterday came as the result of neighbors complaining of the stench.

Rubenstein's address was Lee avenue, Brooklyn, where he resided with his widowed mother and sister. No arrests had been made in the case up to a late hour last night. The police are searching for the hackman who took the trunk containing the body to the Somerset street house.

Money Missing

Rubenstein had about $200 on his person when last seen, and it is probable that robbery was the motive for the crime, or that he may have been killed in an altercation. To the clerk in the Russell House, where he was last seen, he stated on Thursday night, August 28, that he had an engagement with a woman friend, whose residence has been found to have been next door the place where the body was found. This woman, Miss Ozaline Legault, when questioned by the police, stated on the Tuesday morning following Rubenstein's disappearance, she heard knocking, and noticed a trunk at the bottom of the stairs. It later disappeared, and she did not think anything further of the matter, until the stench from the decomposing remains commenced, and the police found them yesterday. Rubenstein had not kept the engagement with her, she said.

An autopsy will be performed on the body by Dr. Campbell Laidlaw to-day.

WOMAN SLAIN NEAR WINDSOR

Had Been Beaten Over Head With Blunt Instrument — Body Hidden.

WINDSON, Sept. 10.—Shortly before 8 o'clock last night, the body of a well-dressed woman was found hidden in a corn field, near Old Castle, eight miles from Windsor, with all indications pointing to murder.

The woman, who was of medium height, and about 35 years old, evidently had been terribly beaten over the head with some blunt instrument. Her body bore evidences of a fierce struggle. Her hair was disarranged, her face was a mass of cuts and bruises while her clothes were torn to shreds.

Coroner Brien of Essex, was notified, and will conduct the investigation. He is of the opinion that the woman was the victim of a man who lay in wait for her as she was passing along the road, not far from the field, which is a part of a farm owned by Michael Robinson, Sr.

Constable Frank Brown of Essex, arrived in Windsor at 10 o'clock last night, and asked the aid of the Windsor police in investigating the woman's death. An inquest will be held to-day, when it is hoped the body will be identified.

The body was discovered by Frank Robinson, Jr., a farmer's son, who was going through the field at dusk.
