ST. JOHN'S MUNICIPAL COUNCIL. Public Notice.

At the Regular Meeting of the St. John's Municipal Council, held March 29th, the following Resolution regarding the removal of ashes from the streets in the City by the Sanitary Department was adopted, viz:—

RESOLVED—On and after April 15th next, every occupant of a dwelling house shall deposit the garbage and ashes of the house, which he inhabits or occupies, in metal water tight covered receptacles, which can be handled by one man, and shall place the said receptacles on the street as close as possible to the sidewalk opposite to his dwelling house, or in such other place as may be designated, and on the days and hours appointed by the Sanitary Supervisor; and no person shall place any such receptacle on the streets on any day except during the hours so fixed.

Provided, however, that the Council may contract with the occupants of dwelling houses, on payment of a fee, to have the ashes and garbage taken from the receptacles in the yards of said dwelling houses. "All receptacles shall be removed from the streets, by persons who have deposited the same thereon, as soon as possible after the employees of the Sanitary Department have made their round."

By order, JOHN L. SLATTERY, Secretary-Treasurer. March 30th, 1917. apr4,11

WOMAN A PHYSICAL WRECK

Tells in Following Letter How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound.

Milwaukee, Wis.—“Before taking Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound I was a physical wreck. I had been going to a doctor for several years but he did me no good. A friend told me about Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound, so I decided to give it a fair trial, and it gave me relief from bearing down pains which had been so bad that I would have to lie down. I also used the Sanative Wash and it has done me a great deal of good, and I am not troubled with a weakness any more.”—Mrs. P. L. BRILL, 1299 Booth Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

The most successful remedy for woman's ills is Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test for forty years, which would be impossible if it did not have genuine merit. For special advice, free, write to Lydia E. Finkham Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

CHAPTER VI.
A Change of Air.

“Mr. Levison would not get me to listen to him, father,” she said, with a quiet dignity, which seemed to impress De Courcy Norton's fuddled mind, for he looked at her and nodded approval.

“That's the tone,” he said; “that's the proper tone. You speak like a lady. But you might yield, Kit; there's a beastly fascination in the thing, and—by Heaven, I'd rather see you dead than on the stage! I've good reason for saying it, mark me!—and I want you to promise me that—that whatever happens, you'll keep off it! I want you to promise, do you understand?”

She was silent a moment or two, then she said very quietly: “I promise, dad. Yes—” slowly and very gravely, “I promise.”

He drew a long breath of relief, and was silent a moment, frowning moodily over his pipe; then as she kissed him, and was moving away, he said:

“You've been a good girl to me, Kit, and I've been a damned bad father.” She flew back to him. “Yes; I have; and I've known it all along. You ought to have had a first-rate education, instead of which—Kit, should you like to go to school again? I think I could manage it, yes; for a while, at any rate.”

“Too late, father,” she said, gravely. “No; I couldn't leave you.”

“I suppose not,” he said, with a sigh. “Besides,” she laughed, “I shouldn't be able to stand it. No; if you're bent on improving my mind—the way she said it compelled a smile from the careworn man—there's another way, as the cookery-books say, I've got some books, lesson-books from the last school, you know, and I can have a worry at them. In fact, I have had Scientific Cure For Eczema.

New Discovery—Thousands Find Relief.

No scientific discovery in recent years has attracted such wide-spread attention among physicians in this country and throughout Canada as the wonderful D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema. After years of debate, medical authorities are now agreed that eczema and other skin diseases are not seated in the blood but are caused by myriads of microscopic germs gnawing the flesh just below the epidermis. The patient is perfectly healthy, it is only the skin that is diseased. Hence, scientists are now agreed that you must cure the skin through the skin. The medicine must be in turn at them once or twice daily. Yes, that is what I will do; and presently you will find that you have such a highly finished article for a daughter that you won't know her.” Her voice changed suddenly, and took to itself a highly refined tone, just a little prim, but scarcely an exaggeration of that which she had heard used by the leading ladies at the theater, and by the ladies, who were the real article, in the stalls. “Do you not think it is time to retire, father dear?”

He rose unsteadily and laughed at her. “By George, Kit, education, o no education, you can do it! It might be Lady—” he stopped. “Lady any body. There—be off with you! I do think it is time to retire, my chellie!”

In his own mimicry of her mimicry it was easy to see from whom Kittle had got her undoubted histrionic ability. She lay awake for some hours after she had “retired,” thinking of her father's arrested disclosure about their family, and the promise she had given. She had yielded it readily enough, though she had an intuition that the profession which her father detested was the one to which she was most suited. The stage being closed to her, there remained, if she should need to earn her livelihood—what?

With a newly awakened ambition for something vague and indefinite, she hunted up the books she had brought away from the last of the schools at which she had put in a fitful attendance, and fell with avidity upon a course of what is called “self-education.” It was unfortunately cut short by the modern fiend before which the bravest of us quail and tremble.

“It's influenza, father, right enough,” she said, when he came home one night, and found her in bed with a flushed face and unnaturally bright eyes. “I nursed Hagnes Hevangeline through it, and I know,” as the song says; and now, to her infinite satisfaction, Hagnes has to nurse me. So everything comes square in this best of possible worlds. Oh, how not I am! Don't come near me!—don't dream of kissing me, or you'll catch it—”

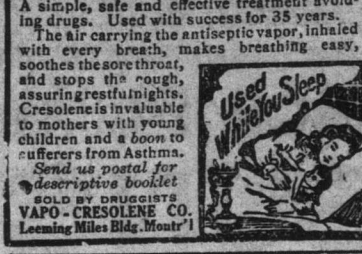

Norton hurried off for a friendly doctor, who was always ready to desert one of his best-paying patients for one of his Bohemian pals; for he was a bit of a Bohemian himself; and he at once endorsed Kittle's diagnosis.

You may have influenza badly or lightly; but the after-effects are pretty much the same, however you have it; and at the end of a week Kittle rose from her bed the mere shadow of her old self; so wan and weak, indeed, that her father was almost beside himself with terror and anxiety; he spent most of his time in the sick room; abjured or—er—almost abjured whisky, and neglected the Bohemian haunts in which he shone as a bright and particular star. But his friends did not desert him; and daily the faithful little band of literary men and artists came round to inquire after Miss Kittle, knocking gently, and holding whispered conferences with Hagnes Hevangeline in the narrow, giddy little passage.

Teddy Wilson brought flowers; Percy Vilorne sent half a dozen of “Invalids” port, addressed in a disguised hand; and a little later, Herbert Mandeville lugged round a parcel of the latest “stixpensies” where-with the convalescent could while away the tedious hours; no one of them—these men, whom, with a smile, he noble born reader, should speak of as—er—not quite gentlemen, you know—came empty-handed; and Kittle, to whom tears came readily just then, used to cry a little over the flowers and the rest, and send loving messages to her devoted worshippers. But notwithstanding the skill of the clever doctor, the unremitting care of Hagnes Hevangeline, the strengthening qualities of the port, the flowers, fruit, and other offerings, the young goddess tarried on the road back to health.

“She'll have to go away,” said the doctor decisively. “London's the healthiest place in the world, excepting in the summer, and most parts of the other seasons; but you'll have to send her into the country, Norton; and send her at once.”

Now, Norton, absorbed in his anxiety on Kittle's account, had done very little or no work lately, and his funds were exhausted. He was too proud to ask a loan of the doctor, and “the boys”—well, they were hopelessly and perennially stoney-broke. But the most stoney-broke of the lot—little Bickers—came forward at the critical moment with a proposal that promised to solve the financial difficulty.

“By George, Dook, it's—it's Providence itself!” he cried, in a hushed voice, for Kittle was sitting up in the adjoining work-room. “If it's the country, Miss Kittle wants, she can have it by the tons. I have a mother—”

“Well, don't bray about it,” murmured Teddy Wilson, who was at the conference. “There are others!”

“A mother who lives in one of the healthiest places you can imagine. It's a cottage by a wood—Shut up, Teddy, this is serious!”

Teddy who had begun to hum the well-known song, looked penitent, and Bickers went on to explain that his mother, a widow, lived by herself in a quiet country place; that she was the dearest of mothers, and would be proud to have Miss Kittle for—just as long as Miss Kittle liked to stay. He'd write by that night's post to tell Mrs. Bickers that Kittle was coming; and——Well, there they were, the good fellow wound up, his face flushed, his eyes all aglow.

The Dook pressed his hand. “It's a kind heart you have, Bickers,” he said, his eyes moist; “and I accept for Kittle. I can't take her away, because—”

“Of course not; there's your work,” Bickers put in quickly, and with impressive gravity. “I'll arrange it all; you leave it to me. It's not so much of a journey, and the fare—ahem!”

“I can manage the fare,” said the Dook, with simple dignity. “But you'd better tell me where it is she's going,” he added, with a laugh, in which the rest joined.

“My mother lives at Deerbrook,” said Bickers.

Norton's brows came together as if he were trying to remember the name, and Bickers, repeating earnestly that the cottage was, though humble, as healthy as ever a cottage could be, hurried off to inform Mrs. Bickers of the coming of her guest. Three days later the boys met at the station to see Kittle off, and, as the train started with Kittle clinging to her father's hand—as if she were going to Australia, as the distracted guard pathetically and indignantly remonstrated—she managed to murmur to the others: “Take care of him. All of you! And—and good-by!” They would have cheered, if the Dook himself had not been present; and if they had done so, Kittle would have forgiven them, for her heart was tender, and her eyes were blurred with tears. At the little country station a fly, with a dear, sweet-looking and extremely near-sighted old lady, were waiting for her; and Mrs. Bickers justified her motherhood to the good-hearted Bickers by at once enfolding the thin, pale-looking girl in a large embrace.

“Ah, we'll soon have the roses back in those pretty cheeks, Miss Norton,” she said. “Well, Kittle; then, if I may, dear; and a very nice name it is, matches you to a T. Oh, I know all about you, my dear; from my son, of course. And about your good father; such a clever gentleman, my William says. Let me put this shawl round you; it's warm, but still the country air after London; and it's well to be careful. Dear, dear, I'm so glad to have you. You see”—she nodded and smiled through a sudden blur of tears—“I lost my only gel. It isn't far, but you must lean back,” and so on.

The cottage proved to be about a mile from the station, and to be quite, as Kittle called it, “a picture postcard” of a cottage. It stood, as Bickers had poetically said, beside a wood, and the air was odorous of the health-giving terebene emitted by the tall pines which shaded the little nest from the sun and the wind. It was as cosy inside as it was pretty out, and Kittle sank into a grandfather's chair with a sense of well-being, and of gratitude to the old lady, which threatened tears again.

Mrs. Bickers “did for herself,” with the occasional aid of one of the village girls, so that Kittle, as soon as Mrs. Bickers would permit it, found some employment and amusement in assisting in keeping the box of a place in the precise order which was dear to the old lady's heart.

For the first few days Kittle was not up to walking, and spent most of her time in the little garden, which was all ablaze with the simple flowers, which are so easily grown, that most people do not think them worth while growing; and so go about raving of “the flowers one sees in the cottage gardens, you know!” But as she grew stronger she went for strolls in the wood, which was so unrequited that it might have belonged to Mrs. Bickers.

“I hope I'm not trespassing,” Kittle remarked on returning from it one day. “Oh, dear, no,” the old lady assured her, with a touch of pride and satisfaction. “Sir Talbot expressly gave me permission, my dear. He is a most good-natured gentleman, one of the real kind of gentlemen, a nobleman, I suppose I ought to say; and I am sure he'd be only too pleased for you to walk there. And it isn't as if the Court were near; it's quite a long way off, at the other end of the wood, where the park begins. Some day, when you are stronger, we will go up there and see the gardens. They are very large and beautiful, of course; and I know Mr. MacDonald, the gardener. Quite a gentleman he is, I assure you. You must try and manage a whole tea-cake to-day, my dear.”

“I feel as if I could manage a dozen,” said Kittle, laughing. “Mr. Bickers was right in saying this was a healthy place; he ought to have added the hungriest.”

The old lady served up the tea-cakes piping hot, and with gratification watched Kittle devour some. Kittle had a way of getting direct to most people's hearts, and little Bickers' old mother had already grown fond of the pretty girl who had been placed under her care.

A Child Gets Cross, Sick and Feverish When Constipated

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated clean little liver and bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of “California Syrup of Figs,” and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless “fruit laxative.” Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of “California Syrup of Figs,” which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine made by “California Fig Syrup Company.”

Tea is Still Advancing

But We Intend to Protect Our Customers as Long as Possible

We notice the Canadian Press expresses the opinion that good tea may soon be a dollar a pound. This may appear rather pessimistic but it is not impossible, as at the moment there are a variety of reasons which contribute towards considerable advances in the price of tea.

We are to-day offering a MAGNIFICENT TEA in 1 lb. packets only, at

50c. per lb.

This is better than many teas offering at 60c. per pound, and on to-day's market quotations should be selling at 70c. per pound. This tea is being used by many of the best families in the city and has gained many encomiums.

We are also offering a SPLENDID TEA at

45c. per lb.

Both of these teas are specially put up by ourselves and are better value than can be obtained anywhere.

We shall be forced to advance our prices later or reduce the quality and we would sooner advance the price than reduce the quality. A word to the wise is sufficient.

But We Intend to Protect Our Customers as Long as Possible

We notice the Canadian Press expresses the opinion that good tea may soon be a dollar a pound. This may appear rather pessimistic but it is not impossible, as at the moment there are a variety of reasons which contribute towards considerable advances in the price of tea.

50c. per lb.

This is better than many teas offering at 60c. per pound, and on to-day's market quotations should be selling at 70c. per pound. This tea is being used by many of the best families in the city and has gained many encomiums.

We are also offering a SPLENDID TEA at

45c. per lb.

Both of these teas are specially put up by ourselves and are better value than can be obtained anywhere.

We shall be forced to advance our prices later or reduce the quality and we would sooner advance the price than reduce the quality. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Living Too Soft.

By BUTH CAMERON.

BUTH CAMERON

Did it ever occur to you that characters need exercise as well as minds and bodies? And that when they don't get it, they, like the minds and bodies, grow soft, and flabby, and break down under any strain? Once upon a time there was a sweet hard working little music teacher. She was very conscientious with her music and her pupils and very self denying in her habits. She had high ideals of conduct and held herself rather closer to them than most of us do.

And One Day The Prince Came.

Then one day the Prince came. And as he was a veritable Prince among young men, possessing good family, good looks, a good disposition and a good business, we all expected them to be happy forever after. Which they were for a time. The good business grew better, the little music teacher had a beautiful house, a machine, servants, lovely clothes. There was no more hard work for her; no more need to sacrifice, herself, nothing particular to be conscientious about, nothing to keep up to the mark in, in short,—no rough edges on life.

The Kind of a Life We all Crave But—

It was the kind of a life we all crave,—and the kind of a life so few of us can stand. The little music teacher couldn't. She got out of the habit of denying herself anything, and when circumstances threw her into contact with a very interesting and fascinating man, and she found that his society began to mean much to her, she wasn't capable of denying herself that dangerous pleasure.

And as she gave herself more and more of it and told herself lies about it's being no harm and about her husband being so wrapped up in his work that she was justified,—a thing she would once have been incapable of doing.

Then came the inevitable crash with broken lives and trust and faith inextricably splintered about.

She Says She Couldn't Help It.

The little music teacher says it was a grand passion and that she could not help it.

If she had been the same woman she was before she lived too soft she could have helped it.

But she wasn't. Self indulgence in little things, led to self indulgence in big things. It always does. You cannot indulge yourself in any direction without weakening your resistance in all.

It seems a far cry from the self indulgence of permitting yourself to sweep a room or do a piece of typewriting sloppily, or being unable to give up an unjustifiable extravagance, or failing to control your temper, to the self indulgence of drink or sex intoxication.

But remember, when big temptations come you've only the character that your resistance to little temptations has built up to oppose to them.

THE COLD PLUNGE.

The cold plunge is a modern invention with goose pimple attachments. It is the most successful method yet devised of bringing the red blood to the surface of the body, and along with an erect cluster of bristling goose pimples.

It is not known definitely just who invented the cold plunge, and it is probable that the man who thought of it first froze to death in an upright attitude immediately after imparting his secret to the world. Our ancestors did not believe in the cold bath to any great extent, preferring to recline thoughtfully in a tin tub filled with hot water from the cook stove. As civilization advanced in knowledge and culture, however, and the advantages of the semi-occasional bath became known, the doctors began to prescribe the antarctic plunge for people of low vitality who had reached the point where they would welcome death in any form.

A strong impetus has been given to the cold bath movement by the alarming scarcity of hot water in the homes of our first families. Many a husband who has waited patiently down stairs on Saturday night while a relay of children have filed in and out of the bath tub and robbed the hot water tank of its entire contents has been driven to the cold plunge in order to avoid the reproachful eyes of an accusing wife. When we think of the kind, generous husbands who have contracted pneumonia as a result of too frequent bathing in cold water, egged on by an imperious wife, we marvel that there are not more widows extant.

The most pleasing and thorough form of cold plunge is the shower bath, which starts with a temperature just below the freezing point and winds up by encrusting the eyebrows of the victim in icicles four inches long. This causes the red corpuscles to rise vigorously to the surface, where they can be driven back in with a crash towel. There are several kinds of heroes in this world, but the greatest of these is the man who can throw himself carelessly into a porcelain tub full of ice water and pretend that he likes it.

REJUVENATION.

When the winter's done with snowing, and the vernal winds are blowing, and the husband and man is being, loing in the fertile glen, I cast off the robes of sadness, and I whoop a round with gladness, with a joy akin to madness, for I'm feeling young again. In the winter I am weeping, for the rheumatism is creeping up and down my system, keeping me so sore I swear aloud; then I seem an ancient geezer of the looted Brutus crowd. In the wintertime I totter, like a sheep that's led to slaughter, wishing death would bring his swatter and remove me from the scene; nothing then my gloom can break up, nothing then my soul can shake up, and I do not even wake up when you talk of gasoline. But when frost's farewell is spoken and the birds have brought the token that old-winter's grip is broken, when through woodland, glade and dell, orioles and wrens are winging, and the joyous catbird's singing, and the flowers from earth are springing, then you ought to hear me yell.

WALT MASON

She Suffered for Eight Long Years. THEN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CAME TO HER RELIEF. Mrs. E. S. Thompson is Telling Her Many Friends What Caused the Great Improvement in Her Health. Minabico, via Sleeman, Ont. April 3rd. (Special).—Mrs. E. S. Thompson, an old and respected resident of this place is telling her numerous friends that her recent wonderful improvement in health is the result of using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My sickness dates back about eight years," Mrs. Thompson says. "My sleep was broken and unrefreshing, there were dark circles under my eyes, my appetite was stilt and I suffered from backache. I had frequent headaches, I felt heavy and sleepy after meals, and I was depressed and low spirited. Rheumatism and Bright's disease were soon added to my afflictions."

"I was far from being well when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I only took two boxes of them, but the results are so good that I am recommending them to all my friends." All Mrs. Thompson's troubles came from sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. And sick kidneys are responsible for nine-tenths of the pain and weariness suffering women are heir to.

What a Gas Range Means for You, Mrs. Housekeeper.

The gas range is a muscle savor and a stop saver. Think of the many tons of coal you used in that coal range, and how you have had to handle it all twice; first, carrying it up out of the cellar; then, from the kitchen to the ash barrel.

No more soot to wipe away; no more ashes to cart away; no more wood to fetch; no more coal dust; no more smoke and no more reason why the kitchen cannot be kept as clean and as orderly as the parlor. The gas range means just this.

Saves 50 Per Cent. of Kitchen Cares.

Half of the labor in the house is caused by dust from the coal range. Every time it smokes, no matter how good the draught may be, clouds of ashes rise and settle on the furniture.

Use a gas range and you will live better, you will play better, and you will work better because the use of the gas range eliminates the drudgery of carrying coal, ashes and the chopping of kindling, as well as the drudgery of cleaning up a lot of dirt, and, best of all, for the cook it makes it unnecessary for her to stand over a hot stove from two to three hours a day.

Your Boys and Girls.

It is an old saying that a man is only as his feet. Babies should go barefooted until they begin to walk, and should walk barefooted as much as possible, of course under suitable conditions. Sandals are always better than shoes, and shoes should always be laced, never buttoned. The toe cut walk is bad because it puts the weight on the heel, and tends to produce bad postures and flat-footed, so the baby should be taught to walk straight-footed.

Deformities of the foot include all possible positions in which a foot can be placed. Some exist from birth, others are due to infantile paralysis, rickets, high heels, improper shoes, overweight, general weakness, and the inherited diseases that cause other acquired deformities already described. The most frequent error concerning them is in flatfoot which women commonly attribute to rheumatism. Some foot deformities require surgery. Many yield to manipulation, or special apparatus.

It is the duty of every mother to give her child the benefit of a physician's advice and treatment, which in almost all cases of deformity, will make life happier for the child and in some measures remove the handicap under which it must otherwise struggle as a cripple for life.

Ashes.

Our attention is drawn to the public notice of a recent resolution of the Municipal Council dealing with the troublesome problem of the removal of ashes. It is apparent that the Council find it a problem, and we cannot pretend that we consider their last attempt at a solution a very happy one. It is hard to see on what principle they could have decided that the removal of ashes daily from a sidewalk should be undertaken free of charge, while their removal from a yard once or twice a week justifies a charge of nine dollars a year. If the intention was to increase the revenue of the Council we doubt if it has been successful, for it is fairly apparent that most yard-owners have exercised the option given them and preferred to have their ashes taken away for nothing. As a practical result the work of the men has been increased, the little perquisite that everyone, the Council included, recognized for years to be their due has been taken from them, and it is questionable if the funds of the Council have been much benefited. On the other hand it is only fair to admit a certain artistic gain. The daily and unaccustomed array of buckets and barrels on the sidewalk, of say, Circular Road, must add greatly to the picturesque interest of that thoroughfare.

Serious Accident Caused by Stone-Throwing.

Boy Struck in Head and His Brain is Concussed.

While proceeding to his home on the Upper Southside Road on Sunday night, Mark McCormack, aged 15, met with an accident which may cost him his life. It happened between 9.30 and 10 o'clock and just a few minutes previously he left St. Patrick's Church where he attended the closing exercises of the mission. He crossed on the upper side of the bridge near the Evening's Bakery, unaccompanied and north of a gang of boys throwing stones at another. He did not stop, but continued on his way. Suddenly he heard a whizzing sound and next received a terrific blow in the back of the head, having been accidentally hit by one of the missiles. The boy staggered and fell. He bled profusely and faintly into unconsciousness. A lad named Noah, who threw the stone and who was about forty feet away at the time, ran to the aid of the victim, who lay prone on the ground. The injured boy was conveyed home immediately and attended by Drs. McDonald, Fraser and Dunlop. Detective Byrne and Sergeant Furlong were present to take a statement from the patient, but he never regained consciousness, and his condition is critical. There is a deep, jagged cut at the rear of the skull near the right ear. Yesterday concussion of the brain set in and his chances of recovery are slim. He is sincerely sorry that the accident should have happened, and he was the first one to run to the aid of the unfortunate boy McCormack. The police are taking action in the matter.

Appeal for Curios.

The following message was received by Hon. Robert Watson yesterday from the Premier, Sir Edgar Bowring and Sir Joseph Outerbridge:

London, April 3rd, 1917.

Hon. Robert Watson,
St. John's.

We desire to contribute curios typical of Newfoundland and Labrador to St. Dunstan's Blind Hostel Bazaar on 7th May. Two Newfoundland men have been maintained there six months learning trades. We suggest voluntary gifts, also purchase Eskimo curios, mats, sealskins, stuffed white-coats, etc. should ship quickest route. First opportunity. Will you undertake?

MORRIS
KNOWLING, OUTERBRIDGE.

Mr. Watson states that Mr. W. H. Jones, of the Seamen's Institute has kindly undertaken to receive and pack for shipment all contributions sent in. Those who have curios of the nature mentioned to sell or to give should interview Mr. Watson at once. The Bazaar is to be held on May 7th, so that shipment must be made this week. There is no need to emphasize the fine work of St. Dunstan's for blinded soldiers and sailors or the patriotic need of its support. Thomas Casualty List.

J. R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary.

Loss of the "Maggie Bell."

CREW HERE.

Captain Connors and crew of the schooner, Maggie Bell, which left her base in the Western Islands recently, reached the city this morning after a trying experience. The vessel was owned by G. M. Barr and took a cargo of dry codfish to the Mediterranean in the early part of the winter. After discharging she went to Santa Pola, loaded salt and left for St. John's. Storms were frequently encountered and the vessel driven out of her course. On March 3rd last, after being forty-four days out, a hurricane of wind struck the Maggie Bell carrying the two spars completely out of her and otherwise destroying the rigging. Fortunately none of the crew were injured when the huge pieces of timber fell. The dismayed vessel then drifted about helplessly. Heavy seas continually pounded against the hull and it was feared that she would founder. Capt. Connors and associates kept a close look out for a passing ship in the hope of being taken out of the wreck. Nothing appeared in sight as the hours passed and their spirits fell. Eventually the dismayed vessel drifted into St. Michael's in the Azores. From there the shipwrecked seamen took passage to their homes in St. John's.

A Coffee Pot.

CLAIMS MUCH ATTENTION IN COURT.

Civil proceedings of a rather unusual character took place in the Central District Court this forenoon. Acting Judge Morris presiding. A domestic, who was in service with a city druggist summoned him for $6.50, amount due for wages. Before the case was called the defendant made good the claim and handed over the coffee pot which he claimed she had burnt and damaged. The domestic admitted that the coffee pot was accidentally burnt while she was attending to the plaintiff's coffee. She was very sick in bed. The girl's evidence was satisfactory to the Court and Judge Morris, after administering "medicine" to the drug man for not embodying his claim with that of the defendant and having the facts of both cases heard at the same time, dismissed the action.

Sudden Death of Veteran Railway Agent

Thousands of people in Conception Bay and railway men throughout the country will be sorry to hear of the sudden passing of William Mitchell, station agent at Hearst's Conception, whose death occurred at his home at 8 o'clock this morning. The veteran railway man had reached his advanced age of 70 years, and up to yesterday evening enjoyed good health. Later in the evening he was not feeling well and sent a message to Mr. J. P. Powell, Gen. Supt. of the Newfoundland Co., asking that he be relieved from duty. After his request was granted he retired to his room, and despatched his final message, and at the hour mentioned death came. The late William Mitchell was a native of Scotland and came to this country many years ago, where he was employed as a draper in a city firm on Water Street. In 1892, the second year of the construction of the cross-country railway, he was given a position as storekeeper, with divisional headquarters at Clode Sound. He afterwards filled various positions in the railway service of this country, the greater part of which was spent as agent at Broad Cove, T.B. He was transferred to Hearst's Conception on the opening up of that railway a few years ago. Left to mourn are four sons and two daughters, to whom the Telegram offers sympathy.

Man Drifted Off on Ice

Dr. W. F. Lloyd is in receipt of this message from Mr. J. G. Stone, M.H.A., from Catalina:—

"Man Tucker, Elliston, driven off on ice yesterday; ice going north."

Dr. Lloyd communicated with Minister of Marine Piccott, who has arranged with the different shipowners to have any steamers that are in that locality look out and search for the missing man.

Nfld. Forestry Battalion Being Discussed.

A meeting was held at Government House yesterday to discuss the idea of forming a Newfoundland Forestry Battalion, which will mean the enlisting of volunteers for wood cutting in England, made up of men unfit for active service and of those who offered themselves for enlistment in the Regiment and were not accepted. His Excellency the Governor presided, there being also present Acting Premier Bennett, Messrs. Sullivan and Horwood, and Messrs. F. J. Morris, C. H. Hutchings and Dr. V. P. Burke, representing the Recruiting Committee. The matter was given favorable consideration and a sub-committee selected for detail work and to report at another meeting which will be held shortly. Married men, who have had experience in the lumber woods, will also be accepted.

Wounded Hero Home.

Lance-Corporal Wilfrid Cleary, of the 14th Battalion C. E. F., who was severely wounded in the left arm, left leg and foot in September last, reached the city this morning on an extended sick furlough. His late brother Allen made the supreme sacrifice while fighting with "Ours" in France. Wilf, enlisted at Montreal with a number of Newfoundlanders, many of whom have been killed.

Imperial Red Cross Fund.

An appeal is made to the public of Newfoundland to further assist in the work of providing funds for the care of the sick and wounded in the Great War. The present fund—on behalf of which the appeal is made—has been opened to afford all classes in this country an opportunity of co-operating in the splendid work being done by the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, and the British Red Cross Society, who seek in every way to supplement the work of the regular Army Medical Services. These societies enroll and direct all voluntary efforts for the care of the sick and wounded. They staff, and bear the expenses of auxiliary hospitals on all the Fronts and all over the Empire, and have agents visiting all hospitals, making through their enquiry bureau, search for news of the wounded and missing. They take full charge of the sending of parcels to our Prisoners of War in the Central Empires and wherever wounded and sick are being transported, they have their workers on hand to supply comforts of all sorts to the travel-worn soldier. A full list of their beneficent activities cannot be given here, but the foregoing will suffice to indicate how widespread and important they are.

To simplify management during war time, these two great societies have founded a joint committee to receive all general contributions towards their work; and in his letter inaugurating the movement in Newfoundland, His Excellency the Governor points out the importance of co-operation with their efforts in the following terms:—

"In view of the imminence of the final and most important operations, which will bring the war to a victorious conclusion, it is, above all things, necessary that the British all the world over,

Should provide the funds needed for the care of the sick and wounded in the British Armies.

At no time has this call upon our help been so urgent as it is today. In driving the German Armies from their new positions our Armies must incur serious losses and it is our duty to place what funds we can in the hands of the Joint Committee so that our wounded may receive the very best treatment in the world."

His Excellency further pointed out that this General Fund is not in any way to interfere with the collection made for the Cot Fund which is our own particular effort and is associated specially in every detail with the name of Newfoundland.

It may be added that while the appeal now being made by the Committee for financial help is directed to raising as large a fund as possible from now onwards until Empire Day, it is proposed to keep the Fund open while the war lasts and it is hoped and believed that the public will give it their generous and continued support.

POVERTY STILL WITH US.

Last night a number of residents of the East End were surprised to see a healthy strong man calling at their homes begging for food. When questioned by a gentleman, the man replied that he was the father of several children and for the past two months was out of work. Food sufficient for several days was given the unfortunate man, who in the meantime expects to obtain work. Within the past month a lady informs us that upward of twenty poor people have called at her home daily in need of food.

TO-DAY'S Messages.

10.30 A.M.

BYRCE'S STRIKING WORDS.

LONDON, To-Day. Given the sympathy of all who strove for it, said Viscount Bryce, America is now rendering help of incalculable value to the cause of freedom. President Wilson in his lofty impressive address, worthy of the occasion which called it forth, has rightly dwelt on the fact that it is the German Government rather than the German people that is responsible for the series of crimes committed by land and sea during this war. The German people, inhibited by their Government upon this, will now begin to realise the military caste which dominates them and that has by its ruthless savagery roused against Germany the horror and indignation of the new as well as the old world. We may now hope that they will shake off the yoke and bring themselves as the Russian people have done into a fellowship of free nations whose Governments would not dare to perpetrate such crimes. Never has a better blow been struck for domestic freedom than that which America is now dealing to the last despotisms that remain in Europe.

SEIZE SECRET RADIO UTILITY.

SOUTH BERWICK MAIN, To-Day. J. M. Littman and M. Zeeley, Germans, were summoned to Portsmouth Navy Yard for hearing to-day as a result of the seizure last night by the Government Office of a radio outfit discovered upon their farm. Littman and Zeeley same to this section two years ago and have lived since upon a small farm located two miles from the centre of the town. The confiscated apparatus, it is said, had been strung from a barn to a tree.

VOLCANIC DISTURBANCE IN AUSTRALASIA.

LONDON, To-Day. Reuter's Melbourne correspondent reports a local earthquake having been felt in the towns of north-eastern Victoria. He says some uneasiness was felt. A despatch to Reuter from Auckland says a violent eruption of the volcano at Waimangu began on Sunday and still continues; two were killed.

PROHIBITION VICTORY IN MINNESOTA.

DULUTH, Minn., To-Day. Returns from 40 out of the 49 districts here give prohibition a majority of slightly more than 1,000 votes. The dry forces claim a victory by a 1300 majority.

AND IN WISCONSIN.

MADISON, Wis., To-Day. This city, capital of the State, went into the dry column as the result of an election to-day.

AND IN ILLINOIS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., To-Day. Springfield to-day went into the dry column. Two hundred and fifteen ballots will as a result, go out of business on May 3rd. The drys won other wet towns to their ranks, while more than a dozen voted to retain prohibition. Two towns re-entered the wet column.

HARDLY SURPRISING.

LONDON, To-Day. Frederick Pethyck Lawrence, joint editor of Votes for Women, well known as an ardent supporter of women suffrage, standing for election to the Commons on a peace-by-negotiations platform to-day polled only 323 votes, while his opponent, Sir Jno. Fleming, Coalition candidate, received 3,283. The balloting took place in a bye-election for the seat of South Aberdeen.

POST PRAISES WILSON.

LONDON, To-Day. The Post editorially says the President of the American people serves the world's highest interest by proving that there is such a thing as the solidarity of civilization. It compared the address in dignity and force with the last historic declaration of Lincoln, and says, "America can rest assured that never were friends in need more heartily welcomed." The Post singles out the President's point that the continued existence of the German military autocracy is totally incompatible with future peace.

PROVOKING SWITZERLAND NOW.

PARIS, To-Day. A despatch to the Havas Agency from Basel, Switzerland, says the Germans compelled Swiss citizens residing in St. Quentin, France, to leave the city beginning in March. The correspondent adds that, according to reliable information received from Karlsruhe, forty-five Swiss people have been retained in quarantine at Rastatt, Baden, receiving the same rations as French prisoners.

AMERICA'S GREAT PROGRAMME.

WASHINGTON, To-Day. Military, economic and financial plans for aggressive hostilities against Germany were pushed forward to-day by the administrative branch of the Government, which only awaits action by Congress on the war resolution to be put into execution. The enactment of the resolution not later than Thursday was confidently forecast at the Capitol after a delay of twenty-four hours. The purchase of supplies and equipment of all kinds for the army under the provisions of the law which allows the Secretary of War to fix a reasonable price and the division of the young men of the country into service classes (are expected?). Those needed more for industries that in the Army or Navy are to receive insignia showing they are performing a duty equivalent to fighting. Most of these plans will require the authorization of Congress, but from opinions expressed at the Capitol it is believed that once the war resolution is adopted further legislation to empower the Executive Branch to go full speed ahead will follow quickly. There is every indication that the Nation through its representatives will follow out President Wilson's words to Congress and exert all its power and employ all its resources to bring the Government of the German Empire to terms and to end the war. President Wilson and his Cabinet went over the war plans at a session, and previously the National Defence Council with its civilian advisory commission and several subsidiary organizations developed policies and details of momentous consequence to the nation. Meanwhile the War and Navy Departments are going ahead with the most immediate preparations for defence. Already the Navy has taken steps to insure co-operation between the American fleet and those of the Entente Allies to become effective upon the formal entry of the United States into the war. The most important plans under preparation by the administration include the enlistment by selective conscription of young men for the National Army, in addition to the regular establishment, and National Guard increments of 500,000, until enough have been trained to make certain of the defeat of Germany. The organization of the nation's commercial interests for the economical and effective distribution of commodities among the civilian populations, the rapid provision of adequate means of combating the submarine menace and the raising of a very large sum of money, as much as possible to be obtained by taxation and the definite amount of the first budget not to be fixed until the exact needs of the army and navy and of the Entente Allies are ascertained.

MEXICO AN INTERNATIONAL NUISANCE.

NEW YORK, To-Day. Former President Taft, speaking at a dinner here to-night given in his honor, declared that if any nation is to attack us it will be through Mexico. He characterized the neighbouring Republic as an international nuisance and General (T) as not the most reliable individual. He expressed the hope that the war would be over in a year.

MAGNANIMOUS GERMANY!

BERLIN, To-Day. The press report of President Wilson's state of war message reached Berlin at 10 o'clock this morning. It was declared here that there would be no change in the German attitude, even if Congress adopted President Wilson's views. Germany will not declare war nor take any steps to wage war against the United States. The submarine war will be continued as it has been conducted since February 1st, but this, declare the officials, is not directed more against the United States than any other neutral. It is also declared that there will be no change in the treatment of American citizens in Germany who now have the same freedom as all other neutrals, but Germany expects the United States will continue the same treatment of Germans in that country.

FRENCH SCORE BIG VICTORY.

PARIS, Official Midnight, (via Anglo.) East and West of the Somme, after fierce artillery preparation, our troops sprang to the attack against the German lines running North of Ligny, Caestre, Estigny and Benay from Dallon Spur up to the Oise. In spite of fierce German resistance our troops captured everywhere the aims in view and captured on a 13 kilometre front a series of heavily organized German trenches, dugouts and blockhouses held by important German forces and the Dallon Spur Villages of Dallon, Giffecourt and Cerzy. Several heights south of Urville are in our possession. South of the Ailette we continued to advance in the Laffaux district. We hold now the southern and north western outposts. Our troops also captured Vauxroy and gained a footing on a hill north of this hamlet. Our batteries then opening up fire caught a German column marching in the direction of Laffaux Mill. The Germans have fiercely shelled Rheims, 2,000 shells were dropped on the town and several civilians were killed. There is intermittent cannonade elsewhere.

BRITISH ENTHUSIASM FOR WILSON.

LONDON, To-Day. President Wilson's message aligning the United States with the nations fighting against Germany was warmly welcomed and unanimously acclaimed by the British people. They recognize that no decision with weightier influence on the result of the world struggle has been given since Britain after a few days consideration resolved to march with France. No news the past year has so stirred the country, save only the Russian revolution. There have been no street demonstrations or exhibitions of excitement such as the first weeks of war saw in London, because the war has long since passed the stage of excitement and is regarded here as in America as a heavy and solemnly borne duty. The substance and tone of the President's message was an electrifying surprise. The directness of his indictment of the German method, his whole-hearted statement of America's duty to maintain her rights and her duty to civilization was more than the public have expected. The despatches from America in the past month had represented the President as reluctant to enter the war and that recommendations to Congress of limited offensive measures for the protection of American Commerce would have fulfilled general expectations. That the Russian revolution did much to pave the way for co-operation with Germany's opponents and made President Wilson's policy possible is one of the first features of the situation which newspapers seize upon. The only feature of President Wilson's message which evokes dissent is his acquittal of the German people from responsibility for the policies of the German Government. Liberal papers like the Daily Chronicle contend that the German people have supported with apparent enthusiasm such proceedings as have been going on in Belgium and have demanded its annexation. That the British Press regards the entry of America as one of the most momentous events of war is shown by the importance attached to President Wilson's address. The Daily Chronicle says, "It is impossible to read President Wilson's speech without being struck by its statesmanlike breadth and elevation of tone. His long patience and caution and his determination to advance no further than the mass of opinion in his country only render more impressive his final crossing of the Rubicon. The moral effect of such a speech, made with a nation of ninety million behind it must be great throughout the world. It is a strange and impressive phenomenon, this tardy but weighty intervention of the United States in the death struggle of Europe." The Express says, "The President's speech will always be regarded as one of the most historic documents of the great war. The lofty dignity of his language adds impressiveness to his enunciation of international idealism. America is entering the war for the one specific purpose of destroying Potsdam. If the President's speech means anything it means that America will never treat with the Kaiser and will resolutely oppose any peace that leaves the Hohenzollerns on the German throne." The Daily Mail in an editorial under the caption of "No peace with the Hohenzollerns," says, "President Wilson's speech will stand beside Lincoln's greatest speech for its gravity and pathos. It is in effect an appeal to the American people to take up the task for which Lincoln laid down his life, for the issue is to-day as it was in 1861 and 1864, freedom, though it would be a sovereign injustice to compare the South, whose soldiers fought like gentlemen, with the Kaiser's murderous myrmidons. The President's speech is a plain warning that pirates shall be really handed to execution dock under condemnation of the whole world." The Mail argues that the destruction of Prussian militarism requires that the German people themselves must be set free, adding, "though to tell the truth they show no desire or aptitude for freedom. Therefore the despots who incited the German people with a passion for slaughter and cruelty must be removed." The Mail credits the American people with complete disinterestedness in the course they

WAR REVIEW.

LONDON, To-Day. The Allied armies are closer upon St. Quentin and already close to the outskirts of the town. On the west and southwest the British and French in fresh drives have captured additional villages and points of support. Attacking on a front of more than eight miles south and southwest of the harassed German stronghold, the French troops, despite stubborn resistance by the Germans, everywhere met with success taking strongly organized positions and strongholds. Notable among them is Dallon, about two miles southwest, and Giffecourt two miles south of the town. The British are already almost within a stone's throw of the western outskirts of St. Quentin and seemingly resting there, while to the northwest they are carrying out a manoeuvre, having as its object the flanking of St. Quentin from the north. In this operation they have partially succeeded according to British official communications. Driving eastward from the region of Vermandois they have captured the town of Massigny, five miles southwest of St. Quentin. Further north at Romescy field Marshal Haig's forces also were successful, taking the village of Heinsul-Coguel five miles southwest of Arras. After intense fighting on the Russian front the Germans delivered attacks against the Russians south of Hlousk which is in the Dvinsk sector, south of Vladimir Volynski and in Volhynia. At each place the attackers succeeded in penetrating the Russian positions but later were expelled from them by counter attacks, according to the Russian War Office. Heavy snow-falls in the mountain regions of the Austro-Italian theatre are hampering operations, but there has been considerable activity in the Adige Valley where severe artillery duels are progressing on several sectors.

FRENCH SUCCESS.

PARIS, April 3. A series of powerfully organized points of support held by large German forces about eight miles in extent, have been captured by the French south of St. Quentin. Various villages and heights have fallen into the hands of the French. An official from the war office announcing this latest successful operation, reports that the town of Rhelms has been violently bombarded by the Germans, more than 2,000 shells having been thrown into it, resulting in some casualties to the civilian population.

BRITISH CAPTURE VILLAGE.

LONDON, April 3. Prolonged fighting for the village of Henin-sur-Cojeul, southeast of Arras, ended in the capture of the place by the British, according to an official tonight from headquarters in France. Maisemy, northwest of St. Quentin, and Ronsoy Wood, further north, have also been occupied. The text reads: In the course of a successful attack yesterday, southeast of Arras, our troops, after prolonged fighting, carried the village of Henin-sur-Cojeul, in addition to the villages already reported captured. During the evening a second German counter-attack was broken up by our artillery. The other villages mentioned Monday in the official were Dougnies, Louvoval, Norval, Longate, Ecoutat, St. mein and Croisilles. Further south we also took the village of Maisemy and occupied Ronsoy wood. We carried out a successful raid last night opposite Arras. Two German airplanes were brought down by our gunfire yesterday, one of which fell in our lines. In an air fight four German machines were brought down, six of our machines are missing.

FURTHER BRITISH PROGRESS.

LONDON, April 2. Despite a heavy blizzard which raged this morning and last night further progress was made by the British forces, says Reuter's correspondent in a despatch from British headquarters in France. Henin-sur-Cojeul, five miles southeast of Arras has been cleared of the enemy giving the British possession of the line running almost straight from Baurains to Amiens. On the Cambrai road near Beaumetz the British occupied the village of Maisemy, northwest of St. Quentin, while a German counter-attack against Templeux-le-Querand was repulsed with heavy casualties.

ANOTHER PEACE PROPOSAL.

BERLIN, April 3. The proposal of Count Von Czerni, Austrian Foreign Minister, that a peace conference be held by the belligerents, without requiring the cessation of hostilities, apparently represents the attitude of all the Central Governments. Count Czerni's proposal was not only sanctioned by Austria and her allies, but will shortly be formally approved at a conference of high personages at Berlin representing the four countries. The Lokai Anzeiger says: "Count Czerni's statement would not have been made if he had not previously obtained an assurance that it would meet with the approval of his allies. This agreement will presently be affirmed by a conference at Berlin. If the enemies refuse to accept this opportunity, the responsibility will be theirs. We are ready to hold out, and the coming conference will emphasize this with great distinctness."

LONDON.—The Berlin Lokai Anzeiger's article concerning the proposal of the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister that a peace conference be held by belligerents has been reproduced in the Rheinische Westfälische Zeitung, of Essen. A copy of which was received here says: "It is stated that the point taken by the Berlin and Vienna Governments is shared also, it need hardly be said, by the governing circles of Sofia and Constantinople, and will shortly be given fresh emphasis by a visit of Germans and of highly placed personages from the dual monarchy. A more unbroken, more firmly west and on all fronts, and the more conscious do we feel of our power to persist to the end, the better are we able with head erect to offer our enemies a peace worthy for all parties for the immense sacrifices they have made in the war. Should our enemies show themselves now unwilling to grasp this opportunity for preparing to end this bloodshed, and for restoring peace to all the peoples in Europe, they will act on their own responsibility. We are prepared to continue to hold out; on that there is only one opinion in our quadruple Alliance."

BRITISH PRESS COMMENT.

LONDON, April 3. Under the heading "Brothers in Arms," the Pall Mall Gazette says today of President Wilson's speech: "The President frames the issue in a setting calculated to stir the deepest emotions of the American people. The Russian revolution enables him to commend it to them as a conflict between the virtues of democracy and the crimes of autocracy. America enters the war without reservations, her action will be welcomed for the substantial aid which she will bring and for the community of spirit which she will further among the free nations of the world. It is a great satisfaction to be joined thus with a nation carrying so much of our blood in a crusade worthy of its best traditions and ours." The Globe says: "German statesmen have scornfully affected to regard the entrance of the United States as negligible; we can safely leave them to find out their mistake."

WILSON CHEERED.

LONDON, April 3. A storm of applause was aroused in the Commons to-day by the mention of President Wilson's address to Congress. Sir Henry Dalziel asked Chancellor Bonar Law whether he was in a position to give any information as to the decision of the American Congress as to war. Bonar Law replied: "I have just received a telegram from our Ambassador at Washington. In referring to the speech of President Wilson, he thinks, in his opinion, it was well received by Congress and he expected the authority asked for would be given." When Wilson's name was mentioned the members applauded, and they cheered again when the Chancellor told them what the Ambassador had cabled.

SENATE COMMITTEE APPROVES.

WASHINGTON, April 3. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee to-day approved of the administration declaring that a state of war exists with Germany. Changes were made to the wording, but the effect remains the same as was introduced in both Houses of Congress last night. The vote was unanimous except for Chairman Stone. Senator Borah, of Idaho, was absent. The adjournment of the Senate to-day was marked by a stormy scene in which Senator La Follette by objection forced the consideration of the war resolution until for tomorrow and Democrat leader Martin then forced adjournment before La Follette.

OF THE HIGHEST IMPORTANCE.

LONDON, April 3. Replying to a question from the Associated Press as to what difference America's entrance into war would make in Europe now and hereafter, Viscount Bryce, British Ambassador to Washington, said to-day: "I would say it will be the highest importance in three ways. It gives the keenest pleasure to America's warmest friends here. Firstly it must bring the war to a speedy close, not only by the material aid of money and men and supplies but also by the moral effect of her participation will produce on the German people and German armies. They will now see that success has for them now become impossible. Demoralization must increase and resistance weaken; secondly, America comes in from no selfish motives, but as a champion of international justice and of humanity outraged by the German methods of conducting war. She stands by the Allies in their effort to vindicate human rights and respect, for which success for Germany would give a fatal blow. Thirdly the world has for nearly a century and a half known and admired America as a country which pre-eminently loved and prized freedom."

WILL ADDRESS CONFERENCE.

LONDON, April 3. It is understood Premier Lloyd-George proposes to attend a session of the House of Commons to-morrow for the purpose of making reference to the entry of the United States into the war, if to-day's Congressional debate justifies such action.

AIRING THEIR VIEWS.

LONDON, April 3. Among the prominent men whose opinions on President Wilson's speech printed here, were those of William Ferguson Massey, Premier of New Zealand, and Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland. Both were enthusiastic over the advantages the Entente Allies will derive from America's entrance into the war. Massey considers that the principal advantage will be derived from America's navy and the American mercantile marine, while Sir Edward Morris believes the United States will enter the war with a tremendous energy and determination. He anticipates the American navy co-operating with the allied fleet will be able to make the lane across the Atlantic and through the Mediterranean as safe as Britain has already made a lane between the Channel ports, and thus assist in conveying food, men and munitions.

ROOSEVELT CONGRATULATES WILSON.

WASHINGTON, April 3. Col. Roosevelt stopped off here today on his way home from Florida to call on President Wilson at the White House to congratulate him on his address to Congress.

GERMAN DESTRUCTION.

WASHINGTON, April 3. A long report from United States Ambassador Sharp at Paris detailing the terrible destruction wrought by the retreating Germans in Northern France, was received to-day by the State Department. The Ambassador who made an exhaustive study of the conditions, shows that the published reports of the devastation have not been in any way exaggerated. In some respects the reports of the atrocities are more terrible than those recounted in the news despatches.

GERMAN CLAIM PURE INVENTION.

LONDON, April 3. An official statement issued to-night characterizes as the usual pure invention the German claim made officially at Berlin, that an 8,000 ton British auxiliary cruiser was sunk in March.

A NEW MEDIATOR.

MEXICO CITY, April 3. The Mexican Government to-day sent an announcement to Ecuador and Colombia for a meeting at Monte Video of American nations to decide on a common policy with the object of bringing the European war to an end.

GERMANY TO PROTEST.

LONDON, April 3. An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Amsterdam says it is reported there from Berlin that the German government contemplates sending to all neutrals a protest against the expected American declaration that a state of war with Germany exists. It is hoped in Germany, the despatch says, the protest will influence the South American Republics, as it will denounce President Wilson's policy as perilous to the neutrality of the republics of Central and South America.

THE RAIDER'S CAPTAIN.

RIO JANEIRO, April 3. The captain of one of the ships captured by the German sea raider Sea Adler, says the vessel carries no torpedoes. Her commander's name is Von Luckner. He is described by the captain as a bitter anti-American, frequently attacking the States as an unscrupulous country whose only aim was the pursuit of wealth. The captain says Von Luckner denounced the Germans in Brazil, accusing them of cowardly abandonment of their native country and with having failed to give the aid which Germany expected from them. Refugees from ships sunk by the raider will sail for Europe by the first steamer which leaves this port.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

LONDON, April 3. The wife of former Premier Boris Sturmer has attempted suicide, according to a Reuter despatch from Petrograd. After receiving a letter, the contents of which are not known, she cut her throat. Her condition is dangerous.

SUNK WITHOUT WARNING; 19 MISSING.

NEW YORK, April 3. The British steamer Stanley, 3,987 tons gross, from Newport, News on March 7th, with a cargo of grain for Cherbourg, was sunk by a German submarine without warning on March 21. Five members of the crew were killed; 15 survivors from the ship reached here to-day on the steamer Port Albany. Two other members of the crew, one an American, died from exposure in the open boats. Two boats were lowered when the ship was hit. One contained the captain and 18 men which drifted away from the boat which contained the men picked up by the Port Albany and have not been heard from since. The other drifted for 76 hours before being sighted by the Port Albany. This boat had aboard the chief officer, chief engineer and 15 of the crew. They were all but exhausted from exposure, and two of their number, including the American, died, and more would have perished soon, the officers said, had their rescue been delayed.

The British freight steamer Trovose, recently reported by Germany as having been sunk, was torpedoed without warning on March 18th, and 24 members of the crew are unaccounted for, according to the officers of the Fabre Line steamer Venezia.

CONDITIONS IN SPAIN NORMAL.

WASHINGTON, April 3. Conditions in Spain have become normal again. A despatch from the Spanish Foreign Office to Ambassador Rino to-day says that normal conditions have been re-established at Valladolid, and two shops have been re-opened for the railway workmen there. Absolute tranquillity prevails throughout Spain.

28 STILL MISSING.

WASHINGTON, April 3. A despatch from U. S. Ambassador Sharp, dated Paris, yesterday, said 19 survivors from the Azetic were landed yesterday at Brest; 28 persons are still missing.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, April 3. Violent artillery engagements are in progress in the Champagne, the war office announces. No important actions are reported along the line of the German retreat. The statement follows: From the Somme to the Aisne there were intermittent artillery actions. Patrol encounters took place north and south of the Ailette. We captured six machine guns during the fighting yesterday in the region of Vauxallion. The artillery fighting continues with violence in the region of Butte Dumescel and Maissons-deplies, by also by the morale effect of Champagne. In Alexe a German attack against one of our trenches in the sector of Sepposele Haut was repulsed by our fire. Elsewhere the night passed in quiet.

Milady's Boudoir.

THE MORNING TOILET.

A woman should no more appear before a member of her family in a bristling unconcealed array of curl papers than she should answer the front door bell in a bathrobe. Almost without exception Milady's hair must be waved but she should conceal the little instruments that bring about this result.

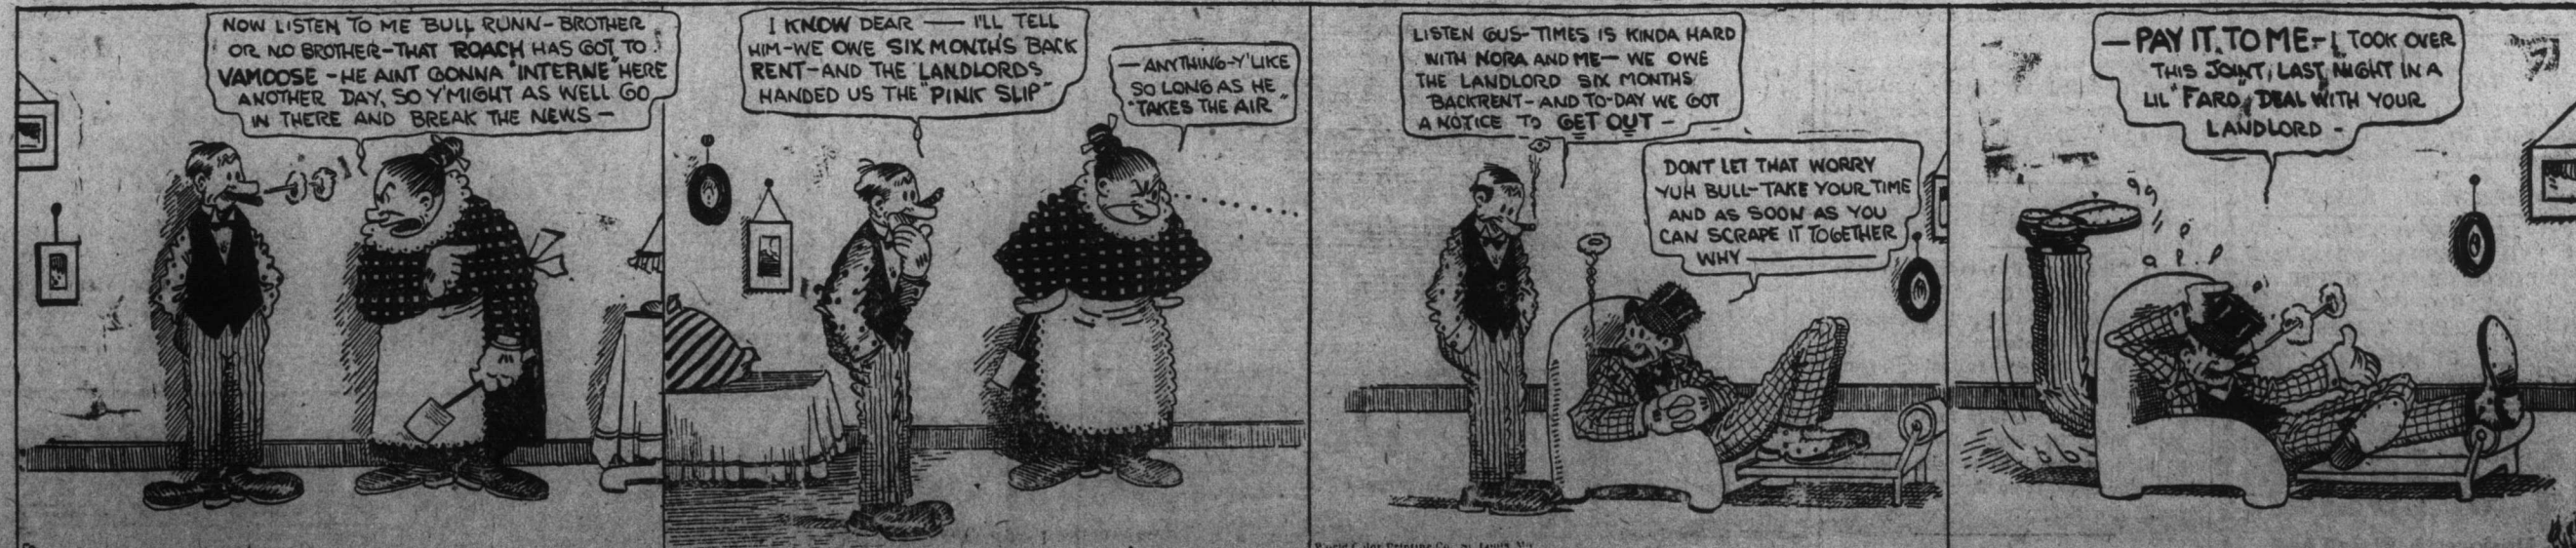

The petite French woman whom tradition always quotes as being the dearest of all women in her boudoir, carefully conceals her artificial hair waving under a mess of lace and ruffles. Sometimes her cap, which takes the shape of a scarf, which falls daintily over her morning negligee. Many French women are known to employ the coquettish method of pinning false curls and even braids on adornments to peek out from beneath the fringe of the breakfast caps. When appearance please, the man member of the family is usually satisfied, and does not seek to divine the method. If Milady prefers wearing a smart morning dress, of the gingham variety which will aid her in doing her household duties quickly, she might choose a cap of the quaint Dutch style, which is becoming to any face. The curlers which have proven themselves such a nuisance in the early their purpose later in the day, can surely find a way to be less obstructive during the breakfast time.

The Bowrings.

Bowring's firm one hundred years
Have borne an honored name,
We find no stain in all that time
To sully its fair fame,
And now it stands before our eyes
A sample of fair play;
Once more it shows its kindness
By the deed it did to-day.

Now in the many years that past
From Benjamin right down
To Eric, who upholds the name,
This firm has won renown.
The same old generous spirit
Was ever by them shown,
And in every part of Newfoundland
The truth of this they'll own.

The jolly Terra Nova's crew
Are not left in the cold,
Thought for seven dollars and fifty cents
Their fat to Bowrings sold.
Though a bargain is a bargain,
From which Bowrings need not part,
Yet Eric gave eight dollars,
For he has a manly heart.

Throw up your caps for Bowrings,
Ye Terra Nova's crew
And give three cheers for Eric,
For what he's done for you,
And three cheers more for Capt. Keen
Who helps you all he can;
Unbiased men in Newfoundland
Call him a solid man.

Long may the firm of Bowrings
Dwell on our native isle;
May health, wealth and prosperity
On my friend Eric smile;
And may the winds of fortune
Upon the old firm fall,
Here's good luck to Bowrings
"There's nothing in them small."
St. John's, April 3rd, 1917.

Fads and Fashions.

Black-and-white effects re-appear.
Lightweight spring velvet is used for jackets to be worn with cloth skirts.

High crushed girdles of metallic trouche ribbon are charming on evening dresses.

The moderately short skirt will continue a favorite, simply because it is so practical.

Afternoon dresses have apron panels, lined with a bright color and designed to fall back.

Fascinating little hats are made entirely of narrow ribbon, in two colors, sewed together.

A chenille and ball embroidery is a favorite trimming on smart coats and costumes for spring.

There are many novel parasols, and they will play an important part in the summer wardrobe.

A tender green, geranium rose and pastel blue are among the most charming of spring hues.

Organdie and taffeta are combined, with skirt of taffeta and a filmy overskirt of organdie.

Japanese embroidery gives a delightful touch to many very simple dresses, especially of pongee.

Transparent straw hats with wisps of paradise caught to the crown with tiny bows are very smart.

The sailor hat is still good in style, but its crown may be a little higher or it may flare as it reaches the top.

New fashions are even more picturesque than they have been; many of them are inspired by various peasant costumes.

Just Before the Dawn, Perhaps.

It may seem to many preposterous to suggest, in this time when the war seems to be about to assume in truth world proportions through the enforced participation of the United States, that the end of it all may be near. Yet there is the possibility that this is the proverbial darkest hour before the dawn. Consider some current events. The German forces are steadily falling back before the British and French armies on the West front. On the East front, the Turks are retreating before Russian and British forces. The Russian revolution has shattered Germany's hope of a separate peace with Russia. Reports of food riots from Berlin indicate that the German people have reached the limit of their endurance. Ruthless submarine warfare, now nearing the end of its second month, appears to be producing diminishing results. And upon the effect of that the German Government admittedly "staked everything." Let it be granted that the Central Powers are yet far from conquered by force of arms; that, driven back upon their own soil, they could hold out there indefinitely, if their resources would hold out. There is the large "if." May it not be believed that the resources of Germany and Austria-Hungary are near exhaustion, that they will soon have to sue for peace because internal conditions are such that they will be unable longer to carry on warfare? The three years which the late Lord Kilchener declared to be the probable duration of the war are drawing to their close.—From the Albany Journal.

Goes To Hospital.

Miss Higden was removed to the General Hospital from her home, George Street, yesterday afternoon, suffering from pneumonia.
Mr. W. Mercer suffering from bronchitis, was removed in the ambulance from his residence yesterday.
Mrs. Hammarford, an elderly lady, was also removed to the hospital in the ambulance from her home near Browning's Bridge.

America on the Verge of War

Mr. W. M. Dooley Writes Again.
The die is cast. Nothing save a miracle can now prevent America joining the Allies. The call to Congress to meet on April 2 means a formal declaration of war against Germany. Perhaps before this letter is printed, the initial blow will be struck in the first conflict the United States has waged against a first class power since 1812. Every navy yard and munitions plant in the country is now being speeded up and a mobilization of the military and industrial resources of the nation is well under way. Whether an American Army will be sent overseas at once has not yet been decided upon but little doubt is entertained, if the conflict is prolonged, that America's fighting men will eventually be sent to the Western front. There are now some 50,000 Americans fighting with the Allies. It is proposed to secure the discharge of these men and transfer them to the forces to be sent across the seas. There is no question that the Allies will be given unlimited credit as America has now the largest stock of money ever possessed by a nation in the world's history. A representative of the Morgans asserts that the amount of gold in this country has now reached the stupendous total of three and one half billion dollars. It is stated on good authority that a public loan of fifteen billion dollars could be raised in a week. It will take some time, however, to raise an army as the regular forces of the United States in peace times number 100,000 or less.
The chief reliance in the early stages of the conflict will be placed in the Navy and American inventive genius may find a way to make up for the lack of a large land force. London newspapers recently stated that all but two of the implements of war now used in Europe are of American origin. Even trench warfare as it is now known began in this country. There is some mystery concerning Mexico that is puzzling the American people.
The Government are in possession of many facts which have not been made public and they are proceeding cautiously. We know now that the capture of Vera Cruz was not an attempt to compel Mexico to salute the flag but to prevent the landing of huge stores of ammunition from German ships. The abandonment of the chase after Villa may be laid to a similar reason. Germany for years has been corrupting Mexican officials and something sinister may yet come out of Mexico if war is declared. It is even hinted that another nation is laying its plans for a sudden coup that will startle the world. These may be mere rumors but that there is grave anxiety in Washington concerning them little doubt exists. What the attitude of the naturalized Germans will be, in the event of war, is problematical, but judging by their past record, in former American wars, their loyalty to the land of their adoption should not be open to question.

Sir Sam Hughes, the "Kitchener of Canada," in a speech in this city recently was quite certain that they would stand by the United States. Of course there are many Germans who are not naturalized who may prove a source of trouble. However, the idea of a German uprising here is an insane delusion. Such a rebellion would simply die abortive. The only danger to be feared would be attacks upon munition plants and public buildings. A bomb in the hands of one desperate individual would prove more dangerous to the community

Sealing News.

The sealing voyage is practically over, as the following messages received by Bowring Bros. will show:— RANGER—Now working south-very heavy swell; scattered seals;
Neptune and Bloodhound in company.
VIKING—Ten miles S.E. of Entry Island, in heavy sheet fog; fine and clear; nothing new to report.
The Ranger, Bloodhound and Neptune are steaming towards home and it is likely that the Viking will finish up in the Gulf within the next few days.
The Thetis finished landing last night 22,538 seals, which was more than she was reported for at first. It looks now as if the total catch will exceed two hundred thousand.

At Little Bay East.

Reception Given to Privates Laurence and Grandy, of Bay L'Argent.

A very pleasing event took place at Little Bay East, F.B., on Monday, the 5th March, when the people of this place gave a hearty reception to Ptes. Grandy and Laurence of Bay L'Argent. These young heroes arrived at Little Bay East a short while ago and each bears the honor of his country through their wounds. Owing to the men of Little Bay East leaving earlier for the fishery than at first anticipated, it was necessary to have it on Monday. However, energetic young people being at the head of the affair, arrangements were made for Monday night. At 6 p.m. the young heroes arrived from Bay L'Argent and proceeded to the homes of relatives and friends. At 7 p.m. they arrived at the school which had been fastidiously decorated with bunting, etc., and presented quite a festive appearance. Here they were met by their many friends who wished to show them their appreciation of the noble work they had been doing. Private Grandy is still suffering from a wound in the head which has deprived him of the sight of one eye. Private Laurence has entirely lost the use of his right arm. Mrs. L. Fiandre presided at the organ and in her usual brilliant style rendered some very fine music. At 7.30 the Rev. G. F. Sears took the chair and conducted the heroes to seats of honor and forthwith opened the proceedings of the evening, congratulating them on behalf of the people on their safe return, and on the noble work they had been doing.

Private Laurence occupied the platform for over an hour and a quarter; meanwhile he had the attention of every eye and ear. It was the first time for the majority of his listeners to hear one who had been and had seen and come in actual contact with the war, relate his experiences. Consequently they were well rewarded, as in good form he gave first of all an account of his life in St. John's; then a description of his journey to Quebec, where they found the 55th battalion of the Canadian Regiment (since known as the brave 56th); of his trip across the Atlantic, of their stay in England and training in Scotland; then of their final training and orders to France. He gave a vivid description of the 1st of July charge, which swept away so many brave Nid. men, of his wound he made light as it only confined him to hospital six weeks. Spoke in highest terms of the Red Cross workers. Then he proceeded on the different events which occurred till he was wounded in the Battle of the Somme. Here he lost the use of his right arm which further unfitted him for active service. Then he gave a short description of his return home. He regrets his injury is such as makes him unable to return again. He impressed upon his audience the urgent need of young men now; young men to help carry on the work seemingly only just begun.

Private Grandy did not address the meeting, but he as well as Private Laurence was kept busy answering the many questions put to them. Private Grandy also regretted his inability to return.

Rev. G. F. Sears then addressed the meeting, and expressed his desire to see others follow in the footsteps of the two young heroes. Well done, Privates Grandy and Laurence, your countrymen and townsmen are proud of you; your wounds are badges of honor which is something to be proud of. Although thus maimed early in life, we feel sure success must crown your efforts in life.

In conclusion, I must congratulate Miss Alice Ryan, whom we understand was responsible for the management of this successful reception. She is always untrifling in her efforts to carry on to success any trust laid upon her.

The s.s. Finoa arrived from Pool's Cove Wednesday, 7th inst., but not in time to hold a meeting, as most of the men young and old had left for the fishery. No meeting was held, consequently we did not get the speech promised by Magistrate Courage.

Everyday Etiquette.

"When invited to a church wedding, shall my husband and I call upon the bride and bridegroom if we have never met them and know slightly the parents of the bride only?" asked Mrs. Anxious.

"If no 'at home' cards were enclosed you do not have to make a call, but if the bride lives in your neighbourhood it would be courteous to call," replied her society friend.

The woman who has a complexion that is naturally youthful and velvety is the envy of those who are not so fortunate. But a good or bad complexion usually indicates the amount of care you bestow on your skin. You cannot have a bright, clear skin unless you keep your skin clean—if you do not protect it from the ravages of cold winds and other enemies.

NYAL FACE CREAM
is a delightful preparation that will help you towards your aim of a beautiful complexion. It is pure, soothing and stimulating, giving a glow and pleasant sensation of health when applied to the skin. It helps nature overcome wrinkles, pimples, roughness and blotches and imparts that clear, velvety texture that you like to see and touch.
