Toronto World.

The great success THE WORLD has achieved as sures its position as one of the permanent institutions of Toronto. It is now read extensively, not only intronto and its suburbs, but in most of the towns and villages within a radius of one hundred miles on the lines of the Grand Trunk (east and west), the Great Western, the Northern, the Credit Valley, the Toronto and Nipissing, and the Toronto, Grey and Bruce railways. The large and rapidly-increasing cisculation of THE WORLD on the one hand, and its reasonable rates on the other, must commend it to all classes of advertisers as a most desirable medium of communicating with the public.

Three regular editions of THE WORLD are published daily—at noon, at three and at five o'clock. Extra editions we also published whenever there is news of sufficient moment to demand them. Advertisements are inserted in all editions at the price of a single insertion.

ORDINARY RATES Commercial advertisements are as follows:—
Commercial advertisements, FIVE CENTS
nonpareil line, each insertion.
Advertisements other than commercial, viz., legal, election, financial, and amusement, TEN CENTS per nonpareil line, each insertion.
Reports of meetings and financial statements of banks, railway, insurance and monetary companies, TEN CENS per line nonpareil.

Special notices twenty-five per cent. advance on e ordinary rates. Condensed advertisements on the first page, HALF A CENT per word, each insertion

"No, mamma."

She sat in her white dressing jacket, with her pretty hair all spread abroad on her shoulders. Her cheeks were paler than usual, but there was a rich flush in her "honest" eyes, as Miss Vere had called them, which showed that Love's strengest adversary, Pride, had been roused, and was prepared to give hattle. As the methal prepared to give battle. As the mother closed the door and stole softly back to her room, she repeated, thankfully, "She is safe, she is unwounded, my pretty love, and all will yet be well." And then, on her knees, with sobs and sighs she poured forthher bitter remorse. "O, careless mother to, negligent guardian of his child! If in her innocence she had given her heart, how

She had "only a headache," she said, but it was a very bad one, and as soon as she had swallowed the one cap of tea, which was all she could be presented to tea, which was all she could be persuaded to take, Mrs. Sherwood carried her off to her own bedroom and placed her on a couch, where he law all the where she lay all the morning, silently watching her mother's preparations for her journey to London.

"We shall hear from cousin Sue by tomorrow's post," the mother said, cheerfully —"possibly by this afternoon's; and you can go the day after to-morrow. That will can go the day after to morrow. That will give us time to fix your train and get the new dress home from the dressmaker's."

Katie winced a little. That new dress had been ordered for a large afternoon party to which Mrs. Witherby wished to escort her, and she had anticipated it with so much pleasure. She hated that new dress now. The house was so quiet that a loud double knock, coming at about eleven o'clock, so anded through it, and echood again on poor Katie's throbbing temples, so that Mrs. Sherwood felt compelled to leave her occupation of packing and bathe them with eans.

The weather is intensely cold in Denver.

After that the communication between the hall and the quiet old house in the High street was continued every few hours. Mrs Witherby sent her "love and kind inquiries about Miss Sherwood's headache" in the evening, and the morning's post brought a formal note of invitation.
"Sir Ralph Heathcote and Mrs. Witherby present their compliments to Mrs. and Mis Sherwood, and request the pleasure of their company at dinner on Tuesday, the — inst. [three weeks later] at eight o'clock.

Under the head of "Miscellaneous" Mr. Miller renewed his objection to insurance on public buildings, and was supported by Mr. Calvin. Mr. Mowat explained the present position of the boundary dispute. Mr. Wood made a statement as to the mode of distribution of the reports of the Agricultural commission. The sitting closed with a debate on the Boatswain of an ocean steamer to seamen way.

At the meeting of the grand lodge of the above order yesterday the financial report showed that last year the order numbered 1150 members, whereas at the present time the number of members was 3189, or an increase of over 200 per cent. An insurance of $6,378,00C is now being carried by the order throughout the province, and during ings closed.

THE REVIVAL SEASON.

Rev. Mr. Hammond's Meetings in Sherbourn Street Methodist Church Yesterday morning at ten o'clock Rev. E. The man who sits on Mr. Meredith's left | P. Hammond began his second day's labor n the legislative chamber, and who looks in the revival work which he has instituted is Mr. Morris, M.P.P. for East Toronto. He seems like an uneasy spirit who haunts the place. He does not walk about it—he lurks through it. You meet him going stealthly, through the corridors with an expression on his face that one would expect to see in the middle of July on the frontal piece of a native of the fever and ague districts of Michigan,

HE STEALS INTO THE CHAMBER like one who has come there for comfort, but is not at all sure of getting it. His nod as he recognizes a friend in the galleries is sad, and he drops his head again with the air of a sick man who has made an effort which has partially exhausted him. He has not the healthy, masculine vigor of Mr. Meredith or his right, nor the inflated majesty of Mr. Lauder on his left; neither

DAVID MILLAR

COR. QUEEN STREET AND DENISON AVENUE,

Has completed a satisfactory stock taking. The enterprise exhibited in occupying such a large store has been rewarded by a trade having been done of almost double the previous year. D. M. has imported from England this season many leading lines, and will continue to direct his attention to the best interest of the people.

In the meantime the remainder of Winter Goods will be pushed off at reasonable prices.

Perhaps the small boy did not hope for two feet of snow this morning instead of one inch. Perhaps he wasn't thinking ef another duel with the street car company.

The villain pursues him yet. A kind-hearted gentleman gave a quarter to a beggar, who cost the city thirty cents for a waggon to take him to the station house an hour afterwards.
