Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Family Physic, and for curing Constipation, Jaundice, Indigestion, Pimples, Eruptions, Headache, Erysipelas, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Dropsy, Puffiness of Face, Neuritis, as a Diaper Pill, for Purifying the Blood.

Are the most effective and congenial purgative ever discovered. They are mild, but effectual in their operation, moving the bowels surely and without pain. Although gentle in their operation, they are still the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, cleansing the stomach and bowels, and even the blood. In small doses of one pill a day, they stimulate the digestive organs and promote vigorous health.

Ayer's Pills have been known for more than a quarter of a century, and have obtained a world-wide reputation for their virtues. They correct diseased action in the several assimilative organs of the body, and are so composed that obstructions within their range can rarely withstand or evade them. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of everybody, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, the safest and best physic for children. By their aperient action they grippe much less than the common purgatives, and never give pain when the bowels are not inflamed. They reach the vital fountains of the blood, and strengthen the system by freeing it from the elements of weakness.
Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, these PILLS may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

IVY.
BY EDGAR PARVETTY.

Ill canst thou bide in alien lands like Whose home is overseas Among manorial halls, parks wide and Fair
Trenches antique, or where Long 'hedges flower in spring, and one may hawk
To corollings from old England's lovely Lark!

Ill canst thou bide where memories are so brief,
That that hath bathed the leaf
Deep in the shadowy past and known
Of crumbled queans and kings;
That whose green kindred in years half forgot
Robert the gray battlements of proud Camelot.

Through all thy fibres' intricate expanse Hast thou breathed sweet romance!
Ladies that long are dust thou hast beheld,
In dreamy days of old;
Watched in broad castle-courts the chafed steed fret,
The glittering knight, the gaudy banner-
ed and there
And thou hast seen, on lordly ancient lawns,
The timorous dappled fawns:
Hears sensitive pages with their suave lute-play
Some low Provencal lay; Marked beauteous dames through arched chambers glide,
With lady graceful staghouads at their side

And thou hast gazed on splendid cavalcades
Of cool, matrons, maids, Winding from castle-gates on merry morns,
With golden pearls of horns,
In velvet and brocades, in plumes and silk,
With falcons, and with palfreys white as milk!

Through convent casement thou hast peered and there
Viewed the meek nun at prayer;
Seen through rich panes dyed purple, gold,
or rose,
The old elf of folios:
On abbey-wild heard wild laughs thrill thy vine
When the fat, tinsured priests quafed ruby wine!

O ivy! having lived in times like these,
Here art thou ill at ease,
For thou art one with ages past away,
Short retrospect, slight ancestry is ours;
But thy dark leaves clothe history's haughty towers!

The Fatal Marriage.

Your future is dark. I see much trouble before me: I see bloodshed, violence, and worst of all, murder! I—With a piercing cry, Inex Opher drew her hand from the clasp of the gypsy woman, who flung the silver at her feet, daring her to accept of it. Inex, who had been lost to view. She had noticed the girl, had begged to tell her fortune, and this was the result. Pale, trembling in Narrow, indeed, she had consented to turn to her humble home, in the hope of which she was standing. As she crossed the threshold, her mother, a sternlooking woman, met her. She did not notice her daughter's agitation, exclaiming—
"Your uncle, John Morton, will be here this evening. You must take care not to offend him, as he is very peculiar. I have not seen him for almost twenty years, but I have no foregone my foolish marriage, I feel sure!"

Her daughter sank into the nearest seat, and her large gray eyes wandered wearily over the scanty furniture of the room.
"He is wealthy, is he not?" she asked, in low measured tones.

"Yes, indeed," she answered, "but to become his wife, his fortune appears precisely as the future, and she listened, and noted everything. It was a singular brothel. Naturally they lingered sometime, and when they finally turned homeward, the moon had risen, and was flooding the landscape with a soft, delicious light. As they went slowly on, he plucked an apray of myrtle, placed it in her hair, and bent over to kiss her. As he did so, and just as their lips met, the report of a pistol rang out, and with a cry of agony, and tossing up his arms wildly in the air, Walter Leroy dropped senseless at Inex's feet. At the same time the figure of a man dashed through the tangled shrubbery to the left of them and disappeared down the lane."

The girl's wild screams soon brought assistance. Walter was carried to the hall and a physician summoned, who pronounced him dead, but not dangerously wounded. Search for the assassin was made, but no trace could be found, and the whole affair was wrapped in the deepest mystery.
Young Leroy had no enemies, and why his life was attempted in so cowardly a manner, was beyond the conjecture of the excited neighborhood.

For a long time his life seemed to hang upon a thread. Inex watched over him with a solicitude that was almost painful.
She administered to his wants, no one daring deny her the privilege. At length the physician pronounced the crisis passed, and Still Walter seemed no better. On the contrary, he grew weaker and weaker, and finally the lamp of life went out altogether.
His last breath was spent on bestowing a benediction on Inex. The girl appeared stunned; she uttered no word; she shed no tear.

At the request of Mr. Morton a post-mortem examination was made, and a terrible discovery ensued. The physicians unanimously agreed that Walter Leroy had not died from the effects of the wound, but from the result of slow poisoning, which had been introduced into his food and medicine surreptitiously.

A season of intense excitement followed.

When John Morton returned, both Inex and her mother accompanied him. He was charmed with his niece and he at once resolved to make her his heir and introduce her into society. The girl bore her new position with dignity. Lifting from poverty into eminence, she remained unchanged. Her uncle seemed only too anxious to repay her for past neglect. He had the hall and ground renovated; an army of workmen kept the place in confusion for weeks, then, their labor done, they disappeared.

Inex had a suite of rooms which were exquisitely furnished; her wardrobe was inexhaustible; her every wish was gratified; the elements which surrounded her were happy, elegance and wealth. Yet she was not tasteless. Down in the secret recesses of her heart was cherished a secret which embittered her very existence.

Inex was sitting in her room one morning, two or three months after her arrival at the hall, wrapped in thought. She had pushed aside the curtains of heavy damask and priceless lace, disclosing a landscape varied and beautiful. The groves of tall fir-trees and magnolias, the sheets of timber which skirted the stream, the long fields of cotton thronged with negroes plucking the fleecy treasure, formed a most delightful picture. Inside, birds chirped in gilded cages, the gold fish darted to and fro in the aquarium, the atmosphere was heavy with perfume of flowers which were arranged with artistic skill throughout the room, and the magic touch of gold was everywhere visible.

A rap sounded on the outer door, and in reply to her invitation, her uncle entered.
"Inex," he said, as soon as the usual salutations were exchanged, "I have had a visitor."

"Who?" she asked indifferently, and without looking up.
"Guy Barton."
At the mention of that name the girl started violently. She was no longer indifferent. The color slowly left her cheeks, her very lips grew pale, and her eyes glowed with an expression of positive terror.
For a moment she seemed to control herself with an effort.

"What did he say?" she asked huskily.
"Nothing. What could he say?" said Morton, sternly.
The girl was silent.

Her uncle sat down beside her, and took her hand.
"Inex, this is nonsense. You should have told me of this attachment before.
But no matter, I have sent him away for forever. He is no match for a lady in your position. Besides, I have different views for you. Your mother made an unfortunate marriage; and I am determined that you shall not."

Then he unfolded his plans. He had chosen for her husband Walter Leroy, the son of a neighboring planter, and who had been a constant and not unwelcome visitor at the hall since Inex had been there.

"You are my heiress, Inex," he concluded, "and I expect you to submit to my authority. When I am dead you will be free to follow your own inclinations." These words rung in her head for many days, and afterwards were fraught with terrible significance.

That evening, while walking through the grounds, she met Walter Leroy. She grew pale; the magnolias blossoms fell from her hand, while a violent tremor but he grasped her hand and held her firmly.

"Release me," she cried, faintly struggling to free herself.
"Not until you answer one question," he said, determinedly. "I have broken the faith of my father, and now I have to decide my fate. I love you; will you be my wife?"

"With a great effort she wrenching herself from his grasp.
"I cannot listen to you. I am—"
She staggered, murmured some broken sentences, and would have fallen on the ground had he not sprung forward and caught her in his arms, and supported her to a seat. Soon she rallied, and drew away from him, while a violent tremor convulsed her frame. The young man noticed the movement, and it stung him sharply.

"Am I so hateful to you," he said, bitterly, "that my presence inspires horror?
I fancied, a few days since, that you regarded me with something like affection."

"You were not wrong."
"It is too true, that you love me?"
"It is too true, that the faint reply." Leroy knelt at her feet, and so well did he plead his cause that she consented to become his wife, his fortune apparently banishing her scruples. In glowing terms he pictured their future, and she listened,
and noted everything. It was a singular brothel. Naturally they lingered sometime, and when they finally turned home-
ward, the moon had risen, and was flooding the landscape with a soft, delicious

upon a thread. Inex watched over him
with a solicitude that was almost painful.
She administered to his wants, no one daring deny her the privilege. At length the physician pronounced the crisis passed,
and Still Walter seemed no better. On the contrary, he grew weaker and weaker, and finally the lamp of life went out altogether.
His last breath was spent on bestowing a benediction on Inex. The girl appeared stunned; she uttered no word; she shed
no tear.

At the request of Mr. Morton a post-mortem examination was made, and a terrible discovery ensued. The physicians unanimously agreed that Walter Leroy
had not died from the effects of the wound,
but from the result of slow poisoning, which
had been introduced into his food and
medicine surreptitiously.

A season of intense excitement followed.

THE RAILWAY AWARD.

A Bill has, we understand, been introduced into the Local Legislature for the purpose of setting aside the award lately made in the Western Counties Railway. Petitions unanimously both for and against the Bill, have been sent on to the Legislature, as our readers are aware, from the debates of the House; but whether the Bill has yet passed, we have not learned. We trust, however, that the Members from our County will look to it and see that no injustice is done to the County. We have just emerged from a heavy Railway tax on the W. & A. Railway. The amount of taxation on this last mentioned line, was largely incurred by having the first award set aside, and a new commission appointed to re-appraise the damage. We have no desire other than the welfare of the County at large, in referring to the matter, and trust that the same motives, unfettered by any partisan feelings, may actuate our Local members upon whom, as the representatives of the people, mainly rests the responsibility of Local Legislation.

—We were invited a short time ago to inspect the safe recently furnished for the Clerk of the Peace office for the County. The article in question was built by R. Flanery & Co., Safe Manufacturers, St. John, and reflects great credit on the builders. It has double doors outside, with a corresponding set of double doors inside, within which are deposited the archives of the County. This is an article long wanted in the office of the C. P., and has, we are convinced, not been purchased any too soon. Hereafter valuable papers were left with this officer, without any better protection than the four sides of a wooden building or, at best, a substantial wooden box. The purchase of the safe was entrusted to A. W. Corbett and Edward Bartheaux, Esquires, a committee appointed by the sessions for that purpose; and we congratulate them on their judicious purchase of an article just suited to the requirements of our County. We trust that the other Public Offices of the County will, as the finances of the County admit, be furnished with similar safe repositories for the documents pertaining to each.

DONATION VISIT.

On Monday evening the postponed donation visit to the Rev. Mr. Clark Baptist Minister of this Town, was held. Although the roads were in a bad condition for travelling, the parsonage was literally crowded by the friends of the Rev. gentleman, a fact which speaks well for the estimation in which Mr. Clark is held, not only by his church but by the community generally. Chas. Rumsey, Esq., was called to the chair about half past eight o'clock when J. B. Reed, Esq., in some well chosen remarks, presented "the purse" containing the handsome sum of $137. Mr. Clark replied in an exceedingly happy manner, thanking his friends for their liberal donation. He also referred to the work of grace that had begun and was still going on in the community. Rev. Mr. Murray, T. W. Chesley and J. G. H. Parker, Esquires, followed with addresses. The donation visit was one of the pleasantest ever held at the parsonage, the utmost good feeling and harmony prevailing throughout. We regretted to learn during the evening, that a little son of the Reverend gentleman's hurt his shoulder quite seriously by falling from a hay loft on the premises.

CHILDREN CONCERT.—The Annapolis "Journal" of last week contained quite a lengthy report of a concert given in that town on Thursday evening, the 22nd inst., by the children composing the class under the tuition of Mr. Thos. Hall. The concert was tendered for his benefit, and the audience were so well pleased with the performance, that they were not willing to break up without giving some expressions of their feelings. The Rev. T. A. Higgins therefore moved that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered Mr. Hall, for the efforts he had voluntarily made in behalf of the children, and for the interest of the evening. This motion was seconded by W. J. Shannon, Esq., and cheerfully responded to by the entire audience.

—A subscriber, living on Handly Mountain, sends us the following, which we with pleasure give a place in our columns:

"There is now in our possession, an old family Bible of very remote date, in which is contained a record of my father's family, penned by the hand of my beloved mother, long gone to rest. BAPTISM.—On Sunday last twenty-three persons were baptized in the Foster Mill Brook, by the Rev. John Clark, Pastor of the Baptist Church of this town. They were received into the church after the conclusion of the morning service. Six candidates were baptized and received the Sunday before. Three others received by card, making thirty-two in all.

Four persons were baptized at Lawrence town, on Sunday last, by the Rev. Mr. Robbins.

EXTRA TRAIN, W. & A. R.—On and after the 2nd of April, an extra train will run on Mondays, to connect with steamer "Squad" at Annapolis, which on that date commences her three trips across the Bay, viz: Every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday. This train will carry passengers and mails only, and will leave Bridgetown at 2.00 p. m., for Annapolis, and at 3.35 p. m., for Halifax.

OVER NIAGARA.

From the Niagara Falls Gazette, March 5.

About noon on Monday, a stranger, apparently about 35 years of age, dressed in dark clothes, with a black slouch hat and a small overcoat, his face smoothed with the exception of an Auburn moustache, applied at the upper gate to respecter Park for admittance, and, after paying his fee entered and walked along the bank towards the top of the falls, where he was stopped by a man in a white coat. The man in the white coat, who was evidently an Englishman, asked the stranger to follow him to the top of the falls. The stranger, who was evidently an American, complied with the request. THE WINTER OF 1833-4.

A correspondent of the Huntington "Gleaner," "F. W. S.," gives an account of the above winter, which, in view of the remarkably mild February we have had, is interesting. He says the winter was not so frosty as that which closed the year 1833; that there was a week of cold, the mercury reaching 18 below zero in February, and that there was almost a constant thaw till the end of the month. In the third week the snow was nearly gone. There were two thunder storms; that on the 20th did much damage. Flies and crows appeared on the 24th. Snow came on the 26th, and there was sleighing till the 28th, when it melted away. On the 23rd inst., when operations were begun, the cattle were feeding outside, and the rivers were open. On the 20th a thunder storm occurred, with heavy rain, followed by frost and snow. It became warmer again on the 30th, and on April 3rd froge were heard croaking and birds whistling. The steamer "Franklin" was running from St. Johns to Lake Plouffe, and on the 11th, Plouffe, in the general, and some were sowing. Mosquitoes were lively on the 7th, and trees were given up. There was occasional thunder and showers of snow, but the weather was far advanced by the 21st, the maple was nearly in full leaf, and wheat above ground. In the first week of May there was frost and thunder, and on the 13th inst., followed by rain, which however did not hurt vegetation, as the snow protected it. The summer was hot and dry, and harvest early, the crop being tolerably good.

DEATH AT THE POLICE STATION.

Last night about eleven o'clock a newspaper carrier named Fisher, in passing up Broom's Lane, north of the Garrison church, observed a man lying on the ground, and a drunken man who lay amidst the slush and dirt of the street, in a hollow part of the road. The girl informed him that the man had been "struck" by a horse and died six or seven o'clock, and she could not awaken him. Fisher shouted for a policeman, and presently Policemen Morgan and Keating arrived. They blew a whistle, and Sergeant Dillon and Policeman Adams came to their assistance. They carried the man as far as Jacob street, where they secured a wagon, and conveyed him to the station. On account of his wet and cold condition, they laid the man down in front of the fire in the large room, where he was made comfortably warm and dry. He lay there until six o'clock this morning, when he was removed to the inner room, but not placed in a cell. At this time he was breathing regularly, as he had been during the night. About half-past seven, on the policeman going in to ascertain if the man was dead, they found that his breathing was suspended, and that all appearance of life was dead. The City Medical Officer was at once sent for, but too late to be of any avail.—Halifax Reporter of the 24th inst.

FIRE AT CHESTER.—The house of Mr. Charles Beiler, Ericsville, Clements, was destroyed by fire on Monday last. It is supposed to have caught from some defect in the flue of the kitchen. When discovered, he was burning through the roof. Mr. Beiler, with his two eldest boys, was in the woods, and before his wife could get to the nearest neighbors and back with help it was too far advanced to be put out. The youngest child, a boy of about three years, was asleep in the house, and was saved by his mother with difficulty.—Annapolis Journal.

The new bridge across the East river between New York and Brooklyn is the longest ever projected. It is 3475 feet long, and the anchorage, with a clear span of 1695 feet while the Niagara bridge has a span of only 821, and the Cincinnati bridge is 2220 feet long, with a span of 1057. The longest span of the St. Louis bridge is 620 feet.

THE KINGAN HORROR.

The Telegraph publishes some new developments in this remarkable case, the inquest on which has been postponed till April 9th. Kingan's brother thinks that he was murdered, and some of the facts which came out at the inquest certainly have a suspicious look. The cap found with the head of the deceased was two and a half inches long, and it now appears that the agent at Halifax sold the ticket to Kingan and another man together. The brother states that deceased had $100,000 on him when he left New York. He has the numbers of the bonds which he carried and he intends to have detectives investigate the matter.

Lost at Sea.—Captain Merril, of the Bar silver brigantine "Ann" Bogart, which arrived here yesterday, from Antigua (48 days round passage), reports: On Saturday last, Charles Clark, son of Edward Clark of Bear River, while walking on the wharf, was thrown overboard by a lurch of the vessel and drowned. The vessel was heading heavily at the time, and he had been warned against walking on the wharf by the second mate. Every effort was made, unsuccessfully, to save him.—Digby Courier.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS AT WINDSOR.—We understand that there are good prospects for the County of Annapolis, in the coming spring. All the plaster on the wharves had been sold, it is said. Quite a number of new buildings will be erected, and the several factories appear to have plenty of work. So if we get a free bridge to Falmouth and steam communication on the Basin, times must look up, in a local sense.—Windsor Mail.

The Department of Agriculture reports that the corn crop of this year will reach about 1,285,000,000 bushels. Illinois leads the list of States with 250,000,000 bushels. Next in rank are Iowa (150,000,000), Ohio, Indiana, Missouri and Kansas. The price of corn is the highest in Massachusetts (95 cents). The wheat crop of this year will reach nearly 250,000,000 bushels.

A Times Paris despatch says an Amsterdam banker recently offered a Russian loan of 200,000,000 roubles, at 8 per cent. interest. The negotiation fell through, in consequence of the banker insisting on disarmament, and an engagement to raise no other loan for five years as conditions for the one he offered.

A thief entered the Indiana National Bank at Indianapolis, placed a small box, which he carried, upon the floor, stepped upon it, reached over the railing, grabbed $30,000, and fled before those present could get a glimpse of his face.

Notice. Notice.

ALL PERSONS having legal demands against the estate of JACOB DE BRUIN, late of Wilmut, Farmer, deceased, must render their accounts, fully attested to, within twelve months from this date, and Local and other matters.

Congress will be convened in extra session on June 4th. Work on Hell Gate has been entirely suspended, the appropriation being exhausted. The birthday anniversary of the Emperor William, at Berlin, was a brilliant affair. It is officially announced that the Very Rev. Dr. Hannan has been appointed Archbishop of Halifax. A gold pencil that was lost on Morris Island during the siege of Fort Sumter was found last week, having been lost fifteen years. Out of fifty-five samples of so-called vines sent from Hamburg to England, twenty-four proved to be no wine at all. One hundred live cattle, two hundred and fifty sheep, and six hundred quarters of beef, were shipped per steamship "Holland" for London on the 23rd inst., from New York. The "Daily News" of St. Petersburg correspondent asserts that if peace is not signed between Turkey and Montenegro before the middle of April the Russian army will cross the Pruth. The Duke of Westminster has receded not to renew the lease of the public houses on his London property, in order to give coffee shops a fair chance. The negro Bogie, the Tichborne claimant's servant, has just died, maintaining stoutly to the last that Dartmouth convict is really Sir Roger Tichborne. The oldest harp in Europe, if not in the world, is to be seen at Trinity College, Dublin. It is said to have belonged to King Brian Borromh, in the tenth century. Not one American vessel of any description cleared for ports in England, Ireland or Scotland from the harbor of New York during the month of February. Miss Emma White sends to our sanctorium the first mayflower. Hope the "better half" won't hear of this—Journal. If she does we know who will "Get down the Banks."—Ed. Mox. The two hottest days ever known in Australia were the 15th and 16th of January, when the thermometer registered 105 degrees in the shade at Melbourne. A proposition for the introduction of postal cards for correspondence all over the world at a postage of one penny will be submitted to the Universal Postal Union to be held at Berlin. There is a family at North Yarmouth, Me., consisting of nine children, the youngest of whom is fifty-eight years old, and the eldest eighty. There has never been a death in the family. One hundred and fifty-three emigrants left New York city late for Sydney, New South Wales. Among the passengers there were 24 married couples, 31 single men, 8 single women, and 14 children. Advice from San Domingo to the 15th, state that peace is re-established in the North-West, owing to suspicions that Hayti had joined the revolutionists, and difficulty is feared with that Government. There will be a very gay Easter at Paris this year. Both the Prince and Princess of Wales will probably visit the French capital, with a large number of the nobility. Marshall MacMahon will give several dinners, balls and entertainments at the Elisees. The oldest Christian church in the world is probably one in Algeria, in the pavement of which is a stone with an inscription stating that it was built in 333 A. D., soon after the conversion of Constantine. Several portions of the building are still in good repair. John D. Lee, the Mormon, recently convicted and sentenced to death, has made a confession, implicating Brigham Young and other leading Mormons with himself, in the Mountain Meadows massacre, in which a large party of immigrants were slaughtered. The massacre occurred upwards of twenty years ago. PROMPT PAYMENT.—On Wednesday the 21st, inst., the claim papers for Messrs. Gava's loss in the North British & Mercantile Insurance Co., were sent to the general agent, Halifax; and last night they received a cheque for the amount through Mr. W. M. deBlouis, the agent here.—Journal. The other day in Alton, Ill., a wedding party rendered the office of the town clerk very busy. The groom was thirty-four years old, while the bride was said to be but fourteen, and the clerk refused to grant a license without the consent of the girl's parents. Thereupon the father came forward with some indignation and said that his full consent had been given, and that, in fact, the girl was a widow, having already been buried one husband. The certificate was at once made out.

Telegraphic News.

Four moose, about a fortnight ago, were killed by a party of hunters from Niotaux, between Sorag and Waterloo lakes, Albany. Three Trips a Week.—Until further notice the steamer "Soud" will make three trips a week between St. John, Digby, and Annapolis, commencing on Monday next, the 2nd of April. The "World" positively states that Tweed will be released on surrendering his property and giving evidence against Sweeney and others of the ring. Sweeney is closely watched and will not be allowed to leave the city. Haytien advances to the 11th inst., state that disturbances are feared from opponents of President Cavai. Rumors prevail of a rupture with France because of the failure of the present Government to recognize the loan made in Paris by the Dominican Government. The Queen's state saloon on the Great Western Railway, England, is made entirely of boiler plate, and so lined and padded that if the carriage were to go over an embankment and roll to the bottom the chances are that the occupants would escape uninjured. An old man named Springman went to Washington to be inaugurated as President. He claimed to have documents from the Louisiana Returning Board showing he should be inaugurated in New Orleans. He will be sent to the insane Asylum, making the sixth that has come so far to be inaugurated. Montreal is excited over the mysterious case of a dead child brought to the Grey Nunnery. A midwife went to a strange house, led by a masked man, to her work. When the child was born, the man told her to carry it off or he would throw it in the fire. The mother is a young and handsome widow. Seven Chinamen are partners in business in San Francisco. A creditor, finding it hard work to collect a debt, learned that money was in the safe; the safe had seven different locks, each partner had one key, and they had to be unanimous before the money could be got at. A singular suicide recently occurred in Drowana, Australia. A Greek who had become insane through poverty, poured a quantity of melted lead down his throat. He died after many hours of torture, and after death a lump lead nearly half a pound in weight was taken from his stomach. The New York Post Office has received from the West a mass of gold found in the ruins of a postal car burned at Seden, Indiana, a few days ago. Gold coin to the amount of $25,000 was fused into this mass by the heat, and the lump will be kept in the office until some plan has been devised for distributing it among its owners. Recent excavations at Big Bone, Boone County, Ky., have brought to light an immense number of animal remains. Among them are immense teeth, tusks, jaws with teeth to them, ribs, spinal columns—in fact there are bones from nearly every part of the mastodon, besides many that are not like any ever before found at that place. A dreadful murder was committed in Boston on the morning of the 13th. Jacob Hirschfeld, doing business at No. 284 Harrison street, was found shot through the breast on the stairs of his place of business. By his side lay a pistol. A handkerchief was pushed down his throat. His empty wallet was found half way down the stairs. Three suspected persons are under arrest. Lord Nelson's parrot lately died at the age of 115 years at the Jardin des Plantes. One of the peculiarities connected with the life of this bird was this—that while on board the "Victory," during the battle of Trafalgar, the continuous firing of the cannon had such an effect as to destroy all the acquisitions which previously distinguished it, and it was incapable of uttering but "Bomb! Bomb! Bomb!" BROKE UP.—The ice in the Annapolis River broke up, and went out on Monday night, carrying with it a large amount of logs, fencing, and poles. The freshet has been very high for a number of days. On Saturday last the track of the W. A. R., about a mile above this station, was so flooded that the trains were unable to pass over it. The train from Annapolis had to transfer its passengers and mails to trolleys to the Halifax train, thus enabling them to reach their destinations. The Halifax train did the same. A Coroner's Salary in New York is said to be more lucrative than the position of President of the United States. At a late meeting of the Municipal Society of that city, Jackson S. Schultz said there were instances in which a coroner has made $50,000 a year, and now that official often made $15,000 to $20,000. He knew one case where a man died in his bath room, and it cost thousands of dollars to have the result of the coroner's investigation made to suit the relatives. The accounts of families to conceal suicide costs thousands yearly.

Special Dispatches to the Morning Chronicle.

EUROPE. LONDON, March 24.—In the House of Commons the Eastern Question was discussed. Gladstone, Fawcett, and Hartington argued that Turkey should be required to guarantee reforms, and protection to her Christian subjects. Northcote said the Government never departed from the policy of striving for better Government for the Christians in Turkey, but he could not speak out in the midst of delicate negotiations so firmly as he might at a future time. He had been struck with the injustice displayed towards Turkey during the debate; Turkey could not disarm or proceed with her reforms, nor could England ask her to disarm, while the war cloud was lowering on her frontier. A Vienna telegram says the protocol negotiations have failed. ST. PETERSBURG, March 23.—The decision of peace or war really rests with Montenegro and Turkey. The Russian Government cannot influence the Prince of Montenegro beyond a certain point, because he can appeal to a greater power than the Government—namely, the Russian people. LONDON, March 24.—The Cambridge and Oxford boat race is said to be the grandest ever rowed. The crowd was less dense than usual. Oxford won by a row-locks which, apparently, made little difference in the result. The spurt at the close was terrific, Oxford striving to retain the lead and Cambridge to head them from the ship to the winning post, which was stationed some distance above the ship. The two crews raced past the Judge's level amid a scene of the wildest excitement, ashore and aloft. Time, 24 minutes and 10 seconds. The Judge declared the race a dead heat. LONDON, March 25.—The latest mail from Scotland, known as the "Flying Scotsman," ran off the rails yesterday, near North Perth. The engine, tender, and forward coaches were dashed to pieces. Five persons were killed and many injured, ten seriously. A Berlin correspondent telegraphs: "I had affirm confidently that the Porte, on the 20th instant, informed the Powers that it would under no circumstances assent to the Russian protocol, if the document required Turkey to demobilize before Russia." The "Telegraph" Paris correspondent asserts that the Montenegrin delegates intimated on Saturday that negotiations were considered ended. They declare they will quit Constantinople. A despatch from Rome says the condition of the Pope's health is serious. Cardinals Simoni and Valera are already preparing for the conclave. The Duke of Orleans, from Marseilles rescued from a small boat, Capt. Young and four men of the British ship "Rivulet," from Brazil for England, abandoned and sinking. NOVA SCOTIA. HALIFAX, N. S., March 23.—A fire occurred at Fugwash, this morning, about half-past six, in Levi Borden's store, above the post office, resulting in the loss of five buildings. Levi Borden's store, Peter McDonald's store and warehouse, a store belonging to Mr. Wilson, and occupied by G. C. Carter as a harness shop, and the wooden house adjoining the Palmerston building. Levi Borden's lost stock about $4,000; McDonald's store insured for $2,000; Peter McDonald's store is about $1,300; store insured for $4,000. Rain prevailed during the whole time which greatly aided in suppressing the fire. The loss sustained by Mr. Wilson is not known; considerable damage was done to his goods by removing them to the street in the rain. UNITED STATES. THREE BEAUTIFUL KEEPSAKES For Every One!! SUBSCRIBERS OF THIS PAPER, READ. THE London Publishing Company have just issued three beautiful Chromatic works of art in the shape of mottoes, which for beauty and worth are without an equal; these Chromatic Paintings comprise the following subjects: No. 1. GOD BLESS OUR HOME.—In old English type, beautifully embellished with vines and roses running through the entire work; in the centre of the letter G a mother is seen teaching her two children to repeat a prayer, while to her right are two larger figures robed in white—angels singing praises to God; the background is a beautiful landscape scene representing HOME. No. 2. THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD.—In old English type, elegantly embellished with the most beautiful vines, ferns and flowers. The central figure is here represented by the Lord as a shepherd carrying in his arm the shepherd's crook, and the lost lamb. The effect is strikingly beautiful. No. 3. PRAISE THE LORD.—Similarly embellished as the other two. The group in the centre of this motto is three half-grown children representing the angels singing "Praise the Lord." These three paintings combine the most elegant colors and designs ever depicted by an artist's brush. The effect is most beautiful and pleasing; they should adorn the walls of every family in the land. These works of art are given to you on the following conditions, which please observe closely: The cost of postage, mailing, tubing, wrapping, etc., is 25 cts. for each picture when sent singly, or 50 cts. for all three when sent to one address. The following order must be cut out and sent with 25 cts. for any one picture ordered, or 50 cts. for all three; and draw your pen through the picture you do not want.

MIDDLETON,

10th March, 1877. IMPORTANT TO ALL! THE prevalent idea that CHEAP SALES and CLEARANCE SALES are a Fraud, is in many instances a great mistake, as there are various circumstances which render such sales not only politic but necessary, such as the close of a Season, or just prior to Stock-taking, when it is always well to give one's Customers and the public the advantage of Remnants and other Bargains. My endeavour has always been to keep my stock NEW and FRESH, disliking above all things to have goods lie on my shelves from Season to Season. I therefore offer the Remnants & Balance of my Winter Stock, AT IMMENSE REDUCTIONS. It is impossible to enumerate the various lines, but I beg to assure all that in every department of DRY GOODS! MILLINERY, CLOTHING, BOOTS & SHOES, they will find GENUINE Bargains. Now is the time to buy Furs, Clothing, Wool Goods, Boots, &c. R. D. MACDONALD for next Winter. 'Can't see me?' he said at last admitted.

'Good heavens! What is the meaning of this? Has her love for me departed since I last saw her and been bestowed on another and is this the paltry manner in which she seeks to rid herself of my company and sever the connection? It is one series of falsehoods from beginning to end, and I doubly that of her own coinage, too!'

'It is strange how quickly, when suspicion is once aroused, people jump to conclusions, be they true or false; and this especially the case when two of man's strongest passions, love and jealousy, are at all concerned in the matter.'

'As this juncture the cabman approached Malcolm, who was excitedly pacing up and down the verandah which surrounded the house, and said: 'I'd like to have my fare, sir, for I must be off. I can't stay here all day unless you pay me for waiting.'

'You may remain, for I'll want you to take me back to the station, and I'll pay you for your time,' replied Malcolm. 'All right, sir,' said the man, going back to his vehicle, but wondering at the peculiar manner in which the gentleman was acting.

'I will see her!' cried Malcolm, 'and write the truth from her. The meaning of this scandalous note, in justice to myself, must be explained before I leave Malvern.'

'He rang the bell and again the servant made her appearance. 'Tell Miss Rangton that I must have a few minutes' conversation with her.'

'Miss Rangton desires me to inform you that it is impossible for her to grant your request, and wishes you to cease annoying her with such solicitations, and to leave this house immediately.'

'Mrs. Rangton, I've been robbed.' 'Yes, Malcolm, and it was that very loving woman who robbed you,' said Mrs. Rangton, laughing in a hearty laugh. 'Well, don't keep Minnie waiting any longer, but go to her, and I'll pay the cabman.'

Malcolm did as he was bidden, and when Mrs. Rangton joined the lovers they were as smiling and happy as any two affectionate mortals could be.

That day the proper officials were notified of the robbery; detectives were put on the track of the affectionate pick-pocket, and two or three days afterwards she was caught in the act of embracing another man at a station above Malvern. Malcolm got his watch and chain back but not his money; but that did not bother him, nor would it your reader of the sex masculine, if you were going to marry a pretty loving girl, with a fine marriage portion.

MISCELLANEOUS. A small bottle of Guinness' porter can be purchased anywhere in Great Britain for two pence. That is the retail price, and the profit to the manufacturer must be infinite small. Yet the mainpans of the river, and the ocean of profits realized by Messrs. Guinness is simply amazing.

A WOMAN SOLD AT AUCTION. American papers have often commented upon the fact that in some parts of England women have been sold at public auction during the last century. Yesterday, the novel sight of a woman being sold under the hammer was witnessed by hundreds of people in front of Carr's auction store.

A QUEEN PLACE TO FIND A WALETT.—Mr. George Harvey, one of the crew of the schooner Rebecca Bartlett, of Gloucester, on her last trip to Quebec, landed up a cod-fish, which upon being dressed there was found in the pouch, a wallet in fair state of preservation. Unfortunately for the fisherman, there was no money in it; but there was an old letter, and a horse car-ticket.

A curious experiment with the magnet was recently tried in London. A boy had broken a needle in the calf of his leg, and before resorting to surgical instruments, it was decided to try the effect of a powerful magnet in withdrawing the steel. After a number of experiments in different positions the needle was drawn near the surface on the opposite side of the leg from which it entered and was easily withdrawn.

A minstrel riding a pumpkin-colored sorrel perpetrated a heavy sell on a toll-keeper one day. He rode up unobserved, and turning a needle in the calf of his leg, and before resorting to surgical instruments, it was decided to try the effect of a powerful magnet in withdrawing the steel. After a number of experiments in different positions the needle was drawn near the surface on the opposite side of the leg from which it entered and was easily withdrawn.
