SOME HOPE FOR RESUMPTION OF NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE MINERS

GENERAL BELIEF THAT BOTH SIDES ARE PREPARING PROPOSALS

Lloyd George Ready But Insists on a Permanent Settlement and Holds For Greater Production—Talk of Two Shillings Wages Advance—No Action Yet by Other Unions.

London, Oct. 20.—The National Union of Railwaymen, the executive of the Transport Workers and the parliamentary committee of the Trades Union Congress all held meetings this morning to consider their attitude toward the coal strike, but thus far no decisions have been taken. The greatest importance attached to the National Union of Railwaymen's meeting was a full delegates' conference with power to declare a sympathetic strike without referring the matter to the union members. After approximately two hours of discussion, James Henry Thomas, general secretary of the Trades Union Congress, said that the government proposals had been reviewed and adjournment taken until tomorrow.

The executive of the Transport Workers and the Trades Union Committee continued their meetings this afternoon.

More Negotiations. London, Oct. 20.—Negotiations which might settle the strike of British miners were today believed to be assured. Government officials and labor leaders who outlined their position before the opening session of parliament, have shown their desire to reach an understanding, and belief was general today that proposals were in preparation by both sides of the controversy.

Premier Lloyd George has definitely declared he is ready to enter into negotiations, but he has laid emphasis on the fact that the government will not make a final settlement of the differences which brought about a cessation of work in British mines on last Saturday.

He has said that for a tentative wage increase, pending a complete adjustment, would not be satisfactory, as that method of meeting the present situation would threaten trouble later. Coal production, he holds, cannot be augmented, and he may submit some proposals which will deal with this phase of the situation in addition to taking up the subject of wages and the price to be charged for coal.

The morning's newspapers commented predictably on the calm and dignified one yesterday in the house of commons, the absence of provocative remarks on either side. This fact is regarded as a good omen, the papers maintaining that, though the papers still insist, the government has cleared the stage for a compromise.

Possible Basis. One possible basis for a settlement is set forth by the Daily Mail, which says if the miners are willing definitely to agree that an advance of two shillings given now may be withdrawn at the end of December if production is not increased by that time, the government will consider such a proposal. It says that the government, however, will inflexibly insist upon its position regarding production.

One of the strongest rumors relative to a possible settlement comes from the South Wales coal field, which has been recognized as the main center of disaffection and extremism. A Cardiff despatch to the London Times says it is stated here that the end of the deadlock may be reached in three or four days. The statement seems to be made with confidence and it has created a stir in this city. In the meantime, reports of the closing of industries accused of working in other trades who are looking employment through the miners' strike are showing respite.

The executive committee of the National Union of Railwaymen planned to meet today, and it was believed certain the attitude to be assumed by this organization toward the miners' strike would be considered by two weeks ago the committee decided, by the margin of one vote, not to join in the strike, but there indications that this decision may not be final.

The transport workers' union has not taken definite action on the situation as yet, but there is some apprehension that it may join forces with the coal diggers.

The London branch of the Commercial Road Transport Workers Union has already voted to strike out of sympathy with the miners.

Indians and Trappers At Odds Over Winter Weather

Easy on Coal Bins, Say the Former; Latter Not so Cheerful

Cochrane, Ont., Oct. 20.—An open winter, similar to that of two years ago, is predicted by the Indians of the north country. They base their belief on the fact that the beaver, noted for his industry and early provisioning, has not yet begun to prepare his winter quarters. They say that the beaver was similarly diligent in getting ready for cold weather in the autumn of 1918.

With coal selling at $25 a ton here this is a welcome prediction. However, the trappers do not indulge in the same cheerful outlook. They say there will be heavy snowfalls this coming winter, and they base their belief on the fact that there are more hornets' nests than usual in this section of the country.

Dawson, Y. T., Oct. 20.—Ice closed the Yukon river at Dawson on Sunday, the lowest closing on record. The extreme low water, combined with a cold snap, when the temperature reached ten below, caused the closing.

A SERIOUS ATTACK; RELATIVES CALLED

Lord Mayor of Cork Recovers After Three Hours

Was in Delirium—Irish Dominion League Asking Lloyd George for Judicial Inquiry Into Government Methods.

London, Oct. 20.—Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork suffered a serious attack of extreme delirium the 6th day of his hunger strike, said a bulletin issued by the Irish Self-Determination League this afternoon.

"All his relatives were summoned to him," the bulletin said. The attack lasted until twelve o'clock and at one o'clock the mayor had regained his normal condition. He now is quiet but not yet quite normal mentally.

For Judicial Inquiry. Dublin, Oct. 20.—The Irish Dominion League yesterday passed unanimously a resolution which was forwarded to Lloyd George and the party leaders in parliament demanding the immediate appointment of a judicial commission of inquiry into the methods of the executive and government, civil and military, that allegations may be submitted for verification.

The resolution states that the charges include numerous atrocious and indiscriminate outrages on the persons and property of citizens in large areas; murder, incendiarism and physical torture by the police in the possession. The authors of the resolution include men of the highest standing socially.

A Seizure. Belfast, Oct. 20.—A stock of revolvers, bombs, fuses and telephone apparatus was discovered by the police last night in a private house in the Ballycroyne district near Port Norman, on the Mackenzie river. Search followed the seizure of an armed man who had the address of the house in his possession. The police also are reported to have discovered documentary evidence, but they display reticence concerning the seizure.

MINE EXPLOSION KILLS 400 CHINESE

Trapped on Low Level and Smoke Causes Death of Many.

Peking, Oct. 20.—An explosion and fire in the Long-Shan coal mine of China province killed upwards of 400 Chinese laborers on last Thursday. There were 119 survivors. The accident occurred in the next to the west level, and smoke caused most of the deaths.

Grief-stricken crowds surrounded the mine, carrying off the victims as they were brought to the surface. It is reported that 180 males were seen out on Sunday. An official report says the explosion set fire to the timbers of the mine.

Throughout the west today the weather is reported as more settled, with the prospects for lower temperature.

Whether the government will take any action of these further proposals has still to be seen.

asked to be allowed to sell sugar on the basis of the replacement value of the raw material.

"We pointed out," Mr. Drummond continued, "that unless we were permitted to establish reserves with which to meet the inevitable losses that occur on a falling market, which was bound to come, we would meet with disaster. The board admitted the soundness of our contention, but refused our request. They answered that they would protect us in a falling market to the same extent that they had protected the consumer on a rising market, so we would not be driven into making a replacement value in such a market. The new board having done its best to implement the promise of its predecessor, the problem now is whether its action shall stand."

HALIFAX GROCER'S STATEMENT

Halifax, Oct. 20.—"Absolutely false," was the answer in which Michael Grocer, president of the N. S. Wholesale Grocers' Guild refused last evening to statements appearing in an advertisement appealing for "fair-play" for the sugar refiners and purporting to be the truth about sugar.

"As we pointed out in our letter to Premier Meighen," Mr. Grocer said, "the refiners hoard sugar, and if prices had remained high they would have made more millions. Now that prices have come down they are squabbling and trying to dump their burdens on the backs of the people by the aid of governmental authority. There is nothing in this statement of the refiners to change our viewpoint. Ordinarily a business man or firm takes a chance of losing when he overstocks and there is no reason why a sugar refiner should not be subject to the same law."

"Anna Eva Fay at the London Coliseum, under the most difficult conditions imaginable, makes her performance fascinatingly mysterious."

"Science has long since accepted mental telegraphy as an assured thing and doubtless Miss Fay has something to do with compelling this acceptance, for she is unquestionably an advanced pupil in the realm of thought transmission, without the intervention of physical forces or agencies."

They play the Imperial here next Wednesday and Thursday in their piquant wartime domestic extravaganza play, "The Law Divine"—something with a twist that will hit home in every place they play, no matter how small; but it also points a charming moral.

At Your Widow's Service

The holder of any Imperial Life policy may direct that after his death the Company shall act as trustee of the proceeds of his insurance. For instance:

He may specify that interest only on the proceeds shall be paid to his widow during her lifetime leaving the principal sum intact for distribution to other dependents after her death.

And he may arrange that the interest shall be paid her in either monthly, quarterly, half-yearly or yearly instalments.

While in the calculation of the instalments a definite rate of interest is guaranteed, such payments in the case of participating policies will be increased by sharing in the interest which the Company earns in excess of this guaranteed rate.

This, and several other plans of settlement under which the Company's financial services are available to the beneficiaries under Imperial policies, are explained fully in our new booklet, "Safeguard Your Legacy." Write now for a free copy. It's most interesting.

T. G. ROBERTS HEARD IN INTERESTING ADDRESS Captain Theodore Goodridge Roberts, a native son of New Brunswick, addressed the Canadian Club at Bond's last night. His address was straightforward and in places humorous as he dealt with the varieties of military writings for the chronicling of the events of the great war. He said that while in Flanders he wrote an article on trench warfare and one on minor offensive operations. Upon arrival in England he found that the writings attributed to him were not recognizable by him as his own work, as they had been altered by a man who had been writing for the South African war and favored a florid style of writing. Fearing even more disastrous results if the work was changed, Captain Roberts asked that the book be left as it was, but disclaimed authorship of the writing in its present form. He dealt with war diaries and spoke of the influence of fiction writers on war writings. He also spoke of the accounts of the same action written by the O. C. of a battalion and the second in command, which often differed materially in fact. Regarding war poetry he said that with the exception of Canon Scott and Col. John McCrae he thought that there had been no before-the-war poets who wrote poetry during the war.

Woman of Seventy After Life of Toil and Penury Gets Million

Daughter of Putnam — Left in Orphanage in New Orleans She Was Lost to Sight.

Waverly, Ohio, Oct. 20.—An old woman opened the door of the tiny wooden shack on the side of an Ohio road. She stood with her weather-beaten, furrowed face peering from beneath voluminous sunbonnet. Her hands, fanned with the toil of seventy years, pressed nervously against her bent body. "Are you from the city?" she asked. The visitor answered "Yes. Are you Mrs. Richardson?"

"That's me," the old woman interposed. "I'm Aunt Mary." Her voice dropped to a whisper as her watery eyes looked through the patched screen door toward the automobile waiting in the dusty road.

"Have you bring the million dollars?" he asked. A horse's neigh filled the tiny house standing with its nose pressed against the kitchen door was a white mare.

The visitor explained that he had sought no million; but had come to talk to Mrs. Richardson about her being discovered after a sixty-year search as the daughter and heiress of Henry W. Putnam, San Francisco millionaire.

The story the visitor had heard was that Aunt Mary was the long lost daughter of Henry W. Putnam, the multi-millionaire, who died in San Francisco in 1915, leaving behind him an estate estimated at $80,000,000.

In 1849 Putnam, heading west to make his fortune, had left his four-year-old son, Mary, and her twin sister, in an orphanage in New Orleans. He had taken his son, Henry, jr., with him instead of hunting gold along with the all-American "forty-niners." Putnam bought a spring and supplied water to the miners of San Francisco, laying the foundation for his fortune.

Grown rich, his fortune increasing daily, the inventor started his hunt for his daughters. Mary had been adopted by a family named Lewis and disappeared. Her twin sister had become Mrs. Gilbert and had died. The son had become Henry W. Putnam, jr., New York multi-millionaire. After the inventor's death, Mrs. Wallace's grand-daughter moved from Redondo Beach, California, to Ohio. By coincidence they established themselves near Mrs. Mary Richardson's tiny farm.

Aunt Mary's relationship was thus established. And word came from Henry, jr., in New Orleans, that he was coming to call upon his sister, whom he hadn't seen for seventy years, to share his father's estate with her.

NOT A COMMODITY SAYS HENRY FORD

Labor Not to Be Looked on as Thing to Be Bought and Sold.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 20.—Henry Ford believes the labor problems cannot be solved until the world ceases to look upon labor as a commodity that can be bought and sold, according to Dr. S. S. Marquis of the Ford Motor Company, and official spokesman for Mr. Ford. Dr. Marquis made the statement in an address to the Vortex Club.

Dr. Marquis' position is one that requires daily dealings with 70,000 people employed by the Ford Motor Company. Through the homes of these workers his influence extends to 250,000 people. "In my talks with Mr. Ford about my work," Dr. Marquis said, "we discussed the minimum wage scale he inaugurated six years ago. Mr. Ford explained he raised the wages of his unskilled workers to the same height as his skilled workers because of three considerations:

"Because every man who does an honest day's work is entitled to sufficient wholesome food for his family and himself.

"That he is entitled to sufficient money so that he will not have to send his children to work before they have finished their schooling.

"That he is entitled to sufficient wages so that he will not have to worry, if he is prudent, about his old age."

Mr. Ford explained his profit-sharing plan in the following words, according to Dr. Marquis:

"My first duty is to give back a share of the profits to the workmen whose labor made them possible. They are entitled to a share. But I do not believe I should found institutions or endow charities to help them. I believe they should have money in their pockets to do with as they like. It is better that a man should have a bath tub in his own home than a dozen showers in the factory in which he works. His time after he leaves the factory should be his own. He should not be coddled."

WOMAN WINS BIG VERDICT

Jury Decides Payne Whitney Must Pay Mrs. Bloodgood $40,000.

New York, Oct. 20.—A jury before Supreme Court Justice Cullen has returned a verdict for $40,000 against Payne Whitney in a suit of Mrs. Edith Bloodgood, a theatrical costume, to recover for injuries sustained when Mr. Whitney's car collided with one in which Mrs. Bloodgood was riding on Jackson Avenue, near Third Street, Queens on June 18, 1917. Mrs. Bloodgood received permanent injuries, the testimony showed, when the Whitney car went on the wrong side of a truck in attempting to pass it, and collided with the Bloodgood machine.

The case was tried once before and the jury disagreed, because some of the jurors wanted to give a verdict for more than the $30,000 sued for. Mrs. Bloodgood then got permission to amend her complaint and ask for $100,000.

Canada's Sons of the Sea

The Navy League has 2000 Canadian lads in continuous training for the Sea. These boys are trained in the Nelson Attributes of—

- Self-Reliance
- Power of Initiative
- Fearlessness of Responsibility
- Fertility of Resource

Britain, the Greatest Maritime Power, Supports Her Mercantile Training Ships Wholly by Voluntary Public Contributions, Because it is Realized that the Sailor is a National Asset.

It takes six times as long to train a seaman as it does to build a ship.

Maritime strength cannot be achieved in a year or even a decade. Its growth can only be commensurate with the development of sea-conscious spirit in the nation.

The continuous training of over two thousand Canadian lads, in the Boys' Naval Brigades of the Navy League of Canada, is to-day having an effect upon our maritime future.

Only through this medium can the foundation be laid of trained Canadian seamen for our ships.

Since May last, sixty of these lads have completed their training and passed into the Canadian Merchant Navy. Fifty more are on the new ships of the re-organized Royal Canadian Navy.

Under the guidance of Experienced Sea Minds, it is being planned to give chosen lads from the Boys' Naval Brigades an ocean-going education second to none, so that Canada will have efficient master seamen.

The Merchant Navy of any nation is its first step to sea power.

Public opinion demands that this work be maintained. From the public, then, must come the funds.

BOUNDARY ARISES

Points Developed in Connection with Labrador's Wealth of Pulpwood.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 4.—(Associated Press Correspondence)—Recent surveys of Labrador which have disclosed immense resources of timber suitable for pulp and paper manufacture have led to a revival of efforts to bring about a determination of the boundary line between Newfoundland and the Canadian province of Quebec. This line has never been laid down by actual survey and its various definitions as given in documents issued at intervals in the last century and a half are so vague that government officials do not know just how much of Labrador belongs to Newfoundland and how much to Canada.

That Labrador is rich in many natural resources, including enormous water-power, has long been known, but the practicability of utilizing its forests for paper making was not demonstrated until the world-wide paper shortage led to exhaustive investigations of the territory. This resulted in applications by promoters to the Newfoundland government for timber limits in Labrador. As these could not be acted upon until it was determined whether or not Newfoundland owned the land in question, representatives of this colony were sent to London late in the summer to discuss with eminent English counsel the preparation of a formal draft of Newfoundland's Labrador claims as opposed to those of Canada.

The coast of Labrador was annexed to Newfoundland in 1763. Ten years later, owing to difficulties arising out of grants made to persons under the French rule, it was changed to Canadian jurisdiction. In 1899 it was again transferred to Newfoundland and has since been attached to this colony.

The difficulty arises over different interpretations of the words "coast of Labrador." One view is that Newfoundland can claim only the coast between Blanc Sablon and Cape Chidley, with perhaps half a mile inland, and that the rest of Labrador belongs to Canada. As defined in the letters patent constituting the office of Governor of Newfoundland, the boundary was described as a line drawn between Blanc Sablon and Cape Chidley, which would pass through the ocean in certain sections and leave large areas of the coast to the westward of the line and therefore not under Newfoundland jurisdiction.

DEAD MEN TELL NO

Many Newfoundland officials hold to the view that the correct delimitation was made in a sessional paper issued in this colony in 1884. Under the phraseology of this document Newfoundland would be entitled to thousands of square miles of the interior of the Labrador peninsula in addition to the coast.

WAS IN CUSTOMS SERVICE HERE

James M. F. Whitney Dead in North Dakota at Age of 98.

Isaac Northrup received a telegram yesterday from Mrs. S. E. Muscas, of Fargo, North Dakota, announcing the death of her grandfather, James M. F. Whitney, and adding that the body would be brought to St. John arriving on Saturday morning.

Old residents of this city will have kind recollections of Mr. Whitney, who was in the customs service here for years, but retired some fifteen or twenty years ago. He went west only a year ago, after the death of his wife, and made his home with his granddaughter in Fargo. He was in his ninety-third year, and had enjoyed good health all his long life. A man of retiring disposition he had nevertheless many warm friends. One sister, Mrs. Mary Whiting of Paradise now, survives, and lives with her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Whelpley.

The funeral service will be held in Trinity church on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

A FAST TRIP

The 91 Miles from Moncton to Chatham in Two Hours and 35 Minutes.

Chatham Gazette: The state of the highways over the province generally may be gauged from the record made in the last two days over the road from Chatham to Moncton and return. A party consisting of J. W. Brankley, S. J. Hackett and F. M. Tweedie, with Charles Spurr at the wheel, made the ninety-one mile run from here to Moncton on Wednesday in two hours and fifty minutes without a stop between the two towns. They found the roads in excellent shape and traveling at this clip was quite comfortable.

The return trip to Chatham was also a non-stop one and was made yesterday morning. The time was even better than on the first run, being two hours and thirty-five minutes, while the thirty-eight miles between Richibucto and Chatham took just one hour.

Mr. Brankley's Cadillac and constitutes a new mark in motor traveling, showing how much improvement has taken place on the main highways of the province. The express on the main line of the I. C. N. B. do not average this mark on earth highways.

A Moth Can't Eat Your Clothes And You Have Them Too!

Nina Putnam Wilcox says the only way to eat your cake and have it too, is to eat it in bed.

But the moth has a peculiar habit of eating when away from people. When he and his family spread a banquet with your season's best as the drawing card, it means more to you than to him.

No fear of this condition if your home possesses a cedar chest. That's one place where the moth finds he's not at home.

Apart from this protective feature a cedar chest throws about the articles of apparel a clean atmosphere, and not the strained disagreeable moth ball odor.

Here you'll find a varied line of chests which we'd be glad to show any time you would care to call.

For Beauty's Sake Remove that film-coat from your teeth

Teeth cannot glisten with a film-coat on them. You who want white teeth must learn how to remove it.

This week your druggist offers—free—a new way of teeth cleaning. Millions now employ it. Leading dentists everywhere advise it. Go make that test. One week's results will be a revelation.

Film—the great enemy. But this is more than a beauty question. Film ruins millions of teeth. Most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste cannot end it, so the tooth brush has left much of it intact.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles have been constantly increasing, because brushing failed to end that film.

Now a new dental era. Dental science, after years of research, has found ways to combat film day by day. The methods have been proved efficient by many careful tests. High authorities endorse them. And millions of people now employ them, largely by dental advice.

These methods are combined in a tooth paste called Pepsodent. Together they combat the film as nothing else has done. And they are fast bringing, the world over, a new era in teeth cleaning.

That is the tooth paste you are urged to test. See the instant results—watch the effects for ten days. Then decide for yourself between the old ways and the new.

The unique effects. One ingredient of Pepsodent is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digester in the saliva to digest starch deposits that cling. The alkalinity of the saliva is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

The Pepsodent effects come with every application. Day by day they fight the teeth's great enemies. And teeth are protected as they never were before.

See and feel it act. Present this coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

The results are quick and apparent. A little look tells the reason for them. For your own sake learn how much they mean.

FREE This week only

At any drug store named below, a 10-day tube of Pepsodent. Simply present the coupon. Let this new way prove itself. Judge by results what it means to you. Learn now the way that millions know to whiter, safer teeth.

Now daily used by millions

Millions of people are now using Pepsodent. You can see the results wherever you look—in glistening teeth.

Women who think their teeth white now should see how they look with the film gone.

With men who smoke the films are apt to be particularly discolored. They will see the most conspicuous results.

But children need Pepsodent most. Their teeth are most subject to decay. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be daily applied from the time the first tooth appears. It may save them troubles life-long in effect.

CHINESE DOCTOR VISITS TORONTO

Is the First Graduate of Medical School from West China

Toronto, Oct. 20.—Although the average Chinese will accept the benefits of modern surgical methods, he still regards medicinal treatment practiced by western doctors with distrust and suspicion, according to Dr. H. C. Lo, the first native of West China to graduate with a full degree from a modern Chinese medical school. Dr. Lo, who is on his way back to China after attending the world conference of the Society of Friends, which met in London, England, in August, has been staying at Victoria College as the guest of Burwash Hall.

Dr. Lo took his preparatory work in the Union School, which preceded the West China Union University at Chengtu, and completed his medical training at the Union Medical School at Peking. On his appointment as one of the three Chinese delegates to the world Quaker conference in England, he proceeded to London via India and the Suez canal. While in England he spent some time in Birmingham General Hospital, taking post-graduate training. When he returns to China he will take charge of the only modern hospital in the city of Tungchuan, about 100 miles from Chengtu. There he will provide the only modern medical attendance for the 70,000 inhabitants inside the city and his territory will nominally include outside territory with a population of about 200,000.

FIND BOY AFTER THREE YEARS' HUNT

Lad Lived with Father in Newark While Search Extended as Far as California.

(N. Y. Times.)

After a search extending over almost three years which took them to many states in the Union, including California, detectives of the staff of District Attorney Francis Marti, in the Bronx, located in Newark on Friday, Arthur McSorley, Jr., 12 years old, who disappeared from the home of his mother, Mrs. Teresa McSorley, 3207 Marston Avenue, the Bronx, Dec. 3, 1917.

On that day the lad, who was then enrolled as a pupil in Ursuline Academy, started for school. According to his story, he was met on the way by his father, who had been separated from his mother about two years. There had been no legal separation action but the boy had been living with his mother up to the time he was taken away by his father, who, according to the boy, said he wanted to buy him some new clothes and took him to Newark, where he lived with his father and went to the Sumner Avenue school.

Arthur McSorley, Sr., the boy's father, was formerly in the plumbing and building contracting business at 401 East 148th Street, The Bronx, but it is alleged he gave up his business soon after the disappearance of the boy from the home of his mother.

The day the boy disappeared Mrs.

McSorley received a telephone message saying her son had been taken to Newark by his father. Detectives searched for the lad there at the time but without locating him. Recently they obtained a list of pupils in Newark public schools and finding the name of Arthur McSorley, 12 years old, listed at the Sumner Avenue School, went there and asked the boy to come back to his mother. The lad said his father had treated him well but he wanted very much to go back.

The father lives at 299 Clifton Av., Newark.

FISHERS HARD HIT

The Government Has Prohibited Lobster Fishing During the Winter Months.

(Halifax Chronicle.)

That the majority of the fishermen along the Western Shore will have to come to the city this winter to earn a living owing to the Federal Government closing the winter lobster season was the statement made to the Morning Chronicle reported by one of the fishermen yesterday. This man advocated that the lobster season be from the first of December to the end of May, as it was up to last year, when the law was changed so that the season now is from the first of April to the end of June.

Many of the fishermen along the shore west of Halifax, principally at Prospect, Terrace Bay, Dover Sambro, and other places, are coming to Halifax this winter in search of work. The past summer has not been a good one. Herring, mackerel and cod were scarce, and the prices offered them were low. The fishermen along the Eastern shore have mills and mines to work at in winter, but those on the western side of Halifax do practically nothing but fish.

Up to last year these fishermen were lobstering all winter, but the present law put a stop to it. From the first of December to the end of May they are allowed to trap lobsters, for which during the winter months they received a good price. This gave them employment for the winter months. The price of material to make lobster traps has greatly increased and at present time there are only two months in which these traps can be used.

These fishermen, who are forced to come to Halifax, will no doubt find it difficult to secure employment, as well as obtain homes, board or lodging. This is another difficulty, which they hate to face. The fishermen interviewed the Government for passing the present law, which he says is only in the interests of the canners. Let the fishermen lobster all winter and they will not have to come to the city seeking employment.

Reports from rural societies throughout the province of Manitoba show that farmers, due to the excellent crops this season, are entering a period of unsurpassed prosperity. The supervisor of rural credit societies in the province states that the present situation, that many farmers are repaying loans before they are due. READS LIKE LIVE FICTION

Story of Kidnapped Boy, Invited for Drive by Ladies—Thrilling Experiences.

(Toronto Globe.)

Like a novel reads the escape from his abductors of Shirley, the thirteen-year-old son of Frederick Cronin of Denver, Colorado, who is at present in Toronto on business.

Mr. Cronin recently received a telegram to the effect that his son, who disappeared from the Colorado hotel at Denver on Aug. 28, had been recovered at Pueblo, Colorado, and last evening he gave the Globe the full details of the lad's escape from his kidnappers and his subsequent exciting experiences.

Shirley, it appears, was persuaded by two women to go for a ride in an auto, and once in the car he was taken to Cheyenne, Wyoming, where the party was joined by a man to whom he took such a dislike that at the first opportunity he escaped. Fear of what his parents might say kept him from making his way home, so by means of freight cars he traveled to Wheatland, Wyoming, and then to Douglas and Casper.

At Casper he sighted the man who had played a share in his abduction, and in fear boarded an outgoing freight, which happened to be a through train. After two days of travel on this freight without food he arrived at Pueblo, Wyoming, in a famished condition. His first thought was to get out of the city, and this he did by walking seven miles to a ranch, where the owner, in compassion, took him and gave him work.

After keeping him for three weeks, this rancher noticed an account of his disappearance in the Pueblo Chieftain, and at once notified the police, who got in touch with the authorities at Denver by the result that the boy, after an absence of five weeks, was returned to his parents, thinner and paler, but otherwise unharmed.

The car in which he was taken away bore a Nebraska license, and the owners say they had not returned to their ranch, but a warrant is out for their arrest.

HALIFAX NEEDS 1,000 NEW HOMES

Housing Commission's Secretary Estimates That Number Necessary to Restore Normal Conditions.

(Halifax Echo.)

As the result of a careful study of the housing situation in this city the conclusion has been arrived at that Halifax needs at least 1,000 new houses to get the situation down to anything like normal. This is the opinion of the Halifax Housing Commission as contained in a report from that body to W. B. MacCoy, director of housing here. By observation made at the commission's office through persons seeking information on housing matters of the secretary, Mr. Mays, there are at present in Halifax City at least 200 families who are in a position to take advantage of the housing act but who have not sufficient money to be able to apply elsewhere successfully for loans.

According to the report, the population of Halifax at present estimated according to the usual average system in reaching such conclusions, is 75,000, the estimated number of families being about 16,000, while there are approximately 9,000 houses in Halifax at present. This conclusion is arrived at with the aid of the tax assessment returns. Of these 9,000, approximately 2,000 are divided into apartments, tenements or flats, giving accommodation to about 6,000 families, leaving 3,000 or 4,000 families to account for. The relief houses on the common and exhibition grounds take care of about 750 families, quite a few of whom are families of returned men who were unable to get houses on their return from across the sea. Approximately 250 families live in shacks about the city on land owned or partly owned by themselves or leased for the purpose. Some of these shacks are eye-sore to the health of the occupants, as well as fire menaces.

The remaining 3,000 are living two or three families in houses originally built to house but one family.

It looks as though the housing plan could well be extended if Halifax housing is to become at all normal within the next few years.

GROCERY REPORTS FROM THREE CITIES OF THE DOMINION

The following comment on the market situation as regards food stuffs appeared in Canadian Grocer last week:

Many lines of grocery commodities tend easier, especially such lines as are sold in bulk. On the other hand some lines packed in glass, tins and cartons have shown advances. Retail merchants report business very satisfactory, but continue to buy on the hand to mouth basis.

Montreal.—The feature of the produce market this week is a decline in the price of butter amounting to one cent. Corn syrups are ruling steady to easy under the recent decline. There is no change in the refiners' list for sugars, the market is nominally unchanged under little business.

Reductions are shown throughout almost the entire list of bulk cereals. With the exception of rolled oats and corn products the decline in bulk cereals has not as yet affected package cereals, it has been limited, however, that reductions will materialize on some lines. The primary markets for white and black peppers show a slightly firmer undertone, outside of this the spice market goods show that corn and tomatoes will be slightly cheaper but California fruits will be dearer. Coffee is due for another decline in price. The better line of teas have a firmer market. There is considerable cut in the present line of rolled oats. Nuts may be cheaper for the Christmas trade but amounts show considerable strength. The cost of packing has increased and as a result there are a number of advances in prices on some branded lines. Vegetables with the autumn season are dearer and some are off the market, being now out of season. Oranges are firmer in price but the good supply of peaches continues with prices still very low. Apples are in very good supply.

The markets generally continue to show easy trend although some lines have advanced, particularly bottled goods such as catsup, furniture polish, cooking oil and saucers. There is no change in the refiners' list for sugars, but little business is being transacted direct from the refiners. Second-hand sugars still dominate the market. A feature has been the offering of a lot of refined sugar that was held in warehouse at Halifax by American interests and which has since been freely offered in Canada and found ready buyers. White sugars are still in a depressed condition and quotations are lower. In wholesale and manufacturing circles the opinion is expressed that lower prices for Canadian products the decline in bulk cereals has not as yet affected package cereals, it has been limited, however, that reductions will materialize on some lines. The primary markets for white and black peppers show a slightly firmer undertone, outside of this the spice market goods show that corn and tomatoes will be slightly cheaper but California fruits

Quotations on spot stocks of rice have been reduced. The primary markets for coffee are ruling fairly steady under the decline of several weeks ago; spot stocks are unchanged as to quotations but supplies are moving with satisfaction to holders and it is felt in most quarters that this market will be about cleaned up by the time new crop arrives. Some importers are booking new shipments of coffee at a reduction of five cents a pound under present quotations. Some spot stocks. Shelled Brazilia are scarce and shelled pecans have a tendency to be higher in view of the reported short crop. Vegetables and fruits are arriving in heavy shipments and quotations are practically unchanged. Reductions have been made on one brand of peanut butter, chocolate confections, cotton twine and one brand of maple syrup.

Live stock market has shown recessions in quotations during the week with slight shadings on some cuts of fresh meat. The butter market is easier. Shortening is marked higher but it is fresh in some quarters that this is only temporary. Cheese is easy. Receipts of poultry are moderate and prices are all reduced.

Winnipeg—Business conditions have shown remarkable improvement during the week. An order has been received from the Dominion government in Ottawa stating that all sugar arriving from all points in Canada and the United States is subject to inspection. Corn syrup declined forty-cents and sixty cents a case on the various sizes during the week. All lines of starches decline one cent a pound. Glucose is also lower.

Golden Harvests

Why speculate with hazardous hopes? Few people realize fully the handsome returns which some of the most unquestionable securities actually bring. This applies not only to those who are just beginning to save, or are just forming investment habits, but, indeed, to many who have been investing for years.

For instance, if an investor were to purchase a $1,000 Victory Bond due 1934 on, say, November 5th, the cost and return would be:

Table with columns: COST, RETURN. Shows investment of $930.00 for principal and accrued interest, returning $1,770.00.

If the interest payments were not spent, but were re-invested promptly in securities yielding 5 1/2%, the total return would be still further increased to $2,137.43.

A $100 Bond costing $ 93.06 | A $50 Bond costing... $46.53 would return... 177.00 | 88.50

$10,000 worth of Bonds, costing $9,306.00, would return $17,700, or, if re-invested, $21,374.30; and other amounts in proportion. This is the kind of golden harvest which the safest security in Canada will give you. Whether the amount is large or small the same proportion holds. Plant your dollars now in Victory Bonds and your harvest will be sure.

Bonds may be bought in $50, $100, $500 or $1,000 denominations. Your inquiries and orders will receive our best attention.

THINK VANCOUVER PICTURE IS REUBENS

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 20.—A Reubens painting, declared by connoisseurs to be a perfect and unmistakable example of the great master's art, has been discovered in Vancouver in a humble residence on the outskirts of the city.

Identity of the owners and the whereabouts of the pictures are withheld by request of the owners for obvious reasons. They have been in the family of the young wife who owns them, for more than a hundred years. The picture came to her as heirloom. They have always been regarded as paintings of great value but the knowledge that one of them was a Reubens came only when they were inspected some little time ago by an art connoisseur.

SUGAR'S EXHIBITION.

(Toronto Globe.) What will be the next move of Atlantic Sugar? This question was on the lips of every trader and broker who watched yesterday's sensational decline of 22 points below the high of 164 reached during the third week of July. The suspicion was heard voiced many times among local brokers yesterday that even this decline was not free from the manipulation which has long been charged against the operations in Atlantic. Arbitrage was also alleged as an explanation of the heavy turnover during the day.

fabulous wealth made by the company during recent months. Has that wealth been wiped out suddenly by the prospect of importations of sugar from the United States? A company that during the last year paid nearly 40 per cent. of arrears of dividend on preferred, put its common on a 10 per cent. basis, and had working capital at the end of April of $3,800,000 is considered to be in a fairly healthy financial position. It was reported that Canadian interest in Atlantic Sugar has decreased this year until now it is a minority, with E. C. Conners of the United States Steel Corporation said to be the largest stockholder. This statement was commented upon by those who were reviewing the tactics adopted in the handling of Sugar in the market for some months past, which savored much of experience in Wall street.

We are glad to learn that he has returned with his health much improved. While in the west he visited his sister, Mrs. A. S. Lewis, Regina.

Plans were discussed for the season following the election of officers.

McTigue Bout Tonight. Montreal, Oct. 20.—Mike McTigue is to meet Jack Bloomfield in a ten-round fight at the National Sporting Club tonight. Bloomfield, on the strength of his recent appearance in Montreal, will go to the ring first choice.

HE TURF.

Man of War and Sir Barton. (New York Times.) Man of War made turf history when he galloped away from Sir Barton at the Ellsworth track, but there was no horse race. If among the spectators there were any of the thoroughbred who saw Salator outlast Tenny by a head in their first race in 1906—that was indeed a day when there was no superior horse. One of the "magical" grayhounds of the era of yellow and Harry Bassett making a pilgrimage to Windsor to see a head-and-neck struggle in the stretch between the best horses of a new generation, and coming away with doubts about a race of a mile and a quarter as a test of stamina. Before the civil war the idols of the turf ran four-mile heats, which to us today would seem like steeplechases with the obstacles left out. Occasionally there was a tussle in the last few minutes that had been tiresome to all but students of the Stud Book. People live too fast in these days to be attracted by galloping exhibitions; they want to look at tests of speed more than at demonstrations of endurance. As a distance for a championship race the mile and a quarter is a happy compromise.

The expected happened when Man of War strode away from Sir Barton and was eased up by seven lengths. It was a test of speed and stamina between a horse with powerful hind-quarters and a comparatively small horse with a comparatively small head. Man of War only once—and after twenty starts had been beaten fourteen times; Man of War only once—and after twenty starts had been beaten fourteen times. Both of them had run a mile and a quarter in the fast time of 2:01.45, and it was the only equality between them. Sir Barton had proved himself a capital race horse; Man of War had broken cords without being extended, and had been hailed as the greatest race horse ever foaled in America.

If Man of War is now retired to the stud, he will go as an idol that displaces the sliver or Domino or any other thoroughbred that has faced the starter in America. Yet there was probably as much blue blood in Sir Barton's pedigree as in Man of War's. Breeding in its suits is a good deal of a lottery, after all. At a sale of yearlings a comparatively poor man may buy a world-beater, and the richest turfman in retaining a second horse in his paddock, may keep a selling plater.

THELETIC.

New World's Record. Paris, Oct. 19.—Maurice Delvaert, a French athlete, broke the world's record in the 500-metre run, covering the distance in one minute, five and three-fifths seconds. The race was run at St. Cloud under the auspices of the Sporting Federation of France before a large crowd. Delvaert was favored by having a fast start and a fast finish. The former record was one minute, seven and three-fifths seconds, and was held by P. Hajos of Hungary. It was made in 1913.

Win By Numbers. New York, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.) If professional golfers representing the United States fail to make a good showing in the next British open golf championship it will not be the fault of the golfers. This publication, through its treasurer, J. A. Plummer, has made an offer to the Professional Golfers' Association to raise by popular subscription enough money to send from twelve to twenty professionals abroad in 1921. It is reasoned that there is little chance

BASEBALL WAR MAY BE COMING

Ultimatum to Five Clubs Issued Only Three of American League Join Nationals for Abrogation of Present Agreement — Threat of Twelve Club League. Chicago, Oct. 20.—If the action of eleven major league baseball club owners on Monday night in going on record as favoring abrogation of the national agreement which governs professional leagues, results in a baseball war, the responsibility will rest with the five American League clubs which have not yet signified their intention of taking part in the proposed re-organization of control of the game, said President Heydler yesterday. He said that the eight National League clubs and three American clubs—New York, Chicago and Boston—did not declare war when they advocated control of baseball by a tribunal of three men not financially interested in the game, but were making a declaration of principle in order to save the game, Mr. Heydler said. Probability of a baseball war was freely discussed by baseball men here yesterday, many of them called to testify before the grand jury investigating the baseball scandal. Some baseball men professed to see the solution of the problem in the meeting of minor league officials at Kansas City on Nov. 9, saying that which ever side the minors sided with would win.

FORMER ST. JOHN PLAYERS ARE OUT

Fred Mitchell and "Cy" Coombs Both Said to Have Lost Their Jobs. A Chicago despatch says: Manager Fred Mitchell has been de-throned as manager of the Chicago Cubs. Hughey Jennings, the scrappy leader of the Detroit Tigers, who has resigned, has been offered the post to lead the Cubs for the next two years. Just whether Jennings will accept has not been learned. Ben Johnson has expressed himself as being against the transfer of Jennings from the junior to the senior league. Mitchell was furious when he received a wire from one of his Detroit friends that carried the announcement that his job had been offered to Hughey Jennings. He dashed into the office of President William Veck of the Cubs to ascertain definitely whether his services were offered or to be retained or rejected. "I am going to insist on a show down right now," said Mitchell. "I have discussed a renewal of my contract with President Veck, but he said he could tell me nothing until the annual meeting of the board of directors late this month. It is impossible for me to wait that long. Other propositions have been offered me and I do not want to lose them by waiting until a decision is made here. I would like to stay in Chicago. I believe I could build up the team into a winner and want the chance." Jennings intimated to a Chicago friend when he testified before the grand jury on the baseball gambling scandal, that overtures had been made to him by the Boston National League team to pilot the Braves next season. President Navin of the Detroit Club has announced that Jack Coombs former pitching star, who acted as coach for Detroit pitchers this season, would not be with the team next season. Selection of another trainer, Navin said, would not be made until after a new manager had been signed. Clarence Rowland, former manager of the White Sox, and Cy Cobb, have been mentioned as successor to Jennings. It is understood that Cobb has expressed a wish to play ball several years more, declaring he would not accept a managership until his playing days are over. Rowland is a scout for the Detroit club.

To Care For The Erring

(Jane Barclay, in Toronto Globe.)

From all sides comes the appeal for improvement in methods of dealing with the man, woman and child commonly called a criminal or a delinquent. Some anti-social act, or maybe the mere outbreak of animal energy, brings the individual face to face with courts, judges, lawyers and into institutions which he must enter for a period of discipline. The kind of process by which the courts, judges and lawyers arrive at a decision and at a disposal of the individual is what we are all clamoring about. The legal profession has had the benefit of Judge Coatsworth's review, the Juvenile Court of Toronto has had the survey or "paper" of the Bureau of Municipal Research; the newspapers have presented various addresses of individuals directly connected with the courts of the city.

The Causes Fundamental

When an expert speaks we are inclined to take his statements with the assurance that they are correct. It may be that a judge is too far removed from commonplace detail to appreciate its application. Judge Coatsworth's statements do not emphasize the fact that a social diagnosis is fundamental whenever we deal with human entanglements. The law pays no attention to the little things which gradually create in the individual the habit of stealing, deserting wife and children, wife-beating, cruelty to children, etc., or whatever the habit may be. It deals with the act and the results, and measures out what is mistakenly called justice. Judge Coatsworth may not have been properly informed concerning the territory covered by the Juvenile Court in Detroit. This court is a county court. It was not, as he states, established for Detroit at the time when Detroit was the site of Toronto. It serves not only Detroit but the whole county of Wayne.

Detroit's Method.

It is urged by persons interested in the establishment of an institution by the city of Toronto for the observation, training and discipline of delinquents that we follow the plan and purpose of the Detention Home in Detroit. This institution is maintained by the county, which also maintains the Juvenile Court under the same roof. It merely detains children in the shortest possible number of days until the case is heard by the court. It aims to release the child in a few days. It is not a training or observation centre. It has been reported that the psychiatric clinic is under the management of the Detroit court. It is, instead, an extension of the State University of Michigan, and is maintained partly by the state and partly by private funds. Is the Medical Department of the University of Toronto or the psychiatric clinic of the Toronto General Hospital not capable of a similar extension of work?

The Clamor for Institutions.

This is an age fast upsetting the old idea that institutions are needed for children and adults. Toronto is a city of institutions, and the citizens hang on firmly to the belief that a child can be made normal in an institution. Every group of philanthropic individuals clamors for a building.

The Boston Juvenile Court offers us a marvelous example of good work done without a detention home. Judge Cabot's letter should reach everyone interested. It will steady the strenuous effort which some devotees of the Juvenile Court are making for an institution for juvenile delinquents. The delinquent child of Boston—a city of 800,000—finds his way into a carefully selected private family, and is in the midst of a normal family, instead of making time in an institution. The court has the services of trained school workers from many private and semi-private organizations, who select the homes and supervise them. Justice Frederick P. Cabot of the Boston Juvenile Court states as follows:

How Boston Does It.

"The practice in reference to the detention of children is as follows: 'When arrested the police notify the parents and boy or girl is released to parent, unless the child is known to be a runaway or a warrant has been issued directing the detention of the child, except in marked cases of sex-offending by girls. The ones not released to parents are released to probation officers and for that purpose probation officer is in telephone connection with the police throughout the day and night, and goes for the boy or girl in event of he or she not being released to parent. The boy or girl is then taken to a private family whose home has been investigated and selected for the purpose of receiving children for temporary care, and remains there until the case is heard the next day. In the case of girls a matron, usually the lady to whose house the girl is taken, goes during the night with ing of the interest of the people. The use of an institution is always an easy way out, but it can never develop and test out a growing boy or girl. Segregation of certain mentally and morally abnormal children may be essential, but the average delinquent boy or girl is capable of redirection provided he is given carefully selected environment in which to overcome his bad habits. The effort must be his own. We need a careful and unprejudiced review of the whole field of delinquency and very sane judgment on the part of enthusiasts who would remedy our social ills.
