SKELETON OF GIANT SAURIAN FOUND ON P. E. ISLAND

Then Some One Carried it Away and Finder is Out

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 28.—(Special)—What looks like the remains of a gigantic saurian of the crocodile family was discovered on the beach at Grand Traverse by the foreman of the men engaged in constructing the breakwater there.

During a heavy storm large quantities of sand were shifted, and the bones, the skeleton was carried away from the beach. It was not until the discoverer could secure it. This is no sensational story but a genuine find which may prove of scientific value.

After finding the body he returned home and went back at dark and remained until Dr. Lamb arrived. A fire was built up close to the body. He could not see the body very distinctly by the light of the fire and did not think it possible to make a careful examination of that light.

Dennis O'Regan Dennis O'Regan told of Ryder going to his home on the night of the 23rd and leaving with him the next morning for Hampton.

After finding the body he returned home and went back at dark and remained until Dr. Lamb arrived. A fire was built up close to the body. He could not see the body very distinctly by the light of the fire and did not think it possible to make a careful examination of that light.

When his wife and daughter were returning home that evening, Ryder accompanied the carriage but his wife or daughter said, "Get out of here, there is no room for you." He threw his overcoat on the front of the carriage and they seemed to try and kick it off.

Shanghai Receives Word of Imperial Victory At Hankow

MATTERS DESPERATE

Important Centres Near Shanghai Threatened—Wealthy Manchus Send Families and Property Away for Safety—Business Demoralized and Money Market in Bad State

(Canadian Press)

Shanghai, Oct. 28.—Wireless despatches from Hankow reporting victory for the imperial troops there yesterday caused a flutter in Shanghai today. The reports were received even in official circles with incredulity.

Whatever the situation around Hankow, matters have grown more desperate for the government cause in the vicinity of Shanghai and along the lower part of the Yang Tze River. There were persistent reports today that Ching-Kiang, 100 miles above Shanghai, was about to fall into the hands of the rebels.

When he stepped from the Montreal train at the depot this morning Commissioner Rees of the Salvation Army met with a hearty reception from officers of the army who had gathered to greet him on his arrival.

Ching Kang province of Kiang Si, Szechuan, Oct. 28.—Reports of impending attacks by the revolutionists caused great alarm here today. There was no evidence of any uprising within the city, however, and it was hoped that trouble might be avoided if the revolutionists could be prevailed upon to await the outcome of the rallies at Peking.

Siokan, China, Oct. 28.—(From a correspondent with the imperial army under general Yin Tsang)—The native city of Hankow was re-captured from the rebels yesterday after sanguinary fighting that lasted the day.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Rosie Asch, of Chisholm, is under arrest here on a charge of poisoning her husband, whose death ten days ago, was supposed to have been due to alcoholism.

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 28.—Bert Rodney, an actor, fired two shots at his wife, early today and then shot himself through the heart, dying instantly.

Bangor, Oct. 28.—Game shipments into Union station up to Friday were just 224 behind what they were last year at this period in the season.

London, Oct. 28.—Captain Lomax sailed on the S. S. Victorian yesterday for Canada to solicit financial support for the fund being organized for the purchase of the Crystal Palace as a memorial to the late King Edward VII.

The tug Lord Kitchener with one of the dredge scoops empty, went on Shag Rocks early this morning and remained there till a little after noon today.

Members of the Mount Allison football team came to the city this morning and were happy in thought of the victory won over U. N. B. yesterday.

Leo and Raymond McLaughlin have been reported by Sergt. Finley for removing gravel from a West Side beach, contrary to law.

Young Woman's Parents Return Home to Find Her Bound in Basement

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Waldenberger returned to their home at midnight to hear groans issuing from the basement, and investigating, found their daughter, Miss Martha Waldenberger, 28 years old, bound and gagged and her head covered with bruises and gashes, inflicted by two negro burglars.

The burglars fled after carrying Miss Waldenberger to the basement. They left valuable things that had placed in a bundle.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. McKean will sympathize with them in the loss of their infant daughter whose death occurred yesterday.

DRUGGIST KNEW MORE THAN DOCTOR

A short time ago I had what is termed inflammation of the neck of the bladder. At times I thought I was going to go wild. I tried the doctor, but he did not seem to hit the case. I was advised to try Dr. Kilmier's Swamp-Root.

I gladly advise any person that is troubled as I was to try Swamp-Root for it is a good medicine. You can use this if you wish in any way that will benefit others. My trade is that of a painter. My age is forty-nine.

Very truly yours, J. H. JOHNSTON, Watertown, N. Y.

Personally appeared before me, this 28th day of July, 1911, J. H. Johnston, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that same is true in substance and in fact.

Dom Miguel's American Wife Was Not Invited to Wedding—A King's Sad State—Prince of Bourbon's Troubles

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company.)

So much has been made, by the friends and relatives of the former Miss Anita Stewart, of the illustrations of relationship which she had formed through her marriage to Dom Miguel, that it is almost surprising that she must have felt cruelly the slight placed upon her by the neglect to invite either her husband or herself to the wedding of Princess Zita of Parma-Bourbon, the young Archduchess Charles Francis, destined to become one day the ruler of the dual empire.

Dom Miguel, who is now connected with his stockholding firm in London, is a first cousin of the bride, and the widowed Duchess of Parma, mother of the bride, and also the Archduchess Maria Theresa of Austria, are his aunts. In fact, the "official" wedding at Scherzau was the official gathering of all the principal relatives that has taken place since he became the husband of Miss Anita Stewart.

When, however, he led her to the altar in Scotland, he was obliged to surrender all his rights and prerogatives as a royal personage, and as a royal personage. This cut him off from his family and his relatives from a social point of view. But the neglect to effect a full settlement of his liabilities in Austria, either by his mother-in-law or himself, has not only looked for by his relatives but even, so they assert, prompted to them to further embittered them against his marriage and has moreover rendered odious to him in Austria and Hungary altogether.

The fact of the matter is that his debts in Austria have not been presented, either at the court of Vienna or to the large circle of his royal and imperial acquaintances. Furthermore, at his recent pre-wedding last week to Princess Zita, their first cousin, they were not bid to the feast at which the principal guest was the aged emperor.

Canons fire, church bells ring merrily, and the streets and houses are adorned with greenery and bunting, the inhabitants on holiday attire, the music of military bands fills the air, and troops line the streets, when a sovereign makes his first entry into his capital after his accession to the throne.

Pathetic by way of contrast was the secret and almost straggling arrival of Grandduke William of Luxembourg in his dominions and in his principal city for the first time since his accession to the throne in 1905, but was so ill at the time that it was impossible to move him from his castle of Hohenberg near Bayreuth. There he remained, his departure for Luxembourg being put off month by month and year by year.

In the hope that there might be an improvement in his condition, this expectation has been disappointed, and the possibility of any amelioration of his state which is one of almost complete paralysis, is almost entirely hopeless. He is now pitiable by his enormous girth.

If he has at length been moved to the palace of Colmar-la-Grande, it is because it is considered best, from a dynastic point of view, that when the end comes he should be buried in the vaults of the cathedral of Luxembourg with the inhabitants of Luxembourg wish to have the grandduchess, who is the regent, and her daughter, the seventeen-year-old crown princess, among them and that neither the grandduchess nor the crown princess separate themselves from their sorely afflicted husband and father.

The grandduchess, however, has been succeeded with the utmost sagacity, will come to an end when she loses her husband, for her eldest daughter, the crown princess, has already attained her legal majority and will, on her father's death, become reigning grandduchess in her own right with full powers.

Prince de Bourbon III Prince Alphonse de Bourbon, son of the Infanta Eulalie, is lying very dangerously ill with enteric fever in the military hospital in Madrid, and is being nursed against the Moors cut short, he will, if he survives, be invited home as soon as he is able to travel.

It may be recalled that when the military operations at Melilla became serious, in the summer of 1909, Prince Alphonse received orders from King Alfonso, who is his first cousin, to proceed to the front.

The young monarch knew that the prince was deeply attached to Princess Beatrice of Great Britain and Sax-Coburg, was aware too, that there were obstacles in the way of a marriage, owing to the fact that the princess, who is a Protestant, refused to become a convert to Roman Catholicism, and hoped that if the prince distinguished himself in the war against the Moors at Melilla, it might be possible to overcome the objections to the marriage.

On receiving his orders, the prince had been endeavoring to make the journey to Spain, but had been assigned, and sailing for Melilla. Naturally there was much indignation, not only at the court of Madrid, but also in official and military circles in Spain.

It was alleged that, although a Spanish officer, he was a convert to Protestantism, and that he had rendered himself unwelcome to the Spanish army, and was sent to the front as a punishment.

Despite the close relationship between the king and the prince, and the equally close ties of blood between Queen Ena and the princess, and their intimate relations with the king, the prince was not permitted to return to the country.

Ever since then, mutual relations have been strained, and a reconciliation between the prince and the king, and of the king and the princess, has not been secured at the time of the birth of a son to the young couple in Coburg last year, and last summer during the visit of the King and Queen of Spain to England for the Cowes yacht races, the prince, with the rank of lieutenant of the First Regiment of the Guard, returned back to his country.

Within a fortnight of his arrival there, he was laid low by enteric fever, brought on, as in so many other cases, by the drinking of contaminated water. At any rate he has received his "baptism of fire" and has repaired, from a military point of view, the grave offense which he committed in 1909; and if he recovers there is no doubt that this will be taken into account by the king and his wife, who will be welcomed to the court of Spain.

The prince takes English sports, having been brought up at the great college of Down, and is a keen sportsman, and is the Roman Catholic counterpart in England, of Eton and Harrow.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"YES," said the lady who always knows somehow, "he is a very good optimist about other people's troubles. The day you meet that kind of an optimist? Of course you have."

For some of him or her is to be found in every community. The dressmaker telephones you that he has found she can't possibly get your gown done in time for the wedding. It is the first new "best dress" you have worn for four years and you had been looking forward to appearing in it quite an event. Yearning for warm human sympathy you foolishly tell the other people's optimist about it and she gives you instead the gold comfort of vicarious optimism.

Or you are suffering the agonies from rheumatism in your hand and whenever she sees you, instead of sympathizing with your pain, she works her way up into a frenzy of thankfulness that it is your left and not your right hand.

There is a pathetic little woman in my acquaintance who was left all alone when her only daughter and her husband. Since then she has supported herself by "accommodating"—and in her case she means that she works for a living—there are many, many housework she does really more than justifies the name of "accommodating."

This woman was telling me about her benevolent one day and she ended by saying: "Well, Miss Ruth, I don't suppose it's Christian for me to feel so badly. Miss Bemis, she always tells me I ought to remember that because of my bereavement I have been placed so that I could not be tempted to feel ungrateful."

Now, as it happens, Miss Bemis herself has recently lost through illness a very comfortable berth which she held for many years and has been obliged to take up comfortable lodgings in the same sort of work that Mrs. S. has done for so many years. And strange to say, her appreciation of the opportunity to be of service is swallowed up in a resentment and indignation that is so strong that she has almost lost touch with the right proportion to make a good cordial or our dressing gowns.

What do we like is the man or woman who can mix sympathy and encouragement in just the right proportion to make a good cordial or our dressing gowns. Most of us, at least.

NO DYSPEPSIA, STOMACH GAS OR HEARTBURN

Diapiesin Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Paper's Diapiesin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and stomach five minutes afterwards. If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat gives you heartburn, or if you feel a lump of lead in your stomach, or you have indigestion, that is a sign of the need of a 50-cent case of Paper's Diapiesin, and take a dose just as soon as you feel the need of it.

Get Diapiesin at once, because it does not only soothe the stomach, but it also helps to clear the bowels, and rid the system of indigestible food, heartburn, fullness, gas, flatulence, stomachic, nervous, indigestion, Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, it gives you a good food left over for the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Paper's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store. These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

COTTON MARKET LETTER

(From R. C. Randolph's Weekly Market Letter furnished by J. M. Robinson & Sons.)

New York, Oct. 25.—A recovery of about half a cent followed official frost reports on Saturday, but while the weather map showed that the cold weather had materialized over Sunday, the market immediately turned easier, owing to indications that the south was using the advance as a selling basis, and expectations that the gaining figures, which are due tomorrow, would show so much cotton gained to the October 18, as to convince the world of the large surplus production regardless of the frost date.

The market may also have been influenced to some extent by the fact that while light frosts were very general, it is not unusually early for such a development, and that actually killing temperatures were noted over comparatively small areas in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, and a few scattering points elsewhere.

The gaining figures to be issued here tomorrow are expected to break all records. The gaining to September 25 was over a million bales ahead of the previous high record, and the trade seems to anticipate that in addition to holding this margin of gain, the gaining for the period between September 25th and October 18th, will show an increase over the biggest crop period.

It would seem, however, that big crop season as gaining figures at this season of the year can logically afford, should the gaining for the latest period, equal that of the latest year. As there were gained to the October 18th report was 4,396,000 bales, a gaining equal to 1908 for the period, would make the total to October 18th this year about 7,200,000.

At this time in 1908 the gaining from the big crop was undoubtedly progressing as rapidly as labor for picking and the character of the weather would permit, and a report of 7,500,000 bales or over tomorrow would consequently seem to strengthen the estimates of the surplus.

Meanwhile we can see the possibility of a better trade situation later on, should the cotton situation be soon settled, and the Turkish troubles be adjusted, but there seems nothing in the immediate position of affairs to force the mills into the raw material market as anything more than independent buyers.

The figures on spinners' taking.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomach. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's inside clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure and healthy, and cleans, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

OUR WEEKLY BULLETIN

and the current rate of exports show that spinners have purchased considerable cotton—enough no doubt for immediate needs, and the demand to fill out October engagements has imperated rather a better tone to the southern spot markets during the past two or three days, when these requirements have been filled, we are very likely to meet with another period of slackness in the year, to bridge prices over the intervals which usually appear between the spurts of spot buying to fill the final engagements of an active shipping month, and the beginning of active work on the next month's commitments.

On the whole, and while we believe it the general rule that the trade fails to immediately recognize the turning point, we can see nothing in the present action of the market to justify the conclusion that we have yet seen the low level of the season.

Of course, with contracts here selling below 9 cents, the market must be just so much nearer the turning point, and sellers will probably show more caution in the matter of following prices down, but the dominating factor continues the necessity of finding an adequate market for the still enormous available supply, and until we can see better indications of the solving of that problem, either through a much improved general demand, or through some unexpected revision of general crop estimates, we can hardly expect anything more important in the way of improvements than may occur through the occasional covering of shorts.

Not a Nostrum

Parisian Sage is not a nostrum; it is the scientific preparation of one of the world's greatest dermatologists. It will stop falling hair. It will make the scalp clean and white and free from any disease. It will cure most itching and effluent hair diseases known. It will turn harsh, lustreless and unmanageable hair into soft, lustrous and fascinating hair in a few days. It is the favorite hair dressing of thousands of women who realize that no one can be handsome without beautiful hair. Large bottles, 50 cents at A. Chapman Smith's money back plan, who guarantees it. Also sold and guaranteed in Fairville by Allen's Fairville Drug Co.

Word has reached Halifax that Captain James C. Ley, of H. M. S. Cornwall has been exonerated from all blame by the British Admiralty in connection with the Cornwall touching a rock last summer. The rock was not charted.

DRUNKENNESS CAN BE CURED

Old Falacy That Drunkenness Cannot be Cured Exploded

Many men drink who desire to stop the habit. Whiskey, however, has undermined the constitution and created a craving that is not to be denied, and the man must have whiskey or something that will remove the craving and build up the system and restore the nerves.

Samaria Prescription stops the craving, steadies the nerves, builds up the general health and makes drunkards daily distasteful and nauseous, and it is safe and odorless, and can be used with or without the patient's knowledge. It is used regularly by Physicians and Hospitals. It has cured thousands in Canada, and restored hundreds to homes.

Head that throbs, eyes of Hall, says of it and what it does for.

"It is four months today since I started to use your Remedy. I followed the directions, and had the best of results. One week after I started to use your Remedy the patient stopped drinking, and has no drunk, a glass of liquor since. I hope you will accept my heartfelt thanks. Hoping God will bless your Remedy whenever tried, I remain, Sir, your truly, H. G. (Name withheld by request).

Now, if there is anyone in your town who needs this Remedy, tell them of it. Practical philanthropy can take no better form. If you possess a husband, father, brother, or friend who drinks, help them help themselves.

Amherst News—Miss Florence Terrio the efficient bookkeeper for a number of years of the Dunlop Cook & Company's branch here, left for Halifax on Monday to accept a similar position with the same firm that city. On Sunday evening last she was the guest of the ladies of the St. Charles church for the last ten years, received a purse of gold of $100, in recognition of her services in the position so long held by her, and for which she would accept no remuneration. An address was read by Robert Ward and the presentation was made by Carson Hancock. Rev. Father Moran also took occasion to refer in high terms to the faithful service rendered by Miss Terrio during the last ten years and expressed deep regret at her departure for Halifax. Miss Terrio will be greatly missed in this town as she was a great favorite in all circles. Miss Terrio is quite popular in St. John, having visited here on several occasions.

McRAE GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Corwall, Ont., Oct. 27.—The jury in the McRae case this afternoon brought in a verdict of guilty of manslaughter. R. A. Pringle, the counsel for the defence, opened this morning's proceedings by a masterly address, which lasted one and three-quarter hours. He stated that he felt the greatest responsibility in approaching the case and felt it would be a great privilege to do what he could to save the life of F. D. McRae, and believed he had just cause to ask for his acquittal. If the prisoner in handling his weapon used ordinary care and prudence, he was not guilty. The prisoner was a man of prominent in the community and not a man of criminal instincts. It was not proved that Mrs. Magee left her husband's side, and that she was in the room at the time of the shooting. The jury was not satisfied that she was in the room at the time of the shooting. The jury was not satisfied that she was in the room at the time of the shooting. The jury was not satisfied that she was in the room at the time of the shooting.

"Nickel Theatre" will be open at 10 a.m. Monday; three big sessions starting at 10 a.m. and ending at 10:30 p.m.; five excellent pictures, two songs and orchestra. The Reid Studio, corner of King and King street, will be open on Monday. This is a splendid opportunity for the busy people to have their photos. Don't forget the old folks concert in the City Hall, West End, Monday evening, Oct. 30, under the auspices of Granite Rock Division, Sons of Temperance; tickets 15 cents. This concert is given by the concert troupe of St. Philip's church. The Presbyterian churches of the city will hold a united Thanksgiving service in Monday Holy Trinity via Knights of Columbus; Tuesday, St. Peter's via St. Joseph's; Thursday, C. M. B. A. 134 via St. George's; Friday, A. O. H. via C. M. B. A. 482. The Knights of Khorassan, recently organized by members of the Knights of Pythias here, will hold their second big ceremonial in Keith's Assembly rooms on November 20. It is expected that there will be about forty tyros added to the lodge, which is named Adila 157. It is planned to make pilgrimages to Moncton, Halifax, Fredericton and other places, which applications have been received, to bring in the tyros, as this is the only lodge in the maritime provinces. QUEEN SQUARE CHURCH A special musical programme will be rendered in Queen Square church tomorrow evening in connection with the Thanksgiving service. The Pythian Male Quartette will render their favorite number, Herbert Johnson's "Lead Kindly Light," and Miss Lennie Leiby, an accomplished pianist, will play "The Song of the Soul, Miss Gaez; dialogue, Misses Spence and Corbett; solo, The Broken Prisoner, Mrs. Murray Loug; reading, The Last Banquet, Miss Gladys Smith; solo, The Flight of Ages, Fred Anthony; solo, The Crystal River, Miss Bessie Irvine; solo, O Canada, Grenville Ring, with violin accompaniment by Bruce Holder. A SURPRISE ANSWER Lord Kinnaird, who is always actively interested in religious work, one day paid a surprise visit to a mission school in the East End of London, and told a class of boys the story of Samson. In concluding his narrative His Lordship added: "He was strong, became weak, and then regained his strength, enabling him to destroy his enemies. Now, boys, if I had an enemy, what would you advise me to do?" A little boy, after meditating on the secret of that great giant's strength, shot up his hand and exclaimed "Get a bottle of 'a' restorer." TRYING AN IRISHMAN They were trying an Irishman, charged with a petty offence, when the judge asked him if he was ever interested in the church for your good character? "Yes, your honor," quickly responded the Celt, "I was interested in the church when I was upon the chief constable's evoked signs of great amazement. "Why, your honor," declared he, "I don't even know the man." "Observe, your honor," said the Irishman triumphantly, "observe that I've lived in the country for over twelve years and I haven't know me yet. Ain't that a character for yet?"

CUT RATES

"You see that man across the street? Well, you can always get cut rates from him for his work." "What is it?" "Trimming trees and hedges."

HIS REPLY

A certain man has the reputation of never being able to say a plain "Yes" or "No" in reply to a plain question. One day two ladies of his acquaintance were discussing this peculiarity when one of them announced that she felt sure that she could make the talkative individual say "No" to her. When she asked him, "Are you married?" he said to her, "Let me see, Mr. Robinson—you are a widower, are you not?" "As much a widower, madam," he answered, "with a polite boy, 'as it is possible for a man to be who was never married.'"

SAYS SUICIDE NOT POSSIBLE (Continued from page 1.) 5 o'clock the next morning. The witness said that Mrs. Ryder had notified him Thursday afternoon that her husband was missing and had been away since Wednesday noon. It was raining then so that they did not start the search until Friday morning. Mrs. Ryder showed them which way Ryder had gone but did not say anything about being in that direction herself. James and William Melvin, his sons, and Marshall Cassek present at the time. She told them that she was pretty sure that they would find her husband there on or after Friday, but she was not sure. They saw a woman's footprints in the plowed field through which they passed but could not follow them over the meadow land or through the woods. They noticed no return tracks. The inquest then adjourned until 1:30 p.m. Mr. Fowler gave orders to the constable to have James and William Melvin and Marshall Cassek present at next week's hearing as it is likely that the enquiry will have to be adjourned until a later date.

SOME BOASTING. "Where I come from," said the first, "we have a salmon river that rises in some boiling springs. As the salmon climb up the river they gradually get acclimated to the heat of the water and do not mind it. In fact, when we fish in the highest reaches of the stream we catch our salmon red-hot. I don't doubt that," said the second Canadian calmly, "Down my way there is a curious salmon river, too. It rises in some mines. As the fish work up they meet the suspended ore in gradually increasing quantities. They get quite mineralized if they keep on up stream, so that if we fish at the head of the river we catch our salmon red-tinned and all we have to do is to pack and ship them to market."

NEW BRUNSWICK FRUIT

The Times commends to all its city readers the fruit fair to be held here next week under the auspices of the New Brunswick Fruit Growers' Association. Last year's exhibit was a revelation, and that of this year will be on a still more comprehensive scale.

What we need in this province more than anything else is a working knowledge of our resources and what we can accomplish in different lines. It is only within the last few years that we have generally realized the very important fact that New Brunswick can produce as good apples as those produced in Nova Scotia, and that there is here a source of wealth which only awaits development. The Fruit Growers' Association is young, but it is vigorous and progressive, and steadily enlarging its usefulness. It is stated also by the provincial horticulturist that business men are beginning to show a greater interest in our fruit growing possibilities. The fair next week will give all the people of St. John an opportunity to see for themselves what orchards in this province can be made to produce, and it is especially important that business men possess themselves of this knowledge.

One industry helps another. Every encouragement should be given to the fruit growers, and to all those who in any way are working to increase the products of the farm and the attractiveness of country life. We do not want to discover when the next census is taken that rural New Brunswick has been standing still, while its young people have been lured away to building up the towns or the new provinces of the west.

CARL GREY'S TRIBUTE

The people of England have been told the truth about Sir Wilfrid Laurier by one who knows, and whose word will not be disputed. The tribute paid to Sir Wilfrid by Earl Grey is both timely and valuable. During the recent election campaign there were English tones and English Tory newspapers which grossly maligned Sir Wilfrid Laurier, representing him as an enemy of the Empire, and one who preferred annexation. This is flatly denied by Earl Grey, who declares his "affection and admiration for that distinguished statesman," who believed that his policy would strengthen both Canada and the crown. This may not be what the English Tories would like Earl Grey to say, but it is the truth and well deserved.

Canada has a warm friend in the late governor-general, and he will lose no opportunity to promote Canadian interests in the mother country. He was a citizen of Canada during a period of wonderful expansion, and he took pains to make himself familiar with the country, even to the extent of journeying to the unsettled regions of the far north. He is therefore able to speak with knowledge and authority.

PROMISE AND PERFORMANCE

Mr. Borden's first appointments to the Senate have subjected him to some criticism. Mr. Lariviere is 69 years old and Mr. A. C. Bell is 64. They do not therefore infuse the Senate with young blood. But there is another criticism. Mr. Borden when in opposition was very strong on the subject of reform in the mode of selecting members of the Senate. Even more so was Dr. Sproule, who in a speech on the senate in 1909 said of the Laurier government—

"They have appointed only politicians to the Senate, and very poor ones at that. As soon as politicians on that side have been discarded by declared unworthy to represent the people in this chamber, they are thrust into our Canadian House of Lords. If we can find no better use for the Senate than to make it a refuge for politicians discarded by the people, it would be better to abolish it altogether."

Both Mr. Bell and Mr. Lariviere were discarded politicians, whom the people had declined to elect to the House of Commons.

SOUTH AMERICA

The Times yesterday referred to an effort that is being made to encourage trade between Canada and the republics of South America, the idea of the promoter of the scheme, who believes such trade can be developed, being that a line of steamers should be subsidized.

An article in this week's issue of the Maritime Merchant views the question from a somewhat different standpoint. Mr. A. H. Whitman, of Halifax, has been touring the South American republics, and after visiting Bahia, Rio de Janeiro, Santos, Monte Video and Buenos Ayres, has given to the Maritime Merchant an expression of his views. He found that practically all the native South American trade is to Europe, and that European goods are not to be given a preference to a thing of American origin which they have formerly been getting in Europe. Again, he says—

"Europe has the call, and it was quite startling to me to find the prejudice down there against American goods. British goods have a splendid reputation in all the South American states I visited, and I should say that the French come next. Germany, I was told, is not holding the candle she had a few years ago. The prices of German goods were low enough, but the quality was not up to the English standard. A thing that has helped English prestige in South America very greatly is the character of the work done by English construction companies where they have taken contracts for great works. Wherever you go you see these and they are a monument to British thoroughness and integrity."

From this it would appear that Canadian goods would not only have to overcome prejudice in favor of Europe, but also meet the assumption that they were the same as United States goods; for the South Americans know very little about Canada. It is a wonderful story Mr. Whitman tells, however, about the growth and progress of the southern republics, especially in Argentina and Brazil. They have a trade worth sharing in, if the thing were practicable.

Hon. Mr. Hazen will have the hearty support of all the citizens in his efforts to persuade the Borden government to carry out the late government's plans for the development of St. John.

County Secretary Kelley and Com. Cochran are convinced after visiting Ontario and Massachusetts that a prison farm is what St. John, or the whole province, needs. Let public sentiment now be aroused and this reform accomplished.

Mr. E. Tiffin told a Montreal paper this week that this would undoubtedly prove the most successful year in the history of the Intercolonial Railway, and he was confident a large surplus would be shown.

Eighty-three municipalities in Ontario—that is to say, four cities, thirteen towns, twenty villages and forty-six townships—have so far made their arrangements for local option campaigns next January. The cities are Belleville, Chatham, Fort William and Port Arthur, and the towns Aylmer, Berlin, Blenheim, Blind River, Forest, Goderich, Gravenhurst, Listowel, Mitchell, Petrolia, Ridgeway, Simcoe and Uxbridge.

The Duke of Sutherland's plan to bring out a large number of agricultural laborers from England and Scotland and settle them on farms in Canada is heartily approved by Sir James Whitney, premier of Ontario. After a conference with the Duke, Sir James said that he and his colleagues were unanimous in endorsing the scheme. "It is very praiseworthy," said he, "and we told the Duke of Sutherland that when the project is got into concrete form the government of Ontario would help him in every possible way."

Toronto is wrestling with the slum problem. A sub-committee of the board of health, after enquiry, has submitted a report recommending drastic changes in regard to tenements, water supply, drainage and sanitation. For congested districts they recommend a housing by-law. In addition they say: "Suburban garden cities are required with rapid transportation facilities at single fare. We require a proper scheme of city planning and to secure control of the area surrounding the city for about five miles, by securing an option on the required districts, or by annexing the necessary territory."

Discussing the agricultural problem in the older provinces of Canada, the Toronto Globe says: "The conditions of life on the farm have not improved as rapidly as in the city. There should be a systematic effort to make the farmer's life a more desirable one. Good roads; rural mail delivery; a public telephone system; really efficient rural schools, with a far larger proportion of male teachers than at present; reasonable freight rates; light electric railways connecting the chief centres of population with the farm; and, above all, a tariff more favorable to the man on the soil, would do much to redress the balance and tempt the people of eastern Canada back to the land."

Appropos of civic reform, the Toronto World tells this story of what the mayor does in Kansas City:—"The mayor holds what he calls his 'cabinet' every Monday afternoon. This is an informal and straight discussion of pending city affairs between the mayor and a representative group of doctors, lawyers, merchants, engineers and journalists. When Mayor Brown was elected he declined the counsel of party leaders and asked leading citizens and the departmental heads to meet with him once a week and talk over the city's business, with the view of improving the administration and consulting over pending questions. His plan has been successful and has not only resulted beneficially, by introducing better and more practical methods, but has stimulated public interest and civic spirit."

ARMY OF TURKS AND ARABS THREATENS TRIPOLI

Malta, Oct. 28.—It is reported from Tripoli that a panic has seized that city since it became known that a force of 80,000 Turks and Arabs are threatening the place. The Italians have been taken completely by surprise.

A report from an Italian source says that the losses in the battle of Thursday were 1,000 killed or wounded on the Turkish side and 100 Italians. Another army expedition to Tripoli sailed from Naples last night. The troops were embarked secretly.

"POLICE VERSOE"

(William Wilberforce, in the Living Church.)

If life is strife till life be past,
For souls who own a Father's hand,
How well that we should rest at last,
If life is strife.

We struggle on from morn till noon,
And wonder when our feet shall stand
In regions fraught with holier life.

When the last blow on self is cast,
When the last sword-thrust, whose combat
Has ruled our latest will is past—
Then ends the strife.

We know not what that life shall be,
What regions yet unknown are there,
What knowledge we shall one day see—
What glory best!

But into his sure, so free—
Beyond the besting of the sea,
The soul its armor-chain must wear.

The symbol of our strife; when we
Rise high above our mood's despair,
And we shall gain the victory—
In upper air.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

THROUGH WORRY

"How did Thompson get so bald?"
"Oh, half his hair came out through worrying about a girl."
"But how about the other half?"
"That came out after the girl married him!"

QUALITY OR QUANTITY

Which Do You Prefer?—Newbro's Herpicide Represents Quality

Did you ever have a dealer offer you a large bottle of something and tell you it was a better remedy for the hair than Newbro's Herpicide and cheaper because in a larger bottle?

What? Certainly we knew you had. Many other people have, too. What would you say to that same dealer were he to tell you a silver dollar was worth more than a five-dollar gold piece because it is larger?

Such an attempt being a reflection upon your good sense you would probably say some rather pointed things to him. Now would he be justified? Your self-respect would demand it.

Well, there are just as many good reasons for the difference in size between those bottles as there are for the difference in size between a silver dollar and the five dollar gold piece.

The truth is that the large bottle isn't half large enough.

There is more virtue in a half pint of Newbro's Herpicide than in a gallon of some of the so-called hair preparations.

There is a dollar worth of results in the bottle of Herpicide, but do you know what is in the rest?

No. Then why buy it? Your judgment, intelligence and the experience of your friends, if not your own, cry out against it.

You know when you go into that store that Herpicide is what you need and want. You know that Herpicide is the original scalp prophylactic.

You know that Herpicide kills the dandruff germ.

You know that Herpicide stops falling hair.

You know that Herpicide makes the hair light, fluffy and beautiful.

You know these things in the same way you know that the five dollar gold piece, notwithstanding its size, is more valuable than the silver dollar.

Then insist on having genuine Herpicide. One dollar size bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

Applications obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Send for in postage or silver sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. E. Clinton Brown, special agent.

HANDSOME PRESENTS

The Wedding of Miss Elsie Ritchie to Wm. H. Rowley

(Ottawa Citizen.)

An interesting marriage was celebrated very quietly this morning at a quarter to eight o'clock in All Saints' church, when Miss Elsie, youngest daughter of the late Chief Justice, Sir William Ritchie, was married to William H. Rowley, of Woodfield House, Rev. A. W. MacKay, rector of All Saints' assisted by Rev. G. Philip Woodcombe, performed the ceremony and the wedding matches were played at the beginning and conclusion of the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, J. A. Ritchie, looked very charming in a gown of soft white tulle, with trimmings of white silk fringe and little silk tassels. She wore a becoming picture hat of black velvet with black willow plumes and carried a lovely bouquet of white orchids and gardenias.

Owing to the recent death of the bride's mother the wedding was a very quiet one and there were no attendants or invited guests. Nevertheless the church was well filled with numbers of the friends of the bride and groom as well as their relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Rowley left immediately after the ceremony by the eight-thirty train in a private car for Montreal, New York and the South, and after their return they will reside in Woodfield house, Mr. Rowley's handsome residence in Bay street.

The bride donned a handsome pony coat and black pointed fox fur as she was leaving the church.

Among the large number of magnificent presents received by the bride were a beautiful diamond and sapphire bracelet, a gold watch bracelet and two fur coats from the groom, a diamond pendant from Earl and Countess Grey, and a crown Derby dinner service from the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' association.

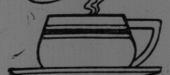

Among those present at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Ritchie of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Rowley of Peterborough, Mrs. William Hodgins and Miss Betty Hodgins of London, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, Miss Grace Ritchie, Miss Frank Ritchie and her three children.

BULL CHEW GUM

American Promoters Begin a Campaign in London

THINK THEY CAN DO IT

A $750,000 Company is to Be Formed—Soda Water Project Was a Success, Now for The Chewing Gum

(Times Special Correspondence.) London, Oct. 18.—Chewing gum, long regarded as a distinctly American habit, will soon be almost universal throughout the length and breadth of the British Isles if the fond hope of a band of American promoters, who have begun operations in this city is fulfilled. Tired of the refusal of the British people to buy American chewing gum, these promoters have arrived in town determined to force it down British throats, figuratively speaking.

Officials have already been reeled in the Strand, and one of the largest manufacturers of chewing gum in the United States is in charge of operations. His name is associated with a particular flavor of gum which became immensely popular in America a few years ago. His intention is to form a stock company with a capital of $750,000 for the manufacture and sale of gum in this country.

The manufacturer has already succeeded in interesting one of the largest and richest of London druggists, who has branch stores all over town. This druggist has already gone in for American soda water, installing expensive plants and catering for the American trade in the summer and fall months. Outside of one big dry goods store his stores are the only places where it is possible to get a really satisfactory American soda in London, and some of his shops, especially one in the Strand, did flourishing business last summer.

This success has undoubtedly made him ripe for the chewing gum man, and he has agreed to act as a sort of distributing centre for supplying druggists throughout the United Kingdom, as well as to find some of the money for the manufacturing plant. To those who know the English this attempt to introduce the delights of gum chewing among them has many humorous elements. Try an Englishman with a piece of gum and after turning it about in his mouth he invariably swallows it. He knows nothing about its uses and apparently is dead to its virtues.

"Do you think chewing gum will ever have a large sale in England?" asked a well-informed Englishman the other day. "No," he replied, after giving the matter profound thought. "Food is too cheap."

A great many people in this country hold that the chewing gum habit is largely responsible for the American being that in a sense he retains the gum in his mouth and talk at the same time, but what ever it is, it is not a very pleasant habit to have in one's mouth, and it is not a very pleasant habit to have in one's mouth, and it is not a very pleasant habit to have in one's mouth.

BOILED SALMON WITH MAYONNAISE. Select a thick fleshy portion, wrap in a clean cloth and simmer in salted boiling water till thoroughly cooked, allowing ten minutes to the pound. Carefully lift out of the water, thoroughly drain, more the cloth and cut the fish into slices. Garnish with lemon and cress. Serve with mayonnaise.

BRAMBLES. One cup of raisins chopped fine with one lemon and two crackers, one cup sugar, one egg, one-quarter milk. Mix thoroughly. Put raisins, crackers and lemon rind and pulp through meat chopper, three times. Add the mixture to the egg, and mix well. Cut in circles, press together after wetting edges so they will stick together, or an easier way is to take half of pastry, roll thin and in bottom of large biscuit tin. Spread with mixture and cover with rest of pastry. Cut in squares. Bake in oven for ten minutes.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is a powerful medicine, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thus restoring the foundation of the system, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The promoters have much faith in its curative powers, and they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. For list of testimonials, address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

WALL STREET NOTES OF TODAY

Direct Special Wire to J. C. Mackintosh & Co. New York, Oct. 28.—Gary says Steel Corporation never sought monopoly, denies any misrepresentation to President Roosevelt in T. C. & I deal and declares that company will win suit on its merits. President Taft at Chicago says he would rather lose a hand than do anything to disorganize business but will enforce anti-trust law to the letter. Independent Tobacco Manufacturers' Association to file objections to Tobacco plan. Government's plan for Alaska provides for leasing coal lands and ownership of railroads. Duns' say banking situation is greatly strengthened by improvement in foreign money markets. Pearson syndicate reported to have sold their oil interests in Mexico to Standard Oil Co. for $20,000,000 gold. Jacob H. Dickinson says steel suit will be pushed with utmost speed. Futures this week 231 compared with 258 previous week. Union Pacific's September net increase $72,000; Southern Pacific $181,613. Total transactions Friday on stock exchange 1,364,588 shares, of which about 700,000 were Steel common. Reported movement of week's currency shows cash held by banks gained $856,000. Twelve industrials declined 2.32 per cent; twenty active railroads declined 30 per cent. DOW JONES & CO.

WINTER SCHEDULE ON INTERCOLONIAL

Monday's trains on the Intercolonial Railway will run in and out of St. John on the winter time schedule, which goes into effect all over the line at 12:01 o'clock tomorrow morning. There being no Sunday trains at this end of the government railway system, the change does not affect St. John travelers until Monday, when there is likely to be an extra rush of travel on account of the holiday and the consequent cheap fares. Those who want to take the morning express, No. 2 out of the city will do well to remember that this train is to depart at 7 a. m. instead of 7:10 a. m. Otherwise the changes are slight. The suburban formerly leaving at 9 a. m. is to be discontinued. No. 26 express, commonly and erroneously termed the "P. R.," will depart at 12:40 as usual. The Sussex train will leave at 5:15 p. m. as usual. No. 134, the Maritime Express, connection is to leave at 6:30 p. m., five minutes earlier, and is to carry a through sleeper for Montreal. The evening suburban, No. 138, is to leave at 6:10 p. m. instead of 6:15, as formerly. The noon suburban at 12:15 and the later suburban at 11:00 p. m. are to be unchanged, and the night express for Halifax, No. 10, is to remain true to old traditions, departing at 11:30 p. m. The Boston train, between St. John and Point du Chene, is, of course, to be discontinued as the Ocean Limited is to go off the route for the winter. As for the arrivals of trains, there is to be but little change. All the regular trains are to arrive as at present, except No. 133, the Maritime Express connection, which carrying the through sleeper from Montreal will arrive at 2:00 p. m. instead of at 10:40 a. m. as at present. The suburbs are to arrive at 7:50 a. m., 2:40 p. m., and 8:20 p. m. The night trains between Sydney and Halifax are to be continued on the route. St. John passengers for Sydney connect with No. 17 at Turvo by leaving on No. 26 at 12:40 p. m.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT MATTERS

The commissioners of the Provincial Hospital, Lancaster, yesterday afternoon heard reports of a commendable nature presented by the superintendent, Dr. Aulim. A tribute was paid to his administration. Hon. J. K. Fleming was chosen chairman to succeed Hon. Mr. Hazen. Asked with regard to the Valley Railway the premier said that Hon. Mr. Borden had been absent when he was in Ottawa but he had taken the matter over with Hon. Mr. Cochrane, the new minister of railways, and he believed that the outlook for the new railway was bright. It appeared practically certain that the St. John & Quebec Railway Company, of which A. R. Gould of Presque Isle is president, would enter into the contract. He knew nothing of the company in which Edmund Bristol, M. P., for Centre Toronto, was said to be interested.

MONEY THERE. Nothing is sacred nowadays. A bankrupt was telling the court how poor he was, and how much money he had lost by commercial depression, when the official receiver remarked:—"You have very good teeth, Mr. Stylish."—"Yes, innocent replied the bankrupt, "they are very sound."—"How much did you give for them?"—"The next question—and it was a poser. "Must I answer such a rude question?" asked the bankrupt, appealing to the judge. "Certainly," answered the man of law. "Well, I gave fifty guineas for them."—"Ah, very good," said the official receiver; "then hand them over for the benefit of your creditors."

MR. BARNHILL'S POSITION.

The members of the International Waterways Commission have been confirmed in their positions by King George on advice of Premier Assiniboia. The talk in Conservative circles to the effect that the Borden government would make new appointments is therefore premature. A. P. Barnhill of St. John is one of the members.

NURSE DECLINES GARNETT MEDAL
Not Worth Wearing, New York Girl's Opinion
Gossip of Gotham
Death of Dr. Jackola, Who Made Love to Mrs. Belmont—Pulpit Denunciation of the Hobbie Skirt and Smoking by Women—Vassar College and the Home Life

(Times Special Correspondence)
New York, Oct. 27.—In the opinion of Emma G. Paulding a pretty nurse recently graduated from the city's training school, a Carnegie medal is not worth wearing. Word was received by this week that she had been awarded one of them by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission for saving the life of a young woman in Rinebeck, N. Y., on August 28, 1910. The announcement appeared to disturb the nurse a great deal and she declared that she would send back the medal when it reached her.

"I do not want it," said the young woman with emphasis. "I did not seek it and I regret exceedingly that it was awarded to me. Such honors—if they be no classified—mean nothing and are a waste of money."
In an age where everything from pinche and howling medals to dice playing decorations are eagerly coveted by most of the human race, the attitude of the nurse has evoked much surprise. The Lord of Sibbo Carle, who returned after his summer vacation in Scotland last week, it came with the force of a bolt, being the first time since he organized and advised the nurse commission that any one has refused to accept the honor it has seen fit to bestow on any one for a deed of heroism.

The Man Who Bothered Mrs. Belmont
It is no secret among the friends of Mrs. Oliver P. H. Belmont, mother of the Duchess of Marlborough, that the untimely death of Dr. John Jackola, while a source of regret to her in one way, has taken a big load off her mind in another. Ever since she had him summoned to court last spring for annoying her with his attentions, she has been in dread of him turning up and renewing his quest for her heart and Jackola felt dejected by his treatment in court and for a time it was feared by the friends of the complainant would attend some form of by-law. He seemed to think that he had been treated shabbily by Mrs. Belmont, who welcomed him to her home as one time a desirable guest and affected to be keenly appreciative of his interest in her work for the advancement of women's suffrage.

FABLES IN SLANG
Series of 1911 --- BY GEORGE ADE.

THE 1911 FABLE OF THE JUVENILE STRINGERS VERSUS THE VETERAN CAMPAIGNER
(Copyright, 1911, by George Ade.)
Once there was a Lone Man at a Summer Camp.
He was a Maverick and never had required any Ribbons at Beauty Contests but he was kind-hearted and had good Manners and was known at the Banks, consequently the traps were freshly baited every Morning.
Among the Resorters were several half-blown Orchids of the Ethel Variety. They were accustomed to Doll themselves in Pale Shadys and stand unconcernedly about, never seeming to realize that they were being sized up by Clusters of stupefied Admirers.

THE 1911 FABLE OF THE KIND HE LIKED AND THE KIND HE LIKED TO SEE

(Copyright, 1911, by George Ade.)
Once there was a Husband and Father who used to Buffalo and Ballyhack and Browbeat the opposite Gender.
When he opened up on the Misus and the only Daughter at Breakfast, they would cover and try to hide behind the Graham Cans.
The subject of his Discourse was "The Kind of Woman that a Man Likes." He spoke confidently for the whole Male Population when he shot it into them that Men didn't like to see Women all diked out in Fussy Clothes with Oriental Sashes and Face Powder and great swabs of Boughten Hair and circus Hats.
No, indeed!
Men liked to see the quiet and modest Stuff—marking the True Lady who could clothe herself on $30.00 a year.

HE PUTS IN GOOD WORD FOR CANADA

Armchair Reflections
BY H. L. SPENCER
About two generations ago nearly everybody was familiar with Moore's Ballad of the Lake of the Diamond Swamp, and it was sung by nearly everybody who could sing. It told the story of an Indian girl, whose lover failed a fiery to be the light in the glow of the white canoe in which all night long she paddled over the surface of the lake, she having died; and how he "fashioned a boat of birchen bark" in which he followed the maiden spirit, but his boat returned no more; "I remember how my mother sang it, how my school-master sang it, and how the 'singing-master' sang it, but I do not remember that the lesson it might have inculcated impressed itself upon any of us. "What phantoms we are and what phantoms we pursue," and from their pursuit we retrace our steps no more. We may capture the object of our pursuit, be it wealth, fame or power, but when it is enjoyed, it is found to have deceived us with its promise, and when we are disillusioned it is too late, and we have not the heart or courage to embrace other illusions. The most gorgeous butterfly, when grasped, only leaves the hand that grasps it. I remember the grand projects of my school-master, many and many a year ago, when he was a young man, full of ambition and high hopes, but so matter what they were they were never quite satisfactory in their results. Mr. Morgan wants another ten millions. Mr. Taft wants to be re-elected to the presidency and Sothwell wants an automobile, but Mr. Morgan's ambition is to give ten millions more, Mr. Taft will find that the presidency of the United States is not what he thought it was, and Sothwell will find that his automobile is a most vexatious and expensive thing. Anticipation, like distance, "sinks enchantment to the view." Men who have reached the summit of their ambition are in most instances as ready to surrender their hold on life as the vesting beggar, and the one who has nothing more to give them, and what it has given them has failed to satisfy their desires. It is sad to read that in the pursuit of phantoms so many of us, like Moore's hero of the Diamond Swamp, have wasted our lives.

Englishman Sets At Rest Tipping Bogey
Acknowledges Many Courtesies in Cross-Canada Trip—Earl Gray's Welcome Home—The Matter of Precedence of Canadian Ministers and Agents-General
(Times' Special Correspondence)
London, Oct. 17.—Recently some prospective tourists in Canada, have been deterred from making the trip by stories as to the excessive tipping system, pool hotel service and high charges. J. W. Mills, of Highcombe, Coventry, who recently made a trip from coast to coast, on his return here, brings an entirely different story. He says:—
"It affords me great pleasure to say that, taking the value of money in each country at its proper basis, which is in my estimation that a dollar is of the value so far as its spending capacity is concerned, of about 2s. 6d. in England, I do not consider the tips in Canada any higher than in England. A point which impressed itself on me was the great courtesies I received in all the Canadian towns, at the hotels, and on the trains; and my advice to those who want a pleasant holiday is undoubtedly, go to Canada."
Among the arrivals in London this week have been Lord and Lady Mount Stephen, whose town house is not far from that of Sir Gilbert and Lady Balfour. The Duke of Devonshire, who recently visited the Duke of Northumberland, and the Lord mayor (Sir W. H. Stephenson), are to attend a banquet in honor of the Duke of Northumberland, who has played a great part in Britain's political history, and you are aware that the Duke's foreign secretary is a kinsman of the ex-governor-general.

Position of Canad in Ministers
One of the best known illustrated weeklies in London, by a man who has long been a resident in London, has drawn up at a time when Canada and Australia were looked upon in the same category as the crown colonies are today. A Canadian resident in London who has held high office in his province, in alluding to this question, recalled an incident at a state function in the capital of the province, which was attended by Dominion ministers, ex-ministers, M.P.s and other persons entitled to either permanent or temporary pretexts according to the king's regulations. The strict enforcement of the latter led to the premier of the province and his colleagues having to walk in the procession after ordinary M.P.s of the Dominion house.
Now that such a personage as the Duke of Connaught is at Ottawa, the time seems particularly opportune to unravel a subject which we know has been before the minds of the experimenter and some of the provincial premiers.
Another point is the respective positions occupied over here by the agent-general or official representatives of the provinces in relation to the high commissioner and especially in relation to the agent-general of the Australian States.
There are occasionally extraordinary omissions in official invitations to public functions issued by the City of London; much attention is paid to representatives of little known petty foreign states, while those who are officially in England on behalf of important areas of Canada do not receive recognition, and the opportunity is lost of becoming better acquainted with the leading men of the mother country, to the disadvantage of both.

Good Effects
There has been, of course, great objection made by even the honest men who heretofore acted as trustees and administrators, who hold that the government has robbed them of a perfectly legitimate means of making a living, but he office has had several good effects that could have been obtained, probably, in no other way.
It has measurably reduced the cost of administration and trusteeship, which under the old order, was a serious item of expense, especially to the comparatively poor. Formerly, it was often necessary to have several changes of trustees, necessitating the services of lawyers. Under the present arrangement of guardianship of the public trustee is continuous, and the legal charges proportionately reduced.
Many lawyers and bankers now prefer to work in conjunction with the public trustee, and turning the property in their hands over to the public official, act as intermediary with their clients. In this way, although the office has no powers of control over the general business of trusteeship, it exercises a supervision over a large portion of it.
The institution of the office has also had the effect, Mr. Stewart says, of putting the lawyers and others in their proper place. Formerly they ruled matters with a high hand and were considered the "sultans." Now, with the public trustee always in competition they have to sit up.

OFFICIAL FATHER TO ENGLISH ORPHANS

Charles W. Stewart, British Official Trustee, Although Office is Only Four Years Old, Has Charge of $100,000,000—Strange Tasks That Fall to His Lot

(Times' Special Correspondence)
London, Oct. 19.—Four years ago the office of public trustee was established in England, much to the regret of those lawyers, bankers and others who had been making a fat thing out of administering orphan's estates. So rapid has been the growth of the business of the office that Charles W. Stewart, the government guardian, now has $100,000,000 of the English people's money in his possession. As fact circumstances will permit the public are changing from the old style to the new and Stewart says that upwards of $30,000,000 additional is already in sight, and no man knows when the golden flood that is pouring into his office will stop.
When the government first opened the office Stewart boasted of four assistants in three little rooms in Clement's Lane, hard by the Law Courts. Today 255 men scattered through 62 rooms are necessary to handle the extraordinarily intricate details of the great business. Another large addition to the staff will soon be necessary, and a temporary structure of wood and sheet iron is now being erected to house the new clerks until a special seven-story permanent building for the sole use of the public trustee and his staff is ready.
The Official Father
Charles W. Stewart, upon whose rests the increasingly heavy responsibility of this work, is a tall, erect, pleasant-faced man, typical of the Englishmen who hold important posts in the government service. His dark hair is patched with grey, and his mustache is almost white. He is an ideal man to play the official father to orphans, whose worldly possessions have been left in his care. He is kindly and cordial, and one can imagine that he takes keen pleasure in managing personally the non-toe-large inheritances of the many children who are his wards.

No fortune is too small to occupy his time and none too large to be beyond the elastic machinery of his organization. Indeed he is now managing estates of a total value of less than $20, as well as several of more than $500,000. In the case of the former it has become part of his duties to allot to various school children their weekly pocket money, and work in and week out through the year he sends or delivers at his office sums ranging from 50 cents to $5.00 for the purchase of cricket bats and balls, tennis rackets, footballs or other accessories of healthy school life. Instances of peculiar bequests which it is his business to carry out are constantly cropping up. Recently he had the unusual task of buying a wooden leg left to a poor crippled girl. Stewart would take no end of pleasure in executing that bequest personally, playing the part of a

CHRISTIANS IN THE ARMY OF THE TURKS

Formerly None But Mussulmans Could Enter Military Service; Now Both Christians and Jews are in Ranks

(Times Special Correspondence)

Constantinople, Oct. 16.—For a long time there was much talk of putting an end to the exclusion of Christians from the Turkish army, and of sincerely applying the fundamental principle of the constitution that all Ottoman citizens shall be equal in their duties, as in their rights, but it was always doubted whether the government would have the courage to call up non-Mussulmans for military service. It was known that only the Armenians really desired to make use of this constitutional right and obligation, because, taught by the painful experience of the past, they wished to prevent the peril of future massacres, or, at least, to find themselves armed to meet them.

But this sentiment was certainly not one to inspire Mussulmans with sympathy for the admission of elements foreign to the Islamic world into an army which tradition represents as the product of a religious rather than of a political organization. The government, however, courageously took the decision early in the present year to abandon all hesitation, and to call to the colors all the non-Mussulmans, both Christian and Jew. And the new ideas has been carried out, an important event has been added to Turkish history. At one time Christian children were seized and incorporated in the ranks of the Janissaries, but they were also converted at the same time to Islamism.

Today the Christians are incorporated in the army, but they preserve their religion. There are no longer any "rays" in Turkey; all are Ottoman subjects, sons of the fatherland, and called upon to defend it. The Christian communities are no longer insignificant minorities, weakly defended by their patriarchs, but vital parts of the organism.

In a speech to the new recruits who joined the colors in the spring, the Minister of War, Mahmud Shevket Pasha, gave expression to words that were truly affectionate and generous: sections of the party of union and progress offered presents, and the officers received the men in the most friendly manner. A very good beginning was, in fact, made, and for some time at least this association of Mussulman and non-Mussulman soldiers will develop without incident, and it is certain that the brotherliness of the Ottoman peoples will have taken a great step forward.

Certain questions relating to the treatment of non-Mussulmans in barracks could not be settled at first. In all barracks the Mussulmans have their priests (hodjas) just as in nearly all European armies there is a military chaplain. The Mussulmans make the Friday religious observance, and eat no food that is forbidden by the "Shari'at."

The Christian patriarchs and the grand rabbinate have rightly demanded that their faithful shall be granted identical rights in accordance with the principles of their respective religions, and that in order to facilitate this diversity of regime there should be created military groups of Christians (compasies, if not battalions) separate from the Mussulmans. Negotiations were in progress with this end in view, but nothing had been decided when the Christians were all called under arms and mingled with the Mussulmans. Much has been done since to remedy these difficulties.

As a result of the disorder prevailing under the old regime all the registers of births were full of errors and irregularities, which, of course, gave rise to difficulties in drawing up the recruiting lists. It was found, for example, that people were registered as 23 years of age, who were actually 18 or 20. So a diligent revision of the lists was necessary, but this has not been done. The medical inspection was carried out in a very perfunctory manner, so that even blind men and not a few cripples have been recruited.

The language question is a hindrance. At least three-quarters of the Christians do not know a word of Turkish, so how can they understand their superior officers who do not know a word of Greek or Armenian?

A recruit can, on fairly easy terms, get exemption from three years' service, and do only three months by paying about $800.

MARRIED IN THE MAKING
Have you ever noticed that half the troubles of the young housewife are of her own seeking? She will take the nice little bit of cold roast beef or mutton, hash it, mince it, stew it, spend as much as two hours in turning it into a tough, colorless, over-salted or over-seasoned dish. She is anxious all the time as she cooks it, most anxious of all, as the steam rises, when she has washed all the fat away, tries to make light of the fat, and bites his tongue in an attempt to reduce the wish that she had left the mutton cold, and merely set it in a clean dish, with a sprig or two of parsley, a dash, and a bottle of H. P. Sauce.

But young housewives are learning wisdom, hundreds and the land of them. H. P. Sauce sells in larger and larger quantities every week. Cold meat is coming back to its honored place in the homey little family—and not only so, but the housewives have discovered that when the pint can no longer be served cold, H. P. takes all the responsibility of flavoring off the shoulders of the inexperienced cook.

H. P. is a rich, thick sauce, not hot, but pungent and fruity flavored; it is made of the choicest tropical fruits and spices and rare salt vinegar.

When you must hash, or mince, or stew, just see for yourself what a difference is brought to the dish by the addition of a spoonful of this delicious sauce, but be it is H. P.

Specialist Did Skin Trouble No Good

Very Itchy and Disfiguring. Got a Little Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Was Cured.

"For two summers I suffered with skin trouble on my arms, and on my legs from my knees down. My arms were badly disfigured, and I kept them covered. It came like the hives, and was very itchy. I consulted a specialist, who gave me medicine, as well as an ointment, but seemed to do no good. It was beginning to appear on my face."

"I got a little Cuticura Ointment and some Cuticura Soap. The first touch of Ointment seemed to relieve, and before the Cuticura Ointment was finished I was cured. I have not the least sign of trouble. I think it would have spread over my whole body if Cuticura Soap and Ointment had not cured me. I am delighted with them, and do feel pleased to think I have something I have confidence in. I tell all my friends about them, and I think Cuticura Ointment is the best I ever saw." (Signed) M. J. Cold-Sore Began to Heal With First Use of Cuticura Ointment.
"Cuticura Ointment cured a very bad cold-sore on my upper lip. I tried lots of other remedies, but nothing did me any good till I used Cuticura Ointment, and from that time the first application it began to heal. Now there is not even a scar left." BRITAIN MAY HAVE TO FACE COAL STRIKE

Several Factors Combine to Bring About a Serious Situation

CONFERENCE FAILS

Masters and Men Not Able to Agree on Question of Pay For Coal Mined From Places Hard to Get At

London, Oct. 28.—Great Britain is threatened with a great coal strike. Several factors are combining to produce a situation in the coal market which promises very serious results to consumers and to the country generally. In the first place, the possibility of a national strike of miners in the near future hangs like a cloud over the market, and this possibility was by no means lessened by the failure of a conference of masters and men held a few days ago on the troubled question of "abnormal places" to arrive at any agreement.

During the last five weeks there have been several grave warnings of the probability of a strike from people acquainted with the circumstances, as a result of which householders and large commercial consumers of coal are rushing to get in stores in order that they may be protected from an anticipated rise of prices. And in the third place, simultaneously with this extraordinary demand, there is abnormal difficulty in getting out the supply of coal, owing indirectly to the railway strike.

The failure of the meeting referred to is the most important feature in the immediate situation. The question of abnormal places has been a cause of unrest among miners over a great part of the kingdom for some time. An "abnormal place" is a spot in a coal seam where, owing to faults or other local circumstances, coal is difficult to get. Miners, who are, of course, paid according to the amount of coal extracted, say that when set to work on such places they find it difficult to make anything like the average rate of wages, and they ask that they shall be guaranteed a minimum.

The question bristles with difficulties. In different districts it has been dealt with by masters and men in varying ways dependent on local conditions. In some cases the settlements arrived at appear to have worked fairly satisfactorily, but they have been only local settlements, and in many coalfields the question has been a continual source of friction, notably in South Wales, where feeling among the men is now very high.

The chief point of difference in the treaties on each side is that the owners, while recognizing a miner's right to pay commensurate with the work done, propose to leave each locality entirely free to make its own settlement, and the miners wish for an understanding to apply throughout the country.

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Granville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth more to me than gold. As its strength, I am getting to tell you, it has restored my health and vigor. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. GRAS, GRANVILLE, R.F.D., GRANVILLE, VT.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, illustration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., writes all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

UNCONVENTIONALITIES
"You mustn't mind my not asking you to stay to dinner, Mrs. Huppender; there's just about enough roast beef for our family."
"Yes, that's a beautiful diamond, Jack. Dear—if it is a diamond, let me see the jeweller's bill for it, please."
"Hawkins, you oughtn't to let the barber cut your hair so short. It shows the shape of your head."
"You mean I have brought the book back at all, Mr. Linton; as soon as you borrowed it I sent out and bought another copy."
"Mighty well, old chap, talk to me a while, won't you? I'm troubled with insomnia."
"Dear Sir: In returning these sketches to you we suggest that you quit trying to break into the magazine. See if you can't get a job in a saw mill."—Chicago Tribune.

President of Big Manufacturing Concern Says Semi-Weekly Telegraph is Best Advertising Medium He Uses

COST PER INQUIRY is always interesting to advertisers, and the medium that produces the most inquiries and closes the most sales at the smallest cost is the one that all advertisers want to know about.

Here's something interesting about the SEMI-WEEKLY TELEGRAPH:

The president of one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country—a firm making an article useful to farmers—said that the Semi-Weekly Telegraph produced better results at less cost per inquiry than any publication he was using—and he uses some 150 in the United States and Canada.

He had the facts and figures tabulated, and according to his figures the average cost per inquiry in the Semi-Weekly Telegraph was 57 1-2c; the next lowest, $1.22; and one of the highest priced farm magazines, over $5.00.

This certainly shows which way the wind blows—and what's more interesting, the Semi-Weekly Telegraph can produce like results for you.

The farmer's trade is well worth going after and progressive advertisers are quickly seeing the value of bidding for this class of business.

A phone message or postal address below will bring you to the desired information regarding circulation and rates.

Suppose we talk it over:

The Semi-Weekly Telegraph used in conjunction with the Daily Telegraph and Times makes one of the strongest advertising propositions in the east—and our combination rate makes the 28,000 circulation especially interesting.

WAKE UP, WEAK MEN! GET SOME LIFE INTO YOU

What's the use of dragging your legs about like a wooden person. Feel like a person of spirit. Away with the pains and aches; off with this wretched feeling as if you were eighty years old and had one foot in the grave. Come and let me put life into your nerves; let me give you a new supply of youthful energy. Let me make you feel like throwing your chest out and your head up, and saying to yourself, "I AM STRONG AND HEALTHY!" Let me give you back that feeling of youthful fire, vim and courage. I can do it, so that in two months you will wonder that you ever felt so slow and poky as you do now.

It is for men who open their eyes in the morning upon a world that looks blue and discouraging; for men who feel tired, dependent and out of luck; who have lost the fighting spirit—those fellows who have almost concluded that nothing is worth fighting for—who have pains in the back, and who can't get rest from their sleep, and who wish that they were as strong as they used to be. It is all a matter of nervous energy—that is what aches you comes from—and that is what you can get from Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt. It is an invigorator of men's veins; you feel the exhilarating life blood dancing through your veins; you feel the exhilarating life blood dancing through your veins; you feel the exhilarating life blood dancing through your veins.

Now, what would you give to be able to say as these men do—that you are twice the man you have ever been before. You can do so, and it will cost you nothing until you experience these grand benefits. I have cured thousands of men who have squandered their savings of years in useless doctoring.

READ WHAT THE CURED SAY Read the Proof—Nothing Short of Miracles Are Being Performed Every Day Dear Sir,—I write to let you know that I am highly pleased with the work your Belt has done for me. It has done what no medicine would do. For years I have had to take medicine every night for constipation, and now your Belt has completely cured that trouble; also dyspepsia. I cannot thank you too highly for what you have done for me. I am recommending your Belt to all my friends with similar ailments, and no doubt you will hear from some of them soon.

My Belt is easy to use; put it on when you go to bed; you feel the flowing heat from it (no stinging or burning, as in the old style belts), and you feel the nerves tingle with the new life flowing into you. You get up in the morning feeling like a two-year-old. Wherever you are, I think I can give you the name of a man in your own town that I have cured. Just send me your address and let me try. This is my twenty-fourth year in the business of putting new vim into worn-out humanity, and I've got cures in nearly every town on the map. If you will come and see me, I'll explain it to you. If you can't call, let me send you my books, full of the things a man finds inspiring to strength and courage. Free if you send this coupon.

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY; HOME AND ABROAD

Bowling Intersociety League. In the Intersociety Bowling League last evening, on St. Peter's alleys, St. Michael's defeated the Knights of Columbus, the score being as follows:

Hockey The Six-Man Team. Brockville, Oct. 27.—Albert Kerr, the famous wing player of the Ottawa hockey team, who is spending a holiday at his old home here, is much interested in the discussion going on relative to the wisdom of making the terms of the National Hockey Association six men instead of seven.

"It may work out all right," he says, "and I cannot see any serious objection to giving the innovation a trial. The game as played today by first-class Canadian teams is as near perfection as it is possible to make it, therefore nothing for them can be hoped for along this line by dropping the rover. With only twelve men on the ice it will give more uncovered playing surface in which the contestants will have a wider area to display what is in each man individually. This may be only conjecture, however, on my part as each side will be free to do just as much spectacular checking."

"There is one thing I am sure of, and that is that the change will not relieve the amount of work that a wing player is supposed to do in every game if he performs his work faithfully. He must go up with every rush to be ready for a pass from either the centre or opposite side within shooting distance of the nets. Instead of two men to feed from the centre and sides and vice versa, now there will be only one, and the centre man will have not set-up in his play, which was relieved by the rover. With one or two men ruled off and the other side full strength a match may be decided in a few minutes against the superior team by the quick scoring of goals which will be possible by such a fast uncovered ice area at the disposal of use of the team not being penalized."

Kerr is bigger and stronger than ever. He will most likely be found again on the line-up of the Ottawa champions. He will undoubtedly be a tower of strength to any sextette or septette.

Baseball The Spinnaker. New York, Oct. 27.—Hughie Jennings is not disturbed over the charge Harry Davis, captain of the Athletics, made against him of tipping off the Giants to spike Frank Baker.

"As Bert Williams says," said Hughie, "I will treat him with silent contempt." Just the same I will get even with Davis next spring when he will be managing the Cleveland club. When he brings his team to Detroit I will get the Tigers to beat them four straight and then I'll say to Davis: "There, now, take that for your impudence!"

John McCreary takes the charges made by Davis much more seriously than Jennings does. "If Harry Davis says I told him that Jennings had tipped me to have any of my players spike Baker," said McCreary, "he tells a lie—pure and simple. The facts are these: After Baker was injured in the first game he applied the vilest term anybody can handle to Snodgrass and said that the only creature of that kind would do what Snodgrass had done. Then I butted in and said: 'That's impossible because I wouldn't have that sort of a person on my team.' Harry Davis then started to abuse Snodgrass, and I told him that everybody knew that since Ty Cobb, of the Detroit club had spiked Baker in 1910, the third baseman was Baker's tool-put. I remember reading an account of Baker stepping back and attempting to touch a runner in a ladylike manner. I never mentioned the name of Jennings to Davis in any way. Davis simply trying to make capital out of the fact that Jennings and I have close friends many years, and are close friends today."

The Ring Morris Next Try-Out. New York, Oct. 27.—When Carl Morris received his terrible walloping at the hands of Jim Flynn in Madison Square Garden it was freely predicted by those who saw the affair that the original "White Hope" would surely quit the boxing game. But that experience has only served to make Morris all the more eager to land the title.

So through his New York manager, Billy Newmark, Morris has been matched to fight Jack Geyer, the Denver heavyweight, at the Empire A. C. on Monday, Nov. 13. It is said that Morris has been working desperately at the New Polo Club ever since he recovered from his fight with Flynn. Frank Erne and Caspar Leon have been busily engaged in tutoring the Oklahoma man, and they declare that he has improved 50 per cent since the Flynn battle. Morris showed his goodness in the affair with the Pueblo freeman, and with the aggressiveness that he is said to have gained since his should prove a vastly improved fighter.

Geyer stands six feet three and a half inches and weighs 225 pounds. He has won several hard battles and Harry Pollock is sponsor for the statement that he will make Morris travel at top speed all the time to keep up with him.

COUNTESS DE SWIRSKY AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Artistic Dancing Delights All And Wins Ovation for the Countess

To most of those who witnessed the dancing of Countess Tamara De Swirsky last evening in the Opera House, the performance was a revelation of the possibilities of this art. Her interpretation of the music which was both her inspiration and her accompaniment, is poetic and artistic to a degree difficult to describe.

The work of a master musician is to the hearing, her dancing is to the eye. The spirit of the music translated by the poetry of motion, but feebly describes her performance. The grace of her every motion makes her seem less like an ordinary human being than like a fairy at play.

Following the music with fidelity, the countess expresses in her movements and postures almost every emotion. In the lighter pieces she was like an irresponsible child in the freedom of her gaily comic, one or two of the more serious works she showed tremendous dramatic power. In accordance with the classic ideal, the dancer did not hamper the gracefulness of her movements by the stiff artificiality of modern clothing. The frankness and simplicity of her manner disarm conventional modesty and refinement.

The programme covered a wide range, and the difference with which each item was interpreted showed the great versatility of the artist.

Commencing with the spirited Russian dance, her next series included a very dainty exposition of the waltz, a poetic rendition of D'Voxalis Humoresque and Le Fladerman, one of the most pleasing to the eye of all her selections.

The pantomime and Ziguane dance which called for unusual powers for the expression of the varied emotions was next in order. It was followed by a rather weird Egyptian ballet.

Last series included some stately Greek dances, a very light and charming floral dance, and closed with the Bacchanal, a triumph of ray abandon.

One of the cleverest touches was the attitude of utter exhaustion which proved her true artistry for refusing an encore to the thunderous applause which marked the close of the programme.

The orchestra of symphony players rendered a number of other selections. It is an organization of unusual excellence and gave great pleasure.

The performance was attended by a large and fashionable audience. Another programme will be given tonight, but the strain of the work makes a matinee impossible.

NO OPERATION WAS EVER NEEDED HERE

Because Mrs. Goodine Used Dodd's Kidney Pills

Doctor Said She Would Have to Undergo Operation, But Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her.

Central Kingsley, York Co., N. B. Oct. 27.—(Special)—The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation. So said Mrs. J. V. Goodine of this place. But she says she is now a healthy woman for all need of it. Her operation had vanished. Mrs. Goodine used Dodd's Kidney Pills and in a few weeks, Mrs. Goodine's experience is as follows:

"I was very much troubled with Kidney Disease and unable to do my own work. The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation. After using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I was all better and able to do my work. This statement is true, as you can easily prove by enquiring among my neighbors."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys; cured kidney strain, all the pains and other causes of disease out of the blood. Thus Dodd's Kidney Pills are a natural cure for all kidney diseases and all ailments caused by diseased kidneys.

AMUSEMENTS IN ST. JOHN: WHAT THE PLAYHOUSES OFFER

NICKEL MONDAY. On Monday the Nickel will commence its programme at 10 a. m., as is the usual custom on holidays. This plan has proved very popular with the people, for it allows them the opportunity of seeing more than one show during the day, and also makes it possible to take out-of-town jaunts if they care to, and still see their favorite programme. Five magnificent pictures are announced for this bill, including favors to makes and favorite players. Miss Breck will sing "The Song of the Soul," from the play "The Circus," and Mr. Driscoll has a fine ragtime oddity ready; orchestra afternoon and evening. As the Nickel is always packed continually on public holidays the management advise all to seek seats early and avoid the rush hours, which are at 3 to 4:15 and from 7:45 to 9.

THE LYRIC. The Lyric management announce a special programme of vaudeville and pictures for the holiday, as follows:—(a) "The Millionaire, The Squatter, A Deal of Wits," (b) "Santas Cruz and Cliff Drive," educational; (c) Two big acts in one, Miss Mae Green singing comedienne and The Great Grogan, hand-balancer; (d) Teaching McFadden to Waltz, comedy (e) "The Grey Wolves," a drama of the west; matinee Monday 2:45; evening 7:15.

ETHEL'S CANTON. Little Ethel had been very naughty, so her mother, sent her from the room without any dinner, but when the pudding came on the scene she determined to give Ethel another chance. "Tell Ethel if she will be very, very good for the rest of the afternoon she may have some pudding," she said to the servant. The servant delivered the message and returned in a few minutes with the reply—"Please, mum, Miss Ethel wants to know what kind of pudding it is before she makes any promises."

NO TIMES ON MONDAY

Monday, being Thanksgiving Day, a public holiday, the Times-Star will not be published.

LOCAL NEWS

COLLEGE BOYS HOME
Several students from the colleges came to the city this morning and will spend Thanksgiving at their homes here.

NINE DEATHS.
The Board of Health report nine deaths during the last week. The causes of death were—Phthisis, typh, senility, paralysis, embolism, cerebral tumor, locomotor ataxia, chronic nephritis, chronic endocarditis, one each.

THE POLICE.
Sergeant Caples, who has been confined to his home for the last two weeks, is able to be around again, but is still not enjoying the best of health. He will do court duty for a while until he fully recovers. Policeman Gosselin going on street duty.

ST. JOHN CHORAL SOCIETY.
Hereafter the rehearsals of the society will be held in the St. John Art Club's room, 144 Union street, and the next rehearsal will be held on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock sharp. It is expected that this will be the permanent home of the society.

LECTURE TOMORROW
The opening of the series of winter lectures in the St. Peter's Y. M. A. course will take place tomorrow, when Rev. A. J. Duke, C.S.S.R., will give an address accompanied by illustrations. It is expected that the attendance will be large, as Father Duke's capability as an orator is well established. The lecture will start at 2 1/2.

CHARTERED.
Bangor News, local correspondence—Schooner E. A. Sabean has been chartered by Capt. T. W. Hinchley, to load shingles at St. Stephen for Fraser, Ltd., of Edmundston, N. B., for Barbados, British West Indies. The Sabean is now on her way to St. Stephen from Fall River and is expected to arrive at an early date.

THE HOLIDAY

Some Amusements Arranged, But General List of Attractions Not Large

Monday, Thanksgiving Day, will be one of the most interesting days of the year in the city. The list of attractions for those who remain in the city is not a very large one, but with the nickel, Opera House, Thanksgiving supper and one or two other attractions one will not find it hard to put in a good day. Most of the city nickels will be open from 10 in the morning until half past ten at night, and all except the two their usual good holiday business. The Kinematograph Picture Co. will open an engagement at the Opera House with a matinee performance.

The Temple of Honor Fair will be on in full swing and the management also expect to do capacity business. City churches are having Thanksgiving suppers in the church school rooms of course these are always well attended.

A good many people have made arrangements to get into the woods for the day and do a little hunting. Several parties will leave tonight and will return to the city on Monday night, thus having two whole days in the woods.

The Y. M. C. A. boys will have a paper chase in the morning, starting at 10 o'clock. There is a possibility that there will be two junior games of football on the Marathon grounds in the afternoon. The local High School team will likely try conclusions with the Moncton High School team, and the second local High School team will play a fifteen from the North End.

LOCAL FOOTBALL

The Moncton football players arrived in the city this morning and are at the Park Hotel. They are playing the Harris team on the Marathon grounds this afternoon. Moncton lined out their team as follows: Full, Campbell; Half, O'Neill; Donald; Cummings, C. Brown; quarters, Cochrane, McLean, F. Brown; forwards, Mackay, Doyle, Cummings; McLeod; Sewell, Cooman; McFarlane.

After the senior game the High School team is to play a team from Charlottetown. The local football attraction for Thanksgiving Day is to be two games, the first match between Aberdeen High School, Moncton, and the local High School and the second between a junior team from Charlottetown and the second team of the High School. Both these contests should be very interesting. The locals have a good team and the Moncton team is said to be very strong. The first game will be started at 3 o'clock.

IN THE POLICE COURT

James McDonald and John Donahue were each fined $4 or ten days in jail on the charge of drunkenness, in the police court this morning. Alexander Dugg and Mary Jane Toner were each remanded on the same charge. John Doherty forfeited an $8 deposit.

Robert Cobham, a young lad arrested on suspicion of stealing a gun, valued at $4, from the store of D. Scribner & Co. was remanded. Cobham, although only a boy, has been before the court on several occasions. He will probably be dealt with on Monday.

Alexander Dugg and Mary Jane Toner, who were next in line yesterday morning in Sheriff's street on charge of being drunk, were taken to the station yesterday afternoon in the "burry" wagon. Both were evidently delighted with the new conveyance, especially Alexander who had his broad grin on his face on the way to the lock-up. "Ain't it fine," he said to the woman. "Ies think of it, you and me being taken to jail in our little private hack. Some class, eh?" Alexander's smile vanished, however, when the jail was reached, and he was escorted to his chamber.

NEW MILITARY ARRANGEMENTS

How Latest Orders From Ottawa Are Interpreted by Local Authority on Military Matters

In the latest military-general orders are announced changes of interest to local militiamen. The disbandment of the 24th Infantry Brigade is announced, and the following redistributions are made in the 16th, 17th and 18th brigades—16th brigade, 67th, 71st, 82nd and 74th regiments, headquarters moved from St. John to Sussex.

17th brigade, 76th, 78th, 83rd and 94th regiments, headquarters moved from Woodstock, N. B., to Aldershot, N. S.

18th brigade, 85th, 86th, 87th, and 82nd regiments, headquarters moved from Halifax to Aldershot.

The 62nd, 63rd and 66th regiments are allotted to the Halifax garrison.

Some of the local officers were puzzled this morning at the interpretation of the orders, but a retired brigade-major, an authority on such matters said this morning that he thought in reading the orders that a re-arrangement was being made. The 16th brigade, commanded by Lt. Colonel Edwards with Colonel Campbell, Apohaqui, brigade-major, formerly composed of the 73rd, of Northumberland; 74th, of Kings, and the 82nd of Charlottetown, was augmented by the addition of the 67th from Charlottetown and the 71st from York and Charlotte. The 82nd was transferred to the 16th brigade, being placed with the 66th, 68th and 74th regiments, whose headquarters were being removed from Halifax to Aldershot.

Formerly the 62nd, 67th and 71st were in the 17th brigade, but this formation had been disbanded, and the 62nd had been attached for orders to the Halifax garrison. This brigade was commanded by Lieut. Colonel McKenzie, of Chatham, with Capt. Marland as brigade major.

In the Halifax infantry garrison there are the R. C. Regiment, along with the two city regiments, the 63rd and 66th. The object in attaching the 62nd to this garrison was apparently to expedite matters in connection with the militia, as the other regiments forming it were city corps, while formerly the St. John body had been with rural regiments.

SERVED PARTRIDGE TO GAME WARDEN; IT COST HIM $10

Frederick Restaurant Man's Costly Mistake—News of Capital
Frederick, N. B., Oct. 28.—(Special)—Game Warden G. F. Dean, of Musquash, is making things lively here for game law violators. He lunched on partridges at Washington's restaurant a few days ago, yesterday had the proprietor fined $10 for selling the birds contrary to law. He has three cases pending against the restaurant for a like offence, and has laid information in five cases of illegal moose hunting at Cape Sable, Queen's County. Two are against non-residents for hunting on resident's license and one is for shooting a cow moose.

There was a big Thanksgiving market here this morning, and the demand for produce was keen. Geese brought $1.20 each, turkeys twenty cents a pound, and chickens twenty cents a pound to $1 a pair. The condition of Hon. L. E. Parris in the Victoria Hospital is reported to be satisfactory.

A meet of the Order of Oris was formed here last night with sixty-seven members. Ald. Kitchen was elected president, and H. H. MacKenzie, past president.

Mike A. Saper, an Indian, was drinking last night and kicked up a big rumpus on St. Mary's Reserve. He was arrested and told the police that he procured liquor from another Indian. The latter has since left.

SUES FOR $5,000

St. John Woman Brings Action for Injuries at Fernhill Crossing

The case of Reid vs. The King, was heard in the Exchequer Court this morning, before Justice Cassels. The evidence was concluded and arguments postponed. The following witnesses were examined: Joseph O'Hearn, W. R. MacMillan, Alexander Robertson, Charles Cormier and Owen Cameron. M. G. Toed and R. W. Hewson appeared for Reid; H. A. Powell, A. E. G. MacKenzie and W. B. Wallace, for the King.

The case of Charlton vs. The King was heard over until the next sitting of the court, which will probably be next April. His Lordship Justice Cassels has to leave for home this afternoon.

This action is brought by Mary Ann Charlton, of this city, for injuries received at Fernhill crossing on May 12, 1910. She was about to alight from an I. C. B. train, when it is contended, it suddenly started, throwing her violently on the tracks, causing her injury. She was confined to her bed for several months. The suit is for $5,000. E. T. C. Knowles and J. A. Currey appear for the plaintiff; H. A. Powell and E. A. McAlpine represent the crown.

Three sittings of the court were held yesterday, and two cases were finally disposed of. The King vs. The Moncton Loan Company and Chain Shaffer vs. The King. Judgments will be given later.

THORNE LODGE ELECTS

Thorne Lodge, No. 292, I. O. G. T., met last evening in their hall, Haymarket Square, with Chief Templar Harry Blair in the chair. After a round of speeches the following officers were elected for the coming term:—Chief Templar, Henry McEachern; Vice-Templar, Lizzy Young; S. S. Adams; P. C. T., Harry Blair; S. A., T. Bertie Campbell; secretary, Adolphus Boyce; assistant secretary, Margaret Adams; P. C. T., Harry Blair; financial secretary, Robert McEachern; treasurer, James Keys; chorale, A. C. McVie; marshal, Thomas Mullett; D. M., Louise Parkhill; guard Roy Ingraham; sentinel, Frank Tenney appear for the plaintiff; H. A. Powell and E. A. McAlpine represent the crown.
