

Inquest Into Death Alexander McLean

Various Witnesses Gave Evidence After Which Hearing Was Adjourned to April 15th.

The inquest into the death of Alexander McLean, a young lad of nineteen, who was a seaman on board the S. S. Manchester, and was so badly crushed between two derricks that he died in the General Public Hospital shortly after, was held last evening in the court rooms, Gormain street. The following jury was empaneled by Coroner Horace A. Porter: Ernest J. Todd, (foreman), Frank S. Alward, James E. Arthur, Frederick Hyden, David J. Stoddard, William W. Bristol, W. Norwood Barre, Gordon C. Allen and Chester N. Jones.

The first witness called was Dr. A. E. McAuley, who testified that he first saw McLean at the General Public Hospital and that he, McLean, was complaining of severe pains in the abdomen and asked for something which would ease his suffering. After a consultation with doctors Addy and White, it was decided to perform an operation immediately, as it was evident that the man was dying. He was removed to the operating room, where the abdomen was opened and found to be filled with blood. A mesentery of a small intestine was found to be torn about three inches. The abdomen was closed, after which the patient was returned to the ward about 2:15 where he died about one hour later. Dr. McAuley said that the crush between the two derricks was sufficient to cause a rupture of the stomach, which resulted in the young man's death.

The next witness to give evidence was Claude H. Lemesurier, superintendent for the Furness Withy and Company, steamship agents. He stated that he was on the deck of the steamer Manchester, when the accident occurred, and about 10:45 o'clock he heard someone shout: "Look out." When he turned around he saw some of the seamen on board the steamer pick McLean up from the deck, and when he asked what had happened, one of the crew told him that when lowering the offshore derrick near No. 4 hatch, the man who was holding the guy rope to keep the derrick from swinging too far in shore had slipped and in trying to save himself from falling had let go of the guy rope, letting the boom swing towards the other boom on the opposite side, and McLean, who was standing on the hatch between the two booms was on the inside guy rope when the boom struck him across the abdomen, jamming him between the two derricks.

Mr. Lemesurier also said that he saw the deceased's body lying on the deck but did not go near it. One of the ship's stewards was then taking care of McLean until the arrival of the ambulance. McLean was brought into the hospital about 11:45 o'clock. Although there was a list of about two degrees towards the port side it was not sufficient to be the cause of the man holding the guy rope slipping, but there was a small amount of ice on the deck of the steamer at the time which might have been the cause of the man losing his footing.

This was all the evidence taken as the steamer is now at Halifax en route to England, and the inquest was adjourned until the vessel returns which will be about the 15th of next month.

GIVE STOMACH WHAT IT NEEDS

The Alkaline Effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Usually Corrects the Stomach Faults that Provoke Attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

To stiff back after a good meal and know there is not going to be sour risings, gas, drowsiness and discomfort is the logical result of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. Most people believe they can trace each attack of indigestion to the something they ate and can still "taste." And it surprises them, invariably, to note how quickly relief comes after using one or two of these tablets. Whether it is highly seasoned food, rich pastry, the heavy, hearty foods, or some one particular offender, the relief comes just the same. Those who are susceptible to attacks of indigestion or dyspepsia should try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as they supply the stomach with an alkaline effect just as it does naturally when it is working in a perfectly healthy condition. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so widely known and used that you can find them in any drug store in the United States and Canada at 30 cents a box.

A New, Harmless Way To Banish Hairy Growth

(Beauty Topics) By following this suggestion any woman can, in the privacy of her own home, remove every trace of hair or fuzz from her face. With powdered talcum and water mix enough paste to cover the spot wanted; apply and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off and wash the skin. This method is un-failing, harmless and quick in results, but care should be employed to get the genuine de-talon.

Conference On Daylight Saving

To be Held at City Hall on Monday Morning When All Classes of Citizens Are Invited to Express Their Views.

The question of daylight saving will be discussed at a meeting at City Hall on Monday at 11 a. m., when representatives of the Board of Trade, the Retail Merchants, the Commercial Club and the labor organizations have been invited to attend and state their views. There is a strong feeling among the professional classes and merchants in favor of the adoption of daylight saving for the summer months whether or not it is adopted by the railways, whose course will depend upon the action of the American roads, which, in view of President Wilson's decision, will, doubtless, hold to old time. The adoption of daylight saving would not, however, be of great advantage to the suburban train service, and this matter will be taken up with the railways, if the result of the meeting on Monday is favorable to daylight saving.

Members of the Boys' Club were delightedly entertained last evening at their club rooms, when P. Wood, president of the Y. M. C. A., showed a number of lantern pictures. These included views of England and France, a number of cartoons and Biblical scenes. Two of the boys, Raymond Bolyea and John Steele gave recitations. Captain A. J. Mulcahy told a story of the sea, and Peter Sharkey gave an interesting five-minute talk on a visit to the Island of Grenada. Percy Reed gave several mandolin selections, Miss Alberta Stark acting as the accompanist. Mrs. W. C. Hood presided and was assisted by Harry Scott and Lionel Narrowsy. Mrs. Mulcahy was an interested visitor.

The present times are far too threatening to justify attempts to play old time political games or the old time ways. Professional practical politicians are denying this by both action and word. To hear and see them one would suppose that the war catastrophe has had no effect on Canada; and that we can begin just where we left off five years ago. These exhibitions of selfishness and narrowness are painful and discouraging to thoughtful and patriotic men.

The whole social system is cracking and crumbling under our eyes in this Dominion, every other civilized country. Old party lines are as badly shattered here as in Britain, and there is as little prospect of their recovery in our government, organized for war purposes, are in power in both countries. Similar cries and charges are being raised and made against each. The main accusations are that they are policyless and inactive. These are the "left-overs" of the old party warfare. They are as absurd as they are out of date. How could administrations with their minds and their hands so full of the business of waging and winding up such a war be expected to give definite policy for a future as full of uncertainty and menace? As to the complaint of inaction, surely our administrators were kept busy enough during the war, and have had enough to do in the matter of settlement in the year, since its close.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle and falls out.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, free, looking bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle! Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

A DANGEROUS WARNING — BLEEDING GUMS

Are your gums tender? Do they bleed when brushed? If so—watch out for Pyorrhoea.

This disease of the gums, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, not only destroys the teeth, but often wrecks the health. In Pyorrhoea, the gums become spongy, then recede; the teeth decay, loosen, and fall out—or must be extracted to rid the system of the infecting Pyorrhoea germs which breed in pockets about them. These germs lower the body's vitality and cause many diseases.

You can keep Pyorrhoea away. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and use Forhan's For the Gums. Forhan's For the Gums prevents Pyorrhoea—or checks its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If your gums have receded, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

MIDDLE CLASSES

Nationalization of Industry Condemned.

(Liverpool Post.)

"The middle classes were united, no Government could stand between them and their rights for fourteen days," said Mr. George Clark, chairman of the Liverpool branch of the Middle Classes Union, when presiding last night at a meeting—the first of a series arranged by the branch—in the Law Rooms.

In such a large city as Liverpool, with a population of 800,000, he declared, it should not be difficult to secure for the union a membership of at least 50,000. They would then be able to return their own member of Parliament (applause). But, with only half that strength, they would be a power to be reckoned with. Classes Who Keep the Country Going. The middle classes were made up of (1) the great distributing and consumer classes; (2) those who worked with the brain; (3) the great commercial classes. It was no exaggeration to say that those classes combined kept this country going. There was no line of demarcation as to eligibility for the union; the only essential was British birth. The Liverpool branch, he understood, included in its ranks three peers and also a number of working men, who no doubt were sick of the tyranny of some trade unions. The object of the union was to scrutinize carefully all proposed legislation, with a view to its effects on the middle classes, and to safeguard those classes against the tyranny of the profiteer on the one hand and the unreasonable demands of Labor on the other. Their efforts should, in his opinion, be directed to making nationalization impossible, at least to tend to crush individuality and stifle ambition. Today they saw all sections of the community organized and armed to the teeth with the exception of the middle classes, who constituted the greatest section of them all.

Do Middle Classes Vote for Labor?

Dr. W. B. Bennett said it had been stated that Labor candidates who had been returned at recent by-elections owed their success to middle-class votes. He did not think there was any truth in the suggestion. The explanation probably was that the middle classes did not vote at all, whereas the Labor element did.

Other speakers included Mr. Fred Cartwright, (organizing secretary of the branch) and Mr. F. J. Wilkinson, (propaganda organizer).

THINKS CURATES

SHOULD NOT MARRY

York Convention on Straits of Clergy—Bishop Discusses Question.

"Should curates marry?" was a point raised by the Bishop of Liverpool yesterday, at the Convocation of York. "The problem of the curate," Dr. Chavasse termed it, and he reiterated his view that "bishops ought to combine to stop at present the marriage of curates."

"Men are coming to me for ordination," he continued, "and I am asking them, 'Are you married or engaged to be married?' Almost invariably I find the answer is 'Engaged to be married.' In that case I am saying to them, 'I cannot accept you if you mean to take a wife on your income of £200 a year.' 'I think we shall have to lay down some such rule as that, or otherwise we shall have a vast number of the young clergy in really serious straits. Of course what happens usually when I decline to take them is that some other bishop takes them (laughter). I think if we could come to some determination not to accept young men contemplating marriage it would be a very good thing for the younger clergy of the Church of England."

This declaration by Dr. Chavasse was made when the Upper House was focusing attention upon the dire straits of clergy and their families, and the bishops were insisting that the laity of the Church of England must rise to the occasion, and speedily, if intense suffering and even scandal is to be avoided.

Almost a National Scandal. The Archbishop of York, who presided, said if the members of the Church of England desired to have a resident married clergy of educated persons in their midst, they must either, in a degree not hitherto contemplated, raise the money by which they could be maintained, or else be prepared for a very drastic diminution in the number of separate cures throughout the country. It was quite impossible to put into words what the bishops felt about the present position of the bulk of the clergy of the country.

RESOLUTION DIDN'T ORIGINATE HERE

Matter of Uniform Dress for Business Women One of a Number to be Discussed at National Executive—St. John Council Took No Action.

An explanation is made on behalf of the St. John Council of Women how the question of dress for business women came before the executive. It did not originate here. The Council of Women represents 400,000 women of federated societies. Before the agenda for the convention of the national council is prepared, resolutions are submitted to the councils all over the country for their opinion, and those to which the majority become part of the agenda. In this way the St. John Council had sent to it for its opinion the following resolution:

"Resolved: That a systematic educational campaign be undertaken by the federated associations to bring about such changes, especially in the business world, as will lead to more dignified, and in some instances a more uniform type of apparel, which will enable business women to attire themselves at the least possible cost in the most fitting style and material."

The executive did not pass on the resolution. It will be discussed later, as all such resolutions are discussed. When the national executive meet in Ottawa next month it will have before it the views of all the women's councils, and will then decide whether or not the subject will be considered by the national council.

NO PROFITEERING

WITH ZAM-BUK

Before the war, Zam-Buk was 50c. a box. All during the war, when the cost of production was rapidly advancing, the price of Zam-Buk to the consumer remained the same. Now, with the war over, while some prices continue to soar, Zam-Buk is still 50c. a box. Not only so, but the same high standard of quality has been maintained throughout.

There has been no profiteering in regard to Zam-Buk. For every box you have bought, you have been asked to pay fair value only.

Is this method of doing business not worthy of recognition? Answer this question by continuing to recommend, to appreciate, and to use it. Zam-Buk is the greatest household healer of modern times.

SOVEREIGNS AND "BRADBURY'S"

Amid all the talk and writing about the collapse of exchanges, there is a manifest tendency to confuse the sovereign with the "Bradbury." It is as well, however, to realize clearly that the sovereign has suffered no depreciation, that the mischief has happened entirely to the Treasury Note. Professor Cannon, in a letter to the "Westminster Gazette" last night, points out that the gold in a full-weight sovereign is equal to 4.86 dollars. Consequently, if you have a gold sovereign in New York, you can nearly get 4.86 dollars for it. In present British money, in fact, the sovereign in New York is worth about £1 8s. For the sake of avoiding ambiguity on a very important matter—and it is vital that the reader have lucid thinking on the exchanges if we are to devise curative measures—Professor Cannon throws out a practical suggestion. Instead of calling people that "£1 is worth only 13s. 9d. when strictly it is worth 20s. it would, he submits, be more enlightening to say that "£1 (vulgo a Bradbury) is only worth 68 3/4 per cent. of the gold content of a sovereign, or that it is depreciated against gold 31 3/4 per cent." It is a rather elaborate formula, to be sure, but undoubtedly it explains the position. On the other hand, does not impress us with the popularly-forgotten truth that all our debts will have to be paid in terms of the sovereign. Possibly, in existing dismal circumstances, that may be one of its advantages.—Liverpool Post.

Charged With Conspiracy to Evade the Selective Draft Law in United States.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 4—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world and his manager, Jack Kearns, today furnished $1,500 bonds each before a United States District Commissioner here, to appear in the United States District Court in San Francisco, March 20, to plead to an indictment charging them with conspiracy to evade the selective draft law.

Warrants were served upon Dempsey and Kearns in the court room by a deputy United States Marshal. The Attorney for the accused men waived a hearing on their behalf.

Ottawa, Ont., March 4.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, stated tonight that there had been no decision as yet as to who would compose the committee of management of the Grand Trunk Railway when that system is taken over by the Government. The choice of members of the committee may be made within a few days, however. Canadian National Railway officials are in the capital at the present time consulting with the Department officials on Canadian National Railway estimates for next year.

Parliament Witnesses

Spectacle of Third Party Breaking Into Debate

(Continued from page one.) In the House who do not esteem his personality and admire his candour and sincerity. And while to quote Mr. Meighen's sparkling Winnipeg phrase) he is so far as today's speech is concerned, assailed the opposition with words and the Government with both words and votes, there was a striking and pleasing contrast between his generous reference to the Prime Minister and the badly concealed sneers of members of the Opposition.

Mr. Meighen, who followed, was like Mr. Orser, far from his usual form, speaking without preparation, he appeared more intent upon scoring consequential debating points than of dealing in an informative way with broad questions of policy, and there was little in his speech which approached the high level of excellence and power which characterized his Winnipeg utterance.

Of the earlier speakers, with the possible exception of Mr. Buchanan who announced continued allegiance to Union, there is little that can usefully be said. Tomorrow, however, Dr. Michael Clark the orator and prophet of the new party will be heard, and the Government may put up another minister to reply. The vote will be taken on Tuesday.

MANY COMPLAINTS.

William Campbell was arrested at 8.30 o'clock last night for being drunk, for interfering with the police, for attempting to take a prisoner from the police, for assault and the use of threatening and profane language. One arrest for drunkenness was also made.

TELLS DYSEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This requires the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthily without need of peptic pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

CALDWELL OF CARLETON MAKES MAIDEN SPEECH IN PARLIAMENT

Complains of the Tariff Wall Which Places Extra Burden on His Pocketbook When He Wants a Ford Car—Styles Himself the Champion of the People's Cause.

Ottawa, March 4.—T. W. Caldwell, Carleton, N. B., the first of the cross-benchers to begin by stating that it was up to some one from their party to break the ice. They were an independent group, he said, and were not there solely in the interests of the farmers, as had been charged.

"While our numbers are yet small, we believe we have got a large majority of the people of Canada behind us, and that the government knows we have this bulk of public opinion with us. I believe that at the next election this public opinion will so assert itself that we will be returned to govern by an overwhelming majority."

Mr. Caldwell charged that Union government was formed to carry on the war. This duty had been completed, demobilization had been completed and the retirement of the government was long overdue. He charged that the government was not consistent in its tariff policy, that there was little likelihood of the tariff being one of the main issues at this session, and that the government had penalized rather than assisted increased production. "As to economy, I never heard of the Union Government accused of that," said Mr. Caldwell.

Mr. Caldwell claimed that the tariff was imposing an unfair burden on the farmer. He cited the case of a "Ford" car which he said could be bought for $240 cheaper on the American side than the Canadian side of the Maine boundary. In each case, it was the same car. It was absolutely necessary that the farmer should have a cheap car. Mr. Caldwell read extracts from Judge Robson's letter of resignation. These Mr. Caldwell said showed that the creation of the Board of Commerce had not been favorable to production. Yet Judge Robson was a man in whom the government had such confidence that they appointed him chairman of the board.

Felt He Oured.

Mr. Caldwell congratulated the government on having found it necessary to honor his constituents by sending three Cabinet Ministers there to speak during the by-election campaign. The presence of these three ministers, Mr. Caldwell asserted, had increased his majority by many thousands of votes. He had entered the field as an independent, pledged to support the measures of either party which he thought were in the interests of the people of Canada at large. The government's opposition to his candidature evidently meant that the Ministry did not intend introducing legislation which would be in the people's interest.

In closing, Mr. Caldwell said he would not occupy the time of the House, as he found in going about the country that people considered that entirely too much time was being wasted in debating the address in the Commons. "We are not here in the interests of farmers alone," he declared. "We are not here to tear down, but to build up so that the whole world may see that Canada is 'a little bit of God's own country.'"

WHAT IS A LIVING WAGE?

Shipowner's Solution of a Labor Problem.

Sir Alfred Booth, chairman of the Cunard Line, was allowed to interpose at the Dockers' Wages Court yesterday to give evidence, as he was leaving at once for America.

He declared that if the dockers' demand for a 15 per cent. minimum daily wage were granted, raising the rate for that class of unskilled work to two shillings an hour, wages generally must be raised to a corresponding amount. He said that the solution was greater production and more work. Output had fallen by 25 per cent. in Liverpool since the reduction of the working day. Wages would never catch up food prices with production at its present level. He estimated that a Liverpool dockers who worked a forty-four-hour week earned £3 4s. 2d.

Mr. Bevin (for the dockers): Do you really suggest that it is a living wage?—Yes.

Could you maintain your family on it?—No.

Is it right to ask a man to maintain himself on a sum on which you would not dream of maintaining yourself?—It is not a question of what I ask him to live on, but of what economic conditions allow.

Cunard Dividend.

Mr. Bevin then questioned him as to the dividends of the Cunard company, and Sir Alfred Booth said that in 1914 they paid 10 per cent., and 10 per cent. bonus.

Mr. Bevin: Really 20 per cent?—Yes. He added that in 1915 the dividend was the same, in 1916 it was 20 per cent., in 1917 it was 20 per cent., and in 1918 it was 10 per cent. on the double capital.

You added £500,000 to reserve, so it is really 30 per cent?—Yes.

Mr. Bevin: Do you seriously suggest that this or any other country will respond to increased output to maintain dividends on capital of 20 or 30 per cent?—Yes.

Sir Alfred Booth replied that the amount represented money which the company had put aside in previous years, when they did without dividends. From 1881 to 1915 the interest on Cunard shares was substantially less than 5 per cent.

Tough Luck.

"What's the trouble, old man? You look sort of weather-beaten."

"That's it exactly. I've ten dollars that it wouldn't snow to-day, and it did."

THE GOOD ROADS CONVENTION WILL BE REAL HUMMER

During Convention a Section of Road Will be Constructed Under Supervision of Best of Experts.

The seventh annual Canadian Good Roads Convention will take place at the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg, on June 1, 2 and 3 next, at the invitation of the Mayor and City Council of Winnipeg, supported by the Provincial Government, the Board of Trade, automobile organizations and other public bodies.

This is the first time that the convention has gone west of Ontario, and every effort is being made to make the programme one that will be of interest and advantage to the western municipalities, whose road conditions and problems are somewhat different from those in the east. The meetings will be held in the banquet hall and the exhibition of road materials in the old ball room, while a sports ground floor in the rear of the hotel will be utilized for road machinery in operation.

A feature of the convention will be a conference of government highway officials, who met on the second day of the convention and discuss such matters as road laws, traffic regulations, automobile taxation, systems of construction and maintenance of highways and similar questions, with a view to arriving at a uniform system of regulations for the whole Dominion. Officials of the Federal government will also participate in this conference, which will proceed concurrently with the meetings of the delegates.

During the convention a section of road will be actually constructed in the district under the personal supervision of the best experts on the continent, who will be among the speakers and who thus will be able to demonstrate the proper method of grading, ditching, draining, foundation laying and building up of a complete modern highway.

Invitations are being sent to every municipality in Canada, and they number 3,500 and several delegates to the convention, each municipality having the right, on paying the nominal fee of membership in the Canadian Good Roads Association, to send several delegates, who can submit to the practical roadbuilders invited to address them, the local problems that they have to deal with in building improved highways, and secure the best advice obtainable on the subject.

Delegates are invited to bring their wives to the convention and special Pullman cars are being provided from all the big centres of population for the convention, details of which will be announced later, by the Secretary, George A. McNamee, 909 New Birk Building Montreal.

Whidden Attacks Absurd Position of Liberal Leader

Mackenzie King's Amendment Does Not Have Whole-Hearted Support of His Party.

Ottawa, March 4.—Continuing the debate on the address in the House this afternoon, H. P. Whidden, of Brandon, defended the administration. With regard to charges that the government was divided, Dr. Whidden expressed the opinion that it was possible to have variety in points of view and unity on the great central ideas.

Referring to the opposition amendment, the speaker remarked that it caused him surprise. Gentlemen from the opposition had come to the Government before the session saying that if any members on the Liberal side started talking about an appeal to the electors it should not be regarded seriously. "They said to take no stock in it, that it was all bunk," said Mr. Whidden. "Therefore it was surprising to have an amendment introduced by the leader of the opposition requesting a general election."

Dr. Whidden said he was surprised at opposition criticism of the Government for taking an interest in Foreign affairs. It must be realized that Canada had embarked on world affairs, and that she could no longer remain at home, isolated on the Northern half of the North American continent. Referring to the forthcoming Franchise Act, Dr. Whidden did not think any member of Parliament from the western provinces was honestly in favor of an immediate election. It should be made clear, Dr. Whidden asserted, that only those who had lived up to the national spirit during the trying days of the war were worthy of consideration in framing this Franchise Act. It was not a matter of mere residence on the Dominion nor of age or nationality. If a man were entitled to the franchise he must have measured up to the standards of a Canadian.

GIVES CLEAR LIGHT ON AIMS ON THE JAPANESE NATION

Viscount Kaneko Says Activities of the Country Need Cause No Alarm in the United States.

(By Clarence B. Roworth, in the New York Sun and Herald.)—In an interview with the Sun and New York Herald today Viscount Kaneko Kaneko expressed the deep regret of his people and himself that so many of Japan's activities are viewed with alarm by the American people and he deplored the activities of these agitators and publicists who have done so much to create distrust and estrangement.

Viscount Kaneko probably knows America and Americans as well as anyone in Japan. During Roosevelt's administration, particularly during the Russo-Japanese war when he represented Japan in America unofficially, he was in constant communication with the President and a very sincere and lasting friendship grew up between them. One of his treasures is a photograph of President Roosevelt, inscribed with a message of friendship which has hung in his room for several years. While not a Christian himself, the viscount is keenly in sympathy with the work of the missionaries and frequently advises with them in the solution of their problems. In numbers among his American friends each eminent churchmen as Edward Everett Hale, Bishop Phillips Brooks, Bishop Welch and Bishop Harris.

Just now he is president of the America-Japan society and is ever active than usual in trying to preserve and strengthen the friendship between Japan and America. As a partial expression of his views concerning American-Japanese relations, he said:

"America and Japan are each facing grave responsibilities and in my opinion should unite in their efforts to establish order in the troubled regions of the Orient. Co-operation and assistance are the underlying elements which are essential and it is to America we turn, confident our interests in the East, merged as they are with the media through which our aims will unfold and our duties be made clear."

Work of Missionaries

"Almost without exception our acts and our aims are made the subject of premature speculation. Foreigners in both China and Japan take up subjects about which they are little informed. Their ill-timed comment reaches their hands and is ultimately becomes the basis for newspaper articles and comment of a caustic nature. These articles are copied by our own journals. Naturally they create fear abroad and all our people with consternation. Frankly, we are grieved at this turn of affairs."

"In America where the work of the missionary has become essential and a tremendous factor a situation has developed which makes it well nigh impossible for us to express a hope, outline a plan or make known a move and have it understood by your people whom we, in our modernizing process, have tried so zealously to emulate."

"Can you not see how difficult it is for us to know when and how we should proceed in the business of explaining our interests and offering our hand? Many have told us that if Japan would only do this or that particular thing we would not excite the other world. Some have said it was believed abroad that we are pro-German; that we had a dangerous military group who were emulating the 'Deutschland über Alles' doctrine; that the Japanese Government was using its post office to distribute in China large quantities of opium so that they would be unable to offer resistance to our schemes. And they have said we are starving and torturing Christian Koreans, and that we are actually engaged in an organized movement to stamp out Christianity from our nation. Countless other charges have been made against us. I feel it incumbent upon me to say frankly that when we attempt to define our position we are confronted with almost certain knowledge that no matter what we say or do we will be pictured in an unfavorable light, and very often we are in a ridiculous role.

Mistakes in Korea

"It is true that we did make mistakes in Korea. Our work there has presented the same difficulties that your work in Cuba and the Philippines did. It has been aggravated, too, by the language difficulty. Only a few of us speak the Korean language, and not many of the Koreans speak ours, though their number is constantly increasing, due to the free education we have given them. It has been the habit of the Koreans to tell their troubles to the missionaries, who do speak their language. The missionaries have sympathized with them and the Koreans have probably misinterpreted their sympathy. Only in rare instances have the missionaries made a proper presentation of these troubles to the proper Japanese authorities. Our record in Korea shows that just as fast as our faults were discovered by ourselves or made known to us by others we have made corrective changes."

During your early years in Cuba and the Philippines, when the people were resisting the authority which your soldiers represented, harsh measures were occasionally resorted to in the best of the moment by your men. Japanese soldiers have resented the acts of rebellious Koreans just as your soldiers did under similar circumstances. But we in Japan never charged America with deliberate or organized brutality. Is it just that we should be it is just that these unfortunate instances, which we deeply regret, should be magnified?"

"There is no movement on foot to elect the missionaries. We value their work most highly, and there are a number of us who select for our own retainer young men who have been educated by the missionaries and become Christians. We find them earnest, efficient and dependable. These splendid workers can, I am sure, help us wonderfully in bringing Korea into prosperity and peace. Some of them have helped. Others, more thoughtful, have sent occasional reports to the outside world. If they would only come to us, with their suggestions, we could act more intelligently."

Official Liberals Lack Support

(Montreal Gazette.)

There are signs of weakening enthusiasm also in the support of the official Liberals. The Ontario Liberal party complained some time ago that the Liberals had no press to put forth their views. This may be a cause or an effect of a greater cause being the meeting of the Ontario Reform Association, reports in the local papers say, though there had also been a serious decline in membership. The attendance was the membership stood at 1,479 in 1914-17. Following the general elections of 1917, the membership dropped to 93 in 1917-18. At the end of 1918-19, there were 834 members, of whom 100 were in good standing.

Tariff and Luxuries

Mr. Meighen's Winnipeg speech has called for considerable favorable comment in the press. The Sydney (N. S.) Post, commenting on it, holds that one advantage of customs is that it falls chiefly on luxuries in a country like Canada, which is more than self-supporting in the matter of its necessities of life. Another is that the burden is so distributed, both as to the time and manner of collection, that it is carried without hardship, and does not impose on the average citizen. The conclusion of the Post's article is:

"Any considerable reduction of the tariff at the present time, or in the near future, would mean a revolution of conditions, involving directly and adversely, trade, employment, the cost of living, wages and burdens of taxation, from which every class in the country would suffer beyond measure. Realizing this, Hon. Mr. Meighen does not hesitate to advocate a sane tariff policy, even from a Winnipeg platform, before a western free trade audience."

B. C. Farmers

(Montreal Gazette.)

The movement to organize the farmers of British Columbia into a body for political action was not a success. At a convention at Victoria Mr. C. A. Weeks of Kelowna stated that no action had been taken on the question that has been uppermost in the minds of the farmers throughout the province. The organizers in British Columbia are to follow Ontario and Alberta and enter the political field. Mr. Weeks and some others seemed to favor an advanced policy, but the decision was that as an organization, while local bodies were free to do as they like, the U. F. B. C. would not become a political party. British Columbia and Quebec are both holding out against joining the political farmers' movement; and in Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick the enthusiasm seems to have subsided somewhat.

The Tariff

La Presse, in an editorial on the tariff, says that in spite of any efforts the Government may make to avoid the subject during the coming session, it is one which is bound to be fought to some early issue in the House of Commons. The writer divides the parties into three groups: First, the advocates of extreme protection; secondly, moderate or "reasonable" protection, and thirdly, free traders. The editorial continues: "It is unfortunate that the champions of these three systems have had to preach in favor of a policy which, up to the present, has been only vaguely defined. Nobody that we know of has yet clearly and distinctly indicated exactly what is to be the limit of any one of these three different proposals, notwithstanding the fact that the people of the country have a very legitimate ambition to know where they are to be led by the tariff reformers. By the way, we omitted to mention 'adequate protection' in the definition of the several programmes. That is another label which may not apply to good merchandise in spite of its fine appearance. What are our statesmen going to do in face of the different and differing opinions? We hope they will work to construct a tariff which, while constituting a good source of revenue for the federal treasury, will allow the poorer classes to have opportunities for a continuation of steady work, and some improvement in their conditions of existence; and that, while assuring the Canadian manufacturer the support which for the most part they are still in need of, it will bring about a reduction in the cost of the things which we need, and a chance to save something from their wages. Such a readjustment of the tariff cannot be effected without a great deal of work and study on the part of the legislators, and the commission which they will appoint to find a solution for the fiscal question. It is important that this work be started without further loss of time."

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get the famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Natural History. "Do you know which is the dancing tree?" "No, which?" "Why the caper-tree, of course."

Here's the reason the Brunswick Plays all records as they should be played

The 3-in-1 ULTONA describes just the right arc on each make of record.

There is Only one RIGHT way to do anything. To reproduce ALL of the music recorded in ANY record, any make; to bring out ALL the tones of ALL the instruments in the orchestra in exact relation to the singer's voice or the solo instrument, the reproducer MUST lay over the record in absolutely the correct position. This the Ultona does on ALL records.

Some Finer Points in Record Rendering

When you wish to play a "hill and dale" record, of which the Pathe record is a type, not only should the needle be at the correct angle, but it should also be held properly in position. An ordinary set screw holding the shank of the needle against the inside wall of the holder will not do. It permits vibration which is apt to make the record "blast." The correct way is that used on the Brunswick Ultona, where a collar screw encircles the entire shank of the needle. This und and eliminates any possible holds the needle firmly all aridity of vibration. Good "hill and dale" records never blast when played on a Brunswick.

The Edison Diamond Disc Record should engage with the needle at an exact right angle. Otherwise the record will not play its best. This record also requires less pressure than other records. Note the illustration above. See how the Ultona lays over the Diamond Disc Record close to the surface, in an absolutely vertical position, forming a true right angle where it engages the face of the record. And note also how the Ultona's adjustable weight is shifted back to provide for the diminished pressure.

And then just a twist of the wrist and you have the position for playing Brunswick, Victor and other steel needle records. But, most important of all, you have a separate place for the steel needle, thus eliminating the trouble of taking out a jewel point and inserting a steel needle when changing from a "hill and dale" record to "lateral cut."

The Brunswick is Truly "All Phonographs in One"

Just you hear it play ANY record BETTER—and play them correctly. Let your ears be the judge. It is one thing to play all records, but another thing to play them ALL CORRECTLY.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulence, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. LET UNION GOVERNMENT FINISH ITS WORK.

The Montreal Herald, a newspaper which, although at present professing to be clothed in independent attire, has always been regarded as of sound Liberal family, is good enough to express the view that the present Parliament should be allowed to continue in office for some time yet, as there are important problems pressing for immediate attention and the men who have them in charge are rendering the public service in clearing them up. It further expresses the opinion that the present "is hardly a propitious time for a general election."

Our contemporary is to be congratulated upon its very accurate diagnosis of public opinion throughout the Dominion. Thinking men from one end of the country to the other realize that the problems of reconstruction are as great as those of the war itself; and they realize, further, that the men who dealt with the problems of war so satisfactorily can safely be trusted to deal equally satisfactorily with the after-war problems. In any case they could not make a worse mess of these problems than would men who have had no experience in dealing with previous ones. The country, moreover, has no faith whatever in the men who are so anxious to relieve the Government of the trouble of dealing with present-day questions. People have not forgotten that when the war was on, Mr. Mackenzie King and the great majority of his adherents were conspicuous by their absence when the necessities of the time demanded the active and wholehearted co-operation of all patriotic Canadians. Canada has no use for men who were "too proud to fight" or too indifferent to their country's honor to lend their aid in any other way that they could. Having allowed others to bear all the worries and anxieties incident to the satisfactory solution of the many and various war problems, Mr. King and his friends must be content to allow the experienced men who dealt with these problems to finish the work which the war commenced.

Besides those matters which are of purely domestic concern, there are others of a bigger character to be dealt with. Canada has now emerged from her former juvenile rank in the Imperial family; and she is taking her place as an adult member of the family council table. Her representatives there must be men big enough and broad enough in their views and principles to do her justice, otherwise it were better that she were not represented there at all. For her to be represented by "Little Canadians" of the Mackenzie King type would be a national calamity.

THE FARMERS' RUINOUS POLICY.

The Farmers' party in the Commons has now been heard from, Mr. T. W. Caldwell, of Carleton, having been put up as their first spokesman yesterday afternoon. So far only a brief report of his remarks is available, but sufficient is given to indicate that he displayed a breezy optimism as to the future of the party, which he predicted would at the next election be returned to power by an overwhelming majority. That he should have fallen foul of the tariff question was only to be expected; and one is led to infer from the report of his criticisms that he considers that the only effect of the tariff at the present time is to penalize production.

The great weakness in the programme of Mr. Caldwell and his party is that it does not propose any really available and sufficient substitute for the tariff. True, his leader, Mr. Orerar, has propounded for us a new National Policy. This, however, is a misnomer, for what it comprises is neither new nor national, but on the contrary is old, and has been condemned many times by voters of this country. It is in fact the very opposite of national; for it would speedily make of this country what Mr. Taft unguardedly let fall was the real object of his reciprocity proposals in 1911, an adjunct of the United States. Mr. Caldwell and his friends are really free traders, but they are afraid to admit it in so many words. This fact does not indicate a very robust belief in the strength of farmers of their policy. It is unfortunate for them that they are confronted with some questions bearing on it that will prove very difficult indeed to satisfactorily answer. For instance, what have they to say about the state of exchange as between Canada and the United States? That does not seem to interest them, though it is of the deepest concern to the people of Canada. It is remarkable that our tariff demagogues have so little to say about the hammering down of the Canadian dollar in the country of their commercial affinity. They would make the Canadian dollar worth still fewer American cents. By opening Canadian markets to the free entrance of all the staple products of American industry, they would swamp Canadian industry, pile up the adverse exchange against us, and bring on an industrial and financial situation out of which it would be difficult to come except on terms of complete capitulation to the United States.

Mr. Caldwell and his friends may condemn the National Policy to their hearts' content if it pleases them to do so, but that policy does two things at any rate which the country cannot well afford to do without and does not want to do without. It puts money into the Canadian National Treasury and it fosters Canadian industry. Mr. Caldwell and his friends do not like paying taxes by way of the tariff for the benefit of this country. But we never hear from them any expressions of impatience with the national results of buying in the United States what can be got at home. If 15 per cent. ad valorem is to be paid into the national treasury of Canada for goods imported from the United States, there is an outcry from the free traders. They object to being thus taxed by their own Government. But when Uncle Sams lifts 15 per cent. off us every time we buy any goods in his market and takes that rake-off in the form of a discount on our money, our free traders are singularly forgiving. The Canadian Government must levy nothing, either for revenue or for protection of our industries, on goods coming from the United States, but the United States can humiliate this country by treating our dollar as worth only 85 cents as payment for goods it sells us. If people reckless of Canada's welfare did not keep on buying unnecessarily in the United States, our exchange situation would soon be righted. It is the free traders of Canada who are making the Canadian dollar cheap money across the border.

TO PREMIER FOSTER.

We desire to call the attention of Premier Foster to the speech of his friend the Hon. Mackenzie King, as reported in Hansard, and to respectfully suggest that he spend a little time reading that portion of it which appears on pages 30 and 31. It is much too long to reproduce here in its entirety, but the following is the concluding paragraph:

"There is this to be remembered at all times in regard to by-elections. They are a means of keeping the Administration in touch with the country and of giving it the views of the people on great public issues. . . . We watch our newspapers to see the results of by-elections in the Old Land as they occur from week to week or from month to month; and in the meantime no attention whatever is paid to the necessity for holding by-elections in our own country. If we are to preserve the spirit of the Constitution which stands for the right of representation of the people in Parliament, we must seek to give to the people the right of representation as soon as possible after a vacancy in an electoral district occurs."

Elsewhere in his speech Mr. King complained that "the constituency of Carleton-Victoria was represented in this House for only one or two days last session, when it should have been represented for the entire session." What would Mr. King say to its being denied its proper representation for four years?

As the Premier regards Mr. King as his political leader, perhaps his remarks on the subject of by-elections will carry some weight with him, and succeed in accomplishing what the representations of the Opposition have so far failed in.

An Act of last session provides that "The Comptroller General shall, within ninety days of the close of each fiscal year prepare and publish in the Royal Gazette, a statement of the revenue and disbursements of the Province for the preceding year." It is now one hundred and twenty-six days since the close of the last fiscal year, and so far no such statement has been prepared and published by the Comptroller. Ninety-three days after the close of the fiscal year, he published a statement prepared by a firm of accountants employed and paid by the Government to go through the provincial books, but their report is the private concern of the Government, and is not the production of the "independent" Comptroller General, who is derelict in his duty as imposed on him by statute.

The appointment of Sir Auckland Geddes to the post of British Ambassador to the United States is probably as good an appointment as could be made. The new Ambassador is a man of considerable experience in public life and has filled several important positions during the war, including that of President of the Board of Trade. He possesses probably to a greater degree than most other men a knowledge of trade matters, and has besides a strong conviction of their underlying importance to the two countries in the post-war era. He will bring to his new office none of the prejudices of the old school of European diplomats, who condescended to deal only in high politics, and considered matters of trade almost beneath their dignity.

An American firm has recently purchased a farm in York County just for the wood that is on it. They will strip this from it and leave the stumps to beautify the landscape. Are there no local men with sufficient enterprise to induce them to take hold of a matter like this themselves instead of letting outsiders come in to make ducks and drakes of our timber resources, which are dwindling away fast enough as it is under the operations of our own citizens?

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King says he wants a general election. Where would he run? It was hard enough to find a seat for him after he was chosen Leader of the "National" Liberal Party. He had no follower in his native Province to make room for him. No one in the House would be so sorry to see a general election on than Mr. King.

Several opposition orators in Parliament seem most anxious to impress upon the Government that its house is built upon the sands. Well, they need not worry; they do not have to live in it. If the Government is satisfied that its domicile is secure, that is all that matters. The solicitude of the Opposition orators is wasted.

WHAT THEY SAY

A Little Tip.
(Springfield Republican.)
A new Liberal daily for Ottawa is talked of. D. D. McKenzie will be president. It's a queer time to start a daily paper, unless someone has a lot of money and is anxious to get rid of it.

Some of the Irish People.
(Springfield Republican.)
When Mr. De Valera frankly says, as he does in many of his American speeches: "As far as England was concerned, the Irish people wished and hoped that Germany would win the war," it is of no avail to argue the question or become enraged. It is a fact, that's all. If England had been beaten by Germany, we would all have been beaten by Germany; and if the Irish people cannot see it in that light, the fact remains, deplorable it may seem.

Look Out For Tabby.
(Hamilton Spectator.)
They'll make you a coat from the skin of a goat, we were told the other day and now the news is flashed from New York that the pelts of house cats are bringing $124 each. Better put Tabby in the safe at night.

In Saskatchewan.
(Regina Post.)
Just 997 men were reported unemployed at the end of January in this province, and there were 965 vacancies unfilled. The showing could be better, but when one looks back and remembers the forebodings with which this winter was looked forward to last summer, it is remarkably good. Last summer it was feared that there would be the greatest destitution and long bread lines this winter. In another month now the spring work will be opening up and there will be a demand for labor that it will be difficult and perhaps impossible to fill.

A BIT OF VERSE

ONE AND TWO.
(Will Carleton.)
If you to me be cold,
Or I be false to you,
The world will go on, I think,
Just as it used to do,
The clouds will flirt with the moon,
The sun will kiss the sea,
The wind to the trees will whisper,
And laugh at you and me;
But the sun will not shine so bright,
The clouds will not seem so white,
To one, as they will to two;
So I think you had better be kind,
Let the old love go on,
Just as it used to do . . .

Benny's Note Book

I got a rare in the back of my pants yesterday on account of moving sideways instead of strait up when I started to get on a male on top of Pats Simkinses back fence, and I showed it to me when I went home, ma saying, My goodness, life is just one rare after another with you, take them off.
Meeting the pants, and I sed, Aw G, ma cent you sew it on me, its a awfull lot of trouble to take them off, Id haff to take my shoes off too.
That would be a terrible calamity, sed ma. Meaning it soucastic, and she compromised by getting a needle and thread and starting to sew up the rare on me, me jest standing there feeling the stitches go past me without seeing how near done she was getting, and after a while I sed, Are you throo yet, ma?
Ill let you know we im throo, sed ma.
All rite, how soon do you think it will be? I sed.
O keep quiet, sed ma. And she kepp on sewing and I kepp on getting tired of waiting and pritty soon I sed, Is it done yet, ma?
No, no, no, for goodness sake, no, sed ma.
Nearly? I sed.
Thats my affair, and if you ask me about it one more time Ill stick the needle in your leg, sed ma.
And she kepp on sewing, me thinking, G, I bet she wouldent. Meaning stick the needle in my leg. And pritty soon I asked her agen jest to find out, saying, Is it more than half finished, ma?
Wich jest then I felt a farse pane in my leg like the beginning of a needle being stuck in it, yelling, Ow, ow, ow, hay.
I always keep my promise, sed ma, if you ask me agen Ill do it agen, if you dont believe it jest try me,
Wich I dident.

Thin Nervous People Need Bitro-Phosphate
Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wreckers; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.
Eminent specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.
By strengthening the nerves, weak, tired people regain energy and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health.
CAUTION:—Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so, that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

Albert R. Erb.
Gagetown, N. B., March 1.—The funeral of Albert R. Erb, youngest son of Joseph and Julia Erb, took place on Saturday afternoon from his late home. The funeral services at the house and churchyard were conducted by Rev. L. H. Jewett, pastor of the Gagetown Methodist Church, and were attended by a large number of friends and neighbors, to whom his death, after an illness of only a few days, came as a great shock. He was a young man who had the regard of all who knew him; and much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family, particularly his parents, now advanced in years, with whom he resided on the family homestead. Besides his wife, he is survived by three brothers, Wesley A., of Fredericton; Fred O., of Hillsboro, and John V., of Gagetown; and four sisters, Mrs. F. L. Robinson, of Gagetown; Mrs. Robert Robinson, of St. John; Mrs. W. A. McKeague, of Vermilion, Alta., and Mrs. Harry McConnell, of St. John.

She was about fifty years old, and leaves quite a family. An inquest was held in the afternoon and a verdict of death from heart failure was found.

Her mother died last year, and since then the little one has been living with her aunt, Mrs. James Holley, in Halifax. About two weeks ago she was brought here in order to escape the epidemic of whooping cough in that city. Last Friday she was taken sick with a cold, which developed into pneumonia. Her father, at present in Gloucester, Mass., is also very ill and has not yet been informed of the death of his little one, his only child. The remains were taken to Yarmouth, and interment took place in Mountain cemetery in that town.

Glen Falls Woman Says the Good Tanlac Did Her Is So Wonderful as to be Almost Unbelievable.

When the Tanlac representative called on Mrs. Fred Smith of Power's Court, Glen Falls, St. John, N. B., he got a most hearty reception from both her husband and herself. "We are so glad to see you," said Mrs. Smith, who is a bright little Yorkshire woman, "anyone on Tanlac business is welcome here, for if it hadn't been for that marvelous medicine I shouldn't be up and about the house today." Then was related a story which did the representative's heart good to listen to. "You see I have suffered from dyspepsia and a disordered stomach for quite ten years. No one knows what I have gone through during all that time, I could never enjoy a meal and even fish used to upset me. I had fits of distress and often I would jump up from the table with a feeling that I was going to faint. Sometimes my heart would palpitate so terribly that I feared I had a fit of apoplexy. For the last two years my condition has been almost chronic, for in addition to my other troubles I have suffered terribly from rheumatism. The muscles at the back of my knees would knot up into great lumps causing me intense agony, and the joints of my fingers used to swell up so much that I could scarcely use my hands. For two months last winter I was in bed, and my daughter had to stay at home and help to nurse me. I was a pitiable sight I can tell you.

"It seems almost unbelievable but it was Tanlac which rescued me from this deplorable condition. My husband had read in the papers the testimonials of other people who had greatly benefited by its use and it was he who bought me the first bottle. That first bottle did me so much good that I continued the treatment. It wasn't long before my rheumatism left me entirely and it has never returned. I got such an appetite and to my surprise found that my food agreed with me and was doing me good, I quickly got stronger and today I am so well that I can do my own housework and think nothing of a two-mile walk. Every body who suffers as I did ought to know about Tanlac and it is for that reason that I give you this statement.

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Company and the leading druggist in every town, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

CAPT. BAILEY OF C.P.O.S. GIVEN FINE

Charged With Infraction of Harbor Regulations—Disorderly House Case Before Court—Other Matters Attended to.

In the police court yesterday afternoon Captain A. E. Bailey, of the C. P. O. S. was fined $40 for allowing oil to be pumped from his ship into the harbor. The captain said he had sailed in and out of the port of St. John as master for nine years, but had never yet received a copy of the harbor regulations. The oil in question was olive oil which had leaked out of some casks in the hold and had been given to stop pumping the bilge water into the harbor as soon as the ship was notified. The harbor master, F. D. Alward, said that too many ships were violating the regulations and asked that the maximum penalty be imposed which was accordingly done.

Evidence was given by two witnesses testifying to the guilty character of the accused in the case of Frank Danville, charged with a serious offense, after which the defendant was remanded. E. S. Ritchie is conducting the defence.

The disorderly house case which was begun in the morning was resumed in the afternoon. The judge stated that he would have no consideration for the men implicated, Basil Minue and William Williamson. He gave the women in the case, Mrs. Margaret Murphy and Mrs. Edith Hogan, a private hearing. C. Earl Logan and E. J. Hennebery appeared for the defence. His Honor said he did not consider Margaret Murphy, the daughter other than a witness, and allowed her to go. The case was postponed to 11 o'clock this morning. John Heald appeared in court, in the morning, charged with creating a disturbance in the Prince Albert

Y.W.P.A. Members
Still Find Work To Do

At Meeting Held Last Evening Regret Expressed at Resignation of Miss A. L. Brock as President—Miss Fairweather Elected—Society Helps Needy Families.

Evidence was given last evening that, although originally formed for war work, there is still plenty for the Young Women's Patriotic Association to do in the way of assisting soldiers' families and helping every organization which has for its object the good of the country, the land for which the soldiers fought. The meeting was held last evening in the G. W. V. A. rooms, and the first matter dealt with was a resolution expressing deep regret at the resignation of Miss A. L. Brock, who has so acceptably filled the office of president. This resolution moved by Miss Collins, seconded by Miss Dodge, was spoken to by several members and passed unanimously. Miss Alice Fairweather was elected president by acclamation. Miss Winifred Upham was elected third vice-president. A vacancy on the executive was filled by the election of Miss Melick. The resolution urging all members to buy "Made in Canada" goods, was passed and another thanking the Hearst papers and magazines.

Miss Charlotte Dodge reported on the catering done by the Y. W. P. A. for a dance held recently by the Sergeant's Mess of the Artillery. Miss Boyd told of sending fruit to the East St. John County Hospital. She stated that her committee are planning to resume their visiting at the institution. Miss Irene Barber told of the progress made in getting new members for the Anti-tuberculosis Association, and urged more of the members to undertake this splendid work. She said that arrangements are being made for a committee on the West Side and suggested that Rothsay be organized.

Miss Alice Hatch reported on the assistance given a needy family. There are a number of children, and it was the feeling of the meeting that every thing possible should be done to keep them at home for the children. The sum of $60 was voted to this case. Miss Annette Sherwood told of a soldier's family where help is needed and was given authority to buy boots and coal and give whatever other assistance is necessary.

In describing one of the cases, it was stated that the landlord had raised the rent although the house was hardly fit to live in, and was probably responsible for the sickness in the family.

On motion $10 was voted to the Rockwood Club's memorial to six men from Wright street who gave their lives in the war.

Two letters were read by the secretary Miss Alward, one from Miss Rhetta MacNeil, and one from Miss Adra Farwell, former valued members of the executive who have left the city, thanking the association for a gift of a note book sent to them. It was voted to send Miss Brock a gift of plants in the spring, and that she be made an honorary member of the executive. The sum of $5 was voted to Miss Allingham for sick sailors at the General Public Hospital.

It was reported that yarn obtained through the Red Cross had been sent to the Old Ladies' Home. Plans were made for a pantry sale to be held shortly, and for a series of dances in co-operation with the entertainment committee of the G. W. V. A.

The Y. W. P. A. will also hold a dance after Easter. Miss Borden and Miss Coffey were appointed a committee to arrange for an afternoon concert. It was announced that several prominent speakers had promised to address the association later in the season. Members were asked to attend the meeting to be addressed by Dr. J. W. Robertson.

SKATER ILL

Len Coleman, well known throughout Eastern Canada and the Eastern States as a speed skater, is confined in bed with pleurisy. It was reported last evening, however, that following an operation at the St. John Infirmary, his condition was encouraging. Mr. Coleman was training for the Maritime championships when he became sick.

From A Child Was Constipated

According to the best medical authorities, fully three-fourths of the people of the civilized world suffer in some form from constiveness or irregular action of the bowels. There is no doubt that many distressing diseases are caused by constipation. It gives rise to sick and bilious headaches, jaundice, heartburn, floating specks before the eyes, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness and the painful, troublesome piles. Therefore, it is of supreme importance to health that the bowels be kept regular. Simple food, fruit, etc., should be used, and rich food and stimulants all kinds, avoided. This with the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills to regulate and establish healthy action of the bowels cannot fail to give permanent relief in the most obstinate cases. Mrs. Letitia Wainman, Orillia, Ont., writes:—"From a child I was always very badly constipated, and I can well remember when quite young, my mother giving me some tea nearly every morning, and I got to dread it. After taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for a while I am not troubled with constipation any more."

Tells How He Did It.
Mr. J. A. McCrea, a well-known resident of San Francisco, who was called Daddy and Grandpa on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a home-made mixture, recently made the following statement:
"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Oris Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

WHAT TO DO WITH THE HARBOR? SOME ANSWERS OF AN ENGINEER

Extend Negro Point Breakwater First, and Start Pier Building at Courtenay Bay—No Need for Hysteria, as St. John Harbor is Fairly Well Developed, Considering; But Steady and Consistent Political Pull May be Needed—Harbor Commission is a Question of Control.

"What shall we do with our harbor?" This is the Commercial Club's question. It was put to a well-known engineer who knows a lot about St. John's harbor and other harbors up and down the coast and across continent. "Extend the Negro Point breakwater," he said. "That is the first thing to get done."

"Then what?" "Well, I should say it would be a good plan to get some more industries here—that is if the city wants that sort of thing." "But what as to harbor development?" "St. John has a fairly well developed harbor, considering. There are few harbors that big vessels can enter at any time of tide, and through a twelve hundred foot straight channel. Can they do it at Liverpool?"

"But what about the need for new berths?" "The need is growing, no doubt, but it is no cause for excitement. Except for a few days there has been no congestion of shipping here this winter. Business is growing, but when a lot of tramps come to port looking for grain you cannot expect to load them overnight. I should say St. John sometimes gets in its own light. I suppose the harbor experts on the papers know what they are after; something political I dare say. But sometimes these experts get excited and create the impression that St. John is a poor sort of port, unable to handle the traffic coming here."

"Mind, I recognize that it is good business to try to keep before the Government and the country the need of further development here, but the methods of propaganda should be consistent with a balanced view of things. It is not necessary to assume that the Government and the heads of the big transportation systems are absolutely ignorant or indifferent to the needs of the port of St. John or other ports."

Additional Wharves. "Where would you build the next pier—on the east or west side?" "In Courtenay Bay. There is plenty of room on the West side below Sand Point, though to utilize new piers here the present system of railway truckage would have to be greatly changed. But the programme of having the C. N. R. terminals at Courtenay Bay is a good one, and I should say that a start with new piers at Courtenay Bay should be the next order of business. The land where the C. N. R. proposes to have its siding is almost too low to be utilized for anything else."

Question of Control. "What do you think of Harbor Commission?" "Harbor Commission is a form of nationalization, but I should judge from reading the harbor experts of the press that there are differences of opinion as to its functions, purposes and possibilities. Some people appear to have an idea that if you have a Harbor Commission it will go ahead building harbor works, and that the citizens will be able to sit down and watch the harbor extend and the traffic expand, and moving pictures of developments will be on the daily programme of the local cinema. But the Commission will have to look to the Government for money for improvements, and the Government is not in a position to give every port in the Dominion the money it thinks it ought to have. Harbor Commission might hasten development here, but it is doubtful. As traffic increases, harbor facilities here, as elsewhere, will have to be expanded, but the expansion is not likely to be ahead of the grain. But I see no reason why St. John should not keep abreast of its traffic requirements in a general way. Outside of a few American ports, most big ports are behindhand in harbor development as a result of the war, and if a trans-Atlantic boat happens now and then to lose a day or two here it is no great matter, they are losing lots of time on the other side."

"The idea of Harbor Commission is to provide a central control. It is not enough to give Harbor Commission control of the piers and wharves; it should take control of all traffic after it passes a certain point on the railways. It should have its own shunting system, and the control of all sidings necessary to the business of the port. That is the case in Montreal, and the system works well apparently. With this sort of control, the shipping companies have a chance to get as quick despatch as possible."

"As regard St. John I don't know how Harbor Commission would work out; St. John being a political burg might become an instrument of patronage. With the growth of the business through the port and the coming here of ships which have no direct connection with the railways, the port will need some sort of central control. That is the argument for commission, and I should judge the most important consideration."

Drydock June 30, 1922. In view of these statements of an engineer who has made some study of harbor development, the Standard sought information as to the progress of the work at Courtenay Bay. According to the programme on which the St. John Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Company are working, the drydock is to be completed on June 30, 1922, and the breakwater and dredging are to be finished at the same time. This company will build a pier at the entrance to the drydock, where ships may be tied up while waiting to enter the graving dock or undergoing internal repairs. The company at present has considerably over-expended their appropriations. The excavation work is well advanced, and the breakwater is nearly complete so far as length is concerned, though a good deal of filling in and grading yet remains to be done. The report in a local paper that a portion of the breakwater had been swept away during a storm had no real foundation. The sea simply shifted some broken stone into positions where stone would have had to be placed anyway; the effect of the storm was to have the contractors a little work.

So far the amount of dredging done has not been very great, but the contractors propose to start dredging this year, and do not anticipate any trouble in having the dredging finished as soon as the dry dock is ready.

LIQUOR SEIZED ON PULLMAN. Car on the Valley Train Had Large Assortment of Contraband Aboard—Porter Arrested.

Who put the "pull" in Pullman is a question often asked in these dry and arid days of prohibition, for a sleeping car seems to have an irresistible attraction for a great many, and the C. N. R. sleeper Ocean View, attached to the incoming Valley train yesterday afternoon, proved no exception to the rule. In fact such was his drawing power that C. N. R. Policeman Ryan and Inspector Merryfield boarded the car at a station some distance out of the city and searched the car, as a result of which two quart bottles of gin, four longnecks of whiskey and a bottle of brandy were brought to light. On the arrival of the train in St. John the porter of the car, Bailey Young, was arrested and taken to the police station. He will be charged with importing liquor into the province without a license, and also with having liquor in his possession other than his private dwelling.

R. S. CHAPTER OPPOSES HEARST. Resolution Passed at Last Night's Meeting Placing the Chapter on Record Against Hearst Publications.

The regular meeting of the Royal Standard Chapter, I. O. D. E. was held last evening at the residence of Mrs. Daniel Mullin, Princess Street. The regent Mrs. J. Pope Barnes presided for the first time since her election. A resolution was passed which will be sent to the Municipal Chapter, banning the Hearst papers and magazines, and stating that this Chapter is opposed to their sale in Canada. Five councillors were elected to attend the provincial meeting at Fredericton. A hundred dollars was voted to the War Memorial, and twelve dollars and fifty cents contributed towards the passing of a soldier's wife to England. Plans were made for a Shamrock Tea to be held shortly.

G. S. Mayes returned yesterday from a business trip to Montreal.

Demand For Houses Simply Enormous, Says Com. Bullock

But Government Housing Scheme is Not Adapted to Conditions in St. John—Unsatisfactory Housing and High Rents Creating Much Social Discontent.

Simply enormous, said Commissioner Bullock, speaking of the demand for houses, and he is annoyed because under the conditions of the Government Housing scheme, the city Housing Commission cannot lend money to everybody who wants to build a house.

Many people who have acquired a lot wish money to erect a house, but the object of the Government scheme being to encourage the building of self-contained cottages few lot holders are able to comply with the conditions of a loan. Most lots sold in the city are just about wide enough to build a house, but the Government scheme demands several feet of clear space from the next house.

Commissioner Bullock thinks that the municipalities being held responsible for the money should be allowed to determine the conditions of the loan, so that local conditions could be reckoned with. Apart from the buildings being erected by the Housing Commission, the Government loan has accomplished little in the way of encouraging building.

Meantime the housing situation is not improving; discontent and rents are growing, and some rate payers are seeking homes in the country, or leaving this part of the world. Private enterprise is showing a great deal more activity than since the outbreak of the war, but its ability to supply the houses required is open to question. Most of the houses being built on private account are of a type adapted to salaried people. There is little new construction suitable to the wage-earner, and the demand for houses of moderate rentals is the principal factor in the situation.

The failure of private enterprise to properly house the people is causing serious concern in other cities. It is one of the significant and dangerous signs of the times. In Great Britain it is accepted as an indication that the whole social system is in danger of dissolution, and public enterprise to remedy the situation is being evoked on a great scale, but so far we have results of much importance. Surplus wealth of the country is being squandered in unparalleled prodigality and the nation is unable to properly house its workers.

Brand New Rival Of Winter Port

By Building Greatest Power Plant in Eastern Canada Moncton Hopes Also to Become the Finest Winter Port.

Referring to W. R. Turnbull's Petitcodiac River Power project a correspondent of the Moncton Transcript says: "If this dam is constructed then the great string of floating ice cakes making at the head of the Petitcodiac River and its fresh water creeks, prancing to and fro with the current now, will be checked, the surface of the river as far down as Hillsboro anyway will be solid ice in winter months, and below the dam there will be an open harbor the year round, the finest winter port, not even excepting Halifax, for at the junction of these rivers the chart gives 7 fathoms, 8 fathoms, 5 fathoms and on down to Grandisone Island. No breakwaters needed, up inland too far for the wild Atlantic to be bumping the ships. Think of it you Montonians, so Maritime railway necessary, about one mile of track from the C. N. R. on the level marsh—and presto, Moncton about 25 miles from the docks and Dorchester less than 3 miles.

Some fellow says: 'There will be ice'—Set up your logic pins, and we will bow them down with further critical examination.
