AMHERST WELCOMES SIR HENRY THORNTON

Big Meeting at Nova Scotia—Town Citizens Greet New Manager.

Amherst, N. S., Dec. 13.—Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, who has come east for the purpose of meeting the people of the Maritime Provinces, and for discussing transportation problems, made his first public appearance in the Maritimes this morning when he addressed an enthusiastic audience of a thousand people assembled in the main auditorium of the Amherst Armouries.

The Storm is Coming!

OFFICER LOOSES HIS "GAT"
We have been informed that a prominent officer of the law, who is well known here, recently lost his revolver and some other instruments which are essential to the maintenance of law and order. It is also believed that these valuables occurred while the said officer was on duty. This speaks well for his vigilance. Whether he was sleeping or just "under the weather" has not so far been ascertained.

BOWLING FOR LADIES.

A new feature of local sport will shortly have its inception at the Boulevard Bowling Alleys when two will be reserved on each Wednesday afternoon for lady bowlers. Many local ladies have expressed their desire to engage in this healthy pastime and no doubt many more will be anxious to learn.

MEETING OF THE TOWN COUNCIL

Improvements Made in Fire Fighting Appliances—Other Business Transacted.

A meeting of the Town Council was held Monday evening. His Worship Mayor McKay presiding. There were present Councillors Belle-Isle, Gilker, St. Ours, Graham, Duncan, Moore and Marquis.

His Worship explained the Vocational classes matter. See another page for particulars.

The clerk read a letter from the town Solicitor pointing out that because of the change of the rule of the road it would be necessary to change the town By-laws. Referred to By-Laws and Legislation Committee.

D. F. McMillan, secretary of the Campbellton Band asked for free use of a room in new building for band practices.

Referred to Public Property and Streets Committee.

Supt. R. H. Martin submitted leases of right of way for sewer through railway property at Minto street and asked that same be signed by the Mayor and Town Clerk. On motion the Mayor and Town Clerk were authorized to sign lease.

D. A. Stewart submitted an account for lumber supplied T. O'Riley for house he started under housing scheme amount $117.00.

His worship did not see why this bill had been sent. Town was not a bill collector for contractors.

Coun. Belle-Isle said he supposed the material went into the house. Mr. Stewart should have placed a lien on the building to protect his debt.

His Worship—If the bill had been presented at the proper time the town could have protected account. Who could vouch for the account now?

Coun. Duncan would like to see Stewart paid but could not see how it could be legally done.

Coun. Belle-Isle moved that Clerk notify Mr. Stewart that Council could not entertain account.

The clerk read a letter from Mr. W. Kingsley of the C. N. R. in reply to Council's demand for gates on dangerous crossings. This letter stated that Mr. Hungerford had made a proposition for a subway at Central Street but that no reply had been made to that proposition.

His Worship said that Mr. Hungerford's proposition was too heavy for the town. Under it the town had to provide all approaches and settle all land damage. Also close Andrew and Cedar Streets.

Coun. Belle-Isle moved that letter be acknowledged and laid on table.—Carried.

The School Board wrote asking that lot on corner of Prince William and King Streets, formerly used for school purposes be transferred back to the School Board. Referred to Public Property and Streets Committee.

George Poirier wrote about damage to fence by workmen building town hall. Referred to Public Property and Streets Committee.

The Town Solicitor submitted deeds for a portion of Arden Street. Ordered registered and filed.

The Red Cross Society wrote asking $500 of assessment be placed to credit of Society at Bank of Nova Scotia.

Coun. Duncan moved that Treasurer be authorized to place $500 to credit of Red Cross Society in bank.—Carried.

The manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia wrote that the over draft was $7500 and said Council would have to pass resolution authorizing overdraft.

A. C. Belle-Isle wrote asking that office occupied by Clerk and Treasurer be leased to him. Referred to Public Property and Streets Committee.

Coun. Moore drew attention to the fact that this room really belonged to the Firemen.

H. G. V. Farrer, town electrician wrote asking that his salary be placed on equality with that of other town employees. Referred to Electric Light Committee.

There were two applications for reduction of taxes which were referred to the Assessment and Appeals Committee.

The following made application for licenses: G. S. Wiseman, Mrs. Margaret Ward, T. H. Carey, F. C. Schurman and J. I. Boudreau. All referred to the Police and License Committee.

Departmental accounts were passed. Councillor Duncan submitted a most satisfactory report on the various town departments. Report received and ordered placed on file.

Councillor Gilker reported upon several applications for reductions in assessment which had been referred to his committee. On motion report received and adopted.

Councillor Graham from the Police and License Committee reported recommending the issuance of several business licenses upon the payment of

WILL AID GIRLS OF GASPE COAST

Miramichi Presbytery to Appeal to Home Mission Board for a Grant.

Char'ham, Dec. 12.—The Presbytery of Miramichi held a quarterly meeting yesterday in the United Church of St. Andrew and St. John. Rev. J. H. Anderson was elected moderator for the ensuing six months, and Rev. W. M. Matthews clerk. Arrangements were made for the induction of Rev. W. M. McNair, of Westville, N. S., to the pastoral charge of St. Andrew's church, Campbellton, on January 4. Revs. C. F. McLennan, L. H. MacLean and A. D. Archibald are to take part in the service.

A strong delegation was present to represent the interests of the school home project in New Carlisle, Rev. L. J. King, principal; M. C. Hewitt, J. S. Gordon, Rev. J. F. McCurdy, and Dr. James Ross, home mission superintendent, supported the proposition to appeal to the Home Mission Board for sufficient grant from the Forward Movement fund to erect a school home for the accommodation of at least sixty girls. It is regarded as a most promising project in the interest of the educational work of the Protestant children of the Gaspé Coast.

Important home mission matters received attention, including the co-operation with the Methodists in some of the districts of the board.

The usual fees. Report received and adopted.

Councillor Belle-Isle reported that an auxiliary line was being erected from Water street up Andrew across Arran to Sugar Loaf street, to operate the electric pump. He pointed out the electric car which formerly ran between Campbellton and Bathurst was to again be placed upon this route, and that the town would be asked to supply current for it. Some 600 more feet of line would be required. His committee was authorized to erect the additional number of feet required.

Councillor Moore brought up the matter of conserving the water supply and suggested that a sled be purchased upon which to put the chemical engine, and that an extra man be employed during the winter shortage to look after getting the chemical engine out to fires. On motion Fire Committee was authorized to purchase sled and hire a man.

Councillor Duncan brought up the matter of changing the town account to the Royal Bank of Canada. He pointed out that he had no fault to find with the Bank of Nova Scotia.

It had given the town good service which was highly appreciated. Nevertheless it was not right it should get all the town business. The Royal Bank had contributed $5,000 to the fire sufferers in 1910, and had a right to their share of the business. The Bank of Nova Scotia had carried the account since the town was incorporated, and it was only right that others should receive some of the town business.

On motion the town treasurer was authorized to transfer the town account to the Royal Bank of Canada.

Councillor Belle-Isle enquired of His Worship when a meeting of the Committee of the Whole would be held, and was informed on Monday next at 7 a.m.

Council then adjourned.

HOCKEY TEAM NEEDS SUPPORT

Unless The Necessary Support Is Given Campbellton May Not Play.

Word has just been received from the local hockey club that arrangements with the rink management, which were pending for the last few days, have been satisfactorily settled. So our local boys will be in the field again this year with all their old time, verse and pop—IF FINANCIAL SUPPORT IS FORTHCOMING. Latest reports concerning this side of the matter are freighted with grave uncertainty as to whether our players will consider starting another season without adequate backing—which, by the way, should be eagerly offered thus obviating the expedient of soliciting subscriptions. If hockey enthusiasts here want hockey this winter, now is the time for them to throw all their weight into the balance.

In passing there are a few state-ments which are appropriate to the present situation and which we make without any fear of contradiction. The Campbellton Hockey Team never has, in recent years, been given the recognition it deserves as an organization of game sportsmen and has never received the support it should have had from the citizens generally, and especially from the "old boys" who proudly profess to have sporting blood in their veins. If the old timers were real sorts in their more active days they should, by the rules of sportsmanship, be sports still. An old sport and an old soldier should be the same in spirit. When the call comes neither, if sincere, should be found wanting. Here is a splendid opportunity for the old sports to prove their sincerity. We would suggest that some of the supporters of the team approach them with confidence and give them a chance to show where they stand and to what extent they appreciate the efforts being expended to provide good wholesome entertainment.

It is also interesting to note that the Chatham town council recently voted $100 toward the support of the hockey club there. Campbellton might follow suit without going far astray. At all events only fifteen more days remain before the opening game in the northern section of the league. Bathurst has a much stronger aggregation of hockeyists this season than last. Our boys cannot be expected to put up a credible fight for honors in this contest unless financial matters are disposed of at once so that they may settle down to prepare for the match. The time for useless quibbling is past. It is now time to act. Obviously it is up to citizens who are interested to stand by the boys and supply the necessary backing as well as to lend their assistance in making preparations for other possible contingencies so that the players themselves may enjoy an equal chance with those of other teams in the league.

CHRISTMAS WINDOWS.

The Christmas display in the windows of the M. L. Bartle Millinery Parlors is especially pleasing this season. At night when the lights are turned on the brilliant decorations show up to splendid advantage. The west window presents a color-scheme of red and black, while the east one is tastefully arranged in green, lavender, pink and white. From the dainty articles on display this looks like a good place to purchase Xmas needs of this kind.

THINK ABOUT YOUR JOB.

A very successful man was asked the secret of his success. His answer was: "I got here by Always Thinking About My Job." That is a good answer and a true one. Men sometimes boast of the long hours they put in at the office. They come early or stay late. That's good. Its one of the straight roads to getting ahead. But keeping long hours is not enough.

It is not nearly enough. The important thing is Thinking about your job, whether you are in the office or out, whether you are at home or in the school room or on the field. Thinking means improvement. Improvement means progress. Progress means getting somewhere in life. Being Somebody. Isn't that what we all want? Are you Thinking about your job? (Fredericton Mail).

FESTIVITIES OF THE OLD TIMES

Lord of Misrule Was Important Functionary at Yuletide Celebrations.

The Lord of Misrule was an important functionary at the Christmas festivities of these long-ago times. On account of this important personage has been preserved by the historian and archivist, John Stow, who lived during the reign of Queen Elizabeth and during the first year of the reign of King Charles I, and was, therefore, a contemporary of Shakespeare.

In the feast of Christmas," writes Stow, "there was in the king's house, wherever he lodged, a Lord of Misrule, or Master of Merry Sports, and the like had ye in the house of every nobleman of honor or good worship, were he spiritual or temporal. The mayor of London, an either of the sheriffs, had their several Lords of Misrule."

At Cambridge University the Lord of Misrule was a master of art, elected to superintend the representation of Latin plays by the students, besides taking charge of their games and diversions during the Christmas season. A similar Master of Revels was chosen at Oxford.

In the Inns of Courts in London, where the barristers had their offices and belongings, a Lord of Misrule reigned with great splendor, "being surrounded with all the parade and ceremony of royalty his guard of honor and even his two chaplains who preached before him in the Temple church."

On the Twelfth day he abdicated his sovereignty, and we are informed that in the year 1635 this mock-representative of royalty expended in the exercise of his office about two thousand pounds from his own purse, and at the conclusion of his reign was knighted by King Charles I at Whitehall.

BIRDS AND ANIMALS SHARE CHRISTMAS

Christmas is not merely a festival celebrated by and for man alone. Among the folk here of other countries are several quaint stories in which animals and birds give evidence of their adoration. A well-known Russian legend offers a version of "world adoration—they claim that on the holy day "the sun in the east bowed down, the stars stood still; the mountains and forests shook and touched the earth with their summits, and the green pine trees bent; the grass was bowed down, sweet as myrrh pervaded upland and forest; birds sang on the mountain tops and all gave thanks to the great God."

In Boemia on Christmas day a sheaf of rye is put into birds' nests and bird houses for the birds' Christmas. A stranger, stranded in a Michigan town was once startled to see a sheaf of rye in a bird box. He knew immediately that one of his kind lived there and was keeping Christmas in the old way.

An old Indian legend tells us that on Christmas night all the deer in the forest kneel in adoration before the Great Spirit. Woe to him, however, who tries to spy on them. He is punished with perpetual stiffening of the knees.

Many people of the old world claim that on Christmas night animals are gifted with speech, but none must trespass or eavesdrop.

HEROIC ACTION OF LORNEVILLE LAD

Allison Galbraith Rescues from Drowning a Seven-year-old Girl.

St. John, Dec. 5.—A story of heroism and pluck, in which a fifteen-year-old lad rescued his little school mate from drowning recently, comes from Lorneville. While little Roberta Galbraith, seven years old, on her way to school was crossing the Lorneville bridge, in some manner she fell from the bridge into about ten feet of water. She was under the structure and she was in imminent danger of drowning.

Allison Galbraith, who was accompanying her to school, realizing her danger, threw aside his school bag and plunged into the icy water. He caught the youngster just as she was rising to the surface and held her head above water until a boat was secured by W. J. Galbraith and the two children brought safely to shore.

Although both suffered slightly from the shock of the cold dip, it is not expected that any serious consequences will result. The residents of Lorneville warmly praised the heroic action of the young lad who bravely risked his own life to save that of his little school-mate.

WILL PLAY TEST GAMES

Scottish Curlers Will Meet Provincial Rinks at St. John, Jan. 8th.

(Moncton Transcript). At the annual meeting of the New Brunswick branch of the Royal Canadian Curling Club held in city hall last evening, matters pertaining to the proposed visit of the Scottish curlers next month were discussed, as was the 1923 competition for the Blair trophy, now held by the Fredericton club.

It was pointed out that the Scottish curlers have honored the province of New Brunswick in their decision to play a test match in St. John on Jan. 8th, at which representatives of each provincial club will select skips to compete. Such a match is considered a real test in that it should give some idea as to which is the leading provincial club. The Scottish curlers will Canadian tour and their decision to play one in New Brunswick has caused favorable comment.

Respecting the selection of N. B. skips to compete in this test match as now proposed, it was decided to appoint skips in the following manner: Two from the North Shore (comprising the clubs of Chatham, Dalhousie, Bathurst and Campbellton); two from the South Shore (including the clubs of Carleton, St. Andrews and Thistles of St. John, together with the Hampton club); one skip from the St. Stephen and Fredericton club and one from the Moncton and Sackville clubs. The meeting also decided that during the visit of the Scotchmen at St. John that the Blair trophy would be competed for by the several provincial rinks, this being feasible on account of there being sufficient curling rinks in St. John where there are eleven sheets of ice.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Hon. Pres.—John White, St. John.

The following delegates were present: F. W. Coombe, H. C. Simmes, St. Andrew's Club, St. John; J. E. Chesley, Thistles Club, St. John; R. E. Vardine, Judge Limerick, Fredericton; F. A. Snowball, Chatham; D. J. O'Brien, Bathurst; R. W. Simpson, C. P. Club, St. John (re-elected); Tries, R. P. Dickens, Moncton; J. Mowat Campbellton; C. O. Morris, J. Ingraham, Carleton Club West, St. John; A. D. Ganong, St. Stephen. In the absence of the president, J. A. Garrow of St. Stephen, occupied the chair.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING.

During the last week we have had occasion to make at least one call at nearly every store in town. During those visits we were careful to notice the daily arrival of new Christmas goods and upon asking a few questions were surprised to learn of the wide range of stock which these merchants have secured to meet the Christmas trade. To us prices also appear to be very reasonable. Obviously there is no need to send out of town for one's Xmas requirements. Campbellton is full of Christmas things.

We would also urge our readers both here and throughout the county to read the advertisements of these merchants in the Graphic. They will prove the solution of your Christmas shopping problems and are bound to help you to get all the things you want at an economical cost. We also take this opportunity to thank our many advertisers for their patronage as it has been a very appreciable contribution to the success of our Christmas Edition.

GRAY'S WHOLESALE

OBITUARY

Alexander Love

Campbellton lost one of her oldest and most respected citizens in the person of Mr. Alexander Love whose death occurred Monday evening after an illness of several weeks.

The late Mr. Love, who was in his eightieth year, was pre-deceased by his wife some thirteen months ago. He was born in Scotland having come to this country when nine years of age. He was a life long member of Hiram's Loyal Orange Lodge No. 64 and also a well and favorably known retired employee of the C. N. R. having been superannuated some twenty years ago.

The deceased gentleman leaves to mourn his loss three sons and two daughters. The sons are R. P. Love of Vancouver B. C., and John and Earl at home. The daughters are Mrs. L. A. Smallwood of Moncton, N. B. and Ethel of Campbellton.

The funeral services, which were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 under the auspices of L. O. L. No. 64 Rev. B. C. Salter of this diocese officiating. The funeral tributes from a host of friends were many and beautiful.

Ena R. Gillis.

It is with feelings of deep regret we record the death of Miss Ena R. Gillis which occurred at the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital Saturday, 9th. The deceased had been in failing health for the past six months and was removed to the hospital two weeks ago, but all that medical skill and careful nursing could do were of no avail as she passed away on the above date. The funeral was held from her father's residence on Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. B. C. Salter officiating. Interment being made at Flat Lands Cemetery. The floral tributes were many, testifying to the esteem of the departed.

Woodstock, N. B., Dec. 13—At an early hour this morning the drug store of Stevens Bros. was broken into and liquor to the value of about $600 was removed.

They left behind them a three inch augur with which they bored holes in the back door and removed the iron bar with their hands. There is no clue to the thieves. A few weeks ago the drug store of Atherton &

McAfee was also broken into and several hundred dollars worth of liquor

removed. In that case the police were never able to get a clue to the thieves.

FUR AND HIDE

BUSINESS QUIET

According to information received from different parties in touch with the fur and hide market there is little activity in that business hereabouts at the present time. The price offered for green hides by local buyers is hanging about 10 cts per pound which the market shows a tendency to drop even lower. The trade in raw furs seems equally dull with prices apparently on the decline. According to reports the catch in foxes and other indigenous fur bearing animals has been good throughout the county so far this season.

Woodstock, N. B., Dec. 8—R. Fraser

Armstrong, town manager at a council meeting tonight tendered his resignation to become effective March

1. While it was realized that the manager had been considering several propositions that meant advancement

the resignation tonight came as a surprise. Mayor E. W. Mair and all the members of the board expressed their deep regret and said that the strong position of the town today was undou-

bly owing to the efficient work of

Mr. Armstrong during the last three years. Perhaps no town in Canada was better governed and in a better

financial position today than Woodstock.

Mr. Armstrong has been engaged by the Citizens Research Institute of Canada, of Toronto, to carry on work along municipal lines. The position is an important one and the clever young engineer is being warmly

congratulated by his friends on his attaining a place on a staff of national importance.

It is not known who his successor

will be but efforts will be made to obtain a competent man at once.

FRENCH BIRTH RATE SHOWS BIG DECLINE

French Not Keeping Up Birth Record Established During War.

Paris, Dec. 13.—Vital statistics for the first six months of this year show a decrease of 25,000 birth and an increase of 30,000 deaths over the corresponding period in 1921. The excess of births over deaths, which last year was 73,000 is only 9,000 this year. Births and deaths from January to July of this year numbered 396,000 and 387,000 respectively. In 1921 there were 421,000 births and 345,000 deaths.

NEW RECTOR IS INDUCTED

Rev. A. B. Humphreys Is Now Rector of Christ Church Here.

On Sunday evening last the Rev. A. B. Humphreys formerly of Kamsack, Sask., was formally inducted as rector of Christ Church here. The Rev. Canon Smithers of Fredericton took charge of the inductory service and addressed both the congregation and the new rector in impressive and appropriate remarks. The duty and relationship of rector and congregation to each other was duly emphasized by the speaker and it was apparent that Canon Smithers' thoughtful and appropriate remarks brought home to all those present the real significance of the occasion as the beginning of a new period in the life and work of the congregation under the guidance of a new leader.

Following the resignation of the Rev. J. S. Harrington, the former rector here, Mr. Humphreys, then at Devon, N. B. was sent by the bishop of that Diocese to take charge of the parish here until a permanent rector could be secured. The congregation here was so favorably impressed with Mr. Humphreys and so well pleased with the manner in which he discharged his duties as temporary rector that an unanimous call was extended him with urgent requests to assume the rectorship of the parish.

Mr. Humphreys comes to Campbellton after some years of faithful service in the western part of the Dominion. Previous to his charge in Kamsack, Sask., he saw eleven years service under most trying conditions in the vast mission fields of the Canadian Northwest. His work alone recommends him as a most capable leader in religious work, and the congregation of Christ Church are to be highly congratulated on having secured his services as rector. With pastoral ability such as the Reverend gentleman possesses, together with his long experience in religious work, Mr. Humphreys will doubtless be instrumental in accomplishing much good here and incidentally, in furthering the cause which he has made his chief interest in life.

NARROW ESCAPE OF NEWCASTLE MAN

WOMAN BEATS CHILD WITH BROOM

Local Lady In Fit of Anger Treats Child in Brutal Manner.

A few days ago an aged lady, or a woman whom we had always considered a lady brutally chastised a child of about thirteen or fourteen years of age, almost under our very nose. We regret to say that we did not interfere.

We are informed that the little girl, who was the victim in the affair, is staying with the aged woman as she is too old to stay alone. From the few irate words we were able to catch it appears that the child had not been just as careful in the discharge of her duties as her mistress deemed necessary. They were both on the veranda as we came within sight of the house. Our first intimation of trouble was borne to us with the woman's angry vociferations which she punctuated with oaths befitting a man under the influence of liquor. Then swept by an additional gust of wrath, she lifted the broom which she held in her hand and brought it into such violent contact with the girl's head that the terrified and helpless child toppled headlong off the veranda. This brutal act was followed by another outburst of profanity which the ferocious female directed at the object of her wrath. We do not wish to boast, but had the oppressor in the case been of masculine gender he would probably be occupying one of the wards in one of our local hospitals at the present moment. But to see a woman give way in this manner to a passing burst of indignation completely astounded us. Our utter astonishment held us petrified until the ensuing quiet told us that the barbarous episode was over.

Nevertheless, we have not been wholly successful in erasing the sordid incident from our mind. It is to be hoped that this veritable atrocity of which we were eye-witnesses was an unusual occurrence in the household we refer to and the first in which this defenceless child was victim of such vicious treatment. But then, on the other hand what if this incident was merely the repetition of a daily event?

As all people who possess any degree of civility know, there are much more humane and effective methods for correcting the erroneous tendencies of youngsters. And if such people as the woman in question are not familiar with these methods, it is the duty of some officer of the law to make it their business to enlighten them to that extent.

Remember next Wednesday!—The Storm. "Hullo, Jim, when is your marriage to Miss Coyne coming off?" "It's been indefinitely postponed." "What's the trouble?" "Oh, she married another fellow."

SCHOOL BOARD EXCEEDED ITS LEGAL AUTHORITY

Had no Power to Establish Vocational Classes, and Had Discontinued them of their Own Accord Says Mayor

At the opening of the Town Council held Monday evening His Worship said that it originally has been the intention to introduce two resolutions in reference to vocational classes, but upon receiving the opinion of the town's legal advisor these had been withdrawn.

The Town Solicitor set this matter very clearly before the Council and if the council was to accept this advice nothing further could be done at this time.

It had been stated that the town council had been responsible for the discontinuing of these vocational classes. This was not the case. The School Board found that they had gone beyond their jurisdiction and had of themselves ordered the classes discontinued.

I would not state where he stood in respect to this matter at present, nor did he know how the citizens felt in regard to the matter. Many favored the classes, and also many opposed them, but the great mass of the ratepayers seemed indifferent. His Worship asked the clerk to read the Town Solicitor's letter, which was as follows:—

John T. Reid, Esq.,
Town Clerk,
Campbellton, N. B.
Dear Sir:—

have secured this recommendation from the Town Council they shall have the power to assess and collect a sum sufficient for the purpose of establishing and equipping a suitable building, etc., (right here, I would like to call the Council's attention to the fact that the School Board, being a distinct body corporate, is a body entirely separate from the town; that they have, under the provisions of Section 105 of the School Act as adopted by the Town of Campbellton, authority to make an estimate of the sum required for school purposes each year, submitting the same to the Town Council, and the Town Council shall collect the same for the School Trustees, or in other words, the Board of School Trustees has the right to have its assessment collected through the Town machinery.) The intention of the Act must be that the Trustees include it specifically in the appropriation for the school year in which it is intended to be expended. The vocational act is an act entirely separate from the School Act, and I would be of the opinion that unless the amount for vocational training was specifically included in the amount applied for for any special school year, and actually assessed for, that the Trustees would not have the authority to make any expenditures for vocational training out of monies which had been assessed only for school purposes as provided by the School Act.

These school funds are payable under the order of the School Board and they are responsible for the expenditure. I would not think that the Board of School Trustees would have the right to expend money for any object other than those which are included by them at the time their estimate was made up before the school year of 1921 and 1922. However, the responsibility rests with the School Board and not with the Town Council.

Yours truly,
H. A. CARL.

After having carefully gone into the matter and placing what I think was the intention of the Acts governing vocational training, I am of the opinion that before Vocational training, is adopted, the Compulsory School Act must be enforced; that the Compulsory School Act can only come in force at the commencement of this coming school year and also vocational education at that time, upon the recommendation of the Council. Further, that the estimates for the year should be made up with a specific amount included for vocational training and the estimates made up with that in view.

BRITAIN TO CONSTRUCT

OBITUARY.

Miss Susie Murphy.
Newcastle, Dec. 11.—Friends were shocked to hear of the death of Miss Susie Murphy, which occurred very suddenly in Hallowell, Maine, at ten o'clock Tuesday morning, Nov. 28th, Miss Murphy had gone to her work as usual to the office of H. P. Clearwater, where she suffered an ill turn. A physician was summoned and she was placed in an ambulance but died on the way to Victoria General Hospital. Death was due to heart failure, following incipient pneumonia. Deceased, who has been away from Newcastle for the past six or seven years, was very popular here, as well as in Hallowell and there will be many who will deeply regret her death at the early age of twenty-seven years. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Murphy, five sisters, Mrs. A. R. Keeley, Quebec, Cecelia, Florence Delphine, and Josephine at home and two brothers Walter at home and Frank of Priest River, Idaho. Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved family in their great loss.

The remains, accompanied by Miss Hannah McDonald of Gardner, arrived on the Maritime Thursday night and the funeral was held from the home of her parents at 8.45 Saturday morning to St. Mary's Church, where a requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. P. W. Dixon. The pall-bearers were: Patrick Dunn, Martin Murphy, Charles Buckley, Charles McDonald, Mark Murphy and Arthur McLaughlin. The floral tributes included a beautiful basket of flowers from the office staff of H. P. Clearwater, Hallowell, and a spray from Mrs. Austin McNeil and Miss Jennie Copp. Spiritual bouquets and mass cards were received from many friends. The funeral was under the direction of Maher Bros., Chatham.

DECLARES PEOPLE HAVE PART TO PLAY

Only Through Close Co-operation Can Railway Problem be Solved.

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—Speaking at the official Government dinner here last night in honor of the American delegates to the International Postal Conference, Sir Henry W. Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways, declared that the solution of the railway problem would only come from close and constant co-operation on the part of the people. If it were twelve months hence, he said he might make a statement with regard to the railway situation.

Sir Henry said he had assurances that the business of the railways was to be conducted on business lines and that there would be no political interference. He believed he would receive these assurances from any party which might be in power, and that without them in the first instance, he would not have assumed his present position.

It was an honor, he believed, to join the working people of this Dominion, and to help the Canadian people solve the great problem confronting them.

SAVING THE LEFTOVERS
Instead of always frying up any leftover potatoes, why not use them for hot tea scones? They only take a few minutes to make. To half a pound of cold potatoes add two ounces of flour and a teaspoonful each of salt and baking powder. Knead them all together, then add just enough milk—sour milk if you like—to make a stiff dough. Roll out and cut into either squares or rounds with a pastry cutter or tumbler and bake on a tin in a quick oven.

"Cold in the Head"
An acute attack of cold in the head is a very annoying condition. It is caused by a virus which enters the system through the nose and settles in the sinuses. It is often accompanied by a runny nose and a sore throat. The best remedy is to keep the sinuses clear by using a nasal spray. This can be made by mixing a few drops of eucalypti oil with water. It is also helpful to use a steam inhalant.

GREAT HIGHWAY TO VANCOUVER

Halifax Will Be Linked Up With Western City By Motor Road.

Halifax, N. S. Dec. 5.—A sign post reading: "Halifax to Vancouver" was unveiled with impressive ceremony yesterday at the corner of Kempt Road and Robie Street by Lieutenant-Governor Grant—symbolizing the project to construct a great national highway linking up the two cities. The movement is sponsored by the Canadian Automobile Association and Dr. P. E. Doolittle, president of the organization was present to deliver the principal address of the unveiling.

Dr. Doolittle said the simple direction post with its arrow pointing to the legend "Vancouver" was a symbol of a mighty project and that ere long there would be similar guide posts at intervals from coast to coast.

Others present at the ceremony yesterday included A. S. MacMillan, chairman of the provincial highway board Mr. Berrie, secretary of the New Brunswick Motor League, and Mr. McLennan, Sydney.

Dr. Doolittle was given a banquet by the Nova Scotia Motor League at the Halifax Club last evening and tonight he will address a public meeting in the Board of Trade rooms.

MRS. E. ATHERTON

SMITH LECTURES

Mrs. E. Atherton Smith in her eloquent manner of expression took her large audience, assembled in St. Andrew's Hall, St. John, one evening last week through France and Flanders, making a most ideal guide. The final scene at the tomb of the Unknown Warrior was graphically described and some who had not considered the real issue in the matter of this event, were led to realize the assembling, as it were of the material remains of all those who have gone before, as being centred in the sacred place. "If Mrs. Smith could give this lecture in all the central points of our province and of Canada, there would be fostered a lasting desire for peace so vivid was the picture of the awful havoc made by the war," was the comment of one of the enthusiastic audience.

The views of the battlefields and of the cemeteries bear the mark of the personal, being taken by Mr. Smith and showing, in many cases Miss Mary White, who was an ideal travelling companion, helping to visualize the wonderful scenery and the awesome-ness of the scarred land of Europe.

Mrs. R. S. Sims, president of the Ladies' Aid, made a gracefully expressed address in presenting a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Smith, and Judge Forbes presided in his happy manner. Hearty applause greeted many of the allusions to the bravery of the Canadians and British soldiers and in showing the pictures of those who helped to win the war, the little man, Lloyd George received an ovation. Mrs. Smith said that he had enemies, and quoted the passage in Scripture that "Cursed is he that hath no enemies."

CARE OF THE TEETH.

The time salutary to the teeth are apt to be decomposed if acids are allowed to stay in the mouth, says Nurse. When the lime structure breaks down we have decayed teeth. This acid enters the mouth in various ways, from decomposition of food particles, lodging about the teeth, from acid drinks and often from medicines given.

It also comes from acidity of the saliva or the contents of the stomach and from the many acid foods we take into our mouth. Absolute cleanliness aided by an anti acid mouth wash and good tooth paste, will do away with the danger from the first two sources. The combined services of a doctor and a reliable dentist are required in the latter conditions.

The teeth should be brushed three times a day after each meal. Brush them up and down and across. See that all particles of food are dislodged and, if necessary, use dental floss between the teeth to dislodge bits of food that the brush does not take out.

DARNING ON LACE OR SILK.

Darning on lace or silk is becoming popular just now, and for darning flit, the net chosen should be knotted flit with a wide mesh and quite fine. For both small and large articles the net should be stretched over a small hand frame to keep it taut. In this way it will hold the net so the work will not pull.

The darned piece is shifted on and then rolled up as each section of it is finished. Just as in cross stitching, the counting must be absolutely exact if the finished work is to look well. The stitches resemble close and even darning and the thread is passed under and over the meshes until each square in turn is filled.

Designs may be taken from old examples of the work or from machine made lace, much of which is copied from really old and rare pieces. It is also used on gowns, in which case a pattern is stamped on the material and there is no need to count the stitches.

WANT TO DISCARD HATS.

France and Belgium are waging contradictory campaigns with reference to the usefulness of the hat.

Belgian men want to abrogate the tradition requiring public men to go bareheaded at funerals, public ceremonies and gatherings. They argue that many statesmen, including the Belgian Minister of Arts, have been victims of bad colds and influenza due to exposing their craniums in bad weather.

Frenchmen declare that the hat should be done away with altogether, because hats are a nuisance and a snare. Dr. Taubman, member of the French Boxing Federation, condemns the hat as "an idiotic invention that makes men bald and causes headaches."

Other medical men of France say that discarding of the hat will minimize the number of cases of nose ailments.

DISCOLORED BAKING DISHES.

When the baking cups or dishes become discolored from the extreme heat they, can be made like new again if the brown spots are rubbed with a cloth dipped into whiting.

WOMEN'S PEACE CONFERENCE. A Women's International Peace Conference is being held at The Hague

this month, starting on the seventh, under the auspices of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. The W. I. L. P. F. is a woman's peace society which today has branches in thirty-three countries. In England it has at its head such well known suffrage and social workers as Mrs. Pethwick Lawrence, editor of "Votes for Women"; Mrs. Swanwick, editor of "The Common Cause"; Mrs. Despard, sister of Lord French; Miss Margaret Bonfield, Labor candidate in the last election; Lady Courtney of Penrith, and many others. The Women's Peace Conference, in the words of the call issued, is "to consider how the ruin now impending over Europe can be averted by the substitution of a real and practical peace for the present destructive treaties." Jane Addams, the founder of Hull House is to preside.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

Among the Wallachs, the gypsies of Asia Minor, when a betrothal has been announced the village girls troop to the forest to cut firewood for the young couple.

They choose at the same time a branch having at its extremity five twigs. On one they fasten an apple, on the other four, tufts of red wool. The apple is an emblem of love the tufts of wool are symbolic of household thrift and industry.

Campbellton, N. B., Dec. 14th, 1922

WHERE THE BLAME BELONGS.

Statistics obtainable from Washington made it abundantly evident that the number of prisoners in U. S. State and federal institutions since the we-

days of 1917 has not decreased; indeed

the contrary is the case by a substantial margin. According to the government reports, the astounding statement has been made that the crime

increases is attributable to the drastic

prohibition legislation "due to arrests

and sentences for causes arising from the use of intoxicants" and the main

increase is in the so-called prohibition

period of 1920-22. The Montreal

Star declares that there is cold comfort

in the foregoing for the Anti-saloon

League and the "bone-dry" element.

We cannot say whether the Star's statement was intended as a knock to the temperance party. It has that flavor. But one thing is obvious;

they did not go far enough. Granted that prohibition, as it exists today, has been responsible for an increase in crime in the U. S. it does not follow that temperance party is responsible for this deplorable fact. Our temperance laws are rational and their objective is a worthy one. The trouble lies in the manner in which they are enforced. This is probably even more apparent in regard to Canada.

As far as is discernible through ordinary judgment, a great comedy is being staged in various parts of this province by men who have been appointed to enforce prohibition. No it is more than a comedy. It is a farce of the rankiest order. Little wonder that a lady brewer resorted to rather barbarous methods when attempting to defer her bootlegging some time ago.

Under the present system in force in this district, bootleggers are seldom molested. A prominent citizen is permitted the luxury of getting "cocktail" every night in the week and no questions are asked. If a more non-entity secured a bottle—probably at twice what it is worth—their run down and relieved of its treasure before he has even had a chance to get drunk. And of course he is fined.

We must have revenue, so people who intend getting drunk if they can get a chance must pay for their evil intentions—that is, provided they belong to the ordinary class. Those who are generally catalogued as prosperous, influential and "law-abiding" citizens seem to enjoy the special prerogative of being immune from prosecution regardless of how richly they deserve it. It is amazing that such conditions should satisfy the temperance people. Some of them apparently worked hard to make prohibition an actuality. The present dispensable system we have in force here seems to be a fair sample of the fruition of their arduous efforts. Is this what they were actually fighting for? We cannot believe it. Then, in our opinion, it is high time that conscientious citizens were waking up.

SMART POLITICS.

The United States Tariff Commission in discussing the effect of the

Fordney-McCumber tariff, as reported from Washington on Oct. 31st said:

"England did not purchase the normal portion of Canadian wheat in 1921-22

with the result that many Canadian producers were forced to market their crops in this country over the tariff

wall."

This is outside evidence as to the effect of the wheat board legislation

on the price of Canadian wheat this fall. The British miller did not buy in advance as usual because the Canadian dealer could not contract to deliver on account of impending wheat

board confiscation. The British millars bought elsewhere and when the Canadian wheat crop came on the market they did not want it; consequently, it had to be sold in the United States at a sacrifice price.

Incidentally the wheat board legislation was responsible in a large measure for the low price of wheat this fall. Simply because the project was not carried through the farmer lost heavily. Obviously, if it had not been started he would not have lost. These facts should be remembered by all who think it was smart politics to appear

to give the farmer what he wanted

when they knew it was almost impossible for him to get it. "Smart" politics are usually productive of heavy loss to some party or other and frequently to the country as a whole.

THE LETTER OF THE LAW.

The Town Council and the editor of the Tribune are such sticklers in hewing close to the legal line so far as the vocational education law is concerned that we would suggest, now

the vocational classes matter is settled

until next year, that they turn their attention to some other worthy law

that are being even more openly violated not for the town's welfare, but to its detriment. We would suggest that they turn now to the prohibition

law, which needs no microscope to discover that it is being openly violated. A little co-operation on the part of the town council, the newspapers and citizens generally would soon work

wonders in respect to the enforcement of this law. What about it?

BLACK-HAMILTON.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on the 11th inst. at the residence

of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hamilton, Charlotte, their daughter, Marguerite, Christina, was united in marriage to Edgar

Harvie Black, of River Louisbourg. The bride and groom were unattended and the ceremony was conducted by Rev.

C. F. MacLeannan in the presence of immediate relatives. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful gifts. The groom's gift, to the bride was a pearl necklace. The young couple are very popular and a host of friends join in wishing them a happy and prosperous journey through life. Mr. and Mrs. Black will reside

at River Louisbourg, New Brunswick.

After Ceremony.

(Vancouver World, Nov. 30)

An interesting wedding took place

this morning at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Baird, 1174

Tenth Avenue West, when their eldest daughter, Edna Francis, became the bride of Rev. George Kinneir King,

son of the late Dr. George and Mrs.

King of Buctouche, N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Mc-

Gougau, pastor of Chalmers Presbyterian church, where Miss Baird has been a valuable member of the choir

since her arrival several months ago

from New Brunswick. The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore her travelling suit of navy blue

tricot with a stole of mink and a smart hat. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served for the immediate family and a few intimate friends at the home of the bride, after which Rev. and Mrs. King sailed for China, where they will both take up

missionary work with the North

Honan Presbyterian Mission. Out-

town guests included Miss Martha

Powder of New Brunswick an aunt of the bride, who is at present the house

guest of Mr. and Mrs. Baird. Early in the week Mrs. King was presented with a handsome gift and an illuminated address from the members of the Chalmers church choir.

PROTECT THE HORSES.
It has been brought to our attention that some teamsters allow their horses to stand for hours on the streets without any covering. It is a shame to subject dumb animals to such treatment during cold, frosty weather. It would be a very simple matter to throw a rug, blanket or robe over their horses, while the driver is comfortably indoors attending to his other business. If they did not have a rug or blanket they could take off their own overcoat and throw it over the animal for protection.

The driver, who is guilty of allowing his horses to stand uncovered should be given a dose of his own medicine and made to stand in the cold with insufficient clothing and he might then realize the hardships to which he exposes his faithful horse.

INJURED ARM IN CURIOUS WAY.
Charles McEwen, millwright at the J. B. Snowball Co. Ltd., planing mill had his arm badly shattered while at work on Friday. He was working near the main belt, with a hatchet when the belt came into contact with the latter and hurled it out of his hand. His arm was struck against an upright iron bar and broken and the hand of this injured member was dangling over the belt in a very dangerous position. With great presence of mind the injured man while calling for help reached over the belt and lifted the broken arm clear of the belt. The hand and arm were however, so badly injured that some anxiety is being felt over a possibility of Mr. McEwen having to lose them.—Chatham Gazette.

PATSEY'S CHRISTMAS

It was Christmas Eve and the great city was wrapped in a mantle of glittering snow. Up and down the broad thoroughfares, carpeted in white, the long lines of street lamps stretching away to interminable distances, threw their yellow glare out into the frosty night and millions of scintillating diamond points, Nature's flashing gems, reflected the rays from the snowy surface. The dark blue firmament was studded with a myriad of winking stars. Icicles hung from every projection. It was bitterly cold. Along the fashionable avenues the tinkling of silver bells was heard as sleighs passed rapidly by, or drew up at the curb to discharge their rosy-faced occupants muffled in warm furs and fleecy head-coverings. Laughter and song were in the very atmosphere and happiness seemed to reign supreme, for it was the day of good will toward men.

Up one of these avenues lined with the mansions of the wealthy crept an incongruous figure—a small waif from the slums, thinly clad, ragged, with a pale pinched face sunken at the temples and with the preternaturally old look seen on the countenances of neglected and suffering children. Over his shoulder hung an old sack half filled with coal, for Patsey had been on a foraging expedition and had "swiped" his find from an unguarded arway. Christmas had no significance to him, except that it was a holiday and on holidays his father got drunker than usual and beat him and his mother. In his little heathen heart he loved and pitied the poor woman who never struck him even in her tipsiest moments. In his mind's eye he saw her now in the desolate attic, he knew as home, covering over the cheerless stove, hugging a ragged shawl about her shoulders and weeping.

ing maulin tears over her misfortune. The bag of coal that he was taking home would change all that and feared and so far the cops had not to make so good a haul.

The moral quality of his act of pilfering did not trouble Patsey at all, for he had been taught to believe that the "cop" was the only law to be feared and so far the cops had not molested him.

He stopped suddenly before one of the most splendid of these mansions, which was brilliantly alight from bottom to top. Though the window beneath the partially-raised shade he saw a gorgeous spectacle which stunned his senses. It was a huge Christmas tree ablaze with vari-colored electric lights and glittering with tinkled gewgaws. Dropping his sack of coal inside the iron fence he crept, fascinated, up the broad steps until his eyes were on a level with the window and there he stood revelling in the happiness of others, shivering in the biting air, wet to the skin with the snow that had ceased falling only an hour before. He saw a fine gentleman, taking packages from the generously loaded branches and distributing them to happy recipients, among them a pretty lady and a little girl with curly golden hair. It was a vision of fairyland to the little waif. Such magnificence he had never seen before even dreamed of. As the white fest united the silver-gilt strings or bright-hued ribbons with a smiling eager face and broke out in exclamations of pleasure as the contents were disclosed. Patsey saw it as plainly as if he had been inside and enjoyed it all unselfishly. As each package was distributed he would rub his half-brozen little hands together with trembling anticipation and during the untiring of the string would dance up and down in an ecstasy of excitement. When finally a long, carefully-wrapped box, the biggest package of all, was handed to the curly-haired child, Patsey almost screamed with nervous expectation.

"I hope der little kid gits de best of 'em all," he eagerly said aloud to himself, and when a big, sumptuously dressed dollie was lifted out of the box amid the child's screams of delight, Patsey could contain himself no longer. "I know it!" he shouted. "I know der big box was all der candy. I know it, I tell yer!" and his teeth chattered as he violently beat his breast with his arms to keep alive the spark of life in his chilled and muddled brain. Poor Patsey! He was too young to make comparisons and his tender years had not yet suggested to him that eternal burning question of the proletariat: "Why?" But his little heart did suffer a pang when he thought of his poor mother waiting for the coal he was bringing her. Just a minute more and he would go.

To his surprise he now saw the pretty lady put a warm wrap on the curly-haired girl and then a capacious fur coat herself as though intending to go out of doors. The vestibule door opened and with the instinct of his class he turned to run. No body came out and he paused. A warm air of delightfully warm air touched his face lightly to Patsey, almost on the point of succumbing to the intense cold, it was an invitation impossible to resist. He stepped doubtfully into the vestibule and looked through the half-opened door. Now he was face to face with a world stranger to him than any foreign country, a world of jewels and soft furs and warm-hued carpets, of childish glee and happy laughter, a world in short of delight. Poor Patsey! A pathetic figure he made there in the gloom—a pale spectre of want, starvation and friendlessness gazing upon the very apotheosis of luxury and happiness.

The fine gentleman standing within with his hand on the doorknob, waiting for the pretty lady and the child, smiled contentedly as his eye took in the brilliant scene and shower of goodly gifts which his purse had made possible, and murmured to himself, "After all, how much more blessed it was to give than to receive!" He threw open the door and for an instant stared blankly at the ragged apparition in the dark vestibule; but only for an instant. Before Patsey could flee he had caught him by the collar.

"Ah! you little rascal!" he exclaimed. "I've caught you! You won't get away this time!" and he shook him roughly.

The pretty lady came hurriedly forward. "What is the matter, Charles?"

"It's one of those little sneak thieves!" replied her husband "looking for a chance to steal. Perhaps he's the same one who stole my fur gloves last week."

"Oh! It cannot be," she replied. "You didn't want to steal anything, did you, little boy?"

"Nope," said Patsey, "I was jes' a-lookin' in."

"Yes," interrupted the gentleman ironically: "you were just a-lookin' in. Well, we'll just look in at the police station. 'Mottie' (turning to his wife), 'you and baby run ahead to Aunt Mary's and I'll be with you in a few minutes.' Grasping Patsey's collar firmly he left the house, his wife and the little girl following.

Day Before Christmas.
Patience—Aren't you sorry now you didn't do your Christmas shopping early?

Patrice—Why, I'm going to. I'm going out early this evening to do it.

"Did the little girl get all that was a comin' to her?"

"Yes, oh yes, Patsey," broke the sobbing mother, snatching up the little one and her doll to show them to Patsey, "you saved her and her doll, too."

"Dat's all right," whispered Patsey smiling faintly.

"Get well, my boy," said the gentleman "get well, and we'll make every day a Christmas day for you."

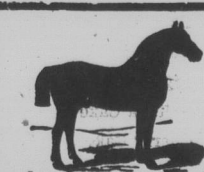

"You're awful nice to me, you're is" said the little fellow brokenly, "and so is the pretty lady."

His voice grew suddenly weaker; but he tried, with a pitiful show of bravery, to make light of his great trouble, as he whispered, his little chest heaving with anguish: "I guess I got wot's comin' to me, too, didn't I?"

The pretty lady unable to speak, bent over and kissed the pale forehead. When she drew back a spasm of agony shook the little form and death stamped its gray seal on the countenance.

From the starry heights a kindly eye looked down upon the Christmas tree and the torn remnant of human driftwood beside it, and the Great Soul Which gave to Christmastide its nobler significance and which said to suffering humanity: "I am the Tree," saw just that from its branches of love, laden with unceasing blessings, Patsey, too, got what was coming to him.

"I Was a Frig"

"Nothing I Could Take Made M"

"Up to the time I was seventeen years old, I believe that I was the most miserable and unhappy girl that ever lived. Honestly, I was a frig. I was the most ungainly looking creature you ever saw. I was thin and scrawny—straight up and down. My height was five feet nine inches and I weighed exactly ninety-one and three quarter pounds. No matter what kind of clothes I put on I looked like a frig. I was clumsy and awkward. I used to stand before the glass and study my features. I found I had a good nose, good eyes and a good mouth, but my cheeks were sunken and my face looked like a skull with a piece of parchment stretched over it. But nothing I could do or take made me any fatter. Men rarely even glanced at me. When they did, they merely gave me a casual, amused or pitying look—an expression which I am sure meant, 'why is a being like that allowed to be large?' I used to lie awake at night for hours at a time wondering why there were so many beautiful girls in the world and I was so hideous. I met a friend and I hardly had ever lived. When they did, they merely gave me a casual, amused or pitying look—an expression which I am sure meant, 'why is a being like that allowed to be large?' I used to lie awake at night for hours at a time wondering why there were so many beautiful girls in the world and I was so hideous. I met a friend and I hardly had ever lived. Honestly, I was a frig. I was the most ungainly looking creature you ever saw. I was thin and scrawny—straight up and down. My height was five feet nine inches and I weighed exactly ninety-one and three quarter pounds. No matter what kind of clothes I put on I looked like a frig. I was clumsy and awkward. I used to stand before the glass and study my features. I found I had a good nose, good eyes and a good mouth, but my cheeks were sunken and my face looked like a skull with a piece of parchment stretched over it. But nothing I could do or take made me any fatter. Men rarely even glanced at me. CHRISTMAS EVE IN THE KITCHEN

In the kitchen of an apartment building in the city was seated a large, husky man with a little girl of about seven, on one knee, and a boy of perhaps six, on the other knee.

"But grandpa, I don't see why Santa Claus doesn't come," said little Doris.

"We have waited so long out here in this old kitchen."

At this Master Fred laboriously climbed down from his grandpa's knee and ran over to the kitchen door, and then to the window.

"Isn't it disgusting, grandpa? I can't even see him coming."

"Well, you know," said grandpa as Fred climbed back upon his knee.

"Santa Claus was a little boy once himself, and he knows how impatient little boys are. He has a hard time, though. Every year he has more boys and girls to bring toys to than he had the year before."

"But grandpa," said Doris, "I never knew Santa Claus was ever a little boy."

"Oh, yes," asserted grandpa firmly, "Once upon a time a group of fairies were playing around in an open place under some trees and they found a little baby asleep. They took the baby to their queen. The fairies loved the little baby, so they begged the queen to let them keep him and take care of him. The queen consented and the little boy 'Claus' thrived under the care of the fairies."

"S-h-h! Grandpa, I think he's coming," interrupted Fred as he again climbed down and ran to the window.

"Nothing doing," he said with much disgust and gave a signal with his arm like the flagman does when telling a train to go.

Grandpa obeyed the signal and continued: "He lived under the care of the queen until he grew to be quite a man. Then the queen ordered her fairy workmen to build 'Claus' a hut, as he was a mortal and could not live the way the fairies did, any longer."

"Claus" had lots of time when he got into his new home and he occupied it by carving things. The fairies had taught him how to whistle and he began making all sorts of toys.

"There was a village some distance from his hut and every time he heard of a little boy or girl down in the village who was sick, he took them one of his little toys. The children grew to like him ever so much. After a while he became acquainted with so many children that he found it hard to get around and see them all so often. He decided that he would work all year making toys, and then go around and find out which of the children had been good, and leave them presents."

"When the fairies heard of this plan they were delighted and gave Santa Claus four reindeer and a sled to help him out."

"After many years of this hard work Santa Claus began to show that he was growing old. The fairies realized that Santa Claus was a mortal and would die, so they—"

"Santa Claus has come," some one shouted from the front room.

"Hurry and finish grandpa. What did they do?" queried Doris nervously.

"They gave Santa Claus everlasting life so that he could make little children happy always," finished grandpa.

"Oh, I am so glad," said both of the kiddies.

"Now, to see what Santa brought," said grandpa, and all three made a rush for the parlor.

St. John Man Claims Drecto Toned Up His Stomach. Relieved the Dizzy Spells, Sharpened His Appetite and Produced Sound Sleep.

The widespread popularity now enjoyed by Drecto has come strictly through merit. Thousands of people today owe their present good health to this herbal remedy. The experience related here will be read with interest by every one of this city.

Mr. W. L. Lush.

"It sure is a wonderful medicine," says Mr. W. L. Lush of 8 Hanover St. St. John, N. B., night watchman on the "S. S. Empress" and well known in St. John and Halifax.

"Some time ago my stomach began bothering me and I had a pain after meals. I could not eat very much, as everything would sour. Gas would form in my stomach and I always had a bad taste in my mouth. My kidneys and liver would cause sharp pains across the small of my back. I was always taking something for my bowels. I was very nervous. This caused me to lose many a good hour of sleep."

"I read about Drecto and started to take it. I have only taken two bottles, but I would not be without it as the results have been wonderful for so short a time. My troubles are nearly all things of the past. I gained twelve pounds in two weeks. I feel so much stronger. Drecto certainly gets my praise as it has done the work when everything I have taken has failed."

Drecto is being specially introduced in Campbellton by Wran's Drug Store, and is sold by good drug stores every where.

Paris, Dec. 8.—Parisians who flinched when it was first announced that bread should not be so white because it was necessary to economize on wheat are inclined to retract their complaints upon learning that white bread causes stomach disorders. The official bread commission has just made interesting experiments in white bread.

Loaves such as are bought and eaten by residents of the capital were given to a dozen goats. After a few days on such a diet the goats began to lose weight alarmingly and became fat again only when given whole wheat bread. Analysis revealed that in the white product bakers were obliged to use water liberally in mixing. The new bread that Paris is to eat in the future is almost brown, and instead of granting the bakers an increased price the Prefect of Police has ordered it reduced, as less flour and less water are needed.

THE DARK DAYS

FORE CHRISTMAS

When the days grow short

And the nights grow long

Aha!—ah!—we know—we know

We haven't long to wait

For Christmas. With the sky so gray,

'Tis snowing now—most every day.

The old bear sleeps in the hollow tree,

Dreaming away of spring;

The little squirrels tore their nuts away.

And only the sparrows sing!

But let the wind whistle and let it blow,

For Christmas is coming—we know

—WE KNOW!

The days seem long—

Though we're told they're short—

'Fore Christmas the days are dark.

But nobody minds them—and nobody finds them

Sad—for the Christmas lark

Is carolling merrily—did you hear

Him singing in your heart, my dear?

They find it easy to drive, easy to park, economical to run, and comparable in the beauty and richness of its appointments with cars much higher in price.

The upholstery is done in genuine mohair velvet of a singularly rich and beautiful pattern. The seats are roomy and luxurious. The hardware and minor fittings reflect thoughtfulness and rare good taste.

Steel disc wheels (with cord tires) screen the under part of the car and harmonize in a most effective way with the new grace and smartness which Dodge Brothers have recently brought to the lines of the body.

Santa Claus Messengers

"Is there really a Santa Claus, daddy?" asked Alfred, his anxious eyes aglow as he stood by his father's knee. It was the night before Christmas and the family was gathered together in the living room before the fireplace whose flashing and dancing flames glistened on the silver and gold festoons decorating the Christmas tree. An irregular row of stockings hung from the mantle and were silhouetted against the fire. The family had had a happy time listening to the Christmas carols from the phonograph, and to their father, who was gifted with a remarkable fund of stories.

It was now time for Alfred to go to bed, his mother had already left the room. He, however, was in no hurry. "Is there a Santa Claus?" he asked. "Yes, my lad, there is," responded his father. "Some folks will try to tell you that Old St. Nick is just a story and not real at all. I feel sorry for those kind of people. Do you know how old Santa Claus is?"

Alfred shook his yellow head. "Santa Claus," continued his father, "is as old as old can be. Santa Claus was here before there ever were little boys and girls."

"Now listen real carefully and I'll tell you a secret about Santa Claus which most folks don't know. Santa Claus is love. Yes, sir, Santa Claus is love. It is love who will fill those stockings to-night."

"Course you can't see love nor can you see Santa Claus, but he is real just the same."

A light of understanding brightened the lad's face. His father knew that mother would be calling for him, but who could resist continuing before such an enraptured listener?

"Now then, let me tell you something more about Santa which most people have forgotten all about. Santa Claus is with us the whole year round and not just for Christmas only. Sure, it is love who takes the basket of jellies and pies and chicken to the poor boys and girls who have no father or mother to take care of them."

"So then, whenever any folks tell you that Santa isn't real you just tell them you know better."

"Now before mother calls us again maybe I can tell you something else about Santa. He always has his messengers. Everybody who loves is Santa's messenger. Wouldn't you like to be one? I've tried to be one for a long time, and it is just lots of fun." Alfred expressed his delight with a perfectly kissable smile as he nodded his head.

"Well, sir! To-morrow is Christmas and it is the time for little boys and girls and everybody, too, to have a happy joyous day. To-morrow you will wake too early, no, because it is only once a year I'll forgive you. Anyhow, after you have found all the wonderful things stuffed in your long stockings and played with all the things hidden under the Christmas tree, we are all going to be messengers for Santa Claus."

"You and mother and I are going to fix up a big basket with good things to eat. We will bundle up real warm and take the basket around to the block beyond the old church. Widow Miranda lives in a little cottage with her little girl and we are going to surprise them with this basket. They will be so happy because they know that Santa Claus has not forgotten them. Won't that be fun?"

"Oh, yes, daddy," exclaimed Alfred clapping his hands, "let's be Santa's messengers. Oh, I can hardly wait until morning!"

"All right," said his father, "the quicker to bed the sooner will Christmas be here. Come on."

Alfred grasped his father's hand and marched off in response to the mother's insistent call.

CITIZENS ARE PRESSING FOR IMPROVED SUBURBAN SERVICE

Committee Appointed to Interview Railway Authorities for Suburban Train Between Amqui
and Campbellton

A public meeting called by the Board of Trade was held in the rink Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. D. A. Stewart was chosen chairman and H. B. Anslow secretary. Mr. Stewart explained that the meeting was held for the purpose of hearing the report of the committee appointed to interview the railway authorities in reference to a suburban service between Campbellton and Amqui.

Mr. Champoux reported from the committee that they had interviewed Supt. R. H. Martin, who was very sympathetic with the project, and had promised to take the matter up with Moncton.

Mr. Champoux suggested that the matter be taken up with Gen. Traffic Manager C. A. Hayes and also Sir Henry Thornton upon his visit to Campbellton. The territory covered by this suburban service was increasing rapidly in population and industry. Little mills were cutting lumber, and if railway would give a proper service, many people would come to Campbellton. The train should arrive at Campbellton about noon and leave between 9 and 10 p.m.

H. B. Anslow moved that a committee be named to interview Sir Henry Thornton and party, and take all necessary steps to have service inaugurated; that committee have power to add to their number.—Carried.

The following were named: His Worship N. C. McKay, Coun. Jos. Duncan, Geo. G. McKenzie, John Harquail, Geo. St. Onge, D. Champoux and W. F. Napier.

The following telegram was sent to C. A. Hayes, General Traffic Manager, C. N. E., Toronto.
Citizens of Campbellton in meeting here to-day pass resolution setting forth the need of a suburban service between Amqui, Que., and Campbellton, arriving here about 11 a.m., returning leaving here about 10 p.m. District served has a population of over 27000, large lumber operations and when the slump came in the pulp industry he, like many others, suffered severe financial loss as he had a large stock on hand which he had bought at a big price, but he stood it like all others, disappointments, of which he had a great many, without visible signs of discouragement. He was noted for his courage, courtesy and a genuine friend of the poor. He never turned away any one from his store empty handed because they did not have money to buy the necessities of life, as many a one can testify to. And while all do mourn the loss of our late beloved citizen, still the sorrow is somewhat tempered by pride in the knowledge that one of our boys incapacitated as he was by his infirmities and suffering such excruciating pains could overcome such almost overwhelming odds and remain self-supporting and cheerful to the last. May his example be an inspiration for others, and may his memory never grow cold. Admiration for his courage, pity for his suffering and sympathy for his sorrows were contributing agencies for the exceptional number of people from far and near who attended his funeral which was held at his late residence on Tuesday, Nov. 21st. The Rev. Mr. McKay of New Richmond officiating. The pallbearers were Messrs. Jas. Little, Wm. Carmichael, David Glover, Angus Campbell, Wallace Brown, John Elliott.

CANADA WON MOST OF CHICAGO PRIZES

Dominion's Success Chief Topic
at Close of Hay and Grain Show.

Chicago, December 10 10.—The story of how the Canadians swept away most of the prizes in the Hay and Grain Show of the 23rd annual International Livestock Exposition, which ended Saturday night, is the talk of the exposition. A record breaking attendance of about 450,000 people packed the arena during the week.

Canada won a goodly share of prizes throughout the meeting. In the horses, Albert Lawson, of Darlingford, Man.; Irving Winslow, of Winnipeg; J. T. McCallum, of Fort St. John, Man., were among the Canadians who won prizes.

The sweepstakes in wheat and oats and first prizes in barley and rye were won easily by Dominion entries. Premiums were gathered up in the seed division, the only other division in which Canadian entrants were heavy.

In the cattle, swine and sheep division Canadians did well. Especially in the latter were Canadian entries prominent in the list of prize-winners. Among those who took a grand championship back to the Dominion was Robert McEwen, of London, Ont., who won the highest honors in his division on his South Down Sheep. Others who stood high in the honor list in the sheep division were: John Kelsey, of Woodville, James S. Bell, of Clinton, H. M. Lee, of Highgate; Jos. Lande, of Derrfield, and James Parkinson, of Guelph, all of Ontario.

In the heavy horse division the Manitoba Department of Agriculture scored when they won the Grand and Senior championships in the Clydesdale Division, Graham Brothers, of Claremont, Ont., getting the reserve champion. Most of the Canadian entries left for home early today. Next year most of them will return when Mexico may be allowed to enter, making it a truly international affair. Meetings between Mexicans, Canadians and representatives of the United States to decide on the advisability of admitting Mexico will be held next week.

THE CHRISTMAS GIFT YOU MAKE

What Makes a More Charming Gift Than Something Made By Own Hands.

Painted things are especially interesting as gifts to make and have a charm all their own. They can be made to express so much of the giver's individuality. Then again they can be made to fit it with a definite scheme for a room, repeating its color effects with pleasing touches in similar tones.

A set of six colors in half pint cans in enamel costs about two dollars. Water color brushes will cost another dollar. With this outfit, a variety of things can be painted, for that amount of paint will last a long time.

Care of brushes must be considered. Each time they are used they must be washed in soap and water. Turpentine is good for cleaning them, but is not enough, since in time it will stiffen the bristles. Never allow paint to dry in your brushes.

The thought of creating designs may rather frighten the beginner. It need not, if he will only remember not to attempt too much at the start.

Avoid a naturalistic flower. A flower form made of round dots from the end of the brush will be found to be very pretty and very effective and quite easy to do. A few experiments on paper will give you proficiency. There is a dainty jewel-like quality to the dots that admits of endless variations.

Glass candlesticks that may be purchased in the twenty-five and fifty-cent store, can be delightfully decorated in this manner. Coat hangers of wood painted all over pink or blue can be treated the same way. A pair of aluminum salt-cellars will take on beauty by means of decoration. Other things will come to mind, such as boxes and wooden bowls, wooden knives and forks for salad sets, once one starts to look for them.

Another use for painting is found in decorating a set of oil cloth table mats. For this purpose use the dull finish oil cloth, called sanitas. Blue and white has been used many times and oft, but it has a clean fresh look that is very attractive. If your friend has a pattern hanging in her dining room, with help of some one in family get a sample of it. Then trace the pattern and carefully match the colors, to use for decoration of the table mats. When your friend discovers that the set matches her hangings, she will be doubly pleased with your thoughtful gift.

Among the needlework gifts women love to make for each other are numbers of dainty trifles. For those of more practical turn of mind gifts of lasting qualities can be fashioned.

These latter are especially exemplified in the quaint "kitchenette" aprons with caps to match. Suits can be found all stamped on unbleached muslin, ready to work, at some of the stores. But where these are not available, a clever woman can make her own designs with materials at hand. One of the aprons had pockets of "brown-eyed susan." The petals were of yellow percale applied about brown centres. On the cap another "susan" appeared. Still another had blue tea cups for pockets. Another apron had flower pots of blue and white checked gingham. Above the pots, on the apron itself, grew stiff little round flowers applied with embroidered stems. On each cap for each apron was a matching design.

Among the dainty trifles to be given each its measure of handwork, are colored handkerchiefs. How very, very sweet they look, two of them, each a different color folded in a little box. "One for blow, one for show" seems to be the motto, for a plain one associates itself with a very frilly, filmy one side by side.

Most of the plainer ones sometimes colored, sometimes white, have drawn threads of colors for decoration. Tiny embroidered flowers are often added in fascinating groups. Frilly "hankies" are new this season, being edged with net. Colored ones are edged with white, and then again with contrasting colors. Wee spots of colored embroidery are added.

A pretty camisole of wide lace insertion and ribbon can be quickly made. Wide pale pink ribbon forms the lower half with a narrow casing for elastic. The upper half is narrow beading for the ribbon drawn strings. Shoulder straps can be ribbon or insertion.

For those who enjoy doing drawn work there are several varieties of dainty stitches, for the purpose of making very acceptable gifts. One set of collars and cuffs was hem-stitched with an inch hem of canary yellow linen. Another was very simple and smart with a single line of drawn work inside the hem, and a narrow edging of flit.

Embroidered dots make clever trimmings for these tailored sets and if outlined with black, where a colored material is used, are very effective.

An unusual handbag designed for us with a summer costume is one about eight inches deep, crocheted with colored raffia. The bag has a wired top covered with raffia and

Sporting News of the Week

Col. the Hon. J. A. Amyot, C.M.G., M.P., Deputy Minister of Health for Canada, at a recent meeting of the Montreal Canadian Club, urged the vital necessity for a sufficient proportion of systematic and free exercise in both the schools and universities. He emphasized the value of amateur sports as a builder of character. He gave several examples of famous athletes whose character had been constructed on the sporting basis of fair play and charity, gained in their youthful days on the gridiron, rink or diamond. These, he said, formed the type of manhood that should be emulated by the younger generation in their aspirations, towards the goal of being a "man." Dr. Amyot said that every school in the country should have a playing field.

The Montreal curlers are now in action as the Heather Club members were able to swing a bonnet the other night the earlier date for curling in Montreal in thirteen years. A. H. Taylor zoomed the first stone. The first formal match is to be played on Dec. 16th.

There is no question but that George Carpenter, as well as Battling Siki, would be barred all over the world if the "frame-up" yarn told by Siki proves to be correct. Carpenter has always been a romantic and picturesque figure, standing out clear and distinct from the ruck and run of colorless fighters. It would be a great blow to the boxing game, in general, if Carpenter should be proven guilty of any misdeeds, for any remaining illusions there may be concerning the fabled hero would be pretty well shattered by the crash of such an idol. Therefore it is to be hoped that, without the aid of whitewash, Siki's story is spiced right through the middle. Better game, has refused to join the club and against the French Federation, the Senegalese may have invented the yarn in order to ruin Carpenter. He was through himself so far as France was concerned, and knowing that, he may have plotted to carry the French flag with him. Frank Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, who starred on defence more years ago than it is polite to remember, opposed the Victorians in the game at Vancouver last night. "Cyclone" Taylor was in uniform last Monday night at Vancouver against the St. Pats team and played a great game. Mr. A. W. Covey, president of the A.A.U. of C. at the Montreal meeting of the C.A.A.U., said that he wished he could throw a bombshell into the U. S. amateur hockey ranks with the information he now has at hand concerning amateur hockey over the border. Very curiously the Sydney Post in reply says:

As responsible leader of an amateur sport organization, it would seem to be Mr. Covey's duty to place that information at the disposal of the officials of the U. S. Amateur Hockey Association. If the tourist hockey player is to be banished from the amateur clubs the quickest way to bring it about is a co-operative plan between the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the U.S.H.A. Perhaps if Mr. Covey assists the latter body now, he may open the way for closer co-operation.

Louis Angel Firpo, the Argentine heavyweight, is coming back to the United States to fight. Billy Brennan or Floyd Johnson will have distinct honor of ducking Angels wizzing right handers.

Hamilton seems to have more trouble with their N. H. L. club than any other members of the circuit. Joe Malone, the star of the team and one of the greatest hockey generals in the world, has refused to join the club and against the French Federation, the Senegalese may have invented the yarn in order to ruin Carpenter. He was through himself so far as France with the Winnipeg Falcons in 1919 and later with pro teams on the Pacific Coast League is seeking a berth with one of the Cape Breton League teams. Goulden is now in Halifax.

Jack Britton, one of the most popular champions who ever pulled on a glove, will meet Bobby Barrett, the hard hitting Philadelphia lightweight in the Quaker City on Christmas Day. "Jack" feels that he is still good enough to trim most of the welters and should be successful in his comeback. The sentiment was voiced by some that United States hockey authorities were interfering to too great an extent with Canada's national pastime.

Sydney, N. S. Dec. 12—Mickey Roach, last year with the Hamilton hockey team of the National Hockey League, is reported to have come to terms with the Glace Bay team of the Cape Breton Island professional league. Roach, who is a native Cape Bretoner, is at present in Boston.

VANCOUVER DEFEATS VICTORIA'S

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 12—Vancouver Maroons climbed out of the cellar position in the Pacific Coast League last night by administering a 2 to 1 defeat to the Victorians, who now occupy the lower berth. It was a game of cast iron defenses with Frank Boucher, formerly of Ottawa, playing a star game for Vancouver in spite of the fact that he was the most watched man on the ice. Frank Patrick played defence for Vancouver and gave a fine assist which enabled Harris to score the winning counter. Frederickson and Halderman were the stars for Victoria.

FRANK CHANCE BUSY AS MANAGER OF RED SOX
Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 12—Frank Chance, who will manage the Boston club of the American League, before leaving Los Angeles recently for the East, signed Orval Overall, formerly a pitcher for the Chicago Nationals, to become his assistant in the Red Sox management, according to statements published here. Overall will coach the young pitchers. Chance, it was said, also tried to obtain the services of Johnny Evers, but the latter could not obtain his release from the Chicago Americans.

HALIFAX IS OPPOSED TO NEW C.A.A. GOAL RULE

Halifax, Dec. 11—Although deciding to conform with the new ruling of the Canadian Hockey Association, permitting goal tenders to lie down or sit on the ice to prevent scoring, the City Hockey League, at its annual meeting tonight, put itself on record as opposed to the action of the Canadian Association in making this ruling, following similar action by the American Association. The sentiment was voiced by some that United States hockey authorities were interfering to too great an extent with Canada's national pastime.

Basketball
Moncton, Dec. 11—The Moncton Y. M. C. A. defeated the Charlottetown basketball team in a fast and interesting game in the local Y. M. C. A. arena tonight by a score of 38 to 12. The visiting team are deserving of great credit for the sporting spirit they displayed against all odds. The island players were greatly handicapped in the size of the local gymnasium.

The Independents took three points from the C. N. R. five in a snappy and closely-contested three string match of last week. A. H. English led the highest string of the evening and led his team with an average of 93. A. H. Alexander bowling for the C. N. R. five total an average 89.

ANIMALS CAUSE WAR

Dumb Creatures Have Altered Course of History.

The war which Turkey has been waging against Greece is declared to have been due in the first place to a monkey.

Two years ago King Alexander of Greece was bitten by his pet monkey. The immediate result of this was that King Constantine, the Prime Minister at Athens, was overthrown, King Constantine ("Tino") returned, and then the Greek of the Sepoy type, which have since existed in the Near East. Pigs helped to precipitate the Great War. Pig-breeding in Serbia is an old trade, and before the war, as Serbia had no outlet to the sea, all pork and bacon she exported had to be passed through Austria. The Austrians frequently prohibited the importation of Serbian bacon on real or fictitious grounds, which engendered in the Sarajevo outrage, which led to the outbreak of the war.

The terrible Indian Mutiny of 1857 was also due to a large extent to the fact that the British had introduced native troops that pig-fat was used to grease cartridges served out to them in the hands of the Sepoy. The pig is an unclean animal, and the natives' resentment found expression in open rebellion.

A year ago Roumania and Hungary were involved in a bitter dispute because a calf from Count Andrus's estate crossed from the Hungarian side of the frontier into Roumania and was confiscated.

A cow was the cause of a mishap to the late Nabab Pasha, which resulted in his losing the office of Prime Minister of Egypt. The statesman was on a visit to his farm at Cairo when he was suddenly attacked by a cow, which mauled him so severely that he was confined to bed for some weeks. During this period the Khedive, who was said to dislike him, took the opportunity of depriving the Prime Minister of his portfolio, and the resignation of the whole cabinet followed.

Everyone knows the story of how a spider inspired Robert the Bruce with such memorable results in Scottish history, but how many have learned that a spider saved the life of Frederick the Great at an important period of German history during the Seven Years' War? Frederick was about to drink some wine when a spider dropped from its web in the ceiling into his glass. Frederick threw the wine on the floor and was about to fill his cup again when he observed that his dog, which had lapped up some of the wine, had fallen over dead.

The incident is commemorated in one of the most colorful legends of the lines of a spider's web. The humble house-fly has caused its fair share of trouble in world history, and it has been confidently asserted that many of the wars that have marked the chequered history of the world have been due to the irritability of the natives as a result of their being continually assailed by the local varieties of these insects. It was a fly, too, which brought to a premature close the reign of Adrian IV, who was by birth an Englishman named Nicolaus Breakspear, and the only one of his race who has ever occupied the papal throne in Rome. After his death, doctors declared that he had been choked by a fly.

Canada Needs Immigration Now Is the View of Lord Shaughnessy

Canadian Pacific Chairman Urges Aggressive Campaign to Bring Desirable New Citizens—Suggests Appointment of Minister of Immigration.

THE predominant importance of a take active intelligent interest in sound and aggressive immigration policy for Canada was vigorously put forward by Lord Shaughnessy, Chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway in address to the Kwanan Club of Montreal on November 10th. Lord Shaughnessy endorsed the Kwanan idea of selected and directed immigration as a remedy for Canada's railway and other troubles and amongst other things urged the appointment of an emigration Minister of Immigration and Colonization. He said in part:

Practically nothing has been done during the past eight years to attract population. Of course, the war interfered, and during the period of the war it would have been impossible to bring people here, but four years have elapsed since the Armistice and much might have been accomplished in those four years, were it not for unwise immigration laws, the practical abandonment of publicity work, and the withdrawal of agents. We have been hiding our light under a bush, when the result that we have lost to other countries thousands of excellent settlers who should have come to us. Indeed, it is worse than that, because the census returns show that in 1911, Canada had a population of 7,200,000. Had we received no immigrants at all, the natural increase should have given a population of 9,000,000. When we take into account the fact that our National Debt which was $335,000,000 in 1914, has now reached the staggering sum of $2,340,000,000, or approximately the equivalent of $270 per capita of our population, a National Railway System (acquired for reasons that are more or less defensible) that with its annual deficits absorbs the handsome income tax, with no prospect of immediate improvement, we can realize that the burden is too great for a population of 7,200,000 people.

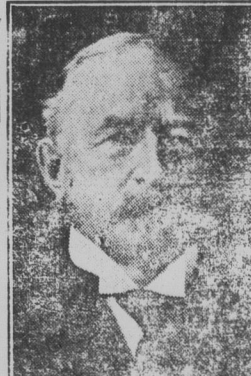

Plainly stated we have on one side these enormous national liabilities and a sparse population. On the other side we have vast areas of agricultural land in the Western Provinces within fifteen miles of existing railway lines, only awaiting settlers and their families, and to make these lands productive for their own advantage and for the general financial advantage of Canada, and in Ontario, Quebec and the Lower Provinces there is still room for a great many thousands of settlers.

The mineral districts of our country past exploited are a mere patch on the great mineral area of the Dominion, and our forests utilized in a sensible way will be a source of incalculable wealth. Clearly, by our policy must be to bring these matters under the notice not only of the people of Great Britain and the United States, but of many of the continental countries as well, and say to them: We expect you to become citizens of Canada, and to Canadian affairs; to see that your children are not only educated, but by your example encouraged to lead clean moral lives. It is not our intention when you land on our shores to turn you loose to shift for yourselves. We shall have Bureaus of Emigration to take you in hand and advise and guide you until you have reached your destination. Notwithstanding the fact that Great Britain can furnish a very large number of settlers of the right class, and for the first time in the history, the British Government is prepared to lend its assistance, financially and otherwise, to help these people to become established in one of the Dominions.

Norway, Sweden, Belgium, Denmark, Holland and other continental countries can furnish us with thousands of rugged, splendid people who are weary of the struggle at the Armistice and much might have been accomplished in those four years, were it not for unwise immigration laws, the practical abandonment of publicity work, and the withdrawal of agents. We have been hiding our light under a bush, when the result that we have lost to other countries thousands of excellent settlers who should have come to us. Indeed, it is worse than that, because the census returns show that in 1911, Canada had a population of 7,200,000. Had we received no immigrants at all, the natural increase should have given a population of 9,000,000. When we take into account the fact that our National Debt which was $335,000,000 in 1914, has now reached the staggering sum of $2,340,000,000, or approximately the equivalent of $270 per capita of our population, a National Railway System (acquired for reasons that are more or less defensible) that with its annual deficits absorbs the handsome income tax, with no prospect of immediate improvement, we can realize that the burden is too great for a population of 7,200,000 people.

There should be urged upon the Government the appointment with delay of a thoroughly capable, enterprising Minister of Immigration and Colonization. I think that my friend, Hon. Mr. Stewart, who is with us to-day, will bear me out in the statement that the Department of the Interior is now over-burdened with work, and that this additional load should not be placed on it. The Minister in charge of Immigration will be a very busy man, and should be able to give his whole time and thought to this work. Therefore it has been a sort of tradition that the Minister of Immigration should come from the West. There would appear to be no good reason for this. While naturally the main efforts of the Department will be directed to the West, there is room for considerable energy in Eastern Canada, and after all, it makes but very little difference whether the Minister comes from the East or the West provided he be just the right man. The Minister should have a most capable staff of assistants and representatives in the Department at headquarters in Great Britain, the United States, and on the Continent of Europe, to permit of this most important matter being dealt with aggressively. He should have a strong and intelligent advertising and publicity organization in Great Britain, the United States, Scandinavian Countries and certain other selected countries of Central Europe, through which an invitation will be extended to every colonist of the class we need, to give consideration to the opportunities offered by Canada for settlement.

I am confident that in all this the Government will have the active co-operation of the Canadian Pacific and other transportation companies, who export the requirements of money in co-operation with the Government to secure colonists a few years ago. I know that many of our fellow-citizens are imbued with the conviction that immigration should, in a very large measure, be confined to people of British origin. This view is based on the idea that our future as a British people will be best safeguarded by populating our country with those of our own race. It strikes me that in this instance policy, rather than idealism must prevail. Britain could not furnish us with the required population of the desirable type within reasonable time. We must get settlers where we can without exposing the country to the dangers of a defective and disastrous melting pot. We shall not be damaged by an intermixture of the new blood and new thought. Selected and directed immigration—the slogan of the Kiwanians—describes tersely and clearly what would seem to be necessary. Selection will ensure the right class of settlers, and the direction will not only lessen the worry and uncertainty of the newly landed immigrant, but will be a reasonable safeguard against the danger of a defective and disastrous melting pot.

Aluminum. Aluminum is believed to have been known to the Romans, who extracted it from the earth by a secret process. During the reign of Tiberius, a water in metals appeared at the imperial palace. He displayed a beautiful cup made of some white metal that shone like silver. In presenting it to Tiberius he purposely dropped it. The cup seemed to be hopelessly ruined by the fall, but the artificer's hammer quickly repaired the damage. Thus it was seen that the metal was not silver. It presented an equally brilliant appearance, but it was more malleable, more durable and much lighter.

Turning Music. For turning the leaves of sheet music quickly when on the stand, a device has been placed on the market in England that is somewhat similar to several in this country. Though said to be exceptionally simple, this tool, turned, described in Popular Mechanics Magazine, is operated by pressure of the fingers of one hand, aided by holding the thumb against a small lug by the side of the lower.

Rice Fie

It would be with great surprise that most Canadians learned that, taken the world over, rice is a more important food product than wheat. Nevertheless, the statement is true. Asia's teeming millions consume more rice than other people do wheat. Therefore, Japan, as the world's greatest rice producing country is to millions of Asiatics the world's granary as Canada begins to be to the world of wheat eaters.

But Japan is a small country. It has to do its farming in an intensive way, every acre of its soil must be put to use, and every available unit of its millions of man, woman and child power must be kept to keep the land productive. That is why most of the actual work in the rice fields is done by girls, girls who smile and chatter as though everlastingly wading in the glorified mud ponds of rice fields were a pleasure. But the smile is characteristic of the Japanese, working or playing. It is a national trait. During most of the year Japan is a smiling land, and no doubt the people come by their propensities honestly enough. Rice is grown in water-covered fields. If the water isn't there in the first place it has to be pumped up by curious little water tread wheels of one-man power. These are always worked by men because it is one of the easiest jobs on the farm. After the fields are covered by about a foot of dirty water they are ploughed. This also is a man's job, and a man usually does it, probably because the ox that draws the plow needs that kind of driving. Then the rice seed is sown.

Rice Fields of Japan

It would be with great surprise that most Canadians learned that, taken the world over, rice is a more important food product than wheat.
Nevertheless, the statement is true.
Asia's teeming millions consume
more rice than other people do wheat. Therefore, Japan, as the world's greatest rice producing country is to millions of Asiatics
the world's granary as Canada begins to be to the world of wheat eaters.

But Japan is a small country; it has to do its farming in an intensive way, every acre of its soil must be put to use, and every available
unit of its millions of man, woman and child power must work to keep the land productive. That is why most of the actual work in the rice fields is done by girls, girls who smile and chatter as they everlastingly wading in the glorified mud puddles of rice fields were a feature of the Japanese landscape.

But the smile is characteristic of the Japanese, working or playing.
It is a national trait. During most of the year Japan is a smiling land, and no doubt the people come by their propensities honestly enough.
Rice is grown in water-covered fields. If the water isn't there in the first place it has to be pumped up by various little water tread mills of one-man power. These are always worked by men because it is one of the easiest jobs on the rice farm. After the fields are covered by about a foot of dirty water they are ploughed. This also is a man's job, and a man usually does it, probably because the ox that draws the plow makes that kind of talking to. Then the seed is sown.

half way to their knees they go into the mud and water and by hand
they plant the thousands of little rice plants that go to make up a field and through the succeeding months of the year they cultivate the water covered fields with hoes that seem too big for the little hands that hold them.
The grain ripens to harvest, and the fields are drained off, and after the men have cut it down with swords the girls and children again
take up their labors.
Threshing is a primitive operation. Large wooden wheels stand in wooden frames and the straw is first piled through these, the ears of grain being torn from the straw in the process. The threshing is done by flails and the straw is cleared by large fans in the hands of girls.
It is then ground to flour by hand-milling with heavy wooden mullers or in primitive hand mills, and such as only Japanese cooks know.
Japan is always lively and interesting to the Western visitor, but never more so than when the rice
harvest is under way.

(1) The harvest time when the whole family goes to the fields to help gather in the crop. The water has been allowed to run off the fields and the straw is piled up.
(2) The young rice shoots are planted by hand by girls who wade in the water.

MEN WHO LIVED TWICE.

They Faked Their Funerals to Prevent Scandals.

It is reported that the Spanish commander-in-chief, who was said to have been killed in the recent Spanish-Moroccan war, is really alive and well in America. If this statement is true another example must be added to the list of men who have mysteriously reappeared after their presumed death.

Another case of this kind was the recent dramatic reappearance in Paris of a M. Galliard, who was "dead and buried" forty years ago.
Many years ago one of the "Wild Darrells," an English family famous for the lawless living of its sons, found himself faced by ruin and disgrace. He decided that his only escape from his creditors and the law
was death and burial.

With the aid of a loyal servant
and a friendly doctor he "gave up the ghost" and his body was carried to the graveyard, to which scores of people flocked to see the last of the most wicked of the Darrells. Among the mourners was a man whom no one recognized—a man muffled in a large cloak in which his bowed face was concealed from view. He joined reverently in the responses.

As the coffin was being lowered
the mysterious stranger tapped the person standing next to him on the arm and whispered, "That's me they're burying." At the close of the ceremony the cloaked figure vanished mysteriously, and it was not until some days later that the story of his strange statement at the graveside began to arouse speculation as to who he could possibly have been. Darrell himself who had assisted at his own obsequies.

One day, many years later, the tortion of the church, when preparing a grave, came across a massive oak coffin. His curiosity aroused, he forced the lid open, and to his amazement saw, not the remains of a body
but a number of heavy stones. Later it was found that this was the coffin
in which the interment of the cloaked stranger had been present.

A similar story is told of a young man of good family who had squandered a large fortune in riotous living. He was in debt and in constant fear of arrest for one of his many discreditable escapades.
In his dilemma he consulted his solicitor, who advised him to commit suicide. He was not prepared to take this extreme step, and finally it was decided that he should slip away from England while a mock funeral was arranged for him.

With the assistance of a friendly
medical man the necessary certificate of death was forthcoming, and a coffin containing a number of bricks was deposited in the family vault in the presence of his relatives and a few friends, at the moment when the "corpse" was crossing the Atlantic on his way to America and a new life
under an assumed name.

The scapegrace, however, weary of his exile, returned to England, ostensibly to claim some money to which he considered himself entitled.
His family threatened to hand him
over to the police if he did not leave the country, and he was compelled to return to America.

The most remarkable of these stories
is of the beautiful Princess Christina of Brunswick, who gave her heart and hand to Alexei, son and heir of Peter I. of Russia. For a few weeks Christina was ideally happy, but soon the madness that was in Alexei's blood began to show itself
in cruel words and deeds of violence.

One day Petrograd was horrified to learn that the princess was dead and buried. At dead of night a coffin containing logs of wood had been lowered into a tiny, dark grave.
Mourning was worn for her in most of the Courts of Europe, while she herself was slowly fighting her way back to life in Paris.

A few months later Christina was leading a new life in London as Mme. Hersfeld, and finding in the love of a good man a peace and happiness such as no throne could have given her.

Big Rattlesnakes.

A Texan reports killing a rattlesnake in west Texas that measured eight feet and had twenty-four rattles and a button. The writer has seen a six foot skin in southern California. But in the winter of 1898-99, when the Kansas volunteer regiment joined Gen. Sheridan's command, the rifle soldiers discovered, in the Wichita mountains a den of rattlesnakes which tops the record. After the soldiers had taken their evening and had thrown a number of the reptiles into the creek and the brush, 158 were counted. Several, without heads and tails, measured eight feet, and were six inches in diameter. The sum total of the inhabitants was estimated at 200. As usual, the Indians claimed that the den was a "medicine" den—an aged Apache chief had entered it, had died, and had turned into a monster diamond-back,
the father of all the snakes in that country.—Edwin L. Sabin, in Adventure Magazine.

Tubuai.

The tale where time is forgotten
is Tubuai, a small group, about 200 miles south of Tahiti. The entire social and industrial program of the people of the island appears to be composed of eating, sleeping, talking and fishing. Taro planting, the basis of the South Sea food, pot and fishing are the chief occupations. The population of Tubuai is only a few hundred, most of them being of pure Polynesian blood, with some a mixture of Caucasian and Chinese.

The Siamese.

The Siamese, owing to their superstition regarding numbers, give an odd number to their houses, rooms,
closets, doors and windows.

Giraffes can see behind them without turning their heads.

FLAT LANDS

The recent storm has lived things up somewhat in the villages. A cher after spending the week-end at his home in Dalhousie Junction.

TRANSCONTINENTAL TRAIN SENT TO WOODS

THIRTY-FIVE years ago the first of the train, snorted her way down the forbidding defiles of the Fraser, and along the densely wooded shores of the Burrard Inlet, pulled up at the terminus with a hissing of the old air brakes amid the blast of brass bands and shouts of acclaim from the assembled citizens of Vancouver. That day, a memorable one in the history of Canada, will always be one of Vancouver's most important anniversaries. In 1887, the journey from Montreal to Vancouver, which now takes but four days, consumed a full week.

"Queen's weather ushered in the day long looked for by the Vancouverites—the blending of the Occident and the Orient," states a despatch sent that day from the Coast. "When the train reached Vancouver carrying the officers of the road and your special correspondents, it was greeted with ringing cheers in every direction. Streamers floated on the breeze across the track at different points, while the ships and boats in the harbor were resplendent with variegated colors. At the railway wharf it seemed as if all Vancouver had congregated, and a mighty shout went up as the train thundered into the station under a double archway of fir.

"There were many eastern travelers who proudly boasted that they were the first to come through from Montreal. The Vancouver City band struck up 'See the conquering hero come' in good time, as Mayor McLean mounted the platform and proposed three cheers for the Canadian Pacific Railway and its popular local manager, Mr. Abbott, who made a grateful acknowledgment. The mayor then read a complimentary address to Mr. Abbott, who replied in pleasant and suitable terms and made an appropriate reference to the able assistance which he had received from William Downie, assistant superintendent. W. H. Armstrong, superintendent of construction and C. E. Brown, general freight agent."

SENT TO WOODS FOR STEALING

A Good Idea Which Might Be Followed in Restigouche County.

(Newcastle, Advocate.) Charles Thompson, aged about 30, was arrested last Wednesday evening by Chief of Police Ashford, charged with stealing a side of bacon from the store of Mrs. S. A. Demers, a pair of mittens from P. Hennessy, a pair of boots from an unknown party, and a quantity of candy from Messrs. Baird & Peters. He was seen taking the bacon from the front of Mrs. Demers' store and Mrs. S. A. Demers, who was notified got busy and after a chase succeeded in getting the stolen bacon and helped the thief to quicken his steps by a few severe kicks from a No. 9 shoe.

The chief was then notified and he was rounded up during the evening. He was brought before Police Magistrate J. R. Lawlor on Friday morning and pleaded guilty. It was felt that he was anxious to go to jail for the winter months, where he could spend an easy winter at the expense of the county, but the Magistrate, very wisely, decided that he would make him earn his food for the winter and made arrangements with Messrs. D. & J. Ritchie to take him into the woods where he will wield an axe for the next two months. Chief of Police Ashford for the woods on Monday morning.

The Busy World.

There are times when progress moves so rapidly that it taxes a man's strength to keep abreast of civilization. Many of us can sympathize with an unhappy-looking Western farmer who always shook his head when the word "progress" was mentioned. "What are you so low about, my friend?" someone asked him. "Why," said he, "what with new-fangled farm machinery and airplanes and nitrogen in the air and wireless in the ground and on it and above it, and what with the old earth ageing round once in twenty-four hours, I'm about muzzled and stagnated."

LIGHT Hold It High!

Without being too pessimistic we must admit there is a dark side to this life. For the protection of those who are following us, our loved ones who depend on us, we must hold a Light before us and Hold It High.

What will Tomorrow Bring You?

If you are the father of a family, what would that family do to-morrow, if you were taken away? Would they be meagerly supported by your parish or friends, or relatives? Or could you leave them a good insurance you had prepared for them by a small premium every year?

Fathers are not the only ones that need insurance. It is necessary to every Man, Woman, Girl and Boy.

Insurance Costs You Nothing

You do not have to pay for insurance like anything else you buy. Your money is always yours. It is sure to come back to you and often much more than you have paid in premiums.

This is a matter you cannot neglect. You must have that Light and HOLD IT HIGH. You must see our representative at once. If you cannot find him, drop us a post card, just say you are interested in insurance and what kind. No matter where you live we can get to you as easy as this paper can.

M. Coue Will Visit America

It is expected that M. Coue, the famous French healer, will visit the United States and presumably Canada next year to spread his theory of the cure of disease. One of his disciples said a few days ago, "Every city, town and hamlet in the United States may yet have its own Lourdes, perhaps without the religious fervor of the ancient French place of healing, but with modern miracles as astounding as anything ever recorded by a Christian pilgrimage." Coue says that his sole remaining desire is to do all the good within his power for his fellow men, and since his methods have been spread by hundreds of followers throughout Europe he believes that he should visit America to introduce them on this continent. He has, of course, already treated Americans who have visited him at Nancy, but so far as we are aware he has no authorized apostles in the United States. No doubt a visit in person would do much more for the establishment of his system than any number of books or newspaper articles.

In view of the approaching visit a correspondent of the New York Herald has investigated some of the unimpeachable stories told about Coue and finds them to be without foundation. It is said that he has amassed a great fortune by extracting huge fees from those he treats, but we are informed that M. Coue accepts no remuneration whatever, and that when he travels he insists upon paying his own expenses and refuses even gifts. He is able to do this because it is said that as a result of his thirty odd years as a flourishing druggist in Nancy he has an independent fortune. We are told, too, that there is no Coue sanatorium, but merely a small stucco cottage adjoining his own garden where he receives patients. Moreover, his emphatic statement is that a single visit to him is enough. He says that he does not effect the cure; he merely tells how the cure can be effected. After a few simple instructions the patient is sent away informed that if he is to be cured he must cure himself and that this is not only a possibility but a certainty if he faithfully follows directions.

His theory is simple enough, and has been acted on by various practitioners for ages. What he has contributed to the problem of setting the sub-conscious mind to work to heal bodily infirmities is a slogan. He says that a sound mind, that is to say a fundamentally sound nervous structure, means a sound body. He believes that if a sufferer after he has found a comfortable position upon going to bed and just before he drops off to sleep will say to himself twenty times, "Every day from every point of view, I am getting better and better," the words and thought will take possession of that part of the mind which continues active when the body is asleep, namely the sub-conscious mind. When one gets up in the morning he is also to repeat the formula with conviction, and if he then forgets it the sub-conscious mind will not, but will continue its benevolent labors and presently a real cure will have been made. In some cases it appears as though a species of self hypnosis had been practiced, and the patient came simply to believe that he had no pain, and of course when one thus believes, he has no pain.

People who visit M. Coue assemble in the little cottage where they are seated to the number of twenty or thirty on plain chairs ranged round a little room. On the wall appears the legend:

"Every day, from every point of view, I am getting better and better." M. Coue gives a little talk upon the theories underlying his treatment and then asks individual patients what is their trouble. The Herald reporter, who attended one of these clinics, says that one old lady said she had rheumatism in both her legs, and had not been able to walk without a cane for more than ten years.

"But you'll soon walk as well as ever," said M. Coue. He explained to her that she felt pain merely because she had taught herself that she must feel pain when she walks. She was instructed to shut her eyes and say as rapidly as possible, "Ga passez (it is going)." After two minutes of this exercise the old lady rose to her feet and to the astonishment of herself and the others walked limberly round the room. "But," she said, "I still feel a little pain." The treatment was repeated. Once more the patient walked briskly round the room, then declared that all the pain had vanished and that she was cured.

The healer warns his patients, however, that pain is likely to return and that they must continue the cure themselves. The investigator found scores of persons in Nancy who had been cured of various ailments and were willing to testify that they knew hundreds of others. Medical men are skeptical. They doubt that the Coue cure will apply to other than nervous diseases. M. Coue insists, however, that he has cured functional disorders, including cataract, embryonic tumors and a score of other diseases which are usually treated surgically. He often advises, however, that expert medical skill should be called upon, but insists that after all the mind is the chief healing agent. He is able to produce X-ray photographs which reveal internal disorders, and often takes a few days later which show that the evidence of them have disappeared. The correspondent says it is difficult indeed to look over the testimony and doubt that M. Coue is one of the great healers of the age. Of his sincerity and disinterestedness there can be no doubt whatever.

SNOW STOPPING TRANSPORTATION

Business Encouraged and Fostered By Our Local Government Law.

Fredericton, Dec. 11.—The business of transporting liquor from St. John to points in the United States by motor is about done for the season. A number of cars which were used for the purpose arrived here last night. One of the number a large Cadillac broke down at Long's Creek and had to be towed into a garage here. Three others were behind it.

Snow Getting Too Deep

One of the drivers stated that the snow was getting too deep to keep up the business of transporting the liquor. He stated also that thirty-four cars were working in the same business that he was carrying to New York and that excellent profit was made, some fifty dollars per case.

Purchased Under License.

The liquor exported in this manner is purchased under license at St. John from exporting houses legally in business. In the Province of New Brunswick it is carried under the law. On the other side of the border the mode of transportation ceases to be a matter of interest to the provincial authorities. In the great majority of cases it is safe to say that the carriage and sale of the exported liquor in the United States is illegal.

It is probable that the business will be continued as long as profitable and possible.

THE ANNUAL CAMP OF THE ALPINE CLUB OF CANADA

On the way to the Alpine Club Camp in the Palliser Pass.

THE Annual Camp of the Alpine Club of Canada held at Palliser Pass this summer, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, has made history in this region for the year 1922. The site chosen was forty-five miles from Banff, the headquarters of this mountaineering club, in practically a new region, and quite unknown to the general public. The outlying camp at North Kanaskas Pass, eight miles distant from the main camp, was in a district even more remote than the one in which the main camp was held, and until this summer few parties had been in.

The route to camp was via the Walking and Riding Tour Camps, Eau Claire, Fishing Camp and the Trail Centre from where this now well known route was left for the last lap of the three day trip, fourteen miles distant to Palliser Pass. Pack trains left Trail Centre (the transportation and mail centre) for Palliser Pass and Assiniboine daily and from the main Alpine Club Camp to Kanaskas Pass an often an earlier train was left. The Alpine pack train left Trail Centre for Banff, and from Mt. Assiniboine to Banff, four times a week, covering over one hundred miles. These camps of the Walking and Riding Tour which were used on route, are permanent camps of the Banff-Mt. Assiniboine Tour; the camps were comfortable and the meals excellent. Mr. Wheeler opened this district for those wishing an easy access into the heart of these great hills, at a moderate cost, and they are now a part of these hills—hills still in their virgin beauty, many miles from civilization.

The site of the camp was ideal. There were two lakes in the camp grounds, a stream and four waterfalls which tumbled hundreds of feet, adding considerably to the beauty of the meadows in which the tents were pitched. The setting for this village of tents—and there were many dozens—was delightful.

At the Alpine Congress of the Alpine Club of Canada, held at Monaco in May, 1920, the Alpine Club of Canada came second only to France in its exhibits. The David Thompson Memorial

ON the shores of Lake Windermere, British Columbia, there stands a memorial which will be incorporated in the history of Canada. This is the dedication of a Memorial Fort erected to David Thompson, Canada's greatest geographer and surveyor.

The Fort, which is the largest log building in Canada, was erected by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Hudson's Bay Company; and it will be used in future as a museum.

With faces painted in the brightest hues and attired in colorful costumes, Indians from the Kootenay and Shuswap reserves were the principal attraction at this inspiring event. Their teepees were pitched on the top of the hill surrounding the Fort. As dusk fell they lit camp fires and soon the visitors from Eastern and Western Canada and the United States were entertained with music supplied by the tom-tom augmented by the husky voices of the Braves.

The Indians had gathered to do honor to Canada's greatest surveyor who landed on the shore of Lake Windermere in 1807, and for this event they brought with them their finest costumes. Beads in rainbow shades, combined with elk's teeth and vari-colored fringes, gave the "materials" used for the attractive gowns and skirts brought to mind that one need not travel to world-famous fashion centres to obtain ideas for daring color schemes. Each child and wee papoose was arrayed in its tribal costumes with beadwork of dazzling beauty. When an Indian tribe packs its teepee and moves it is always accompanied by the "Medicine Man". He is regarded by his fellowmen as gifted with rare talents. The "Medicine Man" of the Kootenay tribe was, perhaps, the most picturesque figure of the pageant. His costume was most colorful and his headgear was unique.

Both tribes entered into the spirit of the event with keen interest and

DALHOUSIE

The December meeting of the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital Aid was held at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Simpson on Tuesday evening. Dainty refreshments were served after the business had been concluded.

Mrs. A. Fullerton returned home last week from a pleasant six-week visit to Halifax, where she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. McKean. At 8 o'clock Friday morning, the thermometer registered two degrees above zero here, the lowest point reached this winter. Today the river has frozen from shore to shore, but the ice is not considered safe for crossing. Few years have seen the ice fit for crossing till after Xmas.

The Angel of Death has again visited this neighborhood and borne away to that unknown world the last member of the old Scotch immigrants who settled in New Richmond in its early years in the person of Mrs. William McWhirter nee Agnes Fallow.

The deceased was born in Cumberland Lashmahagow Lanarkshire, Scotland in Nov. 1831, crossed the Atlantic in 1850, married William McWhirter in 1850 and died Dec. 2nd 1922. She was at once taken home on a sleigh, and received from Dr. W. W. Fleck the required medical attention. She is resting comfortably since the fracture was set.

Members of the W. A. met at the rectory on Thursday afternoon and packed a bale of new clothing for the Shingwauke Home, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Miss Ena Simpson was the guest of friends in Campbellton for a few days last week.

R. W. Lynd, of New Richmond, was a visitor to town on Monday. Jackson Miller, of Blacklands, was in town on Thursday on business. Some of the streets are most artistically decorated for the Xmas season, and the display of Xmas goods is really excellent. Here's good luck to our enterprising merchants.

Pupils in the Superior School are writing their examinations for the fall term, this week. Success to their pens.

NEW CARLISLE

On returning to town and looking over my back copies of the Graphic it was quite noticeable that the notes of this town have been neglected so therefore I think it is time some one is taking an interest.

The weather here has been very cold lately and heavy falls of snow have arrived which is very welcome to the young people who are looking forward to the opening of the rink. We sincerely hope Mr. Searer will have the ice in good shape for Christmas.

It is quite a pleasure to walk along our village street just now and see the shop windows gaily decorated for Christmas.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening last when Mrs. Garfield Astles became the bride of Stuart Flowers. We wish the happy couple every success.

Mrs. Walter Martin, (formerly Miss Eunice Caldwell) is at present visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Caldwell. She is accompanied by her aunt.

It is with pleasure that we see the young men of New Carlisle have at last formed a club of their own. All veterans are entitled to join free of charge and all others pay a small amount to join. We trust that all the young men will patronize this club and make it a success. The object of this club is to provide entertainment certain evenings of the week and on every Friday night to hold a dance to which each gentleman takes his partner. We are glad to hear of this as it is high time our young people were having some sort of recreation other than flocking to a crowded post office.

Miss Chloris Kempfer operator of the Benavente and Caspe Telephone Company here who has been spending a month's holiday in Montreal and Quebec has returned home. Her many friends are glad to hear her voice on the phone again and trust she has had a very enjoyable holiday.

The War Memorial Aid Club will hold their annual sale on the twelfth inst. It is a great pity our young women do not take a greater interest in this club. It should be a pleasure to work for such a sacred thing as a War Memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice. It is as little as anyone can do to help these faithful members when we think of those five years of warfare and their hard-

It Works From Both Ends

A local merchant upon whom we called recently gave us a first class talk upon "buying at home." We certainly agreed with him in all he said, and more too. The Graphic has always preached this doctrine, and lived up to it.

But what of our local merchants? A genial solicitor for wrapping paper, paper bags, etc., had induced him to order his counter check books from him, "just to make up a good sized freight shipment."

Our local merchant clean forgot that our local printers could supply these counter check books at the same price. He sent out of town for them.

But its a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Mr. J. H. McQuat, principal of the High School here left on Monday for points in New Brunswick. He is being replaced by Mrs. Bosny who will preside over the examinations.

Miss E. Murison, organist of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, is present suffering from a broken wrist. Miss L. E. Smollett is in charge of the organ.

Rumors have it that Dr. Watkins, our local dentist is to establish moving pictures in town. His many friends wish him every success.

Mr. Robert Caldwell left a short time ago for Hamilton where he will spend the winter months. He was accompanied by his nephew, Mr. Lee Caldwell one of our leading merchants.

We are glad to note that Miss R. Hamilton one of the teachers of the High School has recovered from her recent illness and is back at her post again.

Mr. John Neale left on Friday last for Montreal and other points.

The railway has again changed their time table which means the daily trains stop over both ways every day except Monday and Saturday and although it may inconvenience those living below here it suits us for a "T" although the time table is somewhat confusing.

Business seems to be getting on its feet again, the railway providing employment for a number of men as well as other sources.

Misses Ella Lawrence and Margaret Hourie spent the week-end with their parents in Port Daniel.

I want to stage a fairy tale there. So said Mary Pickford the famous moving picture actress on arrival in Montreal, after a trip over the Canadian Pacific Railway from Vancouver.

Mary was accompanied by her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, her mother, and Mr. and Mrs. John Fairbanks. The party stopped off at Lake Louise, Alberta.

After spending the morning viewing the beautiful scenery at Lake Louise and climbing the Saddle Back mountain the party left by motor for Banff, where Doug was especially keen to have a swim in the Banff of a story, he said.
