MILITARY MUTINY.

British Grenadier Guards Refuse to Parade.

A Number of the Older Heads Placed Under Arrest—Causes of the Trouble.

LONDON, April 21.—For some years past there has been a feeling of growing discontent in some portions of the British army. This feeling, it was supposed, came to a head about a year ago, when the Second Battalion of the Grenadier Guards, quartered near Buckingham Palace, practically broke out into open mutiny and was exiled to Bermuda. It was supposed then that the authorities would take steps to remedy the evils complained of. This does not seems to have been the case, for this morning there is renewed and great excitement in military circles caused by a mutinous demonstration in almost every particular similar to that which caused the Second Battalion of Grenadier Guards to be sent to Bermuda in disgrace, and again it is the Grenadier Guards who are in revolt. The Third Battalion of the Grenadier Guards quartered at Chelsea barracks, were ordered to parade in full marching order at 8 o'clock this morning. The men, who have been in a sullen frame of mind for some time, refused to obey this order. The officers of the battalion thereupon held a hurried consultation, and the leading non-commissioned officers were communicated with. The latter attempted to reason with the mutineers and to persuade them to parade, and after a long period of waiting four companies straggled slowly and with every mark of outward discontent out upon the parade ground. The remaining companies, however, refused to leave their rooms in the barracks. After the officials of the War Office had been informed of the occurrence the oldest members of the more discontented portion of the battalion were placed under arrest and an investigation into the cause of the mutiny was commenced.

The discontent has been growing for a long time. The mutineers offer as an explanation that the order for the companies to parade in full marching order is an unprecedented step for their commanding officer to take upon a day when the battalion is called upon to mount guard at the palace on the same day. The men also declare they have been long subjected to a series of excessive and annoying drills, for which there was no excuse or reason. They assert these alleged excessive drills were not ordered with the view of perfecting the battalion in military maneuvers or the manual of arms, but solely for the convenience of their officers, who are thus enabled to leave London to enjoy themselves, while the privates and non-commissioned officers remain in London and are subjected to long and tedious drills under command of the few less lucky or poorer officers.

In addition, owing to the absence of their Second Battalion in Bermuda, all the duties of the Grenadier Guards are ... to the First and Second battalions, thus necessitating continued extra drill and constant hard work which might be avoided if the officers exercised a little more judgment, and had a little more feeling for men under their command.

It is hoped that this renewal of military discontent following closely upon a meeting Sunday at Portsmouth of the artillerymen attached to a battery there, who took this step to call attention to their grievances will cause an official investigation into the treatment of British soldiers in all corps of the army. Popular sympathy is largely with the aggrieved Guards.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Resignation of the Conservative Administration.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 21.—The Local Government of Prince Edward Island has resigned, but the Lieutenant-Governor declines a dissolution on the advice of Premier Yeo, and sent for Frederick Peters, one of the Liberal members, for a consultation. Mr. Peters has called a meeting of Liberal members of both Houses of the Legislature to discuss the situation.

A Syndicate to Boom Mrs. Langtry.

LONDON, April 20. — Lord Abingdon undertakes to float Mrs. Langtry for the coming saason. For this purpose he has subscribed £35,000. Associated with him are six so-called society men, who contribute each £100 a week to the fund, with which the theatrical season is to be boomed for the actress. Everything is to be provided — theater, company, new scenery, costumes, machinery and decorations. The entire business of the season will be run by this combination. Although Mrs. Langtry's last season was not a pecuniary success she has made ample means and is living in luxury in the West End. She maintains her good looks and fine spirits and has high hopes for the future. Her admirers are more numerous and more devoted than ever. Under the new arrangement that has been made for her the Lily has earned the sobriquet of "Lady of the Syndicate."

A London Sensation.

LONDON, April 21.—The verdict for the defendant in the case of Gladys Evelyn against Hurlburt was rather a surprise. The finish of Justice Cave's charge bore heavily against the plaintiff, though at times it must have made Hurlburt wince. Mrs. Hurlburt was in court and created a sensation. The court said uncomplimentary things of Hurlburt's counsel, intimating they let his interests almost go by the board. While Justice Cave was charging the jury Mrs. Hurlburt became very much excited, and exclaimed that the statements referred to by him were a pack of lies, and she did not believe them. Justice Cave stopped, the spectators looked horrified, and Mrs. Hurlburt was led out of court, accompanied by Mr. Beckett, member of Parliament, an intimate friend of the family. The jury were out 90 minutes. They evidently did not believe Hurlburt had promised the woman marriage, but they evidently were not so sure that he had not been on intimate terms with her.

FOREIGN.

At a meeting of the Tenants' Defense League at Dublin, Mr. Redmond stated that a continuance of the plan of campaign was impossible, as with the exception of the fund now held in Paris, there was no money with which to carry on the contest.

The mutiny of the Third Battalion of the Grenadier Guards appears to have been a premeditated affair. It is announced that there was also a serious display of bad feeling upon the part of a detachment of Grenadier Guards quartered at St. George's barracks. Three guardsmen at this barracks refused to parade and were placed under arrest.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, April 21.

At the meeting of the Ministerial Association yesterday Rev. J. G. Bishop read a paper on "Church Entertainments," in which he discountenanced most forms of such amusements, claiming that they cultivated a taste for theaters and worldly amusements generally. The discussion generally supported Mr. Bishop's arguments, and the following resolution was passed on the motion of Revs. A. M. Phillips and W. H. Cline: "Resolved, that this association hereby expresses its disapproval of the action of the Mail newspaper in instituting a popular preacher contest." Revs. John Burton and G. M. Milligan dissented, claiming the matter was beneath their notice and should be treated with contempt.

Sir Knights and Companions Meet.

Last evening Conclave No. 2, K. S. F., paid a fraternal visit to Pride of the East Circle. Besides the sir knights a large number of friends of the companions were present. A programme was provided, consisting of songs, readings and recitations, in which the following ladies and gentlemen took part: Misses Phœnix, Mrs. Gibling and Miss Skinner, Messrs. K. Hogg, J. Brown, F. Skinner, F. Westlake, F. W. Findlater, Albert Seijohn and Geo. Watts. At the conclusion of the entertainment Chief Comp. Mrs. May called upon the energetic committee which had charge of the arrangements to serve refreshments. A few short addresses were made, Comp. W. Richards setting forth the aims and objects of the Companions of the Forest, and expressing a wish that Conclave No. 2 would soon call again. Supreme Commander W. T. Duff spoke on behalf of the Supreme Conclave of Canada, while Sir Knight Commander Frank Plant thanked the members of Pride of the East Circle for the cordial reception which had been tendered the sir knights. The committee which had charge of the affair deserve great credit for the able manner in which they conducted things generally. Pride of the East is the most flourishing circle in the city.

HAMILTON AND LONDON SYNOD.

The Toronto "Mail's" Voting Scheme Severely Criticised.

Brantford Ladies' College Flourishing—Uniform Posture During Public Prayer Desirable — Other Business.

Tuesday Morning Session.

The Synod was commenced promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning forbusiness. One of the first things that claimed the attention of the members was the voting scheme of the Toronto Mail respecting the popularity of the ministers.

Rev. G. Munro was the only member who put his remarks into enactive shape. "I think that the action of this paper is most unfortunate and disgraceful," he said, "and I move that a committee be appointed to take cognizance of the matter. I feel quite sensitive about it, although it is true that my name has not as yet appeared in this connection. I have, however, seen the names of some very respectable brethren used. I am sure that they did not desire the publicity they received."

Rev. W. S. Ball was the first to secure the floor when Mr. Munro finished speaking. "I am sure that we feel with the previous speaker," he said, "but the best way to bury the matter out of sight would be to take no notice of it at all. It would be a fatal mistake if that motion was even seconded. We cannot prevent a dog from barking at our heels. The way to treat the matter would be to stick such literature in the stove when you receive it. Stick it in the stove, but never in our minutes. It would be a sad thing if that motion receives a seconder."

Rev. J. A. Murray suggested that the mover include another public journal published in Toronto (which the speaker did not name) which he said was working along the same lines, by converting the Bible into a medium for gambling.

The motion received no seconder, and was allowed to drop.

REV. T. M'PHERSON'S CLAIM.

The report of the Presbytery of Stratford respecting the settlement of the claim of Rev. Thomas McPherson, of Stratford, was presented, showing that the retiring minister had been paid $1,500, which he had recognized as payment in full of his claims.

Rev. W. T. McMullen, of Woodstock, moved that a vote of thanks be tendered the retiring minister. The occasion was the proper one for an expression of kindly opinion, and he moved accordingly.

Rev. A. F. Tully, of Mitchell, took objection to the proposed vote of thanks. "It is enough that the report of the committee should be adopted," he said. "The money has been paid out, and that should be the end of a matter the details of which should not be allowed to be dragged into discussion before this Synod."

Rev. W. T. McMullen—I am willing to withdraw my motion. I did not wish to bring any such discussion before the Synod, and my motion was made for the purpose of preventing such an occurrence.

BRANTFORD LADIES' COLLEGE.

Dr. Cochrane presented the report of the Brantford Young Ladies' College for the year. He stated that the year to close in June next had been one of the most encouraging and satisfactory in the history of the institution. There had already been enrolled 61 boarders and 70 day pupils, a total of 131, nearly double the number that there was two years ago, when at the urgent request of the directors he had resumed closer relations with the college. He believed the large increase in attendanee and the encouraging prospects for the future was due in a great measure to the deeper interest that was now being taken in its support and progress by the ministers of the Synod and eldership. He referred at great length to the system of bursaries that had been inaugurated to assist in part the daughters of clergymen in securing a first-class education, and the greatly reduced fees that have been made to secure their attendance. The staff of professors and governesses employed were all either graduates or under graduates of Presbyterian universities, thoroughly accomplished in their different departments, no pupil teachers being employed in the college. The directors aimed at providing a solid education in all the branches of an English education, as well as in the ancient and modern languages; in furnishing opportunities for those who desire special training in music, art, elocution, stenography and type-writing, and in providing the associations and surroundings of a Christian home. He made a strong appeal for increased patronage on the part of the ministers and elders of the Synod, and said that they should use their influence in commending the college to the families of their respective congregations, in preference to other institutions that were not under the control of the church.

Rev. W. G. Ball requested permission to make some inquiries respecting the college. "I shall be represented by two friends there shortly," said the speaker in explanation, "and although I can do nothing more in the daughter line yet I expect to be represented there in a little while by granddaughters. (Laughter.) I would like to ask what has become of the Governor-General's bronze medal, which usually was presented to the college?"

Rev. Dr. Cochrane explained that the medal had been written for, but that no satisfactory answer had been received. It was evidently a case of negligence and not an intentional slight to the college or the church.

Rev. J. Campbell Tibb moved the following resolution, which was carried unanimously:

That the Synod express its satisfaction at the thorough efficiency of the college and gladly recognize the excellent work done during the year, and the success which has attended the efforts put forth. It desires to record its satisfaction that the college has still the advantage of Dr. Cochrane's oversight and direction, and that the staff of teachers is so complete and thorough in all departments. Further, the Synod would hereby commend it to friends and guardians as an institution wherein young ladies may not only secure a thorough Christian training, but also a religious home, and appoint the Rev. E. Cockburn, M.A., Paris, as visiting director for the ensuing year.

OTHER BUSINESS.

The committee on the Buxton fund reported that the amount received current for this branch of work was $231 45. The object of the fund was for the education of escaped slaves, and the need for the same having become a thing of the past, the current receipts were turned over to the aged and infirm ministers' fund.

An application for transmission from Rev. James Sutherland and John Kernighan was received and granted.

The Synod will overture the General Assembly to take the necessary steps to secure a uniform posture throughout its jurisdiction during public prayer.

Moderator Tolmie nominated the following as a committee to strike the standing committees for the year: Rev. Dr. Fletcher (convener), Rev. Dr. McMullen, Rev. Messrs. John L. Murray, George Cuthbertson, A. F. Tully, James Gourlay and David Wylie; Hugh McQuarrie and J. Dickson.

Tuesday Afternoon Sederent.

On the Synod being reconstituted Rev. Dr. Robertson, of the Northwest mission field, was invited to address the meeting on the mission work of the Northwest. In opening the speaker painted a glowing picture of the Northwest's future. The country was to his mind the richest in the world. Its timber and mineral resources were far more valuable than half of the Canadian people had any idea of. The influx of population was steady, if not great, and the newcomers should be attended to. There were several families and settlements which had been in the country for five, ten and fifteen years, and the people had never had religious service during that time. As an illustration of the growth of the church the speaker stated that in 1880 there were but two congregations between Lake Superior and the Pacific Ocean, that were under the wing of the Presbyterian Church. At present there were 61 and over 35 of them were self-supporting. The number of communicants for the same year (1880) was 1,070 and this number had been swelled since then to 12,000. The total amount of the contributions of the people in 1880 was $14,167 and in 1891 $181,000. It would never pay the Presbyterian Church to neglect the evangelization of the West. The people there, the speaker said, were not mean whatever else they were, and when the natural resources of that country were developed the church would then receive the cordial support of a wealthy people. He concluded with an earnest plea for the immediate support of the home missions, which, he said, would not be carried out if it was not done by the members of the Presbyterian Church themselves.

Rev. Robert Hamilton, of Motherwell, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker on the conclusion of his remarks. The members of the Synod also pledged themselves to bring the claims of the mission before their respective congregations.

Rev. W. J. Dey expressed his great satisfaction with the lecturer's effort, and expressed the hope that it would be preserved and copies of it freely distributed among the people of the Synod.

A deputation from the Ministerial Association, consisting of Rev. Messrs. G. Trotter Carr, William McDonagh and Ira Smith, was then invited to take seats on the platform. Rev. G. Trotter Carr, as spokesman of the party, expressed the wish of the deputation to tender to the members of the Synod a hearty welcome to their city, to their homes and to their hearts. The speaker predicted that the time was not far distant when the ministers could stand united with a copy of John Wesley in one hand and John Locke in the other, with the confession of faith omitted. (Chorus of voices: "Not that; not that!") When that time comes, it seems to me that the little Congregational body will, of necessity, unite the two and act as a buffer which shall secure the great church in its unity. (Laughter and applause.)

The moderator acknowledged the kindness of the Ministerial Association, and in replying to the same, explained that while the several Protestant denominations were divided all agreed that the work of all their churches were under the one great head and blessed by the guidance of one great power. "I think," he said, "that the present state shows that we are all honest in our convictions. We will all, however, rejoice jointly when the time comes in which we may view these things in a different light from what we do now. We look forward with joy to the dawning of the time when we can stand more fully united than we could possibly do in our present condition."

THE EAST WILLIAMS JURISDICTION.

The overture from the London Presbytery, asking that the congregation of East Williams be placed under the jurisdiction of either the London or the Sarnia Presbyteries instead of the joint jurisdiction, as at present, was taken up as the next item of business.

Rev. James Ballantyne was the first speaker. He reviewed the circumstances of the case, and warmly supported the plan of uniting the congregations of East Williams and Beechwood, also the congregations of Nairn and Carlysle, while the congregation of Ailsa Craig could be formed into a separate congregation. The original, and what the speaker considered the proper settlement of the case, would be to place the congregations all under the jurisdiction of the London Presbytery. Had a proper line been drawn in the first place the present difficulty would not have occurred.

Rev. A. Henderson, in supporting the argument of the previous speaker, said he regretted that so much feeling had been shown by the members of the Sarnia Presbytery in speaking of the matter. They misunderstood altogether the motive which prompted the action of their brethren of the London Presbytery. The congregation of East Williams was perhaps, geographically, within the bounds of the Sarnia Presbytery, but for the purposes of convenience the congregation was on application received into the London Presbytery, and this had given the Sarnia Presbytery occasion to cite the London Presbytery before the bar of the Synod. The Presbytery of London had been misunderstood throughout the entire proceedings, and the members now wished to have the complication set right. If the Synod saw fit to place the congregation of East Williams and Beechwood under the jurisdiction of the Sarnia Presbytery, the London Presbytery would be found quite content.

Rev. D. Currie, of Glencoe, also spoke in favor of the recommendation of the London Presbytery. The condition of affairs could be remedied to a great extent by a rearrangement of the congregation, but the rearrangement could be effected much better if the jurisdiction were placed with either one Presbytery or the other.

Andrew Ross, an elder of the congregation of East Williams, reviewed the history of the congregation, which, he claimed, had become a bone of contention between the two Presbyteries, unknown to itself. The chief reason for wishing to become wholly a part of the London Presbytery was one of convenience. The distance as per the G. T. R. from London to East Williams was about half the distance from East Williams to Sarnia. From the small point of view of economy the alliance with the London Presbytery was to be desired. "There is another reason," said the speaker, "and perhaps a sentimental one may prove the stronger. London is a commercial and industrial center, and by traveling the London road so often we have become attached to it and London. We have become somewhat like the Jew of old. When anything was said to him about religious affairs he turned his face towards Jerusalem, and we like him turn our faces toward London. (Laughter.) In going to Sarnia every mile seemed to count more than a mile. It seemed as if we were going to the end of the earth, and the wrong end of it at that." (Laughter.)

Rev. George Cuthbertson, of Wyoming, took up the cause of the Sarnia Presbytery. The Synod had already declared that the territory was within the bounds of the Sarnia Presbytery, and it could not consistently reverse its ruling.

Rev. Hector Currie, of Thedford, also went into the dispute from the beginning and claimed the territory as Sarnia's by right.

Rev. W. J. Dey moved that the prayer of the memorial be granted and that the territory be placed under the jurisdiction of the Sarnia Presbytery.

Rev. George Sutherland, of Fingal, moved in amendment that the London Presbytery retain jurisdiction over the territory.

The amendment was carried by a vote of 67 against 60.

Tuesday Evening Sederunt.

The evening sederunt was devoted exclusively to the receiving of reports from the various committees, and the discussion of the same.

THE STATE OF RELIGION.

The report on the condition of religion, a cleverly written account of the religious activity throughout the jurisdiction of the Synod and the dangers and difficulties which beset the missionaries of the cross in the prosecution of their work, was read by the convener, Rev. William Farquharson, of Oungah. From the report it was shown that in general the progress made by the congregations was very satisfactory. The bulk of the sessions, however, returned cautious or unsatisfactory replies respecting the attendance at prayer meetings. Wherever Christian Endeavor or kindred societies had been organized among the young people most praiseworthy results had been obtained.

The committee recommended: 1. That sessions be commended to hold fast in their efforts to have the prayer meeting attendance increased. 2. That the sessions meet as often as possible for prayer and conference touching the spiritual condition of the people. 3. That as a means of developing the gifts and graces of the young people, a Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor or similar association be organized in congregations, the constitution of such societies in all cases to be approve by the session of the congregation in which the society is organized.

The recommendations were adopted.

REPORT ON TEMPERANCE.

Rev. E. Cockburn, convener of the Committee on Temperance, presented a lengthy report, dealing with the all important temperance problem. Nearly all the sessions reported the existence of temperance organizations. Respecting the third question which the sessions were required to answer —"In what way has the temperance sentiment been influenced by the issues of the late elections, local or general?"—the general answer returned was to the effect that a beneficial result was noticeable. Some had broken away altogether from the old party lines, while others refused to vote for any candidate who was not in sympathy with the temperance movement.

Referring to the effect of the repeal of the Scott Act, the report continued: One Presbytery says it is considered more respectable to drink than formerly. Imperfect though the act was it was a great boon to society, a blessing to many a family, and a hand maid to religion. Since its repeal, nearly two years ago, drunkenness has increased nearly 100 per cent. The practice of treating is carried on openly, whereby many young men are encouraged to throw off all restraint and self-respect, and to enter the lists of moderate drinkers.

The recommendations of the committee were: (1) That since Christ alone can purify society and make us a temperate people we give ourselves with renewed diligence to hold up Christ in our pulpits, prayer meetings, Sabbath schools and families as the only Saviour from sin; (2) that the members and officers of the churches he urged to inculcate and practice total abstinence as the only safe and consistent course; (3) that the necessity of forming temperance organizations be brought before all congregations not having the same in their midst so that the young may be saved from the ravages of strong drink; (4) that all available means be made to secure in our public and high schools temperance instruction; (5) that as this Synod regards the general traffic in intoxicating liquors to be contrary to the word of God, and the spirit of Christian religion, and as total prohibition would be the most effective form of legislation, the Synod urges upon the members of the church the necessity of using all legitimate means to secure this end.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Rev. P. Musgrave presented the report on the subject of Sabbath observance. It showed that there were many influences at work which militated against the proper observance of the Sabbath. The following is extracted from the report, which may be construed into recommendations, but which were not considered as such by the Synod;

1. That professing Christians exercise greater faithfulness in regard to the sacred obligations of the Sabbath, and bring their influence to bear upon the young people of their acquaintance. 2. That a freer use be made of the local public press in the advocacy of preserving the sanctity of the Sabbath. 3. That a Sabbath observance association be formed in every center of population. 4. That action be taken to secure favorable legislation bearing on the subject. 5. That public preaching be directed in this channel, and that the elders endeavor to strengthen such preaching.

The committee making no enactive recommendations owing to a misunderstanding respecting questions to be sent out, no action was taken on the report.

SABBATH SCHOOL.

Rev. W. J. Dey presented the report of the committee on Sunday schools. The average attendance showed a falling off of 264 from that of last year. The average attendance for each school reported was 95, and of this number 30 studied their lessons before coming to the schools, while the same percentage studied their catechism, committed Scripture to memory, and went to church on Sunday. He recommended that the attention of the session be called to the falling off.

Several members objected to the passage of the recommendation, as it was not fair to the Synod. There were several reasons which prevented the studying of the catechism, the chiefest of which was the holding of union schools. Many of the children did not really belong to the church, and their parents did not, in many cases, go to any church.

The mover read his recommendation again, saying that while the objections were probably well taken there was evidently room for much improvement. The recommendation was adopted.

Rev. J. C. Tibb moved as a second recommendation that the Synod warmly commend the scheme for the higher religious education to the careful attention of all the Sunday schools within its bounds. The recommendation was seconded by Rev. Samuel Lyle and adopted.

STUDENTS LICENSED.

The committee on licensing recommended that leave be granted to the Presbytery of Hamilton to take on trial for license J. S. Conning, T. H. Rogers, H. Y. Percival, T. Elliot and P. M. McEachern. Recommendation adopted.

Rev. Samuel Woods, M.A.

Mr. Samuel Woods, recently principal of the Collegiate Institute in this city, has entered the ministry, and has accepted the unanimous call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church of Lewiston, Idaho. Rev. Samuel Woods has also been chosen representative to the General Assembly to meet at Detroit.

A Serious Accident.

Some workmen were engaged yesterday near the corner of York and Adelaide streets in raising an old wooden building on Fitzgerald's oil refinery grounds. The materials of the structure were not of the strongest, and shortly before noon the roof fell in. Francis Nugent was unfortunate enough to be underneath and received a fractured skull, a broken arm and thigh and internal injuries. Dr. McArthur was summoned and dressed his wounds, after which he was conveyed to the hospital. He is doing as well as possible and will recover.

P. Levy in Trouble.

Detective Carpenter, of Montreal, and Philip Levy, of this city, were passengers on the C. P. R. train leaving here at 5:25 p.m. Monday for the east. Levy is known in London as an insolvent clothier. He was arrested by Detective Carpenter about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in his solicitor's office, and taken to the police cells. From there he was escorted to his house, where he packed his grip and bade his wife good-bye before departing for Montreal. The warrant for his arrest charges him with obtaining goods, valued at about $3,000, under false pretenses from the firm of Horsfell & Co., wholesale dealers of that city. The offense is said to have occurred a few months ago. Levy professed to be able to clear himself of the charge. Anybody could issue a warrant, he said.

St. Andrew's Service of Praise.

The service of praise at St. Andrew's Church last evening was attended by a large congregation, and the promoters have cause to feel proud of their efforts and the resulting success. All the numbers were exceedingly well given. Mr. Charles E. Wheeler, the church organist, was musical conductor, and to his attention and care the excellence of the programme was largely due. ABOUT HAIR

Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Sir,—I have, as you know, for some time advertised in Canada and the States a prescription for the hair called "Dr. Dorenwend's Hair Magic." I have received some thousands of flattering testimonials from those who have used it as to its merits as a restorative of gray or faded hair; also as a promoter of the growth and a certain cure for dandruff.

A great many of my correspondents ask the questions: "Why is my hair turning gray so early? Why is my hair falling out?" As it is impossible for me to answer every one, I take the liberty of encroaching on your valuable space to make a general reply. A great many persons do not seem to be aware that excessive washing and rubbing is injurious to the growth of the hair; such is the case, however. Constant washing and rubbing the scalp and hair causes over irritation and removes the oily substance which gives strength to the hair; undue heat caused by the wearing of heavy headgear is also injurious. Anything that will tend to dry up the sap or life of the hair will cause dandruff, falling out of the hair, gray or faded hair and finally baldness. Of course there are other causes as diseases, hereditary tendencies, etc., but the first mentioned are the main and most common.

Dr. Dorenwend, an eminent German physician, has given to the world after years of toil and experiment his now famous "Hair Magic." The object of this preparation is to assist nature in the production of this oily substance absolutely necessary to the growth of the hair. It is now sold by all reliable druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or will be sent on receipt of price to any address. See that each wrapper bears the seal and signature of the manufacturer.

Four Children in One Grave.

READING, Pa., April 21.—An unusual funeral was witnessed at Bern Church, near Leesport, Berks county, Saturday, when the remains of four children of Adam Stout, a well known citizen of Marsh, Chester county, were interred in one grave in the cemetery adjoining the church. The little ones ranged in age from 2 to 7 years and died within 48 hours of the measles and grip. Owing to the contagious character of the disease the railroads preferred not to furnish transportation to the funeral cortege, and the family and mourners drove a distance of 28 miles. Diphtheria, grip and measles have carried off 200 children within a radius of twenty miles of Reading within a short time.

Novel Elopement.

LONDON, April 21.—An elopement with some novel and exciting features has just occurred at Alfreton. Pretty Annie Gough, daughter of the coachman of Judge Morewood at that place, dressed herself in her brother's clothes, stole the judge's horse, rode to the neighboring city of Nottingham and there joined her lover. The couple would doubtless have succeeded in completing the plan thus far so well carried out had not the cupidity of the prospective bridegroom proved stronger than either his honesty or his discretion. He attempted to sell the horse, and the delay thus incurred enabled the emissaries of the angry father to overtake the fugitives. The girl was arrested and taken back home, but her lover managed to escape.

NUMBER THREE COMMITTEE.

By Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald, chairman:

1. We recommend that John Aitken be appointed foreman of No. 3 fire hall station.

2. That James Fitzgerald, W. J. Brazier, George Taylor, Thomas Hartley, James Campbell and W. Smith be appointed firemen on the department staff.

Ald. O'Meara moved that the communications in reference to clause 1 be taken up and the names voted upon. He favored Mr. Aitken, but objected to the system.

The clause was adopted.

On clause 2, Ald. O'Meara moved again, seconded by Ald. Judd, that the 60 applicants' names be balloted. Lost.

Ald. Thomas hoped the committee would be supported. Its members had had hard work in the selection, as they had all been canvassed.

Ald. W. W. Fitzgerald reminded the Council that he opposed the system of dispensing with call men. He moved it be referred back to the committee. Lost.

The original clause was adopted.

NUMBER TWO COMMITTEE.

By Ald. Connor, chairman:

1. We recommend the following communications be filed: S. H. Baker, re city engineership; Martin Moran, re foreman, No. 1 ward.

2. We report progress on the following: R. Fisher, W. M. English, Geo. Scott and Jas. Moffatt, re sidewalks; R. J. Kessack, re Central avenue; T. H. Routledge, rental sewer; memo from Council re street railway on Richmond street.

3. We recommend that tenders be called for artificial stone walks on north side of Dundas street, from Waterloo to Colborne street, and on west side of Richmond street, from Fullarton street to the northern limit of Mr. James James' property.

4. That the petition of Wm. Morris and others to construct a sewer on Becher street at their own expense be granted, and $35 be granted towards the cost, provided the parties allow the city to connect any gullyholes desired.

5. Progress reported on the petition of Thos. E. White et al., re sewer on Hamilton street.

In connection with clause 4 Ald. W. W. Fitzgerald asked if it were advisable to run the sewer into the river with the judgment of the courts hanging over the city.

Ald. Judd said it was a drain and not a sewer desired.

The whole report passed without amendment.

NUMBER ONE COMMITTEE.

By Ald. Spencer, chairman:

2. That J. E. Showler be granted $75 towards expenses of helmets.

3. That J. M. Brimscombe's petition be granted and the clerk correct error.

4. That $200 be granted towards the expenses of the A. O. F. demonstration on July 1.

5. That John Coote's petition re vacant houses be filed; no power.

6. That the heroic conduct of Eli Griffith be acknowledged by presenting him with a suitable engraved watch to the value of $50, the committee's chairman to purchase the same.

7. That James Bowman's petition re sewer rate, be filed.

8. Progress reported on communication of T. H. Rheder, A. Mountjoy, C. P. R. agreement and Mrs. A. Pendergast.

On clause 4, Ald. Taylor moved that the Sons of England receive a similar amount, as per request, for their demonstration on May 25.

Ald. Scarrow thought it was establishing a precedent. The sum of $100 each would be sufficient.

Ald. W. W. Fitzgerald moved that No. 1 be empowered to grant $100 to all societies this season bringing in a sufficient number to warrant the expenditure.

Ald. Spencer said such events brought into the city a crowd that spent a good deal of money.

Ald. Fitzgerald's amendment was lost, and the clause with Ald. Taylor's amendment carried.

E. T. Essery appeared for Mr. Cootes and stated the petition had been an unfinished item of the busines of the Court of Revision for 1890.

Ald. Judd said there were some 25 similar cases. He moved that they be left with this year's Revision Court.

Ald. Taylor considered that course illegal. He moved a reduction of 15 per cent. be made in Mr. Cootes' taxes.

Ald. Ivey suggested referring the matter to the city solicitor to ascertain if Ald. Judd's proposal be legal.

Ald. Scarrow didn't believe in spending $5 on the city solicitor for every little technicality. There were enough legal gentlemen around the Board to give an opinion.

Ald. Ivey's amendment carried and the rest of the report was adopted.

OTHER BUSINESS.

Ald. Taylor asked why it was the market had not been cleared as per contract.

Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald said the contractor, Donohue, was doing his work all right. Aldermen O'Meara and Scarrow backed him up vigorously.

Ald. Winnett wanted to know when the extra lights were to begin operations.

Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald explained that pressure of business had delayed matters. It was not expected to put in more than ten extra lamps.

Ald. Conner moved a drain be constructed, to take off the water in the South London fire hall. The building was being damaged. Referred to No. 2 to call for tenders.

A bylaw for street watering was passed, and another providing for the abolition of market huckstering laid over on account of Ald. O'Meara's objection.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, April 20.—The Attorney-General introduced a resolution, which was passed unanimously, in favor of paying to the widow of the late Mr. J. D. Hunter, member for South Grey, the full sessional indemnity, to which he would have been entitled had he lived. This, the Attorney-General explained, was in accordance with many precedents at various times since Confederation.

Mr. Monk applied for a return showing the number of children said to be under the age of 15 tried before any court in the Province during the year, the number who were tried separate from other offenders as provided by the act for the protection of neglected children, and the number sent to the jail, industrial schools and the reformatory respectively. This motion was passed without comment.

Among the notices of motion allowed to stand was that of Mr. Campbell, of Durham, favoring an appeal to the throne for such amendments to the British North America Act as would place education absolutely under control of the Province. The object is understood to be to allow the Province to abolish Separate Schools should the people desire to do so.

Mr. Barr's bill providing for the printing and distribution of the accounts of each public school, was supported in a brief speech by the mover, but the Minister of Education pointed out that the present law provided for the publication of the accounts, but that the plan proposed would entail unnecessary expense. The measure was allowed to stand.

When Mr. Tait's bill to amend the assessment law was called there were cries of "explain," and, thus called upon, Toronto's junior member rose to say what the measure was about. The bill was perfectly plain—to allow municipalities to assess improvements at 50 per cent. of their value instead of at their full value, as at present. The law is in force in British Columbia and had been adopted by Victoria, where it was said to work satisfactorily.

Mr. Hardy characterized the bill as a radical one, and said he did not know that the country was ready to adopt the single tax idea or to go half way on the road to it. He saw disadvantages in breaking in upon the uniformity of the system, and thought, as no doubt the honorable mover had accomplished his object in bringing the matter before the attention of the House, he would suggest its withdrawal.

Mr. Tait pointed out that under all assessment laws there were inequalities. At present the large buildings were apt to be assessed at less than their value, while the small dwelling was taxed to the full extent. He saw no reason why the municipalities should not have the power to decide each for itself in such matters as this, and added that he had no doubt that the principle of the measure would one day receive the approval of the House, but in the meantime he withdrew the bill.

Mr. Whitney made a strong speech for his bill to amend the Election Act. The general purpose of the bill is to make the punishment of corruption in elections more severe than at present. Instead of a fine or imprisonment with the option of a fine, as the penalty for bribery, corrupt treating, etc., the bill makes imprisonment a necessary consequence of conviction, the fine being inflicted also. It is provided also that the county crown attorney shall attend elections trials and prosecute guilty parties summarily, the present means of reaching corruptionists by trial in the ordinary way being still retained.

Mr. Mowat at once candidly stated that the bill could not be accepted by the Government, the reason being that they feared that it would be injurious rather than beneficial. Corrupt practices in elections could not be too strongly condemned; the Government stood ready to adopt any means which would put an end to them. The difficulty was in proving that there had been wrong-doing. Witnesses hesitated to give evidence to convict where they felt that the result would be a very severe punishment. Thus there was danger that this bill would defeat the very object it was intended to promote. The Government, he said, had done a good deal in giving the judges power to act in these cases without a jury. They had gone far enough in that direction, considering the state of public sentiment. In England the accused had the right to have a jury. As to the clause relating to the county crown attorney, it was now his duty to prosecute cases brought to his attention. "Before the next general election I purpose consolidating the whole election law and to revise it, and I shall be glad to find that we can introduce into it some provision that may accomplish something more than the present laws do to prevent corrupt practices in the future, but so far as we can form a judgment from experience we do not think that the amendment of my honorable friend will have the effect he desires."

Mr. Meredith supported the bill in a vigorous speech, in the course of which he contended that there was not more corruption in Dominion than in Provincial affairs.

Mr. Hardy pointed to the comparative purity of the recent Provincial general election as shown by the few petitions and the very few cases of corruption proven, as rather weakening the argument in favor of the bill. He pointed to the danger of witnesses screening wrong-doers from severe punishment, and dwelt upon the fact that under the very Dominion law to which Mr. Whitney had referred very few prosecutions had taken place. In reply to Mr. Meredith, he said there was no reason to suppose that merely making the punishment heavier would lead to the prosecution of bribers more than under the present law.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) was of the opinion that usually the candidate with the most money would be the winner.

Mr. Whitney thought that if the clause imposing a penalty upon the person accepting a bribe were struck out it would help the proof of offenses.

Mr. Conmee said the worst sort of corrupt practice was intimidation. Mr. Meredith cried "Hear, hear," and Mr. Conmee remarked that perhaps the leader of the Opposition knew something about such methods. Mr. Meredith denied it, and Mr. Conmee asked him if during the last election he had not made a trip up into Algoma. Mr. Meredith protested it was not true, but when Mr. Conmee asked him if he had not traveled to Rat Portage in Mr. Niblock's private car the Opposition leader replied in the affirmative, but denied that there was any significance in it. Mr. Conmee said he did not mean to charge anything against Mr. Meredith, but he thought the honorable member might have heard of the open methods adopted by Superintendent Niblock before and on polling day as he traveled through that country in his private car.

The House was divided on the bill. The division resulted in the defeat of the bill in a depleted House by a vote of 32 to 25. Mr. Campbell, of Durham, voted for it, and on the Government's side Mr. Balfour stood up in its support.

Mr. Meredith moved the second reading of his bill extending to companies chartered under the Ontario Joint Stock Companies Letters Patent Act under Federal legislation or by any Provincial authority the power to act as trustees under the act respecting trustees and executors and the administration of estates. The Attorney-General declared that he and his colleagues were not prepared to take the responsibility which the bill sought to put upon them to keep out foreign companies.

The debate was adjourned.

Mr. Awrey brought in an amendment to the General Road Companies Act to-day. The first clause gives the power to cut down underbrush. The second allows companies to mortgage their plant and stock for the construction of roads.

SARNIA ASSIZES.

An Interesting "Breach of Promise" Suit—No Prisoners in Jail.

SARNIA, April 20.—The Assizes opened here this afternoon, Hon. Justice Falconbridge presiding. There being no prisoners in jail, the sheriff, following the time-honored custom, presented his lordship with a pair of white kid gloves.

Emily Jane Hendricks vs. Wm. M. S. Chesney, an action for breach of promise of marriage, was the first case tried. The parties reside in the township of Adelaide, Middlesex. Plaintiff is a handsome, attractive young lady, and the defendant is a well-to-do young farmer. In 1888, Mr. Osler for the plaintiff stated, a young man in the neighborhood was paying attention to the plaintiff with a view to marriage, when defendant began to be attentive to the plaintiff in such a way that his rival ceased to visit the plaintiff. Shortly after, under a promise of marriage, Mr. Osler alleged, defendant seduced the plaintiff, which seduction resulted in the birth of a child. Plaintiff's father then sued defendant for the seduction of his daughter and received a judgment. The present action was for breach of promise and for the maintenance of the child.

The plaintiff in her evidence related her story substantially the same as set forth in Mr. Osler's opening address. She stated that the defendant had asked her to marry him two or three times before she consented. Defendant pictured to her a brilliant future and told her about the nice home they were going to have, and she began to prepare her trousseau. On cross-examination Mr. Lester asked the plaintiff why it was she jilted her first lover, G. Munro, who was a very handsome, affable fellow, and why she took to the defendant. After some hesitation plaintiff admitted that part of the reason was that the defendant had more money, and she added, "He told me he liked me so much." Plaintiff thought it was a good marriage, but never told anyone of her engagement but her father.

Duncan Hendricks, father of plaintiff, corroborated the evidence of his daughter to a certain extent. On one occasion defendant apologized to witness for coming so often, but explained by saying that they were engaged to be married in the fall.

Gillis Munro, the discarded lover, testified that he had been paying attentions to plaintiff for about a year, when he overheard a conversation between the plaintiff and defendant, when defendant urged plaintiff to drop Gillis and take him. Plaintiff said she would think about it, whereupon witness said, "No need of thinking about it at all. If he wants you have him. I quit. I won't play second fiddle to any man." Witness added, "I did quit." On cross-examination, witness admitted that he had been paying attention to plaintiff for about a year, had taken her out driving and took her to Strathroy to see her aunt. Witness also stated that plaintiff was considered a good catch and that her father was considered worth $15,000. When asked if he did not want to get some of that $15,000, witness replied that might be it.

Mrs. Stephens, of Strathroy, plaintiff's aunt, testified that plaintiff and defendant had acted like lovers at her house. Plaintiff never told her of her engagement, but witness said, "That was unnecessary. I could see that for myself."

Defendant denied having ever promised to marry plaintiff and swore positively that he was never guilty of any indiscretion with plaintiff. As for the suit at London, he did not go into the box and deny the charge, but that was because his lawyer refused to allow him. He stated that he had done work for plaintiff's father and that was the reason of his visits. The case is proceeding.

The ADVERTISER will endeavor to promote the movement for Christian union not alone by direct appeal and argument, but by seeking to present the best rather than the worst side of each denomination.

"The Advertiser" advocates Obligatory Voting as both necessary and practicable. Nothing would so much purify electoral contests. Nothing would so much enforce the idea that the franchise is a duty, not a chattel.

We are aware that the foregoing planks of our platform are by no means endorsed in their entirety by the members of either of the present Canadian political parties. But we believe they will both have to get nearer and more near to the ADVERTISER's platform with every succeeding year.

London, Wednesday, April 22.

PETITION AGAINST MR. HYMAN, M. P.

A small section of the Conservative party, led by Mr. Edmund Meredith, who offered to defray the costs rather than let the case go by default, have subscribed sufficient funds to pay for the entering of a protest against the election of Mr. Hyman, M.P.

These men would have a perfect right to try to upset Mr. Hyman's election if it were believed that general corruption, in which members of both parties were participants, prevailed. But, despite the outcry of the Free Press, which has tried the case in advance and has, to its own satisfaction, proved that a large number of the citizens of London of both political parties are rascals of the worst description, no responsible person has so far undertaken to say that the election was not as clean a contest as the average election in Canada is. Indeed, it has been confessed by prominent Conservatives that the election law was well observed, and that to something else than corruption must be attributed Mr. Carling's defeat.

Some members of the Conservative party profess to believe that the petition will not be gone on with, but will be used for "sawing-off" purposes before the day for trial is set. That there may be something in this explanation is made apparent by the extraordinary pretenses of secrecy with which the filing of the petition was attended. Representatives of this journal made zealous inquiries, both of prominent Conservatives and of Mr. Edmund Meredith, whose firm had the petition in charge, but up to the last it was impossible to draw from them a definite answer that the petition would be filed.

The fact is that there was such a kick against the step now taken, and so many leading Conservatives refused to subscribe money to warrant action, that until the eleventh hour there were doubts as to whether the petition would be put in.

The large number of Conservatives who have protested and still protest against the attempt to unseat Mr. Hyman have good grounds for their action. It is everywhere conceded that Mr. Hyman would carry the city in a new contest, whether with Mr. Carling or with any other citizen of London that could be put up against him. Mr. Hyman has done nothing to forfeit the esteem of his friends who in the recent contest gave him so substantial a majority. Instead of that he is constantly gaining strength, and in a new contest, were one decreed, there are many reasons for believing that his majority of 183 in the recent election would be largely augmented.

Under all the circumstances, Mr. Hyman's friends can view with perfect equanimity the proceedings now taken at the instance of a small coterie of grumblers and interested lawyers. They know that the member-elect has the sympathy not only of every one of his followers in the recent contest, but of a large number, if not the majority of the Conservatives of London, who hold that the Conservative cause would have been better served if the disgruntled betting men of the party had taken their beating like men, as the opponents of Mr. Carling did in 1887. At that time Mr. Hyman was defeated by but 39, and there was plenty of evidence to unseat Mr. Carling; but the Liberal leaders did not feel warranted in injuring the business of the city by throwing it into a prolonged and bitter political contest for the purpose of trying their political fortunes over again, even though they had a fair chance of wresting the city from their opponents. They preferred to accept defeat, and prudently bide their time, rather than hurt the interests of the city. The result has proved their wisdom. The Conservative malcontents choose another course. We shall see how they succeed. No matter what the result may be, however, the friends of Mr. Hyman will best promote the interests of their cause by continuing to maintain that excellent conciliatory, good-natured attitude which characterized their share in the general campaign. Though the vindictive character of the present proceedings are irritating, there is much satisfaction in knowing that they are not indorsed by many of the better class of Conservatives and are more likely to bring discomfiture to the would-be Bosses than to anyone else.

A HOPEFUL OUTLOOK.

As the discouraging aspects of affairs are noticeable and frequently discussed, it is the part of wisdom occasionally to look on the reverse side of the picture, not for the purpose of ignoring the defects and the possibilities of danger in the present situation, but because in order to tell the whole truth it is sometimes necessary to point out the signs of the times which are distinctly favorable and encouraging. The Christian Union lately devoted some pages to the signs of promise in the social, religious and literary worlds, of which the following is a summary.

Socially there has been an advance along several lines. Progress has been made in shortening the length of the working day. Comparatively few people on this continent have secured the eight-hour day, but the nine-hour day has become common, and the length of the working day on Saturday is very frequently shortened. Street car employes in 1880, horrible as it may seem, were obliged to work over seventeen hours a day in many places. This barbarity has ceased in nearly all of the larger cities, and a twelve-hour day has become common. During the past ten years there has been an uninterrupted advance in the whole body of laws designed to protect and improve the interests of the wage-earning classes in factories. Nearly everywhere the age at which children may be employed in factories has been raised, and the number of hours per week during which they may be employed has decreased. Since 1880 industrial and manual training has been introduced into schools; profit-sharing has greatly extended: the enormous extension of the insurance business renders the economic situation of hundreds of thousands more secure; the principle has been established that the control of the railways belongs to the Government, and not to private corporations; it has become very generally recognized that certain pursuits like the gas supply, and the street car business are natural monoplies, and that their ownership and management is a proper function of municipal governments; the principle represented by labor bureaus has only since 1880 become firmly established and generally recognized; the Fabian Society in England and the Nationalists and Christian Socialists in America have come into existence since 1880, and even one who does not believe in socialism must see in bodies of high-minded socialists like these, deprecating all wild and revolutionary proposals, evidence of a change in temper and attitude for the better.

The record of religious progress since the beginning of the century has been threefold: Toward a profounder spirituality, a larger liberty, and a greater missionary activity. That man is a free moral agent; that he can do right and is therefore blameworthy for doing wrong is the truth which more than all others the last half century has made its own. The growth of the church has been away from the purely "scientific method," with its coldness, its barrenness and its narrow limitations, toward the spiritual method, with its warmth, its fruitfulness, its broad charity and its deep convictions.

As to the advance in literary interest, the quick and superficial intellectual methods so general and so much deplored may be interpreted as a passing phase of literary development. Curiosity and a multiplicity of books generate a rapid and thin intellectual activity, but the mind fairly awakened does not rest in superficial attainments, or find satisfaction in inferior standards. There has been a good deal of fertilizing quality in this universal though desultory reading, it has prepared the way for better things. People are getting weary of the stock plot, the sham sentiment and the tawdry diction of the cheap novel. There has been an extensive reprinting in low-priced forms of books of real quality and a growing demand for such books. The association of people in clubs for purposes of serious discussion and study is becoming more and more general. In many such organizations the work is fragmentary and miscellaneous; in many it is thorough, honest, and along the best lines. But there is an undoubted advance in standards, a demand for sound and accurate, as opposed to merely popular and superficial studies.

LIQUOR LICENSES, SHOWS AND SCHOOLS.

This week we have been asked two interesting question in regard to the Ontario License Law.

One is, "How near to a fair grounds can a place licensed to retail liquors be put?"

Section 13 of the Liquor License Law provides that "the license commissioners shall not grant any certificate for a license or any certificate whatsoever whereby any person can obtain or procure any license for the sale of spirituous, fermented or intoxicating liquors on the days of the exhibitions of the agricultural associations of Ontario, the Industrial Exhibition of Toronto, or of any electoral district or township agricultural society exhibition, either on the grounds of such society or within the distance of 300 yards from such grounds."

Another query is: "How near to a public school can a tavern be licensed?"

There is no restriction on this head, but there should be. It is not desirable that taverns or saloons should be licensed in the neighborhood of schools or of school playgrounds.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

—A good deal has been written recently about the way in which cities on this side of the Atlantic grow. For an old town, the British metropolis is doing fairly well. A recent cablegram says that something like 900 houses are added to it each month.

—The publishers of the Buffalo Express say: "This paper has no friends to reward nor enemies to punish. It has no axes of its own to grind. It seeks no political favors. It is Republican in National and State politics, but always sets measures and principles above men and mere party names. It expects to succeed solely by pleasing its readers and advertisers, but it will never sacrifice truth and honesty to do even this." These are the only principles upon which a journal can expect to succeed. The newspaper that grinds axes for a living is apt sooner or later to get nothing else to do.

CAREFUL MANAGEMENT.

Canada Presbyterian.

One of the most striking things in Mr. Harcourt's budget speech is the economical way in which the people of Ontario take care of the helpless portion of the population. Out of 78 asylums for the insane in the United States, only one has a lower rate per capita for patient than the average rate in Ontario. In a group of leading asylums much like those of Ontario, the average cost per capita per week is $5 29, while in ours the average costper week is only $2 54, or less than one half.

In some of the American asylums the cost goes up to over $6 per week.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE METHODISTS IN AMERICA.

Methodist Ti mes.

Why is it that the Methodists, both in the United States and in Canada, do not exert more influence for the prevention of corruption and bribery? It is openly ascerted at this moment that millions of money have been used in the United States for illegitimate purposes; and there seems to be no doubt that Sir John Macdonald's Government have carried the election, as the editor of one of the leading Conservative papers has said, by "a system of plunder, malversation and robbery without parallel in the country's history." Now, what are the Methodists doing? They are certainly numerous enough in the United States to veto corruption in Congress. Why do not they exert themselves? Are they still so much behind the times that they do not understand it is so much a man's duty to promote purity in politics as it is to promote personal chastity? In Canada, again, multitudes of our ministers and people are supporters of Sir John Macdonald. Why do not they put down their foot upon every kind of public corruption? The Marquis of Lorne is reported to have said, some time ago, that the Methodist Church of Canada was the most powerful religious community in that great domain. Our brethren, therefore, must bear the responsibility for public corruption to a greater extent than any other organization. We cannot limit the responsibility of great national churches to the private lives of their members. They must be held responsible to man as they will assuredly be held responsible on the Day of Judgment for cleaning the Augean stable of corrupt party-politicians.

A Cow's Appetite.

Yesterday a cow owned by Mr. Blackey, Williamsville, eat 30 gallons of boiled potatoes and swelled to enormous proportions. She would have died had not Anthony McGuire, veterinary surgeon in connection with ex-Ald. Osborne's stock farm, been called in. He opened the cow, and relieving her, saved her life.—[Kingston Whig.

LADY WILLOW-WIELDERS.

Organization of the Stanley (Lady) Cricket Club.

London's New 'Cycling Club—General Sporting News.

CRICKET.

The Stanley Cricket Club, St. Thomas, has organized for the season. The officers are: Honorary president, Miss Finlay; president, Miss T. Parker; vice-president, Miss M. Reynolds; secretary, Miss A. Walker; treasurer, Miss L. Nelles; committee, Misses A. Frew, W. McKinnon, M. Campbell, M. Jones, E. Adams; captain, Miss Lenore Cutten.

THE TURF.

T. D. Hodgens will run Kitestring in Toronto in May. She is now being trained by Dan Curtin.

The famous trotting stallion Thomas Jefferson died at Hartford, Conn., last week. He was 28 years old, and was sired by Toronto Chief, dam Gypsy Queen, by a son of Sherman Black Hawk. He was bred by William B. Smith, of Hartford. He had a record of 2:23, made at Gravesend in 1875, and was the winner of a $10,000 stallion race at Buffalo and other rich stakes and purses.

The next big event of the English turf will be the Two Thousand Guineas at Newmarket on April 29. Sports have made Gouverneur the first favorite at 2 to 1. The horse has a good record, and on public form should nearly win. Lord Durham's Peter Flower is second favorite at 3 to 1, but it is thought that the Derby and not this race will be his winning journey. Col. North supplies a strong favorite in Fitzsimon, at 6 to 1, for the Jubilee Stakes at Kempton Park. The Imp, which belongs to the Prince of Wales, is also well backed at 9 to 1.

New York Sunday Press: "T. C. Patteson, of the Ontario Jockey Club, with a number of Toronto gentlemen interested in the meeting which will be held near their city on May 23, were the guests of Judge Burke at Guttenburg yesterday. Mr. Patteson is an enthusiastic sportsman who has done much to introduce and encourage the sport for its own sake in Canada. The meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club should be accepted by horsemen as preliminary to that at Buffalo. If the Canadians will accept a suggestion kindly meant it would be profitable to them. It is this: do not place the scale of weights too high. Weight easily scares the average horseman nowadays.

BASEBALL.

It is said that the Pittsburg club has paid out $8,000 in advance money.

Bishop, formerly of the Londons, has been signed by the Orleans club.

Monday's Association games: Athletics 9, Boston 3; Cincinnati 4, Columbus 3; Baltimore 8, Washington 4; Louisville 13, St. Louis 4.

The Lornes of West Lorne, Ont., the champion amateur club of West Elgin, have organized for the season with J. S. Robertson as manager and D. McKillon captain.

The Y. M. C. A. Baseball Club organized last night and is ready for business. Harry Spence is captain and James Bell secretary-treasurer. A good team will be put in the field.

Buffalo, with Bob Barr pitching, defeated New York by 4 to 3 on Monday at Buffalo. Long John Ewing and Buckley were the New York battery. New York got 6 hits and Buffalo 10, New York playing without an error in the field.

The American Association staff of umpires has already undergone changes, although the season is only a little over a week old. Bill Gleason was removed by President Kramer for incompetency, and the veteran Robert Ferguson succeeded him. Umpire Macullar resigned after one week's experience in Louisville, where he was shabbily treated by the spectators, although he gave satisfaction to the clubs; his successor is Jack Kerins.

ATHLETICS.

A trainer, who has had 30 years' experience, declares running in the open air to be the best of all exercises. He recommends "all around" work, such as boxing, hand ball, jumping and single and parallel bar exercise, these, in his judgment, being adapted to most naturally develop the body as a whole, and normally develop the exterior muscles, while at the same time benefiting the vital organs.

FOOTBALL.

An exciting scene was witnessed Saturday at a football match in Belfast. The spectators became angry at an apparently unfair ruling of the referee, and broke up the game. About 2,000 men threw down the barriers and poured into the field. The members of a visiting club were singled out for attack, and a free fight with clubs and stones ensued. The 50 policemen present were unable to cope with the rioters, and the battle went on until the arrival of reinforcements. A dozen people were badly hurt before order was restored. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of a dozen of the leading spirits in the riot.

THE WHEEL.

FIRST TURN-OUT OF THE F. C. 'C. C.

Forest City 'Cycling Club members, to the number of about 35, turned up in uniform for the first time at the club house, Carling street, last evening for a jaunt around the city. They had a pleasant little trip and report the roads in first-class condition. A vigorous 'cycling season is looked for. The road races will start shortly, and exciting contests are bound to take place. Some of the "boys" propose joining the American touring party when they arrive here and accompany them to the meeting at Detroit. The present club house will be thoroughly equipped inside and the exterior given a coat of paint. It contains a handsomely-furnished parlor, as well as dining, reading and other rooms, with a commodious basement, plenty of storage room for wheels, and every possible convenience.

THE LONDON 'CYCLING CLUB FORMED.

The second meeting of the promoters of the new bicycle club was held last evening, and resulted in the organization of the "London 'Cycling Club." Officers were elected as follows: President, N. S. Williams; vice-president, T. Knowles; secretary-treasurer, C. E. A. Webbe. A committee on bylaws was also appointed, which will report at the next meeting. By omitting club rooms at least for the present, club expenses will be kept down to a minimum, while at the same time it is proposed to make things boom in the way of enjoyable club runs and other gatherings. Another meeting will be held next week, after which organization will probably be complete, and the work of the season will be entered upon. Riders wishing to join may apply to any of the above-mentioned gentlemen, who will see that that they are proposed and ballotted for at the next meeting. It is intended that the club will join the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, and very likely an effort will be made to attend the annual meet at Hamilton in July.

TERRESTRIAL HEALING

A branch office of the Magnetic Meridian Vitapoise Company is now permanently located at 294 Dundas street, for the purpose of giving practical demonstrations of the healing virtues of the "Vitapoise," (or miniature earth.) It is the most wonderful healing instrument ever discovered. It only fails to cure the afflicted when their case is hopeless, and it makes no difference what ails you.

If you would like to investigate "TERRESTRIAL HEALING," call at the office, and Prof Reid, will cheerfully explain to you the mysteries of the subtle healing force contained in a Magnetic Meridian Vitapoise.

Separate rooms are fitted up for the treatment of ladies and gentlemen. We want every family and physician in Canada to buy a "Vitapoise," and we will accomplish our object if an afflicted member of every tenth family will give the instrument a trial, by taking a "course of treatment." Its application is absolutely painless and is also harmless; but disease will flee from before it as if driven away by magic.

Physicians! try a "Vitapoise" on one of your patients, having either la grippe, inflammation, fever, insomnia, neuralgia or rheumatism, and thereafter your "medical case" will be a secondary consideration so long as you have a "Vitapoise" with you.

Send for catalogue which fully explains everything; free. Address, The MAGNETIC MERIDIAN VITAPOISE COMPANY, 294 Dundas street, London, Ont. zxy

THE STILETTO!

Terrible Murder in Hoboken, New Jersey.

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 21.—Early yesterday morning Angelo Gaboth, of New York, murdered his mother-in-law, dangerously stabbed his father-in-law and was slain by Conoquito Chinchella, aged 18 years, a son of the murdered woman. A general melee followed, in which Gaboth's wife and her brother received stab wounds. Gaboth and his wife, who is the daughter of Chinchella, were visiting the Chinchellas. Gaboth is a worthless fellow. It is believed he visited the Chinchellas for the purpose of robbing his father-in-law. Mrs. Gaboth slept with her mother, and Gaboth with his father-in-law. In another room the sons of Chinchella, named Conoquito and Anselmo, had retired for the night. About 12:30 in the morning, Gaboth, armed with a stiletto, arose from bed and noiselessly glided into his mother-in-law's room. Leaning over the sleeping women, he plunged the weapon into her abdomen and then with a semi-circular sweep of the weapon almost disemboweled her. The woman uttered but a single shriek and died almost immediately. Her cry partly aroused her husband, but he fell asleep again. Gaboth's wife, who was sleeping with her mother, made no sound, but remained perfectly still. The blood from her mother's horrible wound literally covered her, but still she did not stir. It is believed she was well aware of what her husband was doing Gaboth after killing his mother-in-law returned to the room in which his father-in-law slept and stabbed him in the neck, but missed the vital spot, though the weapon made a jagged wound in Mr. Chinella's throat. The wounded man gave a shriek which awakened his son Conoquito, who sprang from his bed and rushed into his father's room. He was met by Gaboth, with the stiletto in his hand. Conoquito was also armed with a stiletto. The fight to death followed. Up and down the two men fought, each trying to carve the life out of the other. Gaboth's wife, hearing the struggle, ran and threw herself between the combatants, receiving two slight stab wounds. Anselmo Chinchella took a hand in the affray at this point and dragged his sister away, insisting that the two men be left to fight it out. The fight then went on unmolested. Young Chinchella proved the stronger and more active. He drove the stiletto into Gaboth's eye and into the brain. As Gaboth was falling young Chinchella drew out the weapon and quickly plunged it into Gaboth's left side, piercing the heart. Gaboth fell to the floor a corpse. The neighbors were aroused and broke into the apartments of the Chinchellas. The Chinchella boys then told the story of Gaboth's crime and of the slaying of Gaboth by one of them. Conoquito said: "I killed this man." He then put on his hat and proceeded to the police station, where he gave himself up. Old Chinchella was removed to the hospital. It is not thought he will survive.

THE WORKING WORLD.

Indiana Midland Railway Strike Settled—The Eight-Hour Movement.

The Indiana Midland Railway strike has been satisfactorily settled.

Vessel men at Racine, Wis., are having a hard time in securing help for unloading vessels on account of the regulations of a stevedores' union which has advanced rates 33⅓ per cent over last year.

While the schooner Fay was lying in the central elevator slip at Chicago on Monday fitting out with a non-union crew on board 50 men made a sudden raid on the vessel, overpowered the non-unionists and all of them were thrown on the dock and driven away.

Six hundred of the 950 laborers engaged in grading Jackson Park, Chicago, for the World's Fair struck for an increase in wages from $1 50 to $1 75 per day.

The discontent of the Kentucky union railway employes who have, it is said, been unable to get their pay for some time, has culminated in serious trouble. Unpaid employes of the road and mountaineers in Breathill county who have never been paid for their lumber wrecked the entire road in Beathill county for a distance of 25 miles. Bridges were burned and culverts destroyed. The road will be crippled for weeks, and the cost of repairing will amount to $50,000.

The men who were advertised for in Toronto to go to Chicago were to have been engaged on the World's Fair building. There were 2,000 applicants. Jones, the advertiser, left the city Friday. He admitted there might be trouble with the unions in Chicago about the 1st of May so far as the bricklayers were concerned.

The Toronto Trades and Labor Council has passed the following: "That this council is in entire sympathy with the eight-hour movement, and that in order to place such a system on a satisfactory and endurable basis legislative enactment is desirable and necessary.

Influenza Epidemic in England.

LONDON, April 21.—Influenza is raging in London. One-third of the members of the National Liberal Club and the majority of the inmates of one of the largest hotels are down with the disease. Telegrams from Leeds and Sheffield report a similar state of affairs there.

Sudbury Sales.

OTTAWA, April 21.—The "scare" dispatches regarding the effects of the new Mining Act sent out from Sudbury do not seem to be borne out by events. Mr. D. O'Connor, of Sudbury, has made a sale of his nickel mining claim to a Chicago company for $20,000, and fifteen men are to be put to work at once on the claim.

Sensational Suicide.

NEW YORK, April 21.—A young couple registered at the Grand Union Hotel on Sunday morning as P. Behraud and wife, and were assigned to room D, 8, on the third floor. At 8:30 they were found dead from gas asphyxiation. They were in bed wrapped in each others' arms. They inhaled the gas through rubber tubes, held in their mouths. On the woman's breast was a beautiful bouquet, evidently purchased for the occasion. The man was about 25 years old, and the woman 22. They left four letters, two of which were to Mrs. Miller, of 210 East Ninth street. Mrs. Miller admitted virtually that she was acquainted with the couple, and gave the impression that the name given by the young man was correct, but that the young woman was not his wife.

Reciprocity Between Spain and the States.

MADRID, April 21.—The proposed reciprocity convention between Spain and the United States contains the following provisions: In return for the privilege of free entry into the United States of Antilles sugars, molasses, coffee and hides and a reduction of the duty on tea, the United States will obtain exemption from duties on most of her raw and manufactured products and a reduction of the tariff on cereals and flour. American flour is placed upon a nearly equal footing with Spanish flour. Under the new convention American wheat, beans, lard, flour, petroleum, manufactured products and machinery will enter practically free of duty. Among other Spanish exports, olive oil will be replaced by American lard, and beans, now exported to Cuba in large quantities, will cease to be sent. The advantages resulting to Cuba will be great, but it is impossible to estimate the injury to Spanish interests.

"NO, SIR,"

WE CANNOT DO without SURPRISE." This is what every woman who uses SURPRISE Soap on washday says. Real solid merit is the reason of the popularity of SURPRISE. The whole wash, be it large or small, done clean, sweet, white—WITHOUT BOILING OR SCALDING A SINGLE PIECE. You know what this means: Saving of hard work—of fuel—of clothes themselves. It is a great economy outside of all other considerations. Be sure to use SURPRISE Soap the SURPRISE way on washday. READ the directions on the wrapper.

—Phil. Powers left for Pittsburg yesterday to umpire at the opening game to-day.

—The Christ Church Guild will repeat the Swiss Dairymaid's cantata this evening.

—The London Ornithological section report some very fine specimens secured during the past month.

—The Epworth League and Sabbath school gave a union concert last evening in Colborne Street Methodist Church.

—Mary Shapine, an old woman, was sent to jail for three months by the police magistrate yesterday. She is a vagrant.

—W. G. Collins was arraigned before Judge Elliot yesterday on a charge of stealing a watch from Hosea Purdy, of Wardsville. No evidence was offered and the prisoner was discharged.

—T. F. Kingsmill has leased the premises lately occupied by Thorn & Co., hatters, next door west of his present stand, and intends putting in one of the handsomest fronts in Western Ontario.

—Sheriff Glass was a Police Court defendant yesterday. The charge was that he erected a wooden building 14x16 feet on Queen's avenue between Maitland and Colborne streets in contravention of the fire limits bylaw. City Engineer Tracy had been summoned to give expert testimony, and gave as his opinion that the building was a breach of the bylaw. Francis Harley, of Richmond street, was up on a similar charge. Both cases were adjourned for two weeks to allow defendants to make alterations in accord with the act.

—Those incorrigible youngsters, Robert and John Brennan, aged 12 and 10 respectively, were again at the Police Court yesterday morning. Patrick Brennan, their father, said he could do nothing with them; they went away and stayed for days at St. Thomas, Toronto, Woodstock and Port Stanley. He hoped they would be sent to the reformatory, as his wife was sick and he had five other children to look after. The magistrate sentenced them to five years each at Penetanguishene, and for an indefinite period thereafter, according to their conduct. The two culprits camped with the Seventh Fusiliers in Port Stanley last summer.

Did He Steal the Horse?

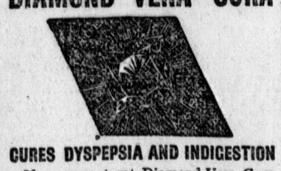

Detective Allen and Constable Crawford succeeded Monday in placing George Birrell behind the jail bars after a sharp piece of detective work. Early Monday information was received from Paris that a horse thief would be passing through the city from that place The news was imparted to the city police and indirectly reached the ears of Allen. A livery rig was secured, and that officer with Constable Crawford took the road to Lobo. They had not traveled far when they had good evidence that the man had been over the ground not long before them. It was their fortune to fall in with another man at whose house Birrell had spent the night. They passed on and at Komoka espied their man about to board a train. He was arrested and on the homeward journey it was ascertained that he had sold the horse and saddle for $5. The property was recovered and brought back to this city. The prisoner was remanded until Saturday.

The Nugents of Carriconna

An Irish Story.

By Tighe Hopkins, author of "'Twixt Love and Duty," "For Freedom," etc.

"What in the world put it into Anthony's head that he must turn astronomer I dont for the life of me know," she went on. "My dear Mrs. Lytton, the Nugents are a very queer people, and when they've money in their pockets there's no knowing what they will or what they won't do with it."

"Mr. Nugent seems rather anxious to make a large use of his money, at all events," said Dora.

"That's the very thing," said Barbara. "He'll be making too large a use of it if there's no one to hold him back; and to hold a Nugent back when he has money to get rid of is about the same as trying to put the willingness of a dog into a mule."

"I suppose Mr. Nugent knows," said Dora, "that astronomy is rather expensive amusement."

"'Deed he doesen't!" said Barbara emphatically. "And, my dear Mrs. Lytton, I'd like ye just quietly to try and put that notion into his head."

Barbara was already persuaded that Dora would prove not an enemy, but an ally.

CHAPTER X.

A HAT FROM PARIS.

This conversation, which had gone far enough to produce at all events the germ of an understanding between Dora and Miss Nugent, went no further; for Anthony's voice was heard on the terrace hailing an early visitor, and Lady Kitty brought her pony to a standstill outside the dining-room window.

"Oh, here's Lady Kitty!" said Barbara. "Now are you, Kitty? Come in here and let me introduce you to Mrs. Lytton. Kitty's a neighbor of ours," she explained to Dora. "Her mother, Lady Frayne, has Boyne Abbey, near this. You'll probably see a good deal of them; Kitty's up here most days."

Dora, whose back was to the window, turned to look at the equestrienne, but she had her pony had already disappeared. Dora had been gazing, with no special intent, at her cousin's portrait on the chimneypiece, and concluded in somewhat illogical logic, that as Mr. Arthur had been wandering two years in Africa, her ladyship's fascinations were probably not formidable. And though, when she saw Kitty instinctive admiration for everything that was pretty made her look with pleasure on those bright and dimpling cheeks and that childish perfection of person, she was still in no way taken aback.

"Lady Kitty Chevenix—Mrs. Lytton," said Barbara.

Kitty's very rustic curiosity to behold in the flesh the young widow from Paris whose introduction to Carriconna she had helped to bring about, was not in any way disguised. She devoured Dora with her eyes while tugging frantically at her small glove, and before she had tugged the glove off she knew the precise shade of Dora's sunny hair and that she, Kitty, had no dress in her wardrobe equal in style to Dora's plain white batiste, touched here and there with black ribbons.

"Catch mamma paying the washing bill for goffed frills like those!" was her ladyship's inward comment.

"How do you do?" she said to Dora. "You managed to find out Ireland?"

"Yes; I began looking it out on the map," replied Dora, whose smile it was not always easy to tell for a friendly one or otherwise.

"But you didn't find Carriconna on the map," returned Kitty, and added, in her sleeve, "I can talk repartee, too."

However, they both laughed, and the scratches were invisible.

Kitty knew no pride of birth; and as for Dora, no position of dependence could mar her rather well-developed sense of her own dignity. Besides, Dora's present position could scarcely be described as a dependent one; it was, on the contrary, one of considerable importance. Anthony and Kitty specially regard the astronomical assistant in a much more serious light than (from that particular standpoint) Madame Dora regarded herself.

"We were going," said Anthony, "Mrs. Lytton and meself, to look at this flimsy shadow of a tower. Will ye come, Kitty?"

"Yes, of course I will. You know, Mrs. Lytton, I was Astronomer Royal before you arrived. It was I who conspired with Mr. Nugent in his scheme; and Barbara, Miss Nugent I mean, has had me in her black books ever since."

"No, not a bit of it. It's the lives of you both I was afraid of; and I'm telling Mrs. Lytton just now that she'll need to have a care of her own."

"Well, I have come to the conclusion," replied Dora, "that I am prepared, I won't say to sacrifice, but to risk mine in the interests of astronomy. But I must confess that, looking at the tower from here, I can't persuade myself that the risk is a very heroic one."

"Ye'll find it a great deal less so when ye're comfortably seated above on it," said Anthony.

"Come then," said Kitty, "let us make the dreadful ascent. I wonder how many times I have made it already!"

"And I wonder in whose company?" thought Dora.

The famous tower has been briefly described in a former chapter. It had, at this period, a height of something less than eighty feet. Its original height had probably been about one hundred feet, but the upper story had long since fallen and crumbled away—crumbled by reason of age—and fallen during the storms that sometimes raged with quite extraordinary violence on the lake whose shores the tower guarded.

I have used the term stories, because, in fact, the tower had been divided into several stories, or floors, the floors consisting of very flat stone arches, which rested on the sets-off in the walls. The walls were nearly four feet thick, slightly diminishing in thickness as the tower rose in height. It had three external sets-off, with projecting weathered string courses; and the door, which was circular-headed, with a three-inch torus round it at the jamb, was placed about three feet from the ground. The masonary of the door was put together in a careful and labored manner, and finely chiseled, each stone apparently having been worked as it was required. Of the original floors, one only—the topmost—remained in a perfect condition; it had been worn absolutely flat. The floor immediately beneath it remained in an imperfect state, about two-thirds of it having fallen away from the set-off in the wall. There were stone steps within, mounted to the top, but they were newer than the rest of the structure, and doubtless the floor had formerly been reached by ladders, which were drawn up from one story to another, as occasion might require. The uppermost floor, and the imperfect one beneath it, had circular apertures in their centers, and over the aperture in the top floor a stout wooden trap-door had been placed. During recent years the tower had been strengthened at various points by iron clamps; but despite these aids, and the circumstance that it had a very slight inclination from the perpendicular, it had still a stable and enduring air.

"Oh, the sweet hot sun!" said Barbara, as they emerged upon the terrace. "I declare the summer's upon us. Mrs. Lytton, hadn't you better get your hat?"

"I brought it down with me," said Dora; it's in the hall."

Dora could certainly have had no malicious purpose in view (for in Paris she had imagined no rival at Carriconna) when she selected in a shop in that well-known street of milliners, the fairy straw hat which she fetched from a peg in the hall. It was not a useless trifle to wear under a sunshade, but a fair wide-brimmed hat, as soft as silk, with just that suggestion of a "shape"—nothing and yet everything—which only your Paris milliner can effect. But, purpose or no purpose, the Paris hat asserted itself, as everywhere at all times a work of genius must do.

"Oh!" cried Kitty, in tones of rapture; "what a beautiful, what a lovely hat!"

Dora would have liked to be able to say, "I bought it for five francs," but as it cost her more than six times that sum she had to content herself with a smiling:

"I'm glad you like it; I bought it in Paris an hour before I left."

"Yes, I am sure you didn't buy it in Dublin," said Kitty.

"Oh, but the Dublin shops are charming," said the good-natured Dora. "I walked through Sackville Street, Westmoreland Street, Dawson Street, and Nassau Street yesterday morning, and I'm sure the things in the shops there were quite as pretty as in Paris."

"No," sighed Kitty, "they don't make hats like that in Dublin; at least they never show them to mamma and me."

"Well, good-bye, to ye till ye're down from the tower," said Barbara. "I'll go and see what peas I can get for lunch."

Seven o'clock dinner, by the way, had been instituted since Dora's invitation to Carriconna.

REASONS:::

Why some Dealers Decry Domestic Manufacture.

ABOUT CIGARS.

THE majority of cigars imported into Canada are made up under different brands to the ones by which the factories are identified.

WHY? So as to permit of large profits, and compel smokers to buy at the same establishment as the majority of retailers, who handle quantities, have cigars packed under their own brands, so that they control the sale of them.

THEREBY enabling them to sell inferior goods at prices inconsistent with those asked for fine grades manufactured by recognized factories of known reputation.

SIZES denote quality in all first-class Havana factories, therefore it behooves smokers to familiarize themselves with the different sizes made by the several factories whose goods they purchase.

THE majority of these, as offered to the Canadian public, are not standard sizes, but are made and packed to imitate them.

NOTE the difference between a Reina and a size in the "Upmann" or any other first-class Havana brand and the same mark in the majority of brands that are being offered as fine goods.

FINE GOODS. It is absurd to imagine that Cigars of recognized "Vuelto Abajo" factories could be sold at prices quoted by some dealers.

VUELTO ABAJO The district of Vuelto Abajo is recognized by all tobacco dealers to be the finest in the Island of Cuba and no other tobacco is equal in quality, or commands as high a price on the market.

$1,000 00 We will forfeit the sum of one thousand dollars, to be distributed amongst the charitable institutions of this city (and every other city, where this advertisement appears), if our statement that (3) seven-eights of imported cigars brought into Canada are not of "Vuelto Abajo" tobacco can be disproved.

WE WILL forfeit a like sum for the same purpose, if our "La Cadena" brand of clear Havana Cigars is not manufactured exclusively of Vuelto Abajo Tobacco

"The Coming School of Medicine"—The Histogenetic System.

Chicago, Jan. 1, 1888.

This is to certify that I have made a thorough investigation of the Histogenetic Medicines, prepared by Dr. J. Eugene Jordan, and of his unique methods of research, and am therefore competent to form a correct judgment. I pronounce them marvelous products of the highest skill, showing an acquaintance with the natural sciences far in advance of any savant with whose works the world is acquainted. The amount of time and painstaking which the doctor has expended upon the single branch of spectroscopy is enormous, and his discoveries startling. Also having used these medicines in my own practice, I can say that their actual success in curing disease is as great as is their discovery. The revolution of the Medical science of to-day is no dream—it is at hand.

J. B. S. King, M.D., P.D.

Prof. Chem. and Toxicology, Hahnemann Medical College of Chicago.

The Histogenetic theory of reaching disease is: Rebuilding the diseased cells and tissues of the body, with the same proximate principals and fermenis, organic bodies, and so on, which are normally prepared in the body by the glands. The medicines are prepared by chemical processes, in a perfectly pure condition, and are quite tasteless. Diseases heretofore considered incurable are cured by these medicines. In acute diseases such as La Grippe, Pneumonia, Typhoid, Diphtheria, etc., the patient improves at once.

—A rare and radiant maid is she,
But mine she'll never be;
We've never been introduced, you see;
Of course that settles me:
For though I'm hurt by Cupid's dart,
The fact is very clear
That I will never get her heart
Unless I get her ear.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

This evening at the Grand Opera House Haverly's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company will give the dramatization of Harriet Beecher Stowe's famous story which has made this troupe wealthy and popular. The Utica (N. Y.) Herald says: "Haverly's Uncle Tom's Cabin Company played to a large audience in the Utica Opera House last evening, and the presentation of the time-honored drama was the best ever seen in our city. The Topsys were very good and the eccentric Marks created much laughter. A child actress who is not yet 5 years of age, Little Florence Arlington, assumes the role Eva and sustained her part nicely, the other characters were well taken, and on the whole the performance gave great satisfaction."

Sol Smith Russell.

The plan for Friday night's performance of "A Poor Relation" for Manager Kirchmer's benefit by Sol Smith Russell opened yesterday and a very satisfacory advance sale has already been made. The Boston Globe says: "There is no actor today who has greater power over the feelings of an audience, and who can more readily move them by the magic of his art to smiles and tears at will. He makes Noah Vale a natural creature, full of touches of human nature, and his trials, triumphs and tribulations strongly appeal to the sympathies of an audience. The play made a marked success last season. Since that time it has been materially improved, and in its present form was presented at Daly's Theater, at the opening of the present season. Mr. Russell's fine bit of character acting was the talk of the metropolis."

Eli Perkins.

The great humorist Eli Perkins (Melville D. Landon) will give a lecture at Victoria Hall this evening on "Philosophy of Wit and Humor." Speaking of his appearance in Toronto, Grip says: "The audience in the Y. M. C. A. Hall who heard Eli Perkins enjoyed one of the richest and raciest discourses ever delivered in Toronto. Perkins is no mere laugh maker; he is a thinker, and moreover a man whose heart is beating healthfully. His talks were genuine wisdom, and almost every instant the audience would explode with laughter. It was brainy from first to last. Henceforth Eli Perkins will be a strong card in Toronto, for not one humorist in a thousand can talk for two hours and leave the audience shouting, "Go on! Go on!" And this is what happened that evening. Come back to Toronto again." Tickets, 25 and 50 cents, can now be obtained at Nordheimer's.

What She Said.

Mrs. R. Peck, East Fifteenth street, New York city, visited Canada last year and had the good fortune to pick up something which not only suited her but her neighbors also. Writing the manufacturers of Nerviline she says: "I bought three bottles of Nerviline while in Canada and treated my neighbors to some of it, and all think it the best medicine for internal or external pain they have ever used." Nerviline deserves such a commendation, for it is a most powerful, penetrating and certain remedy for pain of all kinds. Take no substitute.

Married With Moslem Rites.

LONDON, April 21.—The first marriage with Moslem rites ever known to have taken place in England has just been recorded. The bride is the daughter of the late Judge Fitch, of Liverpool, and the groom is a barrister practicing in London, who is a full-fledged Mohammedan. As a concession to the religious prejudices of the bride, who is a Christian, the marriage service of the Established Church was first performed.

Significant Showing of Parnell's Strength.

LONDON, April 21.—In the House of Commons the Irish Land Bill makes slow progress in the committee stage. An amendment offered by Nolen (Parnellite) was defeated 202 to 5. Of five members who voted in support of the amendment two did so by mistake. This exhibition of a Parnellite strength of three members which was planned by the McCarthyites in response to Parnell's boast of Sunday that the service which he was rendering the Government would pass the bill was the occasion of much merriment.

DREADFUL PSORIASIS
Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head and shoulders being the worst. The white scabs fell constantly from my head, shoulders and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight.
