SHORIIS IS DYING.

A Victim of Consumption-His Days Are Numbered.

Contreal, Que., Oct. 4.—After much trouble the jury in the Shortis murder trial was completed yesterday and the crown counsel opened the case.

Shortis is dying of consumption. Even if he should escape from capital punishment he cannot live more than eighteen months. The doctors say that the confinement of the past nine months has so completely ruined his health that no matter if he were released consumption has taken such a firm hold upon him that he could not possibly recover. No less than four of his aunts have died from consumption, and it has been in the family for four generations. The prisoner's appearflush that tells only too surely of the disease. For the first time he showed a slight in the Bristol Channel during the renervousness when Mr. McMaster told the terrible details of the tragedy.

Rome, Oct. 4.—The fetes in honor of the 25th anniversary of the occupation of Rome by Italian troops were brought to a brilliant close last night by a great popular demonstration. King Humbert in person presented the prizes to the victors in ten shooting contests. At night the city was brilliantly illuminated, the decorations showing beautifully in the bright artificial light.

Much enthusiasm was manifested by the populace.

London, Oct. 4.-It is announced that the British Foreign Office had received official confirmation of the dispatches telling of serious rioting at Constantinople. The officials at the Foreign Onice say that such a display of savagery cannot be regarded otherwise than as a serious check upon any effort to establish better relations between the Armenians and the Turks. The Graphic says: It is impossible in the face of this serious state of affairs for the powers to proceed immediately with the scheme of Armenian reforms. The criminal folly of the Armenians has tied the hands of the authors of the scheme.

The Post says: It is all very well after the event to arraign the vehemence with which the Mohammedans retaliated against the Armenians, but all the circumstances show that a crisis affecting the peace of Europe has arisen. It is not surprising that the Sultan's guards should not have shown the discretion that would have been expected of police controlling ordinary European crowds.

The Daily News denounces what it terms the disgraceful attempt of one or two English journals to represent the Turk as a lamb and the Armenian as a wolf in this butchery, which was a mere massacre. MANY WRECKS.

MURDER AT NIAGARA FALLS. Set Upon by Toughs and Beaten to Death. Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 4.-A brutal nurder was committed on the American side of the river Wednesday night. A fish dealer from Youngstown, down the river, named John Wagner, was the victim. He came to town Wednesdey with a load of fish. After buying a lot of household supplies he went into Thomas Fitzgerald's salcon, at the north end of the city, and was set upon by a gang of toughs. Wagner ran out of the saloon and across the railway track. He fell while going up an embankment, and the ruffians set upon him and beat and kicked him into insensibility. He died last night. Four men-Fitzgerald, Calvin Theisen, Patrick Eagan and Jeremiah McCarcrime. Wagner, the murdered man, left a widow and three children.

The balance from last year was $1,-340 80, and the sums raised for the various funds were: General, $720 28; aged people's fund, $5,169 58; Women's Refuge and Children's Home fund, $917 51; Home for Incurables, $1,101 42, and relief of city poor, $278 50. The report of the visiting and relief committee was presented by Mrs. E. Hopkins. The work of the year had been increased considerably by the removal of the car shops from the city, which caused widespread and alarming distress among the working classes. During the first three months of the year want of employment among the workers in the city and intensely cold the utmost of its ability in its endeavors to discharge its duties, and as far as possible to alleviate the present and one of his fingers was crushed. distress. Twenty-three families in London South were looked after, but the greatest amount of distress prevailed in the southern section of No. 5 ward. The most hearty thanks of the committee were tendered to all who had assisted either by donations or otherwise. Four deaths had occurred among families who were being cared for. One woman who was subjected cruel treatment by her husband had suicided. A large quantity of goods had been furnished to 98 families, comprising 367 persons—an increase of 4 families and 124 members in the year. The visits numbered 850, an increase of 33, with 328 more garments distributed than during the past year. The amount expended for relief was $627 43. The visiting committee to the Home for Incurables stated that there were

The election of officers resulted in the return of last year's staff, with the exception of the second vice-president. The officers are:

President-Mrs. Robert Reid, sen. First Vice-President-Mrs. Carfrae. Second Vice-President-Mrs. Peto. Secretary—Mrs. M. Patullo.
Assistant Secretary—Miss Kennedy.

Treasurer-Mrs. D. S. Perrin. Advisory Board—Mayor Little, Col. Lewis, J. H. Fraser, J. H. Flock, John Labatt, C. F. Complin, Ald. A. B. Powell, Thomas McCormick, the Bishop of Huron, John Wright and M.

The working committees were reelected with a few additional members, and the meeting was closed with a few remarks from the president, who hoped that the coming year's work would far exceed that of the past. THIS LOOKS FISHY.

Reported that Corbett and Fitzsimmons Will Fight in Canada.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 3 .- It is commonly reported in the innermost circles that arrangements are rapidly progressing to pull off the great prize fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons in a secluded spot near Frederickton, N.B., and it is stated that a party of prominent sporting men have been in New Brunswick the past ten days arranging for the battle. The location is said to be about 30 miles east of Fredericton, on the property of a well-known English gentleman, who is a sportsman of considerable note. A prominent Boston sporting man says the plans are such that the New Brunswick officials would be all at sea if they attempt to prevent the battle. Although he would not impart positive knowledge, and would not give names for fear of publication, yet he declared it was all fixed. Rushing the Railway,

The Street Car Company Will Put Another Gang to Work

On Richmond Street—Permission Granted by the Board of Works-Business Transacted.

At a meeting of the Board of Works last night, Manager Carr, of the street railway company, asked permission to tear up Richmond street north for the electric rails. He found it necessary to place another gang at work if the system was to be electrified before the snow fell. Mr. Carr was given the desired permission on condition that he replaces the cedar blocks as fast as the track is laid.

The city engineer reported that the street railway company intended crossing the Wharncliffe bridge at once. It was not in fit condition, he thought, and the electric railway would endanger traffic, in the bridge's present condition. It was Grand Trunk property, and the consent of the Grand Trunk was necessary before the railway could cross it. This permission, Manager Carr said, the city should procure for the street railway company.
The question will be discussed at Monday's council meeting, as the company want to push construction there. There was a long discussion on the question of diverting Hunt's millrace from the corner of Ridout and Horton streets, and grading the roadway there suitable for the electric railway. The street railway company offered to do the job for $400. Ald. O'Meara said the work would greatly improve the company's property at the corner, through which the millrace runs, and he did not see why the city should pay for it.

It was decided to offer the company $200 to do it, provided the roadway between Victoria bridge and Horton street was widened to 66 feet. The Edward street drain difficulty will be referred to the council Monday night. As there is a sewage suit pend-ing the board hesitated to lay the required drain. The residents claim their cellars are flooded several months in the year. The engineer will open a drain on Evergreen avenue, South London, to try to flush it. At present it floods Mr. J. S. Pearce's trial gardens.

Ald. Wm. Heaman pointed out that the electric rails on the new York street bridge would be seven inches higher than the road level. The engineer will endeavor to have them lowered.

Ald. O'Meara thought the citizens should get the discarded blocks from the pavements. He understood they were being carted into the country. The engineer promised to send a police-

The Pioneer of Middlesex Again a Great Success.

Probably the Best Exhibition of Roots in Canada.

Although Old, the Fair Is Yet Vigorous and Healthy.

Two Men Who Were at the First Westminster Show-The Attendance Numbers 2,000.

The Westminster Agricultural Society fall show, the pioneer exhibition of its class in Middlesex was held yesterday on Andrew Routledge's farm at Lambeth. It was just as successful this year as in former years, the attendance reaching about 2,000 during the latter part of the afternoon. The weather was delightful. Good weather is absolutely necessary for the Westminster fall show as all the exhibits are laid out on the ground, and if rain prevailed the show would have to be postponed. This fair is charmingly free and easy, and attracts many Londoners. Farmers exhibiting at the show bring along their stuff and lay their vegetables evently in a row along the inside of the low fence. Of course people who are near enough to do so can get just as good a look from the other side of the fence, but few try it. Then after attending to the vegetables the farmer, if he has any, can stand his chicken coop along with the other egg producers in the fence corner. If he has cattle he can turn them to graze in the orchard, and if he shows horses there is a third of a mile track freshly made through stubbles and corn. And when the farmer goes home, late in the afternoon, he takes all of his things home with him. Judges stand up and shout loudly for the class of cattle or horses they seek to judge, and are not at all proud or weak-lunged. Of course there are no trials of speed at township fairs. Oh, no! The law will not allow that. But in judging horses the law does not say that "style, speed and value" shall not be taken into consideration, and the Westmin-ster Agricultural Society generally manage to offer a "special class" of prizes in roadsters. And to test the speed in awarding the prize the track is made use of and sometimes very exciting heats are necessary. But of course there are no trials of speed allowed. The showing of horses, particularly of a light and general purpose character was not quite up to former years. Cattle, sheep and swine was well up to and in some instances slightly above the average, while the vegetable display was unequalled at any fair in Canada. This is accounted for by the fact that the roots have had nearly three weeks' longer growth than those shown at early fairs, and the time was when the roots grow best and most. There was a fairly good supply of fruit, considering the season, but a considerable falling off was plainly noticeable in the ladies' work. One of the chief contributors to this display, Mrs. (Dr.) Routledge, is said to have not shown this year owing to the ver serious condition of Mr. Routledge's

The Westminster Fair has been bobbing along serenely for about 50 years, and a couple of old gentlemen were on the grounds yesterday who were present at the very first of these fairs.
"I well remember the day." said James Beattle, of con. 6, Westminster, yesterday. "I was quite a youn then, and made 25 cents driving a of oxen to the fair for old John Elliott. It was a bitter cold day, but tents were plentiful, whisky was about in abundance, and large log fires were kept burning. Any hotelkeeper was permitted to sell whisky on the grounds in those days, and they came from miles around to sell. The first prizes ever given by the society were quantities of whisky." Mr. Robert Nixon, of con. 1, was another old resident who was at the first fair and at the exhibition yesterday. Both Mr. Nixon and Mr. Beattie look hale and hearty, and are evidently good for many more

GOOD SHOWS

At Essex, Mitchell, Ingersoll, Forest and Kincardine.

ESSEX-The tenth annual fair of Essex county closed on Thursday and in every respect has been the most successful in the history of the great Southwestern.

MITCHELL-The Mitchell show was held on Thursday. The exhibit in roots and vegetables was in excess of any previous year, and of excellent quality. The display dies' work and domestic manufactures was the finest in many years, while the show of live stock was fully up to that of former years. There was a very large attendance, Hon. Thos. Ballantyne, ex.M. P. P., and Wm. Pridham, M. P., were present. Financially, it was a great success. Entries, 1,200.

INGERSOLL-Fine weather favored the ngersoil fair, and the attendance at the annual show of the North and West Oxford Agricultural Society was larger than for many previous years. All the classes were well filled, and the exhibits were very superior in quality as well as quantity. The display of horses and cattle was very fine. There were large numbers of Jerseys in the latter class. In roots the display was large and of most excellent quality. The show of fruit was not large, owing to the devastation caused by spring frosts, but the specimens shown were exceptionally fine. Taken altogether, it was certainly the best show that has been held in Ingersoll in many FOREST UNION-The annual Fall Fair of the Forest Union Agricultural Society was held Tuesday and Wednesday and was the best show ever held at Forest. The number of exhibitors was 227, and they made 2,575 entries. The exhibits in ladies' work, vegetables and grain were the best ever seen here, while live stock in all classes was ahead of former years. The attendance was 4,000, the gate receipts, exclusive of members' fees, being $385.

KINCARDINE-Fine weather favored the Kincardine Agricultural Society Wednesday, the second day of their annual exhibition. A procession of 500 school children marched from the market square to Lansdowne Park, where the exhibition was held. A large number of farmers, their wives and children were also in attendance. The display of roots and cereals was the best ever seen here. The exhibition of horses, cattle and manufactures, ladies' fancy work, etc., was up to the average, but there was a marked falling off in the quality and quantity of fruit on exhibit. On the whole the fair was a success.

WEST ELGIN-Fine weather favored the thirty-fifth annual exhibition of the West Elgin Agricultural Society, at Wallacetown on Wednesday. The crowd was larger than for many years past and the exhibition was a decided success.

Deputy Reeve Murdoch Will Not Sign London West's Tax Bylaw

Unless the Reeve Resigns-Another Meeting of the Council, at Which rlain Talk Is Used.

"I will never sign that bylaw as long as Mr. Macdonald is reeve of the village. Let him resign his office and I will sign it right away."

Such was the declaration of Deputy-Reeve Murdock at the meeting of the London West council last night in the presence of about 30 ratepayers. The meeting was called specially to allow of the signing of the tax rate bylaw, Ewe lamb-1 and 2 W. H. Beattie; 3 and filled with the expectation and hoping that the document would be signed, and the last scene in the monotonous tax rate show enacted, the village ratepayers turned out in halfdozens. It was known that the signature of the reeve would not go on the bylaw, but it was common talk that Deputy-Reeve Murdock would attach his name to it and order the filling of the collector's rolls. But when Mr. Murdock declared himself in the above terms there was disappointment on some hands, while other men were unconcerned. Reeve Macdonald was not at the meeting, neither was he on Tuesday Mr. Murdock took the chair and called for the bylaw, which had been prepared fixing a general rate at 17 3-4 milis, and a school rate of 8 1-4 mills. It was produced and opinions on the question of signing it were asked. As these were not forthcoming the councilmen began to talk over the absence of the reeve. "It is very plain that he doesn't want to be here, said Councilor Hamilton, sharply. "As reeve he is not doing a manly thing." Mr. Murdock thought it was only a piece of stubborness on the part of the reeve because he could not have his own way. "But," and Mr. Murdock made his declaration re the bylaw, and as though to emphasize what he said he brought his fist down on the table. Not a word was said for a time. The ratepayers looked at each other. Councilor Hamilton looked at Councilor Andrews with one eye and winked the other at the deputy, while Councilor Moore, who was alone in the matter, caught his wind.

Finally he urged the signing of the bylaw, but Mr. Hamilton considered it would be more manly for the reeve to Mr. Murdock thought the reeve had acted in a very unmanly way.

Mr. Moore—Then why do you want him to do something you will not do yourself? You dare not sign it your-

Mr. Hamilton-We dare do it ourselves, but we want the reeve to do his duty. Mr. Murdock-But he is so pigheaded that he will not give in.

Mr. Hamilton-Well, he will have to be either a man or a mouse. Mr. Moore reiterated previous statements made that the reeve would not sign the bylaw unless it was struck at 33 mills, which he claimed would make ample allowance for the sinking fund. "That is all bluff," said Mr. Ham ilton. "And I am not going to do Mac-donald's dirty work," was the deputy-reeve's reply. Mr. Moore (leaning over the table and shaking his head)-You "dare" not sign it, although you told your colleagues that you would if the reeve persisted in his refusal.

Mr. Murdock-Never, as long as Macdonald is reeve; never!
As nothing was likely to be done Councilor Moore once more moved that the debentures be consolidated and the rate fixed at 23 mills. There was no seconder, and the crowd filed out as some person shouted "Adjourned!" Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during leep. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get his to pro-

The People Are Too Apt to Imagine Themselves Slaves to Disease.

It Is a Mistake to Pour Down Medicine for the Simple Ills of Life.

Common complaints are often the most dangerous. This is so because they are generally disregarded and ultimately become chronic, or lead to more serious complications. Take, for example, constipation of the bowels. There is no more general a complaint known to man, and yet it is lightly thought of, and passed over. The fact remains that thousands of our best men and women are slaves to supposed diseases, which baffie all skill, because the seat of the trouble is not reached Nature needs nature's remedies, which is common sense, as all will recognize. Would our symptoms be out of order most of the time were it not for our stomachs and what we take into them? Ask your physician the most common of all foundation for the ravages of disease and from which grows languor, dizziness, nervousness headaches, sallow and bad complexion, and in fact almost all the ills that afflict manking, and he will tell you, "CONSTIPATION." To cure it permanently it must be done carefully and without the use of violent drugs, and the only safe and best cure known at the present time is Karl's Clover Root Tea, which is composed entirely of herbs, nature's greatest remedies. As a spring medicine it cannot be equaled, and the words below from a well known Ohio man testify to the facts: New Vienna, O., May 12, 1894.

Messrs. S. C. Wells & Co., Le Roy, N. Y.—Gentlemen: For some years I have been troubled with a skin disease which was very annoying. I tried several so-called blood purifiers, but without avail. At last I was induced to try Karl's Clover Root Tea,, and am happy to say it was just the medicine I needed. My doctor was astonished at the cure, and says there must be great merit in such a medicine. Karl's Clover Root Tea is marvelous in its effect, and deserves all the praise given it. I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers from aggravated or chronic cutaneous affections. Very respectfully yours, A. H. HUDSON.

The American projectors of this boon to mankind have unbounded faith in this great regulator of the bowels, and from the wonderful cures worked by it as attested by hundreds of testimonical unhesitatingly recommend it to all su ferers. Karl's Clover Root Tea may be obtained at W. T. Strong's, Samples

HON. WILFRID LAURIER'S PRE-EMINENT ABILITIES RECOG-NIZED BY HIS OP-PONENTS.

With defeat staring the men in power at Ottawa in the face, the decree has gene forth that a last effort must be save them. That effort is a journalist apologist of the high tax leaders. It attempts to throw the blame for the present unsatisfactery condition of affairs on Hon. Mr. Laurier and the Liberal party. "The friends of trade freedom do not wish to fight the election on the political record of the men in power," is its argument; "they want to have a sectarian war; therefore, they have not settled the Manitoba school question." Was there ever a grosser travesty of the facts? Mr. Laurier did not keep the Manitoba school question unsettled for years; the men in power have done so

Mr. Laurier did not refuse to settle the Manitoba school difficulty; he has not yet been given the power to do so; he has permitted his opponents to have a free hand, in hope that they would do selection from the piece, "To One Who so, or withdraw their foolish remedial order, and permit Manitoba to act freely. The leading Conservative paper in Quebec, La Minerve, pleads that the seat vacated by Mr. Girouard, M.P., ought to be filled without any "political divisions." It is anything to avoid a straight fight these days. La Minerve recollects that the seat held by the late Sir John Thompson was captured by a Liberal as soon as he died, while the Conservative majority in Westmoreland, which was over 2,000 five years ago, was almost wiped out in the recent bye-election. Though the Conservative majority in Jacques Cartier was several hundred when last the seat was contested, there is no telling how big the Liberal majority will be in the coming contest!

Before he left London for Oxford University, Mr. Arthur J. Stringer isreflect the greatest credit on him. Some of the verses have the impress of hurry, but many beautiful thoughts are embodied in others. Here is a worthy Sorrowed at Transient Silence":

The stone that gleams beneath the Takes on a two-fold brilliancy; Till held within two curious hands, The gazer never understands How much the green translucent wave Unto the sea-stone beauty gave. There is a light illumines not: And better to remain untaught, Than barter for some idle lore The old enchantment held of yore. Cast back that pebble in the sea You gathered up so hastily, And in its watery depths afar. Still make the stone once more a star.

Another strong poem is that entitled "Lovers," which reads:

The soul of a man, like a wind-blown Was wafted up to the brink of heaven It shrivelled and grayed in its abject Where the golden bars were seven.

'Poor soul," said the Angel of Life, "why weep?-Why prone by the golden bars? Glide in through the gate to the Land

Be lulled by the song of the stars."

And turned to his old-time earth:
"No land of eternal dreams for me, Nor the vale of eternal mirth;

But give me that gray-eyed girl again, That I loved on my ancient earth: Then cast us down to the great Inane, And exact what the love is worth." "Strange!" said the Angel of Life,

As she counted a century's span, And two souls sank through a far-off cloud:

aloud.

There is genius in this effusion, which may develop into a high order. It is apparent that in the race for preeminence in Canadian verse-making our talented fellow-townsman must be reckoned with. Will the historic halls of the great English university afford congenial soil for a further growth of his genius?

> SCHOOL STRAP REVIVAL. The strap revival is the latest phase of Toronto school management. In the earlier days the strap was the chief institution of the school, and was among the most lasting memories of the plastic period of learning. ARE OUR INDIANS JAPS?

A "Congress of Americanists" will assemble in the City of Mexico on the 15th inst. The gathering will be called on to pronounce upon one remarkable paper-that written by Leopoldo Batres, official curator of Mexican antiquities. Mr. Batres will attempt to demonstrate that Mexico was originally peopled from Africa and Asia. He will present an Indian of each of the various races now existing in the country, of Ottomi, Tarasco, Maya, Aztec, etc., origin, with a Chinaman and a Japanese, and show viva voce the similarity of languages. Mr. Batres will attempt to show that the Mayas of Yucatan are of Japanese origin, the Tolteos of Chinese origin, and that some of the other races are of Hindoo extraction. The linguistic test will be the Lord's Prayer, recited by each of his living Indian specimens, so that comparison of their languages can be made practically by the congress. According to the Mexican Herald, it is the opinion of the learned antiquarian that the Mexican Indians are mainly of Mongolian origin, and pertains, as he terms it, to the yellow

The culinary interests are treated in the Housekeepers' Inquiry Department, where a large number of good recipes are given. THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Dun & Co.': Weekly Review of the State of Trade in Canada.

Toronto, Oct. 4 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s

weekly statement of trade in Canada says: In Montreal the wholesale distribution partakes of a moderate steady character in such leading staples as groceries, dry goods, hardware, cements, wood, etc., but in grounds for complaint, but important failures are few, and improvement in remittances is reasonably looked for when farmers get through their fall field work and the marketing of crops becomes more general. Cotton and woolen fabrics show steady advance, and wool is firmer, though it has been found impossible to establish on spot the quiet, strong advance shown by the series of sales now in progress in London. Sugar, Japan and Indian black teas, show a hardening. In hides there is a disposition to ease off. Dairy products do not improve in value. For hay there is increasing American inquiry.

There is no special feature of importance to note at Toronto this week. The wholesale trade has been quiet, but there is an undertone of confidence which bodes well for the future. Payments are fair. There is a firmer market for wheat, with an advance of 2 cents for the week. The receipts of barley are unusually small, and the outlook is gloomy. The quantity of malting or exportable barley this year is smaller than ever, owing to discoloration by bad weather during harvest. In fact they have better barley across the border than we have, and the shipments will be light. The bulk of the Ontario crop is likely to be fed to live The sugar market is very firm, and netals also show a tendency to advance. Leather is a shade easier in many lines, and hides have been reduced. Money is abundant and easy. Commercial paper is discounted at 6 to 6 1-2, and call loans are quoted at 4 to 4 1-2 per cent. The failures for the week are 41, as against 29 for the same week of last year.

GUELPH DEFEATS LONDON.

Between 200 and 300 people shivered through the exhibition game yesterday at Athletic Park, between the champion Maple Leafs and the London Alerts. The temperature may have been favorable for playing ball, but there was no fun watching it. The game yesterday was hardly one to warm the spectators. It was rather a dreary exhibition. The monotony was relieved occasionally by Snider's kicking and his three-base hits, but it never sensational. The bught to have won it. Sheere pitched good ball, and had he received the same support as Bradford would have won hands down. Sippi's two errors in the first innings were responsible for three of four runs, but "Doc." warmed up after that and played with his oldtime ginger. Burton put up a great game at first, accepting 17 chances without an error. A feature was Congalton's fine catching in center and his remarkable throws to the plate, where he caught one man. THE SLEEP OF INFANCY.

May Come of It. Sleep is regarded as the time when only of adults this is so; with children, however, the matter is different. The actual fact of sleep is good, but the matter of sleep is not always so by any means, for, during these periods of repose, a child may contract a habit of position which will cause a lasting deformity. In the first place, children are often put to sleep always on the same side. The mother finds them less restless so, and thoughtlessly lays them that way. Sometimes this re tlessness is caused by physical defects, but it mainly arises from habit. No creature on earth is more liable to habit than a tiny, soft baby, that you wouldn't think could possess any distinct quality. A mother, for some reason peculiar to herself, finds it most convenient to place the little one on its left side, we will say, for about three days; when the fourth day arrives master baby decides there is something wrong if he is put on his right side, and forthwith begins to squirm and twist until he fidgets himself awake. Mamma places him on the other side, and he serenely settles himself.

Constantly lying on one side will make a difference in the size of the limbs upon that side, and will even cause that side of the face to remain smaller than the other. Children will also draw up one leg in their sleep. This, too, becomes a fixed habit, and by the time the child has learned to walk a difference in the length of the two lower limbs will be noticed, a misfortune which might have been avoided had the mother been careful to watch the habits of the sleeping baby. In the bringing up of children it is not so much the care over larger things that counts, but the constant watchfulness against the "little foxes that destroy the vines."-Woman's Journal.

THAT MAN MONKEY. The Fossil Not the So-called Missing

Link,

But Its Discovery May Throw Light on the Evolution of the Human Race.

New York, Oct. 3.—The annual summer exploring party from the American Museum of Natural History returned home yesterday. The party was under the leadership of Prof. sides, Prof. Irving, of Columbia College, and several attaches of the museum. Prof. Wortman said yesterday in regard to the trip just completed:

"We first went to the Utah basin, and, after a few weeks there, crossed the Uinta range and began explorations in the Washakie region, sometimes called also the Bitter Creek Desert. Our object in going there was to secure remains of an animal once quite common in that region and known to science as the Uintatherion. "Remains of other forms are found in these deposits, and one which long has been known to paleontologists is that of a low type of monkey, or a lemur, living species of which exist in Madagascar. The remains of these fossils hitherto discovered consisted of entrentely fragmentary and isolated parts of the skeleton. The find which we made last summer, and which has been widely written about as the missing link, was a complete skull of one of those monkey-like creatures which Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Condy, of Guelph, have gone to their new home with their son Joseph, near Walkerton. Mr. Condy had been a resident of Guelph for 38 years, and for 23 years was sexton of the condy had been a resident of Guelph for 38 years, and for 23 years was sexton of the condy had been a resident of Guelph for 38 years, and for 23 years was sexton of the condy had been a resident of think the condy had been a resident of think the condy had been a resident of think the condy had been a resident of the condy had been Mr. Condy had been a resident of inclined to think the animal it belonged to was a true monkey. If sexton of the Congregational this proves to be the fact it will give very interesting data respecting the rise of the monkey tribe, as well as its early connection with the next lower monkey-like forms of the lemurs.' Then this fossil is a link, though not the one neded to establish the connection between man and the ape?" "Yes, its discovery may have a bearing on the evolution of the human race, but, of course, it isn't the missing link as that phrase is popularly understood. I have never made any statement which could be taken as justifying such a claim, and if I had I would only have made myself ridiculous among scientists. In fact, Wyoming would be about the last place a scientists in search of the missing link would go, because none of the higher forms of monkeys are to be found on this continent.

"The Wyoming fossil is a specimen extremely interesting to the scientist, and the only one of the kind ever found. It will be prepared and studied and, later on, will be put on exhibi-

"There's no doubt about the antiquity of this specimen, is there?"
"Not a bit. From twenty years' experience I claim to be able to distinguish the difference between a petrified skeleton and a recent one. is not the slightest doubt that this is a genuine fossil. It belongs to the cene formation of the region in which it was found. There has been, and still is, a lot of nonsense written about the missing link," continued Prof. Wortman, "but scientists are not worrying themselves greatly about it, and I am not sure that we can properly speak of a missing link at the present time. The discovery of the man-like ape of Java in deposits which are now generally admitted to be of the Pliocene age-the period immediately preceding man-goes a long way toward deciding the true anatomical position of the famous Neanderthal skull, which was also heralded as the missing link. There have been many bitter discussions over this famous relic, and opin-ion has been much divided as to whether it belonged to a man of inferior capacity or was the representative of a race of men of low brain develop-With the discovery of the Java specimen and other remains at Spy, Belgium, we have now three widely separated and distinct examples of a race of men, who, there can be little doubt, were the immediate progenitors of the human family, and who, so far their ancestry is concerned, stood half way between the anthropoid apes and the human species. When we speak of links in the chain of human ancestry we cannot stop with the anthropoid ape, but we must bring it into direct association wth the lower forms of monkeys. The time has now arrived when we can say with an extreme degree of plausibility that there are no anatomical differences in the war of constructing a

Ottawa (Special), Sept. 30.—An American who has been here interviewing the members of the Government on private business has left for Toronto, where it is understood he will try and make arrangement with the Dodd's Medicine Company, of that city, for the establishment of a manufactory of Dodd's Kidney Pills in New York State. He declined to specify the locality. During his stay in Ottawa he has been investigating the now celebrated case of G. H. Kent, who was saved by this remedy when in the last the invitation of the house of bishops to stages of Bright's disease, and has satisfied himself of the genuine nature of the case. He asserts that the medicine is now universally used throughout the State.

WE DON'T FOLLOW in the wake of our competitors. We have struck out in new paths. We buy and sell for spot cash, and so can afford to sell cheaper than anyone else in the furniture trade. Come and see for yourself. KEENE BROS., Conference, now in session in this city, was at first tabled, but afterwards passed.

Black Dress Goods

Most excellent is the word, We get it for all points. Every day adds to the number. Each sale is a lasting advertisement; better than all the puff of printers' ink. We pride ourselves in selling merchandise with the proper ring; no spurious substances in the materials we sell. The dyeing is a special feature in all our Black Dress Fabrics -pure Sandringham Black Dye. No loading with chemicals to give weight to the fabric, at same time destroying largely its wearing qualities.

Prices

We will give but few; and to name many of the new cloths would convey no idea of their beauty and excel-

GRAIN CROP OF THE WORLD. Washington, Sept. 27.—Consul-General Max Judd, of Vienna, has forwarded to the Department of State a report on the grain crop of the world for 1895, compiled from the report of the international fair, which Mr. Judd commends as trustworthy. The abstract furnished by Mr. Judd shows that the wheat, rye, barley and oats crops of Europe are somewhat below the average, while corn is exceedingly promising, and it is expected that the yield will be one-half again as large this year as it has been on an average for ten years. Canada shows an increase of about 6,000,000 meter centners in wheat, while India shows a loss of about double that quantity, both as compared with 1894. Most of the Russian provinces indiincrease in wheat and rye. The Austria-Hungary wheat crop is poor in quality and less in quantity than usual. A ighter wheat crop is also indicated in the United States. The French wheat crop is estimated at 98 per cent, rye at 105 and cats at 95 per cent of the average. The wheat crop of Great Britain and Ireland is put down as poor, and is estimated at from 40 to 50 per cent of the average. The English barley crop will be better than the wheat crop, but the quality will be poor. Egypt will export considerable wheat. It is anticipated that the loss on wheat in India and the United States will be compensated for by the gain in Canada and Russia, and that, taking this crop throughout the world, the result for the year will be about equal to the average season.

The cut of the Chaudiere lumber mills will this season be at least 15,-000,000 feet behind that of last year.

FOUND A SKELETON. Some time ago Mr. Samuel Yelland, Oak street, London West, was burned out. Lately the foundations of a new house have been in course of erection slightly nearer the river bank than the former house was. Yesterday one of the diggers unearthed a skeleton, which Dr. Hutchinson claims to be the bones of an Indian maiden about 16 years old. He says they have lain in the ground for about 10 years.

FIRE IN LONDON WEST. Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning the two-story brick veneer residence of Mr. Edward F. Johnston, 22 Oak street, London West, was burned to the ground with a portion of the contents. Mrs. Johnson and her daughters were the only persons in the house when smoke began to fill every room. First it was thought the chimney draft was not working properly, but investigation proved that the attic and a large quantity of clothing stored therein were in flames. As the village has no fire fighting appliances and the formation of a bucket brigade could not be effected in short order, the family paid all attention to the household effects. The upstairs was first cleared and then the piano, and other costly articles of furniture were removed to points of safety. Nothing was done to save the building, of which nothing was left in an hour but charred walls and timbers. The exact cause of the blaze is not known. It is supposed to have originated from a defective chimney in the attic. The loss, which is covered by insurance will be heavy. Mr. Johnston, who is inspector for the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company, is out of the city, and his exact whereabouts are unknown to the family.

When Miss Masie entered the room Watsie's heart began to thump as if had been running a foot race with Call Root, the fastest runner in town. and when she took her seat, directly in front of him, Watsie felt as he thought thieves must feel, for it was his purpose to pick up her library book when she dropped it in the seat beside her, look over it, as if he wondered whether he might like it himself, and then slip into it, directly upon the rd on which each person drew a ok, the poem intended to bring one affair to the conclusion desired the entire town, barring the few young women who themselves preed Lincoln Brace to any young took much tricky maneuvering to t the bock, for Miss Masie placed between her and Grace Truston, an stimable young woman, who had been the town's choice for Lincoln Brace before Miss Masie appeared, and for a moments Watsie was in doubt which book was which, but his mind was finally relieved by the pretty teacher herself, who took the book and ced it upon the seat at her right. Watsie acted quickly, although none too soon, for no sooner had he obtained it than the young woman rself looked around inquiringly, and Watsie had barely time in which to slip the verse between the card and moment later Miss Masje collected remaining books of the class and piled them on top of her own, and Watsie thanked his stars that he had acted so promptly. Soon Lincoln Brace came for them; the lessons had already begun; but Watsie went so deeply into his own mind in wonder as to what Lincoln would do and feel when he read that verse and learned from whom it came that he gave his answers as stupidly as if he had never

Then he longed for the librarian's appearance with the new books, and when he saw Lincoln his heart gave a what Watsie did for years and years. joyous bound, for the young man looked as happy as he had done on the day when the Plumville postoffice had been raised from third-class to Give me a man with an aim, ond class and his salary had been increased. Indeed, he looked so very happy that Watsie, for the first time his life, longed for the day when loved him, although he informed nimself that somebody else should not have to help the matter along—no, in-leed. As Lincoln approached and placed beside Miss Masie the books called for by her class Watsie leaned forward a bit, for it seemed to him that the young man ought to say something to the point, right then and there. But he didn't; he merely dropped the books and hurried away. After Sunday school Watsie visited his invalid friend and reported progress, telling just how Lincoln Brace had looked and acted, and the invalid who was a year or two older than Watsie, and therefore thought he knew how lovers ought to act, declared that It was a "sure thing," and that when Lincoln himself became postmaster it they tell him how they had helped Watsie had been entirely unselfish in his desire to marry the pretty teacher to the assistant postmaster, but the idea that he might one day become a clerk in the postoffice, a position to which all wide-awake Plumville boys aspired, swelled in his mind until he could not keep quiet, so he took a very long walk. It was good that he did, for in a quiet street, where many poor people lived, and where, consequently, the sidewalks were about as uneven as the ways of the wicked, he came face face with the pretty teacher, who as leaning against a tree and looking was quite likely that he would make boys clerks in the office, should

"Oh. Watsie," she exclaimed, "I'm so slad to have some one come along. I've turned my foot on this wretched sidewalk, and it pains me so that I can't walk. Do you suppse you could a carriage somewhere to take me

"Certainly," replied Watsie; then he started on a run for Lincoln Brace's house, intending to tell the young man all about it, and ask him to go to a livery stable for a carriage, and make assurance doubly sure regarding his effair with Miss Masle. But Lincoln was not at home, and as Watsie wondered where he himself could soonest get a horse and buggy, who should he see coming down the street behind a spirited team but Capt. Stiles. An in-born sense of chivalry suggested at once to Watsie that if the captain could not marry the pretty teacher he would feel better all his life if he could have the privilege of being of any assistto her when she was in trouble. so Wastle ran into the road, threw up his hand, stopped the captain, and told him what had happened.

"I'm just the man she needs," was the reply. "Jump in." Two minutes later Watsie found himself very sorry for the captain, for that young man spoke so tenderly to the sufferer, and lifted her so carefully and gently into the carriage, that the boy wondered how the captain could ever recover from his disappoint-

The next morning while on his way to school, which led him past the post-office. Watsie was stopped by Lincoln Brace, who said: "Watsie, you're a smart young fel-low and know how to hold your tongue;

You'll promise never to tell a word of what I am going to say to you?" "I promise," said Watsie.

"Well," said Brace, "I found a poem in Grace Truston's library book yesterday, and the consequence is that she and I are engaged to be married, and I don't care who knows it, for I'm the happiest man in the world; I've had my heart set on her for a year or two. But I've found out that she didn't write the poem, and we've made up our minds that it was done for fun, by some girl in her Sunday school class or some boy in yours, for no-body else could have handled the book. Now, as you're in school, and know the writing of most of the scholars, I want you to find out, if possible, who did it, because Grace and I will be that person's truest friends for life." Watsie felt as if the ground was sinking under his feet and the top of his head was soaring into the clouds, but he recovered his self-control enough

"Well-if that's the way you both feel-I wrote that myself and put it into the book, thinking it was—"
"Bless you, my boy. As for Grace, don't be surprised if she hugs your head off."

Watsie went on to school, but not as happily as he wished, for how bad the pretty teacher would feel when she learned that Lincoln was another's. Evidently she did not yet know it, for she was brought to school in Capt. Stiles' carriage, and the captain himself carried her in and placed her in her chair, and, despite her helplessness and probable pain, she looked prettier and cheerier than ever. Watsie did not have much time in which to be sorry for her, for he was startled by hearing

Can you, and will you, excuse like very much to have him with me for an hour or two for a very-ahema very important purpose. The pretty teacher looked at Watsie as kindly as if the boy had given her instead of Grace Truston, to Lincoln Brace, and said: "Watsie, you are excused." "Jump into the carriage," said the captain, as the two left the school house. There was a flourish of the whip and within two minutes the couple were outside the village limits; then the captain slackened his speed and "My dear boy, I'd like to do something very splendid for you, for yesterday you gave me the chance of my

"How-how was that?" stammered 'Why, by asking me to help Miss her home. The upshot of it is that we're going to be married. She-well, she admitted that if I coul be so useful in time of trouble I might be useful to her as a steady attendant. Tell me, honestly—had you any idea that I was in love with her? "I certainly had," said Watsie in all honesty.

"I'm your friend for life then. Count on me always." When a sensible person makes an awful blunder that turns out a brilliant success there is nothing to do but

The Scrap Bag

There is a lady in this city, living | not a hundred miles from Victoria Park, who has in her bedroom the most diabolically-ingenious contrivance for getting her husband up in the morning, that I have yet heard anything about, and withal so simple that a baby could perpetrate the trick on its nurse. I was fixing on my hat, when something in the mirror suddenly attracted my attention and so astonished me that from sheer absence of mind I ran that long steel hat-pin, which Mrs. says is hers, but which looks exactly like mine, right through the top layer of my skull, which settled the ownership at once. It (the thing in the glass) was a small blue bottle on a stick projecting out over the bed and on turning round I found that a string tied to the neck of the bottle connected it with an alarm clock fastened up over the bed, somehow or other. Now, there is water in that bottle, and when the alarm goes off that small, vicious blue phial kicks up its heels and turns a complete somersault in the air, and then, of course, the water isn't in the bottle any more, but somewhere else; at least that is it would be, and very emphatically so, if the husband did the captain say:

"Miss Black, I've a great favor to not make a lunge for it at the first whirr of the clock, before it has time Watsie Jervass from school today? I'd to empty itself. When he is up he stays up-the moral of this tale.

Speaking of the trolley system, there is always a terrible uncertainty in one's mind with regard to the motorman, a very he-will or he-won't sert of gentleman, indeed. Only a professional mind-reader can tell if he is going to stop. The only sure way, if you want to catch a train or keep an appointment, is to get out on the track while he is yet a great way off, and frantically wave both arms as if there was a wash-out further down the road.

Good boy! Rev. Donald Guthrie! Wish there were more like you and in the British Government at this particular moment. It was worth your while coming to preach in London last Sunday, if only to give that slap at Turkey. You say "the Turks should be wiped off the map of Europe and sent to where they belong; they are only aliens anyway." Right you are! But the trouble is that the worst spot on earth would be a long sight too cool and comfortable a place for such a degenerate breed!

The new fall styles are putting themselves tentatively forth, and much havec are they creating among the women of fashion. The changes are radical and are not generally regarded with favor. It seems a little hard that the fashion authorities should have taken this particular time, when woman is so deeply impressed with her own importance, to make changes which will render her appearance in public less imposing. And yet this is just what has happened. The edict comes from abroad that sleeves have diminished more than half in size. Close-fitting sleeves, without the suggestion of a puff or stiffened lining, are to be the vogue. Crinoline is already a thing of the past. Skirts require the same quantity of material, but their folds show a tendency to droop demurely. The fact is that the up-to-date woman dressed according to the coming winter's fashions will occupy no more space when she walks abroad than the average man. To say the least, this is disappointing. Louis XVI, styles are high in favor and the coat of this period will be seen with all sorts of gowns. Much lace and many imitation jewels will also be in

There is one thing, however, which will help to reconcile the women of to-day to the fall fashions and that is the materials of which the costumes will be made. Crepon still holds the place of honor. For fall wear it comes in many new weaves and exquisite designs. The best crepons average in price from $2.25 to $5.25 a yard, and this year they are all woven with a strong facing which prevents their stretching. The most fashionable show silk ridges on a wool background. In black and dull green or red they are very effective. The mottled crepons are also very popular and show exquisite combinations of color. There are plaid crepons, checked crepons and plush crepons, as well as those with a conventional flower design, which are among the latest novelties. All the most fashionable fabrics for fall and winter wear show the boucle effect, Rough materials are everywhere. The cheviots, whose popularity is perennial, are seen in loose weaves and somewhat coarse effects. Brown and sage green are favorite combinations of color. The check cheviots make durable gowns and are much the vogue. They are made up severely plain and trimmed with large but-

The silk and wool mixtures come in a variety of designs. The soft plaids are high in favor. A new material this year is composed of silk, wool and mohair. It has the springiness of the mohair, the sheen of the silk and the softness of wool, and is therefore much in demand. It comes in all the new combinations of color. Black is a popular background. One of the most pepular silk and wool fabrics is an irridescent cloth which sells for $9.50 a yard. It is exactly what its name indicates, and when trimmed with iridescent passementerie is exceedingly effective. Another silk and wool mixture shows the Ottoman weave and brocade design. The design is in silk and comes in the phosphorescent colors. It sells at $2.25 a yard. Many of the imported mohairs show a boucle effect and are warranted to wear for more than one season. Among smooth cloths English suiting and ladies' cloth are considered the most a trimming and also for evening gowns. Striped silks will also be the vogue for early fall wear, and jowlled galloons and much lace are the trimmings most in favor. Though it is rumored that the small sleeve will be the only correct one to wear this fall, yet there is a goodly company of women who will refuse to submit to the sudden change. They will still cling to the puff, but it will be a drooping affair, made entirely without stiffening. All the fashionable sleeves droop well off the shoulder, and many of

The Well-Groomed Woman. The well-groomed young woman is she who always looks well and suitably dressed for every occasion. Her hair is always just right and her shoes, gloves and bon nets are always sightly. It is because sho is always in trim for anything that may turn up. She is perfect as to detail, and has at least one gown for every occasion. The woman who lacks the requsite taste may have twenty gowns for each occasion and not look as well. The well-groomed woman buys good things, expends a great deal of thought on their selection, and has them well cut. She does not approve of exaggerated styles, because they make her conspicuous, which is bad taste. She has one perfectly correct dinner dress, a simple and beautiful ball gown, a fancy waist for theater, a couple of cloth street gowns and either matinees or jackets for the house. Her shoes for the streets are regular walking shoes of calfskin, laced, with flat heel and pointed toe. Every night they are blackened, and twice a week limbered up with oil; the heels are straightened as soon as they run down. Her slippers are kept in like good condition. Her buttons, hooks and eyes, ribbons and bows are always well attended to, and not hanging by threads. Her skirts are beautifully free from mud, her coat and hat never show a speck of dust. Her gloves are dark in color, with every button intact. When she wears white gloves they are clean. All this is managed by attending to things which need attending to at once, and at no other time. When a skirt is taken off, brush it; put the hat in its box, the glove? away in their sachet, the shoes where they look well groomed. It will repay you

A very pleasant social event came off last evening at No. 17 Campbell street, Strathroy, the residence of B. and M. L. Gott. when their youngest daughter, Lily May, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter A. White, of London, Ont. Rev. W. G. Jordan, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, in his usual precise and effective way, performed the ceremony in the presence of invited guests and friends. The groom was ably supported by his friend, Mr. B. Bryant, principal of the Princess avenue school, London, and the bride by her young friend, Miss Lottie Cook, Watford, Ont. All looked very charming in their beautiful and seasonable costumes, and after a very cheerful tea the young and happy pair boarded the evening train for a short trip westward,

A Better Investment.

If you deposit $597 in the saving bank, and are given 3 1-2 per cent compound interest each year for fifteen years, you will have exactly $1,000 at the end of that period. That would be a safe way of investing and a good return, when you consider there is no labor or care on your part. But there is a better investment than that for you. If you will pay the Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company the same sum of money, varying slightly, according to the age, they will guarantee to pay you $1,000 at the end of fifteen years, and Misses' Fine Footwear.

Found With My Wife a Wonderful Cure.

The Aylmer Express reports: "Mr. and Mrs. Chute, of Aylmer, desire that we should publish their testimonial and let other sufferers know what WILLIAMS' ROYAL CROWN REMEDY (Nature's Liquid) had done for Mr. Chute. He writes: 'For ten years or more! I have been a sufferer with dyspepsia, and doctored with six of the most skilled doctors in this part of the country, but with little relief and no benefit in return for the very large doctors' bills that I paid. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, but all to no purpose, until April, 1893. I took to myself a wife, and it so happened that three years previous to our marriage she had been in poor health and used part of a bottle of Royal Crown Remedy, and knowing of its excellent qualities she prevailed upon me to give it a Crown Hemedy, and knowing of its excellent qualities she prevailed upon me to give it a trial. I purchased one bottle of the Remedy and Pills, and by the time I had them used my general health was much improved, and by the time I had taken three bottles I was restored to good health, and my neighbors say that I am looking healthier than I have done for years. I believe Royal Crown Remedy to be the best value for the money on earth, and am, thankfully yours, WILLIAM CHUTE."
