Romance of a Couple at Montreal That Came to an Abrupt Conclusion.

TO SECURE BRIDE

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Feb. 25 .- A romance that came to an abrupt conclusion when the ady concerned learned the character of her suitor, arises in connection with the arrest of Abraham Crownstein in Ottawa vesterday. Crownstein is charged with having raised a check from $20 to 2.000, and was remanded for a week when he comes up for trial.

The check was almost the means of securing for him a very pretty and wellsituated bride in the person of Miss fessie Jasiow, aged twenty, stepdaughter of A. Rootenburg, a well known storekeeper at 30 St. Urbain street, says the Daily Mail.

Crownstein was introduced to Mr Rootenburg as "Mr. Nelson" by a man said to be living on Papineau avenue This man intimated that his friend would be a good son-in-law, as he was very wealthy man from Saskatchewan, which province he was held in high steem by all who knew him. Crown stein finally stepped forward and asked or an introduction to Rootenburg's steplaughter. The desired introduction was inal" obtained. Informing the lady that ie was a guest at the Windsor Hotel, and a hail-fellow-well-met with all the oig businessmen of the city, "Mr. Nelson" departed for Ottawa. This was fuesday morning, and he telegraphed Montreal that night to tell his prospecive bride that he would be in the he same night. On that very day, howver, the capitalist borrowed the sum of eight cents from the friend upon whose recommendation he was introduced to Miss Jaslow; moreover, the sum has not yet been paid back.

Suspicion Aroused. True to his word he was on deck at light, but as "lovers ever run before the clock,' he was an hour early. He repeated the assertion that he was stayng at the Windsor Hotel, and gave Miss aslow a check drawn upon the Montreal lity and District Savings Bank for the sum of $1,000, asking her to meet him pefore he returned to Ottawa next day. it this juncture Mr. Rootenburg became uspicious and telephoned the Windsor sking for Mr. Nelson. 'Nobody here by that name, sir," was the reply, and "Nelson stock" fell several points in the market. Miss Jaslow sent the check he had given her to the bank, asking that it be investigated. It was found that Nel-

The installation of the new press means that The Advertiser will make a radical change in style, appearing as soon as the new press has been installed as an eight-column paper. The Advertiser will be the first morning paper in Ontario west of Ottawa to take this advanced step. In so doing it is following the advice of specialists in newspaper production in the largest centers. Within the last few months no less than five of New York's great newspapers have installed eightcolumn presses and the change has been adopted with striking results by most of the advanced newspapers of the United States. Several Toronto papers are about to decide upon eight-column pages. The Advertiser has for years been in the vanguard of newspapers with modern equipment. Hon. W. J. Hanna, continuing the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, stated that the opposition had not been able to find any cause of "regret" in his honor's speech, and had been forced into new fields to find argument for criticism. They had advocated a minister of health, and a minister of municipal affairs and now wanted a "minister of unemployment." (Laughter.) Mr. Rowell's remarks, he said, had left the impression that conditions in Ontario were worse than actually was the case. With regard to social legislation he said that Ontario was not behind other countries. The workmen's compensation act would be a model for other countries. The public health act had been commended far and wide.

"I want to say this," Mr. Hanna went on. "I do not think the conditions of agriculture in Ontario have ever received greater assistance, greater encouragement, greater help from any government in this Province than they have in recent years and particularly are receiving today under the present minister of agriculture." (Applause.)

Sam Clarke (West Northumberland) prefaced a characteristic reply to Mr. Hanna with a salvo of congratulations to the provincial secretary on his speech, the member for North Lanark (Hon. R. F. ## FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist. As a specialist who has spent many As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, to acid in the stomach usually due to. is acid in the stomach, usually due to, or aggravated by, food fermentation. Acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full, bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation ing. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. CHAPTER XII.

The Approach of a Man Named Smith. Mr. Redmond Wrandall, gray and gaunt and somewhat wistful, rode slowly through the leafy lane, attended some little distance behind by Griggs the groom, who slumped in the saddle and thought only of the sylvan dell to curse It with poetic license. Ever since Mr. Wrandall had been thrown by his horse Wrandall had been thrown by his horse in the park a few years before, his wife had insisted on having a groom handy in case he lost his seat again, hence Griggs. It sometimes got on Mr. Wrandall's nerves, having Griggs loping along like that, but there didn't seem to be any way out of it, nor was there the remotest like-lihood that the groom himself might one Griggs, therefore, was a physical insult, anyway you looked at him; his very presence in the road behind was a blatant, house-top sort of proclamation that he, Redmond Wrandall, was in his dotage, and that was something Mr. Wrandall would never have admitted if he had had anything to say about it.

Today he was riding over to Southlook to looked upon as a process of the southlook to the looked upon as a process of the southlook to the looked upon as a process of the southlook to the looked upon as a process of the southlook to the looked upon as a process of the southlook to the looked upon as a process of the southlook to the looked upon as a process of the southlook to the looked upon as a process of the southlook to the looked upon as a process of the looked upo

They were letting no grass grow under their feet, notwithstanding a udden and unexplained period of procras tination on the part of Leslie, who had gone off for a fortnight's fishing in Maine. Moreover, so far as they knew, he had departed without proposing to Miss Castleton, an oversight which deprived his mother of at least two weeks of activity along obvious lines. Naturally, it was quite impossible to discuss the future vith Miss Castleton under the circumstances, and it was equally out of the question to discuss it with security in the very constricted circle that Mrs. the very constricted circle that Mrs. Wrandall affected in the country. It really was too bad of Leslie! He should

They Are Due to an Impoverished Condition of the Nervous exhaustion - or neurasthenia, as medical men call it-is one of the greatest evils of the present day, for it is destroying the life and energy of thousands of men and women, or worse, driving them to insanity. The causes of this trouble include overwork, mental strain, worry, indiscretions, and sometimes it follows The signs of this trouble are usually great weakness after any exertion, nervous headaches, trembling hands, shakiness in the legs, irritability of temper, weak digestive power, insomnia. The life of the sufferer becomes full of miseries.

The true treatment for this trouble must consist of a building-up process, for the above signs mean that the exhausted nerves are calling for more nourishment from the blood supply. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich blood that feeds the starved complaining nerves, and in this way they have cured thousands of times neurasthenia, neuralgia and other nervous disorders, and have restored strength and nerve-energy to despairing people. Mrs. Isaac Wilson, Calabogie, Ont., gives thanks for having been restored to health through the use of this medicine. She says: "When I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was a nervous wreck; I couldn't do my work, could not sleep at night, suffered from nervous headaches, and the least noise would completely upset Only those who have suffered from nervous trouble can tell what I endured. I doctored for a time, but did not get any benefit. Then I learned of Dr Williams' Pink Pills and sent for a half-dozen boxes. By the time I had used these I was almost well, and a couple more boxes completely restored my health, and I have had no return of the trouble. "I understood Mrs. Wrandall to say he was not expected before Saturday."
"Yes, sir. He came unexpteced, sir."
"Well," said Mr. Wrandall, with an indulgent smile, "we will not ride them down."

"No, indeed sir," consented Griggs, with a wink that Mr. Wrandall did not lihood that the groom himself might one day be spilled and broken in many places

he said humorously. "They are safe."
"I believe you, sir," said Griggs, also himself so far as to steal a look over his right shoulder.

It was Mr. Wrandall's design to ride on to Southlook and surprise Leslie and his inamorata at the lodge gates, where he would wait for them. Arriving he dismounted and turned his steed over to Griggs, with instructions to ride on. He was join Mr. Leslie and Miss Castleton and walk with them for the remainder of the distance.

He sat down on the rustic bench and lighted a cigar. The lodge-keeper saluted him from the garden below. Later the keeper's small son came up and from the opposite side of the roadway regarded him with the wide, curious gaze of a four-year-old. Mr. Wrandall disliked children. He made no friendly overtures. The child tood his ground, which was in a sense disconverting, although he couldn't tell why. He felt like saying "Shoo!" Presently the brown a sense ently the keeper's collie came up and sniffed his puttees, all the while looking askance. Mr. Wrandall said: "Away with you!" and the dog retreated with grown displays to the story where he had some dignity to the steps, where he laid down and fixed his eyes on the stranger. Half an hour passed. Mr. Wrandall frowned as he looked at his watch. Another quarter of an hour went by. He changed his position, and the dog lifted his head, without wagging his tall, "'Pon my soul!" said Mr. Wrandall in Fifteen Years.

Just then the dog and the child deflected their common stare. He was at first grateful, then interested. The child was beaming, the dog's tail was thumping a merry tattoo on the wooden step. steps crunched on the gravel and he turn-

He came to his feet, plainly perplexed.

Miss Castleton approached, but the fellow

"Not at all. I am sure he said Friday."
"I fancy he did say Friday," said Mr.

He volunteered no more than that. He was too busily engaged in wondering what son could be thinking of, to leave this his son could be thinking of, to leave this delightful girl to the tender mercies of a handsome, fascinating chap like Brandon Booth. He didn't relish the look of things. She was agitated, suspiciously so, and Booth wasn't what one would describe as perfectly at ease. There was something in the air, concluded Leslie's father

"I hear you are coming over to spend a fortnight with us, Miss Castleton," said he pleasantly.

Hetty started. "I beg your pardon, Mr.

Hope you will find your way to our place, Brandon. You are always a most welcome visitor." The girl walked on in silence, her lips shut with curious firmness. Booth looked at her and indulged in a queer little smile, to which she responded with a painful flush.

Griggs grasped the situation at a glance—a rather vague and imperfect glance, however. "This morning, sir," he replied promptly, although he was as much at sea as his master.

"I understood Mrs. Wrendall."

Hetty stopped in her tracks. She went wery white.

"What news, Mr. Wrandall?"

"They say they have stumbled upon a clue—an absolutely indisputable clue. Smith had me on the wire this morning. He is the chief operative, you understand, Miss Castleton. SIR WILLIAM'S CANDOR. THE statement issued by Sir Wil-I liam Mackenzle on the affairs of the Canadian Northern is interesting from more than one point of view. It shows, in the first place, that the president of the C. N. R. recognizes to some extent-the fact that the people are interested in railway grants. It is the first time the Canadian Northern Railway has gone to the trouble of placing its claims before the public. It shows that the public treasury has contributed about $21,000,000 in cash to the company, has undertaken an obligation amounting to $131,000,000 by guaranteeing bonds, and that the country has given Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann four million acres of land, value unstated, but upon which $24,-000,000 has been raised. The company has raised $134,000,000 from outside sources and has made an expenditure of $303,000,000 in construction work and equipment.

This is about the sum total of the information given the public as to the C. N. R. finances. It is not sufficient. It does not show wherein the bonds which the country guaranteed are amply protected, nor does it justify a gift of $25,000,000 more.

Sir William answered the charges made in some newspapers that the funds contributed by Canada were diverted to investments in southern securities. These allegations should never have been made, and the papers

THE DIFFERENCE IN PARTIES. IN Seaforth the axe seems to have slipped and struck a good, faithful Tory officeholder.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier or his representative in South Huron thought so much of Samuel Dickson, postmaster of Seaforth since 1865, that he allowed him to remain in office continuously. It was not until the hungry horde was let into the park that he was thrown from the seat he had won and honored.

Some years ago, if The Advertiser is correctly informed, a malicious report was circulated in Seaforth to the effect that M. Y. McLean, then member for South Huron, was seeking the office of postmaster and that he intended to have Mr. Dickson dismissed. The report was circulated with the intentior of injuring Mr. McLean and at a public meeting he took occasion to deny it, and to state that insofar as he was concerned, Mr. Dickson could hold the post for life.

Mr. McLean's conduct is a strong contrast with that of Mr. Merner, the thal, the gambler, who had threatened present member. Although only two members of an executive of seven hurriedly called together, voted to oust Mr. Dickson, his dismissal, not allow a criminal to be convicted without superannuation, was received Appreciates Old Songs. I have seen lots of "old favorites" conducted by different newspapers, but none that some way seemed to reach home and touch the heart-strings like yours. I think this is so because so many "mother's songs" are asked for. One in particular I watched for, and when at last it was printed, I had a day of pleasure and pain mingled, for the words came back on the notes of the dear voice that has been stilled on earth so many years, and she seemed so dear and so near, that I knew that time does not sever, nor cause us to forget. The mystery of our loved dead! Do they see our faithful tears? and the bairnies they never dreamed of, but who bear their features? If she could only have lived till I became a mother, then I could have realized what she was to me, and paid back a little for her years of love labor for me. I am not crying because I want her to come back-but just because I want her.

No Side-Bet Up On Walkerton Challenge

Walkerton, Feb. 24, 1914. Sporting Editor, Advertiser: Dear Sir,-In the issue of your paper of Tuesday, 24th inst., there appeared an article on the sporting page, headed "Great Rivalry Between Mildmay and Walkerton," in which it was stated that the Walkerton Hockey Club had challenged Mildmay, and had put up a side bet of $200 that they would be the winners of home-and-home games, oals to count You are no doubt aware that had it been the case that the money had been wagered by the respective clubs, it would be contrary to the rules of amateur sport and in future the players would be liable to suspension from all amateur games. The statement of your correspondent in this respect is untrue. The local club has challenged the Mildmay Club, and the challenge has been accepted, and home and home games arranged, but what money is up on the result has been wagered by the fans alone, and in this regard the clubs, so far as the locals are concerned at least, are entirely disinterested.

As the despatch to your paper was sent from Walkerton, the management of this club request that in consideration of the players, this error be corrected. Respectfully yours,

Secretary W. H. Club.

"THE SCENE HAS CHANGED"

No Longer is "Von Egg" Ruling Monarch of the Quick Lunch.

Ever notice it? The trend of the times and the change n the diet of those who frequent the quick lunch counters in London, are synonomous. What was popular a scant half year ago in the "eats" line, has passed quickly into oblivion. The "rage" dishes of that antiquated age are, figuratively speaking, on the shelf. To illustrate. There was once the egg sandwich. Never was there a brand of "eats" half so popular as the "von egg" of Grecian fame. Gazing down the line of hungry Londoners perched jauntily before the counters at the numerous eating "joints" of a noonday, a score of eggs on bread, before as many men, was an accustomed sight. More, it was a standardized procedure. To enter a restaurant without ordering the hen product and bread, was to betray the fact that the meal-seeker was a novice at the game. No person, once initiated into the mysteries of quick lunch eating, would dream otherwise. But there came a change. Gradually among the nicely arranged, carefully labelled traditions, something "bust." New York, Feb. 24.—Jack Britton, of For a time all was chaos. Then slowly miscellaneous menu dainties, another itself. It would be boss or start something. It was the beef sandwich. For three full months it held blissful, undisputed sway. At times there were indications of a tyrant rising to wrest the title of king of the counter from the once usurper. But the "beef and" was ruler, and being so, found a place in the hearts-or rather the palates, of quick lunch patrons. But the limited monarchy was again to be overthrown. Another aspirant for honors burst like a meteor on the horizon of the dinner world. This was a combination of the others. It was egg, beef and other things rolled into one-then baked to give stability. Reference is here made to the meat pie which has usurped the place of all other favorites. Just how long it will hold sway is an unknown quantity. That another will rise from oblivion and trample the monarch to the list of "don't be up to the minute and in the swim.

WHAT TO DO FOR SORE THROAT.

SOME GOOD ADVICE BY A SPECIALIST.

As there seems to be a regular epidemic of Sore Throats this winter, the following valuable recipe will be welcomed by many. A sore throat is a dangerous complaint to trifle with, as the bronchial tubes lead directly to the lungs, and the disease often travels along these tubes into the lungs and there sets up an inflammation that inversibles and variably results in a serious

At the first sign of soreness in the aroat or around the tonsils you hould secure from your chemist 1 oz. hroat Parmint (Double Strength) and take rarmint (Donoie Strength) and take his home and add to it 4-pint of hot sater and 4 oz. of moist sugar. Stirentil dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will give instant relief and will usually cure the stant relief and will usually cure the stant relief and will usually cure the sate within 48 hours. The head worst throat within 48 hours. The healing and soothing qualities of this formula are unequalled, and every person suffering with a bad throat should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better. important.-In ordering Parmint al-

The Tale The Wagons Tell

My office window faces a street, close to the railway freight sheds.

All day long a steady stream of trucks and lorries lumber byloaded with boxes, barrels and bales.

One truck I noticed the other afternoon was particularly interesting. No two boxes were the same, and stencilled on the end of each was the name of some well-known product-soap, tobacco, socks, breakfast food, cocoa, port, tea, chocolates, perfumery and baking powder.

Gathered there in prosaic wooden world.

boxes were the results of thousands of hand's labor in all parts of the

The cocoa had been grown in Brazil, shipped to Bristol, transhipped to Montreal and finally distributed from Toronto.

The tea was gathered by swartskinned natives of the romantic island of Ceylon; from sunny Portugal the luscious, big grapes had been gathered years ago, fermented, bottled and branded with a famous name; from Egypt had come the cotton and from South America the dyes that entered into the product finally stamped with the brand of a well-known hosiery.

There, behind that obviously prosaic truck-load of freight was the whole romance of modern commerce—the skilled production, the universal demand for food, drink and raiment, and the world-wide distribution of the things we use every day.

And then I speculated why we use these things every day, instead of some other things: and that brought me plump back to my own job of advertising.

The names of some of the boxes on the lorrie were known everywhere to-day, but had been unknown a few years ago; and I saw then more clearly than ever before that Advertising is really a great channel digger. It is like the Panama Canal. You can sail from Montreal to Vancouver now, around the Horn. You can get there, but it is going to take months. A year or so from now you will sail through the Panama Canal and chop the journey to less than half. A new channel will have been dug.

The great names in commerce to-day are those of the manufacturers who have let modern advertising steam-shovel a channel across the isthmus of distributing

The great names in the commerce of to-morrow will be those of men who widen and dredge this channel so that the greater traffic may pass smoothly and quickly from the source of production to the homes of the consumer.

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. Ill you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you neel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, gation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto,

WALL STREET NOON. New York, Feb. 25.-Speculators sought to influence general selling today by uncovering weak spots, confining their efforts largely to the southwestern railroad shares. Increasing weakness of low priced stocks and renewal of selling here for foreign account reacted on the market, which was generally lower, but losses at no time during the morning were severe. Stocks came principally from professional sources. there was some outside selling from disouraged holders of long stocks. Bonds

INSURANCE MEN TO SALVAGE PATROL

Will Consider Purchase of One and Its Addition to London Fire Department Apparatus.

Representatives of a number of London fire insurance companies will get together in the near future to consider the purchasing of a motor fire salvage patrol to be kept at the Central fire station.

Salvage trucks are in use in a great number of Canadian and American cities and have proven their worth in aiding fire departments and reducing insurance losses to a minimum. The men employed. while members of the regular depart-ment, are paid by the companies and the machine is also purchased by those in whose interests it is used.

Motor salvage trucks are used to prevent the destruction by water of stock in burning buildings. The machine is manned by a half dozen picked men whose duty it is to get to the scene of a fire and spread waterproofs over stock and parts of the building where the water from the firemen's hose will fall at times. In a great number of instances the dam-age done by water exceeds that done by fire, as has been the case in the last couple of fires in London. Fire Chief John Aitken would welcome such an ap-%; Steel Corporation, 575 to 35½ to 36½; to %; Steel Corporation, 575 to 35½ to 36½; B. C. The board of control, in discussing the matter some time ago, thought that officials would not need licenses in so far as they were not hired as chauffeurs and were, for all practical purposes and for the time being, the owners of the cars. But apparently the Provincial Secretary's department and the local police authorities think otherwise, for the necessary applications are being filled out.

The officials affected by the regulation are: General Manager H. J. Glaubitz of the waterworks-hydro department, Electrical Engineer E. V. Buchanan. Hydro Superintendent C. H. Colby, Garbage Superintendent W. C. Dodd, Fire Chief John Aitken, Assistant City Engineer H. A. Brazier and four employees of the hydro depart-

Majority of Places, However, Few Took Advantage of Suffrage.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, Feb. 25.-Comparatively few women yesterday took advantage of their public schools, which has precipitated first opportunity to vote under the provisions of the new state suffrage law. Returns tabulated here today indicated that more than two-thirds of the registered women remained away from the primary elections held in many cities and towns of the state.

In Chicago the total number of women who voted was 47,529, or about 30 per cent of the 158,524, who had qualified. The heaviest woman's vote in the state was at Galesburg, the scene of a "wet were at liberty to use their own Douay and dry" contest, where the women cast nearly one-half of the total vote.

MILITARY ENGINEERING LECTURES INTERESTING

Bridge Construction, Field Telegraphy and Other Work Being Taught by Experts.

Great interest is attached to the school of instruction now being conducted at the rmories in connection with the Seventh Field Company of Canadian Engineers. Capt. Kilbourne, of the permanent staff at Ottawa, is giving the lectures and his addresses are illustrated with lantern slides and many practical exhibitions of the work accomplished by the engineering department of the Canadian militia. Methods of constructing bridges, field telegraphy and other details of the work are being shown in the lectures which are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week, and the instruction given is of a most practical and educative nature.

The local company has an enrollment at the present time of 80 men, and the officers in charge are: Major F. W. Farncomb, Captain E. V. Buchanan and Lieutenants Archer, Garratt and Healy. The officers are desirous of increasing the strength of the corps and are ready to eceive applications from recruits at any of the evening sessions. Give "Bill, the Coachman," Before Enthusiastic Audience.

"Bill, the Coachman," a farce comedy in three acts, by John M. Francis, was capably presented Tuesday night by the Dramatic Club of All Saints' A. Y. P. A. Some 300 people crowded the lecture-room of the church, and accorded the play an enthusiastic recep-

Miss Ella Parsons, as Anna, the Irish maid, showed exceptional dramatic ability, and was acclaimed as the star of the cast, although Miss Gladys Phillips, as Eunice Brewer, played her part with almost equal excellence. Miss Lottie Martin, as Mrs. Susar Brewer, and Miss Annie Bradley, as Samantha Brewer, accomplished some exceptionally fine acting. John Hart in the title role of Williams Walters, or Bill, the Coachman, convulsed the audience with repeated rounds of laughter. Good work was done by the other members of the cast, including George Langford, as Samuel Brewer; C. Stevens, as Reginald Depeyster, and Clarence Parsons, as Jack Thornton.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS CURED A BAD ATTACK OF ECZEMA.

All skin diseases such as Eczema, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Rash, Boils, Pimples, and Itching Skin Eruptions, are always caused from the blood being in a bad condition, and it is impossible to eradicate them from the system unless you put your blood into good shape. This you can very easily do without the slightest trouble by using Burdock Blood Bitters.

It drives out all the humor from the blood, and makes it pure and rich, and not only are the unsightly diseases removed, and a bright clean complexion produced, but the entire system is renovated and invigorated at the same time. Mrs. G. A. Day, Somerville, N.B., writes:—"Last spring I had a bad attack of Eczema. I tried several patent medicines as well as the medicine of a physician, but they seemed to make the disease worse. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and I did so with the result that in two weeks time the sores began to disappear. [Canadian Press. Washington, Feb. 25 .- Difficulties in the way of obtaining a complete medical examination of the body of William S. Benton, British subject, appeared today plicate the inquiry instituted by both the American and British Governments into the circumstances surrounding the recent execution at Juarez.

American officials were not sure that promise by General Villa to permit an American representative to see the body after it was exhumed meant that an opportunity would be afforded to examine it, and determine whether Benton died by a pistol shot, as his friends claim, or by rifle bullets fired by a squad as Villa asserts.

Will Press Villa. That the American Government's direct request for the delivery of the body had been denied was another phase of the situation which attracted attention in the official circles. It is believed further representations to General Villa, indicating the importance of turning the body over to the widow, will be made by the state department.

The promise of the United States Government to Great Britain, as cabled from London, was that every effort would be made "to secure the exhumation and examination of the body." Rebels Get Gunboat.

Grand Z. M. ex-Comp. MacWatt stated that the membership had increased during the year by over 1,300. On December 31, 1912, it was 16,983, and on December 31, 1913 it was 18,326. 1913 it was 18 326

The finances are in a healthy condition, as appears from the the reports of the grand treasurer and the grand scribe. The year's work was reviewed. It showed a visit to the Maritime Provinces, to twelve chapters in other parts of Canada and nine chapters of instruction with many trips to the head office, Toronto. Referring to the subject of ceremonies, Grand Z. MacWatt paid a high compli-ment to Hamilton Chapter No. 17, of

The Hamilton chapter has so far embellished the work within the legal limits that Toronto and other chapters might benefit by extending Hamilton chapter an invitation to illustrate the work. The grand first principal made some caustic remarks about the insidious methods employed to create grand chapters in the western provinces. This he would, he said, like to see, when the provinces were in a condition to undertake the work. It would require at least $3,000 to $4,000 to finance a grand chapter and the income from Alberta was admittedly too small for theundertaking. He expressed the opinion that the stronger provinces should remain combined until the weakest of the provinces is able to assume the burden of a grand chapter of

One of the important decisions given by the grand Z was the announcement of his intention to adhere to constitutional lines even to the point where it precluded the possibility of the exemplification of work beyond the confines of the grand jurisdiction of Canada. Not Recognized.

Among the rulings given during the year was one declining to lease a chapter room to the Eastern Star order, as that order is not recognized as Masonic in this jurisdiction Royal Arch Regalia has been disallowed

To carry citizens to and from their homes with as great efficiency which in the past has won efficiency and speed as is consistent with safety should be the for it a high place among the militia first desire of any city and the street railway system that serves

> At the present time in London, while many citizens have evidenced a desire to spend a large amount on securing better transportation facilities to Lake Erie for the purpose of pleasure, how many have shown any concern as to the necessity for fast service on the most important public utility in the city—the street railway system?

It is futile to talk of improving the service of the company while present blockades at railway crossings are permitted to exist. The street railway may be sincere in its desire to give good service, but so long as strings of its cars are often blocked By arrangement District Deputy for periods equaling the entire time occupied in making their Grand Patriarch Robert Pearse, of complete trips, the city cannot hold the company blameable.

The record of delays at railway crossings in London have on, under Captain Wm. Priestley and been surprising to citizens. In a measure they have given a just excuse to the street railway for poor service and until this excuse is removed criticism of the service is more ranting. The Advertiser endeavored to get at the root of the matter, and thinks that it is beyond dispute that the greatest handicap to progress in the city exists in the level crossings that hourly form a complete barricade between the north and south.

Have London and its public men been blind for years? Have the citizens put men in office who are content to fold hands and hope that Providence will some day arrange things so that the city will progress. There has been all kinds of talk and very little action. It is rank inefficiency that permits the city to be set back an hour or two every day because the men who built the city did not realize that the railways would one day be running trains more than a block in length.

London's public men of a bygone day built well for their time; better than those of today are building. They looked to building. the future with prophetic eyes. They did not forsee all condi- eral merchants, are occupying their new tions, but they should not be held accountable for the delays that are retarding the city's advancement at the present time.

Talk about the lack of a breakwater hampering the growth of West London. A breakwater is not a circumstance compared has removed to Granton, and is doing to the handicap placed upon South London, and Southeastern London by the lack of subways.

Scores of citizens have signed the coupons printed in The Advertiser asking for subways. The citizens have ASKED FOR RELIEF. In the past few years they have been given many things that they never asked for. Let 1914 be the year when the drawback of blockaded crossings was removed by a united effort on the part of all citizens!

WILL CONSIDER PLANS Board of Education Committee To Go Over Public School Drawings.

The building committee of the board of education will have a meeting or Thursday afternoon to consider architects' competitive plans for the two new public schools in South London. Several plans will be submitted for the approval of the committee. The meeting was to have been held this afternoon, but the chairman, Trustee L. H. Martyn, was called out of town on business. He will return tonight. The new schools are estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $40,000 each. The same plan will be used for both.
