

A FORECAST OF ELECTIONS IN GREAT BRITAIN GIVES THE LIBERALS 317 ELECTED

Against This Are Placed 215 Conservatives--Ireland Will Return 83 Members and the Labor Men 55--This Would Leave Liberals Dependent Upon Irish and Labor Votes--London Times Is Again Telling What May Happen.

Manchester, Jan. 12.—As polling takes place here on Saturday the campaign is now at its height.

Last night meetings were held everywhere. Husky-voiced candidates repeated familiar arguments to convince listeners. A forecast of the general result published here, purporting to be the joint opinion of well-posted men on both sides, is as follows: Liberals 317, Labor 55, Nationalists 83, Conservatives 215.

This represents a net gain of 47 seats for the Unionists, without altering the complexion of Parliament.

The London Times makes an effort to divest its gigantic mind of bias in forecasts today. It foretells Unionist gains in the London boroughs, and predicts defeat for Hon. Joseph Martin, the Canadian, but it may be mistaken in that.

The times does not think Richard Jebb will poll enough votes in East Marylebone to so weaken Boynton as to let the Liberal in.

The Opposition expect to gain half a dozen seats in London on Saturday. Last time the Liberals had 10, Conservatives 5.

The Nationalist press groups Liberals, Labor and Nationalists under the name Progressives against the Tories, which form of grouping the Opposition gains acceptance.

It is not expected there will be any reduction in the Labor forces.

Constitutional authorities on the Unionist side say that should the Liberals win their scheme for the reform of the Lords, it must be submitted to the nation in another election, but Mr. Asquith declared he regards the present election as conclusive, and will refuse to take office under any other terms.

Mr. Chamberlain claims today great headway for tariff reform in city and country, but this is one of those points upon which visitors are unable to form an opinion or gather evidence, so thoroughly whole-hearted and one-sided is every candidate, worker or speaker.

JOSEPH T. CLARK.

Saturday Voting Good Index.
The elections to be held on Saturday at 67 polls will be a good index of the general results, as the places are considered representative of the entire kingdom. Premier Asquith, at East Fife, described the present crisis as momentous.

"It," he said, "you care either for free trade, which has made our country prosperous, or for a popular government, which has made it free, now is the time to assert your devotion, for at this time the fortunes of both are at stake."

Chamberlain's Letters.
A speaker at a Liberal meeting having said that Chamberlain was not in a state of health so make it possible for him to write or direct the writing of the letters bearing his name, Asquith Chamberlain pronounces this a lie. The Times and Post refer to the speaker as a person whose name is to be spoken no more in respectable circles, but certainly Chamberlain's deliverances entirely lack the pith and sagacity of a few years ago.

The Liberal reports that the betting on the stock exchange is in favor of the Unionists are true. People bet, as a rule, according to their sympathies, and the close crowd at the stock exchange is very largely on the Conservative side. Some insiders do think the Unionists' chances are beginning to improve.

Conservative Undoing Bad Work.
Conservative leaders are setting to work to undo in the remaining days of the campaign the evil wrought by the peers during their participation in the campaign. The issuance of election writs effected the retirement of the peers, and for the first time the Conservatives are realizing the full extent of the damage done their cause by the unwise intemperance and tactics of the noblemen.

The peers persisted in denouncing the land tax feature of the budget and the Liberals' demand for the abolition or reform of the House of Lords, which are probably the two most popular planks in the Liberal platform. The more experienced Conservatives are now ignoring these issues entirely, and are concentrating every energy on the "German peril," a large navy, and the increased employment that will come with the inauguration of a protective system, which they have promised.

These issues not only make more rapidly campaign slogans, but they put the Liberals on the defensive, a position which the peers by their lack of political foresight forced the Conservatives to assume.

Question of Majority.
The best of the expert opinion inclines to the belief that the Liberals will win by a small majority, but only after a desperate fight.

A majority of at least 60 is considered necessary for either party to put through the non-attendance of members, which would enable the government to attend legislative sessions, and the ever-present possibility of a majority being turned into a minority through the non-attendance of members. It is possible that the margin of victory will be so close that neither party will feel warranted in accepting the premiership, which might possibly result in a compromise ministry under (Continued on Page Eight.)

MAY PULL MARKET HOUSE DOWN TO MAKE ROOM ON THE SQUARE

Suggestion of Mayor Beattie Is To Be Gone Into by the Members of No. 3 Committee—Annual Revenue From the Buildings Now Totals $3,200.

At an early meeting of No. 3 committee the question of the disposition of the market and fish houses will be taken up.

In Mayor Beattie's inaugural address he advised that these buildings be torn down, and the market space enlarged. Part of the space was to be reserved, however, for the erection of a suitable building for a registry office.

The Revenue.
At the present time the city draws $3,200 revenue from these buildings. There are four fish stalls that draw $19 a month each. In the market house there are 20 stalls upstairs, bringing $8 a month, and downstairs 20 more, bringing $4 a month.

The average cost of repairs and maintenance, etc., amounts to approximately $200 a year.

Worth $100,000.
The building and grounds are estimated to be worth $100,000.

In the statement of Assessment Commissioner Grant he figures the land to be worth $100,000, and the buildings to be worth $12,000.

Deducting the amount of annual expenditure, the city derives $2,000 revenue from an investment of $100,000, or 2 per cent.

It is claimed, however, that if the city compelled the 40 or 45 tenants in the building to seek other quarters, the increased assessment received from the new shops that would have to be erected, would soon compensate the city for the loss of the revenue of $2,000 per annum. In addition the city would receive the added advantage of a largely increased space for market purposes.

The Mayor's Opinion.
"I think the move would be of great benefit to the city," said City Engineer Graydon. "The value of property on all sides would be increased, and the city would receive much more money from taxes."

RETAIL GROCERS TO "BOOST" LONDON

Intend Holding a Union Picnic Here This Coming Summer.

WILL HOLD A BANQUET

And Bring Representatives From Many Places in the District to Talk the Matter Over.

To hold a union picnic and make London the gathering place this summer for the grocers and their friends from Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, St. Thomas and Chatham was the proposal launched at a largely-attended meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association last night.

Hold a Banquet.
As a preliminary step, it was definitely decided to hold a banquet and to invite the presidents of the Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, St. Thomas and Chatham associations to be present, and talk the matter over and come to some arrangement.

Boost London.
"We propose to make London the first place for the holding of the picnic," President Ed. Ryan told The Advertiser today, "and then every year, turn about, the picnic can be held at one or other of the places."

The grocers' picnic is one of the most successful held, and in the past Niagara Falls and Detroit have been the favorite places for the visit.

YEAR AGO TODAY WAS VERY COLD

Mercury Took a Drop to 14.5 Below—Present Weather Satisfactory.

Just a year ago today was the coldest day of the whole winter, and the mercury took a drop to 14.5 degrees below zero. Taking it all around the weather last year at this time had been and was decidedly colder than it has been this season. The present winter to date has been one of the most even for many years. The temperature has never gone very low or very high, and there have been few blizzards or bad storms.

Satisfactory Weather.
Such weather has been most satisfactory all through for business. The railroads have had practically no trouble yet with big drifts, although in some parts of the country heavy snowfalls have caused the trains to run late. Merchants report that trade is as good as usual at this time of the year after the holiday rush, and skating rink men are having the best season they have had for a long time. They have not yet been troubled by thaw, and the ice has kept in splendid shape.

Cutting Ice.
Ice cutting on the river is going ahead at a great rate, and a big crop is being harvested. Today the temperature has been very even. At 8 o'clock this morning the mercury stood at 24 above zero, and this afternoon it was 26.

MRS. SCOTT IS AGAIN ON TRIAL FACES THE CHARGE OF MURDER

MRS. WESLEY SCOTT.
Who is Again Being Tried for the Murder of Her Father-in-Law, Aged Harvey Scott.

DRIVING WHEEL FELL OFF P. M. ENGINE

Accident to Locomotive Yesterday as Result of Breaking a Pin.

One of the driving wheels of Pere Marquette engine No. 17 became loosened yesterday, owing to the breaking of a pin as the afternoon train was starting out for St. Thomas, and at Simcoe street the wheel fell off.

As quickly as possible another engine was procured and the damaged engine pulled away to make room. The train proceeded on its way with only a slight delay. Had the accident happened when the train was going at a high rate of speed the consequences might have been somewhat serious.

PRICES OF HORSES ARE SOARING NOW

Equines Are Scarce and the Demand Is Increasing.

The prices of horses are soaring. There are a great many dealers in the city from the west and other sections of Canada, looking for good horses, and as a result prices are on the upward tendency.

"Horses are scarce, and the price is going up," said Mr. Frank Sage. "We are having trouble in getting good animals. I shipped a carload to Windsor yesterday, and the demand is increasing. There are a large number of purchasers looking for the right sort of horses."

A NEW SCHEME TO BOOST THE CITY

Mr. W. D. I. Wright Makes a Suggestion to The Advertiser.

An impetus to the city's growth has been the agitation to "boost" the city. A striking suggestion was made to The Advertiser today in connection with this campaign by Mr. W. D. I. Wright. His slogan is that the city of London should aim to manufacture all that is needed and sold here.

"For example, there are a number of wholesalers in the city who sell certain lines of goods," he said. "These goods are manufactured not in the city, but elsewhere. My objection is this: We have factories manufacturing these goods here in London, but instead of purchasing their goods, they go elsewhere to Toronto, Montreal and other cities to get these goods."

Encourage Industries.
"Now we should encourage the industries right in our midst. If the concerns are small, let several wholesalers get together, take stock and branch out. Among the number we could take practically all the goods manufactured and give a great impetus to the prosperity and value of the city."

There are many concerns just like this. For instance, I should like to see the drygoods section of the board of trade get together and work out a scheme along these lines. It would result in a great boom. Let us aim to manufacture all we need and sell in our own city.

City of Homes.
"We should make London known as a city of homes. Go this continent over, and you will not find a finer city for homes than London. This should be made the cause of appeal to the people beyond. As a city to live in, London cannot be beaten."

ANNUAL GRANT $50,000

Government Aid for British Cotton Growing Experiments.
London, Jan. 12.—The Earl of Crewe, secretary of state for the colonies, has notified the British cotton-growing association officially that the Government has decided to grant $50,000 annually for three years in aid of experimental work in the industry.

Thorndale Woman Does Not Appear To Be Worrying.

CASE OPENED THIS AFTERNOON

A Big Crowd in the Court Room to Watch the Trial.

THE JURY.

The jury in the Scott murder trial was empaneled this afternoon as follows:
Cyrus F. Smith, Moss, farmer.
Adam Romilly, Ekfrid, farmer.
Jonathan Knapton, London Township, farmer.
Frank A. Anderson, Westminster, farmer.
Joseph Grant, Biddulph, farmer.
David Beattie, North Dorchester, farmer.
Archibald Brownlee, North Dorchester, farmer.

Isaac Hornicker, Lobo, farmer.
T. H. Anderson, Biddulph, merchant.
James G. Knapton, Parkhill.
R. H. Collins, Lobo.
Chas. H. Ferguson, Lobo.

Forty men were called altogether and 19 were challenged by the defence and 8 by the crown. William A. Beattie, who was called, asked to be excused on the grounds of illness.

For the second time, within four months, Mrs. Martha Scott this afternoon entered the prisoner's box in the crowded courtroom to stand trial for the murder of her father-in-law, aged Harvey Scott, of Nissouri, on Sept. 13 last.

The strong composition that has marked her attitude since her arrest did not desert Mrs. Scott as she again faced the hundreds of curious eyes that were strained in her direction, searching for some sign of weakness, some hint of distress.

The prisoner stepped firmly after the constant reminder to force her way through the crowd, and entered the box as calmly as though the terrible charge that is hanging over her were all a dream.

A Curious Crowd.

Long before the court was announced to open, a curious crowd was surging through the corridors of the courthouse, drawn together by the morbid curiosity that seems always to hang about a person charged with a grave crime. And when his session took his place at ten o'clock there was not an inch of standing room in the courtroom.

Mrs. Scott's first trial on this charge began on the morning of Oct. 8, before Mr. Justice Latchford, and ended at 4 o'clock on the same day, the jury having failed to agree upon a verdict.

The Coroner's Jury.
On Sept. 17 the coroner's jury met in Thorndale to inquire into the death of the murdered man in the park.

Three days after Mrs. Scott received her preliminary hearing before Judge Latchford, and was sent for trial on the charge of murder.

Mrs. Scott, when called in her own defence at her first trial, stated that she was in fear of her life, and that she had been threatened by Harvey Scott, the father of the murdered man in the park.

Judge Latchford's Charge.
Judge Latchford, however, in charging the jury, emphatically created a prejudice of guilt, and stated that he was glad to have a jury composed of persons who they might feel disposed to bring for the consideration of the crown.

While the jury had been out for an hour and forty minutes their retirement with the statement that they had disagreed. His lordship, in commenting on this remark, remarked that some witnesses in his opinion, at their own request, had been sworn in, and that they might feel disposed to bring for the consideration of the crown.

Mr. Meredith for Prisoner.
In the trial which opened this morning Mr. Edmund Meredith, K. C., is again defending the prisoner, and Mr. W. M. Beattie, of London, is conducting the case for the crown.

It was some time after the opening of the court before the case was considered, as the action of Mr. Beattie, the Grand Trunk Railway, was given the precedence, it having been finished at the preceding afternoon's session.

TWO PROPOSITIONS MADE TO LONDONERS

Scott Machine Company Have Offers From Chatham.

A deputation from Chatham was in the city this week taking up the matter of removal to that city of the management of the Scott Machine Company.

It is stated by members of the firm that the Chatham representatives, Messrs. John S. Mount and E. L. Gray, made them in propositions. The firm made a counter proposal, and the Chatham men are at present taking it up with the council, and will probably be in London again in a few days.

More Offers.
The Scott Machine Company has also been visited by representatives of a northern town, and an offer has been made to build them a factory and give them other inducements if they will locate there.

The town is very anxious to secure factories, as it is growing steadily. Both this proposition and that of the Chatham people will be considered jointly at a meeting of the directors.

First Regular Session of 1910 Held Yesterday.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held its first regular session for 1910, with a fair attendance of members present, in charge of their president, Mrs. Hubert Ashplant.

It was resolved to communicate with the presidents of the various Young People's Societies connected with the various churches and try to secure their active interest in temperance matters.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved to those who contributed the excellent package the committee was enabled to pack to the needy family in Rainy River district. Gratitude was especially due to benefactors not members of the union, who sent most generous gifts. Every garment donated was new or nearly so and warm, and it is hoped of a size to fit the little ones or the mother, so if the express office can be induced to make a move it is hoped they will soon be in much more comfort than at present.

Excellent addresses were made on the subject of consecration by Messrs. Harrison, G. Wright and Thornley.

A discussion took place in the endeavor to find a reason why the names of women who have votes for school trustees are not published in the voters' list. Many almost missed voting owing to this oversight.

YOUTH OF 14 MADE BACHELOR OF ARTS

Norbert Weiner Prominent Among the Juvenile Prodiges at Harvard.

Boston, Jan. 12.—Present day child prodigies, as represented in a group of four students at Harvard University whose ages range from eleven to fifteen years, promise to maintain Greater Boston's appellation of "The Hub" of the intellectual universe.

Included in this quartette of phenomenally developed child mentalities is the youngest known person to attain the degree of Bachelor of Arts—Norbert Weiner, aged fourteen years, a graduate of Tufts College, and at present a student in the Harvard Graduate School; and the youngest and most intellectual first year student in the history of Harvard University, William J. Sids, of Brookline, eleven years old, a marvellously precocious juggler in the most advanced mathematical problems.

The two other abnormally educated children are less widely known. These are a brother and a sister—Lina W. Berle, fifteen years, and Adolph A. Berle, fourteen years old, members of the freshman classes at Radcliffe and Harvard Colleges, respectively. They are children of the Rev. A. A. Berle, pastor of the Shawmut Congregational Church, this city.

Their father, early taught them several languages, reversing the usual order of instruction and teaching them mathematics later.

WAR ON CROWS

Kent Farmers Will Poison Birds Who Steal the Corn.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—The Ontario Government is taking a hand in the work of saving the corn of the Kent County farmers from the thousands of crows which have gathered and are destroying it wholesale.

Mr. C. W. Nash, who was at first sent up to investigate the stories of damage by crows, has returned and presented his report. He has brought back with him several samples illustrating the ravages the birds have caused. The outer ears in the stooked corn have been ripped open and the grain stripped off the cobs, and the heads have even forced their way into the centre of the stooks and destroyed hundreds of ears.

Mr. A. McKenney, local representative in Essex County, has been sent to Kent to show the farmers there how to poison the crows, and the farmers will have to work hard to save the remainder of their grain.

Owing to the growing of sugar beets the farmers in Kent County have been forced to leave their corn in stooks in the fields all winter, and year after year crows have been gathering in greater numbers till the annual loss caused by them has become serious.

The pastors of Newark, N. J., are making a noble effort to have the Sabbath properly observed in that city. Several theatres are now giving the same entertainments on Sabbath evenings that they give during the week.

GIRLS ON STRIKE PLACED UNDER ARREST

Were Charged With Creating a Disturbance—Pelted Police With Snowballs.

Philadelphia, Jan. 11.—Fourteen girls striking shirtwaist makers of this city, were held in ball here today on charges arising out of disturbances last night in the neighborhood of factories which are being operated with non-union workers.

Several of the girls were charged with inciting to riot.

When policemen came to the aid of the non-union girls—they were bombarded with snowballs and other missiles by the strikers.

Details of policemen were sent to all of the factories today, and any of the girls at work who ask for protection will be escorted home tonight.

Miss Fanny Travis Cochrane, a society girl, who was acting as a strike picket, was arrested. She was detained at a stationhouse for a short time and then released.

Miss Cochrane claims she was not disorderly and that her arrest was unjustified.

CUBA IS NO PLACE FOR CANADIANS

Says W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Mr. W. D. Scott, superintendent of immigration, makes the following statement: "Number of Canadians, dazzled by dreams of sudden wealth, as portrayed in the advertising matter issued by land companies and others interested in Cuba, anything but their sorrow that far-off hills are not always as green as painted."

"Through advices received from Canadian Government officials now in Cuba, it is learned that the Canadian colony of Ocean Beach during last fall was visited by three different hurricanes, which destroyed practically everything. The Canadian settlers as spoken of as sober and industrious people, who have been trapped by shameful misrepresentations into a hopeless proposition. Many are applying to the British minister and the agents of Canadian lines of steamers, for assistance in order to get back to Canada. One party who visited the settlement writes, 'I cannot imagine a picture more desolate than is that colony, nor a situation any more hopeless.' One of the settlers writes, 'The trouble is we are unable to speak the Spanish language, and while we are willing to work for anything we are without work and broke.'"

"Any Canadian considering investments in Cuba would be wise to make a thorough investigation of conditions before investing his capital or taking up his home there."

JAPANESE CRITICISE MINISTER KNOX

A Newspaper Outbreak—Bungling of Untrained American Diplomats.

Tokio, Jan. 11.—The entire press publishes editorials on the proposal of Mr. Knox, the American secretary of state, for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways. It also publishes interviews on the subject with leading ex-officials and publicists, who uniformly resent the proposal. Some of them are sarcastic regarding America's untrained diplomats bungling in the far east and suggest the reorganization of the American state department.

Others take a more sober view of the matter and point out the inability or unwillingness to borrow the necessary 1,000,000,000 yen, a loan the amount of which, it is declared, would imperil her finances. They contend that present conditions in Manchuria do not violate open door equality.

They ask if Mr. Knox would consent to neutralize enterprises in the Philippines or to suggest neutralization of the German projects in the Chinese province of Shantung.

Any protest against conditions in Manchuria should have been made at Portsmouth at the time of the negotiation of the Russo-Japanese peace, they say, and intimate that it would not be wisdom on the part of the powers to turn Manchuria into a second Balkans district.

ASSAULT BY OLD LADY

Grandmother of the Abducted Boy at Hamilton Fined $20.

Hamilton, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Martha Wilson, the grandmother of Freddie Vaughan, the 9-year-old boy who was abducted on Sunday last, appeared at the police court today on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Mary E. Brock, the child's guardian.

Mrs. Brock told the magistrate that as she was walking along the street a cab drove up to the curb and that Mrs. Wilson, accompanied by a man, jumped out and pushed her away, placing the lad in the cab, and driving off. She claimed that Mrs. Wilson struck her.

The magistrate fined the grandmother $20. There may be litigation over the custody of the child.

BY THE SKY ROUTE.

Berlin, Jan. 12.—An expedition is fitting out to proceed to Cross Bay, Spitzbergen, early in the spring to arrange for the starting place of the German Arctic exploring party, which later in the year will try to reach the North Pole in a dirigible balloon. Prince Henry is superintending the preparations.

FIRE IN WINNIPEG.

TO SAVE HIS SISTER BOY WORKS HARD

Rescued Just in Time Himself From the Ice Water.

Atlantic City, Jan. 12.—In an unsuccessful attempt to save his 14-year-old sister Martha, Edward Halloway, 12 years old, son of an engineer at the Absecon pumping station, plunged into the icy water of the reservoir pond and held up the girl, who had broken through the ice, until rescuers arrived.

Men with planks managed to get close enough to the children to grab the lad, but the girl's dress gave way after one of the men had grasped it and she sank. Her body was recovered later. The boy was unconscious after his struggle but may recover.

"Save sister, I can swim!" the lad pleaded when John Rider and Crawford Townsend, who had heard the cries of the children, reached him. With his last bit of strength the boy pushed the girl toward the rescuers and fell back exhausted with his coat just in reach of Rider, who drew him out.

A GREWSOME FIND.

Port Hope, Jan. 11.—Mr. Thomas Tucker made a grewsome find this morning, when he discovered imbedded in ice and snow underneath the east pier a left human foot encased in a rough boot. The foot was badly chewed by rats. Evidence of its having been attached at a recent date to a body was apparent in the condition of the ankle joint.

UNIONIZE FREIGHT HANDLERS.
 Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—There is a well-founded report in circulation that the International Longshoremen's Association will make a determined effort this year to secure recognition by the dock managers of the Lake Erie ports. Last year the "open shop" prevailed on the coal and ore docks of Lake Erie, though wage agreements were obtained by the freight handlers and the grain elevator men of the lower lakes.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 12.

CANADA'S POPULATION.

According to an estimate recently issued by the Dominion census bureau, the population of Canada is now 7,359,000—an increase of 1,375,655 since the last census was taken, eight years ago.

Most marked has been the increase of population in the West. In 1901 the population of Manitoba was found to be 255,211. The present estimate places it at 466,268—an increase in the eight years of 211,057. In the census year the combined population of Saskatchewan and Alberta—then known as the Northwest Territories—totalled 158,940; this latest estimate of the census bureau gives Saskatchewan 341,521, and Alberta 273,859—a total of 615,380 for the former territories, or an increase of 456,440 in the eight years. Adding to this Manitoba's 466,268, the total population of the three prairie provinces is found to be 1,081,648, an increase of 666,437.

Following is a comparison of the census figures of 1901 and the present estimate.

	1901.	1910.
New Brunswick.....	331,129	430,774
Nova Scotia.....	450,774	550,774
P. E. Island.....	162,259	212,259

Maritime Provinces.....	894,952	1,027,112
British Columbia.....	178,657	289,516
Manitoba.....	255,211	466,268
Ontario.....	2,182,947	2,619,025
Quebec.....	1,448,898	2,088,461

All parts of the Dominion, it will be seen, show increases, as follows:
Maritime Provinces..... 142,159
Quebec..... 639,563
Ontario..... 436,078
Manitoba..... 211,057
Saskatchewan and Alberta..... 456,440
British Columbia..... 110,859
Unorganized districts..... 6,490

The explanation given for grouping the Maritime Provinces instead of giving the figures for each, is that no accurate data of distribution of immigration in individual Maritime Provinces is available since the data of the last census, and the estimate of population is based on general figures as to the number of immigrants who have settled in the East, and on the estimate of the rate of natural increase.

DEFERRING TO "JOE."

The British electorate has a hard-hitter. This is one of the secrets of Chamberlain's power, and today his party yearns for him as a counterpoise to such political Dreadnoughts as Churchill and Lloyd-George. Even his manifestoes issued from his sick-room, though gaily reflections of his former self, are probably more effective than the speeches of the titular leader, Mr. Balfour. The Liberals, too, pay him the compliment of a copious citation from his old addresses as the most trenchant exposition of their own principles. They find a complete armory in his speeches of 25 years ago. For the attack upon the House of Lords there is nothing more telling than a quotation from Chamberlain. For the defence of the taxation of land, and the denunciation of the land monopoly, no arguments are so conclusive as Mr. Chamberlain's. When Liberals claim credit for old age pensions, they point to the fact that Mr. Chamberlain propounded the policy a quarter of a century ago, and made no effort to redeem his promise during his long tenure of office. Against the taxation of food, and in support of free trade, no plea could be more destructive of Mr. Chamberlain's policy today than Mr. Chamberlain's language in other days as follows:

"I can conceive it just possible, although it is very improbable, that though the sting of great suffering and deceived by misrepresentations, the working classes might be willing to try strange remedies, and might be foolish enough to submit for a time to a proposal to tax the food of the country."

A PARISIAN STRATAGEM.

[London Chronicle.]
For artistic methods the Parisian beggar is hard to beat. One man recently arrested was in the habit of wandering through the streets followed at a considerable distance by a Newfoundland dog. On seeing a bone or a crust in the gutter he would dart on it feverishly, and it would indubitably bring about the loss of the gigantic export trade which the industry and energy of the country working under conditions of absolute freedom has been able to create.

Even the home rulers lay claim to Chamberlain. They point out that before his rupture with Gladstone he was pressing for a measure of self-government for Ireland, and was the confidant of Parnell and the inner circle of the Irish party.

That Chamberlain should turn himself politically inside out; that he should denounce everything he once advocated, and champion everything he once denounced, and still remain a power in public life—the greatest individual power in his own party—are proofs of the Napoleonic qualities of the man, of his miraculous personal force, but unfortunately such a life and career, unlike those of Gladstone, teach no moral lesson and furnish no generous inspiration for present or future times.

"BY-PRODUCT OF A SLAUGHTER-HOUSE."

The piny breezes of the northland would seem to be promotive of strong expression. The Cobalt Citizen has been examining Drs. Payne and Scott's new Fourth Reader. By quotation from a score or more of the lessons, it discovers a warp of gory imperialism running throughout the book from start to finish. "Aside entirely," it says, "from the political significance of the collection, blood for the very sake of blood seems to have enthralled the caprice of the compilers, and scenes of strife and suffering are furnished in endless succession to mark their indelible impressions on developing minds. . . . Pity the poor youngsters who are driven by the tyrant officers to the digestion of this by-product of a slaughter-house."

Our English correspondent wires today that Prof. Jebb may be defeated in Martletown in spite of the intercession of Hon. W. J. Hanna et al. The professor has no reason to thank the Canadian "bitters-in."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will introduce the Government's naval defence bill today. The public are curious to learn whether the Opposition's policy has been altered beyond recognition since last session.

The dictum of that pompous prig, Lord Curzon, that "all civilization has come from aristocracies," rules out the Saviour and his disciples, as British statesmen have reminded him. It is not only a misreading of history, but an insult to the masses. Yet no doubt there are liksapitules, even in Canada, who will endorse Curzon's sentiments.

Mr. Balfour pleads for the preservation of the hereditary principle in the House of Lords. If the hereditary peers had exhibited common sense, the question might have been postponed. But they signed their political death warrant when they raised the constitution by throwing out the budget. It is their own fault if it is their own funeral.

The new Socialistic leader of the Unionist party, Robert Balfour, advances the crazy argument that it is the business of Great Britain to defend France from attack by Germany. He says that Germany will first attack France, not Great Britain, and will permanently occupy French territory. And this nightmare is hailed by British politicians and newspapers as the vision of a true prophet!

The Rev. James B. Freeman, of Delaware, finds himself assailed by some of his temperance brethren for his abstention from the local option campaign in the township. Mr. Freeman believes the three-fifths clause is an injustice, and thinks there will be no hope of repealing it so long as the temperance workers countenance it. His position is analogous to that of the "passive resisters" of the school law in England. Whether this attitude is the most effective one or not, having regard to immediate results, there is no doubt that the temperance cohorts could frighten the Government into removing the three-fifths handicap if they were unanimous, and proved themselves to be in earnest. Mr. Freeman at least showed the courage of his convictions, and those who know him will not dispute his sincerity, or his orthodoxy on the temperance question.

and the dog would rush up and snatch it from him. A terrific struggle ensued, ending in the flight of the dog, bearing off the prize, while the man lay exhausted on the ground. It is easy to imagine how kind-hearted wayfarers, after assisting him to rise, would shower coins on a poor devil driven by poverty to fight so desperately for a meagre crust.

"If your honor please," explained the court clerk, "with due deference to you, this jury knows this man better than the court does. We have decided not to believe him under oath. We don't think he is guilty, even if he swears to it."

A LORD'S LAST RESOURCE.

[Montreal Herald.]
"If you abolish the House of Lords," warned one of the members thereof in a speech from the hustings, "I shall straightway hunt up a constituency and be a candidate for members of the House of Commons." The statement puts in the most inclusive form the whole argument for and against the abolition of the second chamber. If the ablest men in the House of Lords would go to the other chamber, who then in the House of Commons? If the Lords would do what they could to run the country anyhow, why not leave them where they are, instead of introducing their evil influence into the popular body? There is really the whole case, and both sides of it.

WHY HARRY LAUDER SINGS.

[Harry Lauder to Cincinnati Scots.]
I have heard a number of remarks here concerning the $500 and $800 Harry Lauder is earning per week. Now, gentlemen, I never sang for money in my life. I sing for the joy of singing, just as the shepherd on the heath breaks into song for the joy of it. I began by singing for half a crown, and in time I became a marketable article. It is you people who pay me the salary. "And," he added, "quaintly and cannily, I will not say I'm a warbler. I love song. I loved it when, as a braw lad, I worked down under the earth, 200 fathoms deep, amid the coal and the water and the darkness, going in before it was light in the morning, and coming out at darkness. I do not act, for the man who tries to act, gives too much at times of his own personality. Take of life as God gives it. Be natural."

A Scottish Land Magnate for the Budget

The Marquis of Breadalbane, who owns 300,000 acres of land, presided at a meeting held at Aberfeldy on Dec. 31, in support of Mr. T. B. Morrison, Liberal candidate for West Perthshire. The marquis is one of the few Scottish land magnates who heartily support the budget, and his doing so is a good answer to the cry of "Socialism" against the Government. It will also help Mr. Morrison in his stiff fight in the division against the Marquis of Tullibardine, the eldest son of the Duke of Atholl, another great Perthshire landowner. The duke owns over 200,000 acres. The Marquis of Breadalbane has held various offices of dignity, and is the colonel commanding the Highland Cyclist Battalion. Though nearly sixty, his faith in Liberal principles remains strong and unshaken.

In his speech Lord Breadalbane said the House of Lords was within its right in rejecting the budget. Whether it was right or wise to have so acted was another matter. His own conviction was that the whole trouble of the budget was to be found in the licensing trade. He firmly believed that if the chancellor had not included an increase of license duties the budget would have passed into law. He pointed out that up to now the consumer had paid even more than the increased whiskey duty, and he gave his own personal experience in buying whiskey to prove this. One point had struck him, and that was that so little credit had been given Mr. Lloyd-George for his concessions. In the case of purely agricultural interests, though the majority of the people desired a second chamber, no one could uphold the hereditary system. Compulsory service was not popular in this country, and there was no reason why it should be enforced in the other chamber, who then in the House of Commons? If the Lords would do what they could to run the country anyhow, why not leave them where they are, instead of introducing their evil influence into the popular body? There is really the whole case, and both sides of it.

Tariff reform, continued. Lord Breadalbane, seemed to be a sort of quick medicine supposed to be capable of curing all ills. One would like to have some definite information what it really meant. If food came within the scope of the tariff, undoubtedly the cost of living would increase, and would press hard on the working man. Many years ago the marquis took part in an electioneering campaign in an English county, where he met many old men who remembered the agricultural laborer's lot before the repeal of the corn laws. All told the same story: Tow wages and dear food and misery, almost want, existing in many homes. One or two men told him that when the war children the loaf used to be cut in thin slices to make it go as far as possible, and butter was spread with a hot knife. When the children cried for more bread than the thin slice which could be given them, they were told they couldn't have it, because there would not be enough left for another day. He was also told that it was no uncommon thing for whole families to go to bed hungry. That was a state of affairs none of them wished to see again, but it was what must come if a tax was put upon food.

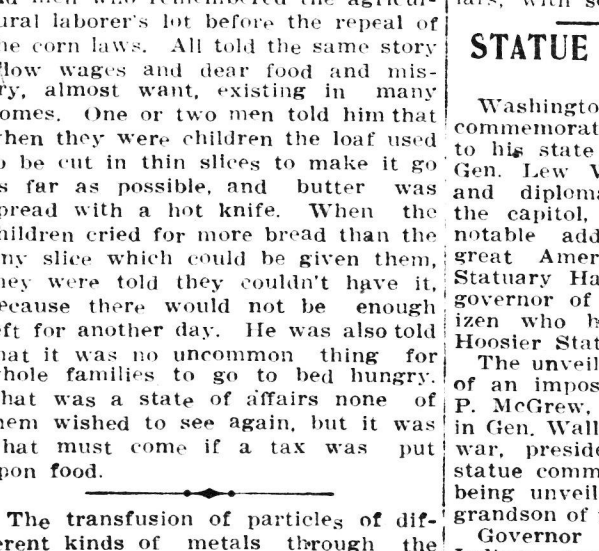

The transference of particles of different kinds of metals through the agency of electrical current has been held by some to take place just the same as in the case of electrolytes. Experience has been called the most eloquent of preachers, but unfortunately she never has a large congregation.

SCOTLAND YARD HOLDS ON TO HALL

The Forger Who Posed as Choir Singer Will Get His Dues in England.

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 12.—Frank Hall, under arrest in London, England, for forging checks, is wanted here on a similar charge. Hall, who is a young Englishman, broke into Windsor church society as a choir singer last spring, and soon disappeared, after forging the name of one of his patrons to a check, which was cashed at a local store. Hall is wanted also in Toledo, Columbus, Detroit and more than a dozen other places in Ontario.

The Windsor police, communicated with Scotland Yard detectives in an effort to have him returned here, but received the reply that the man would be first punished for his crooked actions in England.

BOROUGH OF BRONX HAS A CLEAN SWEEP

Tammany Adherents Sustain a Severe Shock—Scores Lose Fat Jobs.

New York, Jan. 11.—The cleanest sweep so far in any city department since the beginning of the new administration took place in the borough of the Bronx today. Shortly after Tammany circles had sustained a shock on learning that Park Commissioner Higgins had dropped 158 men from the park service in that borough, Borough President Miller of the Bronx, announced that he had received resignations from a dozen heads of borough departments and holders of important positions within his jurisdiction. Nearly all were high salaried men, including the chief engineer at $7,500 per annum, and superintendents of highways and buildings, and others, whose compensations ran from $3,000 to $5,000 each.

The cause of the fire is supposed to have been a defective pipe. The loss is fifteen hundred dollars, with some insurance.

STATUE OF LEW WALLACE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—In commemoration of his great services to his state and country a statue of Gen. Lew Wallace, soldier, author, and diplomat, has been placed in the capitol, thus marking another notable addition to the galaxy of great Americans whose effigies adorn Statuary Hall, Oliver P. Morton, war governor of Indiana, is the other citizen who has been honored by the Hoosier State in the same manner.

The unveiling was made the occasion of an imposing ceremony. Capt. John P. McGraw, who served as an officer in Gen. Wallace's command in the civil war, president of the Lew Wallace statue commission, presided, the figure being unveiled by Lew Wallace, jun., grandson of the general.

Governor Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, accepted the statue on behalf of his state.

MADAME'S WARD

BY PAULINE BEVERLY.

"You are going on in a fair way to die, I should think. Nat, look here—be the sensible one. You are a little girl, and break on this confounded engagement now—tomorrow! It is not too late. What's the good of it all, anyhow? Here are you, fretting yourself to death, here is Roger just as miserable as he can be, and you are to be two hundred miles away from Whittlesford before the week's out—and all for what? Some wild little girl's fancy could be set right in two minutes if you only chose. Come now—let me tell him tomorrow that you want him to come to you to make it all up. Shall I?"

"No," she said, shortly and coldly, drawing herself away. "You mean that you are going on with this suicidal engagement to Frode?" "I said, more than half-hungry, for, from the quiet way in which she had listened to me, I had fancied that I was making some impression upon her. "You mean that?" "I mean just that."

"If you do, I believe you'll be dead before you've been married a year," I retorted. "I hope I shall."

"And a cheerful prospect that is. I don't believe you mean it. Come, now—just say 'Yes' and I shall know that Roger is to come here tomorrow, poor old boy, and that Frode may go to Bath! Come, now—say it."

"I will not," she cried, passionately. "I tell you that if he comes here I will neither see him nor speak to him."

"Although you are breaking your heart after him now?" I said, bluntly. "If that were true," she returned, defiantly, "don't you know that I would rather die a thousand times than tell him so."

"If it were my case, I'd sooner tell him so a thousand times than tell him so once," I rejoined, practically. "Then you won't send a message to him?" "No," she replied, turning away stubbornly. "Although he's going away miserably."

"What answer I should have made I do not know, for Mrs. Deeping always exercised a most depressing effect upon my conversational powers, but, as luck would have it, the door opened just then to admit the rector. He greeted me with his usual jollity, and I gave him Madame's message—I have forgotten what it was now. Then he looked across at the major.

"By the way, Constable, have you that book we were speaking of the other day?"

"Yes," the other answered. "I meant to bring it with me today, but it slipped my memory. Are you in any hurry for it?"

"Yes, rather. In fact, there should be a reference or two in it that I want tonight. I tell you what—I'll step round with you to the Lodge and get it. It's a fine night for a walk."

The major's ready assent was stopped by Mrs. Deeping's treacherous voice. "What is that you are saying, William? I did not hear. I'm quite certain that I am getting deaf, although, of course, you will never perceive it."

"Just around to the Lodge, my dear. Constable has a book that I want," responded the rector, cheerfully. The man's unflinching good temper ought to have served as a cloak for the whole catalogue of his sins, whatever they were—that is certain. "Shall not be long—not more than half an hour or so, I dare say."

"Then I wish that, as you are going out, you would take a message to Redpots. Really I don't know what has come to Doctor Yorke. He used to be so attentive, and now he has forgotten the lotion for two days together. Will you call for it? I shall not close my eyes this night without it, I am certain."

As gravely as though he believed in the lotion, the placid rector promised that he would cheerfully adding that it would not take much longer if he went round by the river path; and then the major and I said good-night and went out into the hall, Alice following.

She remonstrated as I took down my coat. "What—you off, too, Ned? I declare it is too bad! I thought you meant to stay and help me to listen to mother. It's too much for me—only a moderately robust person—to attempt, you know."

"Now, now, my dear," the rector expostulated at the burlesque of his plump person. "I wouldn't say that if I were you."

"No, daddy, dear; you are content to think it. Miss Alice returned, with the coolest audacity, pinching his ear. "Then you won't be merciful and help me, Ned?"

I said that I wished to walk with the Little Soldiers

Inspector to Redpots, too. I wanted to see Yorke. "Of course!" cried Alice, pouting. "What will you do without your friend passing my comprehension. Well, if you must go, you must. Mind you give my love to Natalie; and tell her I'll never forgive her for being such a little stupid!"—for Miss Deeping could not at all get over Ned's luckless engagement to the master of Holme-deans.

We went to the Lodge, obtained the book the rector wanted, and then, coming out again, hesitated a little. It was intensely cold—the coldest night I think that we had had that winter—and the rector shivered under his thick coat. Evidently he did not much care for the walk down by the river to Redpots, and, seeing it, I suggested that I should give Mrs. Deeping's message there, and that he and the major should go back to the rectory. But he laughed at that.

"My dear boy, if I appear without that blessed lotion, I shall never hear the last of it. No, I'll come. It isn't far—that's one comfort."

The major would come, too; and we all three turned off in the direction of the road by the river, which, as I have said, was the shortest way to Redpots, cutting off as it did a great loop of the High Street. And very cold it was by the river, although very pretty, for a light snow had fallen early in the day which covered everything with a glittering mantle of white. The rector was almost as fond of every inch of Whittlesford as I was, and he paused presently to look about him.

MILLIONAIRE'S GIRL WEDS A CHAUFFEUR

Family of C. Howland Leavitt, New York, in a Peck of Trouble.

New York, Jan. 11.—The family of C. Howland Leavitt, banker and railroad financier, confirms the announcement that his daughter, Margaret Howland Leavitt, 25 years old, and her lover, a chauffeur, are married.

Miss Leavitt's father purchased for her a six-cylinder motor car last summer, and engaged Smolken, who was formerly James J. Corbett's chauffeur, to teach her to operate it. Last Thursday he and Miss Leavitt went to Jersey City and were married, according to the statement issued by her family.

The bride's parents have not announced their forgiveness.

PECULIAR SITUATION AMONG TELEGRAPHERS

C. P. R. Men Ask U. S. Consul-General for Assistance.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 11.—A peculiar situation has arisen among the C. P. R. telegraphers here, resulting in an appeal to the United States consul-general for assistance in the transportation of four United States operators back to the United States.

For some time the local C. P. R. telegraph service has been recruited somewhat extensively in Chicago and other American cities, and several were hired in the United States some time ago and brought to Canada. The local operators were very bitter at the time, claiming that the alien labor law was being violated by bringing these men to hold as a club over them. Now the men have been released, and they are going home.

They have demanded transportation home but cannot get it from the company, hence their appeal to the consul-general.

WOMAN LEADS NEW YORK

Pays More Taxes on Personal Property Than Any Other Citizen.

New York, Jan. 11.—No. Andrew Carnegie and his millions in steel, but a woman with millions left by her husband, heads the list of personal property assessments made public in New York today. She is Mrs. Emma J. Kennedy, widow of John S. Kennedy, who left $26,500,000 to charity when he died recently; and she must pay taxes on personal property valued at $6,000,000. Carnegie, who topped the list last year, tied this year for second place with Mrs. Russell Sage at $5,000,000.

John D. Rockefeller comes third with personal property assessed at $2,500,000, and in fourth place is Florence Amsick and Bessie McLeod Leggett, and W. K. Vanderbilt, each assessed for $1,000,000. William K. Vanderbilt, jun., is listed for half a million.

Col. John Jacob Astor and J. P. Morgan may pay on a personal property of $400,000. Charles M. Schwab is down for $250,000. Jacob H. Schiff for $200,000, and August Belmont and Thomas F. Ryan for $100,000 each.

SUNSHINE SOCIETY VISIT THE ASYLUM

Splendid Programme Put on by the Members.

A most enjoyable concert was given at the asylum on Monday evening by the Sunshine Society of St. Clair's foundry. Mr. J. Barne, who organized the society, was in the chair. The programme opened with "The Maple Leaf," sung by a chorus composed of F. J. Delaney, E. C. Howey, W. A. Bailey, B. Faulkes, C. Burns and P. Barne. This was followed by songs by Miss Duncan, Miss O'Neil and Mrs. Reid.

Mrs. Patterson captured the audience with her Scotch songs. Mr. J. Pulkin, with his violin, kept the audience roaring with laughter, and Mr. John Patterson, who, in his native dress of the heather, was remarkably good in his comic Scotch songs. Mr. Wm. Dickson gave some selections on the mandolin which were excellent.

Mr. James Patterson rendered several solos most acceptably. At the conclusion of the programme the members of the society were tendered a banquet by the asylum staff, and heartily thanked for the excellent entertainment they had provided.

KILLED IN BASKET FACTORY.

Hamilton, Jan. 11.—A fatal accident occurred in the basket factory at Waterdown yesterday. When John Slater was working at a circular saw he fell across it in some way, and before the machinery could be stopped his body was almost cut in two. Slater was dead when released. The deceased was well known in the neighborhood, and leaves a widow and four children. It is only a short time since the factory was opened.

Women Cannot be Strong and Healthy Unless the Kidneys are Well.

Weak, lame or aching backs are the first sign of Kidney Trouble. Under ordinary conditions they ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back. Backaches come from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order. Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

Miss Alberta B. Clarke, Stony Creek, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with kidney trouble for several years; my back was weak, I had such terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night. I tried everything without any benefit. Meaningless I had agreed to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got four boxes and they completely cured me. I now feel as well as I ever did and would advise everyone suffering from Kidney Disease to try them."

SENSATIONAL COLLAPSE IN COTTON PRICES

Monday's Break Followed by Continued Excitement and Rapid Fluctuation.

New York, Jan. 11.—Yesterday's sensational break in the cotton market was followed by continued excitement and very erratic fluctuations at the reopening of business this morning. The price of additional margin in consequence of yesterday's sudden decline of nearly 50 cents per bale in prices, had brought in a perfect avalanche of selling orders from out of town, and after opening from 10 to 15 points higher, owing to relatively firm Liverpool cables the active months broke about 20 points in less than that number of minutes, with March selling at 15.25, and May at 15.25, the latter month being a shade under the lowest point reached yesterday.

After the initial burst of forced liquidation the market rallied on covering, and a renewal of bull support, with March selling up to 15.50, and May to 15.50, or about $1 per bale from the lowest before the end of the first hour.

INTERESTING FIGURES OF THE COST OF LIVING

Some Strong Statements Made by Those Who Have Been Investigating.

Some idea of the very rapid advance that has taken place in the cost of living all over the country are given in a series of articles by Messrs. J. R. Cahill and J. P. Street, the British labor experts, who have been making an investigation in the United States and Canada.

According to their figures if a man earned $100 a month ten years ago and is now earning $100, his wages have been reduced by practically $60.

The statement is also made that if a person goes into the market to buy 100 articles, which two years ago would have cost $12 he will now have to pay $11.62 for them.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS GIVE REGULARITY AND GOOD HEALTH.

Every woman at some time needs a tonic. At special times unusual demands are made upon her strength. Where there are added to the worry and hard work which fall to her lot, weakness will result unless the blood is fortified to meet the strain.

Weak women find in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the body a tonic which meets their needs. Most of the ills with which they suffer are due to bloodlessness—a condition which the Pills readily cure. These Pills save the woman who suffers from weakness, from a bloodless condition from years of misery, and afford prompt and permanent relief to the woman who is bloodless, and therefore weak. Mrs. R. Field, Gates Mills, N. B., writes: "Some time ago my system was in a very anaemic condition as the result of an internal hemorrhage caused by an accident. Though I had the services of a skilled doctor for a time, I did not recover my strength, and gradually I grew so weak that I could not do any housework. As I seemed to grow steadily weaker I became much discouraged, for previous to my accident I had always been a healthy woman. About this time I received a pamphlet telling me of the wonderful powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I procured a box at once, and began using them; when they were gone I got three boxes more, and by the time I had used these I found myself somewhat stronger, and my appetite much better. Before I began the Pills I could scarcely walk upstairs, and could do no work at all. Now after taking three boxes I was able to walk out in the open air. I kept on with the Pills, and after using six boxes was delighted to find that I could again attend to my household affairs. I took two more boxes of the Pills, and I felt that I was as well as ever I had been, and equal to any kind of exertion. I have since recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to friends with beneficial results."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by Dr. Wm. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

LEITCH—TURK

Very Happy Event at Bride's Home in Aldboro.

A very happy event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Turk, con. 2, Aldboro Township, Wednesday, Jan. 5, when their eldest daughter, Lola Pearl, was united in marriage to Archie J. Leitch, of the same township, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Barnett, of Kintyre.

Promptly at 7 o'clock, to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Miss Kathleen Leitch, the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the parlor, which was tastefully decorated, and took her place beneath an arch of evergreens and roses, where the ceremony was performed. Miss Maggie Leitch was the bridesmaid, while Mr. Wilson G. Turk performed the duties of groomsmen. The bride was prettily gowned in white Indian lawn, and wore a bridal veil. The bridesmaid was dressed in pink "null".

After the usual congratulations the company repaired to the dining-room, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. The evening was then spent in games and music, after which Mr. and Mrs. Leitch drove to their own home.

The groom is a prosperous farmer in Aldboro Township. The bride presents were numerous and beautiful, and bore ample testimony to the popularity of the young couple. Guests were present from Bosanquet, Orford, Port Huron and other places. Their many friends extend heartiest congratulations.

DEATH OF MR. TREBILCOCK

Well-Known Resident of London Passed Away Yesterday.

Mr. George Trebilcock, of No. 312 Queen's avenue, died at his residence Tuesday afternoon, after a brief illness. He was born in Cornwall, England, Nov. 17, 1829. He retained his vigorous health until June of last year, when he sustained a slight stroke. Christmas Day he was able to be up and enjoyed the gathering of his family, but since then gradually grew weaker, and passed peacefully away yesterday afternoon. He is survived by three sons and five daughters—Fred, Harry, and Alfred, and Mrs. E. Skinner, Mrs. E. H. Scraton, Mrs. W. H. Sanborn, Mrs. E. A. Fox, and Minnie.

TURKISH CABINET NOW COMPLETED

Protest of Porte Against the Invasion by Sultan's Rights by Crete.

Constantinople, Jan. 11.—The new cabinet, of which Hakkia Bey is grand vizier, has been completed, with the exception of the ministers of public instruction and pious foundations. Changes have been made only in the ministries of war, marine and mines and forests.

The Porte announced that it had received replies from the British and Russian Governments to its note recently issued regarding the Cretan situation. The Porte protested against an invasion of the sovereign rights of the Sultan through the Cretan executive committee, taking the oath of allegiance to King George of Greece, and the adoption of a resolution by the Cretan Assembly to introduce the Hellenic code of laws.

Both Great Britain and Russia express regret at the policy of the Cretans and intimate that measures are under way to prevent any further acts of the kind.

LUMBERMAN LEFT TO DIE FROM COLD

Foreman of the Gang Has Been Arrested on Charge of Manslaughter.

Winnipeg, Jan. 11.—A coroner's jury has found that Andrew Coleman died as a result of exposure, and that death was due to gross carelessness on the part of John C. Comlins, who was in charge of a party of laborers, en route to Comlins' lumber camp.

The evidence showed that the laborers arrived with a number under the influence of liquor, and started on an eight-mile march to the camp from Darwin. The deceased strayed at dusk, falling a few feet from the road, where he was found frozen stiff in the morning by volunteer searchers. It did not appear that Comlins made any effort to find the missing man. Comlins was the last witness and got a "bad" grilling in the box.

Fifteen minutes after the inquest Comlins was arrested on the coroner's warrant, which charged him with manslaughter.

TRIES SUICIDE TWO WAYS

Arthur Axell, of Toronto, Took Poison and Leaped From Bridge.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—About 10 o'clock tonight, Arthur Axell, who says he lives at 385 Church street, took a dose of rough-on-rats and then jumped off York street bridge onto the railway tracks. He is probably fatally injured. The doctors at St. Michael's Hospital hope to pull him through.

Two boys found a top coat on the bridge, and looking over, saw a man lying on the tracks. The railway officials being notified, had the injured man removed just before a train rushed in.

Boils and Pimples.

Whenever your complexion is unnatural, your skin in an unhealthy condition, your face covered with blotches and pimples, when boils and festering sores abound then your blood is bad. You can best cleanse it with that purely vegetable compound, Burdock Blood Bitters, which safely and promptly renovates the blood and invigorates the entire system.

Mr. C. A. Mussen, Bawlf, Alta., writes: "I recommend Burdock Blood Bitters as being the best blood purifier there is. About three years ago I was greatly troubled with boils and our druggist advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters and after taking two bottles I have not had a boil or even a pimple."

Mr. J. Morehouse, Zealand Station, N.B., writes: "My face and neck were covered with pimples, and I tried all kinds of remedies, but they did me no good. I went to many doctors, but they could not cure me. I then tried Burdock Blood Bitters and I must say it is a wonderful remedy for the cure of pimples."

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Was Your Father a Monkey?"

To the Editor of the Advertiser:

It is a pleasure to note that the Reverend Doctor Roland Dwight Grant, who came all the way from New Hampshire, partly to tell us whether our father was a monkey, is now a reader of The Advertiser, and to think that in a future letter he may answer a question or two without further waste of space on the question. He doesn't like my name. It is too bad that we cannot reciprocate, for I think his a very fine one, and in itself a fair example of evolution, seeing that part of it came by heredity, part by environment and part by his own efforts.

He is right in saying that I am not sufficiently evolved, but I am trying to make progress. He may be right, too, in declaring that I am ignorant of what he did say. I judged of that by the impression he made upon the reporters, who are usually bright fellows. It would be rude to hint that he may not have been intelligible. Certainly some of the people who paid their money to learn whether their father was a monkey, understood the lecturer to say that the common human progenitor was not evolved, but stood forth at first a perfect man—an instantaneous or immediate creation.

Such was the hypothesis that I used to believe—namely, that the Creator fashioned the present form of man and gave, stag and hind, man and woman, and each of the other 276,000 odd species of animals out of the ground, breathed life into the clay forms and set them going. What can the reverend doctor's theory of the origin of species be? In his letter he seems to deny instantaneous creation, and the theory of catastrophe as it is technically called. If he is not a catastrophist nor an evolutionist, what is he? A neoplatonist at this late date or an agnostic? Surely he did not take the peoples' money for a simple negative to his question. If he has a message of truth to give, a hundred times as many people will receive it through these columns as from his lips in a lecture room.

As to death-bed discoveries upon which he sets so much store, he has to learn that these cut a small figure in the field of science. So far as Darwin is concerned, he is entirely wrong. The admissions, or confessions, if he prefers the term, that Darwin made, threw not the slightest doubt on evolution as a principle, but referred to the possibility of his oversight or underestimation of some of the factors. Darwin strongly emphasized natural selection and the survival of the fittest, but in the end admitted that there might be more in such other factors as mutation, and so on, etc., than he had recognized. Will he give the date of Virchow's repudiation of evolution? Has he it from Virchow's lips? If not, upon whose authority? Give page and date. Huxley criticized the "Vestiges of Creation," but he lived to change his mind. Virchow disagreed with Haeckel about teaching evolution in the public schools, but his arguments would apply equally against teaching there any other theory of origin.

The reverend doctor says that only a few people believe in evolution. "The more it's true the more's the pity." Can he find a single scientist of any distinction who will sign this declaration: "I do not believe in evolution"? Can he name a prominent theological school where the doctrine is not taught at least implicitly?

It ought not to be necessary to say that there is a wider gap theologically between mechanical evolutionists like Haeckel and Virchow and theological evolutionists like Tennison and Asa Gray, than between the latter and the honest local preacher, referred to in my first letter, who with such ferocious earnestness denounced Darwin and Tom Paine thirty years ago. Here is an evolutionist's Christmas salutation. Will the reverend doctor point out what is wrong with it?

"Each year the race of men draws a little nearer to the gentile, all-creating life force that was left into the world at Bethlehem. Already we suffer together and labor together in a richer fellowship than in any of the blind eons of our upcoming. And now we are again at the season when we arise and go from here in the everlasting march. And that march is up and up. And with each new upward step, we thrill at the lift, and then sigh with the weariness. But the fatigue is only the cry of the flesh, while the thrill is the prophecy of the final height."

To me, at least, this seems a more wholesome and Christian point of view than my former catastrophic one that regarded man and all the rest as starting from the summit of perfection and, with the doubtful exception of the fraction of one per cent, travelling downward ever since towards the pit of destruction.

The Wealth of the World Has Been Made From Oil

The Man Who Invests $10 Today in This Proposition is in the Pathway of One Thousand Per Cent Within a Year

Do you know that if you were fortunate enough to own shares in the Home Oil Company, The San Francisco Petroleum Company, The Pacific Coast Oil Company, or, in fact, any of the big American Oil Companies, you would find that the stock which you purchased several years ago at below par value would be worth today, in many instances, from $100 to $1,000 above par value of the shares, while in each instance you would receive enormous annual dividends, since the oil industry has proven to be a most profitable enterprise.

A great and most eminent geologist of the day tells us that the Canadian Oil Industry is in its infancy and the history of the Pennsylvania Oil Fields will be repeated in the great oil belt of Southern Alberta.

Dr. Dawson and Dr. Selwyn, two eminent geologists, after careful study and research, tell us that great subterranean pools of petroleum underlie and completely saturate what is known as the Pincher Creek Oil District, the central portion of Southern Alberta. It was Dr. Dawson who predicted the wealth of the Kootenays and foresaw years ago the present day oil activities of Alberta.

Walter Renton Ingalls, a distinguished American mining engineer, says: "The great discovery of oil in the Alberta Oil Fields will revolutionize the industries of Canada. The Alberta Oil is of such a quality that it can be refined for 40 cents or .50 cents per barrel cheaper than any oil known, owing to the small quantity of sulphur it contains. It is far superior to any oil found in other parts of Canada or the United States."

The Chicago-Alberta Oil Fields Company, Ltd., an all-Canadian corporation, operated under a charter issued by the Provincial Government at Edmonton, Alberta, have control of nine square miles (5,760 acres) of the finest petroleum lands in all this country. Its property is literally saturated with Oil—Oil of the finest quality.

John W. Warren, the eminent expert of the Standard Oil Company, after a recent visit to the property, issued the following report:

TESTIMONY OF JOHN W. WARREN

(Expert Analyst, Inventor and Proprietor of Warren's Waterless Process for Refining Gasoline) Mr. David Black.

Pincher Creek, Alberta, Canada.

Dear Sir:

In reply to yours of recent date, I will say that I went to the oil fields of Alberta, Canada, and saw oil oozing out of the rocks and ground, and floating away on small creeks. I went to the last "seep" and saw the oil running down the rocks for at least 300 feet. I saw a great many oil springs. I gathered some of the oil in a bottle and brought it home; some I caught flowing from a well 750 feet deep. I took my small still, hydrometer, and other things necessary to make a test with me—I found it.

40 degrees Baume 68-100 lbs weight per gallon, wine measure.

It contains 20 to 25 per cent gasoline. I distilled and refined some gasoline and did it without sulphuric acid or lead. It was very fine, in fact the finest I ever saw. I made some axle grease out of the Alberta oil just as it came from the well near Pincher Creek. We greased a buggy, two wheels on one side with this axle grease, and the other two wheels with pure castor oil. The axle grease ran twice as long as the castor oil and without gum. Further, I have treated oils from New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Texas, Kansas, California and Eastern Canada. I consider Alberta Oil to be the best of all in gasoline and lubricating oil. It contains less sulphur than any oil I have treated. Any man can see that there is a great demand in Canada for Alberta oil, for five-sixths of the oil used there comes from the United States. You ask my opinion. I think the oil fields of Alberta are as good as ever the Pennsylvania were.

I remain yours, JOHN W. WARREN.

It goes without saying that Mr. Warren must think most highly of the property of the company else he could not so irretrievably indorse the holdings of this company.

The superintendent of the works discovered quite recently a seam of the finest bituminous coal. This seam is ten feet in depth and runs the full length of the property.

This find greatly enhances the value of the property and materially strengthens and advances the value of every share of stock in the company, and although it is not the intention of the corporation to immediately develop the coal, but rather to carry out to completion the drilling operations, it is only a matter of a few weeks until the drills will be at work; therefore, we will be able to offer for the next 15 days a block of 50,000 shares of stock at 30 cents per share, when the price will be advanced to 35 cents or 40 cents, and once the drills are at work the stock will naturally advance rapidly. Within a very short time the drills will be down to the oil-level and in all probability selling at par, and those who are fortunate to buy today at 30 cents will be able to double their money in a very short time. Don't you see that if you were to buy 200 shares today at 30 cents per share you could sell 100 shares in a few weeks when the price is 60 cents, and you have 100 shares free of all cost to yourself.

Remember, that not a share will be delivered on or after the 22nd inst, at 30 cents. The terms are 10 cents per share cash, balance 62-3 cents per share, per month. If all cash be paid at the time of purchase a certificate will be issued immediately. No block less than 100 shares will be sold.

The company is a limited liability corporation. The shares are non-assessable. Once the present price is paid in full for each share, no further liability or obligation is attached to the holder of the said certificate. Address all your communications to moned. Mr. Brush, who was the youngest man of the three, and has only one arm, was tended to first and taken to his home.

LONDON MEN HURT

Brought to London. The London men were then cared for temporarily, and afterwards boarded a train and came to London, where they were able to walk to Dr. Drake's office, and have their burns dressed.

The skin was badly scorched and the injury very painful. They were part of the staff of Mr. Bugg, who has charge of all the work of looking after wells and supplying engines with water.

Taken to Hospital.

The condition of D. W. Smyth, of 577, Fleet street, and William Hogan, of 439 Grey street, the two Grand Trunk men injured in the explosion of natural gas at Forest west, is so serious that they were removed from their homes this morning to Victoria Hospital.

Both men suffered the most intense pain all through the night, and this morning their faces were so badly swollen that they were unable to see.

Will Recover.

Dr. F. P. Drake, who is attending them, stated to The Advertiser that, although both men are terribly burned and in very bad shape he thinks they will both recover.

It is thought that during the time in which they were exposed before medical aid arrived the frost got into the burns.

The Explosion.

Mr. Hogan is probably the worst burned of the three men. At the time of the explosion he was repairing a pipe, and as it was dark Mr. Smyth lighted a match in order to see the work. As soon as he saw the light a terrific explosion which wrecked the shed, above the well. The explosion was accompanied by a scorching flame, which burned the men's faces and hands and set fire to their clothes.

Hogan a Hero.

Hogan played the part of a hero. The man Brush, of Forest, who was at work at the top of the well, was badly burned and having only one arm could not tear his burning clothes off. Hogan, although partially dazed from the shock, took in the situation and despite the fact that his own clothes were burning, leaped to the rescue of the crippled man, and not until his friend's clothes were torn off and the man was safe did he look out for himself.

In the meantime he was badly burned, in addition to searching he received at the time of the explosion.

Suffered Greatly.

The whole of the skin about his neck, face and hands peeled off and he was in such a condition that it was decided to remove him once to the hospital, where everything possible is being done to alleviate his suffering.

BRITISH ELECTIONS

Two more industries may come London's way shortly. At a meeting of the manufacturers' committee held yesterday afternoon, representatives from the Watt Manufacturing Company of Ridgeway were present, and interviewed the members relative to locating here.

The company's premises at Ridgeway were recently burned out, and they are anxious to find another location. They were quite willing to come to the city of London, and some inducements could be given them.

Offer Is Made.

After much discussion it was decided to offer them, on motion of Ald. Eckert, a fixed assessment for ten years and free work. This was agreeable to Mr. Watt, who will submit his proposition in writing.

The firm employed 35 to 40 hands in Ridgeway, and manufacture windmills and threshing machines, etc. The company's capitalization amounts to $50,000, of which $37,000 is paid up. No definite site has been selected, but it is probable that it will be in the East End along the line of the C. P. R.

"We should do all we can to encourage the establishment of industries here," said Ald. Eckert. "This will probably grow rapidly, and then it will be of inestimable benefit to the citizens."

Those present at the meeting were: Ald. Fitzpatrick, chairman; Mayor Beattie, Ald. Pocock, Ald. Eckert, Ald. Underwood, Ald. Tancore, Ald. Jeffries, Ald. Ashplant, Mr. D. H. Gillies, Mr. W. M. Manning and Secretary S. Baker.

Another One.

Still another firm is looking for a place to establish themselves in the city.

Strange to say, they are asking no concessions. Three gentlemen in the firm—one of them from Winnipeg—were here yesterday, and had an interview with Mayor Beattie and Ald. Underwood. They looked over a possible site, and if satisfactory arrangements can be made, they will establish here.

"I have been in touch with them for some time," said Mayor Beattie to The Advertiser. "They are asking for nothing. They want to start here, and will do so if satisfactory arrangements can be made for a certain place. They consider London the ideal spot for them, and they are willing to take a chance on us. They will give an answer to-day, and I am confident that we can induce them to locate in London."

BIG PLUM FOR TORONTO.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—The total earnings of the Toronto Street Railway for the past year reached $3,903,257 50, of which amount the city received 16 per cent, or $625,321 49, without including the mileage and taxes, the sum of $507,827 49. When mileage and taxes are added, it will be found that the city netted nearly $750,000 on last year's operation of the road.

No Peer at West Ham.

Mr. C. P. G. Masterman, a member of the Government, West Ham, said he was waging no war against Conservatives themselves, but against their creed, which he was beginning to hate more and more every day.

The Conservatives were shrinking from the very issues they had cried for. His opponent had said nothing in his address about the Lords or the budget, and unfortunately for him had been to West Ham to explain why the peers threw out the budget. They had been shouting for Dreadnoughts, and when the 2nd Lord refused to pay, "Shame!" It was the most contemptible hypocrisy that any party had ever been guilty of. (Cheers.)

"Fighting Cocks."

The possession of a number of old English gamecocks has given rise to a challenge among the Rugby division of Warwickshire. Lord Clonmell, the Liberal candidate, alluded to the matter at a meeting of electors in the assembly room at Rugby.

"When Lord Denbigh was at this hall some nights ago," said Lord Clonmell, "he said I was a connoisseur of fighting cocks. (A voice: "We don't believe him.") I deny that publicly. I don't say I don't know anything about the corn law. I should know that it was a degrading pastime to follow, and that if I, in the intervals of cock-fighting, would study the history of the corn law, I should know that the price of corn did not go down immediately those laws were repealed.

"I want to make a complete denial of what Lord Denbigh said. Since I have been fighting this constituency in the Liberal cause, Lord Denbigh has been making personal and low-down attacks upon me. It is quite true that I have in my possession a certain number of old English gamecocks. Now I will give £100 to a Kenilworth charity if Lord Denbigh can prove to the satisfaction of anyone who is a dispassionate judge that during the time I have been in this neighborhood those old English gamecocks of mine have ever engaged in a main of cocks. I will go further. I will say this. I am well aware that Lord Denbigh's faith permits him in certain circumstances to indulge in terminological inexactitudes. But I was not under the impression until I read Lord Denbigh's speech in the papers that he had ever revealed a special disposition to circulate a calculated and frightful lie of such a sort as this."

The Playful Duchess.

The scare which the vigorous campaign against the House of Lords has established in ducal circles is in no way better evidenced than in the wail which comes from Clumber. Not only the noble ladies themselves, but their titled ladies, are to be dragged into the fray. The Duchess of Newcastle has written—and her absurd effusion is being vigorously advertised on local Conservative platforms—explaining why she is unable to take any part in the Red Cross movement in the district. She does not, she is good enough to say, entirely disapprove of the scheme, but she does not see why we should make these preparations for foreign invasion while the army is being reduced and we go on watching half the new ships being built that we ought to have, while in the German dockyards Dreadnoughts are growing by the dozen.

Peers Against Free Speech.

Two cases in which peers are preventing Liberal speakers from holding meetings in halls which they own or control were reported yesterday.

Lord Blythwood has refused to allow Mr. Frank, the Liberal candidate for Northampton, to use the Kirkwood Hall for a meeting. Lord Blythwood owns large coal fields in the neighborhood, and the hall is questioned in the center of a colliery district. The text of his letter is as follows:

Bathurst House, Loch Aish, Dec. 25.

I am in receipt of yours of the 23rd inst., and Lord Blythwood very much regrets he cannot conscientiously grant the use of the Kirkwood Hall for your meeting, as he would thereby be giving countenance to what he believes to be working for the ruin of the nation.

The Earl of Pembroke was asked by the Free Trade Union to allow the use of the Wyvern Hall for a meeting. This was refused.

Wilson Estate Office, Salisbury.

Dear Sir—I am desired by Lord Pembroke to say, in answer to your request, that as he has already granted the use of the hall to Mr. Verney for a meeting, at which free trade principles were fully and ably advocated by Colonel Seely and others, he does not consider that he ought to be asked for the use of the hall again for a similar object. Yours faithfully,

G. R. KENDLE.

Budget and Drunkenness.

As a result of a higher duty on spirits imposed by the budget the arrests for drunkenness in Edinburgh this year will show a decline of quite 25 per cent. Higher duty was introduced since the year 1906, and the quarter since the rate of decline increased, and the total is the lowest for nearly ten years. The latest trade reports show that there has been substantial recovery in the consumption of whiskey, and this is fully borne out by the figures as to drunkenness during the present quarter.

Peers on Reform of the Lords.

Lord Portsmouth, speaking at a Unionist meeting at Crediton, said England was being asked to reduce the House of Lords to a plant fiction, to destroy the supremacy of the Imperial Parliament, and to sanction the doctrine that a man's capital as well as his income should be taxed.

The admitted that the Liberals had substantial grievance against the House of Lords, and that this position was far too one-sided. He did not attach undue importance to the hereditary principle, and was skeptical as to the practicability of retaining the House of Lords. It would be unfair to make the peers elect a certain number of themselves to sit in Parliament, for that would simply open the door to party wire-pulling, nor was he a great believer in the principle of qualification, though it might be well to say that no peer should sit in the House of Lords unless he had served some many years in the House of Commons.

The state gained little, and religion lost much by the representation of the latter in the Lords, and he would rather see the abolition of the House of Lords than the representation of the House of Commons.

Scotch Tweeds For Germans.

The Master of Ellbank, M. P., under Secretary for India, addressing a meeting in the Guildhall, Bath, England, remarked that the Government had not quack remedies for unemployment, but by the establishment of labor exchanges and labor boards they had done much on same and legitimate lines to assist and supplement the organization of labor. (Cheers.) There was a quiet, steady improvement of trade and less unemployment. So far as Scotland was concerned the great tweed industries and mills were working night and day, and what for? For German and American customers. (Cheers.) A linen manufacturer at Dunfermline, Scotland, has been more hands. The iron trade was also showing a remarkable improvement. The commercial supremacy of this country was marvellous, and let them not be lulled by the success of the gentleman who had been 30 years out of business advised them to go so. It would be absurd and ridiculous. (Cheers.)

A Lesson in Land Values.

Speaking at a great Liberal demonstration at Hastings, Mr. Twedd South, the Liberal candidate for the borough, said that on the Cornwallis estate (which is situated in the centre of the borough), there were 60 acres let for agricultural purposes, paying a mere pittance towards the rates of the town. On the last occasion when the owners leased part of the estate they charged £71 10s per annum ground rent, which capitalized made the ground rent, at a low estimate, £1,500 per acre, or for the whole 60 acres £90,000.

That land was some years ago not worth more than £100 per acre, and could not have been sold for more than £2,000.

Since then, by the expenditure of £1,400,000 on public works in Hastings, the people of the town had enormously increased the value of that estate, and they were now repaying the cost of those improvements at an outlay of £20,000 per year. But as to the increase in the value of the Cornwallis estate, at the least £24,000—every penny of it went into the pockets of the landlords.

Landlord Threatens Employees.

The Duke of Sutherland, whose amassing Christmas greeting to his tenants will be recalled, has a worthy follower in Mr. Charles Mortimer, of Wigmore, Herefordshire, who has also sent a pleasant little Christmas letter to all the employees on his estate. He concludes by saying:

"I feel it a duty I owe to myself and you (some of whom have been with me over 20 years) to say a few words to guide you in the coming election, as so many false statements are being put before you daily."

Then follows a reference to the increased taxation, and the ominous statement that the result must be reduced employment. The letter concludes as follows:

"Believe me, nothing will give me greater sorrow than being forced to compel you to reduce wages and pensions, but if this proposal becomes law, and this present Government is returned to power I shall be most reluctantly compelled to reduce wages, wages, and pensions. Yours faithfully,

"CHARLES MORTIMER, J. P."

Mr. Mortimer is a member of the Dorking bench, and a large landowner in the Capel district of the Reigate parliamentary division.

The Nursery Rhyme in Politics.

A modern version of an old nursery rhyme created great amusement when it was recited by a Liberal speaker at a recent meeting in the North and division, where Mr. A. B. Markham is expected to retain his seat by a large majority. The verse was as follows:

Bah! Bah! Balfour, have you any wool?
"Yes, sir! Yes, sir! Four bags full.
One for the Brewer,
One for the Soldier,
And two for the little Lord, who owns half the shire."

"The Lot Fell Upon Matthias."

In Cheltenham the rival candidates are Mr. Matthias, Liberal, and Lord Duncannon, Unionist. A lady was recently canvassing an elector for the food issue, and the following conversation occurred:

The Lady—Will you vote for the Unionist?

The Voter—"Can't promise, m'am."

The Lady—I must really press for an answer.

The Voter—Well, m'am, I can only refer you to the 1st Chapter of Acts and the 26th verse. It says: "And they gave forth their lots, and the lot fell upon Matthias."

Another Convert to Liberalism.

A notable feature of the opening meeting in support of Mr. Arthur Baker, the Liberal candidate for East Hants, was the presence of an ex-Unionist candidate in the person of Major-General Le Roy-Lewis, D. S. O., of Westbury House. He remarked that he considered a crisis had arisen now in our national affairs which made it absolutely imperative for everybody who believed in representative government to come forward and declare themselves. He considered that the condition of the navy was not so deplorable as was made out by the Unionists, and when they turned to the land forces of the crown they found a more astounding rate of progress had been shown for many a long day. The general especially praised Mr. Balfour's efforts in regard to the auxiliary force, and favorably contrasted three years of Liberal administration and its efforts on agriculture with six years of

Why Many a Man Makes a Failure of Life

NOT BECAUSE HE LACKS BRAINS OR ABILITY, BUT BECAUSE HIS LIVER IS SLOW.

An inactive, lazy liver makes plenty of men and women seem intellectually dull. They really have the "go," but are weighed down, pulled down by a sluggish condition of the system. In consequence lots of good chances are lost, enjoyment missed and pleasures refused—all because of a poor working stomach and disordered liver.
Men and women, wake up your livers, give relief to sluggish kidneys—they are working hard, but can't keep on forever doing duty for both the kidneys and liver.
Let Dr. Hamilton's Pills help you—let them drive those poisons from the

You can depend on this—that Dr.
Hamilton's Pills clear the skin, brighten the eyes, purify the blood, send energy, vim and good spirits circulating to every part of the body.
No other medicine makes people so healthy or keeps you always at your best, like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are mild, curative and safe. Twenty-Coldstream Women's Institute.

The next meeting of the Coldstream branch of the Women's Institute will be held in the Baptist Church, Poplar Hill, on Friday afternoon, Jan. 14. The delegate, Mrs. Colin Campbell, of Windsor, will address this meeting.
There will be recitation, and a complete of the little girls. Music, both instrumental and vocal, will be a pleasing feature. In the evening a joint meeting of the Women's and Farmers' Institutes will be held in the town hall at Coldstream. Mrs. Campbell will also address this meeting. Her subject will be "The Housekeeper and Her Importance to the State."

Presented With a Cane.
Owing to the retirement of Peter McGregor from the office of trustee of school section No. 13, Caradoc, after 24 years of continuous service, a party of his friends and neighbors met at his home on Friday evening, and presented him with a beautiful silver-mounted cane, as a token of the esteem held for him, and also as a recognition of his services. Mr. McGregor, although considerably surprised, made a very satisfactory reply. The chair was occupied by Mr. John Brodie, who certainly can fill the position in an able and ideal manner. Speeches, music, both vocal and instrumental, were enjoyed by all till lunch was served. After this the party engaged in dancing till an early hour. Everybody enjoyed the feeling of having spent a most delightful evening.

PULL DOWN MARKET HOUSE SAY GROCERS

Mayor Beattie's Suggestion Is Warmly Seconded by the Local Merchants.

"Resolved, that the Retail Grocers' Association are convinced that the market would be plenty large enough to hold every man, woman and child, if the present market house and fish market were pulled down, and suggested by Mayor Beattie in his inaugural address to the council. We strongly recommend the carrying out of the mayor's suggestion."
"We also recommend the paving of the market, as it is a disgrace in its present condition."

The above resolution was unanimously passed last night at a largely attended meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association, and every member who spoke favored the proposal as outlined by Mayor Beattie in his inaugural address.
The resolution will be sent to the council at once, and they will be urged to take some steps towards carrying the matter out.

CO-OPERATIVE BILL WILL BE OPPOSED

Retail Grocers' Association Will Strongly Object to It.

The members of the local Retail Grocers' Association are preparing to offer vigorous opposition to the cooperative bill which comes before the House shortly, and it is likely that a strong resolution condemning it will be prepared, and after being signed, who will be asked to present it, and speak against the bill. Local grocers feel very strongly about the matter, and contend that it will be a gross injustice to the retail trade throughout the country if the bill is allowed to pass.

by Epworth League Last Night.

The members of the Epworth League of the Centennial Methodist Church night and gave a concert that was thoroughly enjoyed by a large number of people. Rev. Mr. Wickett presided, and the programme included songs by Mrs. Page, Miss Hazel Holman and Mr. Stanford; readings by Miss Olive Whittaker and Mr. John Munn; mandolin duets by Miss Alexander and Mr.

Baker; instrumental numbers by Miss I. Nixon, and several selections by the ladies' quartette, composed of Misses Allen, Hagerman, Watts and Carrie.

ALDERMAN FITZGERALD ACCEPTED CHAIRMANSHIP

Leadership of Manufacturer's Committee Went Begging Yesterday.

There was no scramble for the chairmanship of the manufacturers and reception committee.

The first meeting of the committee was held yesterday afternoon, and the first duty, that of appointing a chairman, was undertaken.
Ald. Eckert was offered it as a peace offering on motion of Ald. Ashplant, but he promptly refused it. He in turn nominated Ald. Underwood, but he also refused it. Then it was handed around to the other aldermen on the committee.

Ald. Jeffries placed the name of Ald. Fitzgerald in nomination, and the latter accepted it.

It is not a popular committee over which to preside apparently.

Closed, heated carriages for all occasions. Hurston's Livery.

Prevent and Relieve Headache

"It gives me great pleasure to be able to refer to Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills as the best remedy we have yet had in our house for the prevention and cure of headache. My wife who has been a constant sufferer for a number of years with above complaint joins me in the hope that they may fall into the hands of all sufferers."

JOHN BUSH,

Waterville, Me.

Used Them Four Years.

"Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are the best I ever tried for the relief of headache. I have used them for nearly four years and they never fail to give me relief. I have tried many other remedies, but have never found any better."

JOSEPH FRANKOWICK,

854 Trembley Av., Detroit, Mich.

There is no remedy that will more quickly relieve any form of headache than

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

The best feature of this remarkable remedy is the fact that it does not derange the stomach or leave any disagreeable after-effects.

Druggists everywhere sell them. If first package fails to benefit, your druggist will refund your money.
