It now seems quite clear that Mr. Meighen's total strength will not exceed 117 seats in the federal parliament, and that Premier King, with a total of 128 Liberal and allied seats, will continue to lead the govern-

Not only political precedent, but constitutional principle support this course of action, and opinions now are showing stronger agreement that Mr. King is not likely to hand over the government to the leader of a minority group in the house.

The Latest Summary. The Advertiser's latest summary

now gives 116 Conservative seats, 100 Liberals, 23 Progressives and 3 Independents, or a total of 125 in opposition, with three seats still doubtful, one in P. E. I. and two in Alberta. The last Canadian Press report classifies two of the Progressive seats as still doubtful (in Saskatchewan), but agrees on the other totals. It may fairly be taken for granted that practically everyone of the Progressives and Independent members elected are opposed to Mr. Meighen's policy, while none of them can be said to be unfriendly to Mr. King. While, therefore, the isuation is fraught with difficulties, it is fully expected that Mr. King will cope with them as courageously as he has done in the past, overcome them, Otherwise, chaos may ensue, for the difficulties facing Mr. Meighen with a minority of followers, among which there is not a single French-Canadian representative, would be practically insurmountable.

Authorities on constitutional matters are of the opinion that Mr. King will meet the house in due course and there test his ability to carry on, first on the election of a speaker, second on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, and third on the budget. This, they claim, is the only reasonable course, inasmuch as it will be impossible for Mr. King to recommend a minority leader to to recommend a minority leader to

There is, in fact, no precedent for a government surrendering the reins of office to a party which does not possess a majority. On the other hand there is the precedent of the Ramsay MacDonald government in Ramsay MacDonald government in carrying on until defeated in parlia-ment. "Should a ministry suffer defeat at the polls by a decisive majority, it is customary for it to resign without waiting for an adverse vote in parliament, notwithstanding that it is only through the house of commons that the will of the people can be constitutionally expressed. This procedure, dictated by reasons of convenience, was inaugurated by Disvenience, was inaugurated by Dis-raeli in 1868 and, though pronounced at the time to be an unusual course, has since been followed both in Eng-land and Canada, the defeated ministry remaining in office only ough to complete unfinished busienough to complete unnnished busi-ness and to set its house in order. HOW IT ALL FIGURES OUT.

Revised reports received by The Advertiser have reduced the number of Conservative seats from the 120 indicated yesterday to 116. These changes in the Conservative standing are: One seat must now be classed as doubtfut, in Queen's, P.E.I., where the vote is a tie and the returning officer must decide. One in Kenora-Rainy River, Ontario, where Peter Heenan is elected, becomes Liberal. One seat in Alberta which is now doubtful and two in Saskatchewan which are transferred to the Progressive column. Yukon, as expected, has gone Conservative. This subtracts five and adds one, leaving a present Conservative strength of 116 seats.

LIBERALS AND PROGRESSIVES GAIN. Liberals have now 100 seats, having gained two in Saskatchewan, one Ontario and lost one in Alberta, which is now classed as doubtful Progressives have now 23, having gained three in Saskatchewan. Independents and Labor remain at three.

THE SEATS STILL IN DOUBT.

The Advertiser reports leave only three seats in doubt, two in Alberta and one in Prince Edward Island. The latest Canadian Press summary classifies five seats as still in doubt. The difference, however, affects only the Progressive total. Canadian Press still place Kindersley and Maple Creek as doubtful, while The Advertiser's reports give them to Progress-In Kindersley A. Compulsory voting, with a $10 fine for failing to vote, is to be introduced at the Australian federal elec tions next month, but prominent Londoners are of the opinion that the time is not yet ripe to introduce similar measures in Canada. All are agreed that there is "too much delinquency in voting," but they believe that it is "too drastic a step to

In the last federal election the percentage ran as high as 70 per cent, when 22,566 ople voted out of 32,000 names on e voters' list. According to Clerk Baker, voters turn out in London. better than in other cities in Canada, in the majority of which only 50 per cent of the voters cast their ballots, while in many cases less than 40 per cent exercise their franchise. Statistics show that only about 40 per cent of the possible vote about 40 per cent of the possible vote is cast in a presidential election in the United States.

AUSTRALIA ACTS.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Oct. 31.—Compulsory voting will be introduced for the first ime at the Australian general elections November 15, the commission advised yesterday. For the last ten years compulsory voting has been enforced in the state of Queensland, but this is the first time for it to be applied to federal politics.

Under the new law, registrars pre-pare lists of those entitled to vote and any elector who fails to go to the polls without giving a valid rea-son for staying away will be liable to a fine of $10.

SHOWS A DECREASE

Permits For Month Totalled $189,235 as Against $244,265 Last Year.

Building permits for October show a decline from the figures of the corresponding month last year, according to the regular monthly report issued by Building Inspector T. C. Mc-Bride today. In the month just ended, 150 permits were issued, totalling $189,235 while in October, 1924, 145 permits represented an expenditure of $244,265. The total for the year is $1,881,654, as compared with $1,910,495 for a similar period last

New dwellings continue to be an outstanding feature of the permits issued. Permits for 43 dwellings were issued during last month, calling for an expenditure in this direction of $150,100. Other buildings included a cement block garage to be erected by ern at a cost of $7,000.

be summoned without delay."

Governor-General's Position. The general question, that of the powers exercised by a governor-general, is also one of some interest. The principle enunciated by Todd, and concurred in by other authorities, is that government is by parliament the Queen Alexandra sanatorium, the commercial value of the donation being $2.000. Joseph Troy, Montreal, ally defer to the advice of his ministers, so long as they continue to see fit to doubt the wisdom or the legality of advice tendered him or to question the motives which have actuated his advisers on any particular occasion—so as to lead him to possess the confidence of the popular the conviction that their advice had in power until then.

In one election, seeing that the government was being defeated, Lord Aberdeen called for the premier's resignation. Sir Charles Tup-per went to Aberdeen at 2 o'clock in the morning at government house, and told him that if he continued in this it would make him the leader of the Liberal party."

The constitution expert continued. "The premier is quite justified in continuing in office until parliament meets. Although he did not have the largest group the numbers were suf-ficiently close for him to continue on. "He could even continue in parliament itself after adverse votes of the house, according to the constituhouse, according to the constitu-tional usage established by Ramsay

MacDonald, who stated that the adverse votes were not on questions affecting the government. Even in Canada a government has not signed following an adverse vote; for instance, the Baldwin-La Fontaine administration was defeated in the session of 1850 and continued on until 1851.

Suggests Alternative Vote. "The present situation is clearly a case of deadlock," says another authority. "We may have another elec-tio in a very short time. And it is difficult to say how the deadlock could be solved."

"There is one solution," was the answer. "I understand that many of the seats which returned Tory members dld so because the anti-Tories split the vote between them. Now, if before the next election which will soon be necessary, if it is deadlock, a bill were passed, providing for an alternative vote system, whereby voters could indicate second choice, the lowest candidate to drop out of the running, the next house would see a more clear-cut majority.
"But the joker in that suggestion is that the bill would be a highly contentious measure and should there be deadlock, it would be quite impossible to pass it.

City Church To Celebrate 88th Anniversary With Special Services.

From a Wiltshire, England, village in 1550 to London, Ontario, in 1926, may seem a long cry, yet under certain circumstances this is quickly bridged. Atout the year first mentioned the Marquis of Bath, desiring a mansion at Longleat Park, imported from Scotland a colony of stonemasons for the purpose, who stipulated, however, for freedom to worship God after their own, manner This being accorded, they came, and in this way the first nonconformist church in England was organized. A lease granted by the marquis permitted the erection of Hornin-ham independent chapel. One of the clauses of the lease stipulated that the building should never be en-larged, nor should the roof ever be of any other material than thatch. The little church still stands, barnlike in appearance, with its upright pews and galleries, one side for men, the other for women, and the date of its erection, 1566, being deeply cut on a stone in the end wall. Services are being held there regularly today.

Miss Warren's talk on "Homes and launts of the Great" was very informally given, and illustrated with her own paintings as slides. Her audience was taken on a fascinating trip across England and the continent, paying intimate visits to the houses and gardens which once sheltered the great artist, statesmen and poets of the old world. The assembly were shown the beauties which surrounded the lives of Shakespeare, Milton, Wordsworth, Johnson, Ruskin, Carlyle, Bunyan, Sir Christopher Ilderton Presbyterian Building Given To Minority at Vanneck and Ivan.

MUST PAY FOR MANSE

Ordered To Pay $1,250 To North Nissouri.

Two cases of the five heard by the provincial church union commission during all-day sessions at the courthouse yesterday were completed by J. D. Falconbridge, K.C., Toronto, chairman, and his colleagues of the judicial body.

Ilderton Presbyterian church was given to the minority group of the former Presbyterian churches at Vanneck and Ivan, both of which voted to enter the United church of Canada. The commission discharged its duty in a second case in instructing the South Nissouri Presbyterian congregation to pay $1,250 cash within a month to the North Nissouri United church for the manse, situated at South Nissouri, which formerly served these two congregations. Judgment was reserved in two cases, one involving the Kintore Presbyterian church and the other involving Meibourne and Riverside churches, both of which voted to enter the United church of Canada. The fifth case, affecting the Mother-well and Avonbank churches, both of which also voted into the United church, will be completed in Toronto, the evidence not being completed at 11:30 o'clock last night Must Pay $1,250.

The first case concerned the manse for the North and South Nissouri churches, the former congregation holding a two-fifths interest in the manse, which is situated at South Nissouri, having entered the United church, while the other congregation voted to remain Presbyterian. The application made to the commission for the United church, who claimed that the Guthrie church, as well as the former Methodist church, are needed to conveniently meet the needs of the two churches in Melbourne, and that it is no hardship for the Presbyterian minority to worship in the Anglian church. was to fix the sum to be paid by the South Nissouri church to retain the manse property, that church offering $1,000, claiming that the building is worth $2,500, as against the claim made by the North church that $5,000 is the value of the manse. It was finally settled that the South Nissouri congregation must pay $1,250 in cash within a month, or else the manse will be sold and the proceeds divided upon the basis of the interest actually held by the two congregations. Rev. Roy Johnston is the minister in charge at North Nissouri, while Rev. Chas. M. Anderson, B.A., Labelle, Mo., has just been given a call by the South Nissouri congregation.

The second case was that of the application of the minority Presby-terian group of Vanneck (English terian group of Vanneck (English settlement) and Ivan churches to be given either one of these two churches. It was settled by agree-ment that the group which is now linked up with Bryanston and Bethel with Rev. James Hagan as the newly-appointed minister, should be given possession of the former Ilderton Presbyterian church, leaving the former Methodist church to accom-modate the members of the United church at Ilderton, and leaving the Vanneck and Ivan charge undis-

Kintore Claim.

In the third case the minority group of Kintore Presbyterian church claimed that "deliberate" means had been taken to prevent the taking of a vote on church union in that congregation, with the result that no vote was actually taken, and asked the commission to recommend that the commission to recommend that either the Presbyterian or Methodist church at Kintore be given to them. The Presbyterian church originally had about 165 members and 100 adherents, while now, as a United dence. It was agreed that further had about 165 members and 100 adherents, while now, as a United church, the congregation has 120 members and 93 adherents, with the new Presbyterian group meeting in the Oddfellows' hall, claiming to have 60 or more members and adhave 60 or more members and adherents with a minister as supply ton, and R. S. Cassels, K.C., Toronto, have 60 or more members and adherents with a minister as supply from week to week, though regularly organized as a Presbyterian congregation. Sharp difference developed as to the result of a congresery of the commission of the c oped as to the result of a congregational meeting on Sunday, Dec. 21, whether it was agreed to take a vote by ballot on church union at the annual meeting on Lan 12 or only Waterloo during the next three annual meeting on Jan. 12, or only to discuss the question to see what should be done. Rev. I. H. Macdonald, Ph.D., pastor, sent out a letter prior to Jan. 12 urging a favorable vote on union. A motion was adopted ling with the commission as at the annual meeting by 86 to 11, and later "considered to be unanimous," that the congregation go into union without a vote. On April 29 a requisition was made upon the session by 25 members of the congregation asking for a formal vote gregation asking for a formal vote by ballot on church union. On May 16 the session acted upon this by "agreeing to accept the 30 days' grace allowed by the church union act before calling the congregational meeting," naming May 28 as the largely out-of-town people, were the following ministers: Rev. The man with a salary of $5,000 has therefore been singled out because he is a frequent individual, and the idea of making him exempt king of Poland he'll be known as Henry the 4-rd. from income taxation is one that should appeal to his voting power through his purse.

The Republicans have already started to head off this movement by bringing to the attention of the public just what it would mean to the treasury to have exemption extended to the $5,000 man. It is estimated there are three million of these individuals in United States, and Secretary Mellon claims that it would mean a drop in revenue of $167,000,000, a sum that would have to be replaced by taxation levied at some other point. When it comes to the decision of taking off income tax and spreading the loss elsewhere the Democrats are going to face a difficult problem. As long as it is necessary to raise a given up the deficit by more tariff taxation, because of outstanding ability and unquestioned worth,

The Republican plan of leaving the tax on the $5,000 man may not be as good politics as the idea of the Democrats to remove it for party capital, but it has the advantage of being based on common sense and fair dealing, and even in the political field these qualities generally assert creased their representation in parliament from 7 to 10 as a result of yesterday's vote. The gain of three was made at the expense of the Progressives and Liberals. Two seats were won from the former and one from the latter.

The Liberals, however, still retain a representation of three as in the last parliament, having won the new constituency of Vancouver North. They lost Fraser Valley to the Conservatives, H. J. Barber defeating E. A. Munro, late member, by approximately 1,000 majority.

The two Progressives, who yielded up their ridings to Conservatives were Cariboo, where J. A. Fraser has apparently defeated T. CLUB HEARS FINE TALK ON BUSINESS

F. F. Ingram Tells Advertising Men Value of Imagination in Business.

To quote Professor Morrow Western University, the address given last evening before the London advertising club by F. F. Ingram, Jun., of Detroit, "shows the value of imagination in business, as developed by a liberal education."

by a liberal education."

Mr. Ingram, who is active head of the F. F. Ingram Co., Inc., gave to the members of the club at their dinner meeting in the Tecumseh Hotel, what was essentially a business talk from start to finish, yet the story he read, and from which he derived his arguments, was the famous funeral oration scene from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar."

"Mark Antony, talked to the people in a language which they liked and understood, and thus sold himself and his proposition to them, while Brutus, on the other hand, talked to the people in language that he himself liked, and so his 'Salestalk,' as we might call it, failed to 'go across." The average man in the street has a vocabulary of only three thousand words, and to be a successful salesman you must learn to sell yourself and your goods to him, in words included in this vocabulary."

Mr. Ingram read, with interesting comments interspered, the famous seene in which Mark Antony, un-comments interspered, the famous scene in which Mark Antony, unpopular with the mob because of his loyalty to the murdered Caesar, secures its attention, then its friendship, its sympathy, arouses its curi-osity, and finally, leads the people to accept his opinion as their own and to be willing to destroy Brutus and Cassius, the murderers.

and Cassius, the murderers.

Presents Scene.

Highly dramatic was Mr. Ingram's presentation of the scene, especially in the portions where Antony induces the people to urge him to read the will of the martyred leader, while he himself masquerades as being higly unwilling to arouse their emotions on behalf of their late leader. One could almost hear the rabble shouting, "The will, the will, sead us the testament, we must have Caesar's testament, we must have Caesar's

ONLY 5 APPEALS HEARD BY COURT OF REVISION

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out, and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Piner" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.

MUSIC CLUB WILL HEAR HYDE AULD

Distinguished Baritone Will Sing in London Monday Night.

Guelph has given to the world one singer of international renown in the person of Edward Johnson, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York, and bids fair to contribute another distinguished artist in his young townsman and friend, Hyde Auld, who will sing before the London Music club on Monday evening in the Central collegiate institute.

Mr. Ald belongs to one of Guelph's Scottish families, and was destined for a place in the large textile in terests of the family, but from the beginning showed a marked preference for an artistic rather than business career. A diversity of gifts made his choice difficult, and he wavered as a youth before music, landscape gardening and interior dec-orating, for all of which he showed decided talent.

Wounded in War.

Wounded in War.

The war settled the question. Enlisting early in the conflict, he proved a gallant and capable officer. For nearly a year during hostilities he was invalided, but, by clever evasion of medical examinations, returned in time for the big spring rush of 1918. A few weeks before the armistice, he was very seriously wounded and spent the next few years of his life between operating tables and con-valescent homes. The marks of his wounds and his gallant service, he still carries with him, and it is to the same indomitable spirit and courage which he displayed so conspicuously in service, that he owes his recovery.
It was during the painful and weary process of healings that Mr. Auld, cut off from other activities, took up music again as an antidote to shattered nerves. Adopted at first as a pastime and sedative, it quickly be-came such a serious interest that he determined to make it his life work. Debut In New York. Mr. Auld has been particularly for-tunate in his choice of instructors studying first in Toronto with Campbell McInnis, musical scholar and brilliant interpretative artist, and afterwards with Edgar Scholfield and Ellmer Zoller in New York. He made his New York debut in April last, and won most gratifying encomiums from the critics. During the year he also broadcasted extensively, and was soloist in several of the large New York churches.

Besides this talented young Can dian baritone, the Music club will be privileged to hear Miss Flora Matheson, violinist, of Toronto, while Miss Lela Ward will be accompanist.

AUTHORITIES MAY IMMUNIZE SCHOOLS FROM DIPHTHERIA

Dr. W. S. Downham Announces Proposed Use of Anti-Toxin.

DR. PHAIR SPEAKS

Addresses Quarterly Meeting of Child Welfare Association.

The medical health authorities of London will endeavor this winter to have all of the children of the public schools immunized from diptheria This announcement was made yesterday afternoon before the Child Welfare association by Dr. W. S. Downham, medical health officer. Dr Downham's announcement followed an address by Dr. T. T. Phair, provincial director of child hygiene, in which he cautioned the community to guard against such communicable diseases.

The medical health officer appealed to the members of the Child Welfare association to make it easy for the general administration of anti-toxine the gayest little tables with hallowof the afternoon. He cautioned the ful gl mothers of the community against the spread of communicable diseases. The common cold came in for a great deal of attention. It was indirectly, responsible, he said, for a large percentage of infant deaths due to pneumonia. His advice was that all so many of them, and their sale was children under two years of age should be kept at home entirely, where it was possible to protect them from contracting colds. He did not stalked over snowy white napkins mean that they should be kept indoors, but away from persons from whom they might contract colds. Whooping cough, he said, affected the mortality rate among infants more than any other diseases, the largest percentage of deaths from whooping cough being under one year It was a fallacy that children under six months of age were less apt to contract communicable diseases than older children. Every precaution should be taken to prevent them from taking these diseases, because deaths were more frequent in younger children. Interesting Event Takes Place

Diphtheria Not Necessary.

Diphtherla, scarlet fever and measles came in for their share of discussion by the speaker. There was now no reasonable excuse for having diphtheria either in community or home. The administration of anti-toxine would prevent this disease, and it only remained for the public to be educated to appreciate the value of the treatment.

Sarnia and London Polish Off District Grid Season With Farewell Party Today

Real Battle Is Assured Record Crowd Expected

Grizzles Will Be in There Fighting To Avenge Former Defeats.

LINEUPS INTACT

Today's clash between Sarnia and London will be a good test of whether rugby fans must have championship possibilities dangled out in front of them, or whether the game's the thing. If it's the game, then today's crowd should be just as large as if the two teams were battling it out for a championship, because the contest will have every element in its that would go to make a championship struggle, except that it lacks the enticing background of titular potentialities, whatever sort of signals they are.

On the one hand, there are the Londoners believing, despite three defeats in a row, that they are the better team, or perhaps it had better be qualified to "just as good," and, on the other hand, there are the Sarnians who are willing—yea, anxious—to stand out from behind their three victories for the day, and prove the little matter all over again.

Will Be Battle.

will be Battle.

There is a good deal of the elemental in the game of rugby, else the fans might, with some justification, decide that as there was nothing at stake, they might as well stay away. And it's because of this factor in the game that today's contest should have all the earmarks of a crucial struggle. Once the whistle blows, such is the nature of the fall pastime that it is doubtful if the athletes will think of anything else but the work on hand—and that happens to be the settling of what will seem to be a very pressing argument.

The line-ups which faced each other in the other games will be intact this afternoon. Otherwise the game wouldn't prove anything.

Recently an extraordinary tragedy happened, when J. Bamford, a professional, played an approach shot and found that his ball, in lighting, had killed two water wagtails. One of the birds was literally cut in two. Among other strange things reported was the theft of eight balls by a raven from golfers who were playing a round, and on the same day a seaguil tantalized a player by stealing a ball, dropping it almost at the player's feet, then picking it up again in his beak and flying away.

Jump of Winnipeg and Soo To International Circuit May Make Trouble.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Oct. 30 .- While Thomas J. Duggan, managing-director of Tex Rickard's New York club, in a statement has said that the Gotham club will assuredly vote for a salary limit in the expanded professional league, and at the same time nailed the stories of ridiculously exorbitant salaries being offered by his club as utterly false, the amateur situation is not so peaceful. The O. H. A. is somewhat puzzled how to take the new International loop composed of Winnipeg Maroons, Duluth, Minneapolis, Hibbing-Eveleth, St. Paul. Marquette and Soo Greyhounds, of the Soo, Canada. If it is a new loop, then it will be looked upon as an outlaw organization by the Ontario governing body no matter how many amateur labels are attached to it, and if it is a central group of the U. S. H. A., then the O. H. A. can only look upon this move as an invasion of Canada and a search for trouble. The Canadian Amateur Hockey association did everything except declare the U. S. H. A. a professional outfit by prohibiting Canadian teams from playing in the Yankee association, thus following the lead of the O. H. A., the season previous.

Entry Announced.

The Manitoba Hockey association has patified the C. A. H. A. of Winning. how to take the new International loop

The Manitoba Hockey association has notified the C. A. H. A. of Winnipeg Maroon's presence in the new league, and has asked for a ruling on the status and has asked for a ruling on the status of the players involved.

The new situation in amateur hockey has developed just at a time when it was thought that a reconciliation might be effected between the amateur authorities of both Canada and the U. S. Despite this fact that the U. S. association has been defiant, the fact remains that baring Canadian teams from the States has been a big financial blow to U. S. clubs.

Special to The Advertiser.

Niagara Falls, Oct. 30.—With the local artificial ice arena opening next week and the winter weather making itself felt, hockey is the chief topic of conversation hereabouts. Some 1.550 reserved seats for the first five senior O. H. A. games are already in the hands of the fans. This big advance sale, with the Thanksgivingg turkey not yet carved, gives some idea of how they hate their hockey in the Power City.

Prospects for a good team and another senior O. H. A. championship are bright. Though Hobie Kitchen, Babe Seibert and Steve Rice of last year's squad will be among the absentees when Manager Gene Fraser sounds the gong for practice, four new men of more or less class and reputation will answer the call.

TO HOLD MEETING

Special to The Advertiser. Dutton, Oct. 30 .- As a result of the umor that Lucan and Strathroy may quit intermediate ball and make a bid birth, it is likely that there will be a change in the West Elgin group next

When the West Elgin group was or ganized in 1924, the loop was comprised of Dutton West Lorne, Rodney and St. Thomas, but last season St. Thomas favored the loop with Strathroy and Lucan, and as a consequence the West Elgin loop had to hunt for another team, and finally Appin consented to join, a team which went into the finals, From the present situation it looks as if St. Thomas would again be glad to get back into the group they deserted. It is a known fact that the teams that finished this season in Elgin will be back in the league next year, and if the junior Tom Cats asked for a birth it is likely that Ridgetown will be asked to enter. They expressed a desire to enter last season, but their team did not materialize.

Dr. A. J. Fafale, president, will call a meeting of the league soon when business for the year will be settled. Eugene Saunders, secretary, has all the statements compiled, and when a settlement is made with the various teams he is confident that the league will have had the most profitable year since its inception.

In a conversation with the Advertiser, Garney Edwards, the "iron man" pitcher of the West Lorne team, stated that he will not be on the West Lorne line-up next year. He is now residing in St. Thomas, and apparently the Tom Cat seniors intend signing him. It is also reported that he has an offer to go also reported that he has an oer to go also reported that he has an oer to go also reported that he has an oer to go also fall, so it is doubtful where Gardy will end up. last haif. H. Watt, the great little forward of the Cimcoe C. I., slipped in a long shot which gave his team a 1 to 0 victory and the edge over Technical in the second "Wossa" soccer round. It was the first game of the round, and was played before a big crowd at the Western University oval.

Watt's counter was the only one made during the game, and terminated a great battle. In the first half both teams played great soccer, and neither side could be conceded the edge on the play. The opposing forwards did fine work, and broke through for dangerous sallies, but the exhibition put up by the goalies more than shadowed their efforts.

the goalies more than shadowed their efforts.

The defence put up by the backs is also worthy of comment, while the laives were in there feeding the forwards every minute. In the middle of the second half Technical was hard pressed, a fierce rally on the part of Simcoe putting the locals on the defence in their own territory. However, they rallied, and had the play in the Simcoe end of the field the rest of the game, except when Watt got in his lucky shot. It was a long one from outside, and Armstrong, the local goalie, wasn't looking for it.

The second game will be played in Simcoe on Monday, and Technical promises to give the homesters a hot time of it.

In Western Ontario farmers are still gathering in hay, the third crop of alfalfa being larger than the second this year. PUT GARDEN IN SHAPE.

Gardeners are advised to get their land in shape for the winter. The vegetable plot should be dug, incorporating all tops and other refuse with the soil. The latter should be left ridged up, so that the frost and rain may penetrate easily. If manure is available this is a good time to dlg it in. Tramp down all tops in the perennial border, or cut them off a few inches from the surface of the soil and leave them on the border to catch the snow and afford proto catch the snow and afford protection from the frost. In cold sections it is well to protect the roots and lower stems of roses and climbers, especially those with a southern exposure, by piling leaves or straw loosely about them. Farmers who are having their first experience with alfalfa will find plowing under of this crop rather a hard proposition. The roots are strong and penetrate the soil to a depth of five or six feet. Some farmers notch the front of their plow point, leaving two teeth, the one on the left long and the other short. This, together with a sharp point, will shear off the roots close to the bottom of the furrow and the broad tooth on the right will let the severed portions slide by without any friction.

There is still discussion as to the wisdom of pasturing alfalfa, but it is done by many good farmers with apparent success. If a good crop is desired next year, however, the field should not be pastured after September.

Canadian Wheat Transformed Into American Flour Competes With Canadian Flour in World Market-Buffalo Naturally Opposes St. Lawrence Development

By GREGORY CLARK

TEOGRAPH is one of Canada's v.

Fill and empty the Buffalo clevators Milling comes fifth in the list of United States York, not Minneapolis, but Buffalo is the fore eight times and you have handled the entire wealth-producing industries. If Buffalo, just most milling city of the wide world.

And about one-half the grain Buffalo receives is the great golden flood that is right now streaming from the Canadian prairies down the great lakes. One-half the grain that makes Buffalo the foremest milling city in the world is Canadian grain. The reason Canadian grain pours down to Buffalo is-geography.

The law of transportation is the law of water. It seeks the lowest level by the easiest way. The easiest way for Canada's grain to get out to a hungry world is by rail to the head of the lakes, down the lakes in freighters, and from the foot of the lakes-which at the present time as far as the bulk of grain shipping is concerned is Buffalo-by rail, boat and barge to the sea.

Buffalo's skyline now looks like the giants' country in a fairy tale book. Gigantic grain elevators tower dizzily into the heavens. Buffalo has no skyscrapers taller than her mighty ele- lion bushels of American wheat. vators. Her capacity for storing grain is thirty-fax, turned out only nineteen million. Of course, all the grain that comes down to Buffalo is not Canadian grain. Last year, with a lean crop of 250 million bushels in the Canadian west and the enormous crop of 900 million bushels in the United States west, 98 million bushels of American wheat and 82 million bushels of Canadian wheat was Buffalo's share of the golden tide. But the year before, when Canada's crop was the greater, Buffalo got 102 million bushels of Canadian wheat and only 31 mil-in the big freighters-most of which are American owned-and is trans-shipped to the smaller boats that can pass through the inadequate canals at Welland and on the St. Lawrence. The wheat that costs about 21/2 cents a bushel to haul the thousand miles from Fort William to Buffalo costs over 7 cents a bushel to haul the short distance from Buffalo to Montreal. Smaller cargoes, more canals, slower time, are the reasons

Last year, Montreal had a big year. The reason is a comic one: because Canada's wheat crop was poor. When Canada's wheat crop is poor, and the United States crop large, the United States is too busy to bother with Canada's grain. The American freighters on the lakes, which outnumber the Canadian shipping ten to one, pass by the Canadian ports. When the Canadian crop is big and the American crop poor, as it was the year before last, the Canadian ports are crowded with American ships begging cargoes.

Last year, Buffalo took more American grain than Canadian, and Montreal exported, by nearly thirty million bushels, more Canadian wheat than she ever handled before. But for years past Buffalo has handled more Canadian grain than

Buffalo Opposes St. Lawrence Canals

ERE is the main reason why Buffalo opposes the deepening of the St. Lawrence canals. Development on the St. Lawrence would mean that the big freighters could march right past Buffalo, from Fort William to Montreal, with the golden flood of the West. It now costs 21/2 cents from Fort William to Buffalo and about 7 cents from Buffalo to Montreal to carry one bushel of wheat. Less than ten cents a bushel from the head of the Lakes to the sea. Wheat that stops off at Buffalo and goes to the seaboard at New York, Boston or Philadelphia, costs 15 cents a hundred pounds by rail, or 9 cents a bushel. It is cheaper to ship by boat to Montreal. With a great canalized waterway to the sea, down which the six-hundred-foot freighters could go without trans-shipping, the rate would Buffalo may be counted upon to fight the St. Lawrence development to the last ditch.

Transcontinental Railway, which runs across the Montreal is Canada's greatest grain port. The top of Ontario and Quebec, a fast, straight road bulk of Montreal's grain comes down the lakes from the prairies to the seas, as a grain carrier railway. It was said of the Transcontinental in the days of its building, that you could put a car of wheat aboard it at Winnipeg, give it a shove, and it would glide of its own weight, down to the sea, to Quebec or St. John. That is how perfect the grades are.

There is a funny thing about freight rates on wheat. You cannot figure on so much a mile per bushel, flat. There are special rates set by the Railway Board to adjust or accommodate other rates and other factors in the touchy problem of transportation. Thus, for example, Canadian wheat shipped from Port Colborne, the Canadian wheat terminus 16 miles from Buffalo, costs 181/2 cents a hundred to New York, as compared with 15 cents from Buffalo. Yet American wheat shipped from Detroit, 211 miles further than Port Colborne, is also carried at 181/2 cents a hundred! It sounds ridiculous. But the

Could a rate be set by the government-which owns the Transcontinental-that would permit all Canadian wheat to go to Canadian seaports over Canadian roads, instead of by the lake route to Buffalo?

The rail haul, if set at a rate anything in proportion to other rail rates, would be enormous. may buy up all of this Canadian wheat she No grain could go that way. But if an arbitrary rate were set on the Transcontinental, it would immediately conflict with grain hauling on other Canadian roads, and there would be another war like the Crow's Nest Pass war.

Welland Canal Will Help

HE C.P.R. has a wheat terminus at Port McNicol. The lake freighters bring wheat from the head of the Lakes to that Georgian Bay port, and it is trans-shipped and carried by rail to New York and other ports, in competition with Buffalo. The National does the same at Midland and Tiffin, and special freight rates have been given by the Railway Board to permit these roads to compete with the American haul of Canadian grain. It is said to be unlikely, by both the millers and the railroad people, that any change in the channels by which grain is carried will be cheaper still. Traffic would pass Buffalo by. be made, except that, when the slowly-growing New Welland Canal is completed, a brisker traffic will flow to Montreal.

Buffalo continues to build great elevators and more flour mills at a tremendous rate. Canada's is: Which is preferable—a bathtub that fills (if anything) is in her silences.

mighty crop this year will probably pass in bigger proportions than ever through her. Since their grain stored in Buffalo than in Montreal. For the farmer doesn't get his money until his wheat is sold. He has to pay the costs of carrying it. The manufacturer gets his money when the goods are shipped from his factory. > Despite the handicaps, Canada exports 11 million barrels of flour a year, as compared with the United States export of 16 million barrels. The United States production of flour is far greater than Canada's, but it is used for home consumption. But Canada exported infinitely more raw wheat than the United States in 1923, Canada shipping 242 million bushels abroad, to be milled abroad, against the States' 98 million bushels.

The United States has a duty of 42 cents a bushel against Canadian wheat. Now if Buffalo had to pay 42 cents a bushel on all those millions of Canadian wheat that pass through her, it would soon turn the wheat through Canadian channels. So the United States makes a good little agreement with Buffalo and other cities, that she may mill-in-bond all the Canadian wheat she wants to without paying the duty, so long as that flour is exported. What wheat goes through Buffalo to New York to be shipped overseas is not dutiable. It is simply given the courtesy of passage through the States to the world-plus, of course, the usual charge for ship and rail freight on American lines. But Buffalo wants, as it passes through, to mill it and sell it abroad in competition with Canadian export flour. It is a fine arrangement-for Buffalo. The American duty prevents Canadian wheat from competing with American wheat. But it does not prevent Canadian wheat, transformed into American flour, from competing with Canadian flour in the world market.

Grain Market of the World

"B UFFALO," says an official of the Chamber of Commerce of that city, "is actually producing more flour than any other city in the world. She is building storage elevators and mills at a rate that will soon put her definitely and permanently in the lead. The fact that all these millions of dollars are being invested by large and well-informed interests is pretty fair proof that there never will be any St. Lawrence development to take away Buffalo's advantage Montreal closes as a winter port, and New York at the foot of the Great Lakes transportation of automobile parts. But her importance in world trade on account of her grain activities will presently determine her as the grain market of the world."

Milling and grain handling is a largely automatic industry. It does not employ large numbers of men. But the ships, great ships to the number of hundreds that call Buffalo their home port, employ many men. Buffalo has a large and interesting maritime population. Shipbuilding. shipwrighting and all the trades connected with shipping; building and construction of elevators and mills; the growing importance of the city as a grain market and the large employment of people in brokerage and financial houses; the wealth that is bound to accumulate where great wealth is handled-these are the things Buffalo is thinking about, with genial, opulent grins all

That's what geography can do for its friends. And there is romance, too. These last days of the season, with great six hundred footers steaming in from the great inland seas to the north, fighting every inch and every hour of the day to beat the great storms that will surely et them, one of these days, very soon. Buffalo harbor sees drama no less stirring than Southampton or Rio. The mighty chase of the last few days of navigation. Mid-November staring from the calendar in every master's cabin. The thrill of the last moment, when the great storm booms out of the north, and twenty ships still at sea, wallowing and watched for from every tower and every light.

And then the mighty things boring into the channel, laden with ice, icebergs, hatches frozen own-the mighty flood of the golden west ceases for a season. So Buffalo settles down to milling.

I was talking of this to a ranger in Algonquin one day. He stated emphatically that the fact was well founded and also added with the large increase in the deer that their great enemies the wolves were also attracted by the increased numbers. He further stated that he could tell a remarkable tale, but hesitated in doing so because he did not expect for one minute that anyone would believe him. This man had told us tales from time to time that were most unusual, but as he was a keen observer of the ways of the wild and knowing that all his observations had been substantiated we told him to go ahead. DICTURESQUE characters are rare enough to be noteworthy, but the more northerly parts of the dominion have been particularly rich in unusual people.

Until recently North Bay boasted one of the best, known locally merely as Old Rip. He lived the life of a hermit in a mountain-side shack, his past veiled in obscurity. The general impression was that the old man was slightly demented. He lived on the proceeds of odd jobs and the generosity of the townfolk in general.

He did explain that his real name was Charlie Ford and he was said to be a relative of Bob Ford of the famous Jesse James' gang, the, man who shot his leader and himself died with his

A few years ago North Bay's Old Rip disappeared from his usual haunts, and after several days had passed word came to Main street that the old hermit was lying dead in his shack. A nsighbor had peeked through the window and seen the silent figure of the old man on the pallet of pine boughs he called a bed.

The citizens decided that the town character were made to that end. An undertaker was despatched with a coffin to bring back the remains. A short time later the undertaker came back with his horses at the gallop.

To the astonishment of the populace, Old Rip was seated on the coffin, waving his hat and cheering. He explained that he had not been dead-merely hibernating, and he objected strenuously to an attempt which would result in confining his future activities to the narrow walls of a casket, be it ever so ornate.

That was some time ago. Old Rip has now died for the second time. This time it is definite and irrevocable. Old Rip is gone-R.I.P. 4 4 4

Search For Treasure of Spanish Buccaneers and a Score of Other Adventures Will Take Sir Guy Gaunt to Far Seas-His Cockle-Shell of a Schooner Outfitting in B.C.

ICE-ADMIRAL SIR GUY GAUNT, now outfitting in Victoria for one of the most daring and venturesome voyages around the world, drained adventure to its last dregs during the European war. During the earlier part of the war his experiences were of that exciting nature known only to naval officers. In deserved a fitting burial, and arrangements the closing years of the war Sir Guy vied with some of the most daring and reckless characters of Phillip Oppenheim's famous secret service yarns. 'Sir Guy was successful in uncovering one of the most dangerous systems of espionage in New York, one that threatened the United States with disaster shortly after that country's advent into the world conflict.

The world war, his secret service experiences, his participation in the Russo-Japanese war and uncovering of international conspiracies, has ben unable to satiate his thirst for adventure, and so it is that Sir Guy is found in Victoria outfitting a veritable cockle-shell of a boat in the recently purchased four-masted schooner Eric, of 540 tons gross, for one of the most daring trips around the world, a voyage only to be compared with those undertaken by Lief Ericson, Columbus, Galliano and other explorers.

"Ship me east of Suez," Kipling said in describing what he thought the most cosmopolitan and adventurous part of the world, and it is to this place that Sir Guy will steer his little schooner to its first playground, and one, judging from the varied and exciting yarns that has emanated from the mystic east, that should provide all the adventure that could only be crammed between the covers of a Joseph Conrad

The vessel is a ship of only 174 feet in length with a beam of thirty feet and draft of ten feet, so that the mere voyage alone should prove thrill-

HE treasure, which has been valued at millions of dollars, has been hunted for by two expeditions already without any success, but the searchers claim its existence, for it was to this island that a Spanish buccaneer was chased with her holds containing the plunder of her pillages of Scuth American ports and even Spanish settlements, which operated the gold mines discovered by the Incas. The treasure was buried on Cocos island before the pursuers of the buccaneer arrived. One of the bloodiest battles of that time was staged in the waters surrounding Cocos island, and followers of the Spanish buccaneer who were not killed in battle were made to walk the plank so that the secret of the treasure's hiding place was lost with them.

Papua, where wandering cannibals still exist, will be visited and the resources of the rich little island explored.

Unlike Robert Louis Stevenson, Joseph Conrad and other wanderers of the South Seas, Sir Guy will take a little bit of civilization with him on board his yacht. The vessel is being equipped with most luxurious fittings, all space formerly used for the carrying of cargo is being converted into palatial saloons, staterooms, smoking room, library and work shop for his favorite hobbies and collections. Sir Guy is even planning on installing a semi-Diesel engine so as not to be troubled with that dire visitation upon the ancient mariner of being becalmed and unable to make progress.

Sir Guy is a man of daring and valor, as his brilliant career will indicate. His first taste of adventure was experienced during the operations in the Philippine islands in 1897 as lieutenant of H.M.S. Swift. He commanded the British consulate at Apia, Samoa, 1899, during the rebel attack on the town. He raised the Gaunt's brigade during the operations and was given particular mention in the despatches, being later promoted to commander. It was during the Russo-Japanese war that he was comamnder of H.M.S. Vengeance, attached to the China station. He was promoted to the position of captain in the navy for distinguishing himself during this campaign. He commanded the following naval vessels at various times up to the year 1913-H.M.S. A Man Who Overworks Can Accomplish Little

Leading Figures in the Insurance World

ARWIN P. KINGSLEY is not very widely known in the Dominion of Canada, but when it is stated that he is the head of one of the largest life insurance companies in the United States there can be little doubt that when he expresses a novel opinion he does so only after mature consideration.

We are all working too hard, says Mr. Kingsley. The people of this continent are too deeply concerned with getting through their daily tasks and not sufficiently worried about possible wear and tear on themselves.

"I am not making a plea for less accomplishment," he adds, "but for more play, so that accomplishment may be wrought at less expense of life and vitality.

"A man who works himself out early and then dies is not likely to have achieved results that lay solid foundations or control and direct future generations. These, after all, are the results which count.

All men engaged in business should have, in Mr. Kingsley's opinion, leisure to develop and executive leisure. Important decisions which every business man has to make, make this almost necessary.

But others disagree with this theory. A very pretty idea-but it will not work, is Dr. Joseph Fort Newton's summary of it. He admits that a great many of the men on this continent are work-drunk, but contends that it is a good way to be as long as one takes time to sober up occasionally and add a bit of play to the daily schedule.

"It is not work that kills men," he declares, "but worry, hurry and flurry. I believe that nothing worth while can be accomplished in this world without what we call overwork." Dr. Newton's plan for a full life is to work furiously and idle gracefully. Samuel Untermeyer, while not agreeing with Dr. Newton, disagrees with Mr. Kingstey. "The constant use of one's faculties," says Mr. Untermeyer, "is the best and, in fact, the only way to keep those faculties intact and to develop them to their perfection. "Brain work, performed in pleasing, healthful environment, never killed anyone. It is stimulating and health-giving.

Mr. Untermeyer believes that too much stress has been laid on the work done by big business men no matter how heavy their responsibilities. The real burden of overwork, he thinks, lies with e people who do hard manual labor.

Hundreds of men have died from overeating, overdrinking, oversmoking and overexercising for every one who has been injured by work, he says. And finally-it's germs that kill, not

The item under discussion was some arrears of salary due to the inspector of a new government building in the shire county of Sussex, King's County, then represented by Fowler. The following dialogue occurred:

Fowler: Who is the inspector and what is his pay?

Tarte: James Thompson-at $4 per day." Fowler: Is he a good, practical mechanis?

Tarte: He ees the very best. Fowler: Well, Mr. Speaker, I was born in the town with Jim Thompson; went to school with him. I know him to be a very fair country tailor. He made the suit of clothes I have on now. I don't think he ever "built" anything else but a suit of clothes in his life.

STARTS A NEW CAMPAIGN WHEN 75 YEARS OF AGE

Rev. H. T. Crossley, Survivor of Famous Canadian Team of Evangelists Embarks Once More

By WILLIAM BANKS

T seventy-five years of age Rev. H. T. Crossley, D.D., survivor of the famous Canadian team of evangelists, Crossley and Hunter, has embarked upon a new series of campaigns beginning at Fonthill, Ont. Thence he will journey to Prince Edward Island, where he will work until after Christmas, and from there will go to the Maritime provinces to conduct evangelistic meetings in several centres. Every day for months ahead is planned for, and with the exception of Saturday every one calls for two meetings.

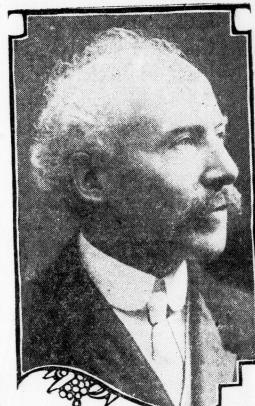

"How do you do it?" I asked on the day of his departure from Toronto. "It must be all of thirty years since I first heard you and"

"But I'm not old," Dr. Crossley interrupted genially. "I am seventy-five years young if you like. A man should never apply the word 'old' to himself after he is forty years of age, because 'as he thinketh so he is' ".

"How long?" I persisted, "and how do you-"I've been in the ministry for fifty-two years," he broke in, "and continuously engaged in evangelistic work for forty-two years. One of the great secrets of my being young in spite of the years I carry is the physical exercises I take every night and every morning of my life. These date back for thirty years. No man can claim to be the originator of such exercises, I have adopted some as the result of reading, others from visual observance of athletes and animals and a number from my own experience and experiments. Out of them all I have evolved a system of my own which embraces 35 exercises and I do each one of them four times in five or six minutes. Wherever I conduct a campaign I devote one night to a lecture on the upbuilding of the body.

It is Dr. Crossley's happy claim that he weighs 150 pounds, which was his weight when he was nineteen or twenty years old, and that this never varies more than a few pounds either

Dr. Crossley was born on a farm in King Township some 25 miles north of Toronto and met his famous partner, the late Rev. John E. Hunter, at Victoria College, then located at Cobourg. After being called to the ministry Hunter went to Dominion City, near Winnipeg, and Crossley to Weston, near Toronto. Subsequently correspondence revealed that each was thinking of becoming an evangelist and finally they decided to start out in that work together. For 26 years they were in partnership with a happy division of the work that suited both During his career as an evangelist with Mr. Hunter and since Dr. Crossley has taken part in 500 separate campaigns, and he says " in that period 120,000 men and women and young people, have been enlisted for the new life, including Sir John A. Macdonald who, in my opinion, was the greatest statesman that Canada has ever known. That was at Ottawa, 37 years ago where what we regarded as the most outstanding meetings we ever held took place."

Almost incredible distances have been covered in the course of these campaigns. The extreme west and the extreme east of Canada have been visited four different times, Newfoundland once and many states of the union several times. A number of places have had campaigns for three and four years in succession, and plenty of them want Dr. Crossley to go back. He could easily book up for three years ahead if ha cared to do so.

When Crossley and Hunter started their work they agreed that no matter what happened the local expenses of campaigns should be the first charge on the collections, and that of anything that was given to them one tenth should le returned in the shape of contributions to religious, charitable, philanthropic and patriotic enterprises and work. This was increased until it reached fifty per cent., and during the last twenty-five years. Dr. Crossley's contributions to these objects has been fifty-four per cent. One would not get that admission voluntarily; it only came on this occasion in response to questioning that bordered on the impertinent.

Dr. Crossley is still a bachelor. "I have been so busy," he said when I asked him about that, "and there is so much for me to do that would take me away from a wife and family for months together."

Experience Is Need in Welding

Only Expert Workmen at Williams Welding Works.

When a piece of machinery breaks down, it does not do for an inexperi-enced person to try to repair it. Usually they "fix" it in such a way that it is impossible to use it again. Heads of factories realize this and that is the reason for welding works. Often the least bit of monkeying will completely destroy a frail cog or wheel. There is no need to throw it away and purchase a new one. Just send it to the Williams Welding Works on King street and their competent workmen will repair the article in no time, and make it as good as new. If there is anything in good as new. If there is anything in

First Plant of Its Kind Between An Open Letter Windsor and Toronto. SERVICE IS MOTTO To Home Owners

It has been said more than once by men who have been connected with the automobile trade since its beginning that balloon tires, four-wheel brakes and self-starters have been the only really big outstanding improvements on automobiles during the last 15 years.

Of course in the matter of riding comfort balloon tires stand out even in this noteworthy trinity of inventions. In many ways they are far superior to the old style tires, which had to be inflated to a greater extent. They have a much wider surface in contact with the road, and justing and repairing. In pursuance of this plan the next is prepared in a clear and simple manner that is easy the understand even without any stop the machine in a much shorter space. Because of their greatly improved cushioning they reduce vibra-tion to the minimum; bolts and nuts stay tight and squeaks and rattles will not develop so quickly.

Art Wilkes, proprietor of the London Tire Repair Depot, has become a firm proponent of balloon tires, and a firm proponent of balloon tires, and this only after he had conducted exhaustive tests that proved to him that they would stand up under all conditions and were not merely a fad, here today and gone tomorrow.

The Wilkes' shop at 354 Wellington at the distinction street, which enjoys the distinction of having been the first establishnent of its kind between Windsor ment of its kind between windsor and Toronto, is thoroughly equipped to make repairs of all descriptions to tubes and thres of all kinds, whether they are small ones or the jumbo sizes that go on huge freighting trucks. A special offer is made by Mr Wilkes to car owners who contemplate changing from high-pressure o low-pressure balloon tires. The plan is to take your present tires to him and he will allow you a fair price for them as trade-ins for bal-loons. All sizes of tires and tubes are carired in stock. Furthermore, Mr. Wilkes is in a position to give valuable advice to car owners.

NEW HIGH LEVELS FOR MANY MOTORS

Hudson New Leader, Soaring 8 1-2 Points To Record of 114.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Oct. 39.—Spectacular bid ding up of the motor shares, several of which advanced to new high high levels, featured the irregularly higher movement of prices in today's stock market. Sporadic bear-selling and profit-taking frequently interrupted but failed to halt the upswing of prices, which reached its peak in many issues in the last few minutes of trading. Total sales exceeded 2,090,090 shares for the fifteenth consecutive session.

Speculators for the advance found encouragement in the weekly statement

RAILWAY AND COPPER ISSUES FEATURE RALLY

Vigorous Rise in St. Paul Railway Bonds Ranging From 1 to 2 1-2 Points.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Oct. 30.—The recovery of foreign obligations and rallies in a few foreign obligations and rames in a real railroad and copper issues were the major features of today's listless bon-trading. Gains and losses in most in-stances were extremely narrow, with prices on the whole merely marking prices on the whole merely marking time.

A vigorous rise in bonds of the St. Paul Railway, ranging from 1 to 2½ points, reflected Wall Street's reaction to the announcement that more than a majority of the bonds involved in the road's receivership had been denosited with Kuhn, Loeb & Co and the Nationa City Company, the reorganization managers, virtually assuring their control of the reorganization policies. Other strong spots in the railroad group included Chesapeake and Ohio convertible is, Chicago and Northwestern 5's, and Atlantic Coast Line 7's.

Heavy buying of copper liens was promoted by the revival of activity in the shares of these companies. Several issues participated in the upward movement, with Anaconda 7's reaching a new top price for the year. Selling of received of price for the year. ment, with Anaconda 7's reaching a new top price for the year. Selling of Liberty bonds was checked today, and the entire government list displayed a firm tone.

Snow and Frost Plays Havoc With Crop—Speculators Send Figures Soaring.

IN STATE OF MICHIGAN

POTATO PRICES WILD

Special to The Advertiser.

Greensville, Mich., Oct. 30.—Speculation in Michigan potatoes has reached unprecedented heights. The price to farmers on the Greensville market has gone from $1 to $3.50 for 100 pounds within a month. The higher price was reached today, an overnight increase of $1 having been recorded.

Shippers attribute the advance to sepculation that has developed in all markets since most of the late potato belt in the United States and Canada has been burled under a snow blanket. Thousands of bushels of potatoes are still in the ground throughout Michigan and late producing areas, and may never be harvested.

This situation is playing into the and late producing areas, and may never be harvested.

This situation is playing into the hands of speculative interests, who are reported to have deserted grain and produce for a big gamble in potatoes. Detroit, Oct. 30.—The price of potatoes in the Detroit market is more than three times as high as it was one year ago, and dealers predict some wild manufaction. Today dealers are getting brought forth a series of favorable divi-dend developments including the re-sumption of payments on Barnsdall A and B, and the announcement of higher rates for the American Tobacco issues, Fennock Oil and United States Hoffman

Fennock Oil and United States Hoffman Machinery.
Buoyancy of the high-priced specialties and a remarkable increase in public participation, as shown by the vast preponderance of small transactions, were other interesting features of the stock market. Coppers finally moved forward under the leadership of American Smelting and Anaconda, which touched new 1925 prices. Tobaccos enjoyed a temporary period of strength, but yielded later on selling inspired by reports of the disbandment of a pool in some of those issues. the disbandment of a bool in some of those issues.

Buying of the rails centered in the stocks of the southern carriers. Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville and Nashville and Southern Railway all eclipsing their previous high prices. Bangor and Aroostok was another feature of that group, climbing to a new high in reflection of the purchase of control through the stock market by a Detroit banking syndicate. Pennsylvania crossed par for the first time since 1918.

Financial Review

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Oct. 31.—Stock prices continued to work to higher levels this week, despite sporadic outbursts of profit-taking and bear selling. Cotton futures sagged to the lowest level in over three years, but the wheat market displayed a firmer tone. Foreign exchanges were irregular, French francs falling to around 4c, the lowest price in eighteen months, but rallied later on French government support. Call money rates were relatively stiff, due to the withdrawal of funds by interior banks in anticipation of month-end requirements.

Motors were again the spectacular feature of the stock market, over a dozen issues in that group mounting to new high levels. Buying was stimu-

INGERSOLL REPORTS YIELD OF APPLES HIT BY FROST

Thousands of Barrels of Fruit Are Frozen On the Trees.

WAVE IS SEVERE

Warmer Weather May Retrieve Part of Unharvested Crop.

Special to The Advertiser. Ingersoll, Oct. 30.-According to reports from the neighboring districts, there are thousands of barrels of apples frozen on the trees. In the opinion of many of the growers, the apples have been permanently damaged, and it is a question if an effort will be made to harvest any portion of the crop.

Of the more marketable varieties the Northern Spies predominate. One prominent grower of this district stated today that it was probably the earliest in 25 years or more that the West Essex, a gain from the Liberal apple crop had suffered so severely from frost.

It is probable that the damage

It is probable that the damage caused by the frost will enhance the value of the apples which have already been gathered. It was stated that as a rule the Spies are not harman to the state of October 1985 and 1985 are not harman and the state of October 1985 and 1985 are not harman and October 1985 are not harman and vested until the latter part of October or early in November.

One grower in this section declared today that he had about 250 barrels of Spite on the total and the section of Spite on the section of Spite of Sp of Spies on the trees, and similar conditions are said to prevail in many other orchards. There is some speculation as to the effect that warmer weather, which would give the fruit an opportunity of thawing out gradually, would have on the unparcested erron.

the apple crop. A great portion of the apple crop is still on the trees, many fields of potatoes are undug, and much of the root crop remain

PROPER MARKETING IS NEEDED IN APPLE TRADE

Prof. Crow of Guelph Addresses Kiwanians at Luncheon Hour.

Professor Crow, formerly of the Ontario Agricultural college staff, was speaker at the Kiwanians' luncheon Presbytery of Perth, and Rev. A. E. speaker at the Kiwanians' luncheon Presbytery of Perth, and Rev. A. E. yesterday. His subject was the M. Thomson, of London, president of apple-growing industry of the prov- the London Conference ince. In his address he criticized both the producer and the consumer, the former for his failure to market cooperatively and the latter for his lack of appreciation of the Canadian product. With proper marketing methods he was positive that the consumption of was positive that the consumption of apples in the city of London could be trebled. About 70 per cent of the apples grown in the province were of an inferior quality, he declared. J. H. Langford was the booster today and several bushels of apples from the Westmount farm, owned by R. Suhr, were the prizes. 10:00-Artists and ensemble WGR, BUFFALO—319. 7:20—Program from WEAF. WGY, SCHENECTADY-379,5, Papers Comment On Canadian Election-Do Not Think Issues Did It.

REGRET EXPRESSED

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.

London, Oct. 30 .- The high com missioner's office is besieged today with inquiries concerning the Canadian election. Both astonishment and regret are expressed at the defeat of Premier King and so many of his ministers. Such heavy Liberal osses were 'unexpected, and the opinion expressed here is that they are due to a mechanical swing of the popular pendulum against the party in office, rather than to any definite issue.

PREMIER KING LAUDED. Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 30 .- "Nine cabinet ministers of Canada defeated." This is the legend appearing on more than one newspaper contents bill on the streets of London tonight. London as a nut. Every one has indeed awakened rather tardily to the importance of Canadian elections. The absence of any clear-cut imperial issue was doubtless responsible for the comparative lack of interest in the earlier stages of

*Lord Beaverbrook's Standard to-*Lord Beaverbrook's Standard tonight says that Premier Mackenzie King has recently been subjected to violent and unfair attacks by another London newspaper, and that these attacks seem to have been dictated by American influences, calculated to give the British public the impression that Premier King possessed anti-imperial proclivities.
The Standard declares that this idea is guite erroneous, and never had is quite erroneous, and never had any foundation, in fact. Mr. King is any foundation, in fact. Mr. King is a man of the very highest character and of strict integrity, says the paper, which remarks that the same might be said of Mr. Meighen.

Mr. Meighen has also had to suffer some quite un-justifiable detraction in this country. He was the minister in the late gov-ernment of Sir Robert Borden, who negotiated the agreement where-under the Grand Trunk Railway was taken over."
The Standard thinks the election

may involve the retirement of Hon.
P. C. Larkin from the Canadian high commissionership in London, and says this "would be greatly regretted, both in London and Ottawa." The paper adds some complimentary references to Hon, Mr. Larkin's work here.

Lord Rothermere's Evening News Lord Rothermere's Evening News claims that the Conservative vic-tory means that there will be closer contact between Canada and the mother country than has obtained under the Mackenzie King administration. There may be an increase in the dominion tariff, with a cor-responding increase in the British preference.

The Evening News claims that the outcome of the dominion general elections is partly due to the unsatisfactory position of the Canadian National Railways, The paper notes that while the income tax in Canada ts regarded by the Canadians as high, it is only about one-fourth that of Great Britain. The Westminster Gazette says the Conservatives won their seats in he dominion elections vesterda chiefly at the cost of the Progressive party, which is now one-third of its size in the last parliament. This has caused so definite a swing to the Con-servative side that the Gazette wonders what have been the motives of the electors, scattered over such a large area, and says the motives
