GUSHER WATER DISPOSED OF

Grant Issues to Thompson Who Sank the Shaft—May Sell All or Any Part of the Water—Royalty of Ten Per Cent. to be Paid.

By an order in council received at the gold commissioner's office recently, the disposition of the water flowing from the Eldorado gusher has been made. The matter was taken up by the privy council and was approved by his excellency on the 7th of March of the present year. According to the terms of the order, Thompson, who dug the shaft, is to be rewarded for his perseverance in sinking to the depth he did. He is to have all the water flowing from the gusher and may dispose of any or all of it in such manner as he may desire subject to the approval of the commissioner in the matter of rates, etc. On the water sold, however, the government will collect a royalty of ten per cent. on all receipts, such to be in force until the government has been reimbursed for the expenditure made in endeavoring to cap and care for the flow last winter, the cost of which was over $40,000. After the receipts from the royalty have been sufficient to pay back that sum with interest at the rate of five per cent.

TOMORROW THE BIG THING

Meeting of Nick Burley and Joe Choyinski in D.A.A.A. Arena—Greatest Event in Sporting History of the Yukon. Both Men in Good Shape.

Tomorrow night will witness that about which has centered more interest than ever before so Dawson history has been centered on one event—the meeting in the roped arena of Nick Burley and Joe Choyinski. The D.A.A.A. this afternoon dispatched a carriage to Gold Bottom to bring Mr. and Mrs. Choyinski to Dawson. They will drop down tonight and will be quartered at the Regina during their stay in the city. Tickets for the great athletic event are going rapidly and it is expected that the big pavilion will be full by the time the preliminary bout is announced. Hundreds of men are coming in from the creeks and by tomorrow afternoon the streets of Dawson will be crowded with people, all interested in the many art of self-defence—in fact—there is something awry with the man who does not take an interest in such things. The preliminary, a six-round go between Vincent White and Ben Howard, the champion heavyweight of Montana, will be called at 8:30 and the big thing and main event will come on immediately after. The champion in the preliminary will challenge the winner of the Burley-Choyinski go and Billie Bates will also hurl a defy at the same individual. St. Jean Baptiste

Today, June 24, is a big day among the French Catholics for it is the feast day of St. John and on the lapel of the coat of a great many of the Frenchmen about town is seen a white ribbon bearing the inscription "Souvenir de la fête nationale St. Jean Baptiste du Yukon 24 Juin 1903." A great many are observing the day as a festival and are refraining from all work. Solemn high mass was said at St. Mary's at 9 o'clock this morning. Rev. Father Bunoit being the celebrant. The sermon was preached by Father Leclerc.

Seeks Damages

Paris, June 9.—Lord Sloan, the American jockey, has begun a suit against the jockey club to recover $25,000 damages because of the action of the club in excluding him from further entrance to the weighing enclosures or training quarters controlled by the society. The club is expelling him issued a notification that the action was taken because Sloan exercised a horse without authority. The Temps stated at the time that Sloan was really expelled for spreading turf rumors.

OLD BALDY WILL SCREAM

At Eagle City on the Fourth of July

Dawson Arctic Brothers to Conduct Big Excursion to Sam's Soil July 3.

An opportunity will be given Americans and all their cousins to hear the proud bird which is emblematic of freedom scream on his native soil on the Fourth of July. Camp Dawson, No. 4, Arctic Brotherhood, has chartered the swift and palatial steamer Whitehorse for an excursion to Eagle City, to leave Dawson at midnight, July 3rd, and return Sunday afternoon, July 5th, spending the day and night of the "Gel-o-ri-ous" Fourth on the land over which the star-spangled banner in triumph still waves. The excursion is not for Americans alone for a "Yankee" to enjoy himself requires lots of company and for that reason it is expected that fully half or more of the crowd will be "Johns" who will assist "Jonathan" in his glorification and justification on the natal day of American independence. A picked team of Dawson baseball players will be taken along to wipe up the earth with the apple of Eagle's eye, an orchestra will be taken and everything that can be done to make the excursion a howling success will be considered. There will be no disreputable persons, male or female, permitted to go aboard and if any such secure tickets their money will be refunded at the gang plank. No gambling will be permitted on the steamer but innocent pastimes will have full swing. The fare for the round trip, including everything, has been fixed at the unprecedentedly low rate of $15. For further information see any active member of the Arctic Brotherhood, Agent J. H. Rogers or watch for the advertisements which will appear in a few days.

KLONDIKE NUGGET. WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1903.

THE SORDID SUN.

The Sun is incapable of understanding any declarations on the part of a contemporary, the origin of which is not found in a sordid motive.

It is past the comprehension of the Sun that a newspaper may be actuated from principle, and a desire to promote the public interest.

The Sun invariably acts from the point of view that a newspaper talks the way it is paid, and any other theory is not within the narrow limitations of the Sun's understanding.

In its issue this morning, our contemporary attempts to impugn the purposes and intentions of the Nugget and fails most ignominiously. The Nugget has said nothing for which it is necessary to offer an explanation or apology.

As an earnest advocate of the election of Mr. Ross—not as a government candidate as the Sun says, but as a champion of Yukon interests—it is the privilege of the Nugget to criticize when and where it sees fit.

We may remind the Sun that the present commissioner, who was the guiding genius of the Ross campaign, did not claim the election as a government victory. On the contrary he took occasion to rebuke the Sun very sternly for publishing a suggestion to that effect—and gave special acknowledgement to the Conservatives and independent votes which gave Mr. Ross his seat in parliament.

Among the staunchest supporters of Mr. Ross were men whose views for years had found expression in the columns of the Nugget—and they went into the struggle, as did this paper, with the conviction that they were acting for and in the interests of the community.

There was no prostitution of principle—no stultification such as the Sun would endeavor to have people believe—but there was a condition, pregnant with possibilities for good or evil and that condition was approached and grappled with, in the most energetic fashion possible.

The article in the Sun this morning will not affect the Nugget in the slightest degree, but its insulting language goes beyond this paper and extends to every one of the hundreds of nominal opponents of the government who gave loyal and undeviating aid to Mr. Ross.

The Sun would do the cause it professes to serve more good through complete silence than it will accomplish by such outbursts of manifest vindictiveness.

The references which have been made to Mr. Ross in the Nugget, have been called forth and are warranted by existing conditions. From time to time the public has been assured that Mr. Ross's health was in satisfactory condition—and these assurances have come through the Sun more frequently than from any other source.

If Mr. Ross has been in good health it is clear that the interests of the public have been neglected otherwise he would have been in his seat in the house of commons and presented the plea of his constituents during the Treadgold debate.

If his health has been such as to necessitate his continued absence from parliament then it is evident that the people have been kept in the dark as to the real facts and Mr. Ross has suffered in consequence.

This morning for the first time the Sun announces that Mr. Ross's health may prevent him from again appearing in the house for the balance of the session.

Our contemporary's language on this point is as follows:

"Before Mr. Ross was nominated, it was a well known fact that he was a very sick man. The Nugget knew it, and knew that it would be a wonder if he was well enough to be at Ottawa at all during the present session."

"The Yukon Sun, and every intelligent citizen of Yukon, realized from the start that it would be a dispensation of Providence if Mr. Ross was well enough to be in his seat in the House during even a part of the present session."

"Mr. Ross is absent from his seat in parliament because he is too ill to occupy it. He has not been in Ottawa for weeks, and may not be there again this session."

In connection with the foregoing it is needless to say that the Nugget knew nothing of what the Sun says. The Nugget has been assured and has believed the contrary of what the Sun declares to be the true state of affairs.

If the Sun's disclosures are true and Mr. Ross's health is as stated, we have only to say that the facts should have been made known long ago. No one could regret more sincerely than the Nugget that such is the case, but in the light of experience we can scarcely accept the Sun as authority.

If Mr. Ross is in the condition as stated, an obvious course lies before him.

THE LINE OF DUTY.

The theory that a newspaper which supports a candidate for office is thereafter bound to endorse every act of such candidate—good, bad and indifferent—may hold good in some instances, but never applies to a paper which has regard for its obligations to the public.

It is the duty of a newspaper to support such men as it regards are best adapted for the positions they seek, but it is even a greater duty to insist that pre-election promises and platform declarations shall be fulfilled.

In supporting Mr. Ross the Nugget followed out what it believed, and what it still believes, was the strict line of duty.

And today in calling attention to the fact that the pledges given to the people have not been observed with the sincerity which the people were warranted in anticipating, there is no departure from the line of action observed by every paper not hide bound by personal or partisan influences.

STEAMER MARY GRAFF

Largest Freight Carrier on Upper Yukon Route.

The big freighter Mary Graff of the White Pass fleet, and the largest carrier of the upper Yukon, came in yesterday with 175 tons of freight including 27 head of horses, stage stock belonging to the White Pass Captain Gordon is master of the Graff while her pilot is that experienced and popular pioneer on the upper Yukon, Captain Syd Barrington who is now on the river his sixth season.

The Mary Graff has a capacity of 400 tons but owing to the remarkably low water from Whitehorse to the mouth of the Pelly she can carry more than half what she can carry. Captain Gordon says that never in his experience on the Yukon has he seen the water of the upper river so low at this season of the year as at present.

The Graff will sail for Whitehorse this evening.

Strike Ended

Seattle, June 5.—The Boilermakers' and Shipbuilders' Union yesterday adjusted its differences with Moran Bros. and the strike which has lasted for two years has been declared off. Originally all the unions represented at the big shipyard went out on a strike for more pay and shorter hours, but with the exception of the union being out about nine months yesterday however, an amicable settlement was reached in which both sides conceded something, and the end was happy.

Certain clauses in the original agreement are omitted altogether and others are modified, but on the whole it represents a compromise of the matters in dispute. The chief difference in the two agreements was in the rate of pay. The men wanted a minimum wage of $3.50 per day, which works out at the rate of 38.8 cents per hour, while the rate of 37 cents was finally accepted.

The great bone of contention in the original strike was the demand for a nine-hour day, and as a nine-hour day has now been introduced into the shipyards for some months, there remained but little to prevent the two parties agreeing there. The settlement will not let the strikers back at work en masse, but they are now eligible for jobs wherever there are vacancies, and it is understood that the yard is short of boilermakers at the present time.

Reports Confirmed

Portland, Me., June 6.—Reports from every section in northern Maine confirm the first reports of tremendous loss to the lumbering and other interests from forest fires. In addition one town has been completely destroyed, hundreds of buildings have been burned in all parts of the state, and at least two lives were lost. The town of Patton has been completely surrounded by fire at close range for 48 hours. Eight townships have been burned over, causing a loss of $250,000 to lumber interests there.

MANY MEN WORKING.

Glens Falls, N. Y., June 6.—Reports received here at the offices of lumber companies who have large interests in the Adirondacks region, where the fires are heaviest, state that the fires are well in hand. The report that Governor Odell has authorized an emergency expenditure of $150,000 for the purpose of fighting forest fires has given great encouragement to the three thousand men who are fighting the flames.

Has Begun Suit.

Paris, June 8.—Tod Sloan, the jockey, has begun a suit against the Jockey Club to recover $25,000 damages, because of the action of the Jockey Club in excluding him from further entrance to the grounds. The stewards in expelling him issued a notification that the action was taken because Sloan had exercised the horse Rose de Mai at Chantilly without authority.

..The Breakfast in the Shoe Box..

The young master had been out of college for a year and he had spent that time in his father's bank. But he was as youthful in two particulars as on the day he first went to school.

He feared then just as much as he does today the fat and bald butler, who could look very stout and amiable sometimes, and at other times tremendously serious and impressive. Fear of this respectful and ancient servant had become a sort of tradition with him. He had imbibed it at 4, and at 24 it was not easily shaken off.

It was almost the same kind of fear that made him stand in dread of the paternal displeasure. He had the healthy horror of childhood of arousing his father's anger.

It was above all the combination of the two forces that he dreaded. The butler was faithful to the father's interest in reporting any suspected departure from the path of propriety that the young men are supposed to follow. Thus the two, fearful enough separately, were doubly terrible together.

It happened that various episodes in the young master's career had caused the vigilance of the father and the butler to be somewhat stricter than it might have been had his undergraduate career been free from a few bright and highly colored splashes. He was strictly under the eye of the father and father's deputy, the butler.

One morning last week young master emerged from his tub with the conviction that, whatever happened, he could not eat breakfast. He suspected when he fell into bed a few hours before that food would be superfluous in the morning. He was absolutely certain of it as he put on his clothes.

He had escaped the notice of both his father and the butler as he came in. He could not hope to do so at breakfast. At least one of them was certain to be with him at the meal.

There was no trace of fatigue in his fresh pink and white face, and his yellow hair curled about his head as crisply as if he had been sleeping for ten hours. He was in no danger of exposure so far as his appearance went. But the ordeal of trying to eat breakfast under the butler's keen eye was too much.

The young master pondered. He would have to go to the table or the departure from custom would get him into a mess from which he could never extricate himself. He realized all this, but decided rebelliously that he would not eat, come what might.

Then he looked about the bathroom and a sudden inspiration came to him as he gazed at the rubber sponge bag on the wall.

When he appeared fresh-faced and smiling in the dining room, nobody would have thought that the sponge bag was concealed under his coat. But it was there. He was alone at breakfast and had the exclusive attention of the butler, who eyed him with suspicious interest as he placed a cut-up orange on the table before him.

"See if there's a letter for me in the hall," the young master said. "I am certain there must be something." The faithful James seemed almost to be crying him with downright uncertainty of his evil doing. As the butler disappeared through the door, the orange fell swiftly from the plate into the rubber bag which rested on his knee, hidden by a napkin. When the butler returned there was every sign of the young master's having a splendid appetite.

The young master's head swam, though, at the sight of the poached eggs and bacon, and the coffee, poured out by the solicitous James, seemed no more appetizing. But luckily the sponge bag was at hand. Only James had to be got rid of.

"Get me the paper," was the order that a second time sent him out of the room into the hall.

So soon as James's back was turned, the eggs, the bacon and the coffee fell with a clug into the rubber bag. Then the string about the neck was drawn tight and the napkin was once more thrown over it as James entered.

"There's no newspaper," James said melting visibly as he saw the empty plates. "Only a box."

"That's a shoe box. It's mine. I am taking a pair of boots down town."

The young master nearly always had a good appetite, so there was no surprise that the platter was so clean. It had not been there would have been astonishment, a report to father and probably investigation.

As it was, the breakfast had vindicated him thoroughly. But, it had to be got rid of. There was the shoe box that he provided for the purpose. It was only a matter of two minutes to pack the sponge bag into the box. The door closed behind him and with a sense of triumph that almost made him feel comfortable for a minute, the young master realized that he was quite safe. It might be discovered that he had been out late. But he had just as certainly been all right at breakfast.

So satisfied was he with the success of the scheme that he held the shoe box tight under one arm and quite forgot to throw it away until he was on the elevated station. There was no chance there, so he took it into the car. Then he forgot it when he alighted.

At luncheon he told the story to a friend and wondered what the result would be.

Thus it happened that a messenger arrived at the depot for lost articles bearing a letter. It requested the return of a shoe box containing a sponge bag in which were:

One orange cut up, with sugar. Two poached eggs on toast. Four slices of bacon. One cup of coffee with cream.

In view of the value of the articles and the accurate description the box was given to the messenger without question. He had instructions to deliver it at the home of the young master, who knew nothing of this plan.

So it happened that when he came home that night for dinner the first thing he laid eyes on was the box. It was lying on a chair in the hall, almost in the same place he had put it in the morning.

But it was somewhat changed in appearance. During the ten hours that had passed the coffee had leaked out of the rubber bag. It had spread through the pasteboard, which was blotched with patches of brown.

He had almost a superstitious dread that James might have tracked him, found the package and brought it back to confound him. He was able to seize it, however, and take it to his room. It stayed there under lock and key until after dinner. Then it was stealthily carried out of the house under an overcoat, and deposited safely in an ash barrel half a mile away.

"The shoes came back, sir," said James the next morning when the breakfast really was disappearing in the right way. "and I put them in the hall. It seemed to me they smelt of coffee, sir."

"Shoes smelt of coffee?" answered the young master, confident in the correctness of his behavior the night before, and feeling so well by contrast that even the butler lost terror for him. "James, you're getting old and doty. Who ever heard of shoes smelling like coffee? You might as well have said they smelt like poached eggs and bacon."

Then he sallied out to get square with the friend who had almost ruined his reputation in the household by sending back the shoe box.

B. C. New Cabinet

Victoria, B. C., June 2.—To the great disappointment of many Liberals, who hoped he would remain true to the Opposition party, Mr. McBride since being called on to form a government has decided to organize on Conservative lines. This decision was announced to the Opposition caucus last night, and to the house this afternoon. This morning Mr. Tatlow was sworn in as president of the executive council, and spoke for Mr. McBride, asking for the appointment of a committee of ten, five of the old Opposition party, and five of the old government party, to revise the estimates and select legislation that is important to complete. This was strenuously opposed by Mr. Martin, who characterized it as a star chamber proceeding, but it was endorsed by the house unanimously, with the exception of Messrs. Martin, Gilmore, Neill and Rogers.

In his letter of explanation, Mr. McBride stated that after careful consideration and in view of the imminence of dissolution and an appeal to the country on party lines, he had decided to form a government on a Conservative basis. He said he would prepare the voters' lists fairly and seek an honest expression of opinion from the electorate. He thanked his Liberal colleagues who had stood by him, and said that under other circumstances he would have been glad to give them representation in the Cabinet.

Mr. McBride, it is said by some, will drop out of Provincial politics, making way for Mr. Wilson, and will contest New Westminster against Mr. Aulay Morrison.

A near supporter, however, declares that Mr. Wilson will be Attorney-General; Mr. McPhillips, President of the Council; Mr. Fulton, Provincial Secretary, and Mr. McBride, Chief Commissioner.

The Conservatives are sulky at what they regard as a usurping of the leadership by Mr. McBride, while the Liberals feel more or less bitter at what they regard as an act of treachery on the part of Mr. McBride.

An appeal to the country will be taken as soon as the lists are prepared, probably in about four months.

Sensation at Eugene

Portland, Or., June 3.—Miss Marie Ware, who recently resigned as United States Commissioner at Eugene, at the request of United States District Judge Bellinger, was arrested here today. Miss Ware is charged with conspiracy to obtain government lands by fraud.

Hugaree & McKinley, a timber land locator, was arrested yesterday, charged with making false affidavits in the office of the United States commissioner at Eugene. Special agents of the general land office have been investigating alleged timber land frauds in this state for several months, and it is rumored that several other arrests will follow.

It is said that the fraudulent entries of land in this state will run into the thousands and that sensational developments are expected from the investigation now in progress.

Jews Are Arming.

Berlin, June 3.—Advices received here from Odessa say the Jews have imported several thousand revolvers since the Kishineff massacre, so that at present almost every Jew, man or woman, is armed. Those who were unable to buy weapons received them as gifts from the defence committee. A system of communication has also been agreed upon, so as to spread a warning throughout the city if there is an outbreak in any quarter. Families residing near each other will concentrate for defence, and every second man will join what might be called an "expeditionary corps" to take part in aggressive defence where fighting is actually going on. The Jewish safety committee is also reported to have arranged with the working men's associations for aid in the event of outbreaks. Arms have been distributed from Odessa to the Jews in other cities of Russia.

Berlin, June 2.—The Tageblatt prints a despatch from St. Petersburg announcing that a law was published today giving a list of 101 towns in Russia in which Jews are allowed to acquire land live without restriction. Jews are temporarily forbidden to buy land outside these places, where they will be legally settled.

A man had been absent for some time, and during his absence had raised a pretty luxuriant crop of whiskers, moustache, etc. On returning home he visited a relative, of whose little girl he was very fond. The little girl made no demonstration toward saluting him with a kiss, as was usual.

"Why," said the mother, "don't you give Uncle Will a kiss, dear?" "Why, mummy," returned the little girl, with the most perfect simplicity, "I don't see any place." The father glared at her.

IDYLE HOUR IN THE LEAD
Service Drops to Second Place

Game is Witnessed by the Largest Crowd of the Season.

The ball game last night was the exciting and best attended of the series this season. Such was the crowd long before the call of time that the crowd was not disappointed. Further admission to the grand stand was refused soon after the first inning so great was the crowd and many the number who desired a chance to sit down. And the manager of the respective teams at play were with delight. The crowd in grand stand was a noisy one and many of them did not care particularly what they said, there being strong partisans of both teams.

The quality of the game is largely due to the fact that it could be seen at the game last night that had been seen for the awful slaughter in the latter half of the third when the Idylers had seven runs, the game was a real crackerjack. But a awful lull in the third was not hit worse than maddening. It was a fiercely fierce and strenuously fought game.

The summary shows a remarkable state of affairs in the result. Brazier struck the men while Lowery fanned but Lowery gave away three bases and committed five errors and the Idylers while both sides had six hits on bases. The Idylers beat the Service by a standstill on the bases, having eleven to their credit and the Service but two. The Idylers made ten assists and the Service none. By reason of both teams being at the head of the list on account of a deplorable lack of animosity between them, the result of the play was eagerly anticipated than in any other game yet played this season. At least a thousand dollars changed hands, all placed at even money.

The ball was opened by the Service and succeeded in getting but one man out. Bennett hit for a single to the field and made the initial bag to be caught napping a moment later by Boyer at the plate. Winters hit third and went out at first, and dropped a little one in front of the plate and on an error of first base the cushion, dying later on when Harrison failed to find the father. The Idylers drew first and it was a peach. Krelling was first at the bat and the second that crossed the plate he hit lowly in the eye and sent it out half field under the slough bridge being a home run. Henderson went out first on an assist of pitcher, then took a walk on balls and was out at second in endeavoring to steal the bag, the assist being given by Bennett at home, and Doyle a high fly to Harrison which was promptly nailed.

The Service scored in the second. Winters retired at first on an assist of third, McAuliff fanned and Culligan took his base on a dead ball. Delfel hit to third and on a ball of bad throws that followed the second and scored on a passed ball after the other made the third out where he died on Brazier's ball at first. The Idylers also scored in their half. Coffey hit to short and had gone out at first had Winters had his foot within three feet of the base. Smith followed and as he stepped a little chap in the same manner as Coffey the latter was retired at second on a forced run. Culligan circled the bags and on the Idylers for home collided at the plate with Bennett which resulted in a shove, a poke in the face and police interference. Lowery fanned, Barrington hit for a single, the second and died on Krelling's ball at first.

The beginning of the third was the commencement of a long line of errors for the Service lasting through the innings. Bennett put a liner to the field, Winters took his base on a dead ball and died on third, Dowd stepped out a two bagger but got further, Harrison fanned and Sullivan went out on a fly to Coffey. In the last half of the third was the scene of the awful carnage. The Service was entirely demoralized. Brazier was batted all over the field and muffs piled up at an alarming rate. The crowd yelled and pointed itself hoarse and the Idylers were not on bases hugged each other in ecstasy. The first seven men to go to the bat scored. Then Barrington fanned, Krelling hit to left field and stole second where he was caught. Henderson went out at first on an assist of short and Boyer put a liner to Winters. Henderson, Boyer, Forrester, Coffey, Smith and Lowery brought in the runs.

From the fourth to the eighth netting side scored. In the beginning of the fourth McAuliff retired at first on an assist of short, Culligan fanned,

COLEMAN DISMISSED
On Charge of Starting Forest Fire

Crown Had No Evidence Against Him—Dismissed on Showing of the Prosecution.

H. F. Coleman who was charged with having started a fire which wrought considerable destruction in the Thirtieth district, was dismissed by Mr. Justice Macaulay a few minutes after the case came on for hearing in police court at 4 o'clock yesterday evening, there being no evidence introduced by the crown in any way connect Coleman or his partner W. Hayward with starting the fire in question. On the other hand the crown's witnesses, Perdue and wood chopper Moseke, admitted having seen the Coleman party put out a camp fire by throwing water on it before leaving it.

No evidence was introduced by the defence, the charge being dismissed on the evidence of the prosecution. The only surprise to Mr. Coleman was that, after exercising the care he did, he should be charged with such a careless act.

Want Many Men
 Toronto, June 5.—The News' London cable says:
 "London labor bureau at Charing Cross now has applications from Canadian employers for 17,000 men. Almost every kind of work is represented in the list. The bureau is now connected with continental centres, and draws the best men from a multitude of sources. Six hundred men have already been sent to Ontario, principally common laborers. The bureau charges no fees nor premiums. It is killing the 'farm pupil' game."
 "Le Petit Journal, the newspaper with the greatest circulation in France, says that the scheme for preferential imperialism would be a serious blow to France. It believes that Canada could supply England with butter, cheese, eggs and meat. Such a tariff on British imports would cripple France's exports. One-third of the French agricultural exports is sent to England. The writer goes on to suggest a union of self-interest among agricultural export countries in Europe as an offset to the British customs union."
 "The Birmingham Post, Mr. Chamberlain's personal organ, states on the authority of a French diplomat that France has proposed to the

TO BRING MANY JEWS

Hope for Israel

Pittsburg, June 8.—The consideration of the amended constitution of the American Federation of Zionists occupied nearly all of today's first session. Greetings from eminent Jews of the world were received and read at the convention. This telegram from Vienna was sent by Dr. Herzl:
 "To the Zionist Convention, Pittsburg.
 "The situation of our Russian brethren is very serious and calls for our most earnest attention. A great emigration movement from Russia is to be extended. We shall bring to the Basle congress a program which we believe will help our people. With Zionist greetings,
 (Signed) "Herzl."
 From Barritz came these words from Dr. Max Nordau: "I trust you will continue to develop into a power to the honor of American Jewry and to the benefit of the Jewish people, whose position in the world is more appalling than it has been at any moment in the last century. The name of Kischineff, writ with letters of blood and fire in the old and ever new martyrology of Israel, is sufficient itself to bear out this statement. It shows that for our people there is no such thing as progress. For us, history has not moved onward by one step for the last 800 years."
 "We are still in the fearful period of the crusader, when the pious warriors of the cross trained themselves for their heroic work by the wholesale slaughter of Jews and the looting of defenseless ghettos. It shows also that Zionism is the only way to lead our miserable brethren in Russia and elsewhere out of their present hell. I would despair of Judaism, and of humanity as well, if the free and happy Jews of America were to turn a deaf ear to the blood-curdling tale of Kischineff."
 Israel Zangwill sent the following message: "Greetings to the Pittsburg convention. The Kischineff massacre has brought home to the blindest the need to publicly and legally safeguard a home for our unhappy race. When you come to consider where this centralized home should

Blazing Load of Hay

Prof. Crookes

Kingston, June 5.—One of the strangest accidents ever recorded occurred near Harrisburgh on Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Edmund Pixley, residing about one mile east, started for the village with a load of hay. About half way there he met Arthur Ward going in the opposite direction. Before the two vehicles met Mr. Ward tried to draw Mr. Pixley's attention to the fact that his load of hay was a great one. Mr. Pixley, however, did not run around the load, completely ignoring it, and lightening the horses, which ran away, colliding with Mr. Ward's team. Mr. Pixley was forced to jump from the load in order to save his life. When the rigs came together the load of burning hay upset, scattering the burning hay over the vehicle and horses of Mr. Ward. At the same time the pole of the hay wagon broke, liberating the horses, which made a dash for the village. It was found impossible to cut loose Mr. Ward's horses, which were severely burned. The fire originated from friction, one of the rear wheels of the hay cart rubbing against the side of the rig, setting it afire.

Formal Welcome
 Providence, R.I., June 3.—The formal welcome of the Providence churches to the Congregational Home Mission Society, which began its seventy-seventh annual meeting here yesterday, was tendered by Rev. A. M. Krom, of this city. The president of the society, Rev. N. D. Hills, D.D., of Brooklyn, responded. At the women's meeting an address was delivered by Mrs. Hammond Cole, of Alaska, on "Alaska Life and Work."

Announcement of Sale

Dawson, Y. T., June 23rd, 1903.
 To the public:
 We beg to announce that we have sold our business and property in Dawson to the Pacific Cold Storage Co., who are continuing the business at the Third avenue market.
 We take this opportunity of denying a rumor that we are still interested directly or indirectly in the butcher business in Dawson; we have made an ABSOLUTELY CLEAN SALE, and will hereafter confine our Yukon operations to Whitehorse and Atlin.
 Thanking our friends and patrons for their patronage during the past four years, we remain,
 Yours respectfully,
 P. BURNS & CO.

The stingiest man in the town of Branville had sent for John Briggs to discuss a matter of importance. When Mr. Briggs entered the room it was lighted by one tin candle only. "It's a bright, starlight night," said his host, "and we don't need the candle to talk by." Whereupon he blew it out as soon as his guest had found a seat.
 The room was pitch dark, and the conversation was long. When it was over, the host lighted the candle again to show his visitor out.
 "Well, well, sir, this is a strange sight!" he blustered, for Mr. Briggs was minus coat, waistcoat, collar and necktie.
 "I'll put them on now you've lighted the candle," said Mr. Briggs, calmly, "I thought I might just as well save the wear on them as long as nobody could see."—Youth's Companion.

SCARCITY OF WATER

Interferes With Sluicing on Hunker

Many Dumps May Not be Washed Up Before Fall Unless There Are Summer Rains.

Owing to lack of water the work of sluicing on Hunker creek is practically over until more rain falls. On Sunday at no place on Hunker was more than one sluiceway of water running—and people along the creek said it was growing materially less every day so that unless it rained more there yesterday evening than it did in Dawson there is not a sluiceway of water in Hunker creek at present.

All the snow from the ridges surrounding Hunker has been gone for some time and as little rain has fallen the only water supply has been from springs and glaciers.

On Gold Bottom creek the work of washing out dumps has been suspended for ten days owing to the lack of water and several large dumps have not yet been touched.

Mrs. J. Livingstone Taylor, the globe trotter, will return to the outside this evening via the upper river route. It was her desire to have gone outside by St. Michael, but on account of the delay in the arrival of the boats from the lower river a change in her itinerary became necessary.

Massacre of Jews.

London, June 9.—Sir Horace Rumbold, former ambassador to Austria, writes to the Times this morning with reference to the question of the false accusations of ritual murders provoking attacks on the Jews.

Forest Fires

Burlington, Vt., June 4.—At least 1,000 men are fighting forest fires in Vermont, yet thousands of acres of valuable timber land have been burned over, and there is little prospect that the fires can be checked until rain shall fall.

FARM BUILDINGS BURNED.

Houlton, Me., June 4.—The forest fires in Aristoek county have destroyed 14 miles of the Bangor and Aristoek railroad, and reports from various sections indicate that two small settlements have been destroyed.

NORTH BOUND TRAVEL

Special to the Daily Nugget. Vancouver, June 24.—The following passengers left for Skagway on the Princess May this morning: Dr. W. G. Hitchell, Mrs. J. B. Shearing, Mr. and Mrs. Tobin, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Leslie, A. B. Newell, F. M. Richardson, Mrs. White and children.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT.

The steamer Dawson got in from Whitehorse yesterday evening with the lightest passenger list of any boat of the season, bringing only five. They were:

Miss Alaska, Young, D. Hall Young, A. Van Volkenburg, Thos. Lloyd and John Ross. The Dawson brought 163 tons of freight, mostly perishable goods.

The Whitehorse sailed for Whitehorse yesterday afternoon with the following passengers:

Mrs. L. J. Hicks, Nellie Hicks, William Bronson, Ralph Johnson, William Gray, Mrs. J. B. White, C. E. Matheson, M. Macbeth, J. Carson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gardner, Mrs. Walter McNeil, Mrs. D. J. Longstaff, Mrs. Fred Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McLennan, J. B. Charleson, Miss Edith Charleson, Miss Maud Charleson, Mrs. Lou Charleson, J. Y. Rochester, J. E. Goebel, A. B. Clegg, Ole Borkland, Nels Oleson, W. H. Roessel, H. C. Murray, Sam Nixon, E. T. Sugg, Mrs. Gilchen, A. B. Newell.

The Selkirk was due at 3 o'clock or 3:30 this afternoon with a heavy cargo of live stock for the Pacific Cold Storage Company and passengers as follows:

H. J. Linderker, W. D. Mullen, H. J. Gardner, C. H. Grenil, S. P. Steele, Bohn Wilson, Ellen Wilson, T. H. McCain, Thomas G. Osburn, M. M. Case, A. Malby, T. Fritzer, F. P. Soule, Mrs. J. Sippell, Ada Sippell, Capt. Washburn and wife, Mrs. J. L. Lightly, Senator Dietrick and daughter, L. Jones.

The Columbia is due at 7:30 tonight with a full cargo and 114 sacks of mail. Her passengers are: Thomas Hill, J. P. Shattuck, Laura Collins, E. A. Collins, Frank Collins, Eliza Collins, Maggie Mitchell, Daisy Simpson, Richard F. Hare, Miss Armstrong, W. H. Gates, Mato Powers, Mrs. M. C. Wild, Mrs. W. C. Lowden, J. A. Elwell, Mrs. A. Armstrong, W. Kraft, A. Fath, Mrs. Nostrig, Mrs. L. Robbins, Z. M. Zand and about ten second class.

The steamer Casca is due at 11 o'clock this evening from Whitehorse with a full cargo and a good list of passengers. She will sail on the return trip Friday at 8 p. m.

The Tyrrell got in at 11 o'clock this forenoon from Eagle and Fortymile. She towed up a barge of coal from Cliff creek for the N. A. T. & T. Co., and brought the following passengers, the majority of them being from Eagle:

Mrs. J. J. Thornton, Messrs. Poko, Black, Orland, Miller, J. W. Duley, Inspector Busby, G. Stewart, R. F. F. Miss Jones, Eli Verriau, Miss Causto, J. Carr, M. Williams, John Bore and 19 U. To be an Inspector

Yesterday a new face was seen behind the wickets in the gold commissioner's office, but its presence there will be only temporary, for as soon as the run of the office is thoroughly grasped the owner of the face will be given an inspectorship at one of the out of town stations to which point he will remove the aforesaid face. The possessor of said face is the illustrious John Folderol Sugar, better known to his many friends as "Barney." His valiant services to the government in the past have been rewarded and hereafter he will sign the payroll on the list with becoming alacrity and regularity.

Eppinger Failure

San Francisco, June 9.—The Chronicle today says: "The Eppinger failure, which is now declared to be the inevitable result of about five years of unwise investments, is more sweeping in its results than at first was supposed. It is known that the liabilities will approximate $1,313,000. There is only about $650,000 worth of property with which to pay this, and $400,000 of it represented by 20,000 acres of land on which the London, Paris and American bank holds the mortgages, leaving but about $250,000 in warehouse stores and grains to satisfy claims of nearly $1,000,000. The absolute loss, with no possible payment, will be approximately $350,000. The Eppingers will be left practically penniless, and four San Francisco banks and three country banks will have to bear the combined loss of three-quarters of a million dollars."

NEWS FROM TANANA

May be Received by Wire in Few Days

Expected That Gap From Below Chenoa to Valdez-Eagle Line Will be Closed by 29

Reports come from the lower river that the U. S. telegraph branch from Fairbanks and Chenoa on the Tanana to a point on the main line from Valdez to Eagle will be completed and in operation by the 29th of the present month; Monday of next week.

The completion of the system through the gap above referred to will not only connect Fairbanks and Chenoa with Dawson and the outside world but all of the lower Yukon country from Fort O'Brien to Ft. Michael including Nome, the lower river wire having been strung up the Tanana to within a short distance of Chenoa last fall, leaving a gap of not to exceed 100 miles between its terminal and the line connecting Valdez and Eagle.

Where Tin Cans Go

I was much surprised and greatly interested a few days since when shown through a certain establishment near New York city to find that the "raw material" used consisted chiefly of empty fruit and vegetable cans rescued by the cartload from the dumps of the city. I had supposed, up to that time, that the only purposes for which such material was suited was food for goats or to be attached to the tails of unfortunate canines.

After delivery at the foundry the cans are first piled into a large iron grating located under a sheet iron hood, which terminates in a smokestack. They are sprinkled liberally with crude oil, which is set on fire. This process consumes the labels, loosens the dirt and melts the solder, which falls through the grating, is collected, washed and melted, cast into ingots and sold to be used again.

These are sorted out and the sheets forming the shell are straightened and bound into bundles to be sold to trunk makers, who utilize them for protecting the corners of Saratoga trunks. They are also bought by button makers, who stamp from them the disks used in cloth-covered buttons. The remainder of the cans, being machine made, do not come apart. These are loaded into large cars, taken to the charging floor of an elevator and dumped into the cupola. The cupola is fed with coke and cans in alternation.

There is occasionally an old, wash boiler or a bundle of tin roofing used, but cans form the bulk of the material. The cans are so light that some of them are carried out at the top of the stack by the force of the blast and a large screen has been arranged to prevent the pieces from falling on the roof. Among those readers of the American Machinist to whom these facts are new there are any who have occasion to use the elevators in the skyscrapers of New York I can imagine such wondering how many empty cans it took to make the weights which balance the car in which they ride.—American Machinist.

ST. JOHN'S EXCURSION.

Steamer Dawson Carries Out 140 This Afternoon

Today, St. John's day, is being celebrated in fine style this afternoon, mostly by members of the Catholic church, the big steamer Dawson having been chartered for an excursion down the Yukon. The steamer pulled out down the river at 1:40 with fully 140 people aboard. A piano and other musical instruments will furnish music and a delightful afternoon and evening will be enjoyed. The steamer will go down the river 25 or 30 miles, returning between 9 and 10 tonight.

The Dawson will sail for Whitehorse tonight at midnight.
