This link is worthy the ATTENTION OF DRAISMS, for the following reasons, viz.:—
GONYENTERS—It is so portable, and convenient to use, that many will purchase it who would not use the old kind, on account of the trouble attending it.

DURABILITY:—In this respect this link is fully equal to the best in use.

LEARAGE.—Ink with a preparation is very apt to leak after it has been put up a year or two; and so are also most kinds without a mordent; but this link is scarcely more liable to leak than common liquids.

BREARAGE.—This is wholly avoided, whereas there is hardly any thing more liable to break in transportation than the common kind of Indelible link.

THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1850.

Mr. Lafontaine pretends to hate abuses, but he was the things which the people deem abuses, ad denies the application of the bad name to em. Show him an abuse, let him see that it is them. Show him an abuse, let him see that it is an abuse, and he will remove it—but the impossible test is the conviction. He enjoys the peculiar exemption of measuring his conduct by a shifting scale, which escapes all the ordinary rules of politicians. That which he loudly proclaimed as essential to the welfare of the country year as sheer nonsense,—Rebet, Reference, and Radical, at least of the past. He rejects the doc-trines which invested him with a French popular-ity; and turns those weapons, with which his fel-low-countrymers entrusted him, against a leader he was once proud to serve. The gradual accuation of money, which habits of parsim are of office, have enabled Ma Lafontaine to effect, may have nourished opinions little in accordance with the rank Radicalism of his earlier days; but then he was poor, unknown, and unnoticed like the parasitical plant which flourishes by the destruction of its supporter. He gained power, influence, and a name by plagiar-ising the words, imitating the tactics, and adopting the sentiments of Mr. Papineau. He acquired ntreal nor the Ridings of York will again this political impostor. Money, says im," is the true fuller's earth for removing stains. Lafontaine and his colleagues hold it of sufficient virtue to excuse the fantasic tricks they have played since the Session opened. When England opposed Elective Institutions in Canada, e was rampant for their introduction, a passport to office. Now, England profi ve Institutions, but Lafontaine rejects the lest it might diminish his official income and all his tetetums turn obedient to his will.
Who could have dreamt, a few years since, that Lafontaine, with a majority at his back, would, in Lafontaine out-of-office anticipated and refute the arguments of Lafontaine in office. Trul-the impossible task with him is the consistion, it is another question whether the country wi patiently abide the epoch of the political cycle of Mr. Lafontaine's return to the Elective principle or throw him and Responsible Government over heard.

1850, vote down a project to make the Legislative Council elective, and render it illegal for the Grown in England to veto any Act of Canadian legislation, except upon an Address of both Houses of Parliament ! We seek in vain in his speech, and in the speeches of his comrades, for any jus-

The Martinette Pamily. This talented and worthy Family have been hibiting as Monklands, where their astonishing feats have surprised, as well as delighted the visit-ors. The attractions are such as to merit public patronage, and when the natural inducements to ride out to this delightful retreat from the heat and dust of the city are considered, we are surprised that the Grounds are not crowded with the elite and fashionable of our city.

This evening they will again present their extraordinary performances, and we bespeak for them a large and fashionable array of spectators. them a large and fashionable array of spectators.

Mr. Compain will be provided with every refreshing delicacy of the season; and the scenery and natural beauties of Monklands will, if possible, incresse the artificial and graceful exhibitions of the Martinette Family.

Wearmen.—The weather yearords, evening and during the night was indicative of a very unitry atmosphere. Towards half-pass nine frequent flashes of sheet light-ning appeared from time to time. The sulphurous appearance of the sky seemed to indicate a decisive charge in the weather. We are happy to say, notwithstanding these missecountable pressges, that the weather is mild and sufficiently cool this morning, Wed-needer, the 18th.

The Tribune of Monday is of opinion that on the final vote on this Bill in the Senate—which it is now believed will be reached on Thursday next—that body will be divided as follows:—

Not only the Hindoo servanus, but some of the Chiefs were in the back yard washing themselves almost perpetually. They stripp d, with the exception of a slight cloth around the loins, and they would wash themselves all over with about a half pint of water. The servants of the Embasy were evidently of the lowest castersome were meanly earl management of the contract to the magnificant contume of the Chiefs. that body will be divided as follows:—
For the Bill, 30; Against it, 29.
Mr. Borland, of Arkansas, who has all along been classed among the opponents of the Bill, will,
it is said, decline to record his vote, and allow the Bill to pass. The fate of the Bill in the Senate will probably be decided the present week.—
The House is apparently strongly adverse to it—but the indications are etreightening day by day, but before the closs of the Sension of Congress, the Compromise Bill will become the law of the Ismi.

Rainforagile Life in Paris.—A Peris correspondent of the St. Louis Republican gives some expendible accounts of fashionable life at the head quarters of tashion, and the reason why french women appear to better advantage than those of any other nation is said to be the fact that in France there is no predominant fashion. The felice think everything of dress, but is the dress of anterial, of color and of form, and they are selected solely in reference to the wearer. In England all persons follow custom, and so in the United States. The difference, however, between an English and American lady in Paris is, that the farmer give themselves up to the taste of their dressmakers, while the latter go on their own hook. The following is a picture of a Freuch dressmaker in Paris:—

Some of these ladies live in great magniference.

some of the dresses at the Fresteen's one are represented as quite unique. Thus this correspondent describes the Grand Duchess of Eaden, a relative of the President Napoleon, as looking like the pieces of raw ment mentioned in the adventures of the renowned Sinbad, as thrown stuck all over with precious stones." I his lady is 64, immensely fat and red, and possessing the

"a little man win a great from this letter:—
"There is no civilized nation with more vanity or natural coquetry than the French, and the ladies would no more think of wearing a dress, a cape, or a head dress which was not becoming to them, than they would think of taking a December bath in the Seine because somebody also was simple enough to do it. At a large ball or soirce, lite that of the President's last week, you will see every possible variety of color and make in dress. A fashionable lady here studies her complexion, her form, her style of beauty, even the shape of her head and the cut of her features, and she is too anxious about her good looks to disfigure herself by wearing an ambecoming article of dress merely because the ashion books say that "nothing slae is worn." For instance, a brunette would no sooner wear blue or yellow than a blonde would wear a scarlet or bottle green. A lady with a scrawny neck and arms, will not, because her mode-book says she must, display her misfortune to all the world by wearing a very low dress and very short sleeves; neither will a tall woman dress her hair in a pyramid on top of her head, nor a short one bring hers all round at the sides.

A CALURKY REFUTED.—It was reported in some of the papers, that a certain minuser was leeping a gambling house in San Francisco. The Lowell American contradicts this stander, and says that the reverend gentleman is now in juit at Lockport on a charge of bigamy.

Consisting of all the Rare Animals now extant, OVER ONE HUNDRED SPECIMENS, OVER ONE HUNDRED SPECIMENCS, WILL EXHIBIT at BEAVER HALL, in Montreal, JULY 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, 1850.

Doors open at TWO and HALF-PAST SEVEN, P. M. Admission, 1s. 3ds; Children (ander 10.) half price.

Amongst this great Collection, which is the argest ever Exhibited in America, is the. RHINOCEROS; OR, THE UNICORN OF HOLY WRIT;

The first and only one in America since 1836. The great difficulty in capturing this hage and savage creature, together with the almost impossibility of keeping him alive in a climate so uncongenial to his habits and constitution, renders the Exhibition of a living Rhinoceros the greatest Curiosity in the Animal Kingdom. ALSO, THE WHITE POLAR BEAR, The only one in America; which is considered the most tare of all animals kept in a temperate climate for Exhibition, they being only inhabitants of the most Figid Zone. In this great Collection of Animals, will be see FOURTEEN LIONS,

Of the Finest Specimens, from different Countries, some of which were presented to the renowned Van Anguagh by Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, in his recent tour through Europe. THE MONSTER ELEPHANT COLUMBUS, The largest in America, weighing 10,730 lbs.
