HE HAS ALL THE MEN THAT HE NEEDS UNDER THE NEW ARMY BILL

So States Lord Kitchener With Regard to New Measure—Lord Derby Accords an Interesting Interview.

London, Jan. 19.—The second day of the committee stage of the Military Service Bill in the House of Commons was chiefly interesting from the fact that it elicited the opinion of Earl Kitchener, Secretary of War, that the bill would provide all the men he required to enable him to do all necessary to be done in order to secure victory.

This was announced by Walter Hume Long, President of the Local Government Board, who, in behalf of the Government, resisted an amendment seeking to bring under the scope of the bill all youths attaining the age of 18 years. This amendment was lost.

The greatest discussion centred around Sir John Simon's amendment, which, if adopted, would virtually prevent any enlistment investigation of the existence of a substantial number of single men not already attested or actually engaged in war services.

ADMIRALTY HAS FIRST CALL An amendment was accepted giving the Admiralty first call on enlisted men desiring to enter the navy. T.

REPORT OF COMMISSION ON UNEMPLOYMENT

A Number of Radical Proposals Suggested by Sir John Willison and His Colleagues.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 19.—Part one of the final report of the Ontario Commission on unemployment headed by Sir John Willison, has just been issued from the Provincial Secretary's office.

The designated task of the commission was not to consider conditions arising out of the war, or even out of the passing season of commercial depression, but to examine into the permanent causes of recurring unemployment in Ontario, and to recommend measures to mitigate or abolish the evil.

The commission submits a number of radical proposals, including the establishment of a provincial labor commission, either as a new branch of the provincial government, such permanent commission to include amongst its other duties the control and administration of a system of free government employment bureaus to extend throughout the province and to be linked up eventually with federal bureaus and an imperial migration board.

Additional markets should be opened for the products of Canadian factories and increased business for existing transportation facilities in order to employ profitably the enormous surplus of capital in such plants. It is recommended that the provincial government should launch a scheme of land settlement in rural areas and agricultural training schools at selected points as nuclei of new farming communities.

The commission believes that the available alternative occupations in rural areas can be secured by urban workers by systems of cheap and rapid suburban transportation. It is suggested that more practical education be provided for girls in the schools of the province and the proposed permanent provincial labor commission take steps to encourage the organization of workers' associations among women in employment.

No business college should be allowed to teach without license and supervision from the Department of Education. The proposed permanent provincial labor commission should confer with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association with a view to its co-operation in impressing it on all employers of labor their share of the responsibility for lessening the extent and burden of unemployment.

State-assisted schemes of insurance against unemployment should be established by the Ontario Government. The creation of industrial centres for certain classes of the handicapped unemployed is recommended. Delinquent vagrants and wastrels should be removed from contact with the unwillingly unemployed, and out of the

A WASHINGTON VIEW OF CARRYING TEUTONIC BLOCKADE TO THE LIMIT

New York, Jan. 19.—A Washington despatch to The Herald says that the allies to establish a formal blockade of the Central powers is understood here, there will be one conspiracy to result as affecting Americans, namely that those crafty persons who thought to ship cargoes to Germany to obtain the war market prices of Hamburg on the theory that if the British seized them they would be sold anyhow, will find their goods hereafter confiscated by the allies. It is not understood that the allies will physically alter their blockade. The first clause of the bill was adopted without any radical modification.

LORD DERBY GIVES INTERVIEW. Lord Derby, who conducted the recent recruiting campaign, received the newspaper correspondents yesterday afternoon and talked freely of recruiting and of the war. He said that there was no doubt that Germany was greatly surprised at the vast number of volunteers who had come forward under the voluntary system and at the acceptance of compulsory service by such a large majority in the House of Commons, even though it was in a limited form.

INTERESTING CASE OPENED IN ENGLAND AGAINST WELL KNOWN GLOVE FIRM. London members of the firm would have paid through the New York branch, but for the objection of the latter. W. R. Riden, who is "absolutely false." Extracts from correspondence were read to show that the defendants knew personally of trading with German firms and that they had suggested that goods should be nominally invoiced to other New York firms.

THE FORD PEACE PARTY IS NOW THREATENED WITH AN INTERNAL WAR

The Hague, Jan. 18, via London, Jan. 19.—While preparing for the proposed departure to Stockholm, where it is intended to begin sessions in an attempt to bring about the termination of the war, the Ford permanent peace board was threatened with disruption to-day on account of the refusal of all of the members to proceed on the trip to Stockholm.

Big Estate. Toronto, Jan. 19.—General Sir Bruce Meade Hamilton, G.C.B., is the will of his brother, Major-General Hubert Wetherall Hamilton, C.V.O., C.B., killed at Bethune, France, Oct. 14 last. The estate is valued at $103,147. The estate is valued at $103,147.

Resolution Passed. Ottawa, Ont. Jan. 19.—A resolution of the prohibition of liquor in Canada for the duration of the war and a reconstructive period of three years thereafter, until repeated by a vote of the people, was passed to-day at a meeting of members of the Dominion Alliance executive, the Senate and Commons, and of the Ottawa committee recently organized to further the federal prohibition movement.

Very Drastic. London, Jan. 19.—The Board of Trade under the government bill amending the "trading with the enemy" acts, which was read for the first time in the House of Commons yesterday, will be empowered to prohibit any person, firm or company from doing business in this country carrying on business in the present war.

TILBURY GAS Is Once More Doing Duty in the Gas Mains of Brantford.

It Doesn't Smell Any Sweeter Than It Did Before. Our old—well, not friend, but enemy—the Tilbury gas, on which we depend, after a week's absence, is again in use. "Of course I do. I ordered it. I had to. People were coming to me complaining of great inconvenience and suffering owing to lack of gas pressure. Pipes were in danger of freezing up all over the city. The Gould, Shapley and Muir people, the Cockshtuts and other manufacturing concerns said that if there was not more gas hundreds of men would be thrown out of employment. It was a case of some small or no gas, and I decided that the smell was better than the other alternative."

LETTER SENT. The following is the letter sent by the Mayor to the Gas Company regarding the matter: Brantford Gas Company, City.

Dear Sirs—I as Mayor of the City of Brantford authorize your company to turn on the Tilbury gas with the sulphuretted hydrogen abomination. I do this to protect the water pipes of this city and the interests of the people. In the factories a matter of complete and absolute necessity, during extreme weather conditions. Your company should have carried out the scheme of putting down the pipes in

MR. W. F. COCKSHUTT, M.P., TAKES AN EARLY PART IN THE DEBATE

In a Vigorous Speech, the Member For Brantford Makes Timely References to the War—Call For 500,000 Men.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—That the province of Quebec, equally with every other part of the Dominion, is vitally concerned in Canadian participation in the war, and that she must redouble her efforts, must be prepared for sacrifices, and the contribution of her means, even to the last dollar, if necessary, was the dominant note in yesterday's speeches in the continuation of the debate on the address to the House of Commons. Mr. W. F. Cockshtut of Brantford, in a vigorous speech declared that he would favor a form of compulsory service, if necessary, to win the war. Mr. Cockshtut, who wore a uniform of service khaki, told the House that every member of his family would could serve had enlisted, and that he himself was prepared to serve in any capacity.

HARP ON LAURIER NAVY. Hon. Wm. Pugsley, the last speaker of the day, dealt extensively with the question of contracts, alleging that members of the late Snel Committee had given orders amounting to millions of dollars at exorbitant prices to their own firms, and urging that an enquiry ought to be instituted. Mr. Pugsley created some merriment by saying that if the British

The Kaiser and King Ferdinand of Bulgaria Have a Meeting in Nish. London, Jan. 19.—A despatch received by Reuters' Telegram Company says that Emperor William was in Nish, Serbia, yesterday. According to this information, which was forwarded from Nish by way of Berlin, the German Emperor met King Ferdinand of Bulgaria at Nish.

Steamer Sunk. London, Jan. 19, 4.30 p. m.—The British steamer Marere has been sunk. Her crew was rescued. What Lloyd-George Said. New York, Jan. 19.—A cable to The New York Sun from London under yesterday's date says, in reply to a question in the House of Commons this afternoon, Mr. Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, said that American munitions were still coming to England. He added: "The fact that American munitions are still coming to us is a triumph for the Morgans and not for Canada."

German Losses. London, Jan. 19.—Harold J. Tennant, parliamentary under secretary for war, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the total German casualties as published in the Berlin casualty lists to date total 2,535,768. Of this number he said 588,986 were killed. The war secretary said the German wounded and missing numbered 1,566,949, while 35,153 men had been taken prisoners. In addition, 24,080 Germans had died from various causes. More than three-fifths of the world's supply of copper comes from the American and Mexican mines.

"Suddenly Jock gave a loud whine as if he did not like the idea of the cold water, and sprang off the parapet, ears, legs and tail waving. He went under and came up treading water noisily.

FAITHFUL TO DEATH

Pathetic Story of a Mongrel Dog and What He Did.

This story of a mongrel dog "Jock," which met a tragic end, was related by Mr. H. D. Haviland, in "Fry's" Magazine:

"Mick Raggett owned a terrier called Rip, whose clever tricks completely overshadowed the sorry attempts of poor Jock, but the mongrel never showed any jealousy, and only yelped pathetically when Rip nipped his long ears for sport.

"We were hunting with the dogs on the lower reaches of a stream one January day, and at noon we crossed the bridge to try our luck at plover among the flood pools higher up. There was a freshet on the Owen's avorgh, and the water, lip-lapping half way up the piers of the bridge, was the color of weak tea. Big cakes of foam came floating down the current, but on the windward side of the bridge the little choppy waves soon smashed them up into pieces no bigger than a biscuit. We rested on

FINE PRACTICE

Is Held by the Schubert Choir Under Mr. Clifford Higgin.

The Schubert Choir under its capable conductor, Mr. Clifford Higgin had a splendid practice of the Opera Maritima last evening. Notwithstanding the severe weather conditions there was a capital turnout of members.

The opera Maritima is an especially bright, attractive work lending itself to fine massed chorus effects. It abounds too in melodious numbers and as presented by the Schuberts at the Opera House on February 2nd, the choir has ever presented. The opera is by W. Vincent Wallace. The solo work will be in most capable hands. Miss Irene Symons will take the soprano parts. Mr. Gladstone Brown, the tenor and Mr. Edgar Fowlston, the baritone. They are all well-known soloists of more than provincial reputation. The contralto soloist has not yet been definitely announced.

During the evening Judge Hardy, the Honorary President of the choir, made a noteworthy speech eulogizing the work of the Schuberts and their capable conductors during the past nine years. These troublesome war times it was most advisable to seek relaxation from worries and doubts, and he knew of no better antidote than good music. The Schuberts' devotion to their art and their hearty support of Brantfordites in their forthcoming concert.

Mr. Ralph H. Reville, the honorary vice-president, also made a brief address commending the choir and wishing it every success.

A DEADLOCK

Over the Water Commissioner Chairmanship—Montgomery Would Like it if Only For Six Months.

At the first meeting of the Board of Water Commissioners held yesterday afternoon all the members were present: Mayor Bowly, Mr. John Fair and Mr. A. G. Montgomery.

The Mayor said he would move that Mr. Fair be chairman, if Mr. Fair would second the motion.

Mr. Montgomery declined. He said he wanted the chairmanship if only for six months.

Mr. Bowly then said that the law was that an old chairman should act until a new one was appointed.

Mr. Montgomery objected to this. The Mayor said he did not wish to assume any new responsibilities but he would be willing to act until a chairman could be selected.

This was agreed to. A number of communications and accounts were dealt with.

The following is the report of the meeting as prepared by the Secretary: Moved by A. A. Montgomery, secretary that the chair be carried.

His Worship the Mayor, asked the members of the Board to nominate the Chairman.

Mr. A. G. Montgomery addressed the Board, stating that he felt that he was entitled to the position of Chairman, as Mr. Fair had held the office for four years, and as his health was very much improved, he was fully qualified to fill the position from his knowledge of conditions and the work generally.

Moved by A. G. Montgomery, seconded by John Fair, that His Worship the Mayor, act as Chairman of the Board until his successor is appointed. Carried.

His Worship then took the chair. COMMUNICATIONS

The Secretary read the following: From the Turbine Equipment Co, Jan 11th, Chipman and Power, Jan. 19 and 18th, K. W. Angus B.A. sec., an 11 and 17th David Webster, Chief Engineer with a detailed report of the work under his supervision for the year.

Moved by Jno. Fair, seconded by A. G. Montgomery, that the City Treasurer be authorized to arrange funds for capital expenditure, pending application of the council. Carried.

Moved by Jno. Fair, seconded by A. G. Montgomery, that the Turbine Equipment Company's attention be called to resolution passed December 7th, a copy of which was sent to them, the contract, and a full preliminary copy of all four units be made and a copy of same furnished to this Board at their earliest possible convenience.

WAR COUNCIL

Holds An Important Meeting in the Old Land.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, Jan. 19—A news agency despatch from London to-day says: The allied war council met here to-day with the air full of rumors of important developments in the Balkans.

The French Premier, with Premier Asquith and military representatives on the war council, went into session at Downing street shortly after noon.

A few hours before the conference statement discrediting the German report that the allies have delivered a 48 hour ultimatum to Greece. It was stated that German reports of new developments in Greece are "believed" to be untrue.

Despatches from Rotterdam and London reported a revolutionary movement on foot in Greece and King Constantine's government in danger of falling. From several sources come fresh reports of allied troops landing, and with them a renewal of the reports that the Austro-German-Bulgarian attack on Saloniki is about to begin.

Similar to Grand Army.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Montreal, Jan. 19.—An organization similar to the Grand Army of the Republic to look after Canada's returned soldiers will be formed after the war, announced W. D. Lightall, K.C., at the meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association last evening.

Mr. Lightall estimated that 200,000 Canadian soldiers would come back from overseas. The Canadian Union of Municipalities was looking forward to a good arrangement of labor bureaux working under a competent central authority to attend to the unemployment problem after the war, and especially to a comprehensive system of placing men as far as possible on the land.

Mr. Steel Maitland, Under-Secretary for the Colonies and M.P. for East Birmingham, has enlisted under Lord Derby's scheme.

The Under Secretary for War has announced that armlets will be issued to those candidates rejected on medical grounds.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

An Irish Explanation.

An amusing story is related in his book, "The Happy Irish," by Mr. Harold Begbie. The story was told to him by a doctor in a small town in Ireland.

"I was rung up pretty late one night by a peasant from an outlying village, fifteen miles away. It was in the days before I had a car. The wind was blowing horribly, the rain was sweeping against the house, and I was rather shamefacedly if I would come and see his mother. I invited him to come in.

"Patrick," I said to him, "your mother is a very old woman." "I know that, doctor," he admitted.

"She's over eighty, Patrick." "She's all that, doctor."

"And nothing that I could do to-night would be of the smallest use to her."

"Sure, doctor," said he, "I know very well it's the truth you are telling me, but me poor mother, do you see, would have me come and fetch you because she does not want to die a natural death."

The Greeks and Romans, with all their luxury, ate with their fingers. They had large forks for dealing with hay and for taking meat from kettles, but they never thought of having small ones for table use.

Before the members of a fire-engine brigade can go to a fire in Berlin they must all fall in line in military fashion and formally salute their captain.

Soldiers Go Overtime to Beat Orillia

Orillia, Jan. 19.—Last night's O.H.A. junior game went 20 minutes overtime before the 7th Battalion team from Brantford won by 10 to 9 from Orillia. The score was a tie at the end of each period, and seven all at full time. At the end of ten minutes overtime it was 9 all. In the next ten minutes the soldiers made it 10 to 9.

London Overseas Win From Industrial City

Woodstock, Jan. 19.—Outplaying Woodstock in the last period, the London Overseas defeated the home stars in an O. H. A. intermediate game here last night by 6 to 4. It was the best game of hockey seen here this year. Fast and with both teams playing good combination, it was a thriller from start to finish. London led at the end of the first period 2 to 0. Woodstock came back strong, and at the end of the second period showed the way by leading 3 to 2. London scored twice in the first minute of the last period and added another before time was up. Lesueur, Kelly, Arthur and Chapman starred for London. Sanderson, Gill and McMullan featured for the home team.

Will Not Increase Its Salary Limit

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The salary limit of $2,500 as adopted last Fall by the American Association will remain in force, President Chivington announced today. Discussion of the limit took place at the meeting here Saturday but no formal proposal to change it was made and it probably will not be brought up at the February meeting to be held in Columbus. Owner McGill and Manager Hendricks of the Indianapolis club to-day interviewed officials of the Chicago Nationals relative to the transfer of several players.

Junior Groups Nearly Finished

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Several of the junior groups of the O. H. A. are getting down to the finish. Port Hope and Oshawa are tied in group 2, and will play home and home games, the first at Port Hope on Thursday, and the next at Oshawa a week later. Bowmanville defeated to Oshawa. In group 5 Simcoe, Norfolk and Port Colborne will play home and home games, the first at Port Col-

Argos Win Another.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—By their defeat of the T. R. and A. A. team by 7 to 2 last night the Argonauts assumed the lead in O. H. A. senior group No. 2. The Black and White thus preserved their unbroken string of defeats, while the Argos ensconced themselves a little more firmly in the race for the section championship. Not much importance attached to the game, and the crowd was small. The contest did not provide a good exhibition of the winter pastime. Individual play prevailed.

The winners led at the end of the first period by 2 to 0, at the end of the second by 6 to 1, and at the conclusion of the game by 7 to 3. T. R. and A. A. moved McLean up to the attack in the final period and dropped Sullivan back to the defence. This move improved the offensive play of the Black and White. The formidable Argonaut defence, composed of Laflamme and Knight, not only defended their goal effectively, but their little excursions into the territory of their opponents resulted in a number of scores.

PACIFIC COAST GAME.

Seattle, Jan. 19.—Victoria and the local team furnished an interesting contest in a scheduled Pacific coast fixture here last night before one of the largest crowds of the season. Seattle started out with their usual burst of speed and assumed the lead in the early stages in quick succession, while Victoria only scored once. The second session was productive of a more even contest, Victoria scoring the only goal of the twenty minutes play. In the final period Seattle scored twice and Victoria once, Seattle winning by a score of 5 to 3.

VANCOUVER WON.

Vancouver, Jan. 19.—The meeting between Vancouver and Portland in a scheduled coast league fixture here last night was one of the most interesting witnessed this season. Only one goal was scored in the opening period, that being taken by the American team while in the second period both failed to find the nets. In the final twenty minutes Vancouver outplayed their opponents and won by a score of 4 to 1.

MR. W. F. COCKSHUTT

(Continued from Page 1) Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, of Brantford, after dealing with the war situation expressed the hope that Canada would not require to adopt a system of conscription. Probably in the present state of public opinion no government could introduce conscription and live. But if Canadians did not want conscription they should not criticize those who had adopted it because conscription had saved the near victory as they were. Mr. Cockshutt spoke of the manner in which Canadians had responded to the call and said it was something to be wondered at, in view of the extent to which peace had been preached in the Dominion for years.

CONSCRIPTION RATHER THAN FAILURE.

Mr. Cockshutt stated that in considering the part taken by the different dominions in the present war it must not be forgotten that Australia had set Canada the lead, both as regards expenditure of men and money, having lost twice as many men as this country. Mr. Cockshutt then dealt with the possibility of conscription in Canada. "I do not wish to be interpreted as expressing anything but my own personal views on this subject," he stated. "But it may be necessary, and I think it will be necessary, to give some more drastic means than we have yet taken to get 500,000 men."

necessary. "I hope conscription will not be necessary in Canada," Mr. Cockshutt continued, "but if I have to choose between going in for conscription and the loss of this war I would be a conscriptionist." (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Cockshutt pointed to the vacant seat of Hon. Dr. Beland, of Beauce, now a German prisoner, and stated it was the duty of every Canadian to put forth every effort to free these other Canadians now languishing in German prison camps. Mr. Cockshutt then instanced the execution of Evil Cavell as an instance of German atrocity. The blood of that murdered nurse, he said, would cry from the ground to every Canadian. "The voluntary system of enlistment is now on trial," said the member for Brantford. "If it fails to enlist for Brantford for extreme measures, either by the Minister of Finance or the Minister of Militia."

Mr. Cockshutt was surprised that Wilfrid Laurier had considered 500,000 men a great number to ask and to ask without consulting Parliament. Did he not know that Mr. W. Rowell, the Liberal leader in Ontario had been stamping the country for half a million men to be raised? "You don't want conscription," he said, "but if you do not want it, you have them under the German, not the British flag," concluded Mr. Cockshutt.

HE HAS ALL

(Continued from Page 1) "Then you do not anticipate any riots, similar to the draft riots in the United States at the time of the Civil War?" the correspondent asked. "Well," Lord Derby replied, "I do not anticipate any trouble, because, as you must realize, the strongest opponents of the bill agreed, that the bill was passed, to accept it without protest. There is no doubt that a majority of the men have come forward and been attested, but there also, is no doubt that a respectable number are waiting to be fetched."

Lord Derby was asked if he could give any estimate of the number of ineligible among those who had hung back, and it was suggested that the opponents of conscription had inflated the number of eligibles was infinitesimal.

Lord Derby quickly retorted: "If the Angel Gabriel came down to give an estimate, someone in the House of Commons, I won't say who, would want to cut the estimate in two."

ENGLISH PEOPLE RESOLUTE.

Speaking of his experience in travelling over the country, Lord Derby said he was convinced that the people of England were determined to carry the war through to the end. The seriousness of the war, in his opinion, had just sold him in his opinion, and he was sure that perhaps not the possible length, Lord Kitchener, he said, seemed to be the only man who had a reasonable idea of what was going on, and he said it would last for three years.

"But if such eminent authorities as the Kaiser opened the war, and fished it, he had a lead off the shelf," Lord Derby went on "there was some excuse for the belief in a short war of those who have no military knowledge."

Asked what he meant by "carrying the war through to the end," Lord Derby said: "That is, there shall be no peace until it is certain that there shall be no further war on this scale shall be in the time of our children's children. That means holding Germany to nothing; that means to whip her, then turn her round and hide her in the proper quarry the miners and railway men as evidencing the spirit of the first, but Lord Derby said that his difficulty was not to induce them to fight but to prevent them from enlisting in such numbers as to cripple the transportation and mining industry of the country."

SOURCE OF SUPPLY.

Lord Derby was silent on the figures constituting the groups, he said. "I don't know, but if I did, I probably would not tell you. The group system is simply a tap, we turn it on as it is required, and the military say they need so many men, and we call up the necessary number of groups. The army now is sure of a constant supply, while under the voluntary system it is not possible to be sure of having adequate reserves, several months ahead, owing to the fluctuations of recruiting."

Asked if, in case the war should continue another year and a half, England would be able to keep up the supply of men, he said: "It is certain that England is in a far better position than Germany, and it is certain that England's reserves of men between the ages of 19 and 41 are greater than those of Germany, and I take off my hat to her on the point of organization, but I also do not underestimate Britain and her power and ability to stick the war through to a successful finish."

On the subject of the German statements of the shortage of commanding officers in the British armies, he said: "There is no shortage. Of course the officers of the first expeditionary armies are mostly gone. They were the finest type of officers in the world and cannot be replaced. But there is an ample supply of new officers who are shaping excellently."

BETTER CLASS OF MEN.

In reply to a question based on the German contention that the new armies are insufficiently trained, he said: "That is partly answered by the experience of the territorials who had forty drills the first year and ten each following year and spent only a fortnight a year in camp. Yet the territorial did better in the field in common knowledge. Now the armies have three or four months of real hard work before going to the front. They are also composed of a different class of men than those of the former expeditionary army, magnificent though it was. They are better educated and come from higher walks of life."

Asked regarding the stamina of the new armies and whether the men from sedentary occupations were standing up to what had happened in Lancashire, there were three sizes of men, he said—small, medium and large. Within a short time the men not only as developed as the men of the past, but the small size had to be discarded and the medium became the small size, and the large became the medium, while an extra large size had to be added.

FIVE IN RESPONSE OF BRITONS.

In reply to a question regarding what would become of the soldiers after the war, he admitted that it was an interesting problem. It was suggested that living in the open would not be content to return to their desks, but would emigrate to the colonies.

"I know," he said, "that there has been a cry to the past that the colonies were lost to England, but the war has demonstrated that this is not so. If, after the war, let them because go to the colonies, let them because they can always be depended upon to some back when the Mother Country is in danger. It is one of the most beautiful things of this war to see the magnificent way in which the Australians and Canadians have responded—and they can fight."

He made references to the friendly Christian character of the deceased gentleman, and exhorted his hearers to live useful in Norwich. Several laymen were in the congregation to attend the reception and mass meeting held on the occasion of the visit of the 71st Battalion. The annual business meeting of the Hatchley Baptist church was held on Monday last week. The reports of the various organizations showed the finances to be in a very satisfactory condition. Music and Drama

"Quinnys" the play from the novel, took London by storm at the very time, in May, 1915, when Zeppelins were also trying to take it by storm, an ordinary theatre audience were exceedingly small. But possibly it was a relief to war-burdened London to forget its cares in the natural and delightful comedy of this human play. That quality of humanity, already discussed in regard to "Quinnys" in novel form, has made it wonderfully possible to dramatize the book; the affection of humble bumptious "Joe" Quinney for his wife and child give character in the play a living reality. And the background—the antique shop, with high lights on handsome "pieces" and more doubtful finds in a mysterious back-ground—is unusual and effective, as seen in the theatre, and easy for the reader to visualize, so completely does the reader of the play—or the novel—get inside of Joe Quinney. Mr. Horace Annesley Vachell, the author of "Quinnys", was born in England in 1861; descended on both the Annesley and Vachell sides, from prominent families that have produced England. His father was Richard Tanfield Vachell, of Coptfold Hall, Essex. He was educated at the public school—Barnes, which means something rather more distinguished than the term "public schools" as used in America—passing thence into the Royal Military College, Sandhurst. He received his commission as lieutenant in the Rifle Brigade in 1883; showing himself essentially a man of action without much thought of literature, and also continuing the military tradition of his splendid line. That tradition has also been continued by the young man, for his son is with the Royal Aero Corps in the Great War, daily making perilous scouting trips at the front. The play with a fine company, will be at the Grand Opera House, Brantford Friday night of this week. THE CHERNIAVSKYS A HUGE SUCCESS. It is seldom in the history of Toronto that artists are engaged to return during the season, but owing to the phenomenal success of the Cherniavskys, they have been booked for a return engagement this season. The Toronto Star reporting in 1915 said: "The Cherniavskys gave Toronto a real musical treat in Massey Hall on Saturday night. It was one of the most enjoyable concerts of chamber music that music-lovers have been pleased with in many seasons. The Russian trio made their Toronto debut on this occasion and they should be able to draw a capacity house when they turn. Each is a real artist, with a wealth of emo-

"Quinneys" the play from the novel, took London by storm at the very time, in May, 1915, when Zeppelins were also trying to take it by storm, and ordinary theatre audiences were exceedingly small. But possibly it was a relief to the natural and delightful comedy of this human play. That quality of humanness, already discussed in regard to "Quinneys" in novel form, has made it wonderfully possible to dramatize the book; the affection of humble bumpkins "Joe" Quinney for his wife and child give character to the play a living reality. And the background—the antique shop, with high lights on handsome "pieces" and more ground—is unusual and effective, as seen in the theatre, and easy for the reader to visualize, so completely does the reader of the play—or the novel—get inside of Joe Quinney.

Mr. Horace Amesley Vachell, the author of "Quinneys", was born in England in 1861; descended on both the Annesley and Vachell sides, from prominent families that have produced generals, statesmen, the aristocrats of England. His father was Richard Vachell, of Copthold Hall, Essex. He was educated at Harrow, most famous of the English public schools—which means something rather more distinguished than the term "public schools" as used in America—passing thence into the Royal Military College, Sandhurst.
He received his commission as lieutenant in the Rifle Brigade in 1883; showing himself essentially a man of action without much thought of literature, and also continuing the military tradition of his splendid line. That tradition has also been continued by him, for his son is with the Royal Aero Corps in the Great War, daily making perilous scouting trips at the front.

The play with a fine company, will be at the Grand Opera House, Brantford Friday night of this week.

THE CHERNIAVSKYS A HUGE SUCCESS.

It is seldom in the history of Toronto that artists are engaged to return during the same season, but owing to the phenomenal success of the Cherniavskys, they have been booked for a return engagement this season.

The Toronto Star reporting the Cherniavskys on Nov. 15, 1915, said:
"The Cherniavskys gave Toronto a real musical treat in Massey Hall on Saturday night. It was one of the most enjoyable concerts of chamber music that music-lovers have been pleased with in many seasons.

"The Russian trio made their Toronto debut on this occasion and they should be able to draw a capacity house when they return. Each is a real artist, with a wealth of emotional power and abundance of technical skill.

"Playing together the brothers gave Mendelssohn's suite for trios, playing with such deftness and daintiness of touch that the audience was fairly delighted.

"They were also happy in their final number, Widor's Serenade, "A Moment Musical" by Schubert, and Brahm's "Slave Dance." As a last touch they played the national anthem of Russia, France and Britain with a fine resonant tone, bringing out the passion of the Marseillaise and the dignity of the other two hymns splendidly.

In their solo work the Cherniavsky, proved themselves the artists that they are, Jan, the pianist played the Verdi-Liszt "Rigolette" number with entrancing power, and his Chopin Nocturne was delightfully done. The audience rated him a master of the piano.

Leo, the violinist, played Tschaikovsky's long concerto with rare skill, and firmness of touch, and gave as an entirely new interpretation to a piece which was one of the treats of the big evening.

Mischel, the cellist, drew from his instrument a wealth of resonant tone and played with a verve and abandon that was somewhat different from the style of the other artists."

They are re-appearing in this city on Thursday, Feb. 3. The plan opens at Boles Drug Store on Jan. 26th.

SYRUP OF FIGS
FOR CROSS, SICK
FEVERISH CHILD

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply do not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they come tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one, if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treat mentioned. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups.
Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size.
Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAP-TERS.

A feud has existed between Colonel Arthur Stanley and his cousin, Judge Lamar Stanley, ever an heirloom, the diamond from the sky, found in the New York harbor. Also, the succession to the Stanley earldom in England may come to an American. When the diamond's friend, the colonel buys a gypsy boy and substitutes him. Three years later the gypsy, meeting having had no part in this bargain, steals the girl, being reared in secret, and leaves her son undetected as the heir. The gypsy has obtained possession of the diamond from the sky, and a document with the Stanley secret. When Esther, the beautiful young girl, Hagar, now gypsy queen, returns to Virginia with her, Dr.
Lee, the late Colonel Stanley's friend, adopts Esther, but demands that Hagar turn over to him the diamond from the sky. Arthur Stanley, son of Hagar, falls in love with Esther and so does his companion and cousin, Blair Stanley, rightful heir of Stanley. In stealing the diamond Blair causes the death of the doctor and tries later to put the blame on Arthur, who takes the diamond from the gypsy. The sheriff attempts to take Arthur into custody, but he eludes his pursuers and joins Hagar, who reveals his identity as Blair Stanley to the world. In the evening money, he pawns the diamond in Richmond. At a ball, at which a supposed New York belle, Vivian, is the guest of honor, Arthur and Blair find the diamond on the visitor. She is an adventurer who has been in the city.

over his young mistress and the flight and chatter of Clarence, the monkey who clung desperately to him, Quabba submitted to being hustled after Esther into the waiting taxicab, which drove off as though at command, leaving the bootblack upon the scene.

From the dark and dingy interior of the lodging house came a cloud of dust, raised by the falling of the rickety old stairway and landing in the battle with Blair.

The blowy and gin sodden landlady, roused now to an acute perception of the trouble to come from the police, stood in the doorway screaming as the tide and shabby population at that mean part of Richmond came flocking to the scene, wondering if it were murder, robbery or both.

Blair in his bootblack guise mingled with the throng as a spectator, waiting to see if Blair would be brought out from the interior wreckage, living or dead. At the arrival of the police wagon the screaming landlady slammed the door and barred it.

Inside, among the wreckage of the fallen staircase and landing, Blair re-sired from the stunning effects of his fall, pulled himself to his feet, rejoicing that beyond a few bruises he was not injured. He scrambled over the debris and down the cellar steps and over the dirty littered back yards and away, while yet the hysterical landlady held the fort against the battering police outside.

The house had been a fine mansion in its day, and the stout old door held stanchly. But at last it gave way and in poured the police, who could gain no information from the screaming, scratching harriard, who endeavored to bar their way, and so they promptly laid hands on the landlady and such of her lodgers as had not fled, and baled them out to the patrol wagon and bore them off.

Blair, killing with the crowd, did not disclose himself, but, satisfied that Blair had made good his escape and that no notoriety or arrests would stir up matters that Blair, as agent of Arthur, desired to remain quiescent, he returned, smiling inscrutably, to his office.

In a back street the feeling Blair, noting a standing automobile, whose driver was stooping over by its front wheel finishing pumping up a tire, bowed over the startled chauffeur and drove off in the commandeered car at breakneck speed. He drew his hat down over his eyes and bent low over the wheel as, halfway to Mrs. Randolph's house, he flashed past the taxicab containing Esther and Quabba.

Haltng his car in front of Mrs. Randolph's mansion, Blair hastily donned a leather automobile coat and a driver's cap with goggles on the visor lying in the car seat.

Hiding his own hat and dust covered coat under the seat cushion and wearing the auto togs, he was the first person to greet Esther and Quabba when they adopted taxicab drew up and they alighted.

The taxi driver, evidently in the pay and at the orders of Detective Blake, drove away without a word, and despite the indignation protests of both Esther and Quabba, Blair outpaced them with his declaration that he was innocent of any lodging house encounter, but on the contrary had been riding all day in the car he had borrowed from a friend.

Mrs. Randolph, meeting the excited group in her doorway, promptly fell into "a state of nerves" at the problem that confronted her when the indignant Quabba and the more than indignant Esther breathlessly presented their charges of brutal trachery and

Luke Lovell, Hagar's gypsy guard, steals the diamond, and to avoid detection drops it into the main street, near Richmond and goes to the west. The diamond passes into a mail bag, picked up by Quabba, causing the taxicab driver and the monkey steals the diamond. Hagar takes Esther to Stanley hall.

Tom Blake, a detective of Richmond, who is hired by Hagar, produces finger prints convicting Blair. Hagar proposes silence to Mrs. Stanley as the price of Hagar's and Esther's being received in Fairfax society. Blair strikes down Hagar and steals the finger prints leaving the gypsy dumbfounded.

The diamond is found by a tramp, the latter is murdered by Hung Li. It is stolen just as a slumming party enters Hung Li's den. Hagar is slain with Esther among the gypsies.

Hagar's lawyer, arrives to announce Arthur is heir to the deceased Earl of Stanley. Learning Arthur is a fugitive, Hagar's lawyer, sends for Blair, who steals the diamond, later marrying her and leaving for the west. Their train is robbed. Vivian loses the diamond, which a slain train robber drops in the desert.
The $10,000 he stole is found by Arthur, now known as John Powell, a sheep herder.
Vivian deserts Blair, telling him he must regain the diamond for her. Luke Lovell, driven from the camp after learning Hagar's secret, leaves to seek Blair. Hagar is under treatment and Esther is in Richmond society, protégée of Mrs. Stanley, who suspects her real name, and of Mrs. Randolph. Abe Bloom, gambler, who knows Blair's guilt, covets the diamond and calls it the price of his secrecy. Blair will not listen to Lovell, and Arthur also insists on his silence. Blair returns to Richmond and, instigated by his mother, pays unwelcome court to Esther. Mrs.
Stanley asserting Vivian had been married before.

The diamond is picked up by an Indian woman, Dr. Lee. Arthur learns, dies of heart disease. Becoming very rich, he buys Stanley hall, sold at auction, through Blake, and also provides for Hagar and has money left secretly in Esther's room. Luke Lovell buys the diamond from the squaw, but loses it in a fight on Santa Barbara bay, the gem sinking. At the auction Smythe buys a mounted deer head. Vivian, desiring aid to ensnare Arthur, sends for Blair. The latter is worried in an attempt to take the Stanley document from Esther, defended by Blake and Quabba.

perdy against Blair, who still insistently proclaimed his innocence with an air of half indignation, half puzzled good nature.

DRINKING FALLING RAIN
Some species of sea-birds frequently spend weeks at sea, and are believed to quench their thirst partly from the falling rains. The keen eyesight of birds is well known, and sea-birds have been observed flocking towards storm-clouds about to burst from all points of the compass, and apparently drinking in the water as it descends from the skies.

VARIETIES

TRAINING WAR DOGS.
A proof of the patriotism of the non-combatant classes in Russia is afforded by the assiduity and enthusiasm with which the proprietors of kennels in the capital, in Moscow, and in other large cities have of late begun to devote themselves to the training of dogs intended to be sent to the front as dumb but noble "brothers and sisters of mercy." It has become a favorite occupation of the upper classes to indulge in this highly servicable and humanitarian work.
The dogs are being trained not only to search for the wounded on the deserted battlefields and to deliver bandage material and first-aid medicaments, but also to warm them and revive them in cases of unconsciousness.

RABBIT-SKIN JACKETS.
As it appeared to be almost an impossibility to secure sufficient rabbit skins to make a complete fur jacket for each of the Australian troops, the skins when exposed to the bitter cold of winter in Europe the committee of the Melbourne Patriotic League has decided to use four rabbit skins on each of the woolen cardigan jackets.
The skins are deftly stitched to the jacket in such a position that the chest, lungs and kidneys of the wearer are protected, and it is claimed that the fur coverings are quite as effective as if the whole jacket consisted of rabbit skins. No fewer than sixteen skins would be required to make a complete fur jacket.

A REMINISCENCE OF PAUL JONES.
The last occasion on which Scarborough heard the boom of hostile guns was in September 1779, when Paul Jones in the Bon Homme Richard, fought the Serapis, under Captain Pearson, off Flamborough Head.
The town had then its own practicable defences, for the Baltic mercan-tle fleet, which was being convoyed by the Serapis and its consort, found a secure place of refuge under the guns of Scarborough Castle.

Of all sea fights since Sir Richard Olivier's last that of the Pon-tiacque Richard and the Serapis is the most amazing. There was a moment when the British ship seemed absolutely secure of victory, and the Bon Homme Richard went down, wounded to death, as soon as the crew could be removed to the Serapis after Captain Pearson's surrender.
Nowadays men-of-war sink each other while they are still miles apart.
In 1779 the American raider and the British frigate grappled together and poured broadsides into each other whilst their crews in such close embrace that they seemed to be like one ship. When Paul Jones' master gunner believing his superior, he was able to convey his intention to the Serapis by word of mouth, and the four hours' battle was brought to a close by the dropping of a hand-grenade from an opposing ship or a grenade from the Serapis on Captain Pearson's main deck.

TREACHERY CHARGED

On the Part of King Nicholas of Montenegro—In League With Austria.

Sensational Assertion Made by a Newspaper Correspondent.

(By R. Mackenzie, Correspondent of The London Daily News.)

Rome, Jan. 19.—Reports that the Montenegrins were heroically fighting the Austrians were false. On the contrary, they were secretly aiding the Austrians by conveying provisions and munitions from Italy, thus enabling the Austrians to subvert the levying of King Nicholas has been secretly league with the Austrians since October, and practically solicited invasion of his country, which he betrayed with the object of concluding a separate peace.

This explains and fully justifies the attitude of the allies, who knew that to aid Montenegro would be worse than useless. Had they supplied guns and ammunition to the Montenegrins they would simply have fallen into the Austrians' hands.

King Nicholas alone is responsible for betraying his country. The majority of the Montenegrins, including his sons, are opposed to a separate peace, which is bound to lead, sooner or later, to the detriment of the King.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR SURRENDER

Berlin, via wireless to Sayville, Jan. 19.—Official communication received, dated yesterday, says: "The negotiations concerning details for the capitulation of the Montenegrin army began yesterday afternoon, and the Austro-Hungarian troops, which meantime had occupied Virbasar and Reika, ceased hostilities."

Reika is the second capital of Montenegro, where the king's winter palace is located, and whence a steamer line runs along the Crnojevia River to Virbasar and Scutari. The Reika and Virbasar basins are the most fertile regions in Montenegro.

In a large number of cases a "cold in the head," which usually is the precursor of grip when it is epidemic can be stopped by this spray.

In order to encourage the erection of beautiful residences in Paris the authorities award three gold medals annually to the designers of the most artistic dwellings. The owners of these homes are relieved of half of their annual taxes.

AN INJUNCTION

Applied for in Hamilton in Connection With Gas Supply.

Claim Made That Diversion is Taking Place to Brantford.

Hamilton, Jan. 19.—Litigation will follow the natural gas shortage which hit Hamilton so hard yesterday, and the effects of which the city has not fully recovered from to-day. Yesterday afternoon John G. Gaud, K.C., solicitor for the United Gas and Fuel Company of this city, applied for an injunction to restrain the Dominion Natural Gas Co., the supply concern, from diverting gas intended for Hamilton to Brantford.

The local company claims that it is the diverting of gas to Brantford from the eight-inch main that is causing all the trouble here. There was still a shortage of gas yesterday, and private consumers are complaining and found fault at not being able to get all they wanted, in spite of the fact that the United Gas and Fuel company is doing its best to meet the demands made upon it. A year ago when the severe weather came on, the company utilized its artificial plant to augment the supply, and this year it had to be requisitioned again, but unfortunately with not as good results. This year more war munitions are in course of manufacture in the city, and for this purpose more gas is being used, and even the manufacturing establishments are complaining. Yesterday afternoon the factories making war supplies were asked to shut down, and this gave the company a chance to fill some of their tanks, but the drain of this morning began. The company has more of its artificial plant in use this morning than it does seem to meet the unusual demands, but it is doing its best to supply as much gas as possible, in spite of the difficulties.
