

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ADELINE B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The proposition of a member of the House of Commons to stop the holding of all fall fairs in the Dominion as a war measure, has caused a chorus of dissent from Ontario.

A Vancouver girl now in New York claims that she is four hours younger than when she left home. In crossing the continent she turned her watch an hour ahead three times and repeated the performance when daylight saving came into effect.

Canada is handicapped these days by the presence of many enemies within the gate. They are not alien enemies, either. They are the men and women who scoff at the idea that there is any occasion for saving food, and poke fun at all the plans for increased production.

They are constructing a super-gun in the United States which, it is claimed, will be superior to the German weapon used for bombarding Paris at a distance of seventy-five miles. The American gun will have a range of sixty miles and its greatest advantage will be its mobility. While the German gun is embedded in concrete and cannot be moved, the American gun can be moved from place to place, and also can be moved on its carriage base.

Field Root and Vegetable Seeds to Grow in 1918

The seed survey, just completed by the Seed Branch, Ottawa, indicates prospective shortages for the season of 1918. Certain kinds and varieties are short for this spring's seeding, but taking into consideration surplus stocks of other kinds in dealers' hands and all the anticipated deliveries of this season's seed crop, the shortages will be much more pronounced next spring unless many farmers and gardeners produce seed this year to meet their own and their neighbors' requirements.

In districts where the seed can be grown successfully suitable stocks of Swede turnips, cabbage, parsnip, garden beet, carrot and onion should be planted out this spring; and this season's crops of the best garden beans, tomato, lettuce, radish and sweet corn should be allowed to ripen their seed. The kinds or varieties which are liable to cross with each other should be planted half a mile apart.

With the high prices prevailing field root and vegetable seed growing should be very profitable. Write to Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for copy of Bulletin No. 22, "Growing Field Root, Vegetable and Flower Seeds in Canada."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Cure fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. A Lesson For Ontario

To date sixty-five Ontario farmers have filed applications for tractors. Many times this number ought to be put at work in the province in the interests of production. Our great distance from the battlefield has engendered an unfounded and misleading confidence. Not yet is the gravity of the world's food supply realized. Our armies, and those of our gallant allies, as well as the people behind them, are dependent upon the United States and Canada for food. Unless it is produced in sufficient quantities this year there will be suffering and perhaps disaster. It is unthinkable that such a calamity should occur.

England realizes the necessity of putting under cultivation every possible acre of land. The board of agriculture has now over 2500 tractors at work as well as 7000 horses, and has purchased nearly 10,000 plows, harrows and other farm implements. More than 3000 soldiers have been trained as tractor drivers and plowmen; there are now working on the land 32,000 soldiers, 7000 German prisoners, 1500 released aliens and 6000 women on full time in addition to local women, of whom there are 150,000. This is a splendid record. Are we in Canada going to lag behind?—British Whig.

THE OIL OF POWER.—It is not claimed for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil that it will cure every ill, but its uses are so various that it may be looked upon as a general pain killer. It has achieved that greatness for itself and all attempts to surpass it have failed. Its excellence is known to all who have tested its virtues and learnt by experience.

Over The Top

If a wounded Canadian soldier were to knock at your door and ask for rest and refreshment, there is nothing you would not do for him. As he is "something in France" he cannot visit you, but the Y.M.C.A. is knocking at your door for him today. Through that tried and tested agency you can minister, not to one, but to all of our soldier boys at home and overseas. Your money will lessen some poor lad's loneliness, ease another's pain, preserve reason, provide recreation, and camouflage much of the ghastliness of France and Flanders for your fathers and brothers.

In its Red Triangle Fund Campaign on May 7, 8 and 9, the Canadian Y.M.C.A. is going "over the top."

Never before has so much money been asked from a generous public by this institution. Two and a quarter million dollars is a large sum of money, even in these days of swollen war-budgets, but the need is there, and we do not doubt that the sum asked for will be forthcoming. Not once have the purse-strings of Canadians been drawn tight in the face of an urgent appeal for funds, whether for philanthropic or patriotic needs.

The work of the Y.M.C.A. is at once genuinely philanthropic and unquestionably patriotic. To contribute to its needs is philanthropy without any suggestion of "charity," and it is patriotism without taint.

Low Price Warming Pad

To fill the demand for an electric warming pad at a less price than its standard 12 x 15 in. pad the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has placed upon the market one of these pads, with dimensions 9 x 12 in. This pad is equipped with 15 feet of cord, with attachment plug. No switch is provided, the current being turned on and off at the lamp socket or by separating the attachment plug. To prevent overheating, two thermostats are enclosed in the pad. These are connected in series, and should the temperature rise to a point near the maximum safe value, one or the other will open the circuit. Upon a fall in temperature, the thermostat will reclose the circuit, thus maintaining the heat at a uniform temperature. This pad, which is enclosed in a fawn-colored felt cover, is very soft and pliable, thus allowing it to conform easily to any part of the body. Its marked superiority to the old-fashioned hot water bottle is well known, some of the advantages being its instant availability, its continued heat at uniform temperature, the absence of any danger of overheating or scalding the patient, or of wetting its surroundings, and the low cost of operation.

W. D. Brock Dead.

Windsor, April 18.—After an illness extending over two years, William D. Brock, for 36 years an executive employee of the Imperial Oil Company, died at his residence here to-day.

He was 67 years of age. Mr. Brock came to Windsor 14 years ago as manager of the Essex County branch of the oil company, and held this post until ill-health forced his retirement in 1916. He was a son of the late David Brock, of London, and had lived practically all his life in that city.

Besides the widow, Mrs. Mary Kenward Brock, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frederick H. Lawrence, and Mrs. Dr. Frank H. Kelly, of Detroit. The funeral services were held from his late residence, No. 2 Wyandotte street west, on Saturday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, with interment in Windsor Grove Cemetery.

A Letter Received By Mrs. Robt. Capes

From Somewhere in France.

Dear Madam—

On the issue of clean socks I find your note and address in one and would like to take the pleasure of thanking you for them and may God bless and let you enjoy a long happy life for the good work you are doing. For, Madam, it is great work, and it is only the Lord and us poor—that know what cold, wet feet are.

It is like Christmas morning when the new socks are issued out, to see the boys looking for notes in them and sometimes we know the address and then hear the boys saying, "Good Canadian ladies," for the noble work they are doing to help the boys that are trying to hold the thin line.

Well, I must close wishing you good health.

I remain yours,

Complaint Against Inwood Miller Dismissed

Magistrate Kelly, of Petrolia in giving judgment in the case of Smith vs Littleproud, for overcharging for shorts, dismissed the case with costs against complainant.

The magistrate's decision was based on an explanation from the office of the Food Controller, Ottawa, which says:

By dealer distributing ex-warehouses on premises to consumers, not more than ten cents per bag of 100 pounds may be added to the cost at the railway station where dealer takes delivery.

When it comes to holding the line, a couple of women engaged in a telephone conversation can beat General Haig hands down.

Advertising That Drew a Crowd

People still have implicit faith in signs and omens—especially signs—as the following goes to show:

Mrs. Marshall, an indigent widow, went into the laundry business on a small scale. She had her sign painted upon the two shutters of her front window like this:

No. 1
 Mrs. Marshall
 Laundry
 All work punctually done
 Open at 7 o'clock
 See samples in this window.

The next morning when she went out to see what caused the crowd in waiting there she found that the left-hand shutter had been blown back by the wind, and the sign hardly read as she meant it should, although it accounted for the presence of the crowd.

PILLAGE AND MURDER

A NEW BOOK DEALS WITH HUN
ATROCITIES.

"The German Terror in France" Describes the Cruelties of the Invaders During the Months After They Occupied the District Round Cambrai, Which Has Recently Been Liberated by the British Armies.

THE section between the Scheldt and the Oise for which the armies on the Western front are now so fiercely fighting has had its full share of the hardships of war. A recent despatch spoke of "the delirious joy" with which the inhabitants of the villages taken by the British in their last great advance greeted the victorious army. To them it meant delivery from cruel oppressors. It is easy to see why their joy amounted to delirium when one reads the story of the atrocities of the Germans at the time of their first invasion of this section. This story is told by Arnold J. Toynbee, late fellow of Balliol College, Oxford, in "The German Terror in France." This book is made up of a digest of first-hand evidence of the actions of the German soldiers and officers when they came into this section as conquerors in the early months of the war, and started a series of persecutions that has no doubt lasted till the British Army recovered the territory and set the people once more free.

The book, which treats of the conduct of the German soldiers in all the parts of France that they have invaded, has this to say of their activities in this particular section: "The invaders spread over the region between the Scheldt and the Somme. At Beaumont-Hamel, in the Department of the Somme, a village of 380 souls, they imposed a war contribution of 8,000 francs on the commune, threatening to carry the men away captive if the money were not paid. The mayor raised 1,800 francs, and the Germans obtained the rest by robbing private individuals. A week after their arrival they accused four women of espionage on frivolous grounds. An officer of the German infantry regiment No. 110, who examined them, offered three of them their lives if they would denounce the fourth. They refused, and were given three minutes to change their minds. 'Then,' states the fourth victim, 'we were dragged to the church walls, the officer superintending in person. He had his watch in his hand. We were given one minute to confess or die. We did not give in. 'One—two—' but the fatal 'three' did not issue from his lips. They were led back again, and given half an hour's grace more. They entrusted what money they had on their persons to another woman, but the officer interrupted the transaction, counted the money out and appropriated it for the benefit of the war contribution. He told the fourth woman that she should be buried alive in front of the church, but finally the colonel of the 110th Regiment commuted their penalty to imprisonment. One hundred and seventy inhabitants of Beaumont-Hamel altogether were taken as prisoners to Cambrai. After five months' detention the elders were sent home, but they were brutally separated from the children, who were not allowed to return.

"At Proyart, on August 29, a Uhlans patrol fired down into a cellar where the inhabitants of a house had just taken refuge, and killed an old man of 74. They broke everything in this house, and sacked the whole village. 'Six or seven deaconesses in black clothes, with white collars and Red Cross armlets, went into the houses with the soldiers and took anything that pleased them.' 'On September 1,' states another witness, 'I saw the Germans load M. Wable's furniture on motor-cars and then set fire to the house—throwing in something that exploded.' 'I saw quite distinctly,' says a French soldier who was lying wounded in the street, 'how they went from house to house, setting them on fire. I saw them set a dozen houses on fire in this way, notably a big barn.'

"On August 29 the Germans also burned seven houses and two barns at Framerville. Their methods show that the incendiaries of Framerville and Proyart were the same. 'One heard an explosion,' states the Cure of Framerville, 'and then the house took fire immediately. Each time a building was burning they played a piano which they had taken from M. Francois Foucard's house.' At Proyart, while M. Wable's house was in flames, they had dances to the sound of a gramophone.

"At Maucourt on August 29 a German cyclist patrol found four agricultural laborers sitting in a cafe. He leveled his rifle at them, and two of them tried to escape. The German fired twice at the first, who dragged himself a hundred yards and then died. The second took refuge in a barn. More Germans then came up and demanded matches to burn the barn over his head, but finding none they put five bullets into his brain. Next day they wounded a French dragoon from an ambush in the village, and finished him off with the butt-ends of their rifles in order to plunder his pockets. On September 25 they returned in force to Maucourt, and when the French artillery opened on them they seized five men of the village as a screen to cover their retreat. 'I was arrested,' states one of these victims, 'by a German sergeant with a serrated bayonet. They immediately placed us in front of them, telling us that the French were going to kill us. . . . We could not escape, for we had a soldier with fixed bayonet on either side of us.' 'Four times,' states the village schoolmaster, 'we were knocked over by the shock of the (French) shells.' Returning next day, the Germans imposed a war contribution on the commune. 'How many inhabitants have you?' asked the German commandant. 'Three hundred and fifty,' he was told. 'I must have 10 francs per inhabitant,' he answered. 'If you have not produced the sum in gold or silver within an hour, everyone will be searched; anyone found with money on him will be shot, the village will be burnt, and we shall carry off hostages.' Fifteen hundred francs in gold were paid by the village baker, the rest by other individuals. 'No receipt was given,' states a witness. 'Our commune was completely pillaged. I found my own house sacked, the cloth torn off the billiard table, and everything in a state of indescribable confusion.' On the same day, September 26, the French troops returned and Maucourt was delivered.

"At Liancourt-Fosse the Germans, fighting with a French regiment for the possession of the village, seized twelve of the inhabitants as a screen, and drove them forward in their ranks. The French slackened their fire, but three of the civilians were seriously wounded and another mortally.

"In the Commune of Welles-Perennes, in the Department of the Oise, the Germans surprised two farm lads, 18 and 19 years old, driving in a cart to Montigny to buy bread. One of them, wounded in the stomach, dragged himself back to the farm and died. The other was taken to Crevecoeur that day. 'Many of them were drunk. They broke open the doors of a number of houses of which the owners were away, and gave themselves up to pillage. Soldiers dragged a young man up to two officers on horseback, and one of them shot him point blank.' At Ferrieres, six houses were set on fire by means of bombs, and a man and his wife suffocated in their cellar because a French soldier had fired in the street and taken refuge in a house.

"Mortimer, on the road from Roue to Compeigne, was pillaged by the Germans on August 31. Next day they demanded tobacco from the grocer, M. Huille. Having none, he guided them to the tobaccoists, and was shot point blank as he turned to go home. At Marquessie the Germans carried off eight civilians as hostages, including the cure and the mayor, and shot four other hostages—two Frenchmen from St. Quentin and two Belgians from Jemappes. When they retreated through Marquessie on September 31, a German officer ordered three Uhlans to fire on a crowd of about forty people because he thought he heard the word 'Prussian' muttered among them. A man and a little girl were wounded and a boy of 15 was killed.

"Choisy-au-Bac, in the angle between the Oise and the Aisne, was entered by the Germans on August 31. On September 1 and 2, states the town clerk, 'they deliberately burned a quarter of the houses in Choisy, on the absolute pretext that they had been fired on. Before setting the houses on fire they pillaged the whole place under their officers' eyes. Two military doctors with Red Cross armlets pillaged Mademoiselle Binder's house with their own hands. The booty was carried off in carts stolen on the spot. Forty-five houses were destroyed. On September 8, the Germans shot in his garden an inhabitant of Choisy who had just returned from Compeigne. They carried off four others on their retreat—one escaped, and is known to have been shot, and the others were not heard of again."

Freedom for Women.

Tartar women in the far Russian provinces have dropped the veil and are freed from sex tyranny as a result of the Russian revolution. In the elections for the local Zemstovs they are voting along with the men. A letter from Kazan says: "The women's movement here started in the revolution of 1905 as a result of which the women began to go about unveiled. By 1910 a veiled woman was unknown in Kazan. After the revolution in which the Emperor was deposed the Moslem women formed a society and sent delegates to the first All-Russia Conference. Here they presented demands for the abolition of polygamy and the Moslem inheritance law, according to which female heirs receive smaller portions than male. A separate day is set apart for the Tartar women to vote, to satisfy the mullahs and old-fashioned women. About forty per cent. of the women went to the polls on the last election.

"In Kazan one has only to walk through the streets to see that Moslem women are socially the equals of men and have shaken off the shackles of centuries of sex tyranny."

When Milady Goes A-Gardening

When the last snow and ice have trickled away and the sun sets the earth a-steaming—our thoughts turn to gardening. Last year's leaves must be raked up, we must spade and fertilize our ground, plant our seeds and patiently await the appearance of the first green sprout.

Nor must we forget our lawns. Spring is the time to seed the bare spots.

When Milady goes a-gardening she needs both garden tools and seeds. Here she will find we can meet every Gardening requirement.

Light Weight Spades, Hoes, Rakes, Trowels, Etc. for Milady's Use at Suitable Prices for Everyone's Purse Try our new Hand Cultivator—it really takes the place of a Plough, Hoe, Rake and Shovel, and is lowly priced at $1.25.

The Practical Economy of Good Paint

Good paint is never an expense, but a saving. By its use you save your buildings from a steady deterioration in value. Economy in painting demands the use of Quality Paint—Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint—the paint that protects and preserves. The use of cheap materials is a waste of money—a waste of time.

MARTIN-SENOUR "100% PURE" PAINT

wears longest, covers the greatest surface (900 sq. feet per gallon) and because of its even texture, takes least time and is easiest to apply. It is absolutely guaranteed—"100% Pure" White Lead, Zinc Oxide and highest quality Linseed Oil. It is admittedly the most economical paint on the market.

Take no chances. Make your investments secure by applying on your buildings, inside and out, protecting coats of Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint.

Ask for "Farmer's Color Set" and "Town and Country Homes". Just what you'll need in planning your painting.

TEETHING TROUBLES

Baby's teething time is a time of worry and anxiety to most mothers. The little ones become cross; their little stomach becomes distressed and constipation and colic sets in. To make the teething period easy on baby the stomach and bowels must be kept sweet and regular. This can be done by the use of Baby's Own Tablets—the ideal laxative for little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Henry Bernard, St. Catharines, Ont., says:—"Baby's Own Tablets cured my baby of constipation and made the teething painless." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AN OPEN LETTER

To the Reeve and Councillors of Watford:

Have your citizens organized to increase food production?

If they have not yet done so, We, the Organization of Resources Committee, earnestly ask you to call them together in a Mass Meeting, and lay before them the necessity of immediate and vigorous efforts—the food situation is critical.

It may astonish you to learn that in 1917 Ontario did not grow enough wheat for its own needs. Consequently every Ontario farmer whose land is suitable, has been urged to sow 5 acres more spring wheat this year so that Ontario's demand for wheat shall not be met at the expense of that portion of the Western crop that should more rightfully be shipped overseas.

For this same reason every householder who has a garden or a piece of vacant land is being urged to grow vegetables, because the more vegetables that are grown and eaten in Ontario the less wheat and meat there will be consumed, and, that being so, the Ontario wheat crop should then be sufficient to feed our own people, and leave more Western wheat and other foods available for export.

By intelligent effort, in the cultivation of his own back garden, or from the cultivation of a nearby piece of land, the average citizen can grow, this summer, enough vegetables to support his family through the next winter. And remember, if food restrictions are enforced next winter, a supply of vegetables in the cellar will be very desirable.

If you already have an unofficial or semi-official organization to stimulate food production, so much the better. That will give you the basis for a comprehensive committee.

A plan that has been adopted in many places is here outlined. You should adapt it to the needs of your own community.

1. A General Committee should be formed, representing every important interest of the community.
 - (e) A Farm Lands sub-committee, composed of groups of men to cultivate larger tracts of vacant land in the vicinity of cities, towns and villages. Flax growing is profitable and suitable—flax seed and fibre are much needed.
 - (f) A sub-committee on Schools, to enlist all school-children of sufficient age to work either in home gardens, community gardens, school gardens, or on farms.
 - (g) A sub-committee of women on Conservation to deal with the problems of food-saving in the homes; the more broadly representative it is of women's activities the better. Existing women's organizations should not be interfered with, but since conservation is one of the greatest problems, there should be a women's committee in each community to deal with this problem alone.
2. The work should be done by sub-committees. The following list is sufficiently comprehensive for the largest places. You should adapt it to your own community.
 - (a) A sub-committee on Finance. The Organization of Resources Committee is willing to help local branches financially with publicity, public meetings and organization.
 - (b) A Publicity Committee to place local problems properly before the people, supplementing the larger work of the province-wide publicity, by securing pledges, sending out circular letters, arranging for addresses in churches, schools, motion-picture houses, etc., and by supplying local papers with news items.
 - (c) A sub-committee on Vacant Lot and Back-Yard Gardening to include representatives from horticultural societies, school teachers, etc.
 - (d) A sub-committee on Farm Labour, composed of employers of labour, representatives of organized labour, war veterans, etc. Labour is the key to the food production problem. All boy, girl, part-time and vacation labour should be enlisted. Make sure that sufficient labour is ready to meet any demands made by your farming community. This labour should be placed on farms locally through the Agricultural Representatives or the Government Employment Bureaux.
3. An Executive Committee should be appointed, to include the chairman of the general committee and the chairmen of the sub-committees. This committee should meet frequently.
4. A Secretary to the committee should be chosen, for his knowledge of the situation, who would be free to devote considerable time to the work.

Lack of food threatens the battle-line and we must deal with the situation.

TO THE INDIVIDUAL CITIZEN

If you have not yet decided to plant a vegetable garden make up your mind to do so now. You will not regret it. There is still lots of time. Potatoes and beans may be planted up to June 1st and these are the best substitutes for wheat and meat.

For good, practical advice upon how to lay out and cultivate a Vegetable Garden, write for a free copy of the booklet entitled: "A Vegetable Garden for Every Home." This has been prepared by the Ontario Department of Agriculture for the guidance of citizens who will respond to this call for increased production.

R.R. No. 4, Gilbert Plains, Man.
 "In the year 1910, I had Nervous Prostration in its worst form; was reduced in weight from 170 pounds to 115 pounds.
 The doctors had no hope of my recovery, and every medicine I tried proved useless until a friend induced me to take "Fruit-a-lives".
 I began to mend almost at once; and after using this fruit medicine for 3 or 4 months, I was back to my normal state of health.
 I never had such good health for twenty years as I have enjoyed the past six years. We are never without a box of "Fruit-a-lives" in the house".

FUR EVERYWHERE ON WOMEN'S WEAR

Extraordinary Display of Peltry Chief Feature of Winter Fashions.

WRISTLETS IN WIDE FAVOR

Use of Varying Materials for Skirt, Coat and Blouse Another Interesting Development of the Season.

New York.—Two important facts stand out in the fashions for winter. The extraordinary display of peltry is one, and the juxtaposition of different materials is the other.

The first fashion spells extravagance; the second stands for economy. It is the latter in which the great majority of women should be more interested, but with that delightful inconsistency which makes the race charming, they pay more attention to the extravagant fashion and allow it to absorb the better part of their thoughts on dress.

The last vague instinct to exist in a woman is her desire for pieces of fur to adorn her person. There was once a time when peltry belonged to winter and was needed for protection, and this excuse was used by every woman who could fitch money from the housekeeping allowance to buy a bit of fur to go about her neck; but this flimsy excuse has faded into the background since it has been the fashion to be as prolific with fur in hot weather as in cold weather.

Petting Women With Peltry. The appearance of a group of women on the street on a cool morning suggests that some dynamic force has been petting them with pieces of fur in a hit or miss fashion.

There is no plan of action running through the scheme of dressing. Wherever a piece of fur has hit a frock, there it remains. It may be on the head, the waist, the ankles or the back.

There are swinging panels at the sides of skirts which are edged with fur; there are immense collars with wide, separate wristlets of fur used on blouses and coats; there are jackets which have fur peplums or a fur panel down the back; there are other coats that display waistcoats of peltry and, possibly, patch pockets which correspond with the hem on the skirt.

The milliners have made hats of fur in patchwork fashion. A turban of yellow will have brown spots on it; a flaring brim of sealskin will be attached to a crown of ermine which has a medallion of seal on top; a bee-hive hat of black velvet will have hands made from three kinds of fur running around the base of the crown to end in a lover's knot at the side.

Few women want to buy a top coat or a short, rippling jacket of fur which is not built up in successive tiers of opposing peltries. For instance, a short cape coat of sealskin has collar and cuffs of ermine edged with black broadtails and there are huge buttons of seal surrounded by broadtail and set in gunmetal rims.

Where there is so much fur floating about, it is quite natural that the odds and ends of it should be utilized as long as fashion permits women to put it on their clothes without apparent design.

Lover's knots, which have come into fashion again, are made of fur, for instance, and are attached to the cuffs, to the front of the collar and sometimes used as a substitute for buttons down the front of a velvet bodice or a loose Russian blouse that is belted in with peltry.

The sweeping demand for wristlets which has been made by the fighters has introduced a new fashion in fur among women. Possibly, you have not seen these medieval bits of arm coverings? Some of them are shaped like the lace mitts worn in the Civil war, with a slash at one side for the thumb; others are made very much on the pattern of the knitted wristlet desired by the Red Cross.

Exaggerated cape and muff of ermine with black tails. The cape is held to the figure by a waistcoat effect in front and its shapeless folds fall away from the neck and sleeves. The barrel muff has an Indian fringe of black and white tails to correspond with the hat of the desert made of black velvet, the brim covered with ostrich plumes.

This fashion has not spread over the continent quickly, and it is, therefore, offered to all women who want to do the unusual in dress. Bits of fur may easily be used for these wristlets, the lining may be quite gorgeous, and if one affects color, this wristlet of fur may be rolled back at its top edge and made to show the color beneath as it flares away from the sleeve of the bodice or jacket over which it is worn.

As a fashion, these peltry wristlets are good looking, and as a means of protection against cold weather they are entirely admirable. They are by no means confined to the smart classes, but have been taken up by all the mass of women, who go out early in the morning to their various activities either as professionals or as volunteers. They are not substitutes for muffs, but in connection with a large neckpiece or a fur cape they provide enough warmth to a coat suit against a low temperature.

The Blouse of the Hour. The second fact of importance in fashion which was stated in the beginning of this story is the furtherance of economical ideas in dress by joining together whatever materials one likes to accomplish a suit or a frock.

In this one respect, fashion has turned a somersault over the intervening decades between a fashion that was and a fashion that is. Those who were shrewd enough to foretell a scarcity of worsted materials in the world warned us that a season would soon break in which the uniform line of color and fabric from chin to ankle must be abandoned. That hour has approached more rapidly than even the prophets foretold. At the moment, we are not aware that there is any expediting need of such economy, but preparedness is the best way to face an approaching truth.

Therefore, the world of dressmakers has given women to understand that it is no longer necessary to have a coat that matches a skirt or a blouse that matches either, no matter for what occasion the costume is intended. Even for the most ceremonial hours, such as the opera, a dinner or a dance, there are black and colored velvet skirts with bodices that are as remote from the skirt as though they had been oddly lifted from another costume.

The Peasant Blouse. For the house, and for all manner of usage under a coat, there is another kind of separate blouse which is, at last, a serious rival to the white shirtwaist.

There is nothing new in it. It has been worn for centuries by the peasants of every country. It was adopted in America by a minority of women over a year ago, but it is now offered as the most pleasing contrast to a skirt that has nothing in common with it as far as texture and color go.

The host of women who have worked in the arts and crafts department of dress, and those who have catered to the artistic element, offered these separate blouses with persuasive words. But it was only when the shops took them up that the public accepted them as a leading fashion.

It is quite easy to see how they simplify dressing. They are made of soft, colorful fabrics, the lining may be added or dispensed with, they manage to blend with any kind of separate skirt that the wardrobe affords, and they permit a woman to remove her coat at luncheon in the afternoon, which was a permission not given by the separate white shirtwaist.

A "Tobacco Line" in Paris. French tobacco and cigarettes are now obtainable in Paris only once each week, and even then during the space of about thirty minutes. During that half hour the tobaccoists' shops present about the same appearance as did the coal and wood yards during the fuel famine last winter. It takes from three to a half dozen policemen for each shop to keep waiting smokers orderly while the weekly supply is being dealt out, and to pacify those that are still in line when the "no more tobacco" sign is hung out.

The Watchtower of Gaza. Al-Mintar, or the watch tower, still exists to the east of the town of Gaza. It is where Samson is said to have carried the gates of the city. On the road from Gaza to Jaffa are those ancient olive trees, many of them more than a thousand years old, with gnarled bark and immense trunks. There is an old legend which credits Gaza with the invention of the first mechanical clocks. These were perhaps the sand clocks which are still used in some mosques. —Christian Science Monitor.

Canadian Winter. "Wasn't it cold last night?" "Cold? Why, I was awakened by the noise of my wife's teeth chattering on the bureau."

A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.—A painful and persistent form of rheumatism is caused by impurities in the blood, the result of defective action of the liver and kidneys. The blood becomes tainted by the introduction of uric acid, which causes much pain, in the tissues and in the joints. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are known to have effected many remarkable cures, and their use is strongly recommended. A trial of them will convince anyone of their value.

Cents and Cigarettes. The tobacco trade finds no difficulty in using cents in making prices. Cigarettes are priced as closely as anything sold in any department store. Perhaps the reason is that smokers do not have to have "smokes" and that the trade would shrivel if prices were not kept attractive.

New Life Preserver. A new life preserver, invented by a Dane, consists of cylinders filled with oil, which serve as a brake. The life preserver is designed to save people from burning buildings, being so contrived that they may be dropped to the ground without injury.

Care of the Freshening Cow. This is the month when a large number of cows freshen. Both fresh cows and newly-born calves should receive special attention. Cows expected to freshen should be placed in a box stall for a few days before and after freshening. Many valuable cows and calves are lost by neglecting to provide box stall accommodation. This should be found in every dairy stable; or else have a special barn for the purpose. A few hours "sunshine bath" each week will make far more healthful stock and improve the dairying.

Feeding the Ewe. On many farms lambs will begin to arrive about this time. If ewes have been liberally fed for a month before lambing they will likely have more milk. From 1/2 to 1 lb. of grain fed per ewe per day for a month before lambing is generally good practice, especially if ewes are somewhat thin. —Ontario Agricultural College Notes.

OUR DEFENSE

In the spring we may be attacked at any moment. Toxic poisons pile up within us after a hard winter, and we feel "run-down," tired out, blue and discouraged. This is the time to put our house in order—cleanse the system and put fresh blood into our arteries. You can obtain an alternative extract from Blood root, Golden Seal, Stone and Queen's root, Cherry bark, rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold by most druggists, in fifty-cent vials, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This blood tonic, in tablet or liquid form, is just what you need for "Spring Fever," for that lack of ambition, it will fill you full of vim, vigor and vitality.

LINDSAY, ONTARIO.—"When my little daughter was five years old her liver was so sluggish that I feared she might be troubled with habitual constipation. I had read a great deal about Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and decided to try it with her. I found that it not only helped her liver, but it also proved to be a splendid tonic as well. It was such a splendid medicine that I would never hesitate to give it to her again if she needed it, and I take pleasure in recommending it to other mothers whose little ones seem to need a liver regulator and blood maker."—Mrs. LOUISA BEACH, Box 1133.

TRAINING THE FLYERS

IMPORTANT WAR WORK DONE AT CAMP HOARE.

Near the City of Toronto Is the Largest Airdrome in the British Empire, Probably In the World, a Fact That Is Unknown to a Great Many Canadians.

In a recent article in an English paper, Hamilton Fyfe suggests that few persons know that in Toronto is an aircraft factory with a production probably larger than that of any other in the world. Near Toronto is the British Empire's largest airdrome, and there also is a school for flyers as completely equipped as any in the world. Here in a factory planes and spare parts are being turned out at a rate equal to 175 complete machines a month. The organization in Toronto was built up in a little more than eight months, and is self-supporting, getting no supplies from England. It is under Brigadier-General Hoare, who "came out" with fewer than a dozen assistants last January, aged 35, and a colonel.

By February 5, ten days after his arrival, he had selected the site for an airdrome, acquired the ground and arranged for the buildings. He had his own desires for these. The ground was covered with two feet of snow and the site was dotted with tree stumps that had to be removed from the soil. Barracks already existed at Camp Borden and into these came 2,000 workmen, who in six weeks got the place ready.

Fifteen airplane sheds were built, each to contain several machines. Offices, lecture rooms, barracks and other accommodations were constructed. Good roads were laid, and water, drainage and heating systems installed.

Camp Borden is sixty miles from Toronto. Now that winter holds Canada fast the students have departed for Fort Worth, Texas, where they are training with Americans. But when the weather warms again and the snow melts they will return. At their Camp Borden school and at the flying school in Toronto, where the camp has borrowed quarters from the university, ingenious methods of teaching airmen how to use Lewis and Vickers guns, how to drop bombs, how to correct artillery fire, are in practice. In one class-room a class sits on a platform running round the walls just below the ceiling watching a big map spread over all the floor space of the room, a map of the country round Poperinghe, in Flanders, drawn to a scale that makes it look as the ground would look from an aeroplane flying at 6,000 feet. Then a student in a Curtiss machine, on the floor of another class-room, drops bombs. Below the machine is a map like the other. The student fixes a spot which looks like a farmhouse, pulls a lever and hears a whirring noise from a little apparatus fixed to the side. From the height at which he is supposed to be flying the bomb would take twenty seconds to reach the earth. At the end of twenty seconds the little apparatus releases a little bomb which falls as near the farm as his skill permits it. Until a cadet has shown a certain degree of skill at this game he cannot go up and practice bomb-dropping from the air.

"Our aim all through," one of the officer-instructors said, "is to make the men familiar with the idea of being in the air. Airmen have to act automatically. They have no time to think over what they will do. We try to give them that automatic action, that perfect union of hand with brain which is so necessary both for attack and defence."
Gun practice in the air is not easy without an enemy to practice at. But this lack of targets has been in large part circumvented. Gunnery is the last course the cadet takes before he passes out. He begins at a camp near Toronto, where he learns something about what "being in the army" means. Next he goes to school in Toronto. Then he goes to camp. Besides Borden there are four smaller camps. But all cadets have to go through Borden before they are pronounced fit for their commissions. Three wings are permanently there, each consisting of five squadrons. In a squadron there are eighteen machines and ninety men. Only eighteen or twenty are airmen. The rest are mechanics and others engaged in keeping the machines in flying and fighting trim. Squadrons are grouped and repairs done more quickly. Centralization gives excellent results. Yet, even so, the machines in actual use at any given moment are seldom more than half of the total number of the strength. But the hope is that this figure may be raised to 70 per cent.

For repairs of a more than light character both fuselages (bodies) and motors are sent to repair shops in Toronto. They are full of machine tools of the latest kind and provided with all means of dealing quickly and effectively with every kind of damage. They are able also to make certain small parts and fittings and so relieve the pressure on the airplane factory.
This is something new in factories. Designed for its special purpose by an active brain, it has features which are original and extremely interesting. In this carpenter's shop the framework of the wings passes from table to table, beginning as rough wood, becoming at every stage more and more developed until at the last table the delicate though sturdy skeleton is complete, ready to be clothed with the "doped" linen which turns it into a wing. The building of the factory, organized by a remarkable man, Mr. F. W. Baillie, was equally with the preparation of the airdrome a marvel of speed. It was begun when the thermometer stood at 10 degrees below zero. That was in February. The wide, high, light and airy shops were occupied in April. Early in May the first airplanes were delivered. But the school orders are wisely not for "so many planes," but for "so many machines and so many spares."

This question of spare parts to replace breakage has been turned into a science at Toronto. It is established that the amount of flying which can be done depends directly upon the number of "spares" available. The school directors know just what quantity of "spares" must be provided to make that amount of flying possible. In one month, for one wing alone 190 new propellers were required. The cadets do not leave before they have passed all tests and proved themselves fully equal to the work they will be given to do in war.

Miller's Worm Powders are complete in themselves. They not only drive worms from the system, but repair the damage that worms cause and so invigorate the constitution that it speedily recovers from the disorders of the digestion that are the result of the work of these parasitic intruders. They do their work thoroughly and strength and soundness follows their use.

Lesson in Thorough Bass.
The use of the word "stuff" in the president's Thanksgiving proclamation, comments the Brooklyn Eagle, furnishes the discord needed to emphasize the harmony of the flowing rhetoric. In effect the president says "We are the stuff." If our enemies twist it we shall not care. James G. Blaine was called the "plumed knight" by Ingersoll, and it passed for a fine compliment, but Blaine thought it suggested the "white feather." If the president thinks his boys are the stuff, we shall all agree with him. Here's where the kaiser gets a lesson in thorough bass.

Wise Bertie.
Mamma—Oh, Bertie, here you are again all covered with mud from head to foot.
Bertram (in tears)—It isn't my fault. I was sailing on a plank, when Willie Meigs gave me a push, and over I went.
Mamma—Well, what are you crying so about? Is it painful to be covered with mud?
Bertram—No, it ain't; but I thought that if I came in laughing you would whip me.

NO REST WITH ASTHMA.—Asthma usually attacks at night, the one time when rest is needed most. Hence the loss of strength, the nervous debility, the loss of flesh and other evils which must be expected unless relief is secured. Fortunately relief is possible. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has proved its merit through years of service. A trial will surely convince you.

Sending Money to Soldiers

Those who have friends or relatives at the front, may wish to send money, but possibly do not know the best way to do so.

If time permits, the safest and most convenient method of making remittances abroad is the Bank Money Order or Draft, as issued by The Merchants Bank.

If, however, it is necessary to send money without delay, the Bank will arrange this by Cable Transfer.

Pte. Wm. Houghton, who recently returned from overseas was the guest of honor at a banquet held to welcome him in the K. O. T. M. hall, Camlachie, on Wednesday evening of last week. The banquet was prepared by the women of the district, and the hall was packed to capacity, the residents of the 8th line, (Pte. Houghton's home), turning out en masse. R. W. Trusler was chairman, and during the evening Pte. Houghton was presented with a handsome leather covered easy chair and a gold headed cane. An address accompanied the presentation. An especially pleasing feature of the gathering was the presentation to Pte. Houghton's aged mother of a bouquet of roses and an umbrella, in recognition of having done her bit by giving her son to the service of the King.

Obituary

The death of Mrs. James Hamilton took place at her home, Watford, on Saturday evening the thirteenth of April. She was one of our most respected citizens and will be very much missed by a large circle of friends, especially by the members of the Presbyterian church of which she has been for many years a faithful member.

It is ten years since Mrs. Hamilton's husband passed away. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Fred Just, who attended her during her lingering and patient's borne illness, and was with her to the last.

Mrs. Hamilton, whose maiden name was Jane Dewar, was in her fifty-ninth year, and was one of a family of eleven, all born in Lobo Township, Middlesex. All the members of the family excepting William, of Minnedosa, Man., who is ill, and Mrs. Bryson, of Plympton, who died last August, were able to be at the bedside. These were John, of Capac, Mich.; James and Donald, townline, Plympton; Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. McCorgan and Mrs. O'Brien, of Plympton; Mrs. Carson, of Sarnia; Mrs. Sampey, of London.

The funeral took place on Tuesday at 2.30 by auto to Watford Cemetery. Rev. J. C. Forster and Rev. G. W. Connors officiated at the house and at the grave. A large number of relatives and friends attended. It was very much regretted that Mr. Just was unable to be present, having been called to the colors on Monday morning.

Six nephews of Mrs. Hamilton acted as pallbearers, namely: Jas. and John Armstrong; Howard Bryson; Frank and Derward Dewar and William Carson.

Obituary

The late William Greer was the son of William and Letitia Greer and was born in November, 1834, near Omagh County, Tyrone, Ireland.

In the year 1856 he came to Canada and resided with relatives near Stromness, Ontario, coming to Brooke in March 1862. On January 7th, 1864, he was married to Sarah Kelly, daughter of John and Esther Kelly, of Brooke, by Bishop Cronyn in St. Paul's Cathedral, London. He settled on a farm on the 4th con. Warwick Tp., where he resided for seventeen years, moving to lot 21, con. 14, Brooke, in 1881, where he resided until his death on Saturday, April 13th, 1918.

In politics he was a staunch Conservative and a member of the Church of England and endured all the hardships incident to a pioneer life in Canada in the early days. He was a kind and affectionate husband and father and a good neighbor, beloved by all who knew him. His was a kindly and sympathetic nature and many a man has reason to recall fatherly counsel, a friendly hand-clasp, and even tangible support that has led to renewed effort and ultimate success in life.

The funeral took place from the family residence on Tuesday, April 16th, at 2 p.m., proceeding to St. James' Church, Brooke, where interment took place. The service at the church was conducted by his rector, Rev. S. P. Irwin, who spoke very feelingly from Revelations, 7th chapter, 13th and 14th verses. The pallbearers were four grandsons, Earl Logan, Harold Greer, Ethelbert Greer and Clare Richardson, and Dillon Coristine and Leonard Price. He leaves to mourn his loss one sister, Mrs. Maria Marchbank, of Portland, Oregon, besides his wife and the following children: John, of Brooke; Mrs. Thos. Logan, Watford; William, of Sarnia; Mrs. B. A. Richardson, Brooke; Mrs. John Lench, Pt. Edward; Mrs. Wm. L. Clarke, Montith; Edward, of Imperial, Sask.; Mrs. L. C. Price, Toledo, Ohio, and Harry, at home. One child died in infancy July 8th, 1882.

ARKONA

Mrs. Wardell, of Adelaide, who nursed the late Mrs. Orr in her last illness, died of pneumonia on the 21st.

Murray McLeish and Frank Barnes, now of the London Military Training Camp, spent Sunday with their home folks.

Master Harold Dickson, a nephew, arrived with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Dickson from Toronto last week and will reside with them, attending school here.

Nurse Augustine who is on leave of absence from the European front is visiting her home friends here. Monday evening a reception was tendered her by the Presbyterian Church workers.

Friday evening a large and jovial party met in the Baptist church for a "National Service Trip Across Canada" by lantern views with Rev. C. W. King as guide. The pictures were superb and the address informative, humorous and well received. Selections by the orchestra, choir and Mesdames H. Utter and M. Sitter added to the enjoyment of the evening.

Nurse Augustine, who missed the train at Port Colborne for the Friday evening "Trip Across Canada," arrived next day and was announced from the Sunday pulpits to address a Mass Meeting, Tuesday evening in the Baptist church under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Her talk will be illustrated with lantern views, some from her own camera. Also as many pictures as can be secured of the Arkona soldier boys and girls who have put on khaki will be shown on the screen by microscope lantern.

A GOOD DIGESTION

Depends Upon Keeping the Blood Rich, Red and Pure

To be able to eat what you want and to digest it properly is a priceless blessing. Good digestion is not appreciated until you lose it. Then you cannot afford to experiment, for strong medicines are hard on weak stomachs. If you have indigestion do not be persuaded into believing you can cure yourself by the use of pre-digested foods or so called stomach tonics. There is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every part of the body. It is through the blood that the stomach gets its power to assimilate and digest food, and as the blood goes to every part of the body and improvement in its condition not only results in strengthening the stomach but every organ in the body. Rich red blood is absolutely necessary to good digestion. If your stomach is weak and you are troubled with sour risings in the throat, a feeling of pressure about the heart, or nausea after eating, try the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. So many dyspeptics have been cured by this medicine that every sufferer from stomach trouble should try it. You will soon know the joy of good digestion and enjoy better health in other ways if you give this medicine a fair trial. Mr. Fred H. Kendall, Darlington, Ontario, says:—"For upwards of five years I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which gradually undermined my general health, leaving me in a weak and anaemic condition. I spent considerable money with one doctor and another, but failed to receive any lasting benefit, and had become discouraged. One day my wife urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills but I thought it would be the same old story. But she had so much faith in them that she got me a box, and to please her I began taking them. By the time the box was finished, I noticed a slight improvement, and I continued taking them and found myself gaining. I could sleep better and my appetite improved, without the distressing symptoms that had previously followed eating. I think I took in all about a dozen boxes, and to-day I am a stronger man than I ever was in my life. When I began the use of the pills I weighed 143 pounds while now I weigh 167. You may use this letter as you choose, hoping it may reach some poor, discouraged sufferer as I was."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealers in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
