NEW PROHIBITION BILL

The much discussed prohibition bill which the officers of the Nova Scotia Temperance Alliance have had in contemplation for some months was introduced in the house of assembly Friday last by E. H. Armstrong of Yarmouth.

The act follows the Prince Edward Island law and the Canada Temperance act with some new provisions which will make it probably more effective than either.

The bill contains the usual prohibitory clauses against selling or keeping liquor for sale and the forfeiture of all liquors in respect to which an offence has been committed.

Proprietors who allow their buildings to be used where liquor is sold illegally are alike guilty and liable with the person directly making the sale.

The governor in council upon the recommendations of the town, city, or municipal councils shall appoint inspectors to enforce the act for such town, city or municipality, and shall also appoint a general inspector who shall have general powers and supervision over the other inspectors. These officers shall be paid by the government and all fees recovered by them shall go to the provincial treasury.

The following penalties are provided: For first offence $100 fine or four months imprisonment; for second offence $200 fine or three months imprisonment; for third and subsequent offences, six months imprisonment.

Prosecutions will be commenced within six months after the commission of the offence. Prosecutions may be brought for more than one offence. Any inspectors, magistrates or warrant, enter the premises of any person, convicted within a year under the act, and search for liquor.

Every stipendiary magistrate of a town, city, municipality or county shall examine on oath persons brought before them charged with drunkenness as to the person and place from which they obtained their liquor, and a refusal of such an accused person to answer satisfactorily to the magistrate shall be regarded as a contempt of court.

The act provides that persons who sell, treat, or give liquor to any person in any street or by-way shall be liable to the same penalties as specified above.

The act shall go into effect in any county upon the repeal of the Canada Temperance Act.

ANOTHER HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Waterbury, Conn., March 2.—With an impact of sufficient force to crush the ponderous locomotives like paper, twist and bend them and knock them from the track and down an embankment into a ditch, two passenger trains, a regular and a special, met in a head-on collision today, on the Nantuxet division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, at Pletts Mills, about a mile and a half below this city, resulting in the death of four men and serious, if not fatal, injury to two more. A score of others are greater or less seriously hurt. The dead are the crews of the engines.

REV. JOHN CAMERON CALLED TO HIS REWARD AFTER SIXTY-THREE YEARS IN THE MINISTRY.

The death of the Rev. John Cameron occurred at his residence here on Friday morning at eight o'clock, at the advanced age of eighty-three years. Mr. Cameron was born Sept. 20th, 1817, at Riverton, in the County of Pictou, and has been in the ministry sixty-three years. He was first inducted over the congregation at Kennebec and the Gore and in 1844 over the congregation at Nine Mile River and Elm Dale in the County of Hants. He came to Bridgetown as an ordained missionary in 1855 and resigned in 1887.

Up to a few days ago he was mentally and physically active and took a lively interest in current events. He preached his last sermon in the Gordon Memorial church here in 1903.

The deceased was twice married, first to Miss Mary McGregor, daughter of the late James McGregor, D. D., of Pictou and afterwards to Isabel Hebb, daughter of the late John N. Hebb, of Bridgewater.

The children by the first wife are, the Misses Minnie and Jessie Cameron, residing in Los Angeles, Cal., Mrs.

Adams McDougall, of Sydney, and James Cameron, at present in the employ of Messrs. M. S. Brown & Co., Halifax. He had only one daughter by the second wife, Miss Lillian Cameron, who resides with her mother in Bridgetown.

Bridgetown loses in Mr. Cameron's death a valued citizen. Since his residence in Bridgetown he has taken a keen interest in the moral and material progress of the town, and especially in the advancement of education. Although of late years his sight and hearing have been seriously impaired, his interest in his friends and in topics of general interest has remained unabated.

The funeral service was held on Monday afternoon, Rev. A. J. MacDonald, of Gordon Memorial church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Henry Davison, after which the remains were taken by train to Elm Dale for interment, and were accompanied by Mrs. Cameron, Mr. James Cameron and Miss Lillian Cameron, also Rev. A. J. MacDonald.

OBITUARY

MRS. ELIZABETH FOSTER.

Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, one of the aged and highly esteemed citizens of Lower Granville, passed away suddenly on the morning of Feb. 25th, after an illness of only a few hours. She was 88 years of age and the last surviving one of her family, having followed to their graves the bodies of her husband, the late Robert Foster, Esq., a son and two daughters. Mrs. Edward McMill, of Charmon, Annapolis county, is her grand daughter and nearest surviving relative. During her long life time she experienced much sorrow. She, however, did not bear it alone; for in the year 1862 she was converted to Christ under the ministry of the Rev. Isa Walker, D. D., and united with the Lower Granville church. During the latter years of her life it was not permitted to her to attend public worship or move much among people, yet her quiet, consistent life told for righteousness within the sphere of her influence. The funeral service was held at the home of William Winchester, Esq., Stony Beach, on the afternoon of the 27th and burial took place in the Stony Beach cemetery.—Com.

MRS. KENNETH K. HINES.

On the 19th of February, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gormley, Roxbury, N. S., Margaret Sherman, beloved wife of Kenneth R. Hines, in the twenty-seventh year of her age, passed to her eternal rest. The funeral was conducted at the house, by the Rev. M. W. Brown, of Lawrencetown, assisted by Rev. W. M. Brown, also of Lawrencetown, and Rev. H. H. Saunders, of Paradise. She leaves to mourn their loss, a husband, father, mother, five brothers and three sisters, also a large circle of friends. All the sunshine of the home seemed gathered round "our Margaret." Now all is strangely dark to those who are thus sadly bereft. Deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.—Com.

ATTEMPTS TO DECEIVE THE LADIES OF CANADA.

Attempts have been made by some makers of weak and adulterated package dyes to have the ladies of Canada believe that their common products are as good as the popular DIAMOND DYES for the work of home coloring.

Some agents of the crude and worthless dyes referred to, have made statements that their miserable dyes are made according to the formulas of DIAMOND DYES. All such statements are false and have resulted in loss and trouble in many homes.

The manufacturers of the celebrated DIAMOND DYES would warn the ladies of Canada to beware of such common dyes being substituted when DIAMOND DYES are asked for. All progressive merchants in Canada sell DIAMOND DYES which are the only guaranteed dyes in the world.

STALLIONS BATTLE IN A RAILWAY CAR

Strathroy, Ont., March 1.—After an hour's imprisonment in a box car with two stallions engaged in death struggle, Fred Paisley climbed down from a freight train at Strathroy, broken in nerve and covered from head to foot with countless bruises. One horse lay dead in the car, the other is dying, and Paisley refuses to go on.

BOTH HORSES LOOSE.

Paisley started out from Elderton with two valuable heavy draught stallions for Montana, tethered at opposite ends of the car, and Paisley in a little bunk in the corner. As the freight pulled out of London shortly after dusk one horse after tugging for a few minutes slipped his halter and savagely attacked the other horse. Before Paisley could interfere both horses were loose.

START OF THE BATTLE.

Then commenced the battle that lasted until the train drew into Strathroy. The horses bit and kicked and fought all over the car. It was pitch dark, and Paisley could see nothing. Twice he tried to open the door and jump out, but both times he failed. Again and again he was knocked down and kicked. Then one of the horses dropped dead, killed by a terrific kick. The surviving horse injured and frightened, plunged around the car and it was not till Paisley got out that he was safe. The car was cut off at Strathroy and Paisley is in the hands of a doctor.

DEATH OF WILLIAM S. SANFORD

William S. Sanford passed away very suddenly at his home in Weston, Kings county, on Feb. 14th, at 12 P. M., at the age of 83. He was the eldest son of the late Jonathan and Melinda Sanford. Mr. Sanford was the first deaf mute in Kings county and through kind friends received his education at Hartford, Conn. His death came very unexpectedly. Although he seemed in his usual health he passed away while sleeping in his chair. He was a man of good intelligence and highly respected by all who knew him. He experienced religion while at school and for years was a faithful member of Berwick Baptist church.

Mr. Sanford had the homestead and was a successful farmer. His house and barn were models of neatness. His son, Lorne, was also a progressive farmer.

Mr. Sanford was twice married, both his wives being deaf. His first wife was Miss Taylor, of Vermont, who died in 1858. Afterwards he married Miss Emma Lucas, of St. John, N. B., who survives him. They had four children, of whom all are dead. Three daughters died in childhood, the eldest being thirteen years of age. Their only son, Mr. Lorne W. Sanford died in January 1899. He was married and left two daughters.

The funeral took place on Saturday and was largely attended. Pastor G. P. Raymond officiating. Interment was at Berwick cemetery.

Three Dead and Several Injured in Collision on the I. C. R.

A staff correspondent of the Chronicle, who proceeded to the scene of the railway wreck at Brookfield, on Friday night, writes the following account:

Driver J. Flavin, of the C. P. R. express got confused in his train orders Tuesday night, and thinking he was to cross Train No. 9 at Alton, ran past Brookfield siding, where he was to have crossed the St. John express. That error resulted in a terrific head-on collision in which two men were killed outright, two more were fatally injured, half a dozen others were badly shaken up, two engines were very badly wrecked and several cars were completely demolished. One of those fatally injured, Driver Flavin, has since died.

Driver Flavin had been given an order to cross No. 9 at Alton, but later this order was changed and he was ordered to cross No. 9 at Brookfield instead of Alton. There can be only one explanation and that is that the engineer forgot about the change in the order. But it was a costly mistake for it cost him his life, together with the lives of two others.

DEAD.

S. Keith, baggage master on train No. 9. Crushed in baggage car.

Leather Hill, fireman on No. 26. Crushed between tender and engine.

J. Flavin, driver of C. P. R. express.

INJURED.

G. Cook, Truro, crushed while stealing a ride in baggage car of No. 9. Seriously injured in head and badly frost bitten.

C. Bezwanger, mail clerk on No. 9. Shoulder dislocated. Face badly cut.

Charles O'Reilly, mail clerk on No. 9. Seriously cut around the head.

Fritz Dennis, sustained slight cuts and bruises.

It was a terrific impact. The engines were locked together and each boiler was crushed in up to the smoke stack.

On No. 9 the express car telescoped the mail car and utterly demolished it, sweeping all the framework of the car from the tracks. The three passenger cars were not damaged but the inmates were sent sprawling in all directions.

On No. 26, the mail car telescoped

C. P. R. TRAINS IN COLLISION

Smith's Falls, Ont., March 1.—A head-on collision occurred on the C. P. R. at Mountain Station at six o'clock this morning. That some one blundered is evident. Two men were burned to death and several were injured. The dead are both Dominion express messengers. They are: William Hutchins, Coburg, express messenger, dead.

J. G. Nicholson, Montreal, express messenger, dead.

A. Lesperance, Montreal, baggage master, badly cut.

Engineer Hartney, of the passenger train, Montreal, fingers cut off.

The only passenger injured was E. McQueen, of Owen Sound.

CREW JUMPED TO SAFETY.

No. 6 express, east-bound, which left Smith's Falls at five o'clock this morning, crashed into a freight, east-bound, on the same track. The express does not stop at Mountain Station, and, it is said, was running at the rate of fifty miles an hour when the collision occurred, about a hundred rods east of that station. The track is straight at that place, and the crews were able to see the impending danger, and all jumped to save themselves.

ENGINEER INJURED.

In this they were fortunately successful. Engineer Daniel Hartney, of Smith's Falls, and the driver of the express sustained the most painful injuries, but he escaped with the loss of three fingers. He was bruised and suffered slight injuries otherwise, as did all the crew.

A physician at Mountain attended to him at once and he afterwards went on to Montreal for further treatment. It is supposed he lost his fingers in trying to apply the brakes or reverse his engine before the awful impact came.

ENGINES TELESCOPE.

The two engines were telescoped into each other and were practically ruined. The express car next to the engine and the baggage car next to that received the full force of the collision. There was a stove in each, and either from these or from the lamps the fire started, and in a few minutes both these cars were enveloped in flames.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH.

The express messenger, Mr. Hutchins, and his assistant, Nichol, were less fortunate. They escaped to get out of the car, but the legs of one were caught by some of the wreckage and he could not free himself. The other succeeded in getting his head and shoulders through the window of the car, but he was caught there and could get no further. Immediately these two cars took fire and the two unhappy men thus pinioned down saw the flames surrounding them, and rapidly coming nearer and nearer to them, until they were finally burned to death in the presence of the passengers and train crew who were doing all they could by chopping the car with axes, yet powerless to relieve them.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY IS BOTH AGREABLE AND EFFECTIVE.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has no superior for coughs, colds and croup, and the fact that it is pleasant to take and contains nothing in any way injurious has made it a favorite with mothers. Mr. W. S. Polham, a merchant of Kirksville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles. It is especially successful in cases of croup, children like it and my customers who have used it will not take any other." For sale by W. A. Warren, Elm, B.

WHICH MAN ARE YOU?

There are times when purse strings are tightened when there is a proposition of a public nature calling for contributions. Men will talk of their past contributions, of the failure of this, that and the other project, and will refuse to pay money for further plans which they say will not bring money to their pockets. There are some of these men to be found in every community, just as there are small potatoes in every hill, but when this condition becomes general, when men to whom the community has a right to look for a slight return for the benefits and prosperity which they are enjoying, refuse to discharge one of their plainest duties and when the number of such men becomes so great as to threaten the success of movements in the public interest, that condition is an evidence of a species of dry rot which, if not speedily removed will lead the community in the commercial graveyard. In every town there are movements which call for the expenditure of money. Some of these are of a distinctly public character, and are paid for through taxation. Others are of a semi-public character, and for them the funds must be raised by voluntary contributions. These must come from the men who are the citizens and doing the business of the place and who have the money. There is no other way. The man who has the money is the man who must pay the bills, if they are to be paid. Most enterprises of a public nature would have for their object the bettering of conditions, business and otherwise, which in a town will, directly or indirectly, return more than the money expended to those who pay it. A town that never has anything to do in a public way, is on the way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his town is helping to dig the grave. A man that curses the town and those who are trying to do it furnishes the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business to give to the town affairs is making the shroud. The man who will not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is always pulling back from any public enterprise throws bouquets on the grave. The man who is so stingy as to be howling hard times, preaches the funeral sermon, and sings the doxology, and thus the town lies buried from all sorrow and care. The best man we have in our town for the general good of the town is the one you will always see on the front seat in the progressive movements. He is the first one to extend an open and warm hand to greet the stranger and welcome him to the best town, to him, in the country. He will resent an insult to the town as quickly as he would a slur to a member of his family. He very politely invites the chronic croaker to "move on." He is ever ready to give his just proportion to every public enterprise. He calls up our town's home and abroad and believes it is the best place upon God's green earth in which to live and desires to be buried here when he dies. Let us all try and be like this man for one year and our little town will take on new life and improve as never before in its history.

DAIRY NOTES.

All dairymen do not think alike as to the best kind of a tie for cows. Years ago stationary stanchions were tried as it was said they were the best to keep the cattle clean.

Speaking of the economic feeding of dairy cows, Prof. Plumb, of Indiana, says—Breed and individuality should be first considered; then feed.

An experiment at the University, three cows were fed daily 42 pounds of silage, 8 pounds hay, 6 pounds bran, 2 pounds oil meal, 4 pounds corn-cob meal per cow.

Part of the bog yielded one barrel to the square rod, which was a very handsome sight.

The neighbors who have the time to spare both old and young come on the bog about nine o'clock in the morning, and pick until about five in the evening.

Personally, I believe in the country born boy. He receives strength from the soil and vigor from the air, and while intelligence and knowledge come best, perhaps, in the mingling of city, bodily strength and health are the best foundations on which to build the superstructure of success.

CRANBERRY CULTIVATION. (By W. A. Hebb.) Much has been said, and many questions asked about cranberries during the past fall, especially those grown on my bog.

The cranberry derives the greater part of its nourishment from the air, and from the water, and is said by medical writers, and those who have made an analysis of this fruit, to be the most wholesome of all berries.

There are two species of cranberries growing within our territory. The small cranberry and the large, or American cranberry, the small sorts not being worthy of cultivation.

Of the larger kind there are many varieties, known as the bell, the bugle, the cherry and the early black cranberry made a desperate effort to get the smaller children out, and many others.

I have raised several small crops of cranberries on this bog in the past year. This year I had two hundred and fifty barrels.

What the leading Medical Journal of the world has to say about FERROL.

After making a thorough test of FERROL in its own laboratory the London (England) Lancet published an article from which the following is taken:

FERROL

"This is a successful combination of the well-known valuable remedies, Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus. The formula is no secret, and our analysis showed the presence and amount of constituents as described.

What the London Lancet recommends as a food and a tonic in all wasting diseases must have very special qualities.

No higher endorsement is possible. The results following the use of FERROL for the past ten years have proved that this endorsement is well deserved.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals.

RHEUMATIC PAINS RELIEVED.

B. F. Crocker, Esq., now 84 years of age, and for twenty years Justice of the Peace at Martinsburg, Iowa, says: "I am terribly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism in my left arm and right hip. "CORPSE" ASKS FOR FOOD.

Berlin, Feb. 27.—A woman named Hecker had a narrow escape from being buried alive at Potsdam.

She had apparently died, her doctor had given a certificate, and the undertaker was on the point of placing the body in its coffin when the woman sat up and demanded something to eat and drink.

Relatives who were in the room fled in terror, but afterwards returned and fed the awakened sleeper. Thirty-six hours had elapsed between the supposed death and revival.

All signs of mourning were removed, but she died next day.

A Kingston despatch dated February 22, to a New York paper, said: "Earthquake shocks here today caused walls of already damaged buildings to fall, shook down a new brick building erected on a damaged foundation, and spread terror among the inhabitants of the city. Hundreds of negroes fell on their knees in the streets and prayed. There is a belief among the ignorant natives that before Easter Sun the island will be under the sea. Today's shock is the 107th distinct shock since the earthquake of January 14th."

INTENSIFIED FRUIT JUICES AN IMPROVEMENT ON NATURE

A Discovery that is Revolutionizing Medicine.

Remarkable Success Attends the Finding of a New Medicinal Compound by Combining the Juices of Apples, Oranges, Figs and Prunes.

Fruit helps to keep one healthy. Fruit, in itself, will not cure disease. The medicinal principle—or that part of fruit which has a curative effect—is in such infinitesimal quantities, that it is unable to overcome a diseased condition of the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys or skin.

Just here is where science stepped in. An Ottawa physician did what nature could not do. He first found that some fruits were stronger medicinally than others—and that apples, oranges, figs and prunes contained all the healing properties of other fruits. There are two principles in fruit juices—bitter and sweet. After extracting the juices of the four fruits mentioned, this physician succeeded in replacing one atom of the sweet principle by one of the bitter. This resulted in an entirely new combination being formed. This new compound was many times more active medicinally than the fruit juices.

Where eating fruit only helped to keep one well, this compound actually cured disease. To make it more valuable still, this physician added the finest tonics and antiseptics, and then, by evaporating the entire compound to a powder, made it into tablets.

This, in short, is the method of making "Fruit-a-tives"—these wonderful tablets—the most reliable cure for Constipation, Biliousness, Stomach Troubles, Kidney and Bladder Diseases and Skin Affections. Being made from fruit, "Fruit-a-tives" may be taken by women and children without fear of ill-effect. Don't take a substitute. If your druggist does not handle them, send for a box to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The election for mayor of Bridgetown made necessary by the resignation of W. J. Hoyt, who was elected to the position last month, takes place on Saturday next. Four nominations have been made as follows:

- W. J. Hoyt, nominated by Fred R. Fay and others.
- W. D. Lockett, nominated by L. D. Shaffer, H. Ruggles and others.
- H. Ruggles, nominated by H. R. Moody and C. F. Dyle.
- H. Ruggles, nominated by H. W. Capn and W. J. Hoyt.

The two latter nominations, apparently made with a purpose of splitting votes, are pronounced void, by the town clerk, each of the gentlemen named already holding town offices, Mr. Ruggles as revisal officer, appointment not expiring until May. Mr. Shaffer holding a permanent appointment as assessor, consequently the contest will be between Mr. Hoyt and Mr. Lockett, whose cards requesting the support of their friends respectively, appear in our advertising columns. Each of these gentlemen has had practical experience on the council board and is well qualified to administer the town's affairs, and as each supports the same political party there will be no division of votes on political lines. This makes the contest likely to be a close one and the candidates will have to depend largely upon the preference of their individual friends.

AN AMBITIOUS PLAN.

St. John Telegraph.)
 Premier Murray's "Technical Education Act," introduced in the Nova Scotia Legislature this week, is a measure of unusual importance. The hope of its promoters that it will give a great impetus to the industrial life of the province and provide a foundation for immense and solid expansion appears to be justified.
 The plan is an ambitious one and will involve a considerable annual expenditure. The $100,000 referred to is an estimate for buildings, equipment and laboratories for the central institute. The working out of the system will be observed with much interest. It promises to be an investment of great value. Nova Scotia's industries are of such a character that she may well feel like taking the lead in such a matter.

MEMORY OF BRAVE YOUNG TEACHER TO BE HONORED.

Montreal proposes to recognize the heroic devotion to duty of Miss Sarah Maxwell, the young teacher in the Hochelaga School, who sacrificed her life in an endeavor to save the lives of her pupils. Her death was glorious and full of inspiration, and it is fitting that such fine heroism should be commemorated in enduring form.

FORTY THOUSAND SHARES OF DOMINION COAL STOCK

Montreal, March 2.—A couple of stock broking firms here declare that a body of shareholders holding 40,000 shares of the Dominion Coal Company being dissatisfied at the present arrangement, will act jointly at the coming meeting and have given their proxies to Sir Wm. Van Horne, Henry F. Dimock, and Z. A. Lash, jointly and severally.

THE P. E. I. TEMPERANCE ACT.

To the Editor of the Monitor,

In last week's issue of your paper appears a letter on "Temperance Legislation," in which the public are informed that petitions are now in circulation throughout the province asking for improved legislation in relation to the sale of intoxicating drinks on lines similar to the advanced legislation adopted by the legislature of Prince Edward Island, where it is claimed that a complete revolution has been brought about in the drinking habits of the people. Although the Scott Act prevails in a number of counties, where it is to a considerable extent enforced, yet in some of the incorporated towns the enforcement is a mere farce; for in some of the towns inspectors are seen frequenting the places where intoxicants are sold and in some instances, helping to put the liquor down in an illegitimate way. Is it not high time that some legislation should be enacted that would tend to minimize the traffic? The writer would hail with pleasure a law that would suppress the selling of liquor to a large extent in our towns. However, it is claimed that the law now in P. E. Island is in some respects inconsistent, in that while not a license is granted to a tavern or hotel in the province, yet the government allows commercial travellers from wholesale houses to come in and take orders and supply vendors on payment of two hundred dollars for a license fee. This, however, will without doubt be remedied by amendments to the act as at present on the statute book, and the temperance people of Nova Scotia will see to it that no such proviso is embodied in the act when it comes before the legislature.

Thanking you for space, I am
 Yours truly,
 OBSERVER.

MRS. JOHN H. CASE BURNED TO DEATH.

St. John, Feb. 24.—Mrs. John H. Case, aged 53 years was burnt to death last night at her home on Waterville street. She was alone at the time, her husband being occupied in his grocery store. Neighbors hearing the crackling of fire investigated and found the woman's charred body on the floor near her bedroom. The room fixtures were on fire, but the blaze was soon extinguished. It is supposed Mrs. Case, who was an invalid, had set fire to the curtain while carrying a lighted lamp.

THE NATIONAL STOCK COMPANY.

Will appear at the Court House, Bridgetown, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in the play The Embassy Ball, the funniest comedy ever written. This is the show you will see on next Thursday night in Bridgetown. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents. Plays changed nightly. Eight vaudeville acts presented nightly. Seats now on sale.

A small gift was presented by Capt. Eber Brinton, after which Mrs. Slocomb expressed her gratitude in very appropriate words. The evening was spent with games and music, refreshments were served, and at a late hour the company left for their homes, feeling it was more blessed to give than to receive.

INHUMAN FATHER

ARRAIGNED IN COURT

Sydney Mines, N. S., Mar 4.—A man named Reuben Snow appeared in the stipendiary magistrate's court today charged with cruelty towards his two little daughters. The evidence adduced went to show that not only did he starve his children, locking the food up when he went to work, but kept them in rags and beat them whenever it seemed to suit him.
 The story told by the children in court was a pitiful one and while telling it they stood with bleeding faces. Their forms were emaciated and their clothing tattered.

Election Cards

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Bridgetown:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been requested by a large number of my friends to again offer myself as a candidate for the Mayoralty I take this opportunity to give my reason for resigning after being elected on February 5th. Shortly after my election I was informed by the town recorder that twenty-seven persons having voted who had no legal right to the franchise, my election, if protested, could be voided. The only honorable course open to me was to resign and seek re-election either by acclamation or on a correct list.

Trusting this explanation to be satisfactory to you all, I again solicit your patronage on March 9th, and pledge myself, if elected, to use my best endeavors to safeguard the interest of the town, and conduct the business in as economical a manner as is possible for me to do.

Thanking you for your support in the past, I remain,

Yours truly,

W. J. HOYT.

To the Electors of Bridgetown:—

Ladies and Gentlemen—I have been requested by a number of the electors of the town to stand for Mayor for the balance of the year. After consideration I have decided to do so. If elected to this important office I will enter upon my official duties in perfect harmony with the present members of the town council to whom you have already entrusted the town affairs, as they have all signed a requisition asking me to accept a nomination. I will also endeavor to discharge my official duties and permit the councillors to discharge theirs with a view only to the welfare of the town and without regard to personal motives.

IN PRAISE OF KNITTING.

The days have passed when every woman had her knitting work. Our grandmothers picked up the stocking when a neighbor dropped in, when the twilight fell, when the oven needed watching—and there is a New England tradition of one industrious woman who took up her knitting while the people were gathering for a family funeral.

The complicated operations of "widening," "narrowing," "setting the heel" and "going off" were so familiar to feminine fingers that they could all be accomplished by firelight. Every family discussion was conducted to the accompaniment of the clicking needles. Mary's course at the Academy, John's journey to Boston to find a market for mother's cheeses, the purchase of the wood-lot and the building of the new cell to the house were all worked into the fabric of the gray stockings and white stockings as they grew under skillful fingers. All the plans were laid with a greater deliberation than today, when the woman's part in the conversation is often taken by snatches, as she runs the sewing-machine, looks after the separator, or wields the carpet sweeper.

Grandmother thought her way to many a wise conclusion over her knitting. It was a topic for depression and a sedative for nervous irritability. It was the earliest diversion for the convalescent, and the last work which feeble fingers and failing eyes could do before the final rest. How many a daughter treasures with loving care "the last pair of stockings mother knit!"

The pleasant, quieting, housewife occupation need not go out of fashion because machinery makes stockings more cheaply than hands can make them. There is still a call for the product of the needles. For example, the missions for seamen are always in want of warm knitted mufflers and hoods, with which sailors may brave their winter voyages. Hospitals and ghos of shoulder straps for patients, and bed socks may help many a poor old woman to sleep warm. The knitting which the family can spare may now be turned into the great channels of charity, and to make the lifter the happier, and the world the warmer both in body and in heart.

THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

AND ECONOMY.

As the new year dawns upon the thrifty housewife, she needs to have a tighter rein upon her purse strings and a closer watch on the many inevitable drains upon the family income. She has, no doubt, summed up last year's accounts and marvelled at their proportions. She instinctively realizes that between all the activities of life and all forms of expenditure, a proportionate outlay in various lines must be intelligently preserved so that the money spent for houses, table dress and entertainment represents their true financial condition and standing as a family. A meagre table for the sake of extravagant clothes is a sacrifice unworthy of her good sense and sound judgment. Her charity fund cannot be poured into the coffers of elaborate entertainment. She does not desire her household to present to the world an unstable veneered facade. The adjustment of expenses in relation to comfortable proportions both socially and economically is a quest of vital import to her whole household and name. Now, in the beginning of the new year she therefore opens up a fresh and clean record sheet with a firm determination to do a good deal of finessing and get the best and most out of her year's outlay. As she ponders the subject her thoughts turn first to the question of food supplies.

It has been estimated in a recent book on applied chemistry that at least ten per cent. of the income of most families is wasted in high priced foods which contain very little nutrition—this squandering occurring as frequently where the income is small as where large ones are expended. Some of the most expensive food materials contain the least nourishment. Especially does the good housewife learn this in her experience in marketing. Take for instance the different cuts of meat from which she makes her selection—the so-called choice cuts, the porterhouse and sirloin steaks, and the ribs and loin chops are easily cooked and very palatable, and yet, if properly prepared with a little more care, there are many good pieces of meat that contain less waste and more nutritive value and may be purchased for one-half the price paid for the steaks and chops. The woman who is willing to spend the time and pains in preparing these meats for her table will find them quite as relishing as any in the market. It must be admitted that they are not so easy, and it is a great temptation to spend the extra money and serve a nice little meal with very small effort. Many families dine exclusively upon these choice and simple, though expensive cuts of meat.

However, as an example: A nice breast of lamb, which costs from 8 to 12 cents a pound, stewed slowly, then set aside to cool, until the crust of fat rises, may be served after removing the fat and making a cream gravy, to the most fastidious. A shoulder of lamb, carefully roasted after the bone is removed and a good dressing inserted is quite equal to a leg of lamb and some deem it even sweeter meat. The leg of lamb will cost about three times as much money. A good pot roast of beef cooked—simmered in the proper manner—not boiled, with a brown gravy may be made just as tempting as any prime roasts. It all depends upon the cooking—remember. It requires skill and care to develop its finer flavor and worth. One might take into consideration all the different meats in the market, and find equally palatable and nourishing cuts for less than half the money expended for those most commonly used. Then, too, there is another link in household expenses which is occasioned by an untimely selection of food. Much unnecessary expense is created by buying food out of season. By selecting foods in season when the supply is plentiful, reasonable prices may be expected and obtained. This applies more especially to vegetables which may be bought in season and varied accordingly. Fruits and nuts also come under this rule.

A great amount of food is rendered unfit for the table or stomach by using badly constructed or much worn cooking appliances. It is always good economy to have clean, fresh cooking utensils at hand. Pasting along this line will improve conditions that are to be deplored in many kitchens where cooks are blamed for poor results. The real nutritive value of food is a subject that demands study and every housewife and manager should be able to successfully supply the family larder. The main endeavor should be to obtain quality and naturally quantity will regulate itself—once soon learned—that makes a vast difference in the purchasing of foods is the presence of the buyer in the market and store, selecting for herself what she deems best. The thrifty, careful woman does her own marketing and does not trust to ordering from her grocer, "right unseen," as the boys say. Many a dollar is saved by this personal insight and attention. See what you buy and know what it costs at the time of purchase—then you have the opportunity to select the best, freshest, most seasonable, and all things considered, the cheapest in the market. The question of food is the most vital point at issue. There is no doubt that food makes or mays whole families, yes, generations of people, physically, mentally and morally, and all this responsibility lays at the door of the housewife, since she, as a rule, regulates the expenditures of the family, manages the income, or the bulk of it, in her own way. Good, palatable food of excellent nutritive value may be chosen even in this day of high prices, and expensive living may be greatly reduced by careful selection and close attention on the part of the housekeeper.

EVERY QUARREL BOUND TO LEAVE LASTING SCAR.

"Quarrels," says a well known woman writer, "are the spice of marriage."

There is nothing spicy about a quarrel between husband and wife. Bitter feelings prompt a quarrel, and there is nothing spicy about bitterness. Every quarrel leaves an ugly scar, no matter how well it may be patched up. Small differences must occur in every household, but they can hardly be called quarrels.

A quarrel between sweethearts is not a bad thing, in that it shows both sides up in their true character. A man in a temper will show his worst side, and if you are going to marry him it is just as well that you should know the worst.

A girl in a tantrum will also show whatever smallness she is capable of, and again it is well that a man should know that he is not marrying an angel, but a very ordinary human being.

Also, sweethearts rather enjoy the romance of reconciliation.

But with married people it is different. They have joined hands "for better, for worse," and if they are wise they will strive pretty hard to keep the better side uppermost.

To quarrel with the person who stands nearest and dearest to you is to put a strain on love that in the long run snaps it.

There is no sadder sight than to see two people who have grown so used to bickering that they do it almost mechanically.

I have known people to declare that an occasional spat cleared the matrimonial atmosphere most satisfactorily.

That may be, to a certain degree, but the trouble is that one quarrel paves the way for another, and with every time the remorse of them grows less, until the day comes when neither side thinks anything more of quarrelling than of eating breakfast. It is simply part of the day's routine.

Nothing so warps the nature of a child as hearing his parents quarrel.

THE HOUSEKEEPER'S APRON.

The housekeeper should have plenty of aprons. Gingham seems to be universally used, but it shrinks a great deal and oftentimes does not wash well. Calico has its admirers because it is cheap, washes well, and does not often fade, though possibly it does not last as long. The plain gored Warren, Phm. B.

A HANDY CEMENT.

In mending bric-a-brac, part of which is metal and part glass, a paste made of sifted plaster of paris mixed with the beaten white of an egg will repair the damage beautifully. In using this paste the work must be done rapidly, as it hardens quickly. For metal pieces solder should be used. The edges of the pieces should first be carefully washed and dried and powdered resin brushed over them. They should be fitted well together and tied in place. Then if a stick of solder is laid above the break and a hot iron brought down lightly on it the melted metal will hold the piece firmly in position. When the solder has cooled the melted resin can easily be removed by a cloth dipped in alcohol.

A SAUSAGE STORY.

"What do you think that stupid Nora of mine did this morning?" said Mrs. Martin to her friend Mrs. Rose as they met at market. "She threw away all our sausage for breakfast because they burst open in cooking, and she thought they were spoiled."
"I'm not laughing because you lost your breakfast," replied Mrs. Rose, "but the word 'sausage' sends our family nearly into convulsions. When the Maythams visited us a short time ago, I ordered some sausage for breakfast. I wanted it particularly nice, so I cautioned Nellie, who was just over from Ireland and had only been with me two weeks, to be sure to prick each sausage so they would not burst open. She looked a little dazed and I explained, 'Just stick a fork in each one.' A beam of intelligence crossed her face and I felt sure she comprehended and our simple breakfast would be all right.
"Imagine our feelings when Nellie, next morning, deposited in front of George a platter on which the sausages marched in battle array, each bearing aloft a kitchen fork! I said 'each' but I am mistaken—one poor little sausage brought up the rear with a corkscrew.
Nellie, realizing from my face that something was wrong, explained apologetically, 'Indeed, mum, the forks give out, and I see to myself, sez I, wan prick will do for the little wan.'"
A literally true tale, this.

PRETTIER THAN EITHER.

A Massachusetts man met a negro who has recently worked for him, and into whose family a girl baby had come shortly before.
"What have you named her?" asked Mr. Green, on being told by the father of the addition to his family.
"Dat's what we can't 'cide on," was the reply. "I wants her name Clara and my old woman wants it Nettie."
"Well, then," suggested Mr. Green, "why don't you call her Clarinet?"
"I declare, Marse Green," said the colored man, admiringly, "dat is purtier than either of 'em."

SOME FALSE LOGIC.

Attorney General Moody, discussing a legal point, said:
"That is striking, but false logic. It reminds me of a conversation I once heard at the seashore.
"A man in a striped bathing suit was running on thin pale legs over the hot, white beach toward the cool water, when a friend, seizing him by the arm, said:
"What are you going to bathe just after a heavy lunch? Why, you will be drowned."
"Oh, no; not at all," replied the other. "I ate nothing but fish."
SMOKING HER OUT.

Quite a party of students at Glasgow, Scotland, were on an excursion to a football game, and they were annoyed by the presence of a woman of the middle class in their car. They decided to smoke her out, and the way they puffed their pipes was something fast and furious for Scotch boys. The car filled and fairly reeked with nicotine, but the objectionable old woman never even coughed. Finally one of the students became sick and then the woman went to him, and said: "If you are done, sir, for the time was ye kindly gie me a bit of a draw? I ken awa in sic haste I forgot me pipe!"

WANTED, REAL SECURITY.

A yellow-haired descendant of the Vikings walked into the office of a prominent attorney the other day and said: "Ay want you to make some paper out. Ay buy a farm in Powell Valley, and ay tank ay want a mortgage." "Why do you want a mortgage?" exclaimed the lawyer, "if you bought the farm? Don't you want a deed?" "No, ay tank not. Six years ago ay buy a farm and gettin dead and noder fellar come along with a mortgage and tak da farm. Ay tank ay tak a mortgage."

A Harvard sophomore was reciting a memorized oration in one of the classes in public speaking. After the first two sentences his memory failed, and a look of blank despair came over his face. He began as follows:
"Ladies and Gentlemen—Washington is dead, Lincoln is dead—then, forgetting, "and—L—I am beginning to feel sick myself."
"He was obviously English in manner, diction and accent. He was uttering a sign in the window of a Broadway cafe.
"No wonder," he greeted me after prolonged observations. "What an extraordinary custom, you know, fancy having one's shoes polished on the interior!" This was the sign he had been reading.
"Get your shoes shined inside."

TEACH YOUR CHILDREN

MUCH SICKNESS AND DISEASE MAY BE PREVENTED BY OBSERVING THE FOLLOWING RULES, EXTRACTS FROM A PAPER ON SELF-PRESERVATION.

(In the Memphis Medical Monthly.)

And now regarding the "great white plague," consumption, so called because those affected waste away, and lose their strength and the rosy hue of health. What would you think if one person out of, say fifty, were to be shot at some time of their lives? You would be justly indignant at such a brutal waste of life, and yet it is an appalling fact that one out of every eight people born into the world dies of this one dread disease alone. And it could be prevented; it is not a hereditary disease as was formerly supposed but contagious, and to you bright children, who are soon to be men and women, we appeal, as you love your dear ones at home, as you should and doubtless do, love all mankind, to help in this battle royal against an enemy that has killed, and is killing, more people in their years of youth and hope, than all the battles of the world has known from Marathon to the Russo-Japanese war. Then obey carefully the following rules in the first principles of the prevention of consumption, compiled, with some additions, by Dr. S. A. Knopf, of New York, a specialist on this subject.

(a) Do not spit, except in a spittoon or a piece of cloth or a handkerchief used for that purpose alone. On your return home have the cloth buried by your mother, the handkerchief put in water until ready for the wash.
(b) Never spit on a slate, floor, sidewalk or playground.
(c) Do not put your fingers in your mouth.
(d) Do not pick your nose or wipe it on your hand or sleeve.
(e) Do not wet your fingers in your mouth when turning the leaves of a book.
(f) Do not put pencils in your mouth.
(g) Do not hold money in your mouth.
(h) Do not put pins in your mouth.
(i) Do not put anything in your mouth except food and drink.
(j) Do not swap apple cores, candy, chewing gum, half-eaten food, whistles, bean-blowers or anything that is put in the mouth.
(k) Peel or wash your fruit before eating it.
(l) Never cough or sneeze in a person's face. Turn your face to one side or hold a handkerchief before your mouth.
(m) Keep your face and hands and finger nails clean; wash your hands and face with soap and water before each meal.
(n) Do not kiss anyone on the cheek or allow anybody to do so to you.
(o) When you do not feel well, have cut yourself, or have been hurt by others, do not be afraid to report to the teacher.

(p) Be just as careful and cleanly about your person at home as at school.
(q) Clean your teeth with tooth-brush and water, if possible, after each meal, but at least on getting up in the morning and going to bed at night.
(r) Do not buy or use a second-hand book; it may contain germs of scarlet fever, diphtheria or consumption. We need a state law preventing the sale of such books.
(s) Never use a duster in house cleaning; it only fills the air you breathe with impurities, and again settles on the articles in the room.

Use, instead, a damp cloth to wipe away the dust.
(t) Never sweep an uncarpeted floor without first sprinkling it with clean water; better still, wipe it with a damp cloth.
(u) Scatter wet pieces of paper on carpeted floors before sweeping to prevent raising a dust.
(v) If possible do not drink from a vessel containing water, but from a running hydrant; if this is not convenient, use one dipper to take the water from the bucket or vessel and pour it into the one from which you drink. This is to prevent saliva from the lips and tongue being washed from the dipper into the bucket, and drunk by others using the same water.
(w) Learn to love fresh air and learn to breathe deeply and to do it often.
And lastly, spread this gospel of health, and as you grow, more closely study its laws, for nothing of a worldly nature gives as great happiness to man as a sound mind in a sound body. You will therefore assist in conferring this precious boon on your fellows, and as the story of Abu Ben Adhem in this beautiful couplet says:
"Mist those whom love of God has blessed,
The lover of his kind leads all the best."

TEACHER AND CHILDREN PERISH IN FLAMES.

Montreal, Feb. 26.—By the burning of the Hochelaga Protestant school in the east end of the city this afternoon, the lady principal, Miss S. Maxwell, and twenty children lost their lives. The disaster is one of the worst in the history of the city. The little victims were caught in the building without a chance to escape. Hemmed in by fire, suffocated by smoke, driven back from the windows, and with no hope of safety, the children perished in the flames. With rare heroism, the principal, Miss S. Maxwell, gave her life for her charges. She made a desperate effort to get the smaller children out, sacrificing her life in the effort. When her body was found it was surrounded by the bodies of the small children whom she had tried to save.
The school was a brick building, three stories in height. There were 250 children in the school at the time, both boys and girls. The biggest boys and girls managed to escape, but it was the little children in the kindergarten in the third story who were caught in the fire.
The fire, which originated in the basement, spread quickly, and soon the whole building was in flames and smoke. The firemen worked like heroes at the work of rescue, but were unable to save the children in the upper stories, as there were no fire escapes. As parents rushed to the school in search of their loved ones, many affecting scenes were witnessed. A score of bodies were carried out of the building before the work of rescue was completed.

Montreal, Feb. 27.—The inquest into the Hochelaga school disaster began this morning, but was merely an identification of the dead. The officers of the court and the police are looking up witnesses and the inquiry will begin Tuesday.
The responsibility for this awful loss of life has aroused the city.
Fire Chief Benoit says that had there been fire escapes, the firemen could have got all the children out by the ladders. He says the school commissioners are criminally responsible as they had been notified to put in fire escapes or be sued by the city.
That was a year ago, and nothing was done. Building Inspector Chaine says he notified the School Commissioners last November about this school and threatened suit, but nothing further was done. He says there is nothing in law to force him to do so, and he blames the fire committee for the non-enforcement of the by-law regarding fire appliances in public buildings.
The cause of the fire was the explosion of the furnace, which is a hot-air furnace with a boiler attachment. This was definitely proved this morning on inspection of the furnace. The explosion, it is thought, was caused by lack of water, owing to the breaking of one of the pumps. There is some talk of instituting criminal action against the School Commissioners.

The worst enemy of the laboring man are the restless agitators who pass as his friends.

BREAD CAST UPON THE WATERS.

(By a lover of children.)

I know a number of families who good, comfortable homes. The children are now of great help and comfort, repaying many times for all the love and care they received.
But I am most interested in one particular case, as the parents are friends of mine. This couple had been married for some years but no children came to bless their union. The wife, who was passionately fond of children, thought she would like to take some little orphan's child into her home and give it the love and care it needed. In a short time she heard of such a child, one of a good, respectable family, but unfortunate. The mother died at the birth of the eighth child. The oldest daughter took care of the family for a short time, but she was taken ill and died very suddenly. The father still tried to keep the family together, but found it impossible to get a competent housekeeper, so was obliged to break up his home and find boarding place for his children. My friend happened to see his little four-year-old daughter, was very pleased with her, and knowing how hard it was for the father to support so many under such circumstances, asked to adopt her.

The little girl had always lived in the city, and when brought to her home in the country she was delighted with everything. She was perfectly happy and her adopted parents were delighted with her, for she was a dear, sweet, lovable little thing and very bright. That was eight years ago. She is now a lovely girl of twelve years and no own daughter could be more to their parents than she; it is hard to imagine she was not born to them.
My friend often says how thankful she is that she found her and wishes she had taken a little boy at the same time, for she not only thinks it a duty, but a privilege to be able to do for such little needy ones.
If it were not for thinking my letter too long I should like to tell of other friends who took a poor neglected little deaf and dumb boy. They sent him to the deaf and dumb school where he is doing well. They are very fond of him and he is as happy as any child whose love and care can make him.

PERILS OF TRAVEL.

A number of railway men were once discussing the question of accidents. "The roads in Scotland," said one official, "used to have a bad name, indeed, in respect to accidents. No one thought of embarking on a railway journey unless he had provided himself with an accident policy of insurance."
The famous Dr. Norman Macleod was once about to set off on a long journey through the Scotch country. Just as the train was pulling out the argyman's servant put his head in through the window and said:
"Ha'e ye ta'en an insurance ticket, sir?"
"I have," replied the doctor.
"Then," replied the servant, "write ye'er name on it, and g'ie it to me. They ha'e an awful habit of robbing the corpses on this line."
