The Greatest Struggle in Canada is On

The greatest struggle known to Canada, between the people and those who would be their masters, is now on in this city and in this province.

It is between the people of Toronto and William Mackenzie and associates, and turns on whether the people are to be free or whether they are to be bound to William Mackenzie and his electric traction monopoly for ever.

The question of free government, as far as Ontario is concerned, is also involved; whether Mr. Mackenzie is to master here, as he is in Manitoba and in Winnipeg, or whether Sir James Whitney is to rule.

Mr. Mackenzie draws, we believe, an income of over $400,000 a year from Winnipeg in the matter of light, power and street car traction on a comparatively trifling actual investment; he largely owns the railways of the province—at least, those that were bought with the province's credit; and he holds that city and province in his hand. He controls the government and largely the legislature. The members of the Manitoba government are rich men, millionaires; and jointly with Mr. Mackenzie they own some of the newspapers that influence public opinion in that province. The most active and powerful force in provincial politics and in municipal politics in Manitoba and Winnipeg today is the Mackenzie organization. Winnipeg is badly sewed up to it in its street railway, in its gas, its electric franchises.

The struggle is now here—between the Whitney government and the Mackenzie organization for supremacy in Ontario—whether the government of this province is to be an annex of a traction and electric outfit or an affair of the people, and whether Toronto is to wear a yoke or be free.

William Mackenzie has set out to circumvent the principle of public ownership as applied to Toronto's street railway, and to destroy or render inoperative the Whitney-Beck power policy for all the province. It is the most gigantic and best organized effort ever put forth in Canada to sew up for ever the people of a great city and a great province.

Mr. Mackenzie and his associates dictate the policy of The Star newspaper; they have the support of The Globe, and they have a hand in the direction of The News. But all these papers seek to disown the connection while performing the service. The Globe is directed by Hon. Robert Jaffray, a director and a chief factor of the Toronto Electric Light Company. Mr. Mackenzie has already absorbed the Electrical Development Company and he is about "to save" the Toronto Electric Light Company; he now controls the Toronto Railway and the radial railways out of Toronto; having acquired the first two and already controlling the street railway and the radials, he is anxious to consolidate all four in a holding company which he controls, and The Globe and associate newspapers are doing their best to get what Mr. Mackenzie next wants—a rearrangement of the city street car franchise and an overlapping of it with certain radial railway rights that he now has in recently annexed portions of the city so as to get the city in a sew-up. Senator Jaffray is willing to help with the street car franchise move for "the saving" of the Toronto Electric. He and The Globe did their best to have the public defeat the public power policy last municipal elections. They want the city to sit in on "a new deal."

All these forces and certain lawyers and friends of Mr. Mackenzie are busy today trying, by way of fiat and by writs of injunction, to head off the Beck power policy.

They are all busy putting blocks in the way of the annexation of the suburbs to Toronto until they can get more of these overlapping street car and radial franchises.

It is a fight for freedom or it is a surrender to a yoke.

NEW SILVER CAMP IN ONTARIO'S NORTHLAND

Cobalt Has Rival in Gow Ganda, Where Phenomenal Discoveries Have Been Made—Hard Journey.

The World man has seen Gow Ganda and its wonderful discoveries of silver.

In the perspective of memory some of the rugged battles with primitive nature in the great northern wilderness have already softened, and the story of it all can be told unhindered by the fallen trees and slash of the forest, the cracking ice of the lakes and rivers, or the toasting and pitching of the frail canoe on wild-swept Gow Ganda.

One's thoughts revert to the first night spent under the skies about a mile east of Lake Wigwam, along the blazed trail to the new Eldorado of the northland. The camp fire had been lighted and was crackling and blazing warmly. Sparks were rising and spreading themselves hither and thither till they seemed to set like brilliant in the night-clad blackness of the trees which towered all about us, their tops swaying in the wind.

John Debeau, my French-Canadian guide and pack man, was busy felling trees with which to build a brush lean-to and from which brush was secured to form a sort of bed to sleep upon. The lean-to was built to face the fire, but back sufficiently far for safety. All the dead trees which might fall over the camp ground were chopped down to avoid this danger and then super was prepared. I could drink the tea well enough, but my appetite had not yet been led up to more than an indifferent interest in bottled beans and fat pork. John ate ravenously. He had been there before. A bird about the size of a robin fluttered down from the limb of a tree to within a few feet of us. Spearina a vagrant bean that had fallen into the snow he fluttered off to devour it. It was my first introduction to the Canadian Jay, called sometimes Curlew or Whiskey Jack, but more familiarly "Jack" by the lone prospector. My guide talked to the bird in French as to a long-lost friend and the "Jack" returned his confidence by approaching nearer to the camp fire and hopping industriously about it.

I stood gazing into the flames and ruminating on the vagaries of a journalist's experiences. Something white flashed about the trunk of a tree.

I was startled.

Again I saw the white streak and John the guide, saw it also.

"Went!" said John, and I breathed naturally again.

Then the rain started to fall so lightly at first that we hoped it was only snow. With more certainty the drops began to come, and then it developed into a deluge. More logs were piled upon the fire, several of them green, to make it last till morning. We crawled under our blankets and lay till morning, the water collecting into great drips on the brush and falling thru upon us. We were thoroughly drenched.

During that night my thoughts reverted to Toronto, many times, I was weakening. One day's walk would take me back to Silver Lake and another day to Englehart or Earlton, where I could wire back to The World that the game was up.

With daylight came the determination that I would go to Gow Ganda even though I arrived there a half-drowned rat. In the course of five or six days that drew complaints from some of the mouths of experienced men I did arrive at Gow Ganda and all that I saw there rewarded me for the difficulties I had been compelled to surmount.

Hard Lot of Prospector.

Thru it all The World has gained a genuine appreciation of the prospectors, who, in hundreds, have struggled on, in season and out of season, with faith never faltering in the mining resources of the north. These men are indeed the pioneers of a great national industry. They must sweat blood, before the world can know where lies the wealth which furnishes the basis for industrial exploitation. These hardy men deserve the best consideration of the country's governments. Their pathway should be made easier where it reasonably can be made so. They are upholding the best years of their lives in endless hardships, and spending their money, too, for assessment work and supplies to open up fields which will afford honest employment and homes for thousands of working men.

Every day prospectors may be seen hitting the Gow Ganda trail at Elk City with packs of supplies on their backs weighing ninety, a hundred or sometimes even one hundred and forty pounds.

This reminds me that on the east shore of Gow Ganda Lake, beside the trail, I saw a blazed tree on which was written:

"NO MORE 140 POUNDS FOR ME, I'M NO HOG."

(Signed)
McDonald,
My unknown friend McDonald had carried thru on his back 140 pounds

Accidental Shooting of Little Bernedette Ceale at Sandwich East.

WALKERVILLE, Dec. 6.—(Special).—Childish curiosity of the part of Albert Cecil's five-year-old son, Isadore, resulted in the accidental killing of three-year-old Bernedette Ceale at Sandwich East on Saturday.

Isadore pulled a loaded rifle from the table, where it had been laid by an older brother, and pulled the trigger. His little sister dropped to the floor, shot thru the brain.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD KILLS SISTER WITH RIFLE

One Hundred and Fifty Lunatics Removed to Another Building.

MONTREAL, Dec. 6.—(Special).—About $20,000 damage was caused by a fire which broke out at noon on Saturday in a new annex which is being built at the insane asylum at Verdun.

The fire was very threatening and necessitated the removal of 150 lunatics from the chronic wards in the main building 100 feet away to another building. The patients, however, gave no trouble, most of them regarding the fire as a joke. There were fifty workmen in the building at the time, some of whom had to make a run for safety.

POLICE CLASH WITH STUDENTS

Queen's Men Storm Kingston Theatre and Warm Fight Follows Refusal of Manager to Admit Them.

KINGSTON, Dec. 6.—(Special).—Police and Queen's students clashed Saturday night, following the Alma Mater Society elections, when the students made their usual rush.

They stormed the Grand Opera House, where "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was being produced, and after Manager Branigan refused them admittance one of the hottest rows that have taken place in Kingston for years resulted. At one time it looked as if soldiers from the barracks would have to be called to quell the disturbance.

The students were out over 500 strong. The manager of the show, all the ushers, some soldiers and attendants lined up at the theatre door armed with clubs and assisted the police in keeping out the crowd, but in the melee the first glass front and railings were destroyed. All the exits had to be locked to keep the students out.

The police succeeded in keeping hold of six of the main offenders until within a stone's throw of the police station, when there was another encounter. Students gathered around the officers and orders were given the latter to use revolvers and this alone had the effect of quieting the crowd. A couple of officers were kicked in the face and badly used up. Several students also received severe bruises from coming into contact with police men's batons.

The row occurred right in the business centre and business was practically suspended. Many spectators were struck with eggs and stones, and several stores near the opera house also were decorated with staled hen fruit.

The students will be arraigned in police court today. Bad was asked and refused, and they were compelled to spend Sunday in the cells.

EARLY APPEAL TO CURB LORDS

British Liberals May Forward Test Bill and Go to Court.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Conservative politicians and press are raising a chorus of joy over the defeat of the government's Education Bill, and are prophesying the early termination of the Liberal administration.

The collapse of the government's two most pretentious and most carefully prepared measures within a few days of each other, together with the Liberal defeat in the Middlesex parliamentary election, following several successive rebuffs at the polls, give support to the assertion that the Liberals have lost the country's confidence.

On this ground the government's opponents are urging it to invite a vote of confidence by going before the country in a general election, and are taunting it with being afraid to do so.

It is well within the range of possibility that the next six months may see a general election. A few prophets say that a general election will come early in the new year.

Some of the Liberals suggest that the government should frame a press bill, curbing the power of the lords, and that when that body throws it out the government should appeal to the country on that issue.

The most important legislation this session having failed, the only notable project left to consider is the Irish Land Purchase Bill, but the chances of it passing are poor.

The Liberals object to the scheme of the committee of the house of lords, directed towards reform in the house, because their party under the proposed plan would be assured of only a small fraction of the members of the upper house. Colonial representation in the house of lords finds general favor, and suggestions are heard that if the colonies are given seats, India should not be left out.

SUFFRAGETTES CREATE UPROAR

Chained to Seats and Plying Whips Prevent Lloyd-George Addressing Big Meeting.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The gulf between the suffragettes and the suffragees, the latter being the term generally used to describe the militant section of the female agitators, who believe in street riots and attacks on cabinet ministers as the quickest means of attaining the suffrage for their sex, was further widened Saturday afternoon by a fierce demonstration indulged in by the suffragettes at Albert Hall against David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer.

The chancellor was addressing a suffrage meeting under the auspices of the Woman's Liberal Association. He had hardly got beyond announcing that he was present with the object of making known the government's intentions regarding the problem of woman suffrage, when a great uproar broke out. Strident voices from all parts of the hall shrieked: "We want deeds, not words."

The stewards of the hall, and there were 50 on hand to deal with the anticipated disturbance, at once moved down the aisle of the women who had interrupted the speaker with the idea of ejecting them. They found them chained to their seats.

There then began a confused struggle between the men and the women, but finally the chains were cut and the suffragettes expelled. But the numbers of the disorderly seemed to increase rather than diminish. Some of the women were manacled with whips, and they replied vigorously every attempt to eject them.

There were fierce tussles every few moments in different parts of the hall, and every time Mr. Lloyd-George made an attempt to speak his voice was drowned with mingled groans and cheers.

Finally the chancellor, who for a quarter of an hour had been trying to get in a word, sat down, and the organizer present tried to soothe the hysterical stonewall by playing, "Oh, Dear, What Can the Matter Be?" But it was of no use, and pandemonium reigned. The uproar was at its height when a dozen suffragettes who recently had been released from prison, divested themselves of their outside wraps and appeared in their full garb. These clothes were liberally stamped with broad arrows.

The exhibition acted on the stewards like a red rag to a bull. Megaphones and bells were brought into use, and the noise became deafening. The stewards' strength lost their temper, and as they continued their work of throwing out the demonstrators, the clothes of many of the women were torn off their backs.

At the end of half an hour or more the opposition became worn out, and Mr. Lloyd-George was able to continue his speech with only an occasional interruption. He assured his audience, which totaled fully 8000 people, that there was a majority in the cabinet, and the Liberal party was in favor of woman suffrage and that a suffrage clause would be included in the government's franchise bill, which, however, could not be introduced until the eve of the dissolution of parliament.

Mrs. Conley, accompanied by her son, will spend the holidays at Toronto.

The fatality is the second recent one in which the victim in each instance misjudged the clearance of the car. The motorman said he had seen the woman's signal and was stopping the car for her.

Exchange of Diamonds.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 6.—Three men entered Ports and Market's jewelry store and asked to see some expensive diamonds. While the clerk's attention was attracted elsewhere for a moment one of the men exchanged a phony diamond for one valued at $300. Mr. Martin was suspicious of the men's action and made the discovery that a worthless diamond had been put in the place of one extracted, and the robbers were held up at the point of a gun until the police arrived.

Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives Makes an Urgent Appeal for Money.
$5,000 Required to Cover Bank Overdraft and Provide for Maintenance of Four Patients.

These head-lines tell the story of our needs.
They are heavy and urgent.
Many times during the past twelve months the question has pressed itself upon the Trustees, "Can we continue the work further?"

Every month brought its quota of accounts for salaries and wages of staff, bills of butcher, milkman, eggs, groceries, heavy coal bills—a serious item—and other uncontrollable expenses, so long as the doors were kept open.

During this period there was only one thing to do, and that was to lean on our banks—swelling the bank overdraft.
The trial was the severest in the history of these Muskoka Homes, in which nearly 3,000 persons, stricken by the dread white plague, have been cared for.

BISHOP WILLIAMS IN ST. JAMES' CATHEDRAL

Michigan Preacher Lays Down One of Main Tenets of New Theology.
With a resounding voice and quick decisive manner, Bishop Williams of Michigan laid down one of the main tenets of the new theology yesterday morning in St. James' Cathedral.

BISHOP WILLIAMS OF MICHIGAN.

is," exclaimed the preacher. While there was a negative implication all-ways, there was the richly insistent, positive application in the words which the New Testament always dwells upon.
The old message to mortify your members on earth and crucify the old man was the chief aim. Thus more strongly the new one declared, "Ye are risen."
A new motive on a new plane, in a new sphere, was supplied: "Therefore set your affection on things above." The emphasis and the accent is on the positive side. The night of the far spent, but the day is at hand. Be done with your old past, but put on the armour of light, the armour of the soul.

TAFT'S PROGRAM

Some of the Reforms He Will Propose to Congress.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The World claims to have authority for saying President Taft's legislative program is as follows:
Tariff revision.
A law putting a limitation on the issuance of interstate bonds and stocks.
A law authorizing railroads to make rate agreements, which otherwise would be in violation of the anti-trust law.
Subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission, the law organizing the bureau of corporations as shall require certain large corporations doing interstate commerce, business to submit to the scrutiny and examination of agents of the federal government.

TREATMENT OF TROLLEY RIDERS.

Editor World: The Toronto Railway Company will receive many complaints from its patrons, and the public upon the new latest move, which is to put dead-beat spotters upon the cars to call attention to any passenger who stops to draw his breath before putting his fare in the box.
The general manager of the company, according to the evening papers, says that he is doing this in order to educate the public to the square thing. "Have you not had enough lessons from this company?" They have the board of directors to counsel them who are well educated and trained, and also the departments under the control of the city council, even before the city council a few years before they completed their training.
As conditions now stand, the complaint is that the railway company is not doing its best for the interests of the public.

BEER OR WHISKEY? WITNESSES DISAGREE

Hotelman's Witnesses and Liquor Informers Quite Positive on Opposing Statements.
OWEN SOUND, Dec. 6.—(Special).—There was a somewhat sensational scene between lawyer H. G. Tucker, counsel for Charles Crook, accused of illegal sale of liquor, and Stewart, the "informant," at yesterday's trial. Stewart swore positively to having been served with whiskey, the defence declared only local option beer had been served.
Then Mr. Tucker reverted to the incident earlier in the week, when he was charged with having tried to bribe Stewart to affect his evidence, and said Stewart had in court admitted he might have made a mistake as to Tucker. This Stewart flatly denied and repeated he was sure the lawyer was the man. When the latter produced a black purse, Stewart was positive he had had a brown purse, which he had described.

Tony Faust hung on well, and was third. Seve, the son of Samochburn, after running prominently in the earlier stages, Frank Fitzner, seemed to be sold for $500, was held up by Al Kousser, but was realigned in the O'Fallon Handicap over the Futurity course. WHY THE RADIALS STAY OUT.

What is the history of the struggle for the radials to enter Toronto and what has been and what is the position of the city? Is it true that the city is barring them out? In 1901 the Metropolitan Railway, then an independent company, wanted to come in. The city extended a cordial welcome, but, as the law then stood, the consent of the Toronto Railway Company was essential, and that consent was not obtainable. A similar situation arose in 1902 and there were negotiations and correspondence covering months between the city authorities and William Mackenzie as president of the Toronto Railway Company. It was Mr. Mackenzie who broke off the negotiations and they have never been resumed, altho the city has repeatedly declared its anxiety for the radials to come in.

In 1906 the legislature passed the Ontario Railway Act. By its terms the radials were empowered to enter Toronto with or without the consent of the Toronto Railway Company upon terms to be fixed by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. More than two years have passed, and the radials have made no attempt to invoke this statute passed for their benefit and indeed at their request.

The explanation is to be found in the fact that since 1902 Mr. Mackenzie and his associates, who control the Toronto Railway Company, have acquired control of the radial railways. They do not avail themselves of the Railway Act, because that act forbids the board to grant any franchise "for a longer period than the unexpired term of the franchise held or enjoyed" by the Toronto Railway Co.

This is not what these gentlemen want. They are after a perpetual franchise for the radials, hoping thereby to found a claim in 1921 for holding on to the streets of Toronto after the present franchise of the Toronto Railway Company has expired. In the meantime they and their satellites are busy creating the impression that it is the city which is refusing admission to the radial railways, and they are breaking ground for a new agreement which will result in the franchise of the Toronto Railway Company being extended.

Let the people remember that the city has no desire, and indeed no power, to keep the radials out. They remain out because they are making no effort to come in.

People who are anxious for radials to the St. Lawrence market need lose no time in addressing luncheon or writing editorials. William Mackenzie and associates can bring the radials in, and they, and they alone, are keeping the radials out.

AVOIDING THE ISSUE. Prior to the meeting in Massey Hall in support of the license reduction movement The World ventured to suggest that it is the duty of those who are pressing for the withdrawal of forty licenses to give reasons and arguments based upon ascertained facts why the people should vote for the reduction. Sentiment and appeals to sentiment are out of place at the present juncture. Talk about the evils of intemperance and lurid pictures of the homes and graves of drunkards is not called for in a discussion upon license reduction. The people have a right to demand that those who advocate this measure shall furnish reasonable proof that it is at least likely to lessen intemperance.

advocates expected. Certain American cities have experimented with and are now experimenting with license reduction; the records are available to show whether the results are satisfactory from a temperance point of view. It was not unreasonable, surely, to expect that when the advocates of reduction engaged the largest hall in the city and put forward their latest platform advocates, these would have come provided with such statistics and would not have treated these matters as the license reduction were an untried experiment of which they had a right to ask the people to make trial. Yet the one remarkable thing about all the speeches was the careful avoidance of data. There was oratory, but there were some few attempts at more or less cogent reasoning from assumed premises, but not one attempt to prove by the experience of Toronto or any other city that a reduction of any number of licenses would promote temperance or lessen intemperance.

But this is the question the citizens are called upon to decide. It is not whether the bar room is or is not evil or unnecessary. It is not a question of prohibition or license. It is, shall the number of hotel licenses be reduced by forty, and, we repeat, the men who ask the people to vote "yes" are bound to quote facts and advance arguments based upon facts. Suppose every statement made by the speakers on Friday night could be admitted and every one of their arguments accepted, it could not be said that even a probable case had been made out in favor of license reduction. Indeed, the principal speaker, Rev. Canon Cody, with a candor and honesty entirely creditable to him, frankly admitted that upon the question of whether license reduction would reduce the aggregate consumption of liquor, there is room for difference of opinion. But if this admission does credit to the rev-

Smoke Old Gold Cigarettes Sweet and Mild 5c

Surely it is not unreasonable to ask the men who propose this to submit proof that the measure supposed to do this is something more than an experiment which certain good-intentioned people hope will turn out well.

As The World pointed out Toronto has had experience of license reduction in the past, and the police records are available for the purpose of showing whether that reduction was the temperance-promoting measure its

University Sermon

Choosing part of the last verse of the last chapter of the second epistle of Peter, "But grow in grace," as his text, Rev. Dr. Crummy of Bathurst-street Methodist Church delivered a spiritual sermon to the students of Toronto University in convocation hall on Sunday morning. The devotional exercises were conducted by Prof. Kilpatrick of Knox Church and the service was attended by fully one thousand people.

Dr. Crummy, who is a forceful speaker, endeavored to impress upon the students, who were about to enter upon their life's work, the effectiveness and importance of possessing a personality. "Your success," he said, "in all walks of life depends on the personality you bring into it." Even did it seem to be the keynote of the Christian ministry and the theology of the day. Of course he pointed out that the development and strength of this personality was greatly increased when manhood or womanhood was touched by the power of God. "Your personality," he said, "is developed in Christ."

Among those of the faculty present at the service were President Falconer, Principal Hutton and Chancellor Burwash.

Political Intelligence

The Montreal Herald (Liberal) is inclined to think that Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, in disavowing any ambition to succeed R. L. Borden, went out of his way to tell the Conservatives what their duty was in the premises. The Herald says: "After all this, it cannot be wholly satisfactory to the Conservative members who will have to do the choosing to be told that Mr. Borden 'is the one man available.' They were told that eight years ago, and again four years ago. Surely they are entitled to ask themselves now whether it is enough to go upon for another four, or another eight, and whether they would not do better to seek some other quality than availability. If the 'available' man for leadership during eight years has failed, after eight years, to surround himself with anything but mediocrity, might it not occur to his supporters that it would be a good idea to try another plan? Unanimous as he may be pleased to think the point is on the point, Sir Hibbert should be informed that some of its members are in the mind for a change, and that their gaze is fixed not on Mr. Borden, nor on himself, but on Sir James Whitney and on Mr. McBride."

Walter A. Nichol, proprietor of The Vancouver Province, interviewed in a big enough for any job in Canada. He is young, however. Mr. Nichol admitted, "only about 36, and has a good deal of hair on his head. But he has brains, ambition, a strong personality, is a magnetic speaker, and possesses the quality that makes a man apart, in the minds of his fellows, as born to lead. That he can grow into a great leader is a fact that when I went to some towns two years ago, he was regarded as a public force in a small way in his province. He grew in public esteem as he became better known, and to-day is easily the most popular man in the province. Give him a few years of experience in Ottawa and I wouldn't like to see how far Dick McBride would go."

The Bobsaygreen Independent is always outspoken and independent and has consistently supported many of the reforms and policies advocated by the party in South York. It believes that the Conservative party needs a shaking up and delivers itself upon subject in the following breezy paragraph:

There is talk of Hibbert Tupper taking the lead of the Conservative party at Ottawa. Such a change would make the Liberal opportunity at Ottawa next to a permanency. Mr. Borden is a creditable, respectable leader, but what he needs is a gap enough to rid himself of the Tupper, Foster, Haggart faction, and to establish himself with an advanced policy of government by the people, as opposed to railway rule, capitalist rule, church rule, and the like. He is only in their element when in a pool of political filth. The country is not yet so debased as to respond to that element, and it is to be hoped that Borden took more inspiration from Mr. Maclean he would get nearer to the pulse of the people.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson has been in the city for several days. He is in excellent health, and naturally much gratified over the results of the election. His policy of having the I.C.R. take over the branch lines in the maritime provinces has proved a quite popular one by a big majority. He is bearing with great philosophy the defeat of his former colleague, Mr. Fowler.

New Brunswick politics are even more "crazy-quilted" just now than usual. In the recent by-elections Hon. John Morrisey, one of the cabinet ministers, opposed the candidate favored by Premier Hazen. He justifies his course by saying that the Hazen government came to power as a coalition government.

Some curious misfortunes have attended the new government. So long ago they sent a man to Kentucky to Speculation Affects Money Market Surplus Reserves Fall to 28 p.c.

European Holders Are Not Particularly Pleased With Situation in New York.

World Office, Saturday Evening, Dec. 6. The New York stock market is beginning to show signs of irregularity. A dip of considerable dimension occurred on Wednesday afternoon, since which time a group of what are termed the "Goulds" have served the purpose of keeping up the outside bullish interest in the market.

It is a matter of some importance when sizing up this market to notice that several of prominent speculative stocks, such as St. Paul, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific, in the railroads, and Copper and Smelters in the industrial, are not as high as they were a few weeks ago. This action is suggestive of distribution of the leaders, while sentiment is kept intact by rallies in the "cans and dogs."

Last week's bank statement was the first indication that speculation was beginning to have any real effect upon the money market. From 32 per cent. a few weeks ago, the surplus reserves had fallen to about 28 per cent. This fact, together with heavy interest in the loans, has caused caution to be exercised by those who take a long view of the market for long-term securities.

RICH GIFTS IN SUPERB FURS

Dineen's Name on a Xmas Gift
Makes it Especially Acceptable

Dineen's reputation as Canada's greatest furrier was not made by simply turning out stylish looking garments, but by furnishing absolute quality in fur. His efforts to give his customers their money's worth start with the trapper from whom he personally selects, through salaried representatives, the pelts finally used in the big factory. The rest is easy, for good fur artists can be procured from Paris, London or New York if you pay the wages demanded—and Dineen does that.

You can easily appreciate how extensive is the grasp Dineen has of the fur business if you visit the superb Xmas display now in the showrooms. The rich quality of the furs, their warm coloring and the way the different pelts are matched in each garment, large and small, testifies to endless effort on his part to supply only the best fur procurable.

The models from which the different garments were designed are advanced Parisian and London styles—not too exaggerated, but just what are worn by the best costumed women of those cities.

Take into consideration that for fifty years we have been buying fur skins—buying them direct from the trapper—and you'll understand the weight and justice of our claim to supremacy in our particular line of business—you'll appreciate Dineen's name on a fur garment. This Xmas display outclasses anything ever attempted by us, and in point of fashionable designs, rare furs and superb tailoring has never been approached by any other makers of fur garments in Canada.

To give an entire inventory of our stock would take most of this paper. We give a partial list of the immense stock:
