FRENCH WON IN BRISK CONTEST UNDER GROUND

Germans Cleared Out of Subterranean Works Near Douaumont.

ATTACK FORESTALLED

Curtain of Fire at Cote du Poivre—Haucourt Village Lost.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. LONDON, April 6.—Fighting under the ground, the French today cleared the Germans out of passages which they had constructed in the earth southwest of Fort Douaumont on a front of 500 metres (540 yards) to a depth of 300 metres (325 yards). The fighting here was hand-to-hand and it took the form of a series of small engagements. The Germans attempted to regain the ground that they had lost by a counter attack at the end of the day, but this manoeuvre was foiled.

Cote du Poivre (Pepper Hill) west of Douaumont and east of the Meuse, which covers the Bras Junction of roads, was also subjected to a heavy bombardment during the course of the day, but the French, foreseeing that the enemy planned an attack on it, threw out a curtain of fire which prevented him from going out of his trenches.

Salient Bombaraded. The Bethincourt salient was persistently bombarded by the Germans, as well as Ennes and Montzeville Villages, west of the Meuse. The French exploded a mine in the Vauquois region in the Argonne.

Foe Attacks Haucourt. German troops got into Haucourt Village, northwest of Verdun, last night. Their attack on Bethincourt Village was repulsed. The fighting in which they gained Haucourt, which was held as a French outpost, took the shape of many violent assaults in which their losses were heavy.

The French offset the success at Haucourt by carrying the entire DESBERTER SENT TO JAIL. SHEERBROOKE, Que., April 6.—James Moran, alias Devine, alias Malone, who has been found guilty of desertion from E. T. Battalion, was sent to jail for 10 months by Judge Mulvany today.

WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

GETTING into the stride of victory, the British Tigris corps, under command of Lieut.-Gen. Sir George F. Goringe, who has succeeded Gen. Aylmer, followed up its success at the Turkish position of Umm-el-Henna, in Mesopotamia, by pushing on at nightfall Wednesday and carrying the Felahie positions, 6000 yards beyond the scene of the first encounter. The British had still to attack the Sannayat position, 6000 yards beyond Felahie, when General Lake penned his report. The British third division, under Gen. Keary, also took by assault the Turkish positions lying across the River Tigris from Felahie, and repulsed a strong counter-attack of the enemy. The British then consolidated the ground.

Heavy was the fighting for the Umm-el-Henna position, which had been strongly fortified by the Turks. It consisted of five lines of trenches, and had its left flank resting on the Suwaich marsh, and its right flank resting on the Tigris River. The front trenches were nine feet deep, and the whole system extended in successive lines for a depth of 2500 yards. The British had pushed forward their trenches by means of saps to within 100 yards of the Turkish position, and the leading battalions of the 13th division then rushed the first and second lines of the Turks in quick succession. In an hour the British had captured the third line by means of concentrated artillery and machine gun fire, and the same division, continuing its advance, in another hour had driven the Turks out of their third and fifth lines.

Transferring their active operations from the surface to under the ground, French troops drove the Germans out of subterranean works, which they had constructed or penetrated southwest of Douaumont, along a front of about 1600 by 950 feet yesterday, and repulsed a German counter-attack undertaken at the end of the day, when the supports of the foe had arrived. A heavy German bombardment of Cote du Poivre (Pepper Hill) betraying the intentions of the enemy to assault this position, the French turned on the tap of their curtain of fire and frustrated his designs. The capture of the Haucourt Vil-

SPEECH OF CHANCELLOR NOT LIKED IN GERMANY

Serious Trouble in Belgium Anticipated as Result of Remarks.

LONDON, April 6, 11.15 p.m.—An Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. says: "The German papers are disappointed that the imperial German chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, said nothing in his Reichstag speech about Admiral Von Tirpitz, or the submarine policy as affecting America and Holland. The Radical papers fear that the chancellor's remarks about helping the Flemish people to free themselves from French bondage will cause serious trouble in Belgium."

JUDGE ELLIOTT'S WIFE DEAD.

LONDON, Ont., April 6.—Mrs. Lillian Elliott, wife of Judge Edward Elliott, junior judge of Middlesex County, died suddenly late today.

BRITISH GAINED FELAHIE WORKS BY NIGHT RUSH

General Sir Geo. F. Goringe Has Third Turk Position to Take.

SURPRISE DASH WINS

Five Lines, Mile and Half Deep, Carried in Two Hours.

LONDON, April 6.—The Town of Felahie, in Mesopotamia, has been captured by the British, it was announced officially today.

All the positions gained have been consolidated and counter-attacks by the Turks repulsed. The official statement says: "Gen. Lake reports that the Tigris corps, under the command of Lieut.-Gen. Sir George F. Goringe, who succeeded Gen. Aylmer, attacked the enemy's entrenched position at Umm-el-Henna on April 5. Our trenches had been pushed forward by means of saps to within 100 yards of the enemy's position and the leading battalions of the 13th division then rushed the enemy's first and second lines in quick succession.

"The third line was captured by 6 a.m., under the support of concentrated artillery and machine gun fire. The 13th division continued their advance, and by 7 a.m. had driven the enemy out of his fourth and fifth lines.

"Aeroplane reconnaissance then reported that the enemy was strongly reinforcing his entrenchments at Felahie and the positions respectively 6000 and 12,000 yards from the front trenches at Umm-el-Henna. As these positions could only be approached over very open ground, Gen. Goringe ordered a further attack deferred until evening.

"In the morning on the right bank, the third division, under Gen. Keary, captured the enemy's trenches opposite the Felahie position. During the afternoon the enemy on this bank made a strong counter-attack with infantry and cavalry, supported by guns. This counter-attack was successfully repulsed and the position won was consolidated.

"On the morning of April 6, Gen. Goringe continued his forward movement on the left bank and carried the Felahie position.

"The reports indicate that the Umm-el-Henna position was strongly entrenched, its left flank resting on the Suwaich marsh, and its right on the river. The front trenches are stated to be nine feet deep and the whole extended in successive lines for a depth of 2500 yards.

BRITISH M.P.'S OPPOSE ABOLITION OF SALARIES

Sir Frederick Banbury Accused of Breaking Party Truce by Proposal.

DEFEATED DECISIVELY. Bonar Law Scented Move to Get Rid of Present Government.

LONDON, April 6, 7.08 p.m.—During discussion in the house of commons today of the motion presented by the chancellor of the exchequer, Reginald McKenna, that no member of the house should receive a parliamentary salary, and also payment as a member of the army or navy, but must elect which he would receive, a stiff breeze arose among the Unionist members owing to Sir Frederick Banbury moving an amendment seeking the abolition of payment to members of parliament altogether.

This question of abolition has a large number of supporters among the Unionist members, but the Banbury amendment was denounced by some of the Unionists as a breach of the party truce.

Andrew Bonar Law, the colonial secretary, rebuked Sir Frederick Banbury for raising the question. He said that if Sir Frederick's object was to get rid of the present government he should do it openly and upon an issue big enough that the Unionists should not be ashamed.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, also characterized the amendment as mean and inopportune, and finally the amendment was rejected, 247 to 92.

SOLDIERS' QUARTERS BURNED.

Large Hotel at Broughton, N. S., Was Destroyed.

SYDNEY, N.S., April 6.—The Broughton Arms, the principal building at the mining town of Broughton, where the 15th Battalion is quartered, was destroyed by fire this afternoon. The building, which was a large structure, containing over 200 rooms, contained the hospital, officers' quarters, mess rooms for two companies and recreation rooms. The cause of the fire is not known, but it is attributed to a defective chimney, which did not spread beyond the hotel.

RAILWAY FRANCHISE BILL.

The City of Windsor bill to cut off the franchise of the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway in 1922 was held over by the private bills committee of the legislature yesterday, until next week, that the city and the company might come to a compromise. The franchise was perpetual.

U.S. TO FORCE ISSUE WITH GEN. CARRANZA

Denial of Withdrawal of Troops From Mexico So Interpreted.

EXPEDITION HALTING. Question of Transportation of Supplies Must First Be Solved.

EL PASO, Tex., April 6.—Secretary Lansing's denial that the government was considering the withdrawal of the troops from Mexico was received here with a feeling of relief. Two classes, especially army officers and American refugees, were emphatic in their pleasure over the official quietus which has been put on the persistent reports that the Pershing expedition was to be abandoned.

There is only one interpretation put on Secretary Lansing's announcement here, that it means a prompt forcing to an issue with General Carranza of the railroad problem.

As far as can be gleaned from the meagre despatches from the front and from unofficial Mexican sources, the pursuit of Villa, as far as the Americans are concerned, has reached a stage of marking time until the question of supplies transportation is solved.

Washington and not Guerrero is the focus for all eyes on the border at present. The belief is general that everything now depends on the outcome of the negotiations between Secretary Lansing and General Carranza, and that it is imperative that they be brought to a conclusion in the near future.

Announcements Made in the Legislature Last Night—Contentious Clauses Left Over for Consideration—New License Board.

Sept. 16 is the day fixed for the prohibition bill to go into effect. The referendum on prohibition will be taken on the first Monday in June, 1919.

These announcements were made in the legislature yesterday after the house had been considering the non-contentious clauses of the bill through the afternoon and evening sessions. Few criticisms were raised by the opposition. Clauses over which there appeared that there might be differences of opinion were left over for further deliberation.

The main points left undecided were with regard to native wines, the definition of the private dwelling house, as to the percentage of alcohol to be allowed in non-intoxicating liquors, and as to what intoxicants lodgers would be allowed to keep in their rooms.

Wanted It Sooner. N. W. Rowell, leader of the opposition, expressed regret that prohibition would not go into effect sooner. The government had decided to leave it until the middle of September to give the license-holders time to dispose of their stock on hand. "With the time given the license-holders should receive this in the spirit the house gives it, and feel that they have received fair treatment," said Mr. Rowell.

The referendum could not fairly be taken until a considerable time after the war, said the provincial secretary. By the time fixed most of the soldiers would probably be back from the front and they would have had ample time to give the act a fair trial and to get on the voters' lists.

Favored Compensation. A clause would be introduced repealing the present License Act in the meantime, said Hon. Mr. Hanna. If it were found that the province did demand license back the present holders of license should be given the first chance when licenses were given out again.

Mr. Rowell said that he would have preferred to have seen the license holders compensated in some way other than that prohibition should have been delayed so long. "The whole act is so important and so far-reaching in its effect, and the date is later than I thought it would be, I would not wish to mar the general good feeling in the matter by dividing the house in a matter of this kind," he said.

There will be another section to be added and some important changes to be made in some sections," said the provincial secretary. "We intend to add a clause that the referendum will be taken on the first Monday in June, 1919. That will leave it subject to change if there is imperative need for it."

Hard Pill to Swallow. Sam West: "I think the honorable member has done mighty well in handling this bill. He has had a mighty hard pill to swallow, but he'll digest it all right."

Present licenses to breweries and distilleries would not be suspended. (Continued on Page 4, Column 1).

Sun and Dust Are Bad for Furs--The Time Has Come to Store Them!

The Big Cold Air Vaults Are Ready, Affording Natural Winter Temperature Throughout the Summer Months

NOT ONLY to MORTALS does Spring prove a trying season. It is distinctly hard on the health of furs. The sun is liable to spoil their lustre. The dust is certain to soil them. By the time they are laid aside they are verily in need of just such treatment as that to which they are subjected when entering our Big Vaults for Summer storage.

Before they are admitted every garment is thoroughly cleaned to rid it of all grime. It is vigorously beaten to restore the gloss. Carefully adjusted on a separate hanger, it is then consigned to the spacious regions where throughout the coming months is maintained the clear, cold temperature of the native haunts of the seal and the polar bear—the crisp, wintry temperature in which all peltries best thrive.

It is not difficult to realize the immense advantage of thus storing your furs in the vaults—coat, neckpiece, muff, fur-lined wrap, cap, gauplets, whatsoever they may be. Compare it with the amateur method of packing them away in some hot, close storeroom where pets dry and moths are a serious risk!

And the charge is but 3 per cent. of a fair valuation of the furs, which you wish stored.

ONTARIO GOES DRY ON SEPTEMBER SIXTEENTH

Prohibition Takes Effect That Date and Referendum in Nineteen-Nineteen.

ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY

Contentious Clauses Have Been Left Over for Further Consideration.

...the provincial secretary in answer to a question from the leader of the opposition.

The provincial secretary said that the bill, he would not yet announce the names of the new license board.

Point Not Quite Clear.

William McDonald (North Bruce), at the opening of the discussion, asked the attorney-general if the provincial government had power to prohibit the manufacture of intoxicating liquor in Ontario.

Hon. J. B. Lucas passed the question on to the provincial secretary, who answered that the point was not clear. They had considered the matter and had decided to leave it out of the bill.

Had they included in their prohibitive measure prohibition of the manufacture of intoxicating liquor, the question might have been fought through the courts to the privy council, where they might have found that the province had wider powers than they presently thought it had.

When the house in committee of the whole went into the discussion of the non-contentious clauses, the attorney-general, Hon. Mr. Hanna said that the bill would not take effect until the 1st of September, 1916.

A deputation of wholesale druggists had waited outside the legislature to urge that their present status should not be interfered with. They had suggested that the bill should not take effect until the 1st of September, 1916.

In answer to Mr. Rowell, Hon. Mr. Hanna said that the question of native wines had been one of the most difficult of the bill.

Such a thing, he said, would be very difficult to do. He would be very glad to state what figures would be left in the bill for the percentage of alcohol to be allowed in other liquors.

Not to Keep Record.

Hon. Mr. Hanna, in answer to a question from Mr. Rowell, that no provision had been made in the bill for the keeping of a record of persons who had been licensed to sell alcohol.

Mr. Rowell: "It is very important that a complete record of all alcohol received and sold should be kept."

"I don't know whether it is a sudden burst of virtue," said Hon. Mr. Hanna, "but I think it is very important that a complete record of all alcohol received and sold should be kept."

Losses Up a Little.

Mr. Rowell: "It is very important that a complete record of all alcohol received and sold should be kept."

Mr. Rowell: "It is very important that a complete record of all alcohol received and sold should be kept."

Mr. Rowell: "It is very important that a complete record of all alcohol received and sold should be kept."

Mr. Rowell: "It is very important that a complete record of all alcohol received and sold should be kept."

every one who offended against the license law except doctors would be "blind piggers."

As to the personnel of the license board, can tell you who I have in mind," said the provincial secretary.

Hon. T. W. McGarry's bill to authorize loans of the credit of the province for $2,000,000 for general purposes and $2,000,000 for war tax purposes was introduced.

The following resolution, submitted by Vice-President Walter Brown of the boot and shoe workers, and seconded by Business Agent W. Higgin of the local MacIntoshes, was adopted: "Whereas labor unions in Canada have, through their officers, made repeated attempts to have incorporated in all munition contracts being manufactured here, a fair wage clause that would ensure the payment of fair wages to the workers; and whereas the government should be urged to resort to the 'high-handed' procedure of investigating complaints of the workmen."

A recruiting depot is being set up at Exhibition camp, also a cook and baker. Delegates of Trades and Labor Protest Against Passing of Industrial Disputes Act.

PRESIDENT CRITICIZED

Urge Government to Have Fair Wage Conditions Lived Up to by Manufacturers.

Delegates of the District Trades and Labor Council who attended the meeting last night in the Labor Temple severely criticized the action of President James Watters and the executive committee of the Dominion Congress for the ground they took regarding the complaints of the Toronto delegates at a previous meeting of the council. At a recent session to the officers of the congress asking that they urge the government to have fair wage conditions lived up to by manufacturers. President Watters and his staff refused to comply with the request of the council, and in the meantime the order-in-council enforcing all workmen under the Industrial Disputes Act was passed in the house at Ottawa.

The Toronto council claim that a conference of international representatives should have been held before any such legislation was enacted. By the order-in-council the delegates declare the government was not responsible, and place the blame on the congress for failing to notify them that such legislation was to be brought before the house. A protest will be sent to the Dominion Congress.

Officers of different local unions who are engaged in war contracts were present at the meeting. President Watters had sided with the government, and that a new staff of officers for the congress was needed. Council appointed a committee to attend the meeting of the property committee of the board of education and protest against the suggestion made, that compulsory military and physical training be put into force in the public schools.

J. McClelland, vice-president of the Canadian Machinists' Union, was on the platform, and in his protest against the passing of the Industrial Disputes Act, said: "The Canadian Government has disclaimed all responsibility in handling the fair wage clause."

"We are preparing cases in Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal against firms whose men are working long hours and under the unfair conditions are being forced on them," he continued. "There are a great number of organized and unorganized machinists and they will continue to stand for the treatment they are receiving at present, but if satisfactory agreements are reached when the time comes they will act just as if the Industrial Disputes Act had never been put into force, and they will carry their protest to the limit despite the penalties. The Dominion Congress should good the Ottawa house with protests against the continuation of the act."

SCHEME TO DEVELOP THE NORTH COUNTRY

Government Bill Provides for Loan to Settlers on Security of Holding.

FOR CLEARING PURPOSES

Every Assistance Will Be Given Prospective Farmers on Public Land.

Mr. G. Howard Ferguson introduced his amendment to the Northern and Northwestern Ontario Development bill in the legislature yesterday. It provides for loans not exceeding $500 to settlers to assist them in clearing their land on the security of the land, and to be advanced under the authority of a statutory commissioner for the establishment of government offices throughout the north country to give information to intending settlers, and to supervise the clearing of the land. The amendment also lays down the policy of encouraging settlement only in certain townships for the increase of social life in the north country and to reduce the cost of road building.

N. W. Rowell, leader of the opposition, indicated that his party would lead their support to the amendment in competition with the prairie provinces by the heavy clearing necessary, said Hon. Mr. Ferguson. Monetary grants would assist greatly.

Best Land in World.

These are 200,000 acres of the best land in the world. In the Timiskaming district surveys showed that there were 17,000,000 acres of excellent arable land. Nine hundred thousand acres had been sold. Six thousand heads of families were in the country. During the last year about $700,000 worth of products had been raised on the farms of the north country. That showed the possibilities of that part of the province.

Took Advantage of Offer. In the seed grain experiment last year 4000 farmers had taken advantage of the government's offer of seed grain, valued in all at $80,000, on lien notes against the land. That the money had been used for the purpose intended, it was being paid back at a rate of $1500 or $2000 a day— a splendid example of the progress of north country and the thrift, the enterprise and the honesty of the settlers.

4000 settlers had asked for seed assistance last year, 400 in all the north country had asked for it this year.

The government had realized the necessity of assisting the settlers with seed stock. It planned to enable the settlers to clear their land while they were clearing the land and making his home. They thought to advance $35 to $40 in the land and the rest of the money could be no risk to the government, while the settlers would be clearing the land and making his home.

Appointment Commissioner. The government proposed to appoint a statutory commissioner to deal with these loans. To keep this matter within the limits of assistance to settlers they had decided to limit these loans to $500 to any one man.

The thought of the government was that they would be clearing the land as settlement warranted them. In this way the government would have closer supervision of settlement. It would keep intending settlers from getting off the railway at any point they chose and taking up land anywhere they might fancy. This was being done by a charge against the government, as they soon required roads, which were not to be made by the settlers.

Then, too, by keeping settlements close together the social life of the settlers would improve. It would keep the settlers in the north country if their wives were not satisfied. By keeping the settlers together they would be able to help each other in schools, churches and other social centers.

Open Information Offices. It was the plan of the government to open offices at Port Arthur, North Bay, Cochrane and other points in the north. There prospective settlers could get all the information that was needed for them. Inspectors would go out from these offices to see whether the settlers in each case should be located. They would be able to decide whether or not each particular settler should receive a loan.

Pleased Rowell. N. W. Rowell, leader of the opposition, said the speech, which he had listened to with great interest, reminded him of those he had listened to from the opposition side of the house for the last year. He reminded the house that the policy just outlined by the government had been urged by the Liberal party, to indicate what attitude his party would take toward the amendment.

CAPT. APPELBE BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

Impressive Service at Funeral of Officer of One-Ninety-Eighth Battalion.

TAKEN TO OAKVILLE
Brig.-General W. A. Logie and Other Staff Officers Were in Attendance.

With impressive military honors the funeral took place yesterday morning of the late Capt. E. F. Appelbe, 198th Battalion, who died on Tuesday from pneumonia. The burial took place in Oakville, his birth place.

The funeral service was held at the home of his brother-in-law, L. H. Robertson, 82 Admiral road, Capt. H. L. Nicholson, chaplain of the battalion, conducted the service, which was attended by Brig.-Gen. W. A. Logie and other staff officers.

The funeral cortege. The coffin was borne on a gun carriage to the Union Station. In the funeral cortege was a detail of the 198th Battalion, the brass band of the 83rd Battalion from Riverdale Barracks, and the escort of palibearers picked from C company, which Capt. Appelbe formerly commanded. The honorary palibearers were: Capt. J. S. Muir, Capt. F. J. McEachern of the 198th Battalion, Capt. Gordon Taylor, 9th Mississauga Horse. The firing party, in charge of Sgt.-Major Playfair Brown, consisting of twelve men, accompanied the remains to Oakville and fired three volleys over the grave. The battalion marched from Admiral road to the despatching of one batch of soldiers, the letter says: "It was a scene that cannot be effaced, and many and loud were the impressions hurled at the heads of Gen. Logie, Major Wilson and the other officers who were responsible. While the profanity was awful it was perhaps excusable."

CITIZENS APPROVE MAYOR'S PROTEST

Methods Used in Transporting Troops Condemned in Letters.

Mayor Church's protest against the methods pursued in transporting troops from the Toronto military district has met with the approval of a number of citizens, and he has received several letters of commendation. One says: "It is very apparent that those in charge would be more at home in shipping coals to cattle than in despatching those representatives of Canada's best and most manly sons."

Another writer stated that he went to see some soldiers off on Sunday, March 26, and he was amazed at the officers in charge of the transportation. "I struck me forcibly that those transportation officers have very little respect for the men, and I thought perhaps the city could take the matter up, and do something before another draft is made."

MOTOR CAR PRESENTED TO BANTAM BATTALION

Sunshine Circle Donated Handsome Machine for Recruiting Purposes.

In front of the city hall at noon yesterday the Sunshine Circle presented an automobile to Col. Burton's Bantam Battalion. The president, Mrs. H. O. Reade, and Mrs. J. B. Patterson, secretary, made the presentation, and a number of other members were also present.

In making the presentation the officers of the circle said that the car was for recruiting and general purposes. In replying, Col. Burton paid great tribute to the work which is being accomplished by women all over the empire, and said the gift was another evidence of the patriotism of Toronto women. Mayor Church also made an address. Afterwards the women were the guests of the officers of the battalion at luncheon.

EXPECTED AN INQUIRY INTO SHELL CONTRACTS

Sir Alex. Bertram, Chairman of Old Imperial Shell Committee, in Toronto.

REFUSES INTERVIEW

Only Declares Himself as Not Afraid of Investigation Before Royal Commission.

Sir Alex. Bertram, chairman of the old imperial shell committee, told the press at the Queen's Hotel yesterday that as far back as a year ago he expected that such an inquiry would be made into the shell contracts.

What he knew to cause such expectations, he left it to the reporter to conjecture, for he said no more on that subject. The facts as he knew them, he declared he would tell only at the investigation.

Sir Alex., who came to Toronto to attend a conference, effectively squelched any attempt at a lengthy interview. Orders at the hotel desk were that he would not see any newspapermen, nor receive any messages from them. The few remarks he did make to the press were secured in the lobby.

"I don't intend being interviewed," he declared, when addressed by the reporter. "The situation as to Gen. Hughes?" he was asked. "It looks bad. I hope he gets out of it."

"Colonel J. Wesley Allison?" "I have met him only twice. I hope he can explain when the royal commission meets. I have been expecting this to happen for a year. I am not afraid of any inquiry."

INAUGURATE DENTAL CLINICS IN SCHOOLS

Children Are Well Pleased With Their New Experience.

An epoch in the development of dental work with the Toronto school children is marked by the inauguration of portable dental clinics. The old method of treatment was to send the pupils who wished to have faulty teeth treated to one of the fifteen permanent clinics in different sections of the city. It is not intended that the portable clinic shall supersede the permanent ones, but it is merely an adjunct. The experiment has been successfully conducted at Sackville School, thanks to the co-operation of Principal A. W. B. Dean and staff. No complaint was made by the children; on the contrary, they appeared well pleased with their new experience.

CLAIM NEW BRIDGE DAMAGED BUSINESS

Further evidence was taken yesterday by Official Arbitrator P. H. Drayton, K.C., in connection with the claim of McColl Bros & Co. against the city for damages to their business caused by the building of the high level bridge over the Don on Queen street.

Frank P. Foucher, manager of the National Trust Company, gave it as his opinion that the land was worth $30,240, an average of $135 a foot, and the buildings $45,000.

He believed that going away with the level crossing had increased rather than decreased the value of the property.

Additional evidence will be taken at a date to be set by the arbitrator.

WATSON WATER LOTS ARE PART OF CITY

Decided by Private Bills Committee Yesterday—Owners Cannot Charge Exorbitant Price.

The Watson water lots at the mouth of the Humber, property necessary to completion of the work of the harbor commission, are part of the City of Toronto and not of the County of York. They can therefore be expropriated at the price fixed by the arbitration in 1911 that is between $115,000 and $155,000, and the owners cannot charge an exorbitant price, as they might do if the lots lay outside the city limits and so beyond the city's power to expropriate. The matter was decided after animated debate in the private bills committee of the legislature by a vote of 25 to 13 yesterday.

L. S. Fairly, for the city, said the trouble had arisen over a mistake in the boundary line made in 1903. On the strength of this, he said, the city was endeavoring to upset the arbitration proceedings. The estate, had, however, paid taxes to the city since 1903, acknowledging that the property was within the city. H. H. Dewar, K.C., appeared for the estate. A. C. McMaster, for the harbor board, said that the property was absolutely necessary to the completion of the plans of the board.

The lots had been purchased for $150,000.

QUEBEC-SAGUENAY LINE IS TO BE TAKEN OVER

Sir Rodolphe Forget Says So, But He May Be Wrong.

OTTAWA, April 6.—"The government is going to take over the Quebec and Saguenay Railway, has already taken part of our terminals in Quebec," stated Sir Rodolphe Forget this afternoon.

"What are they going to do with it?" Sir Rodolphe was asked. "Use it as an extension of the Transcontinental and make Murray Bay winter port," was the reply.

Sir Rodolphe's statement today, it may be observed, is not the absolute declaration of his to that effect. Previously his prediction was somewhat astray; he is head of the road in question.

Self Poisoning by Food
The food which is taken to nourish the body and keep up vigor and strength becomes a poison to the system when digestion fails. You feel drowsy after meals, lose appetite, suffer from constipation, have pains in the bowels and through the body. Instead of being digested, the food ferments and gives rise to gas or wind on the stomach, which crowds about the heart, causing suffocating feelings and derangements of the heart's action.

Resort to aids to digestion cannot afford more than temporary relief, for the trouble is caused by torpid, sluggish action of the liver and bowels. These organs must be awakened so that they will filter the Jemima as a Comforter.

JULIA calls on me every few weeks to make her little moan. She is in a bad way because she married before she cut her wisdom fangs. And her husband is at the front, because, as I see it, Julia was too fresh. I don't mind her tale of woe, for it helps me to be cautious myself. Husbands don't frequent the movies after marriage nor revel in ice cream. Some of them regard extra expense as felony. When the electro-plating wears off the brass shows up everywhere except the pocket. This was what Julia was up against.

Not that I think Julia's Jim got all of a square deal. She could hug him with one hand and pick his pockets with the other. She had no conscience about hats, and her dresses broke his heart. Now she's afraid he'll be shot, and she lives on her separation allowance. And she saves up nickels to buy him a ring when he comes home. They may be needed for a wooden leg.

She hasn't the right grip on things yet. Maybe it would be better for them both if he was shot and their fight was finished.

Still, I comfort her and tell her it wasn't all her fault. And the angels fought in heaven once on a time. Julia is improving, and if Jim does not come back for seven years Julia will be ready about that time to cook him three meals a day. Jemima Jones.

WOMEN WILL SUPPORT MADE IN CANADA TOYS

Representatives From Various Organizations in Hearty Accord With Toy Exhibit.

AN ANNUAL EVENT

Manufacturers and Those Interested Present From All Parts of Dominion—Yesterday.

Responding to an invitation from Watson Griffin, who represents Sir George Foster at the toy exhibit, now in progress, a large number of women representatives of various women's organizations, met in the assembly hall of the board of trade yesterday afternoon with the object of discussing what might be done for the purpose of giving preference to toys made in Canada.

Addressing the meeting, Mr. Griffin stated that in the past many of the toys used in Canada have come from Germany, where a toy fair had been held annually to which buyers from the United States and Canada were in the habit of going for the purpose of getting supplies. Mr. Griffin thought that the purpose of the toy exhibit was to secure from the United States by the speaker and T. H. O'Neil of the T. Eaton Co., and so the credit of Canada it had been commented upon by women who had visited the exhibition that the "made in Canada" copies were in many cases equal to the original models.

To procure the exhibit departmental stores from Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and other cities, as well as the manufacturers, had been communicated with and the goods and those interested had been gathered. It now remained for the women to do their part, because on them depended greatly the success or failure of the movement.

An Annual Event. When the subject was left open for discussion Mrs. H. D. Warren was elected to the chair. Mrs. Willoughby Cummings suggested a resolution, which later was adopted, embodying the matter publicly and the part women might play in pushing the "Made in Canada" toys to the fore. The suggestion that the toy exhibit become an annual event was made by Mrs. J. E. Elliott, and a rider to this suggestion by Miss Church remained for the women to do their part of the national exhibition.

Demonstration of what has been done eighteen months ago in the matter of doll-making was given by Miss Claire McColl, who had a well-made "Jack Tar" in model sailor suit, which she showed was absolutely unbreakable by rapping it several times procured eighteen months ago from a small firm on Queen street. The doll, about fourteen inches high, had been purchased for forty cents, the suit cost and the uniformed "Jackie" had sold at the women's art bazaar for a dollar.

Representing the Local Council of Women, Mrs. A. M. Huestia, in supporting the movement, reminded the meeting that they must be prepared to pay a little more than they had been in the habit of paying for imported toys, many of which had become bent and who were old before they had had a chance to be young.

Greater Durability. From the point of view of the kindergarten, Miss McIntyre of the model school, emphasized the need for much more durability in the toys sometimes brought to school, and had to be replaced two or three times in a week. This taught extravagance, she said, and she would like to see a kind to satisfy the child in his constructive nature. Miss Sanderson thought the teacher could assist in giving publicity to the Canada-made articles.

Mrs. Torrington spoke of the work of the Dominion Toy Shop, whose development she had watched for some time, and Mrs. A. M. Ormsby thought the firm would be glad to show representatives of women's societies through their factory to watch the entire evolution of the doll.

Mrs. Fox, "Watkins," made a plea for thought in the matter of giving the child food for exercising his constructive faculties and giving it true idealism. For example, she would not dress a doll except according to the best idea of the manner in which a child should be dressed.

Representatives from the University Women's Club and the Women's Canadian Club were also present.

A Good Resolution. Finally a resolution was moved by Mrs. Torrington and seconded by Mrs. F. B. Johnston, to the effect that as women are the chief purchasers of toys they have it in their power to assist or hamper the "made in Canada" principle in respect to toys; also that the organization had learned with satisfaction that the manufacturers who had dolls and toys at the fair, had agreed to use a "Made in Canada" stamp. The meeting, therefore, requested the department of trade and commerce to bring the matter to the knowledge of as many women as possible thru women's clubs, institutes, etc. Assurance was also given that those present would do all possible to support and give publicity to the movement.

Regarding imported toys, the feeling was strong that after the war German toys should remain tabooed, and that the allies only should be sought in the way of market.

Mrs. Plumtree pointed out that it should be insisted on that the allies—Japan for example—give us their really beautiful native products, and not the crude things which we get supposedly under the impression that such are the things we enjoy.

Supporting Manufacturers. Attention was also drawn to the necessity and justice of supporting the manufacturers who might put in expensive plants, and that custom must not be temporary but permanent.

A further resolution, embodying suggestions adopted, was drawn up by Mrs. Willoughby Cummings.

How She Used Striped Material to Make a Striking Separate Skirt.

"EAST, west, home's best." Each time that I come back from a visit I am sentimental over home. Even the "eye-sores" like the cow-painters in the hall and the white marble bust of Holofernes, appear lovely to me. I didn't feel a bit apologetic to the Editor-Man for our library, although it is a horrible potpourri of Colonial, Flemish and Jacobean, the furniture being wedding presents from members of the family and every piece has to be in evidence. The Editor-Man didn't seem to mind it. He studied himself in a comfortable chair opposite Dad and they were soon talking away like "two old cronies." My fond parent found much to amuse him in the account of my Sunday when I saw the Editor-Man on the same train bound for my home town.

We were several miles on our way before I noticed him. I was so busy making sketches of separate skirts. The day before I left I bought some blue and white striped tweed and wanted to see how it could be used. The Editor-Man told Dad that he had been postponing this business trip for a long time, but the prospect of having such a charming traveling companion convinced him to decide in a day to delay it no longer. He added that he wasn't sure whether he had lived down the unfavorable "first impression" and the only way to tell was to take me unawares and note whether the surprise was pleasant or otherwise.

I was glad to see him of course. A two days' journey on a train becomes very tiresome with no one to talk to. Yesterday morning I finished the skirt which I was designing on the train when the Editor-Man appeared, and wore it to the Country Club in the afternoon. He recognized it from the sketch and said that it was "unusual and becoming."

When I bought the striped Scotch tweed I made up my mind to make it up into "something different." The result is a stunning skirt with horizontal stripes and stripes on the bias. I cut the skirt in two sections with seams in the back and front. The diagonal stripes match perfectly, and I reinforced the seams by stitching a band of lace on the wrong side, so that there would be no danger of their stretching.

Then I gathered the skirt at the top over each hip, fitting it smoothly across the back and front, and made a yoke with the stripes running horizontally. This is formed of two pieces extending much longer over the hips. I used rows of small, cloth-covered buttons to outline the seams of the yoke.

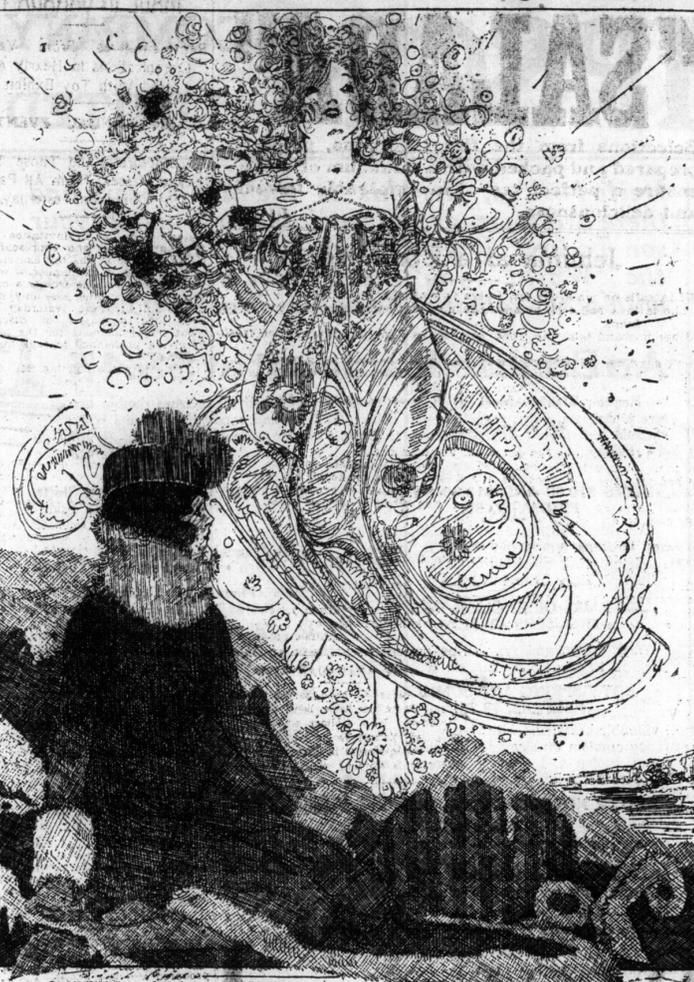

Two slashes in the front of the yoke embroidered with dark blue silk form sham pockets, which add a smart touch to the skirt.

I stitched an eight-inch band of the horizontal-striped material about the hem, and sent the skirt to the tailor's to be pressed.

My blouse of white Georgette crepe with a tie of blue grosgrain ribbon, and my new sports hat look very well with this skirt.

Father is taking the Editor-Man to his club "smoker" tonight, which is a sure sign that he likes him.

THE VISION * By Will Nies

THE chrysalis dreams in its wrappings of the butterfly it will be. The flowers dream in the woodlands of the beauties they soon will disclose. The earth may dream in its dawn-colored dress of the new birth that will wake it soon. The girl dreams in her winter wraps of what one day will make new.

Just WHEN does Spring begin? Like the springtime of life, it's always preparing. For each it begins at a DIFFERENT hour. It isn't the day ALONE; it's the day plus the HEART. It's when the first soft breeze meets the one who understands — when the first sign meets the eye that can see. For half of REALITY is the VISION. And half of life — and love — is the ability to dream-wish.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT The Uselessness of Leap Year

Copyrighted, 1916, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

WHY girls, it's leap year! I'd forgotten all about it, hadn't you? I don't think I ever did know much about leap year. Didn't have to; did you? Did any woman that you ever knew really?

Let's see, there's the girl your brother married, the clever brother who invents things, the student, the bookworm who was never wild to go to parties and who hated the very sight of a dress suit.

You and your mother thought he never would marry, and your father knew he wouldn't. So did your brother himself? He was positive of it.

But the little girl who came to visit the set eyes on brother she thought she'd marry somebody, and she said she'd marry the somebody who would look a good deal like him. Pleasant little thing, shy and retiring and — ah — not exactly what you would call brilliant, but neat and nice and as good as gold — missionary meetings, don't you know — byrnes Sunday night and the Sunday school superintendent to bring her home from choir practice — that sort of thing.

Brother never went to church. Brother is an agnostic, or at least he was. He isn't now — not in public. He's been married a year, and he goes to church every Sunday morning, and last Wednesday night he went to prayer meeting with her.

Did he marry her? No, she married him, and she didn't wait for leap year to do it. She just sat in the hammock and looked awe-struck when he talked science to her brother. And the time he had the tooth-ache and you and your mother were away for the week-end, she went and heated a salt bag for him to put to his face, and somehow or other that —

Did you never notice it before? I have, lots of times. The man thinks he does the proposing, but, nine times out of ten, he only thinks who knows him could tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth — only he'd never believe it. People so seldom do.

Ask your father about it. He's been married a long time and he isn't sensitive. Don't ask your mother. Of course, she'll tell you that father pursued her day and night and wouldn't give her an instant's peace or quiet till she put him out of his misery promising to be his. Well, perhaps that's a fact, but if she hadn't run so fast and hadn't made so much noise doing it father might never have thought of running after her. And if you think mother didn't know that, you don't know much about women, even if you're one yourself and had one for a mother.

I don't believe a man ever looked twice at a woman with love in his eyes without the woman feeling it and knowing just exactly what it meant, even if she had on an automobile veil at the time and the man was wearing the thickest pair of motor goggles ever invented.

The only time the woman doesn't propose, really, is when she doesn't want to marry the man. Sometimes she marries him, then, to please him, or to get rid of him, or to spite some one else, and I don't know which one I pity the most, the woman or the man.

Of course, a woman is more expert in love than a man. Love is a woman's business and it's a man's pastime. The stupidest, dullest, gawkiest of schoolgirls in the world knows more about love by instinct than the cleverest man who ever tried to dissect the human heart will ever know, if he studies a thousand years and breaks his own heart a dozen times trying to learn.

I know a nice, staid, quiet young man, who thinks he's going to marry the nice, staid, quiet young girl his mother has picked out for him. Love with him because she's tired of men of the world and what it means, one who will be domestic. I saw the widow making up her mind about it the other night at a party.

I'm not worrying about the staid young girl. She was making up her mind the same evening, and the man in it was not, by any means, the staid young man her mother had picked out for her.

The staid young girl intends to marry the judge who's been on the bench for twenty years, lives at his club and has had several interesting stories floating around about him for the last decade. In less than a year from now that judge will be wondering how on earth he ever persuaded the staid little creature to marry such a gay old dog as he has been, and he'll do his very best to make up to her for the years he threw away before she met him.

He'll be very nervous at first, for fear she'll find out a few things he'd rather she wouldn't know. He needn't be nervous. She'll never hear anything out that isn't perfectly convenient for her to know. She's heard all about him already. I saw it in her eye when she was waiting, and — whisper — that's why she's determined to marry him and "save" him. His doom is sealed. He might as well give up right now.

Leap Year — did anybody ever take advantage of it in the world, I wonder? Did they ever have to?

Oh, yes, I suppose Abelard thought himself a dreadful villain for pursuing Heloise with his earthly love, but I'll warrant Heloise stopped at every corner and looked back to see if he was running after her fast enough.

What a time Romeo did make about that balcony. I suppose he really thought Juliet hadn't an idea he was there when he began that charming soliloquy all about him, out there in the moonlight, oh, nonsense! She heard him on the other side of the wall and got rid of the nurse in plenty of time to be becomingly posed when he leaped into the garden.

Leap year! No real woman ever had to wait for it or ever will, did she, or will she, girls?

How Unattractive Mouths May Be Made Beautiful

BY LUCREZIA BORI

Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

THERE is an irresistible charm about a beautiful mouth. No matter how unattractive the face may be, if the mouth is well shaped and the lips smiling and rosy with the glow of health, the face will never be lacking in beauty.

The mouth is one feature that you can make or mar. It is the color of your eyes or the bone structure of your nose, but you can change the shape of your mouth.

If your mouth needs remodeling, sit before a mirror and study it well so that you may know just where to begin. Do not do this in a hasty, nervous, center your gaze upon the corners. Do they turn up in a pleasing, natural smile, or do they droop, giving the mouth a peevish, discontented expression?

Value of a Smile.

Too many women are prone to overlook the potent charm of the smile in their efforts to appear dignified or to acquire the bored, blasé expression reflected by the so-called "fashionables." There is nothing so lovely as the sweet, elusive smile that comes and goes with every emotion. It brightens the plainest of faces in the most amazing way.

Do not mean to say that anyone should imitate the permanent, fixed smile of the pretty girl on the magazine cover. Far from it! This innate, stilted expression is to be avoided, but the natural smile that starts from within and escapes thru the lips and eyes has the same effect upon the face as the ray of sunshine which pierces a heavy blanket of mist.

Learn to keep the corners of your mouth lifted. Whenever you feel out of sorts and discouraged with things in general, your natural happy nature takes a slump, and with it the corners of your mouth. You are inclined to draw your lips together in a firm, determined line that chases away happiness, youth and dimples. Even your friends will not care to associate with you when you are in this mood.

Control of Negative Emotions.

You must learn to control your negative emotions if you desire to have a beautiful mouth. Always keep the muscles about the mouth relaxed and your lips closed in a cheerful smile. You need have no fear of the heavy, fretful, worry wrinkles gathering about the corners of your mouth if you keep this advice in mind.

"Please, teacher," answered James, "I'd make a dash after it."

Today's Fashion

THE ruffled dance-frock continues to hold its popularity. Flounce upon flounce of flame-colored silk tulle is arranged over a foundation of cloth of silver in the creation of this stunning frock.

The bodice is half-veiled with the tulle over a corsage of silver cloth bordered with rhinestones. Double frills trim the short sleeves, and a girde of flame-colored velvet defines the waist-line.

tour and your entire face will become so radiant that friends will gather about you as naturally as bees hover about the flowers. There is nothing more infectious than a smile.

Besides improving the shape of your mouth, smiling will compel youth to linger with you. Joy, optimism and youth are synonymous. It is the woman who retains the childlike faculty of looking on the bright side of things who never grows old.

Again, let me impress upon you the unattractiveness of the affected, artificial smile. It will never improve the shape of your mouth. Only the kind, friendly smile of the person who walks thru life with the wish to be happy and to promote the happiness of others possesses this magic power.

CORRECT!

The class was having a lesson in punctuation. "Who can tell me how to punctuate the following sentence," asked the teacher: "A five-dollar bill flew round the corner?"

"Please, teacher," answered James, "I'd make a dash after it."

Tailored Models Fashioned From Milan, Tagel and Hair Straw.

There is a great deal to be said in favor of the pretty novelty straws being used in spring millinery models. The color range has proven a most interesting one—the range of navy is already assured—and there is a large following for each of the other popular shades, including gray, ponce, chertreuse, black and white, jungle brown, and rose. Green, too, is a much-favored shade, and in summary models considerable emphasis is placed on the vogue of pastel tints.

But much of the style and effectiveness of the hat is undoubtedly secured by the correct use of straw. Certain types of close-fitting toques, for instance, would fail to give the required "smart" effect, if a soft, characterless weave of straw were used, while the whole aspect is quite distinguished looking when a bright firm straw in modish color and weight is employed.

Generally speaking, the severe tailored models should be fashioned from a very good milan, a tagel, or hem, and dressier chapeaux from hair straw or a combination of hair straw and fine fancy woven straw blends. Variations of mohair are very modish this season in wide brimmed models that have a tendency to droop on both sides. Watteau shapes are very effective in finely woven milans and tagels, banked high with exquisite flowers and foliage in matching shades. Considerable attention is being paid to the new sports models of bangkok—a straw similar to a very fine peanut straw—which come in soft, effective shades of green, blue and rose, and have scanty trimmings of picot-edged ribbons, in plain white or stripes combining white with the colors.

There is an extraordinary echo in the cathedral at Pisa. If you sing two notes there is no reverberation, but if you sing three they are taken up, swelled and prolonged into a beautiful harmony.

Watteau shapes are very effective in finely woven milans and tagels, banked high with exquisite flowers and foliage in matching shades. Considerable attention is being paid to the new sports models of bangkok—a straw similar to a very fine peanut straw—which come in soft, effective shades of green, blue and rose, and have scanty trimmings of picot-edged ribbons, in plain white or stripes combining white with the colors.

There is an extraordinary echo in the cathedral at Pisa. If you sing two notes there is no reverberation, but if you sing three they are taken up, swelled and prolonged into a beautiful harmony.

France was the first country to use an ambulance.

There are at least five libraries in the world which contain more than 1,000,000 volumes each.

VAGARIES IN COLLARS ARE MANY AND GAY

Newest Spring Modes Universally Becoming, and Have No Prejudices.

Such pretty colored neckwear is being shown in the exclusive shops. Not gaudy colors at all, but the softest of pastel tints veiled or combined with white, dove gray and oyster shade. The noticeable feature of spring neck wear models is the variety of styles. Every period and every influence of modern modes is duly represented, while many original expressions of the "day's modern" are also displayed.

The "cavalier" collar is a great favorite. Made full, ruffy and cape-like, it fits close about the neck and spreads wide over the shoulders. Ribbon in black or white moire is used for finishing touches, and the collar is made of organdie or crepe in white, shell-pink or faintest yellow.

Demure little models of the Quaker or fichu type have a foundation of white with hemstitched edges, overlaid with a smaller collar of rose, lavender, yellow, blue or Nile green organdie.

Smartest of standup models have high, closely pleated ruffles and chic bow ties—sometimes a white ribbon stock is ingeniously knotted. A very new and popular collar is the "artists' model." Loose, co-sy lines and a broad roll effect are featured, while hem-stitched edges and a soft silk tie in any desirable shade add to the novelty and "snaps" of the model. For wear with the sports model are a host of attractive, wide collars, in black and white, blue and white or rose and white—and with each one is shown a pretty silk tie to match.

SAFETY FIRST.

A long-haired man walked into the general store at Arvada and asked "Do you sell stale eggs?"

"No," answered the grocer, with a smile, "but I've got some."

"Well, give me all you've got," said the stranger.

The grocer, as he bundled up the eggs, laughed, and said, "I guess you're going to see 'Hamlet' tonight at the opera house."

"No," said the stranger, grimly, "I'm going to play 'Hamlet' tonight at the opera house."

THE EIGHT PAGE ART SECTION OF THIS WEEK'S SUNDAY WORLD

is replete with pictures of great general interest: Strictly Canadian is the frontispiece description of an important native industry, namely maple syrup making, showing both the former and present methods of obtaining the product.

The big feature at present is pictures of the overseas units. This week's issue will show the staff of the 122nd Battalion at Huntsville, under Lieut.-Colonel D. M. Grant; the 127th Battalion at Aurora, with Capt. Bell and Lieut. Spears; the West York county volunteers of the 129th with Lieut.-Col. Knowles; the physical drill team of the 122nd Battalion at Huntsville; an interior view of the 76th Battalion's barracks at Barrie; the signal corps of the 76th, the picket of the 76th, several platoons of the 76th and the guard of the 76th; instruction staff and signaller in training at Exhibition camp; the 76th Battalion's famous overseas band; several platoons of the 134th; Toronto University and McMaster students attached to the signal training depot, Ottawa; Officers and non-coms of the 8th Battery; the 32nd Highlanders' scouts; individual portraits in profusion of men overseas, and men preparing to go overseas; a group view of Canadian soldiers who have been invalided home; several group views of Canadian soldiers prisoners of war in Germany—if you have not heard from your soldier boy look for him in these groups; an uncensored picture of the Giessen camp in Germany; break up of the Rivers Don and Humber.

The Amateur Gardener

BY RACHEL R. TODD, M.D.

A Hint About New Perennials.

Every gardener likes to add a few roots to his collection of perennials, as the garden becomes more varied. The puzzle is often what to decide upon. Perennials are so different from each other in almost every respect, that one is hard put to it to determine just what specimen will suit this corner, and what color will best harmonize with that of the coming blossoms or the perennials already permanently rooted there.

It is not an easy matter to make your choice unless you know your new plant well. Catalogs, while doing their best, cannot give an accurate idea to a beginner of the nice differences in form and coloring that plants may present. So that if you depend upon those descriptions when choosing, you may be satisfied with the result, and you may be disappointed.

Take, for example, the apparently simple question of red-blossomed plants. Red man mean crimson, or scarlet, or carnation, or cordial, or flame, or geranium, or what indeed may it not mean? But if you attempt to place any of these reds near each other, your artistic eye—and you must have one, since you delight in garden—will be sadly offended. To place a clump of scarlet fighting, for instance, where its intense flame will scorch the beauty from any other of the reds, is to make a bad mistake in garden technique.

Among these reds, you have the Sage, the Penstemon, Phloxes, the Cardinal Flower, some of the garden things.

A last word on form. Where a perennial is famous for bush, blossom and seed-pod, such a specimen should not be crowded or hidden among others, the Oriental Poppy, for instance, with its exquisite leaves, gray-green and deeply cut, its incomparable blossom, and its unique seed-pod, should always be used as a specimen plant, and so placed that its every beauty may be seen and enjoyed.

These are mere hints, of course, since today is merely a glance over things.

CARD INDEX RECIPES

Simple Lemon Pudding

INGREDIENTS

4 tablespoonfuls of bread-crumbs.

1 lemon, rind and juice.

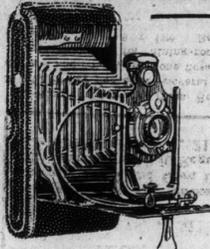

1 egg, put on to the beaten egg, mix together and add to the lemon juice, a few drops at a time, so as not to curdle the egg. Line a mixture: bake in a moderate oven for half an hour.

METHOD

Mix the bread crumbs in a basin together with the finely grated lemon rind and the sugar. Heat the milk and butter, and when cool pour on to the beaten egg, mix together and add to the lemon juice. Lastly, stir in the lemon juice, a few drops at a time, so as not to curdle the egg. Line a mixture: bake in a moderate oven for half an hour.
