The disturbance which was over the Great Lakes yesterday is now south of Newfoundland, and pressure is highest over the Middle States and north of Lake Superior.

The weather has become somewhat milder in Southern Ontario, while elsewhere it continues cold.

VICTORY LOOMS
IN LONDON RACESomerville Denies Free Trade With U. S. Is Policy of Party.HYMAN TAKES PLATFORMDeclares Meighen's Government Was Never Conducted in Democratic Way.Hyman Hall was last night the scene of a rousing meeting of London Liberals, the peak of enthusiasm being reached when C. R. Somerville, the Liberal candidate for London, declared, amid loud cheers:"I believe that we can carry the city of London."And this belief was reiterated again and again by the Hon. C. S. Hyman, K. G. Fisher, the chairman of the evening, George Little, Archibald Macpherson, Major Gordon Ingram and Clarence May, all of whom spoke enthusiastically of the cause.The old-time Liberal cheers and the old-time Liberal earnestness made the hall of the Liberal headquarters resound. And it was a goodly gathering of men and women who filled the chairs, even standing at the back to hear the latest messages from the lips of their party leaders.Col. Clifford Reason, who has received the distinguished honor of being called to the disarmament conference at Washington, was unable to be present as had been arranged, but he sent this message to the meeting:"Best wishes for the success of the party and for Mr. Somerville in particular."Mr. Somerville opened his address by referring to the London affair, explaining how many people in London lost thousands of dollars through that scandal.

Not Worth Cent.

"While the government extended time for this company to pay its taxes by accepting their notes," he declared,
"the company was permitted to go on and sell a million of dollars of preferred and other stock to people of Canada at from 95 to 100 cents on the dollar, which today is not worth a cent. And a great many people in this city were taken in and lost thousands of dollars by this scandal. Should such a government be allowed to continue in power?"The next matter the Liberal candidate brought to light was the ammunition scandal of the present government.
"We believe that the government has made some settlement with England on the ammunition question, but we don't know what it is, and we won't be able to find out what it is until the Liberal party is in power.""For this government, which we have now, is a secret government. But let me just say this, that if we had to accept ammunition from England in the settlement for English claims, why bring it to Canada, entailing the great expense of transportation, etc.? Why bring it here only to explode it in empty air, for there will never be a war in this country as long as any of us here are alive?""And those very shells are in sound of the conference for disarmament at Washington."

Closed It Again.

"What do you think of a government which brought a company from New York to inspect the private interests of the Dominion?""It is true that that company opened an office in Toronto to make it appear that they had a Canadian office, but that office was closed again as soon as the investigation was over. And these men were allowed to go back to the United States with all manner of private information about Canada. And now the government has other men coming from the United States to this country to inspect other departments.
And the fact that they are under the control of that foe of all that is for the best interests of Great Britain, William Randolph Hearst, should be sufficient to prove that they should not be here."Speaking on the tariff question Mr.
Somerville continued:"Free trade is not possible between this country and the United States. Free trade is not in the atmosphere at all now and the people who are advocatingfree trade are only trying to camouflage something else. As for Mr. Meighen's tariff, we don't know what it is.
His government never made a tariff, but are working on the old Liberal tariff, which brought prosperity to the country when it was made."The big thing that this country needs today is economy. And when the Liberals go into power you will see that one of the first things they will try to do will be to economize in the number of men now drawing salaries in the senate and in the number of men getting yearly payments through being members of the cabinet."In Sir Wilfrid Laurier's day fifteen men were considered sufficient to carry on the work of the country in the cabinet. Why then, are there 21 in the cabinet today?"

Cheer Hyman.

The appearance of the Hon. C. S. Hyman on the platform as the first speaker of the evening was greeted with cheers, to be followed with more cheers at his announcement that the Liberal party couldn't have had a better candidate than Mr. Somerville."I won't be bossed by the Hon.
Arthur Meighen tonight," he said, "and consider only the tariff question. There are other matters of just as much importance to be discussed. But I will say this, that the Liberal party consider that within the 23 per cent. of the vote which is the average in the present time, it can give all the legiti-mate protection necessary to industries of this country and this city."The speaker gave illustrations to show different manner in which the Liberal party of the Conservative party set about to determine a proper tariff. Both sent investigating commissions throughout the country. The Conservative committee only sought to protect the industry without questioning as to whether it had a $9,000,000 reserve fund, or whether it was run by old-fashioned methods and by poor management. On the other hand, the Liberal commission sought to determine whether the circumstances of the company made it fair to the citizens of Canada, that that company should be protected. A Liberal government did not aim to protect combines or companies where there was a large amount of watered stock."What is the Meighen government saying today?" Mr. Hyman continued.
"They are saying vote for the Conservative party or you will lose your job. That is a threat. That is not the way to treat the electorate, and the Meighen government is going to be foiled by such arguments as that."

System Matters.

"The most important matter to be discussed tonight is the election, however, is not the tariff, but the system of government being pursued by Hon.
Mr. Meighen at the present time, which is similar to that pursued by his predecessor, Sir Robert Borden.""I say that the government of the Hon. Mr. Meighen and the government of his predecessor, Sir Robert Borden, was never conducted in a democratic way."Mr. Hyman proceeded to give instances of the autocratic methods of this government, contrasting them with the democratic actions of the Liberal government under Sir Wilfrid Laurier.He contrasted the open and free discussion in the house during the Liberal regime and the system of closure, gagging the mouth of parliament, introduced during the Conservative rule.
He contrasted the action of the Liberal government in going to the people in 1904 before going ahead with the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the methods of the Conservative government when they purchased the Canadian Northern Railway not only without asking the people but contrary to the judgment of their own commission, which reported that the common stock of Mackenzie & Mann, chief owners of that railway, was not worth a single cent.The speaker further contrasted Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy in going to the people on the reciprocity question in 1911, even though he had yet two years in power to run, and might have put the matter through according to the ethics of the Conservative government, with the policy of the Conservative government, when it took over the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway without consulting the people, and by putting closure onto the House of Parliament.

Better Than to Abuse.

"Laurier put reciprocity to the people and went out of power," said the speaker, "and it was better that he should go out of power than that he should abuse the rights of the people.
The Conservative government put closure onto the house so that even the people's representatives in that house would not have a say on such questions as the taking over of the railways. Which government is the kind that we want? Which represents democracy?"

Mr. Hyman referred to the war-time and lace hosiery, silk dresses and high-heeled shoes were officially placed under the ban today by the Federation of University Women at the University of Chicago, but the meeting broke up in disorder when one girl submitted a rule that skirts should reach to within eight inches of the ground.A costume of pleated or plain wool skirt and woolen or jersey jacket, white waist or blouse, with low-heeled shoes was made the regulation dress which all university women will be urged to wear.And the so-called Union government

"When was the time for Union government? Was it in 1917, when the term of the Conservative government was up, when had already been granted one year more of government by Sir Wilfrid Laurier? Or was it in 1914, when the war clouds gathered round, and everyone knew what difficulties the old hand was in? Was not 1914 the time for Union government?"The speaker closed by referring to the love of the Union government for the men who served it during the war.
He pointed to Sir George Foster, the Hon. J. D. Reid, Hon. Sir Edward Kemp, and the Hon. T. W. Crothers, all old Conservatives, and all lifted to the rank of senators. And in contrast he pointed to the Liberals of the Union government, Hon. Newton Rowell, Major-General McBurn, Hon. A. K.
McLean and the Hon. Thomas White, all of whom did the work for Canada during the war, and all sent, not to jail, but back to private life, and told to earn their own living.ASK BEE DISEASE

Registered.TORONTO, Nov. 24.—A resolution urging the government to amend the bee disease act by providing for the compulsory registration of every beekeeper in Ontario was passed at today's meeting of the Ontario Beekeepers' Association.It was pointed out that lack of registration was a serious handicap in carrying out inspection provided for under the act.The committee appointed to investigate conditions with a view to preparing the ground for the formation of a cooperative marketing association, will gather all information available, with the expectation that things will be sufficiently ready at the next convention to put the project under way. It is possible that a special meeting may be called and the co-operative plan brought into existence in time to handle next year's crop of honey about the end of July.The officers elected today were: E. T.

ing the penalty imposed.Violators of the bylaws are assessed $10 and costs, which is heavy compared to some other cities, but even this, said Chief Armstrong, does not realize that the bylaws must be ob-

Announce the Opening of Another New Store

THIS IS STORE NO. 6, LOCATED AT 431 DUNDAS ST., WOODSTOCK, ONT.In the cities of London and St. Thomas, before the coming of Standard Drug Stores, you were forced to pay the full limit of high prices for your needs in drugs and drug merchandise. This same condition prevailed in Woodstock until a short time ago, when we announced the coming of a Standard Drug Store.
No wonder we have had many requests to open a store there. No wonder thousands of our friends in Oxford County have anxiously awaited our opening announcement, which appears in today's issue of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. We trust our service, our high quality merchandise and our low prices will prove as successful in this new store as they have throughout our London and St. Thomas stores, who join us in celebrating this big event by offering bargains like these forFriday and Saturday

STATES LONDON MILK BETTER

Dr. Tamlin Reports On Tests Made in Month of November.

TAKING FEWER SAMPLES

Dr. C. S. Tamlin, veterinary inspector of the board of health, finds the milk being delivered in the city so good these days that he is taking fewer samples, cutting the number down to 3 and 4 daily.

Figures contained in the latest reports of tests which reached him on Friday morning tend to show the correctness of this. In only one case were the number of bacteria high and the percentage of butter fat low, and that was from a dairy that has been one of the best all year. Dr. Tamlin said that he was at a loss to find the reason. The reports in question are on samples taken on Nov. 14, 15 and 16. On the 14th, eighteen samples were taken. Two of these contained 10,000 bacteria and the balance 5,000. The lowest percentage of butter fat was 2.45, and half the total were over 4 per cent. The by-law calls for 3.25 per cent butterfat.

On the fifteenth the samples taken showed about the same average with the exception of the one case mentioned above which showed 65,000 bacteria and 3 per cent butterfat.

On the sixteenth the highest number of bacteria was 2,500, and in many cases the number found proved too small to count. The butter fat percentage was a good average.

"The milk supply is excellent," said Dr. Tamlin. "The best way to improve it now is to go into the government test for tuberculosis, so that the city may have certified milk as well as pasteurized."

POINTS OUT NEED OF CHILDREN'S CLINICS

Miss Bertha Smith, superintendent of the Child Welfare Nurses, addressed the Tecumseh Avenue Mothers' Club at their regular meeting on Friday evening. Miss Smith emphasized the great need of more clinics in the city, which can be realized if the mothers will volunteer to help with the work, as this department cannot afford to engage any more nurses than they have at the present time.

Miss Smith showed the mothers pictures of children before and after treatment, which illustrated the work that the welfare is carrying on. Miss Smith made an appeal for heavy underwear for the children, and as a result the members have decided to make various articles for these needy little ones.

Dr. Dearle of Western University gave an address on the Western University bylaw, urging its support.

An interesting program followed, vocal numbers being given by Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Peel, and readings by Mrs. Fellow. A collection was taken up for the Sick Children's Hospital, a social hour following, during which a dainty supper was served.

TO DECIDE PURCHASE OF COLLEGIATE DESKS

With the new Collegiate Institute fast nearing completion, the board of education will busy itself next week with the purchase of desks and other necessary paraphernalia for that institution. W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board, announces that a special meeting of the 2 committee must be held soon in order to accept tenders for these requirements. As some of the members of this group were out of the city the past few days, it was impossible to call a meeting for that purpose this week.

ALDERMANIC ASPIRANT IN FAVOR OF "U" BYLAW

While the central committee of the Chamber of Commerce has already announced that it will question the various municipal candidates as to their attitude on the Western University bylaw of $250,000 that comes before the electors for consideration on Dec. 5, to date there has been only one candidate who has announced himself, William H. Stewart.

The latter explains that he is decidedly in favor of furthering education in any manner.

DOCKMEN STRIKE AT PORT OF NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., Nov. 25.—The port of New Orleans was completely tied up today by a strike of 12,000 and 15,000 cargo loaders and handlers who walked out in sympathy with the seamen, who quit work Monday. About seventy ships are in port awaiting cargoes. The public cotton warehouses and ten private warehouses were closed.

London Uses 15,000 Hydro Horsepower Daily

LONDON has set a record for hydro within the past few days. E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, announced Friday that 15,000 horse-power daily is the city's portion at this moment, the highest mark that has yet been reached here in hydro development.

Mr. Buchanan points out that at the time hydro was first introduced a maximum estimate of 5,000 horse-power for this city was the object of much criticism and ridicule.

CONSERVATIVE DENIED HEARING IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Nov. 25.—What is believed to be a record in disorderly political gatherings was made last night in the College Hall of St. Cuneo, at the meeting called in favor of Wilfred Laurier, Conservative candidate in St. Henri-Westmount division, where for practically three hours deliberate heckling and interruptions prevented the speakers from giving either an outline of their policy or an opportunity to respond to any hostile argument.

Mr. Laurier managed to make himself heard for a few moments, and while his opponents were getting their breath, he declared that the meeting was a typical example of Liberalism, and that the disturbers present were "hoodlums." This created another riot, uniformed policemen then arriving on the scene, and the meeting was broken up.

One man managed to ask what would become of the workingman if the tariff were lowered. He was told that his wages would be lowered in accordance.

The meeting finally dispersed in a babel of noise.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Nov. 25.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Dealings were light at the opening of today's stock market, and speculative interests continued to be around selected issues. Weakness of German marks featured the foreign exchange list.

STATES HE CAME TO GET WHISKEY

Prisoner Tells Court Goderich Was Dry. So He Tried London.

London apparently has the reputation of being a good place to procure whiskey for one drunk in police court Friday morning admitted that he had come all the way from Goderich to imbibe of the fluid that "stings like an adder."

"Were you drunk?" inquired Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett of the unfortunate one as he stood up in the prisoner's box.

No answer.

"Were you drunk?" asked the court once more in a slightly louder tone.

No answer.

"Were you drunk?" thundered the court in accents that shattered the atmosphere.

"Why, yes, I guess I was full," said the prisoner in surprised tones.

"What's the matter, can't you get it in Goderich?" inquired Mr. Bartlett.

"No, it is pretty quiet there. There is nothing much doing," was the reply.

"All right; $10 and costs," was the comment of the court.

Another blundering individual, who was too drunk to appear in court Thursday morning, bobbed up on Friday when his name was called. He told the magistrate that he had been given a couple of drinks by a man whose automobile he had repaired. He, too, was fined.

Edward Wallace, who stated that he was down on his luck, was given a chance to get to Toronto, where he had a dozen years, and has taken a very prominent part in Canadian advertising.

DENIES CHARGE OF "CLASS MOVEMENT"

Crerar Points Critics to U.F.O.—Government's Success.

Saskatoon, Nov. 25.—Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.—"Everywhere it is being admitted that the Farmer government of Ontario is the best it has had for twenty years, and there is not a suggestion of class government," declared H. B. Crerar, leader of the Progressive party, in speaking here last night in the interests of his party's candidate, John Evans.

The Progressive movement was born among the heroic men and women of the plains, and there was absolutely nothing in its ideals which savored of class domination," Mr. Crerar said.

The Wood-Crerar movement, Mr. Crerar told his audience, was a "nightmare to the prime ministerial class," and he was unworthy of him that he should have recently in New Brunswick belittled the loyalty of the people of Western Canada. The vast majority of farmers throughout the West, said Mr. Crerar, were not American-born.

They came from Eastern Canada and the British Isles.

The government campaign literature reeked with misrepresentation of the farmers' movement, he said. Mr. Crerar charged that during the war the United Grain Growers, Limited, had placed its facilities at the disposal of the country.

It had purchased 198,000,000 bushels of wheat for the Allies, and had only asked for large office expenses.

Mr. Crerar again asserted that he did not believe in a government wheat board for the permanent marketing of grain. He pinned his faith rather on voluntary co-operation on the part of the farmers themselves.

Obituaries

MRS. CROTTY BURIED.
The funeral of Mrs. M. Crotty, who died Thursday, was held Friday morning from the residence of her sister, Miss O'Meara, 69 Dundas street. Requiem high mass was sung in St. Peter's Cathedral, Father O'Donnell officiating. Interment was made at St. Peter's Cemetery. The pallbearers were F. B. Pocock, Martin O'Sullivan, W. H. Short and J. P. Keeley.

Mrs. Crotty, who was 80 years old, resided in Bothwell prior to coming to London. She is survived by three sisters, Misses Anna, Lena and Minnie O'Mara of 69 Dundas street, and one daughter, Mrs. W. H. Short, also of this city.

GETS 20 YEARS FOR HOMICIDE.
St. John, N. B., Nov. 25.—John J. Spellman, convicted of manslaughter in the fatal death of Albert Norris in a yard off Erin street here in a fracas in which a bottle of whiskey figured, was today sentenced by Judge J. M. Barry to twenty years imprisonment.

Sells Interests

Toronto Advertising Man Who Will Soon Announce Plans for Future.

A. J. DENNE.

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—A. J. Denne, who has been associated with the general advertising agency of Smith, Denne & Moore, Limited, Toronto, and previously with its predecessor, the J. Walter Thompson Company, has disposed of his interest in the firm.

Temporarily, Mr. Denne will continue with Smith, Denne & Moore, but his permanent plans for the future will be announced shortly.

Mr. Denne has been connected with advertising circles for the past dozen years, and has taken a very prominent part in Canadian advertising.

THE ADJOURNED meeting of the Ministerial Alliance will be held Monday at 10 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building.

Rev. A. M. Thomson will speak on "Prophecies, Ancient and Modern."

R. A. FINN, B.S.A., of the local branch, department of agriculture, is in Stratford making final preparations in connection with the opening of the three-months' course in agriculture and domestic science, which starts there next Monday.

TONIGHT WILL SEE the first gun fired in the municipal campaign when the first of the series of four meetings, one for each ward, will be staged in the East End hall. The mayoralty candidates, aldermen and councilmen, and the candidates for aldermen in the ward may all speak at the meetings if they desire to do so.

CHARLOTTE VANDECAR, charged in police court Friday morning with keeping a disorderly house, promised to leave for Detroit in a hurry if given the opportunity. The case was adjourned for two weeks, as were proceedings against Agnes and Winnie Coyne, who were charged with being frequenters.

HARRY SHARP, alias J. Fowler, who appeared in police court earlier in the week, charged with stealing a quantity of tools, was taken to Stratford Friday morning by Chief Wilson of that town. Sharp will answer to the charge of stealing shoes from a store there.

CROWN ATTORNEY B. McKillop will conduct the case for the crown.

UNDER THE AUSPICES of the Women's Citizens' Committee of the Local Council of Women, a mass meeting has been called for Friday evening in the Masonic Temple, at which Arthur Mould, the Labor federal candidate, will speak on "Why the Women Will Vote Labour."

Mr. A. H. A. is arranging for other speakers of note from outside points.

MRS. FLORENCE SMELTZO, ticket seller at the Star Theatre, was fined $20 for allowing two children to enter the theatre unaccompanied by an adult.

In giving his decision on the case, which was tried earlier in the week, Deputy Mayor J. H. A. said that he was satisfied that he had decided to accept the evidence of the police. It was a serious matter for children to be allowed in theatres without their elders.

At the close of the series of Thursday evening free lectures provided by the Western University extension department will be given by Dr. R. C. Dearle on Dec. 1 at the physics building, and on Dec. 2 at the chemistry building. Dr. Dearle's subject will be "Light and Color," and the lecture will be illustrated with most interesting experiments. These coming from more distant parts of the city should take a Dundas car to the corner of Waterloo and then go south one block.

THE HOUSING COMMISSION will meet Friday night and will probably deal with the Pine Lawn housing problem. The contractors were ordered to replace the roofs of these houses. They declined to do so now. The commission stated that if the contractors did not act by Nov. 14 the work would be done by others and the money held back from the contractor and architect employed to pay the cost. The contractors have refused to do this. The commission takes such action they will take the matter to court.

"THAT THE IRISH have done more for the advancement of Great Britain than the Scotch" was the subject of a debate at a young people's literary meeting in Chalmers Presbyterian Church Thursday evening. The Scotch were the winners by one point. The debaters for the Irish were Miss Cora Patterson, Orville Eadie and Travis Thompson; for the Scotch, Ruth Young, Agnes McEachren and William Young. The evening was concluded with a solo by Helen Young. There were about 30 present.

CARL AHRENS IS RELEASED ON BAIL
Kitchener, Nov. 25.—Carl Ahrens was released from custody early this afternoon on bail of $10,000. He will appear on Tuesday for the coroner's jury in the death of Helen Ahrens, his wife, who was drowned in the Grand River on the night of Nov. 14. Ahrens was still on a tender charge. This charge was laid Monday. Provincial Inspector A. H. Ward of Toronto asked for time to visit Mrs. Ahrens' home in Kitchener Place to pursue investigations from that angle.

PARNELL GIVEN ACCLAMATION.
Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 25.—The citizens of Winnipeg today are electing their 12th city council and school trustees. The return by acclamation of Edward Parnell to the mayoralty and the imminence of the federal voting have tended to minimize interest in the civic campaign. Voting continued until 8 p.m. under proportional representation. Mayor Parnell is a former resident of London, Ont.

LEADING SURGEONS TO SPEAK IN LONDON

Drs. Archibald and Bloodgood To Address Local Practitioners.

Members of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine will meet in the new Western University Medical School next Monday at 2 p.m., when two prominent surgeons will deliver addresses.

Dr. Edward Archibald, B.A., M.D., C.M., surgeon to the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, one of Canada's outstanding surgeons, will deliver a considerable writing on surgical subjects, will speak on "The Place of Surgery in Pulmonary Tuberculosis."

The second speaker of the session will be Dr. John H. Bloodgood, surgeon to Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, who will take for his subject, "The Diagnosis of Cancer in Its Earliest Stages, or in Its Pre-Cancerous Stage and Proper Treatment." This address will be illustrated by lantern slides.

Dr. Bloodgood has devoted considerable time to the study of cancer, and is a member to the Association for Cancer Research and Control of Cancer. He has written on cancer, and in which tumors, which are now being used in leading surgical text books.

Prior to the session of the academy a noon luncheon will be held in the Tremont Hotel, with these two surgeons as speakers, and to which members of the Academy of Medicine are invited to attend. The luncheon is scheduled for 12:15 p.m.

FRENCH ARE AROUSED OVER CURZON WARNING

Paris, Nov. 25.—The French Government is deeply aroused over the warning given to France by Lord Curzon, the British secretary for foreign affairs, in his address in London yesterday and his criticism of the French policy at the Washington armaments conference.

It was explained in official circles today that the French government is deeply shocked by the warning given to France by Lord Curzon, the British secretary for foreign affairs, in his address in London yesterday and his criticism of the French policy at the Washington armaments conference.

MEIGHEN'S "WAR RECORD" AS I SEE IT!

BY A SOLDIER OF VIMY RIDGE.

To the Editor of The London Advertiser:

The approaching Dominion general election is regarded on many sides as the most vital one since Confederation. It behooves us, therefore, to consider and discriminate between real issues and the "red herrings" which are being drawn across the path to divert us from a consideration of them.

The fiscal and economical questions have resolved themselves simply into a revision of the tariff, no matter which party assumes power as a result of the election.

Premier Meighen and his associates, however, for some reason best known to themselves, say that the issue before the people is Free Trade.

Free Trade is not advocated by any responsible political party at the present time; therefore, under the circumstances, it would be just as pertinent to say that the culture of bananas at the North Pole is an issue, as to say that Free Trade is an issue.

In view of the persistence with which the premier seeks to make Free Trade the issue, it is well to turn our attention for a moment to a consideration of the men and party, who urge this as an issue, to the exclusion, practically of all other issues.

The man is Premier Meighen; and the party, what is called the National-Liberal and Conservative party.

This leader and party are the residual of the Borden government, which followed the election of 1911, and the Union government of 1917, which administered the government of the country during the war and since; and, therefore, are responsible for the administration of the country's affairs during that time, and should account to the people for such administration.

They are, therefore, deeply interested in the review of the acts of the governments of which they are the residual or in the suppression of such review.

This party is repudiated by the old line Conservatives and Liberals alike; and, all over the country, murmurings are heard of dissent on the part of persons of the Conservative and Liberal faith, at contesting constituencies as candidates of this so-called National-Liberal and Conservative party, and insisting on running as straight Conservative or Liberal candidates and make their position decidedly clear upon this point.

Free Trade a Spurious Issue.

The National-Liberal and Conservative party is therefore a political orphan without even a foster parent among historic political parties of Canada, and, in this discredited condition puts forth a spurious issue of Free Trade to the electors of Canada, and in following this course, appeals to them upon it.

Why does the premier, at every meeting, which up to date he has addressed, convert it into a veritable spiritualistic seance, assuming the role of the political witch of Endor, bringing up the dead Samuel of Free Trade to affright and terrify the credulous souls of his audience and the organs supporting him, appearing with bold head lines of his remarkable psychic performances?

Does it not strike the disinterested observer of these proceedings that there must be some powerful reason for such an extraordinarily well staged dramatic effort to divert the people's attention from something else, which haunts them much more than the spectral issue of Free Trade?

What is this issue, which throws its alarming shadow across the path of the government now, appealing to the country and which it is sought to hide behind the apparition of Free Trade, conceived only in the minds of the premier and his associates?

The issue, beyond all question, is the administration of the government and, more particularly, that part of it in connection with the war; and, the alarming shadow, is the possibility of a review of the record of the government, by a new and impartial government and parliament, with no wrongs of their own to conceal; a review not by a packed jury composed of the present premier and his associates and a parliament dominated by them.

Finds Government Talk Cheap.

Some of the government organs are clamoring loudly that the returned soldiers and their relatives should demand of persons opposed to the government, what these persons did in the great war; while, at the same time, never demanding or suggesting, that a similar question should be asked of the premier and his associates, who were placed in high and responsible positions of trust by the people of Canada.

The people of Canada are much more deeply concerned in what the premier and the government did in their official capacity, than in what any individual did in his personal capacity.

This loud demand for records on one side, while no similar demand of the government and its members is made, creates a well founded suspicion that there is method underlying it all.

This loud clamoring is only an act in the well staged drama in connection with the Free Trade issue propaganda, and it is a "red herring" which is being drawn across our path to divert us from the paramount issue.

As these organs say, that one qualified to ask these questions should be a soldier or a relative of a soldier, I meet this requirement, as every immediate relative of my own, both by blood and through marriage, who was eligible, enlisted under the voluntary system, as well as myself; and every distant relative and connection, as far as I know, also enlisted under the voluntary system.

Practically all of them have been wounded, including myself; some of them have been maimed for life; and several of them made the supreme sacrifice and their bodies rest in graves in France and Flanders.

I make no intrusion upon the personal matters of Mr. Meighen or any of his associates, or ask of them personally, what they did, or failed to do in the war.

I realize there may be personal, domestic or other reasons which prompted their individual course of action; and that, it would be the height of impropriety to intrude upon their personal affairs.

In passing, however, I certainly cannot be considered unfair, in view of answers demanded as to personal service during the war, of other political leaders, and aspersions cast upon them because they did not serve in the war, in saying that Mr. Meighen was no older than other men who fought in the front line; and that, so far as I know, he was just as eligible as they were.

One of my own connections, who was an older man than Mr. Meighen, fought in the front lines, and his body now rests in a grave in Flanders.

What Did Meighen Do In the War?

The phase of the question, however, which every citizen of Canada has the right to ask the premier and his associates, is what did they do in the war, in the positions of high and responsible trust in which they were placed by the people of Canada?

History alone can answer for them and their administration, but let us consider briefly some of the things for which they should be held responsible.

At the head of the Canadian Military Organization as Minister of Militia and Defence, at the time war was declared, a great soldier who was skilled in the art of war and military organization, a great portion of whose life had been devoted to bringing the Canadian militia up to a high state of efficiency, and marked success attended his efforts.

He was a soldier of wide experience and knowledge, who made military service a great ambition of his energetic and useful life, and whose courage and talent in all matters pertaining to war placed him foremost in the ranks of Canadian military men.

Immediately at the outbreak of war, he brought to bear his great genius for organization, combined with an industry and determination that is rarely equalled in the mobilization, equipment and dispatching of the first Canadian contingent to the scene of the war to take Canada's place in the front line in the battle for freedom.

With a rapidity which surprised the world, under his administration, the Canadian forces were thrown right into the heart of the actual war.

Need I say, I refer to the late Sir Sam Hughes? Notwithstanding, however, his great grasp of the military situation, his great military talents and capacity for organization, his devotion to Canada's service, and his phenomenal achievement in thus organizing, equipping and dispatching the first Canadian contingents in such an unprecedented emergency; he was suddenly deposed from his responsible position by the government, with Mr. Meighen's approval, and Canada was deprived of the services of this great soldier at a time when they were most sorely needed.

This is one of the acts of Mr. Meighen and the government of which he was a member during the war; and is it not reasonable to infer that such an act was the result of the pressure of certain financial interests in Toronto, judging from what followed in the appointment of his successor.

Why Was Kemp Chosen by Tories?

What followed with Mr. Meighen's approval?

It would have been thought that when they deposed a man of wide military experience from the head of the military administration, right in the throes of war, that they would have appointed as his successor, a man of the broadest military knowledge and experience to be found in Canada, following the precedent established by the British government in the appointment of Lord Kitchener as secretary of war; a person whose name would have inspired Canada, as Lord Kitchener's name inspired the whole British Empire.

Instead of adopting such a course, however, a military

Target of War Veteran's Ire

PREMIER ARTHUR MEIGHEN.

novelty was appointed in the person of Sir Edward Kemp; a man who had never kept step or manoeuvred with an awkward squad, a man destitute of any military experience whatever.

Here Canada, in the midst of a great war, had to pass through an experience which was staggering both to the common sense of the people and the military stability of the country; and, at a time when thousands of Canadians, who had voluntarily enlisted, were falling before the murderous hail of German artillery; and, when homes throughout the length and breadth of Canada were being bereaved and desolated.

This was not the time to conduct a military kindergarten school for the education of Sir Edward Kemp or any person else; or commit the country to such a hazard.

It was a military tragedy; it was treason on the part of the government against every man who had enlisted, as well as against every woman and child who had a relative serving in the war.

It can only be compared with acts such as, in ordinary civil life, sending out men to sea upon a vessel of which the officers and crew had never been on a vessel before; or sending men out upon a train with a man in charge of the locomotive, who never before had his hand upon a throttle, or been inside an engine cab; and yet, it was a similarly vicious act which the government perpetrated in placing Sir Edward Kemp in the highest position of administration in the military organization of Canada.

Salesman of Pots and Pans.

It may be said by apologists for the government that Sir Edward Kemp had been a very successful businessman, and one of considerable executive ability. This may be true, as far as his own business is concerned, and, undoubtedly, he was well acquainted with every detail of it; but because he plied a lucrative trade in pots and pans, it did not qualify him for the administration of a military organization in the time of war, which required previous training, wide experience and technical knowledge in military matters and organization.

As might be expected, as a result of this unpatriotic action of the government, in substituting a military novelty for a highly-trained soldier, there followed a carnival of weak military administration.

There were many similar acts, equally as vicious from a military point of view, as the nepotistic appointment of Major Colville, and others similarly situated, which resulted in such widespread dissatisfaction among the troops, that it was only the deep-seated and patriotic manhood of the soldiery of Canada which permitted the great military achievements of the Canadian army.

Grafted an Excrement Growth.

As one of the results of having a man of no military experience at the head of the military administration, it was decided by the government to graft an excrement growth on the military system of Canada, in the creation of what they were pleased to call the Overseas Minister of Militia.

Sir Edward Kemp was appointed to that position, and Major-General S. C. Mewburn, who had considerable military experience, was appointed to the position of minister of militia and defence.

There were some remarkable and unexplainable matters in connection with this new creation and arrangement, in its relation to the position of minister of militia and defence.

The duties of the overseas minister of militia pertained to England, and were much more closely in touch and had to do with the operations of the Canadian army in the field, and, therefore, essentially required a man of military experience.

The duties of the minister of militia and defence pertained to Canada.

Notwithstanding the essentially military duties of the overseas office, demanding a man of military calibre, the military man was left at home, engaged with more or less clerical matters, and became simply the megaphone of the overseas minister, acting merely as a buffer between the overseas office and the people of Canada.

The most apparent reason for the continuance of the position of minister of militia and defence, and appointing a man with some soldierly qualifications, appears to have been for the purpose of lending some military flavor to the reconstituted Canadian military organization, with its useless "fifth wheel"—the overseas minister of militia—and to invest it with a semblance of sincerity and commonsense on the part of the government for display purposes to the people of Canada.

It is to be regretted that Major-General Mewburn, with his military attainments, lent his name to such a questionable proceeding. This disastrous military experiment of creating the position of overseas minister of militia cost Canada millions of dollars, without any compensating advantages.

Gnawed at Vitals of Army.

This excrement growth on the military system of Canada had the natural effect of all malignant growths; and, as a cancer eats the very life out of the human frame, so did this cancer of the overseas office gnaw at the very vitals of the military administration of Canada, resulting in widespread dissatisfaction and resentment among the troops.

Among other things, men who had fought for long periods of time in the front line, and were entitled to promotion, were humiliated by having inexperienced men, who had never seen a shell burst in active service, sent over from London and placed in positions over them.

Many officers who were in London, and only too anxious to go to the front, were held in London, many of them acting as stewards in military clubs, much to their disgust and chagrin.

The murmurings of discontent were very great at the indifference and overbearing manner exhibited to the soldiers by the overseas office, and an officer, prominent in public life, who made some exposures which to a certain extent became public through the press, was warned by Sir Edward Kemp, in the exalted language which belongs to his stratum of statecraft, "We'll show him up."

It will thus be seen that the conception of the military administration was that the accuser immediately became the accused, and was to be placed on trial for the accusations which he made.

It is a peculiar inversion of the ordinary every-day method of dealing with charges of a serious nature, in immediately putting the accuser on trial and letting the accused go free.

What the people of Canada wanted to know then—and want to know now—is not whether the accuser had been guilty of any impropriety, wrong-doing, neglect of duty, or anything else, but whether the charges, which were of a very grave nature, and pertained to the Canadian soldiers who were serving at the front, were true or not.

An investigation was suggested to inquire into such charges, and similar expressions from many other officers, and for a considerable period of time the people of Canada were led to believe it would be made.

It would appear, however, that the government and its following was so strong at that time that the investigation was not authorized, either by the government or by its subservient parliament. To this day it has not been held, and no answer is available for the public.

Let it be remembered, also, in this connection, that it is said by many well-informed persons that Sir Sam Steele, one of Canada's most brilliant soldiers, who performed great military service in the Northwest Rebellion, in the Boer War, and in the recent World War, died a broken-hearted man as a result of his treatment by the overseas military administration, to the advantage of government favorites, who had not his great record for active service to their credit.

Sought Safety in Office.

The overseas administration appeared to be more concerned about the clerical staff, which were in a condition of safety and not subject to the rigors of war, and their favorites who were ensconced in positions of safety, than about the soldiers who were engaged and suffering in the actual war; and loud demands have been made by those who know that a thorough investigation should be made.

Can you expect or hope for an impartial investigation of these by the government, or men associated with it, who will be the very offenders regarding whom the investigation is to be made? It is absurd to even think of such a thing.

The only way a disinterested, impartial and fair investigation can be made is by a new government, a government which will be judge, jury, offender and police officer all in one; therefore, the only hope for a proper investigation of the matters which took place there, and the recognition of the soldiers who served at the front, and their relatives, is to throw the present government out, "root and branch."

Its members have forfeited all right to be returned to power, and every opposition candidate should be asked to pledge his support if elected, to cause a thorough investigation to be made. Do not be deceived that there are not many matters yet to be corrected which flowed from the overseas administration.

The paramount issue before the electors is a review of the record of the government, including its military administration during and since the war. This is the paramount issue, and it can only be effectively dealt with by a new government.

It is the only way. I now tread upon sacred ground, and it is with great reluctance that I do so, but the sacred feelings of the relatives of those soldiers who did not return from the war have already been disturbed by the statements which were current in the public press of Canada last July, and at other times, that the graves of Canadian soldiers in France and Flanders were in a deplorable state as to markings and locations, and that thousands do not occupy the graves they are recorded as occupying.

Many of the relatives of deceased soldiers thoroughly believe this to be true, as the official reports upon this subject are not at all relieving to the bereaved, who have had experience with such reports in the past, and have found they are not necessarily in accordance with the truth, but in accordance with official interest.

This is a sad thing to say, but it can be verified; and the doubt entertained regarding official reports is mainly responsible for the disquieting and uncertain feeling regarding the subject in the minds of the public.

History of Matter Brief.

The history of the matter is briefly as follows: At the conclusion of the war, the Imperial War Graves Commission, a body appointed by the imperial authorities, was in charge of all matters pertaining to the graves of soldiers. A Canadian section, under the direction and control of the office of the overseas minister of militia, was working in conjunction with this commission in England, France and Flanders.

The office of the overseas minister of militia was disbanded on the 1st of March, 1920, and was succeeded by what was called the overseas detachment.

The object of this overseas detachment was to "carry on" and clear up the remnants in connection with military matters and the war which were left unfinished by the office of the overseas minister. This, of course, included the Canadian war graves section, working in conjunction with the Imperial War Graves Commission, to which I have already referred.

Sir George Perley, the Canadian high commissioner, agreed to withdraw this Canadian section from France, acting with the Imperial War Graves Commission, and allow the graves of Canadian soldiers to be attended wholly and solely, and to come under the control of this imperial unit. This overseas detachment was demobilized on the 31st of March of this year.

The Australians were requested to adopt a similar course to that of Sir George Perley, but they declined, and continued to retain the sacred privilege of administering affairs pertaining to deceased Australian soldiers and their graves, in harmony with the imperial unit.

It is not for a moment to be thought that the Imperial War Graves Commission will treat our men who made the supreme sacrifice any differently from their own, but the procedure is wrong in principle, and deprived the Canadian government of the sacred privilege and duty which they owe to their own illustrious dead, of caring for and attending to the incidental matters concerning their graves.

Much valuable information had been collected and was being classified and indexed, and records of all Canadian graves were being prepared by the overseas detachment.

In addition, the graves of unidentified Canadian soldiers were being carefully and methodically dealt with under this systematic routine, resulting in establishing in many cases the identity of the previously unidentified graves. It was thought, therefore, after the recalling of the Canadian section, and having only a couple of men continuing in the high commissioner's office with the work in connection with photographs of Canadian graves, that there would be a unit, or section, of some kind provided by the Canadian authorities for the attention of matters concerning Canadian graves, and to complete the work still remaining to be done.

Meighen Heedless of Appeals

While matters in connection with the Canadian graves were in this chaotic condition, the premier of Canada and the Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia and defence, visited London.

A statement and report was prepared by those interested in the graves of Canadian war heroes, showing the deplorable condition in which they were as far as marking, location and confusion of unrecorded graves were concerned, and indicating the volume of work still unfinished, and the importance of continuing the work, both for the benefit of Canadian records and for the next of kin of the deceased Canadian soldiers.

The object of this report and its preparation was for the express purpose of being used by a deputation in presenting the whole matter to the premier, and requesting his earnest consideration of a plan for continuing the work and making the necessary provisions to enable the Canadians to "carry on" and look after the graves of their own fallen comrades and the matters incidental thereto.

The premier refused to even see this deputation!

This is what Mr. Meighen, the premier of Canada, did for the fallen Canadian heroes and their bereaved relatives in Canada, in fulfilling the duties of the high and responsible position he accepted.

This gratuitous insult of the premier to the memory of the fallen heroes means little to them; but it was a cruel act towards their bereaved and sorrowing relatives in Canada.

There is now no direct representative of Canada having control of matters in connection with the Canadian graves, and to whom Canadians can appeal for information.

The government of Canada has relieved itself of such matters and relegated them to others than Canadians; and while, undoubtedly the kind and considerate impulses of the people of the British Isles will only esteem it a sacred privilege to give attention to them, and be as thoughtful and attentive in the matters pertaining thereto as possible, yet the people of Canada, without question, do not wish to assign this duty to others, but desire to retain the direction and control of all matters pertaining to the graves of their own soldiers; and, when the government permitted Sir George Perley to divest them of such a sacred privilege, it acted in violation of Canadian sentiment, and without the knowledge of the Canadian people.

Is such a government entitled to be returned to power when it commits such wanton acts without regard to the feelings of every red-blooded Canadian?

Certainly one of the first acts of any new government ought to be to undo the wrong upon the people of Canada which was perpetrated by the government in allowing Sir George Perley to surrender to others the attention of matters in connection with the graves of Canadian soldiers.

As far as the future problems of the soldiers and their relatives are concerned, it is safe to conclude that the treatment of their interests by any government could not be worse than that which they have experienced at the hands of the present government; and therefore they will undoubtedly fare better at the hands of any new government imbued with the true Canadian sentiment towards the returned soldier, and the relatives of those who have not returned.

Let us have a thorough review of the military administration of the present government, and a correction of the wrongs perpetrated by it, as far as possible. This can be effected by the returned soldier and the relatives of those who did not return voting for candidates running in opposition to the present government.

Much is said in a general way about the manner in which money has been spent by the Meighen party at Ottawa.

Let us get down to real figures. It is quite a simple thing to do. The Blue Books are available, so is Hansard.

For instance: From October 10, 1911, to May 1, 1920 absolutely exclusive of war work, 44,679 persons were added to the civil service.

Then came the employment of the Arthur Young Company and Geffenhagen & Company, two American firms. They were to reorganize several departments at Ottawa.

This business of reclassification cost the government between $400,000 and $500,000, but since the election came on the United States experts have been let out and the whole thing is dropped.

From October, 1911, to May 1, 1920, the postoffice department has been saddled with new appointees to the tune of 19,720, and of these 8,949 were appointed during the war period.

The expenses of this department have increased from $7,954,222 in 1910-11 to $29,494,911 in 1921-22, an increase of 280 per cent. At the same time, the Conservative government has wiped out cheap postage, and now charges more to send a letter to Britain than to United States or Mexico.

Canada has not experienced any rush of new settlers in recent years. Yet expenses of the Dominion land agencies grew from $1,841,250 in 1910-11 to $5,142,070 in 1921-22, an increase of 186 per cent.

The war is over—has been over for a number of years, and yet the militia department proposes to spend $11,554,179 in 1921-22, as against $6,868,651 in 1910-11.

Between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000 to be spent in the building of permanent barracks throughout Canada is another item which the minister of militia undertook to defend in the House of Commons. The war is over and Canada has on her hands 194 drill halls, armories and barracks. Salaries and wages to pay the caretakers for these drill halls, armories, etc., amount to $661,247.54 each year, and Mr. Guthrie proposes to add another $4,000,000 worth of armories.

In 1918 the militia department for cadet service spent $68,000. In 1919, $100,000. Yet for 1920-21, $230,000 was asked for, and 1921-22, $450,000.

It is quite possible to go ahead and name many other departments. The real point is right here—these figures represent actual money.

The cash is not suppositions or imaginary. It is positive, and must be paid by the people of Canada.

There used to be a supposition that government money came out of thin air.

It does not.

It comes out of your pocket, Mr. Reader, no matter whether you are a property owner or not.

Every time purchases are made in a store you are paying your share, and the merchant is the collector of revenue for the government.

All these large and unnecessary increases come right back on you. That is why you are interested in turning out the Ottawa millionaires, and putting in a man like Mackenzie King, who, through training and positive hard work, has an appreciation of what the average family purse can stand.

A Little Advice.

How many more have the Meighen party promised to attend to? The time is getting perilously short, and any person who has been promised a safe port should go right in now and get it.

You might as well make a try. Look at the list of faithful who have received some of the real things. True, they were all in the last house, but they see something more permanent in their new posts.

Sir George E. Foster, North Toronto, a senatorship.

Hon. James A. Calder, Moose Jaw, a senatorship.

Hon. J. D. Reid, Grenville, a senatorship.

Sir A. Edward Kemp, East Toronto, a senatorship.

Hon. Thomas W. Crothers, West Elgin, a senatorship.

Hon. Thomas M. Tweedie, Calgary, a judgeship.

Hon. Herbert M. Mowat, Parkdale, a judgeship.

Brig-General W. A. Griesbach, Edmonton, a senatorship.

Hon. Robert F. Green, West Kootenay, a senatorship.

Not a bad list, is it?

Now, listen, Mr. Meighenite, if you have been angling for government appointment for some time you better force the matter and get it settled right now.

It's a straight business proposition, so why not face it?

You know, just as well as we know, that after December 6 your chance for that little soft job is all over.

The people who promised to look after you are mighty busy looking after their friends in their last dying days. There's no time to lose.

So if you want a little kindly advice, Mr. Meighenite, bore right in now and grab your reward. There are only a few days left.

Canadian Authors.

Canadian Authors' Week has a commendable mission. It aims to give appreciation and encouragement to Canadian authors.

Canada has authors of whom she can be proud, but these authors are those whose work serves to portray some fine Canadian character—give an idea of our national ideals or aims, or otherwise correctly interpret this Canada of ours to the outside world.

To this school of authors, whether in prose or poetry, Canada gladly extends congratulations and recognition, not for a week, but for every week in the year.

Unfortunately we have growing up in our midst a school of short story writers, perhaps not large, but increasing, whose only aim is to ape the insipid, mushy story that has a good market in certain corners of United States.

They do not represent the real school of Canadian authors. Their stories deal with unlovely people, with strange, weird situations, and with a thin, meaningless existence that is neither wholesome nor desirable.

Let us honor the honest-to-goodness Canadian author—and let us put our foot on the mimic of clasp-trap.

A Poor Sign.

In the November 19 issue of the Canada Gazette, the official paper published at Ottawa, is a list of 33 applications for divorce.

A survey of these, although stated in the cold, brief words of legal form, reveals a state of affairs that is painfully out of line with clean, God-fearing Canadian citizenship.

Go ahead, if you wish, and tell us that our divorce figure is so low when compared to United States that it is hardly noticeable.

The fact that United States figures are high has nothing whatever to do with Canada.

Our figures, for the safety of our nation, and for the protection of that most sacred of all institutions, the home, are mountains high now.

It is a sign of national decay when we see the divorce cases running page after page in our official papers.

Banks have attractive signs in their windows, offering $5,000 rewards for bank robbers. We are almost tempted to try for the $5,000, but the stipulations are too steep. They want you to go out and catch the beggar and bring him back to the bank. In these days of automatic and high-powered cars—no.

New York has a new scheme to get rid of its rats. There are 6,000,000 of them. Half a dozen will be caught and injected with a poison that will kill them after they are released. These rats will be eaten by other rats, which in turn will die from the poison. So on it will go until all the live rats have eaten all the dead rats, and then the live rats will be dead rats. Simple, isn't it?

The Union Government had all but 8 of the 82 seats in Ontario. In the Maritimes they won as follows: Prince Edward Island, 2 to 2; Nova Scotia, 12 to 4; New Brunswick, 7 to 4. The Meighen Government can hope for nothing in the west, for little in the east, and far less in Quebec. Its chances hinge on Ontario. Stripped of war appeals, the patronage-peddlers at Ottawa are going to find the going very heavy in this province.

Conservative papers rush to the support of the Riordan case, claiming that Liberals want to see the company put out of business and all its employees thrown out of work. Not at all. Liberals and a great many Conservatives simply want to know why it is that one big dividend-paying concern can get credit when the small man and the small business interest cannot? Simply a case of insisting on no special privileges.

From a sample of campaign literature sent out by the Meighen shingle mill at Ottawa we culled this slab:

"Take Japan. There is a country which has made enormous strides in recent years in the manufacture of textile chiefly. Will it be said for a moment that Canadian workmen should be asked to compete on equal terms with the workmen of that country who get a mere pittance for their labor, and are able to live for almost next to nothing?"

Very fine, were it not for the fact that the Liberals have no intention of opening Canadian markets to Japan. It would be just as sensible for a Liberal party to spin a yarn showing the need of protection for our prune industry from the competition of the South Sea Islanders.

NO. 44—SENSE OF FORM.

A sense of form is something that will prevent your becoming a great artist if you haven't got it. That's saying it backward, but exactly expresses the meaning.

The sense of form is what enables you to remember, and to reproduce if you have the manual dexterity, outlines, shapes, faces, figures, curves, designs and the like. It's sometimes referred to as a "true eye," but it's not a matter of the eye at all, but of certain brain functions back of the eye.

Maybe you think there's no way to tell whether a man or woman has a good sense of form without trying them out. But there is.

Look your subject straight in the face. Are his eyes set well apart? Is there a good development of the roof of his nose between his eyes? If so, he has a good sense of form.

But he may be no artist. Sense of form does not make an artist, though it is indispensable to one, unless he concerns himself only with color harmonies. It is also an aid to the draftsman, the carpenter, the geologist, the bricklayer, the builder, the engineer; in fact, to the follower of a host of trades and professions, not forgetting that it is our sense of form that enables us to remember the faces and general appearance of those we meet. It is therefore of value to the salesman and the "social butterfly," not to mention the young lady who has so many suitors she doesn't know what to do.

LEGAL QUERIES

Legal Editor, The Advertiser:

Dear Sir,—Can a tenant who has the house occupied by him wired for an electric stove remove these wires from the walls when about to vacate the premises?

Must he first obtain permission from the owner of the house to remove the wiring?

Please answer through The Advertiser. Yours truly, READER.

Ans.—A tenant can have his house wired for an electric stove, but must not remove wires from the wall when vacating without the consent of the owner.

It was freely predicted that there would be plenty of danger for the Prince of Wales in his trip to India. Therefore, the prince went to India. It is these traits of character that explain the existence of the British throne after most of its contemporaries have toppled.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

Here We Have Items of Local and District Interest, As Recorded in The Advertiser of 1896.

NOVEMBER 25, 1896.

The long-looked-for football match, Medicos vs. Arts and Divinity, was played yesterday on the University grounds, and resulted in the victory of the latter, 1 to 0. The following were the teams: Medicos—Arnot, goal; Russell and Campbell, backs; McEvoy, Bucks and Davis, halfbacks; Clay C. McLeay, L. McLeay, Aikens, Gray, forwards. Arts and Divinity—Doherty, goal; Westgate and Herbert, backs; Howard, Wade and Sutton, halfbacks; McMillen, Smith, Prof. Styles, Rev. Armitage and Purton, forwards. Mr. C. B. Edwards acted as referee.

Mr. F. L. Evans, the popular organist and choirman of Knox Church, gave a very enjoyable concert last night, assisted by the Musical Society Orchestra. Those taking part were: First violin, George Angus, Jas. Creswell; second violin, R. and W. Jex; viola, Roselle Pococke; cello, W. Saunders; bass, W. McLeod; flute, W. Wismer; clarinet, Joseph Johnson. Robert Allen, cornet; Mr. Munroe, E. George; trombones, J. Creswell, Arthur Silk; tympani and drums, H. McKenna.

Mr. Waldemar Bleuthner was the accompanist of the evening. At the conclusion of the entertainment the choir and orchestra and those who assisted were entertained to a luncheon by Mrs. John Macpherson and Mrs. Alex. Ferguson. The pastor, Mr. Stuart, was on hand, and assisted in entertaining the company.

Chief Engineer De Gurse of the L. E. and D. R. R., is a guest at the Tecumseh Hotel.

Last evening Grant Lodge, No. 467, A. O. U. W., held its first anniversary.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL.

CHAPPED HANDS

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

ROTHERSOME trouble that afflicts many people during the cold weather is chapping of the face and hands. It does not as a rule occur in the warmer seasons because at these times the sweat glands and the fat glands are particularly active and serve to keep the skin well oiled. For this reason it commonly occurs in the case of persons who naturally oily skins unless they have not taken any care of themselves at all.

It is most troublesome for those people who have fair, dry skins whose fat glands do not function so well in cold weather.

The causes of chapped skin are simple. The dry, cold irritating winds of winter, too frequent washings, especially with strong soaps; failure to dry the parts thoroughly after washing so that the rapid evaporation of the water by the dry air of winter causes dryness of the skin. These are the conditions that cause the skin to chap.

Because of the unnatural dryness of the skin, it loses its usual power of resistance to external irritants. The sweat and fat glands are not as active as they are in the warmer months. Like a piece of dry leather the skin cracks and breaks under conditions that it endures without strain when lubricated.

It is necessary to wash the face and hands often. This frequent washing, with soaps that are often harsh, and the hasty, careless drying afterwards are the prolific factors in producing chapped skin.

As in most other trivial troubles,

In his lodge rooms, Thomas' Hall, W. H. Morgan, M. W., detailed the work of the lodge for the past year. Electric Lodge was represented by Bro. Armstrong, Star Lodge by Bro. Stephen Grant, Woodbine by Bro. T. Glover, London Lodge by Bro. John Boyd, and Fidelity by Bro. Jos. Hamilton. Songs were given by Bros. Armstrong, W. Friendship and Peter Webster.

The students of Western University have been fortunate in securing the services of the celebrated Agnes Knox (Mrs. Charlton Black) for a recital at Wesley Hall on Dec. 1.

A meeting of the Organized Charities Society was held in the city hall Monday, with President J. S. Pearce in the chair. Among those present were: Rev. R. Johnston and Messrs. H. E. Gates, A. B. Cox, F. W. Matthews, John Beardsall, Mrs. Riley, Miss Graydon and Secretary Sanders.

The tenth annual ball of Forest City Lodge, No. 240, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was held in the city hall last night. An excellent program of music was provided by Dayton's orchestra. The committees in charge were composed of: Messrs. A. Muir (chairman), J. Wilson (secretary-treasurer), T. King and E. Dillie; reception committee, E. Burt, C. McFadden, J. Langley, F. Fountain, J. Hill, J. A. Johnston, A. E. Johnston, W. Wallace, J. Naven and D. Murray; decoration committee, John Wilson, J. Wheatcroft, H. Scarliff, J. Smith, W. Sutherland, H. Watson, W. Jones, J. Payne, J. Rich and T. White; floor committee, W. H. Culbert, A. Douglas, J. Dore, W. Dinkin, M. James, C. C. Mallow, W. Priestley, J. Legg, J. Thompson and R. Johnston.

people do not begin treatment until the condition is well developed. The skin is usually in a cracked and bleeding condition before any care is taken of it. The care and relief of chapping consists in attention to the details necessary to avoid or overcome the exciting causes.

The best remedy is obviously to restore some of the fats that are absent from the surface of the skin. To persons chapping easily the too frequent use of soap and water should be limited as much as possible. The soap used should contain some free fat, and the water used should be as soft as can be obtained.

After washing, a little cold cream, olive oil or vaseline will help restore to the hands some of their natural softness. At bedtime the skin should again be softened by an application of fat or fragrant lotion. Glycerine which is obtained from fats is a good lotion for chapped hands. The secret in preventing and curing chapped skin is to make up for the deficiency of fat which the skin fails to supply for itself in cold weather.

KING ANSWERS MEIGHEN QUERY IN SHORT ORDER

Flatly Denies That Liberal Party Is in Favor of Free Trade.

APPEALS FOR JUSTICE

Attacks Conservative Government for Failure to Serve or Consult Voters.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 24.—I am not and the Liberal party is not in favor of free trade.

This definite answer was given by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King this evening, to a Brantford audience, who crowded the opera house. An audience from all sections of the city of agricultural implements, representatives of all shades of political thought.

It came in answer to a question from the audience as to whether the Liberal party was in favor of free trade and was preceded by Mr. King's illustration of a mariner going to sea with a plotted chart, but without a compass and without knowledge of unknown seas which faced him.

It followed a repetition of the question asked by Premier Meighen, as to whether Mr. King and the Liberal party would stand by the free plank of 1917, to which Mr. Meighen answered that if he answered no he was not fit to be trusted; if he answered yes, he would lead the country to ruin, and if he did not answer at all, it showed he was not fit to lead anything.

Mr. King declared that he would answer—and in the words quoted he gave the answer direct.

Mr. King dwelt largely with the issue of the election, as to whether it was protection, protection of the kind which created trusts, monopolies and mergers on the one hand, and a tariff for revenue which would protect industries, protect the farmers, protect the people of all classes, but would not create

Beatty's Bump Causes "Cocked Hat"

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—An explanation has been obtained for Admiral Beatty's habit of wearing his cap jauntily cocked to one side.

"It's not swank; it's a bump," said the hero of Jutland, and removed the headpiece to show that a peculiar cranial conformation on one side made it uncomfortable, if not impossible, for him to wear the stiff naval cap on "a level keel."

Efforts to carry his headgear at a normal angle, the admiral said, inevitably caused headaches, so he had finally adopted his present style.

multi-millionaires, mergers, trusts and combines.

He attacked also the government on its failure to present to the people for discussion the issue of the government had raised and the information which they had gathered through the tariff commission so that the people might have known what conclusions had been reached and their judgment upon that. This information had been withheld though the government had promised that tariff revision based upon it would be introduced at the last session of the House.

Information as to the people's railways had also been withheld though it had been furnished in part to the shareholders and bondholders of the G. T. R. In England, the information then being cabled to Canada to the people who were to take over the road and pay the price.

In concluding Mr. King appealed for the unity of all Democrats, Progressives and Liberals to overcome the common enemy, as otherwise the autocratic government might remain in power and there would be no government of, by and for the people.

W. G. Raymond, Liberal candidate in Brantford and Han, Chas. Murphy also spoke. The three principal speakers also addressed a gathering at Victoria Hall, held synonomously.

SHOWS DANGER OF 'THE RECALL' IN PARLIAMENT

McCoig Opposes Placing of Such Power in Hands of Few.

G. P. GRAHAM ON TARIFF

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WHEATLEY, Nov. 24.—The first meeting of the present political campaign was held in Wheatley Wednesday evening, when Hon. George P. Graham, candidate for South Essex, and A. B. McCoig, candidate for West Kent, both in the Liberal cause, addressed the electors.

Mr. McCoig, who spoke first, defended his position in refusing to have any strings attached to him, especially when the other end of the string was attached to a small group of men acting, it might be automatically, but in the name of a whole constituency. This is what he claimed would likely be the case if the executive of any party had the power of recall.

When the people, by a full vote such as an election afforded, sent a man to parliament, said Mr. McCoig, it is not a safe thing to leave the option of his recall in the hands of a small coterie of men, who might be actuated by the basest of motives.

Mr. McCoig gave instances to illustrate this danger, wherein he had been approached to commit himself in the House to stands that would be entirely at variance to the interests of the electorate at large. He had never, he averred, prostituted his position to serving the selfish interests of anyone, and he never would.

The speaker also nailed several slanderous misstatements that had found currency during the present campaign and categorically refuted many of them. The audience gave a most attentive and apparently sympathetic hearing.

Discusses Tariff.
Hon. Mr. Graham in his address dealt with the Liberal attitude on the tariff question. He pointed out that though the Liberal attitude is somewhat different from the tariff question than it was two years ago, this is accounted for by the fact that the situation has changed in that time, in as much as the United States has since that time removed its offer of reciprocity. We could not, he said, afford to allow Mr. McCoig to come to the market at Windsor, Chatham, London and Toronto, unless we had a like privilege of sending our produce into Detroit and other markets.

EXTENDED TIME OF FARMERS' LOAN

WINNIPEG, Nov. 24.—Extension of time for repayment of seed grain loans made in 1920 and 1921 has been granted to Manitoba farmers, it was announced today by Hon. George H. Macdonald, minister of agriculture.

Kerwood

KEERWOOD, Nov. 24.—A public meeting will be held at the Strathroy town hall, Nov. 25, to discuss the possibilities of securing hydro-electric power for Kerwood and vicinity.

The last service will be held in the tabernacle on Sunday, Nov. 27, when the pastor, Rev. C. J. Moorhouse, will preach at both services. On the following Sunday, Dec. 4, the opening of the new Methodist church will take place. Rev. T. Albert Moore, secretary of the general conference, will preach at each service and conduct the dedicatory service. On Monday evening, Dec. 5, the ladies of the congregation will serve a foot supper. A concert will follow. The ladies of St. Paul's church will hold their postponed Thanksgiving meeting on Nov. 30 at the home of Mrs. George Froer. After the usual program a bazaar will be held. The Ladies' Aid will serve tea at the close of the afternoon.

Tokugawa Talks About Skirts!

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING.

[Special to The London Advertiser.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—"Won't you smoke?" Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, president of the Japanese House of Peers and chief delegate to the conference, offered an odd little case of gilt-edged cigarettes.

"Ah, you don't smoke?" A shadow of disappointment. The prince laid down his own cigarette.

"Our women smoke with us," he said.

"Are Anglo-Saxon women quite unlike Japanese?"

"Ah!" Prince Iyesato settled his plump body in a huge plush chair. He struck a fat brown thumb in either armhole of his waistcoat. His round dark-skinned cheeks almost hid his very bright black eyes in a broad grin.

"You get me into trouble—talk about women!" He laughed.

Notices Skirts.

"But I notice the skirts—the skirts!" Prince Iyesato was confused, slightly troubled. He leaned over. His hand indicated the region somewhere near below his plump knees which scarcely extended beyond the line of his rounded body.

"Short—aren't they?" I assisted.

"Yes—yes!" The prince was grinning broadly. "Very, very! Where that habit come from?" Lines of concern appeared on his wide forehead.

As for the disarmament conference, Prince Iyesato says:

"We must be very frank, very sincere, very candid. My colleagues and I wish to and are intent upon doing the best, not only for our own country, but for the peace of the world. We hope that it will be successful."

The broad little Japanese was on his feet offering his hand.

"Now in our country," he was smiling, "only a man would call on a high official."

"And you see—" he was grinning plumply again, "they come way down in our country!"

It was the skirt again.

"But don't misunderstand me—I do not say I do not like them so!"

At least, Prince Iyesato is a diplomat indicated the region somewhere near

Banks To Use Siren Alarms To Warn Public of Bandit Attack

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—Electric siren alarms, to be used in case of attempted robbery or burglary, will be attached to the 110 branches of the Bank of Hamilton. A test of a siren of women in the interests of the bank of the city, it being attached to the wall on the outside of the bank building two storeys up. The interior of the bank is wired, with many electric buttons hidden in secret places, so that if a robbery is attempted the staff push their buttons and the alarm automatically shrieks a warning on the street.

The test brought four policemen to the bank on the jump. However, the local police suggest that if the railings in the bank were built up to the ceilings this would be as good protection as bank alarms, as in the bank hold-ups the bandits have huddled the railings which separated the bank staffs from the public.

It is said that the electric siren alarm may be installed in every bank in Canada.

WOMEN PLAY BIG PART IN CAMPAIGN

"Fair" Support Big Factor in Hopes of Elgin Candidate.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 24.—It is expected that women speakers will play a prominent part in the campaigns of East and West Elgin from now on. Both the Liberals and the Conservatives have been billed for the coming week. On Thursday afternoon next, Mrs. Fred Dewar, of Milton, a prominent member of the Women's Liberal organization, will address a mass meeting of women in Arthur in the interests of the Liberal candidate, the Hon. C. B. Fraser. The Liberal standard-bearer of that riding. Judging from the large representation of women who have attended every meeting held by him, it is expected to be one of the largest mass meetings ever held in East Elgin.

The Liberals in West Elgin have planned a large meeting for women to be held in St. Thomas on Wednesday afternoon of next week. The speaker will be Mrs. E. G. Fraser of London. Miss Constance Boulton, who is touring the province in the interest of the Conservative party, will address a meeting to be held in St. Thomas in the interest of the Conservative candidate in the west riding. The meeting will also be addressed by M. M. MacBride, M.L.A., for Brantford.

PAVED HIGHWAY DELIGHTS SKATERS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATFORD, Nov. 24.—The paved provincial highway from Stratford was a sheet of ice today, and while dangerous for horses and autos, was a paradise for youths. Two young men skated four miles in from Sebringville today.

The Retail Merchants' Association will conclude the season with a complimentary banquet on Tuesday, Nov. 29 at the Chamber of Commerce quarters. W. G. Miller, secretary of the provincial association, will speak. Barnsdale Trading Company, one of the oldest established general stores in the city, today made an assignment. A. C. Barnsdale, manager, said no plans had been made for the future.

STRIVE TO FIND MEANING OF WILL

Osgoode Hall To Interpret Testament of T. P. McCormick.

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—The will of the late Thomas Palmer McCormick, a wealthy manufacturer of London, Ontario, is now at Osgoode Hall for interpretation, more particularly as to the validity of clause three:

"I direct that my executors, on the advice of my wife, shall decide as to the distribution of $10,000 to charities and relatives, such as old People's Home, Protestant Orphans' Home, Home for Incurables, Young Men's Christian Association."

Then follows a list of so-called relatives. Regarding clause 3, the widow says: "I do not wish to give any advice or to make any decision pursuant to said clause for various reasons, and, for such reasons as seem sufficient to me, I refuse to advise or decide."

There are two sons, Thomas Bland McCormick, and Cyril Palmer McCormick. The former makes this comment on clause three of his father's will: "Young Men's Christian Association is not a charitable but a social organization. There are many distinct young men's Christian associations throughout Canada. In Ontario, Canada, and throughout the world there are various organizations, Old People's Homes, Protestant Orphans' Homes and Homes for Incurables, some having the same name."

Regarding "relatives" listed in the will, the son points out that some were not blood relatives, and that some are dead.

The late Mr. McCormick was worth more than $300,000. His shares of the capital stock of the McCormick Company, Limited, sold for $314,000. A succession duty item, a sum paid to the provincial treasurer was $40,937. The widow is willed an annuity of $6,000.

Mr. McCormick made the will in 1914, and died on March 31, 1917.

WANTS SUICIDE MEANS OMITTED

MONTREAL, Nov. 24.—Coroner McMahon this morning requested representatives of the press of this city not to mention any imputations or suspicions used to take human life, as he was of the opinion that such publicity encouraged suicide.

IN FAVOR OF WOMEN MINISTERS.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—Five of the nine Methodist church quarterly boards in the Ottawa district have voted in favor of women being allowed to enter the ministry. Two voted against, one vote was a tie and the remaining church postponed its vote.

Toronto V. C. Fired by Ottawa For Entering Federal Contest

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—Dismissal of Sergeant W. L. Rayfield, V.C., from his position in the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment, following his nomination as soldier candidate in East Toronto constituency has brought a storm of protest, and numerous telegrams are being sent to Ottawa demanding his reinstatement. Sergeant Rayfield has received wordfield's behalf.

DECIDES CANADA GRAIN ACT VALID

WINNIPEG, Nov. 24.—The Canadian grain act was held valid in a judgment rendered today by R. M. Noble, magistrate of the provincial police court, in convicting the Manitoba Grain Company, Limited, on a charge of carrying on a grain business without a license from the board of commissioners established under the act. Magistrate Noble imposed a fine of $25 and granted a stayed case to the court of appeal.

The defence in the action submitted that the Canada grain act was invalid, in that it was ultra vires of the Dominion Parliament, and that therefore the defendant company had committed no offence.

SHOOTS 2, THEN CLEANS OUT TILL WALES IN TOUCH WITH AUSTRALIA

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 24.—A youthful bandit, about 22 years of age, entered a drug store at the corner of Gerlie and Notre Dame avenue at 6 o'clock this evening, shot the proprietor and his assistant, cleaned out the till and escaped.

J. Wilder, the proprietor, was shot in the arm and hip, and A. Davis, the assistant, was shot in the abdomen and seriously wounded. Both are in the hospital. No "hands up" command was given by the assailant, who simply entered the store and started firing at the two victims. It is not known how much money was taken.

CENSURE DOCTOR FOR HIS LAXITY

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—The General Medical Council of Great Britain has severely censured a doctor who issued a certificate of health to an intending emigrant, who the emigration authorities declared was suffering from heart disease, and would probably not survive the ocean voyage. The man had sold all his effects here.

The doctor in question, who offered to compensate the would-be emigrant for the loss he had incurred, urged in his defence before the General Medical Council that these had been an intentional deception on his part, and that the man was now walking 25 miles daily.

BURY SPARLING AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Nov. 24.—In spite of a raging blizzard, hundreds of ministers, church members and citizens generally gathered to pay their last respects today to the memory of the late Rev. William Sparling, D.D., of the First Methodist Church, London, Ont., whose funeral took place here this afternoon.

The loss sustained by the Methodist church at large in Canada was the dominant note of the addresses delivered by Rev. Robert Smith, chairman of the Montreal district, the Rev. James Henderson and the Rev. Francis James Smyth, while a message of deep regret at inability to be present was conveyed from the Rev. Dr. W. S. Lenson of Kingston, president of the Montreal conference.

Rev. Mr. Smyth was the presiding minister and a lengthy choral service was rendered.

The Rev. Dr. James Henderson, pastor emeritus of St. James' Methodist Church, where the funeral ceremony was held, paid a fitting tribute to the character of the late minister, to his great abilities, and to the work which he had accomplished. Canadian Methodism has suffered a great loss in the death of Dr. Sparling, he believed, and it would be high impossible to replace him.

VATICAN NOW TO RECOGNIZE ITALY

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A Central News dispatch from Rome says the newspaper Tempo publishes an interview with Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, who is quoted as having asserted that Pope Benedict is ready for a reconciliation with Italy.

Relations between the Holy See and the Italian government ceased in 1870, when Rome was incorporated by royal decree with Italy and made the capital of the kingdom.

SHE TOOK HER MOTHER'S ADVICE

Now is in the Best of Health because she took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kesock, Sask.—"My mother has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and has learned of my troubles advised me to try it, as I seemed all run down after the flu and had leucorrhoea. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and used the Sauter-Brown's Capsules and Prescription and am much better in every way. I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial as I recommend your medicines."—Mrs. IRENE NELSON, Kesock, Sask.

It is not always in business that a woman is forced to give up her work on account of ill health. It is quite as often the woman who does her own work at home. When backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when that bearing-down sensation attacks you, when you are nervous and blue, the best help for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Despite the fact that his resignation goes into effect Dec. 1, George Maines will be present at the meeting of the major and minor moguls in convention at Hamilton for 1922, and says he has some minor league presidents lined up on the idea. Hamilton as a baseball town of merit has about as much claim to the convention as the St. Louis twins to the island of Yap, but that won't prevent George trying for it. As a convention city for hot-air furnace manufacturers, well, that's different.

The Hams will probably play their games next year with a burnt cork makeup, how that Al has invested a song down under the mountain, or a few lines of the chorus.

Babe Ruth and General Foss are to sit next to one another at a banquet. As neither can speak good English the conversation will probably be hitting around 165.

For defending his title two days after he won it, Johnny Buff will likely be thrown out of the champs' union.

The grid season being over, he felt as tough as nails. But other games, he thought, had just the speed of a snail. "I'll have to take up something else," I feel so full of vim," So basketball he fell for, it looked so good to him.

But Lou, he got a busted arm, his eyes shut black and blue. So he decided after they had nearly knocked him dead. That he should train in rugby to play basketball instead.

The poor amateur hockey player doesn't have much fun at Christmas unless he gets in advance.

Didier Pitre has just signed a contract for the season of 1921-22. Outside of Lalonde, Pitre is one of the oldest players playing professional hockey, the fastest and hardest game in the world. His remarkable condition is due to the fact that he plays clean hockey. He never hands out the bumps and therefore he doesn't have to take them, because opposing players recognize his innate fairness. No professional player commands more respect than Didier in either hockey or lacrosse.

Willis doesn't Hoppe as fast as he used to.

Some people still think that the British and American swordsmen engaged in a competition now will have sore throats before they're through.

The Eskimos of Edmonton arrive in Toronto today. Precedent means that it will be a freeze-out for the Westerners, but that shouldn't bother them any.

A Montreal follower of rugby who writes under the name of Observer, agrees with Joe Wright that the introduction of the forward pass would improve the Canadian game. He also advocates several other features of U. S. football. He says: "The U. S. unlimited interference behind the line permits of many trick plays which we cannot have, because our players are too afraid. The forward pass introduces that element of uncertainty into the game that may result in a touchdown either way, and relieves the monotony of constant kicking or line plays, and it raises no end of enthusiasm at games in the States when it is successfully worked. As to three or four downs for yards, I am for compromise on three downs for yards plus the forward pass. If you wish to use it between the first or second or third downs. Interference in front of the line would, without doubt, spoil our splendid running game, so I would not recommend it."

Energy Low? Take Yeast in Tablet Form

Combined With Iron and Other Health Builders—Watch the Quick Improvement in You!

Science finds that a great many people grow prematurely old and worn out because their foods lack one all-important substance called vitamins.

Ordinary baking yeast, it has been found, is rich in vitamins. Those who have eaten common yeast have, in many cases, derived splendid benefits from it. But the trouble is that only a comparatively few people can "digest" yeast, due to its nauseating taste.

But now, at last, everyone can take yeast—and enjoy it. For, under the name Ironized Yeast, it is available in convenient tablet form, which is not only pleasant to take, but is far more effective than ordinary yeast because it contains highly concentrated brewer's yeast which is even richer in vitamins than baking yeast.

In addition, Ironized Yeast contains organic or vegetable iron (easily assimilated by the system), which for years has been prescribed as a blood-builder. Thus, in Ironized Yeast, you get the benefit of two splendid tonics instead of only one.

If you have been sickly, thin and run-down generally, if you feel yourself getting old and lack the energy and ambition you once possessed, if you get tired easily, and are troubled with poor appetite, nervousness, sleeplessness—then, by all means try Ironized Yeast. It will, in most cases, bring results that are actually astonishing.

Ironized Yeast keeps indefinitely and costs about the same per dose as common yeast, but is much more effective. Each package contains 10 days' treatment and costs only a dollar, or just like a day. Special directions for children in each package. Sold at good drug-gists everywhere.

CHOOSE EXECUTIVE OF CHILDREN'S AID

St. Thomas Society Plans Generous Christmas Program.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Dunmore was re-elected president of the local Children's Aid Society at the annual meeting of that organization held at the home of Mrs. Symington. Mrs. Rogers Black was elected vice-president, while Mrs. Symington was again appointed secretary by acclamation and Mrs. A. E. Marlett was elected press secretary.

It was decided that in the future the society as a whole was to be considered an auxiliary, with each member assuming a share of the responsibility. Out of this auxiliary will be chosen an executive and the necessary smaller committees.

In former years it has been the custom to ask the public for donations of fruit and vegetables, and the response has always been generous. The past year, however, this was omitted with the result that all these things must now be purchased at a big expense.

The committee has consequently decided to canvass the city for donations of canned fruit or anything that the donor feels able to contribute. Which may add to the comfort of the little ones in their charge. The ladies issued the following appeal:

"Once again we are approaching that beautiful Christmas season, which seems to be something more than the bare necessities of life to make it stand out distinctly from all other days of the year, and we would ask all those who feel thus disposed to contribute in some way, no matter how small, to make this day as happy as possible to these little strangers outside our gates."

"BISCUIITS" TO RETIRE WITHIN YEAR, HE SAYS

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Stanislaus Zysko, who will defend his heavyweight wrestling title Monday night in a bout with Ed. ("Strangler") Lewis, former champion, announced today he expected to retire within a year.

He is more than 40 years old and has engaged in 940 matches during his career.

Underwood

[Special to The Advertiser.]

UNDERWOOD, Nov. 24.—The books of the Underwood Public Library, which were destroyed by fire in 1920, are being gradually replaced. Four hundred sixty-one dollar and seventy-six cents have been spent for books, and there are now 700 volumes on the shelves as well as eight popular magazines. Some of the new fall books are being procured. The Women's Institute are paying for the caretaking of the library.

The members of the library board for 1921 are: President, Mrs. Donald Cairns; trustee, Miss Mary E. Johnston; treasurer, Miss Margaret B. Johnston; secretary, Miss Ena Henderson.

The regular meeting of the Underwood Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. H. McLean. Mrs. Graham, the president, was in the chair, and a large number of ladies were present. Miss Margaret Johnston, delegate to the convention at London, gave a very interesting report on the convention program. Mrs. Graham, who attended the convention as a district delegate, also spoke. Mrs. D. Cairns gave a splendid paper on "Community Ideals," and Mrs. W. Jones on "Trust the Children."

MEETING OF ST. THOMAS COUNCILLORS POSTPONED

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 24.—Owing to the fact that election night falls on the night scheduled for the regular monthly meeting of the city council, the city fathers will postpone the session to a later date, according to Mayor Brinkman.

If there is business of exceptional importance to come up it is quite likely that the meeting will be called for the evening of Dec. 7.

The regular committee meetings which are held each night for a week previous to the council meetings will be held on scheduled time, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Seitz live on the farm of their son Joseph Seitz, about two miles east of the village, on the Hamilton road. Guests were present from Detroit, London and Dorchester.

Motor Owners, Beware, or the Noxious Gases Will Get You

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Cold weather "don'ts" of the past has been increased this year with a new one by the ventilation experts. It is that you make sure your garage is properly ventilated, or your relatives may have to call an undertaker. Deadly carbon monoxide, a poisonous gas given off by automobile engines in motion, has taken a big toll of human lives in the past in the case of chauffeurs or car owners who failed to realize that working in a poorly-ventilated or closed garage with the engine running was really as foolish as "blowing out the light" in the good old days.

New discoveries of the violence of carbon monoxide recently have been made by Professor Yandell Harrison and other engineers working to solve the problem of ventilation for the proposed vehicular tunnel under the Hudson River. Among their tests was one to show the effect of the gas when it is confined in closed space. A summary of their observations, with particular reference to garages, appears in the Journal of The American Medical Association.

It showed that if the quantity of carbon monoxide in air did not exceed three parts in 10,000 no physiological effects were produced. Between 3 and 6 parts to the 10,000 the effects were hardly perceptible. Above that headache and nausea were induced, increasing in severity with the rising of the ratio, and when it reached 15 to the 10,000 life was in jeopardy.

Motor car owners and operators are warned that an engine emits a square foot of the deadly gas a minute when in motion, and in three minutes the air in a closed garage is saturated to a sufficient degree greatly to imperil human life. The victim falls unconscious before he realizes he is in peril, and death is the outcome unless he is speedily rescued and brought into the open air.

COMMUNITY CONCERT PROVES BIG SUCCESS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

PORT STANLEY, Nov. 24.—Community spirit was strongly in evidence Tuesday evening, when a good crowd gathered in the town hall to listen to a varied and interesting program put on under the auspices of the local I. O. O. F. The chair was filled by Councillor W. T. Bell. Those who took part were: Mrs. Stevenson, Miss Miss Beatty, Miss Queen Campbell, Mrs. H. M. Ellison, Miss Kate Ellison, Billie Ellison and George Stevenson. Dr. McTavish delivered an inspiring address, and he and Mrs. F. O. Campbell staged an amusing sketch at the close of the program. Lunch boxes, which had been brought by the ladies, were auctioned. Community singing led by Messrs. Campbell, Blair and Ellison was a feature of the evening. The sum of $60, clear of expenses, was realized.

Wheatley

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WHEATLEY, Nov. 24.—Wednesday evening, Mrs. Lorraine Jones, formerly Miss Nina Watson, was tendered a miscellaneous shower of beautiful gifts at the home of Mrs. R. W. Leader. About 25 girl friends of the bride were present, and a most enjoyable time was spent. Games, contests and music were indulged in and lunch was served.

Rev. A. E. Doan and family are now settled in the new Methodist parsonage, recently purchased from J. H. Atkinson. The former parsonage has been sold to N. Colles.

The fishermen have nearly concluded their fishing for this season and are removing their nets. Some report pretty fair returns for the year, but others have not had it as good as formerly. The inadequate supply of ice was a great handicap, as a supply had to be shipped in from more northerly points.

FINGAL MAN HURT WHEN BUGGIES COLLIDE

FINGAL, Nov. 24.—Norman Higgs was painfully injured Monday evening when his horse and buggy collided with that driven by D. McPherson. The buggy in which Mr. McPherson and family were riding was not overturned, but Mr. Higgs was not so fortunate. His horse ran away and he was thrown to the ground. He escaped serious injury, but has several painful bruises. The horse was caught about one mile from the village.

Brussels

BRUSSELS, Nov. 24.—Mr. McLaren, community organizer of the O. A. C., Guelph, will give an address in the A. O. U. W. Hall, Walton, on Dec. 1. There will also be a musical program and community games.

William Fulton and John Hollinger, both Grey Township farmers for many years, died last week. Intermment took place in Brussels Cemetery. Mr. Fulton was born in Scotland 81 years ago. Mr. Hollinger was in his 80th year.

At the last meeting of Brussels Women's Institute an interesting and instructive address was given to the members on "Women's Franchises" by Mrs. W. W. Harris.

At several auction sales cattle have been selling at good prices, notwithstanding the condition of the market. Feed is reported to be plentiful.

James Peacock, Jamestown, underwent a successful operation for appendicitis at Wingham Hospital, and is improving nicely.

THIEVES GET CLOTHING IN NIGHT STORE TOUR

LINDSAY, Nov. 24.—During thieves entered several stores in Hobbacogway last night and carried off silk blouses, boots and shoes, men's clothing and tobacco, as well as robbing the contents of several of the tills, getting some loose change. The stores entered were those of Conway, Robert Kennedy, F. Read, Wright and Lehart and Peterkins. Two men were seen by a Mr. Edgar, at Peterkins's store. Both carried flash lights. They ran away when he appeared.

HEARTBURN A SEVERE CASE

Many people are troubled with heartburn who really do not realize just what it is.

In cases of this trouble there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by disturbed appetite. It is generally caused by great acidity of the stomach, and whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and becomes extremely sour, causing heartburn. In such cases vomiting often occurs, and what is thrown up is sour and sometimes bitter.

The one way to get rid of heartburn is to keep your liver active by using

and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles such as constipation, jaundice, water brash, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, foul breath, etc.

Miss Agnes Cutting, Shallow Lake, Ont., writes: "I have had heartburn for a long time. There were gnawing and burning pains in my stomach, and then when I vomited there was a sour and bitter taste. I used two vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of my heartburn. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine."

Price, 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The R. H. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Advt.

ACCIDENT HAS NEVER MADE A GOOD VIOLIN

Exact Science Necessary, Declares London's Stradivarius.

BY ISABEL C. ARMSTRONG.

"Accident never produced a good instrument," said M. H. Solomons, maker of violins, cellos and violas, to the women's department of The Advertiser. His dark eyes glowed with a great enthusiasm, his sensitive hands made effective gestures. He was talking of the absorbing interest of his life, the making of instruments, for which his standard is perfection.

Some day, in the centuries to come, even though he makes his home, his cellos, his violins and violas in London town, a great poet may enshrine him in verse as Browning did Stradivarius, and great artists may lovingly stroke their instruments and proudly say: "I have a Stradivarius, an Amati, a Guarnerius, but a 'Solomons' made by Solomons in 1921."

The other evening a 'celist played at a local theatre and many were the tributes to the moving to his exceptional tone this night, the tone of his instrument. Those sufficiently interested to inquire discovered that the maker of the 'cello was a Russian-Canadian, a Londoner moreover, named Solomons.

How did Solomons "happen" to achieve success? Could he duplicate it? "Not happen" at all," said Mr. Solomons. "But exact science, perfect balancing, sensitive ear and touch, infinite patience, an instinct for the work, a love for it to make easy the sacrifice of time and money while acquiring the experience."

Explodes Varnish Myth. "But what of the wood that you use? Isn't it claimed that the tone of the instrument depends on the kind and seasoning of the wood, and the varnish?" "Isn't it claimed that the reason very fine violins have not been made in recent years is because of the quality of the varnish composition used with the great master makers?"

Solomons—who ever heard of Mr. Stradivarius?—shrugged his shoulders and laughed. "Theory," he said, "the theory of those who have failed, to excuse their failure. The whole secret of making a good violin, a good cello and an organ is to say a perfect instrument—in the proportion of balance between the parts that will produce clear tones, perfect harmonizing notes on all strings. The balance must be accurate as that of a watch."

"In the violin there are the four strings, G, D, A, E. The G string may be all that could be desired, the others fall in proportion. The larger the instrument, the more difficult to get this perfect harmonizing of the strings. The larger instruments have historic precedents and were dropped to the smaller size in the interests of getting better results. For better, the violin there has scarcely been improvement in the 'cello, until now. I believe I have solved the problem of proportion and balance."

"The varnish," he is true, has some bearing upon this. Make the coat of varnish too thick in proportion to the wood and you throw out your whole instrument. In the same way, move the bridge a hair's breadth to the right or left and you mar what might otherwise be perfection."

"Such a delicate process is the making of violins, cellos, 'cellos. I can compare it with the harnessing up of electricity. We can harness electricity, but we do not understand it."

"So the making of good instruments has in it the element of the unexplainable. One must have a great feeling, a feeling, an artist, musician. I must make my tools as well as my instruments."

"And the artistic temperament?" "Without it any great work is impossible," said Solomons.

And what of special training for the work he is making his own? "To begin with, I was born in Russia, not only the country of great revolutions, but of the greatest musical development of any country in the world in the fifty years preceding the past three of chaos. A native of Lithuania, he was the son of a professor of music and languages, associated from his earliest childhood with the finest in music, learning quickly to speak many tongues."

"I have studied jurisprudence, music, chemistry, languages, engineering, painting, engraving and I have found them all invaluable in the making of instruments," he declared. "In some way I have applied all of these. All the knowledge, skill and experience I have gained from life, as well as any talent with which I have been endowed goes into the making of one 'cello, one violin."

Personals

Mr. J. I. Ferguson is convalescing after a severe illness.

Miss Jo Belton has left for New York, where she will spend Christmas, the guest of Mrs. Cary.

Mr. Hunter, with her young son, of Victoria, B. C., are guests with her mother, Mrs. C. B. Hunt.

Miss Nora Moore has returned from Toronto after a delightful visit with her sister, Mrs. Acton-Burrows.

Mrs. Thomas L. Stanton of Leamington is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Pawkes, Queen's avenue.

Mrs. (Dr.) Herbert Little, with her small son, of Montreal, is the guest of Mrs. J. W. Little, Dufferin avenue.

Mrs. Clair Black and Miss Lena Whately of Port Huron have been visitors in the city this week, guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. McCann.

Miss Sadie Rose of Nazareth Academy, Rochester, N.Y., is spending the American Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Rose, Sydenham street.

Mr. George Millar of Detroit has had a cordial welcome back to London from his many old friends during a brief visit in town this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Millar.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Field and Dorothy of St. Catharines have recently taken up their residence on Richmond street north. Mr. Field has been appointed manager of the Bank of Toronto.

A charmingly-arranged luncheon was held at the Kennels on Wednesday and claimed Mrs. Edmund Howell as its hostess. Covers were laid for twelve, the tables being centered with lovely yellow mums.

Among relatives who have been in the city owing to the death of Mr. Edmund Meredith, K.C., are Mr. and Mrs. John C. Meredith, Buffalo; Mr. E. Meredith, Toronto; Mr. H. Meredith, Detroit; Sir William Meredith, Toronto; Sir Vincent Meredith, Montreal; and Mr. Charles Meredith of Toronto.

Miss Victoria Kirby was the hostess of a miscellaneous shower, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Arnold, Nelson street, in honor of Miss Dorothy Yelland, whose marriage takes place in the near future. Miss Yelland received many lovely gifts, and during the evening a delicious supper was served.

The Public Utilities Football Club held a jolly dance on Thursday evening in Ulster Hall. This was the first dance they have given this season, but they intend holding them monthly during the winter. The success of the dance was due chiefly to the committee in charge, consisting of Mr. R. Hanson, Mr. J. Smith and Mr. A. McCulloch.

Miss Marguerite Chamberlain entertained recently at a dinner party, at her home, 770 Princess avenue, in honor of Miss Helen Sharran, Detroit. The color scheme of yellow and white was effectively carried out in the drawing-room and dining-room, where tastefully-arranged chrysanthemums were used for decorations. Covers were laid for 20.

Among the guests present were: Miss Betty Reid, Miss Marjorie McNeill, Miss Iva Ferguson, Miss Lillian McArthur, Miss Sally McLean and Miss Gladys McLean. Those present from out of town were: Mr. L. Bradley and Mr. A. Williams, Detroit; Mr. R. Dennis and Mr. L. Whittaker, Toronto; Mr. O. Ironside and Dr. H. McWhinney, Brantford; Mr. Quick and Mr. H. Midgley, Sarnia.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN.

COOKING FOR TWO

PERHAPS you are cooking for "just two" and the amount to cook puzzles you. You bake a cake, and it's so big that it seems to last forever and half of it is wasted. The rule for muffins made so many that you think you have enough for winter at least. The pudding didn't sound big, but there's enough for a regiment. One essential for cooking in small amounts is small cooking utensils. The frying pan should be small. It's a waste of heat and fat to use big spiders.

You can't make a cupful of sauce in a two-quart pan and have the sauce as perfect as you would wish.

Tomato Soup for Two. One pint can tomatoes, 1/2 onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 cup water.

Put butter in a stew pan with a tightly-fitting cover. Melt and add onion sliced. Put on cover and cook until the onion is a pale straw color. Add tomatoes and let simmer, covered, twenty minutes. Rub through a fine strainer. Return juice to the fire with soda. Heat milk, saving about two tablespoons to make a paste with the flour. When the tomatoes are hot, stir in the flour. Bring to the boiling point and let boil five minutes. Add milk but do not boil. Serve very hot with toasted bread cubes.

Clear Soup for Two. Two and one-half pounds shin of beef, 1 quart cold water, 1 head celery (leaves), 1 onion, 1 sprig parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper.

Wipe meat with a damp cloth. Cut meat from bone and cut in small cubes. Remove marrow from bone and melt in soup kettle. Add one-third of the cubes of meat and let brown on all sides. Remove from fire, add remaining meat and cold water. Let stand fifteen or twenty minutes. Put over a slow fire and simmer two hours. Add celery and onion sliced, parsley, salt and pepper. Simmer half an hour longer. Strain. Cool quickly, remove fat that rises to the top and reheat to serve. While the soup is simmering the kettle should be kept tightly covered.

One tablespoonful of rice may be washed and tied in a cheesecloth bag and added to the soup kettle with the vegetables. When ready to reheat, remove from bag and reheat in the strained soup. Rice cooked with the stock adds a delicious flavor to the soup.

Cream of Corn Soup for Two. One cup canned corn, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup milk, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 dessertspoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1 slice onion, 2 tablespoons cream, popcorn.

Put corn in stew pan with water. Simmer fifteen minutes and rub through a fine strainer. Put the onion in the milk and let stand ten minutes. Remove onion and heat milk to the boiling point, but do not boil. Melt butter and stir in flour.

Pour on scalded milk, stirring constantly. Add salt and pepper and corn puree. Heat and serve with whipped cream sprinkled with paprika on the top of each plate. Serve with popcorn in place of crackers. (Copyright, 1921.)

Gen. Sir Henry Bursall and Major Neilson, A. D. C., of Ottawa, who will be in the city next week to inspect the militia units, will be the guests of Major-Gen. H. A. Panet and Mrs. Panet at Wolseley Barracks.

Appoints Guide Division Heads

Counties of Ontario Grouped in Twenty-Eight Divisions Under Commissioners.

The first appointments of Girl Guide divisional commissioners for the province have been announced this week. Mrs. H. D. Warren, Toronto, Dominion commissioner, issued warrants on Monday to Miss Kay Symes, Ottawa, for the division, including Renfrew, Lanark, Carleton and Russell; Mrs. Stanley Wallace, for Kent and Essex; Mrs. King, for Lincoln, Welland and Haldimand; Mrs. Dwyer, for Niagara; Mrs. Ruttle, Bruce and Grey; Mrs. F. W. Marlow is the Toronto city division commissioner, assisted by the following district commissioners: Mesdames W. R. Lang, T. Beattie, Burgess Brown, Courtice Campbell, Goldwin Howland and Rice.

For the purpose of more effective organization and administration, the province, for which Mrs. F. P. Betts of this city is commissioner, has been divided into twenty-eight divisions, over each of which a division commissioner is to be appointed. It is expected that further warrants will be issued shortly, as recommendations have been made for all the divisions by Mrs. Betts and her division committee.

In Western Ontario, Middlesex and Lambton are grouped together, Elgin and Oxford; Huron and Perth; Wentworth and Halton; Waterloo and Wellington will each have commissioners.

BANKERS' DANCE IS JOLLY EVENT

A delightful social event of the week was the at home given by the bankers of the city in the Winter Gardens on Thursday evening. The ballroom was most effectively decorated with flags and quantities of green boughs. High up on the ceiling were draped red, white and blue streamers, while down the whole length of the hall were hung flags and pennants. A ruddy glow tell on the happy dancers from lanterns and lights shaded artfully in red, white and blue. The supper-room at the south end of the hall was screened off by cedar boughs, while under the gallery a charming little sitting-room was arranged with wicker chairs and rose-shaded floor lamps.

The patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. Hume Cronyn, Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Cronyn, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wainwright Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lowker, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Goodall, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Skey, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Beamer, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Field and Mr. J. E. Magee.

A tempting supper was served during the evening, the table decorations being carried out in the red, white and blue color scheme. The music was excellent, and the dancing continued past midnight. The members of the committee who made the dance such a splendid success were: Messrs. A. R. Armitage, D. S. Mannel, B. C. Beamer, E. C. Wainwright, G. R. Agnew and P. H. Fisher.

FRED LANDON SPEAKS ON "CANADIAN HISTORY"

Vividly Pictures Nation's Evolution Through Three Centuries.

Fred Landon, public librarian, claimed for Canada a most remarkably history filled with romance, connected with all the great world movements of the last three centuries. In a brilliant address on "Canadian History," delivered Wednesday evening at a special meeting of the Catholic Women's League in the Catholic Club building, arranged in honor of Canadian authors' week.

Sketching the development of Canadian history he vividly pictured the two backgrounds, Europe and the wilderness, the struggle between France and England for dominance in the new land. "In two centuries and a half," said Mr. Landon, "we have evolved from a medieval feudalism to a real democracy. While there has been struggle, there has been no real revolution. The speaker predicted that Canada's advances in the future will come in the same well-ordered way.

Dean Sherwood Fox spoke on the Western University bylaw, urging its support.

Biggest Food Value for the Least Money

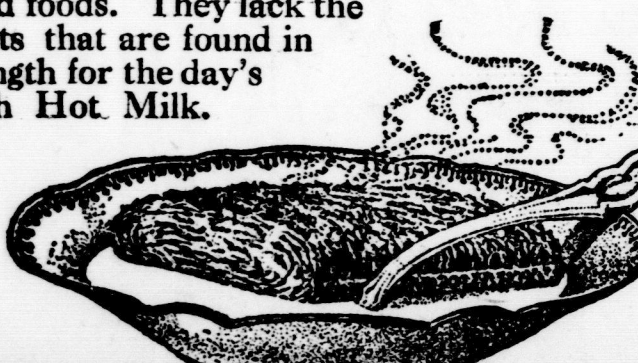

A cut of roast beef or a sirloin steak brings joy to the palate of a real man with a real appetite—but they haven't as much real food value as

with Hot Milk

Beef and eggs are incomplete, unbalanced foods. They lack the heat-making and tissue-building elements that are found in the whole wheat. Get warmth and strength for the day's work by eating Shredded Wheat with Hot Milk.

Heat the Shredded Wheat Biscuits in the oven to restore their crispness; pour hot milk over them, adding a little cream and salt, or sweeten to suit the taste. Shredded Wheat is ready-cooked and ready-to-serve. Contains more nutriment than meat-or-eggs and costs much less.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

HOLD SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR.

The Sunday school room of the Colborne Street Methodist Church was a busy scene Thursday afternoon and evening, when the Ladies' Aid of that church held their bazaar. The booth were attractively decorated, their wares arranged in a particularly inviting manner. The tea room, in charge of Miss Rose Friend, attracted many customers, the tables being decked with ferns and little Christmas bells. But other booths were not to be outdone in business, all of them being surrounded with eager buyers. The following were in charge of the various stands: Mrs. W. M. Kaiser, the handkerchief booth; Mrs. H. Kerr, the apron; Mrs. Fred Foster, fancy work; Mrs. W. C. McArthur, the country store; Mrs. F. H. Westberry, the candy booth, which was very attractive with an arch of flags and bunting.

BRING SUNSHINE.

The Sunshine Spreaders of Christ Church helped to spread a little sunshine on Wednesday when they held a shower for the Day Nursery. A large quantity of groceries and $1.49 was taken to the kiddies by the girls.

SALE, DRAMA, FASHION SHOW.

Final arrangements for the Christmas bazaar of the Princess Patricia Chapter, I. O. O. E., to be held in the Masonic Temple on Dec. 1, have been completed, the various booths being in charge of the following conveners: The work table, Mrs. Sylvester; the novelty table, Miss Eula White, regent of the chapter; and Miss Hilda Smith; orange tree, Mrs. A. D. Becker; baby booth, Mrs. Jack Pope and Mrs. Humphries. The tea room, which will be in charge of the St. John Carling Chapter, will provide not only refreshments, but here will be found many interesting fortune-tellers, reading palms and cups. In the evening, the Drama League will present a clever little play, "Rosalind," which will be followed by a fashion show.

HAVE TWENTY-FOUR HOUR DUTY.

A misunderstanding that has arisen with regard to hours of duty was a subject for interesting discussion at the November meeting on Wednesday evening of St. Joseph's Hospital Alumnae Association. Many people, it was stated, are under the impression that the nurses work the same number of hours while nursing on private cases that they do on hospital duty. In the hospital there is a twelve-hour duty, arranged by the hospital. On private cases in homes nurses have a 20-hour duty, arranged by themselves, with four hours off. If the patient's condition permits.

Final arrangements were made for a candy booth which the members of the alumnae will take charge of at the St. Joseph's Hospital bazaar in December.

HONOR AUTHORS.

The Nicholas Wilson Chapter, I. O. O. E., of which Mrs. Syme is regent, is holding an educational evening on Monday, Nov. 28, in the home of Mrs. Louis Wood, 222 Princess avenue. In celebration of Canadian Book Week, Mr. Fred Landon of the Public Library is the speaker of the occasion and his subject "Canadian Authors."

START COMMUNITY SINGING.

Real community singing that went with a contagious enthusiastic swing was a much-enjoyed feature of the Canadian Authors Week meeting of the Catholic Women's League, thanks in substantial measure to Miss Bray, a capable young conductor, and to Mrs. Philip Cook, who played the accompaniments. The president of the club, Mrs. E. C. McCann, firmly believes in the value of the "sing-song," not only to give added zest to meetings, but also for the breaking down of barriers of formality and developing the real community spirit in any organization.

IS GENEROUS CLUB.

The Nightingale Club, an organization of girls, will complete arrangements Friday evening for a dance to be held in the Masonic Hall, Friday, Dec. 9, in aid of the War Memorial Children's Hospital. Some time ago the club, of which Miss Graham, 4 Cartwright street, is president, offered to furnish the vocational room at a cost of $500. Now a more ambitious plan has been considered, that of endowing a cot for $1,000.

STAINS.

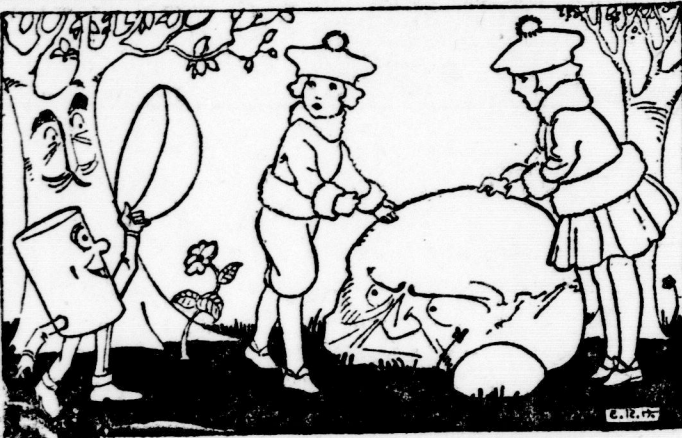

Cover the fruit stains on your table linens with a paste of salt and lemon juice and then put them in the sun to bleach for a time. Keep the paste wet with lemon juice. Then at night put the material into a clear water to soak.

DRY CLEANING BRUSHES.

Dry clean your brushes by mixing equal parts of salt and flour and rubbing it through the bristles. When the mixture is shaken out the bristles will be like new.

THE MAGICAL MUSHROOM

(By Olive Roberts Barton.)

"Oh, you dear old Magical Mushroom!" cried Nancy.

Nancy and Nick had put on their sweaters and tams and ran down to their favorite play ground under the old chestnut tree in the meadow. The tree had been busy all summer and autumn in its own quiet way, although, after its lovely, feathery, golden blossoms had disappeared in July, no one had noticed much what it was doing. But now they were to find out, the and picked up a round, greeny-yellow, prickly thing cracked open at one end, and looking awfully like a secret inside, like a dark brown, satiny, delicious secret, and one evidently Dick knew about, for he gave a whoop of delight. "Oh, look, Nancy!" he cried. "Just look!" It's the first chestnut-burr! Let's open it and get the nuts!"

He carried it over to the big grey stone you already know about, children, and if you don't, I'll tell you that that was where the Twins' adventures first began, and where another one was about to begin, although, of course, that's a secret that I shouldn't mention perhaps, for Nancy and Nick never so much as suspected what was in store for them.

Nancy ran for a little stone to hammer with, and Nick laid his prize on a nice flat place, handling it very carefully, you may be sure, for chestnut-burrs are stingy things.

Suddenly out of the autumn stillness came a sound they knew well, a voice "Good morning, my dears!" It said. "I see that Jack Frost has done something

WITH BRIDES

LEID-LAKE.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday evening, when Mrs. A. Lake was married to Mr. James Leid, at the home of Mrs. Lake, Dorinda street. Rev. H. B. Ashby officiated. The bride looked charming in a gown of brown charmeuse, trimmed with fur, and the bridesmaid, Miss Alma Lake, wore a pretty frock of navy tricot, heavily beaded. Mr. Geo. W. Neil was the best man. The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial check; the bridesmaid, gold clasps, and to the flower girl, Miss Ruby Moss, a gold bracelet.

Mary, youngest daughter of Mrs. F. J. Doyle, "Rosedale Farm," Raleigh Township, was united in marriage to Clarence Michael Gleeson, Fletcher, Ont., Rev. Father McEwen officiating. The young bride looked charming in a blue canton crepe dress richly beaded, a sash of blue panne velvet, and carrying white chrysanthemums. Miss Anna Doyle, sister of the bride, was a winsome bridesmaid, wearing blue canton crepe, heavily beaded, and hat to match. She carried pink flowers. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Gerald Gleeson.

After the ceremony, the wedding party motored to the home of the bride's mother, where a tempting breakfast table served in the dining-room, decorated in a pink and white color scheme. The tables were adorned with pink roses, the wedding cake forming the centerpiece for the bride's table. Only immediate relatives were at the house. Several checks were included in the valuable gifts. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a string of pearls, and to the groomsmen, K. of C. cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Gleeson left on a honeymoon trip to Buffalo and Rochester, the bride donating for traveling a seal coat, the gift of the groom. On their return, they will be at home to their friends after Jan. 1 at Fletcher, Ont.

STOVER-CAMPBELL.

A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, Nov. 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell, 130 Horton street, when their eldest daughter, Laura Moore, was married to Mr. Harold M. Stover, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stover, Sombra, Ont. Rev. D. C. MacGregor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, officiated. At 2 o'clock the bride entered the parlor with her father to the strains of Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus," played by the bride's sister, Miss Mary Campbell. The parlor was beautifully decorated with palms and yellow and white chrysanthemums. The bride looked charming in a suit of brown triple broadcloth and opossum collar, and hat to match, and wore a corsage of Sweetheart roses. Little Margaret Moses, cousin of the bride, made a sweet little flower girl, dressed in white net over silk and carried a basket of carnations. After the ceremony a dainty wedding dinner was served, about twenty guests being present. Mr. and Mrs. Stover left amid showers of rice and confetti on a

SELF-CENTRED. WE CAN'T GROW

The religious education and missionary work committee of the Y. W. C. A. met on Wednesday, under the convener ship of Miss J. Moore to discuss plans for the furthering of this department of "Y." work. Miss Moore's idea, in which she is backed up by her committee, and Mrs. C. B. King, president of the association, and Mrs. J. R. Henderson, general secretary, is to endeavor to broaden the outlook of the women and girls making up the association to a realization of the world-wide activities of the Y. W. C. A.

"There is a danger," says Mrs. Henderson, "that we become so absorbed with our local clubs and features of work that we fail to realize that we are linked up with a chain of associations, extended not only throughout the Dominion and the United States, but right around the world. Through our kindred aims, we are brought into close relationship with women of South Africa, China, India. We cannot grow ourselves and realize our highest possible development while we are self-centered, merely interested in ourselves. It is an inspiration to know what our association sisters are doing in other countries, and supremely important at such a period as this in the world's history that we should have a sympathetic understanding of one another, and community of interest."

The weekly devotional hour arranged by the committee is being held on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the King street residence, "Lennox."

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Dear Miss Grey,— would like to know if that person who tells your character by handwriting still exists in the Mail-Box. If so, how would I send him or her a copy of my handwriting? PEGGY.

WANTS DIALOGUES.

Dear Miss Grey,—Words cannot express how pleased I am at the interest the Boxites are taking in the Mail-Box and the Sick Children's Hospital, and the patience you have in answering so many questions. Could you or any of the readers supply me with these dialogues, "The Ghost of Crooked Lane," and vice versa, or has any of the Boxites any old dialogue books? If they will lend them to me I will return them. I will also pay postage. MOTHER OF TWO.

The dialogues you ask for are not in the Mail-Box, in fact we haven't any at all. I have put your name and address on file, and shall forward any that come in for you.

Dear Miss Grey,— I have been interested in your paper for some time. I saw in last week's paper July's letter. I know her awfully well. We are great friends. I saw where P. B. C. S. would like a correspondent, so I am sending for her address. ZIMMIE.

LAST LONGER.

Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seely's Bay, Ont., writes: "For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

FINDS DEATH OF MRS. C. AHRENS ACCIDENTAL

Jury Returns Verdict On the Kitchener Drowning After Hour's Deliberation.

HUSBAND STILL HELD

Claims Desperate Efforts To Obtain Aid Were Entirely Futile.

KITCHENER, Nov. 25.—That Mrs. Carl Ahrens came to her death by accidentally falling into the Grand River on the evening of Nov. 16 was the verdict returned early this morning by a jury under Coroner J. F. Honsberger, following deliberation of one hour. Carl Ahrens is still held on a charge of murder.

The coroner's jury resumed its investigation Thursday afternoon of the death of Mrs. Ahrens, who was reported accidentally drowned a week ago in the Grand River, near Chippewas Mills.

Coroner J. F. Honsberger presided. Ahrens was represented by H. J. Sims, K.C., who asked for the usual protection for the accused.

The first witness called by Crown Attorney Bowdler, was Carl Ahrens, husband of the drowned woman. He stated that he was married to the deceased in 1914, and that their matrimonial relationships had not been of the very happiest. In 1919 they agreed to separate, and she had been living with her father in Carleton Place, while he returned to Kitchener to accept a position.

Since their separation there had been frequent communications by letter and telephone between them, with the result that he went to Carleton Place on Oct. 25, and they discussed resuming life as man and wife. She asked for a few days' consideration, and on Nov. 11 she arrived here, and on the following day she was examined for the purpose of having $5,000 accident insurance placed upon her life. In giving details of the drowning the witness stated that his wife was assisting him in poling the boat across the river, and that she had fallen into the water before he was aware of it. He was breaking the ice with his pole when she fell in. Ahrens said he tried his best to rescue her without success.

Going to Summer Camp.

In describing his trip to see the summer camp, where he had spent the summer with friends, the witness stated that his wife was anxious to see it. He had tried to make up a party to accompany him, but was unsuccessful. The day was bright, he said, and the walking comfortable, although there was snow on the ground.

He had explained the walk to her and she was prepared to make the trip. He had brought his sweater along so that she could wear it at the camp. She wore a fur coat and red hat.

They got off the car at Freeport and walked to the river. It was getting dark and it was 5:10 when they got off the car. They walked slowly and reached Weber's homestead at 6:15. He asked for the use of the boat. Weber offered them the use of the lantern, but he did not think he needed it. He told Weber that he had his wife with him and Weber suggested taking them over, but the witness did not think it necessary.

It was not dark and he had crossed the river hundreds of times. He took the long pole and was at the head of the boat while his wife was at the rear.

Aid Unavailable.

"I heard a scream and then a splash," continued Ahrens, "she having fallen off the boat. I got off the side and felt around trying to locate her. I called aloud to Norman Weber 'Help! Help!' I continued to search around the spot and under the ice. My clothes were pretty well soaked, and fearing cramps I hastened to a shallow part of the river, arriving at the Weber homestead I told them the story and asked for help and an overcoat."

Hastening back, the witness said he ran to the farmyard of William Culligan, to whom he told the story and asked him to help. About ten minutes had elapsed before he got back.

"I phoned to Kitchener for a lung motor," continued Ahrens, "which arrived in about half an hour, but nothing could be done for her by Dr. Harvey. Later the undertaker arrived and took the body to Kitchener. Upon arrival with the body Coroner Honsberger decided an inquest was not necessary."

Henry Ahrens, father of the witness, knew of the reconciliation of his son and his wife. "Carl was very much taken up with the cottage," he said.

Norman Weber told how Ahrens had called shortly after 6 o'clock and later, after the accident. Witness in company with William Culligan, found the body under the ice in about three feet of water. The woman was lying face downward. She wore a fur coat which had worked up over her back and shoulders.

NINE-CENT BREAD IN BRANTFORD

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, Nov. 24.—Bread dropped here today to nine cents per loaf retail and eight cents wholesale. This reduction was made with the object of meeting the bakers in Toronto and Hamilton, who are in the throes of a bread war.

It is claimed from the cash records of local bakers that the bread industry has been carried on during October at a loss. This is partly accounted for by the enforced reduction in the price of bread, while the flour used was purchased at the higher rates prevalent some weeks ago.

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS 60TH ANNIVERSARY

St. Thomas Branch Has Had Outstanding Success.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 24.—Sixty years of eminent success rendered a fitting climax Thursday evening, when the local branch of the Y. M. C. A. celebrated its diamond jubilee.

Nearly 500 members of the institution, with their families and friends, gathered around a dinner table at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Nov. 24, in the dining-room. At 8 o'clock a concert was held in the gymnasium. A delightful program of hymns and songs, solos and quartets, was given. Those who sang were Mrs. R. Hindley, Miss Tuck, Miss Horton, Mr. McFarlane and the Criterion quartet.

Addresses were given by Directors F. W. Sutherland, E. R. Webb, Mrs. D. Meadows, chairman of the women's auxiliary, and Miss Penhale, chairman of the young women's auxiliary. An address by George A. Warburton, general secretary of Toronto association, brought the evening to a close.

CHATHAM, Nov. 24.—Strawberries in November are a novelty, but they are to be seen in the garden of C. E. Burroughs, 183 Stanley avenue, Mr. Burroughs picked some fine specimens today.

COURT ACTION LIKELY TO BE RESULT OF FIRE

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 24.—There is a possibility of court action resulting from the fire which destroyed the rear of the Talbot street fruit and candy store occupied by Isaac Cassis, on Thursday, Nov. 17. The action, however, will not be against Cassis, but will involve persons Cassis charges with spreading libelous reports in connection with the fire.

Cassis was completely exonerated from any blame by the report issued by Deputy Fire Marshal A. Burnett at the completion of his investigation into the cause and circumstances surrounding the fire.

Burnett said he was satisfied that the blaze had been caused by carelessness on the part of the occupants of the store, not by willfulness. The fire would, he thought, prove a lesson to Mr. Cassis and his assistants, and that in the future they would more carefully observe fire prevention rules.

BRIAND MASTER OF ENGLISH; CAN NOW BUY CIGARS

Quaint Doings of Quaint People Seen at Washington Arms Parley.

BY HARRY HUNT.

[Special to The London Advertiser.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Whether by coincidence or intent, headquarters of the Chinese delegation to the disarmament parley are on Queue street, ordinarily labeled just "Q" street.

However, it should be said, the queue street name is the only one in evidence. Delegates all wearing their hair in modern clipped and scissored styles.

An inquisitive young newspaper woman walked along the corridor of the Franklin Square Hotel, where the British staff is quartered, reading the names of the members, posted in large cards on each door.

She failed to heed the protests of a huge but youthful marine that she mustn't walk down the corridor. Matters of state secrecy were being discussed, and the marine could take no chances.

"Lady, lady," the marine protested, blushing vividly, torn between courtesy to a good-looking girl and loyalty to His Majesty King George. "You really can't. They'll 'ave me 'ung; they'll 'ave me 'ung!"

It was the same young woman reporter who shocked the sensibilities of a young French attaché when, without formalities, she knocked at the door of Premier Briand.

The young man rushed up hastily, exclaiming:

"Young lady, young lady, don't you know you are knocking at the door of a gentleman's room?"

"Yes," she replied. "I wish to see the gentleman!"

Tea time at British headquarters is the gala hour of the day. Everybody knocks off work while ten English girls who at odd times do typing and such-like necessary duties for the delegates pour tea and pass buns to the dignitaries and staff.

Fortified by tea and biscuits, everybody pitches with renewed vigor into the problem of how far Britain can go in scrapping her navy and still remain mistress of the seas.

Briand, incidentally, before he left for France today, had progressed in his mastery of the English language. While he still addressed the conference in his native tongue, he had progressed to the point where he could make the cigar clerk understand his English.

Knowing just where the brand he prefers is kept, Briand strode up to the counter and, pointing out the box, says:

"Zees, zees!"

And the clerk serves him without difficulty.

TO STOP BUILDING HUMAN STABLES

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Nov. 24.—Amendments to the building bylaw, making it illegal to build temporary homes on the back of lots, will be recommended by the special commission of the city council now engaged in revamping the bylaw.

During the war, when the shortage of houses along the border was so serious that more than 100 families lived in tents, permission was given by the council to lot owners to build shacks on the rear of their lots. This permit was good for a year's residence.

This privilege, however, has been so grossly violated, city officials said today, that the special committee now proposes to stop the erection of these "human stables," as one alderman termed the shacks. More than 140 of these insanitary dwellings were built last year, some of them in districts where restrictions as to building values were ignored.

LEAVES TO ATTEND HAGUE ARBITRATION SITTING

QUEBEC, Nov. 24.—Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, lieutenant-governor of the Province of Quebec, left yesterday for Washington, where he is to attend a special sitting of the arbitration tribunal of The Hague, which has not gathered since 1914, and of which his honor is a member.

The disarmament conference has given an opportunity to the tribunal to hold a sitting.

MURDERER DIES IN PENITENTIARY

CANADA BACKS ARMS HOLIDAY

Resolutions Flood Headquarters of Dominion Delegates at Washington.

GOOD INTENT ASSURED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(By Ben Deacon, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—A flood of telegrams and letters has been received at the Canadian delegation's headquarters since the opening of the armament conference, from various organizations and from private citizens in the Dominion.

They contain resolutions endorsing the objects of the conference and pledging support to the Canadian delegation. Some of them offer advice and suggestions as to what the conference might undertake to accomplish. Most of the resolutions are similar in form. They express hope for the success of the conference and pledge public support to the Canadian delegation.

Some of them urge that full publicity be given to the discussions and a few declare in favor of all sessions being open.

Several contain a plea similar to that sent by the Women's Institute of Lunenburg, N.S., which urges Sir Robert Borden not to allow himself "to be influenced by motives unworthy of the people of Canada."

One from the inter-church advisory council of Toronto, declares it voices the wishes of the people of Canada in assuring the Canadian delegate of the "enthusiastic approval of the general proposals now being made."

A message from the General Ministerial Association of Toronto, says: "This association believes that it represents not the Protestant ministry of Toronto only, but the Christian church of Toronto and of Canada in regarding the proposals as proof that in answer to the heartfelt prayers of Christendom, God is moving the hearts of the men entrusted with government."

There are many from Women's Christian Temperance Union branches, chapters of the Daughters of the Empire, Loyal True Blue Association, I. O. O. F. and Masonic lodges, the Salvation Army, college boards and clubs.

British Columbia and Nova Scotia, if one may judge by the number of these messages, are the provinces in which interest is most active, though there is hardly a corner of the Dominion that has not been heard from.

Letters from individual citizens offer a wide range of suggestions.

From Welland, Ont., comes the suggestion that the conference arrange for the passing by all nations of constitutional amendments which would insure arbitration of all differences. A few of the messages indicate that the writers have not a very clear idea of the task which the conference has accomplished, but of their good intent there can be no doubt. Several demand that the Canadian delegate stand firmly for the complete destruction of all implements of warfare, from battleships to daggers.

CHEER PRINCESS AND HER FIANCE

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Princess Mary today made her first public appearance with Lord Lascelles, her fiancé, since their betrothal, when the two left Buckingham Palace this afternoon in an open carriage with Queen Mary for a drive through Hyde Park.

Although the news that they were to drive out only became known shortly before their departure, quite a large crowd assembled in the vicinity of Buckingham Palace, and cheered the royal party heartily as the carriage drove away.

Crowds quickly gathered along the route, and made the drive partake of the nature of a triumphal progress, much to the perceptible embarrassment of Princess Mary, and the apparent satisfaction of the Queen and Lord Lascelles.

The Queen and the Princess lunched with Lord Lascelles at his home, Chestersfield House, which will eventually be the home of Princess Mary.

KEEP YOUR KIDNEYS FLUSHED

Rheumatism, backache and severe colds more often come from a poisoned system through sluggish kidneys, than from any other cause. People who eat heartily may go along for years and all of a sudden break down. They didn't realize they were adding a burden to the kidneys because these important organs do not ache, they simply play out. It is a safe rule for everyone who is troubled with backache, occasional dizziness, rheumatic pain, swellings in legs, ankles or under the eyes to use a remedy called Solvax for the kidneys.

People who feel so good for the purpose that leading druggists guarantee satisfaction or will refund the money you paid. Try Solvax and see if you don't feel altogether different. The improvement will be particularly noticeable in less irritation to the bladder, which so often disturbs the sleep. Other symptoms such as dizziness and rheumatic pain usually disappear over night. Price 50 cents. Mail orders filled direct by Booth's Myomel Co., Listowel, Ont.—Adv.

BEATTY TO SPEND 3 DAYS IN CANADA

Arranges To Visit Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—(By Canadian Press.)—The complete program of the visit to Canada of Earl Beatty, O.M., G.C.B., G.C.V.O., has been announced by Colonel Ernest Chambers, gentleman usher of the Black Rod. The program covers visits by the famous British admiral to Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton. He will spend a day in each of the first-named three cities, but only a few hours in Hamilton.

Earl Beatty, accompanied by Lady Beatty, is scheduled to arrive in Ottawa on Saturday morning. A long list of functions has been arranged for the day and in the evening Earl Beatty will attend a state dinner at Government House as the guest of Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Byng.

Leaving Ottawa on Sunday morning Lord Beatty will be received in Montreal at 10 o'clock by Hon. C. C. Balfour, minister of marine, supported by a guard of honor from the Royal Canadian Regiment. He will attend divine service in Christ Church Cathedral, and at noon will be the guest of the Canadian Club.

Arriving at Hamilton at 6:15 he will be welcomed by Major-General the Hon. S. C. Mewburn and by representatives of the corporation. At 7 o'clock he will be the guest of the Hamilton Canadian Club at the Royal Connaught Hotel and will leave for New York at 9:30.

Earl Beatty will reach Toronto at 5 o'clock Monday morning, and will be received by Sir Edward Kemp, Sir Henry Drayton and Hon. Edmund Bristol, on behalf of the government, and by Mayor T. L. Church on behalf of the city.

Toronto functions include a civic reception and the visitor will also be the guest of the lieutenant-governor at Government House. Earl Beatty will leave Toronto at 5 o'clock for Hamilton. Arriving at Hamilton at 6:15 he will be welcomed by Major-General the Hon. S. C. Mewburn and by representatives of the corporation. At 7 o'clock he will be the guest of the Hamilton Canadian Club at the Royal Connaught Hotel and will leave for New York at 9:30.

SHOW BONES TO PROVE KILLINGS

VERSAILLES, Nov. 24.—Three more small boxes, containing what the prosecution and the experts contend are human bones, were produced at the opening of court today and added to the box which was produced in yesterday's proceedings in the trial of "Bluebeard" Landru, accused of eleven murders and of cremating the bodies of his victims. These additional exhibits seemed a surprise to the defense, it having apparently been unaware of their existence. The bones, according to the experts, are from a human skull or skulls.

Arms Conference Delegates, of Course—But, Oh, What a Difference!

[Written and photographed expressly for The London Advertiser.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Beards, whiskers, moustaches!

Those three things would wreck the conference on limitation of armament if the conferees ever should try to standardize them. For every delegation has a different idea—and unhesitatingly proclaims it to the world.

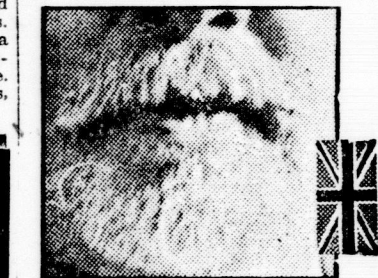

The U. S. Secretary, Charles E. Hughes, who urges the scrapping of many mighty monarchs of the sea. He believes in an open beard, openly arrived at. Bushy whiskers, upturned moustache, but both neatly parted in the middle. Like this—

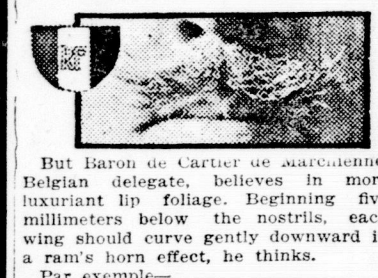

Not so Carlo Schanzer, Italian delegate. He would say: "Si, si, Signore Hughes is right about ze extent of facial vegetation—but ze method of cultivation, non, non. Let ze wheek-kair run wild, luxuriant, unrestrained by comb or brush."

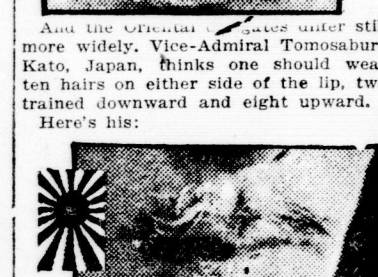

"They're both wrong," thinks Sir John Salmon, stalwart British delegate. "A full beard's the thing. Beginning with the nose, it should frequently fall it looks like a well-kept lawn. Like mine—"

But many think the face should be entirely deforested below the chin. Of this school is Senator Albert Sarraut, French delegate. Sarraut believes in a wiry moustache with the ends trained up a trained angle. You'd call it Kaiserresque, if he weren't French. Le voilà—

But Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, Belgian delegate, believes in more luxuriant lip foliage. Beginning five millimeters below the nostrils, each wing should curve gently downward in a ram's horn effect, he thinks. Par exemple—

And the Oriental, of course, still more widely. Vice-Admiral Tomosaburo Kato, Japan, thinks one should wear ten hairs on either side of the lip, two trained downward and eight upward. Here's his:

And when you get to Chung Hui Wang, Chinese conferee, you get very near zero in face underbrush. He wears a scanty fringe of thin, wiry whiskers that look like sparse cactus on a western desert. Like this—

ARRIVE AT SHANGHAI. [Special to The Advertiser.] BURGESSVILLE, Nov. 24.—Rev. Y. B. Edmunds has received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Edmunds, announcing their safe arrival at Shanghai, where they are staying at the Evans Missionary Home until transportation to Kiating, near Hankow, can be arranged. It is expected the missionary party will spend the winter at Kiating and not proceed to West China until the military disturbances in the interior are settled.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead eat from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarcked Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarcked Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of in-

PROGRESSIVES OF WEST MIDDLESEX HOLD RALLY

WARDSVILLE, Nov. 24.—A fairly-well attended meeting was held in the town hall Wednesday night in the interests of John Drummond, the Progressive candidate for West Middlesex. Mr. F. J. McGregor occupied the chair. The candidate was supported not as a protection, but as a source of revenue.

Mr. Drummond, the candidate, touched upon the questions already mentioned, and said he was out and out for Dominion-wide prohibition. While he was a Progressive candidate he was not in sympathy with class legislation, he stated.

The meeting adjourned by singing, "God Save the King."

SCORES MEIGHEN FOR TREATMENT OF SOLDIERS

Mrs. W. H. Ferguson of Toronto Not Surprised at Spirit of Distrust.

MEETING IN ST. MARYS

BY WILLIAM SHARMAN.

ST. MARYS, Nov. 24.—Should one accept the attendance and enthusiasm which marked the Liberal mass meeting in the town hall here tonight as an indication of the trend of mind of the people of the rural riding of South Perth, one candidate who bids fair to emerge successful on Dec. 6 from a three-cornered engagement is William Forrester of Mitchell, who champions in the present campaign the Liberal principles of equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

Although defeated in 1917 by 57 votes, the Liberals of this constituency are confident that Forrester will not only overcome this lead, but will win by a comfortable margin over his two opponents, Dr. M. Steele, the Conservative candidate, and Robert Berry, the United Farmer choice.

Uniting on the platform with the Mackenzie King standard-bearer in a burning appeal for co-operation to the Progressives of all walks of life were such speakers of note as J. M. McEvoy, K.C., of London, and Mrs. W. H. Ferguson of Toronto.

Dust Thrown in Eyes. "I have been working through the township of South Perth," declared Mr. Forrester, "and I have not met one voter yet who has not told me that there would not be a farmers' club in the province today had it not been for the defeat of the reciprocity bill in 1911."

"The dust was thrown in the eyes of the people, and I maintain that it is an outcome of the defeat of the Laurier government in its effort to give to the farmers of this country that which they had petitioned for."

Mr. Forrester explained that he was pleased to face a gathering of the people who had actually elected him four years ago. "But the powers that be at Ottawa thought otherwise," said Mr.

OUR BOARDING-HOUSE.

Forrester, "so they chose another member in my place."

"Someone has said that the women are coming to the rescue of the government, I must confess they have something to rescue and their granddaughters as well." In conclusion the Liberal choice made a direct appeal to the Progressives. As the battle of Waterloo, he said, was fought around an old farm house, so will the present struggle be staged.

Mistrust Prevailing. A speaker of considerable experience and ability, Mrs. Ferguson, representing the Toronto Council of Women, launched a vigorous attack on the Borden-Meighen administration and scored the latter particularly for their treatment of returned soldiers. In opening she declared there was prevalent everywhere, both country and city, a spirit of mistrust, which she felt should cause no surprise judging by the last government's remarkable record of reckless expenditures, autocratic behavior and broken pledges. Even the most honest Conservatives of the old type, she said, can hardly be held responsible for the misdeeds of the past ten years.

Mrs. Ferguson spoke of a meeting in Massey Hall at which the Hon. Hugh Guthrie made a futile attempt to justify the action of Premier Meighen, where the same evening the latter had refused point blank to speak to the returned soldiers.

Touching on the war times election act, whereby sons of farmers to the number of 100,000 were promised exemption from military service, Mrs. Ferguson challenged the government press that the subsequent cancellation of these exemptions was essential to the successful termination of the war. Did we put such a premium on honor and integrity, she questioned, that in order to obtain good government we must make ready promises to be as quickly broken? It is no wonder there is a spirit of distrust abroad through the land.

Liberals Were First.

Taking up the question of women's suffrage, the speaker said that all the parties were laying claim to the credit for this legislation. Even J. J. Morrison says, look here, you women, vote for us, we were the first to recognize your rights," said Mrs. Ferguson, "but I know it was Liberal members who years ago moved the first resolutions for our enfranchisement."

When referring to the United Farmer movement, Mrs. Ferguson explained that speaking with knowledge as a farmer, the U. F. O. had not added one dollar to the pockets of the people of the rural districts. She held that the rank and file of the U. F. O. had never officially intended that they should create a class movement, but had been swayed into it. She said the people of the urban centers could not help gain the former impression. However, she declared that this feeling should be questioned and questioned how the people of the city or country could exist without each other.

She contended that if it appeared that the old line parties had failed, it was not because of their principles, but because of an improper application of them. She pointed out that one of the first things the Ontario Government had done was to vote a bonus for its members in the face of the former policy of economy. She warned the farmers that if they should gain control at Ottawa it would be found that their members possessed the same human weaknesses and inconsistencies as the others. Don't fool yourself, she warned, all the righteous people are not on the farm.

Promises Drastic Change.

Mrs. Ferguson promised that with women in politics there would be a drastic change at Ottawa, stating there would be no more handling big jobs up the sleeve or juggling with the people's money behind closed doors.

In an impassioned appeal to the progressives of all parties, whether farmer, soldier, workmen or women, J. M. McEvoy of London urged them to give the question the closest consideration before they should seek to divide the forces of equity and justice.

He compared the Laurier golden era of prosperity with the past ten years of Tory rule, and related how in 1930 as now, the Conservatives had raised the cry of blue ruin and national catastrophe. He continued that if the Progressive actually wanted a revision of the tariff they would leave the undertaking in no better hands than those of the Hon. M. Fielding, minister of finance, in the last Liberal administration.

STILL SEARCHING FOR R. ELLISON

BRIDGEBURG, Nov. 24.—The border and Buffalo police were asked today to aid in the search for Ross Ellison, former Port Erie school principal, who disappeared while on a Windsor ferry boat several days ago.

A description of him has been given to the Buffalo police in the hope that he may have gone to Buffalo in his travels.

Duart

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DUART, Nov. 24.—George F. Curtis, mail carrier on Muirkirk, R. R. No. 3, has resigned, and the postoffice department has called for tenders for the route. Mr. Curtis contends that the amount he received from the contract was inadequate.

Alvin McDonald has purchased from F. C. Hatch 95 acres of his 100-acre farm adjoining the village. Mr. Hatch retains the five acres on the corner and gives up possession of the balance next spring.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Martin Dubs, who died at her home near Thamesville, was held from the home of her son, John P. Dubs, on Monday. After services at the home interment was made in the Duart Cemetery. She is survived by her husband, one daughter and two sons.

The body of Kate Campbell, who died in Windsor, was brought to Highgate and taken from the train to Clearville and interment made in Ford's Cemetery. Deceased was born in Orford Township and resided in Duart before moving to Dresden and subsequently to Windsor. A brother and a sister survive.

WHITE CLAIMS CREDIT OF VOTES FOR WOMEN

Tells Meeting at Woodstock He Placed It in Speech From Throne.

ASSAILS KING'S POLICY

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 24.—Right Hon. Sir Thomas White, former minister of finance for the Dominion of Canada, spoke to more than a thousand electors here tonight in the interests of E. W. Nesbitt, National Liberal Conservative nominee for the north riding of Oxford County. With him was John Harold, ex-M. P. for the north riding of Brant.

Commencing his address Sir Thomas emphasized the fact that it was he who had had the honor of writing the speech from the throne which played a prominent part in giving the vote to women. He then went on to emphasize the selfish service which Mr. Nesbitt had given his country during his period as member of parliament.

"He has been one of the best men we have had in the House of Commons," said Mr. White. "He is not a fanatic or a theorist, and he has been a practical man who has been extremely faithful in his attendance at the sessions. His judgment in all matters demands the respect of the other members, and I feel that he is the type of man that we need in the coming parliament."

Policy of U. S.
In advocating protection for Canada, Sir Thomas referred to the situation in the United States. "The United States has decided that with the buying power of Europe curtailed, she would reserve her own market for her own people. With the buying power of Europe at a low ebb, the United States had said that if she could not sell her goods to other countries successfully, then she would preserve her own markets, to care for her own products. One of the results of this policy has been the Fordney emergency tariff bill. In every way the United States has adopted a policy of protection of her own industries and her interests."

The question, he declared, must be viewed from a national standpoint, and not in the spirit of what is best for the individual.

"Mr. Cramer," he said, "is frankly in favor of free trade. He says that he does not intend to put a policy of free trade in to effect with one fell swoop, but seems to prefer a sort of lingering process. Mr. Cramer is sincere, but he has not grasped the effect which such a policy would have on this country."

Claims Tariff Lower.
"Then there is Mr. King," continued Mr. White. "I can't tell you what his policy is, although we know what the Liberal platform is. Mr. King says he is in favor of a downward revision of the tariff. Here we are at the end of the greatest war in history, with war debts and war burdens upon us, with conditions of trade and commerce dislocated, asked to consider a downward revision of the tariff."

"Tell me, do you know of any country in the world that has a lower tariff than it had in 1914? Our country today has a lower tariff than it did a few years ago. It is lower today than it was in 1911. Is it wise, in the interests of Canada, to lower it still more?" asked the speaker. "Now, as to Mr. Meighen, he believes in a policy of reasonable protection for Canadian industries and agriculture too. He says the same in the East as in the West, and his platform is the same everywhere."

If Protection Saves Canada, Why So Many Unemployed?

A. Hookaway, Progressive Candidate in West Elgin, Asks This Question in Address at Campbellton Thursday Night.

[Special to The Advertiser.] CAMPBELLTON, Nov. 24.—A. Hookaway, Progressive candidate for West Elgin, addressed a largely attended meeting in this village Thursday evening. In the course of his address the candidate asserted that the government was hiding behind a rampart of gold.

"They have an eye single to the mansion rather than to the cottage of the ordinary people," stated Mr. Hookaway. He appealed to the electors to disregard their old party affiliations and afford the Progressive party a chance to function. "We have as yet said nothing for our party does not full answer for. If my party does not full answer it will be the first to denounce it. Our policy is not free trade, but we contend a substantial reduction of the tariff is long overdue. The tariff of the day is a child of two big interests, and not conducive to the welfare of the people," he declared.

He favored reciprocity so that the farmers would have access for their products in 11,000,000 markets of the United States.

Tax Undeveloped Land. "If protection safeguards Canada, now is it that there are so many men at the present time without employment?" queried Mr. Hookaway.

He expressed that the only protection fiscal policies gave was to the vested interests. "In discarding a portion of the revenue derived from the tariff, we propose," he said, "a stiff tax on wild, undeveloped lands. This would be a great source of revenue for the country."

Declaring that capital was a surplus production of labor, he contended that the capitalists had extracted this surplus profit to advance their own interests. A vote for the two old parties means the continuation of capitalistic rule.

"Our platform may take some time before it is enacted," said Mr. Hookaway, "but the sooner we start the better. The politicians are hoping the farmer and labor do not co-operate, knowing that there is no other class that can cope with us if we stick together. We do not want to be a dominate factor. All we ask is a voice in the affairs of the country."

OPEN BABY CLINIC AT AMHERSTBURG

[Special to The Advertiser.] AMHERSTBURG, Nov. 24.—The provincial board of health has opened a baby clinic in the auditorium of the public library. The first examination took place Thursday afternoon, with Dr. J. W. Bell of the provincial board of health, and local physicians in charge.

A large number of babies will be put through the test in the presence of an interested party of citizens. The clinics will continue each Thursday afternoon until all the children under six years have been examined. Miss Elizabeth Brown, a professional nurse, who is examining the school children in Malden and Anderson Townships, will have charge of the clinic.

ASSAILS CLAIM PICTURES SCENES THAT CRERAR IS TRUE AGRARIAN

Meighen Declares Farmers Will Suffer if Progressive Policy Adopted.

SEES ONLY U. S. BENEFITS

NAPANEE, Nov. 24.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—Voters of the constituency of Lennox and Addington gathered in the armories here this afternoon, to hear Premier Meighen discuss political issues.

Before the prime minister spoke, an address was given by A. B. Carscallen, of Tamworth, Conservative candidate in the riding. Carscallen declared that the platform of the Progressive party was created solely for the benefit of the prairie provinces, and would injure the farmers of Eastern Canada.

Premier Meighen said that if farmers in Canada nominated and elected men engaged in agricultural pursuits, then parliament would be made up of farmers.

He referred to the minister of agriculture as a farmer of exceptional ability, and then charged that Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressives, was no more of a farmer than he (Mr. Meighen) was.

Sure U. S. Will Gain. "The government today has been fair to the farmers of this country," the premier insisted. "The tariff proposals of Mr. Crerar and his party are the chief stock in their political trade." In the West, Mr. Crerar and his associates used the farmer tariff policy, which would not even benefit the western farmer, as a method to win votes.

"The Western farmer will suffer if this policy becomes law," continued the premier, "and the cities of the United States will benefit. Canada's tariff averaging 21 per cent, is the lowest of any country in the world. The United States have put their tariff up so that we will sell them less, and now Mr. Crerar comes along and says he will reduce our tariff so that they will sell us more. Perhaps that policy is too expensive even to have the president of the United Grain Growers as premier."

The idea of putting all articles of food on the free list was preposterous, Mr. Meighen insisted. "Never in the history of any country was a proposal so manifestly weak placed before the electorate," he said. Discussing the tariff on agricultural implements, Mr. Meighen said it was as low as it could be. "We have gone down to the bone on agricultural implements," he declared. "I have just come through Smith's Falls, and the factory manufacturing implements in that city is closed today because of the duty being so low," he declared.

"Mr. Crerar is wholly inconsistent and hollow when he uses the language he does in regard to protection and then declares he wants to get rid of it by easy stages only," averred the premier.

FIND CONSTABLE IN DAZED STATE

[Special to The Advertiser.] BLENHEIM, Nov. 24.—The finding of Able Durfy, the new night constable, in a dazed condition, by the day officer, C. Lowe, when he came on duty yesterday morning, caused considerable comment.

Constable Lowe reported that he found Durfy in a stupid condition seated in a chair and leaning on the table in the constable's room with his feet under him. Lowe said that he had some difficulty in getting Durfy aroused, and that when aroused he could not account for the whereabouts of the revolver loaned him to carry during the night.

Durfy went home and has since reported that he has found the gun, and thinks that Durfy was ill. The police committee have placed another man, Charles Vidler, on duty pending an inquiry.

HOLD TWO GYPSIES ON CHARGE OF THEFT

[Special to The Advertiser.] BRANTFORD, Nov. 24.—It is alleged that two gypsy women secured approximately $200 by theft and false pretences in Brantford yesterday. When they were charged today in police court with robbing Percy Walsh and others, it was shown they had gone about the city in the guise of fortune tellers and made a general clean-up of all susceptible people. They pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by jury.

B'lenheim

BLENHEIM, Nov. 24.—The Baptist Church congregation have reason to feel elated over the success of their anniversary. The financial returns amounted to about $625.

County Constables Low and W. Peters of Chatham, were in town today working on the robberies committed here Saturday morning. One man, who was arrested in Chatham, comes up for hearing here on Saturday before Magistrate Whittington. The four registrars who prepared the voters' lists for the coming election have their copies posted and are this week receiving additions. They are: Ward 1, S. E. Irwin; ward 2, (1) Mrs. Chas. Mooney; ward 2, (2) Levi Coatsworth; ward 3, C. F. Gibson.

The local garages have entered into an agreement that they will, all but one, close on Sunday hereafter, and each holiday.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head stuffed because of catarrh or a cold, get Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this pure, antiseptic, germ-destroying cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head and membranes. Instant relief.

How good it feels. Your head is clear. Your nostrils are open. You breathe freely. No more hawking or snuffling. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up, choked up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Advt.

Mrs. Nellie McClung Tells of Conditions in War-Worn France.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 24.—For the second time this week a prominent Canadian author has visited St. Thomas. On Thursday night Mrs. Nellie McClung, dear to the hearts of all Canadian readers, addressed a large gathering in the First Methodist Church.

In a talk, scintillating with keen wit and brilliant word pictures, tempered with bits of pathos, she told of her trip "Up to London." She painted old England, and told of her tour through Scotland to the intense delight of her auditors, and then spoke of the conditions in those countries, especially of the great labor problems and difficulties.

Repairing Villages. From England she carried her au-

before things get to be too serious. There is no remedy to equal it for clearing up the cold, making the breathing easy, loosening the phlegm and soothing and healing the lungs and bronchial tubes.

Mrs. Edward Kincaid, 60 Bryden street, St. John, N. B., writes: "I wish to express my hearty thanks to your valuable remedy Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and what good it did me. Last fall I contracted a severe cold, the like I never had, my head and nostrils were so clogged up I could get no vent, and could scarcely get my breath. I tried remedy after remedy until at last I thought I would try 'Dr. Wood's.' After the first dose I felt relief, and by the time the bottle was finished I was all better. I will always keep it in the house."

dience to France on a trip through the beauties of the southern clime, untouched by the ravages of war, and of Paris, with tenderness. She told of what she saw on the battlefields, where peasants bravely strive to re-establish themselves on the torn land, and to repair their mutilated villages. Of this part of the country, still marked by the white crosses of war, she spoke with much sympathy and pathos.

Mrs. McClung was given a splendid reception by the people of St. Thomas, fully equal to that extended to Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, who visited here Tuesday last. The famous authoress was entertained at the home of F. N. Griffin, Metcalf street.

JUDGMENT FOR PLAINTIFF.

TARA, Nov. 24.—Judge Klein has handed down his decision in the ditch case of Samuel Henry of Arran vs. Fred B. James, engineer for Arran Township, which came in court here a couple of weeks ago. Judgment was given in favor of Henry. On the farm of Henry there was a ditch constructed some years ago, which he maintained was sufficient to drain his land. He claimed that the proposed ditch would cause such a heavy flow of water as would inundate his farm, and that he should not be required to maintain this ditch for the benefit of others. In the judge's decision, Henry has to clean out and maintain only 20 rods, instead of 120 and the balance of the ditch across his farm has to be cleaned out and maintained from year to year by the townships of Elderslie and Arran, and

Messrs. Collard, Strong and Wark. The costs of the case are to be borne by the defendants.

CALLED TO TURIN AND BOTANY.

The Dread Pyorrhea Begins With Bleeding Gums

Diseased conditions, which not long ago doctors were unable to trace to a cause, are now known often to be the result of Pyorrhea germs that breed in pockets about the teeth. Rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders and other diseases have been traced in many cases to this Pyorrhea infection.

Don't let Pyorrhea work its wicked will on your body. Visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection.

And watch your gums yourself. Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, begins with tender and bleeding gums; then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of poisons generated at their base.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

Chic Sale Pictures Old Home Town in New Movie

BY JAMES W. DEAN.
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The Old Home Town as Stanley Kramers in his cartoon has re-created the photograph. This is Chic Sale's new movie, "His Nibs."

Sale, whom this winter believes to be the best contemporary mimic of rural and small-town types, plays seven parts in the comic. It is a satire on the small-town movie exhibitor.

The characters in the movie are much the same as those Sale has portrayed on the vaudeville stage for years. Yet they are very similar to those in the Old Home Town cartoons. About the only character missing from the cast is Bruno, the "gitter-home" dog.

This movie has merit. It has a new idea—and the courts for most in a motion picture. That characters are humanly drawn, yet are natural. Some of the comedy is subtle, some of it borders on the slap-stick variety, yet it is all wholesome.

There's a movie within the movie. One local citizen would not enter until the "hellin' and playin'" is over. He wanted to see the pitchers. He has the same attitude toward the frills as some of his big city cousins have toward parades and other features of presentation.

His Nibs omitted the subtitles from the feature film. He made up his own as the film progressed. That was better than having everyone reading the titles aloud.

The hero hit the villain, "Wham!" That was the cryptic subtitle His Nibs announced.

He didn't show the train when the hero left town. He announced "I cut out the train." It's the same in every picture, anyhow.

The hero became involved in trouble. "The boy's in a mess, now," His Nibs announced.

After the climax was reached the film ended. "The rest of the picture I cut out; it was too mushy." The exhibitor announced.

That's clever satire. Most of the films of today include too much of the obvious. It is not unusual for a subtitle to point out a situation or condition which the audience has already sensed.

Then, too, it hardly seems necessary to show persons boarding a train to indicate that they are leaving, or leaving a train to show that they have gram, never deviating an iota from coast to coast.

The platforms of Liberals and Progressives, she charged, were practically the same, except that the Progressives called for free trade with Britain in five years, while the Liberals were pledged to increasing British preference to 50 per cent.

A harrowing picture was drawn of what free trade or a very much reduced tariff would mean to Canada.

History was called upon for an illustration, the "period of reciprocity" previous to 1878, when Sir John Macdonald formulated the national policy.

A period, Miss Boulton said, of "high tariff in Canada," in which industry and farming had suffered, thousands of people had been obliged to move over to the States because they couldn't manage to live under conditions arising from reciprocity, with high tariff in the States and low tariff in Canada.

Notwithstanding charges of opposition press that the tariff of the present government has been "high as Haman's gallowes," Miss Boulton showed by actual figures that it is lower now than in 1911. Then, under the Laurier government, it was 27 per cent; now it is 22 1/2 per cent, and averages about 14 per cent, taking into consideration the articles that come in free of duty.

Canada, in fact, Miss Boulton continued, has a lower tariff than any other country in the world.

Early in her address, Miss Boulton referred to the present happy lot of Canada as compared with other countries. She admitted there is unemployment and other conditions, which she attributed to the aftermath of war, "but," she said, "there is external evidence to show that Canada is enjoying better conditions than any other country."

"In spite of all that has been said," she continued, "the condition of Canada is better per capita today in proportion to the size of the country than in any other in the world."

Notwithstanding this good position of the country, however, Miss Boulton deplored certain sins of commission on the part of the citizens.

Under the present moderate tariff, in the past year Canada has lost to the United States $150,000,000 in exchange, an amount that would keep 200,000 men employed and support 2,000,000 people.

In other words, Canada loses $250,000,000 to the United States, she charged, that might have been used to keep industries going here.

Gives Meighen's History.

Miss Boulton gave a brief history of Mr. Meighen from the farm to the nation, as far as it related to the country, and how he helped to save Canada and bring glory to the country as a member of Sir Robert Borden's government and Sir Robert's "handy man."

Miss Boulton accused Boulton of being linked up with big interests through his association with elevator companies.

She concluded by declaring, "I don't see how any logical, patriotic citizen can vote for a party that deliberately has free trade as its platform."

The London candidate, Mr. Frank White, spoke briefly.

An interesting feature of the evening was a model of the booth, constructed by Mr. H. F. Flock.

Dean Fox, of the Western University, presented convincing arguments for supporting the university bazaar. Mrs. J. R. Henderson, chairman of the citizenship committee, presided, and the platform was a number of representative women.

NEW GOVERNOR OF JAIL IS SWORN IN

Governor Byron Dawson of the Mid-dex county jail was formally sworn in office by Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop Thursday afternoon.

The new governor, who was appointed by Deputy Sheriff B. F. Watterworth on Wednesday afternoon following orders from Toronto, was formally introduced to the jail staff by Mr. Watterworth during the course of the afternoon.

BRITISH POLICE LOCATE STOLEN MACHINE GUNS

LONDON, England, Nov. 24.—The discovery yesterday that a number of machine guns and rifles had been stolen from the Victoria Barracks at Windsor was followed today by news that a similar robbery occurred Sunday night at the Chelsea Barracks in London, from which two machine guns and a number of rifles were taken.

The guns stolen at Windsor have been recovered at a house in London, where they had been hidden.

A sergeant and two soldiers have been detained in connection with the Windsor robbery, and a civilian was arrested as he was boarding a train on route to Ireland, for supposed complicity in the case.

GREW'S PLAYERS EXCEL IN DRAMA

Interpret Various Parts in Most Accomplished Manner.

The offering of the Grew players for the latter half of the week, "St. Elmo," attracted a fairly large crowd at the Majestic Theatre Thursday night, and should have played to a capacity house.

The dramatization by Myron Leffingwell of the famous book was well handled by the Grew players, who showed that they were just as capable of handling dramas as they were of farce comedies of the bedroom variety.

There is little comedy to the play, what little there is being supplied by James W. Swift as "Van Diggins." Mr. Swift has always been a favorite with Majestic patrons and he shows to advantage in "St. Elmo."

Quendine, Fates as Edna Earl, a sad-faced orphan, looks after the part in her usual capable way. There are a number of exceptionally heavy bits of drama where Miss Pates is really excellent.

Edna Marshall and Marguerite Weston are both good in their respective roles.

George V. Dill as St. Elmo Murray interprets the part in his usual finished style. His characterization as a man embittered by the world, and later on as a minister of the gospel, left little to be desired.

Other members of the company, who might be mentioned, were David Rogers, John Todd, Alfred L. Rigall, Cecil Drummond and Raymond Capp.

In The MOVIES

AT THE ALLEN.

"Stranger Than Fiction," starring Katherine MacDonald, is the feature film offering at the Allen Theatre the last half of this week. It embodies an unusual variety of scenes, ranging from hand-to-hand combat in a burning airplane and police raids on the haunts of a notorious "Black Heart" band of thieves, to the trials of a young husband, whose wife persists in writing movie plays.

Wealth and crime, culture and squalor, love and adventure, succeed one another in rapid succession in this out-of-the-ordinary production.

The staging of the underworld scenes is elaborate and realistic. In fact, the whole picture is lavishly and carefully produced.

"Boozem Friends," a Tonerville Trolley comedy, is quite humorous, and there is the usual offering of news films, scenic and educational reels.

The travel pictures in themselves constitute a real work of art in nature, and lovers of lake and mountain scenery ought to enjoy the splendid views of the snow-capped western mountains, with picturesque lakes lying between and all around them.

AT LOEW'S.

Wanda Hawley in "The Snob," a playlet of wholesome tone, is the headline attraction at Loew's Theatre the latter half of this week.

"The Snob" is a college play in which the pretty daughter of a crudely ambitious mother learns democracy when she discovers that the sons of three of the richest and oldest families in the state have posed as waiters because she declined to dance with one of their friends who was working his way through school by waiting on a club table.

The girl gets a job in a restaurant, and learns how to be both human and happy.

"Shanghai" is a good comedy, with Charlie Chaplin taking the lead, and the film also includes a Pathe news review. A Ford educational film illustrating the cutting of pulpwood, and an interview with Charles Dana Gibson, the veteran illustrator and creator of the famous "Gibson girls."

The musical overtures are well rendered, and the vaudeville averages up to the usual standard.

Lamb and Goodrich, clever dancers, have a high-class act, while Gibson and Beatty offer novelty patter and clever lines.

AT THE PATRICIA.

The excellent standard set at the Patricia Theatre the first half of this week is maintained by the bill of fare Friday and Saturday, "Singing River," is the title of the feature photoplay starring William Russell. This vehicle, like many others, provides a moral, but the plot this time is so unfolded to the public that it is indehly impressed upon the mind.

As a result, the conquering power of pluck, as demonstrated by William Russell and his capable supporting cast proves refreshing, and serves to better individuals who view the film.

The scenes depicted add greatly to the entertaining value of this drama, which was the subject of favorable comment by Thursday audiences.

"Seashore Shapes," a Century Comedy, is also included on the screen bill, and is in keeping with the main attraction. Some clever juvenile acting is introduced in this comedy, which provides gales of laughter. Although its title might suggest otherwise, "Seashore Shapes" is clean throughout, with no tendency to transgress the bounds of propriety.

The first episode of "Winners of the West," serial film, depicting portions of the life of Kit Carson and Captain John C. Fremont, America's pioneers of the American West, will be shown at the Patricia Theatre Friday and Saturday. Art Acord, popular with Londoners for his good Western film work, plays the leading role in this serial, and his appearance on the screen Thursday night was greeted with enthusiasm.

MOCHA PATROL TO HOLD SEASON'S FIRST DANCE

The first of the Mocha Patrol series of dances for this season will be held tonight in the Mocha Patrol. These dances are well attended each season, and the committee has been assured of a large crowd by the advance sale of tickets.

WANTS COURT TO FORCE CONTRACT

Lambton Farmer Calls 13 Witnesses on First Day of Trial.

The action of H. A. Gilroy, a Brooke Township farmer, County of Lambton, against the Dominion Sugar Company of Chatham for fulfillment of a contract in connection with the sale of sugar beets for 1920, bids fair to last several days.

The case, being tried at a special sitting of the country court, opened Thursday morning at the courthouse before Judge Talbot Macbeth, and when court adjourned in the late afternoon, witnesses for the plaintiff were still being called. Thirteen witnesses in all took the stand on Thursday, starting with Mr. Gilroy, who was examined as to the agreement.

It was claimed that $9 per ton was to have been paid for sugar beets and such additional amount per ton as the average price of granulated sugar, listed at Montreal, exceeded $8 per 100 pounds during the months of October, November and December of 1920 and January, 1921, taking the quotations in Willett & Gary's Sugar Trade Journal as authority.

Albert A. Bidner, a grocer and confectioner of Alvington, and Elmer McIntyre of Appin, were examined as to the prices paid for Dominion sugar in the months above mentioned.

Bought Heavily.

Charles H. McLean of Montreal, vice-president of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refiners, was called to testify for the defence late Thursday afternoon, it being explained that he had an important engagement in Montreal on Friday. McLean told of the pronounced upward movement in raw sugar in the early months of 1920—from 8c to 23 1/2c. The market had remained stable until July and then started downward. Canadian refiners had purchased heavily during the upward movement, he swore.

McLean could not say whether their prices corresponded to those quoted in the Sugar Journal of Willett & Gary, as he never compared them. The last price list his firm sent out was on October 29, 1920 and called for $16.50 per cwt. Price-cutting, he said, was an everyday occurrence.

J. C. Elliott and J. M. McEvoy, K. C., are appearing for the plaintiff and G. Osler of Toronto for the defendant company.

Why I Ask the Support of the Electors of East Elgin

By Judge Charles W. Colter.

THE issues in the pending elections are most momentous. The Meighen government is on trial and it is necessary for you to decide by your votes whether or not it is worthy of your support and confidence.
We can judge what its future course will be, only by its past record.

I have charged it, in my printed address to you, as being the protector and defender of the combines, trusts and mergers which exist in Canada and which to an alarming extent are plundering the honest workers of Canada.

Mr. Stansell, my Conservative opponent, on nomination day, had these accusations in his hands and was unable to refute or deny any of them. He therefore, by his silence, confirms them.

Has party allegiance such a firm hold on him that he is willing to condone, if unable to defend, such outrageous violations of decency, public morality and common honesty as are therein disclosed?

I am prepared, if elected as your representative, to oppose with all my might and to comdemn, not only by my vote, but by my voice, both in and out of Parliament any government which does or sanctions anything approaching such misconduct as that to which I have alluded.

Dishonesty, graft and extortion if encouraged or even permitted in high places will percolate downward and debase all our institutions and will eventually corrupt even our homes.

The issue, to my mind in this election, is shall a small number less than ten per cent of our population, composed of profiteers, extortioners and combinesters, be permitted to dominate the great mass of the people and extract from them their hard earnings by resorting to fraud and deceit and by appealing to class, race and party prejudices?

They are splendidly organized, have at their control unlimited means and are utterly unscrupulous.

They have enlisted in their

Liberal Champion

JUDGE CHARLES W. COLTER.

ents are divided and are thus wasting their strength.

I am prepared to oppose to the utmost of my ability their inpatient attempts to dominate and levy tribute on the great mass of the people.

The most able and experienced men in the Liberal and Farmers' party should coalesce to form the new government. The most able and progressive men in Canada are urgently demanded for service at the present time. Minor questions and class distinctions must be resolutely frowned down. All good citizens wish to see all Canadians have equal opportunity and to be free from the control of an autocratic plutocracy.

I have always insisted that the farmers of Canada should have their just rights, and that they should not be excluded from their fair share in the governing of the country. These rights I maintained and defended when I was in Parliament and I shall continue to assert them to the best of my ability. The just claims of our wounded and disabled soldiers must be met in a liberal spirit, the widows and orphans of those who died bravely in order to safeguard civilization and to protect us from the savagery of a brutal foe are a sacred charge upon us. We owe them a debt which we can never fully repay.

The public debt is staggering.
The larger part of it was properly incurred; a considerable portion, however, is due to graft, to the desire of the government to enrich hungry supporters, and to its recklessness and extravagance.

We must pay all that debt by increased industry and self-denial, even though part of it is due to graft, recklessness and extravagance.

I pledge myself to insist on the most rigid economy in our public expenditure and to the postponement of all new undertakings, unless urgently necessary.

A radical reduction in our railway rates must be secured in order to stimulate interprovincial trade, by bringing the producers and consumers nearer to each other.

I believe that if elected I can render some assistance in solving the difficult problems which confront us, and am willing to consecrate all the ability that I possess with that object in view.

CHAS. W. COLTER.

Amherstburg

[Special to The Advertiser.]

AMHERSTBURG, Nov. 24.—The death took place suddenly Wednesday of Mrs.
Henry G. Duff, wife of Capt. H. G.
Duff, North Dufferin street.

Mrs. Duff, who was 70 years old, lived in Anderson Township and Amherstburg all her life and was one of the best-known ladies along the border. Her maiden name was Miss Cunningham.

She was married to Capt. Duff about 50 years ago. She is survived by two sons and two daughters, Alex. C. and H. Grant of Amherstburg, Miss Della
Duff of Malden and Jessie, Mrs. E. S.
Jones, of this town. Mrs. Duff suffered from a stroke Monday evening while on a visit to a neighbor and gradually sank till the end, came Wednesday. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Rose Lodge, I. O. O. F., is planning extensive alterations to their hall on Richmond street. They propose to make a business block of the premises.
Miss Annie Saville of Bradford, Eng.

24th, to Earl Renaud of Amherstburg.
Rev. Father Kelly. The happy couple left on a short honeymoon trip and on their return will reside in Amherstburg.

Dear hunters are arriving home from the north with good fat deer, and venison suppers are the order of the day.
The U. S. lake survey steamer, No. 4, has been stationed at this port by the United States war department to assist in river dredging.

Members of Thistle Lodge, A. F. &
A. M., have plans completed for a big pastmasters' night next Tuesday evening in their lodge rooms.

GRANDFATHER CLOCK
CAME ACROSS OCEAN

A most wonderful grandfather clock, in solid walnut, Westminster chimes on 8 rods, stands about 7 feet high, came all the way from Europe to London to be sold for $350. This is the best value we have known in years, and can be seen at John A. Nash's, My Jeweler, 182 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy" Perfect Diamonds." b

HUNT CLUBS RETURN FROM NORTHERN WILDS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CHATHAM, Nov. 24.—J. J. Guitard of Windsor, Provincial Vice-Chief Ranger of the Catholic Order of Foresters, is today paying an official visit to St. Joseph's Court, No. 241 of that society in this city.

C. P. R. passenger train, No. 21, arrived in Chatham today in two sections. The first section carried the regular rolling equipment and the second section several hunting clubs which are returning to Western Ontario. The Harrow and Kingsville Hunt Clubs detained here and went to their destination via the Pere Marquette this afternoon.

A severed connection in the private fire alarm system of the Dominion Sugar Company was the cause of a fire alarm today. Two trucks from the central station responded.
"Bill" Wilson, general baggagemaster at the C. P. R. depot and known all over the London division as "Smiling Bill," is confined to his home as the result of an accident to his right leg.

ELEVEN APPLICANTS FOR SECRETARYSHIP

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 24.—Eleven applicants for the secretaryship of the newly-formed chamber of commerce have been received to date, according to an announcement made Thursday night. Ten of this number were received from outside points. In all probability several of those applying will be requested to appear before the special committee in person. The chamber is still receiving applications, and it is hoped that many others will be received.

389-393 TALBOT ST. OPPOSITE MARKET.

1878-Trafford's Anniversary-1921

In 1878 the late Wm. Trafford established the business which today is carried on as The Wm. Trafford Furniture Company. The original store was located on King street, within a stone's throw of the market, and there it grew and developed. In 1910 the business was moved to its present location, 129 Dundas street.

1878 takes us back to the days when Adelaide street was the eastern boundary of the city, when London East, Petersville, Kensington, Westminster and New Brighton were suburbs, when Dundas street ran east to Adelaide, and from there was called Governor's road. The population of London and suburbs was 30,000. The old Great Western Railroad had not been absorbed by the G. T. R. The daily papers at that time were The Free Press, The Advertiser and Herald. London's system of waterworks was then in course of construction. London then had seven bridges, seven wards, seven letter-carriers, seven ward schools, an intermediate, a Union and a high school, and the daily average attendance was recorded as slightly over 2,000.

Anniversaries are usual, and we invite all our customers, new and old, to come in and celebrate with us. Business is a many-sided affair, which means service to customers. Service, day in and day out, forty-three years of it in London, is our proud record. We sometimes wonder how much of real, permanent value remains after a businessman's life is passed.

There are many people today using the furniture polish whose formula was originated by the late William Trafford, and today there are, perhaps, a couple of thousand housewives aided in their kitchen work daily by an up-to-date kitchen cabinet, sold on the easy payment plan, such as was originated by our company in 1911 with the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet.

There are now quite a few people who speak in admiring terms of the real worth-while merits and square dealings of the late William Trafford. So much so that we have endeavored to make it possible to have the same things said of the firm which now bears his name.

To celebrate this event we have decided to put on sale some special features.
