PTE. GEORGE L. BARTLETT Killed in Action

On Sunday afternoon, July 23, Rev. William Amos conducted a service at the home of Mrs. George L. Bartlett, who gave his young life for liberty and right on July 6, 1916. The funeral services were held at 10 o'clock on Monday morning at the home of Mrs. Bartlett. The floral offerings were very beautiful and showed that George still lived in the memory of those left behind.

WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB

The Women's Canadian Club held an executive meeting at the residence of Mrs. C. S. Everett on Tuesday evening to consider an appeal on behalf of the British Sailors' Relief Fund of Canada, which appeal had been forwarded to the Club through Mr. K. E. Armstrong, the New Brunswick Secretary of the Fund. The Patriotic Fund does not provide for the families of fallen or wounded sailors and the Sailors' Relief Fund has been started for that purpose. The need of it is surely clear, and the desire to help is brought into an appeal on behalf of the British sailors who gave their lives for the Empire. It is expected that money boxes will be obtained and placed in every house on Aug. 21, in order that the results of one day's self-denial may be placed in them and collected on Aug. 23. Mrs. Smith told of some schoolgirls who were able to contribute $10 to the Belgian Relief Fund by replacing their usual dinner with bread and water. Though all might seem to be well, it is to be hoped that Aug. 22 will see a goodly amount of currency placed in the Self-Denial Boxes. A committee consisting of Mrs. Fred Andrews, Mrs. G. H. Stickney and Mrs. A. R. O'Neill, was appointed to observe with the Mayor, regarding the observance of Aug. 4, the anniversary of the Declaration of War; and the meeting then adjourned.

Robert was having a very successful career at college. He had scored the winning touchdown in the one game of the year, and was mentioned by the experts for international honors. But Robert's father was not satisfied. "I'm afraid, my son," said he, "you are not making good use of your time at college. I hear very unsatisfactory reports about your work." "Gee whizz!" exclaimed Robert. "You must have been talking to one of the professors."

This is to certify that fourteen years ago I got the cords of my left wrist nearly severed, and was for about nine months receiving no benefit. By a persuasion from a friend I got MINARD'S LINIMENT and used one bottle which completely cured me, and have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family ever since and find it the same as when I first used it, and would never be without it. Man-eating sharks are reported to have been seen in passamagouddy bay. Though St. Andrews is anxious to be up-to-date, it is to be hoped that the report is untrue; there is, however, this fact which would tend to confirm the statement, seals have never before been known to take refuge there, and it is believed that fear of sharks is responsible for their presence at this time.

Dr. E. E. Prince, Dominion Commissioner of Fisheries, arrived at the Biological Station this week. Dr. Prince is one of the busiest men in Canada, and the Dominion is exceedingly fortunate in having as the technical head of the Department controlling one of its most important industries a man so thoroughly qualified in all the scientific and practical details of the fisheries. He is ably assisted by the Staff of Biologists, all University Professors, who spend their summers in the prosecution of their researches and investigations in these eastern waters and the well-equipped Biological Station at Joe's Point. It would be a pleasure to the residents of Charlotte County to see more of the general and energetic Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who has not paid a visit to the Shire Town for more than two years, at least.

Shortly after the happy young couple, amid hundreds of good wishes for their life's happiness, entered an automobile and motored to Chamcook to spend the honeymoon at a bungalow on Chamcook Lake. BAIBURT CAPTURED BEFORE

BAIBURT, the Turkish city of Asia Minor where the Russians are reported to have gained a signal advantage recently, is the subject of the following geography bulletin issued by the National Geographical Society from Washington.

"Situating on both banks of the Churuk River, which rises near and flows northeast into the Black Sea, at Batum, after a course of 200 miles, Baiburt, was a town of about 10,000 inhabitants at the beginning of the war. It owes whatever commercial importance it possesses to the productive agricultural lands in its vicinity, and to the fact that the road running from Trebizond to Erzurum passes through it, the latter city lying fifty miles in an air line to the southeast of Trebizond, about the same distance to the northwest. Surrounding the town is a fertile plateau having an elevation of nearly a mile above the Black Sea, with a few small streams visible to the north were it not for the Pontic Range of the mountains. Erzurum is fifty miles to the southwest.

"With practically no industries and with only a poor banana, Baiburt has been a station of special interest to the traveler. Even the cattle which crosses a mass of rocks on the left bank of the Churuk is a crumbling ruin, the relic of days when Armenians and Seljuks ruled in this region. But the city is of historic significance as the most westerly point reached by the Russian Army under the renowned General Ivan Fedorovich Paskevich, in the Russo-Turkish War of 1828-29. The occupation of Baiburt by General Paskevich marked the culmination of a brilliant campaign, which in some respects parallels the present westward drive of the Czar's forces. While the Black Sea fleet bombarded and seized Baiburt, just as the Grand Duke Nicholas, under whose direction the Russian troops were fighting on the Baiburt plateau, has a keen historic incentive in the triumphs associated with the name of Paskevich. This great soldier became a side-camp to his Czar after the age of eighteen, and when only twenty-three years old took part in the battle of Austerlitz, having accompanied the Russian expedition sent to aid the Austrians against Napoleon.

The province of New Brunswick has undertaken to avoid the recurrence of such tragedies as were discovered by the Commission of Conservation to have been enacted in certain portions of the Trent watershed, Ontario, where settlers were allowed to locate on poor, sandy soils, then chiefly valuable only for their timber. The work of land classification in New Brunswick is being carried on in connection with the timber estimate and mapping of Crown lands. The country is covered with an annual and regular intervals. Beyond any doubt, the result will be the opening up of new lands for settlement and the establishment of new communities under conditions which will ensure comfort and a reasonable standard of living. This, in turn, will mean a permanent increase in the population of the province, by providing for the native surplus as well as for immigrants.

The Commission of Conservation has co-operated with the provincial government in laying the foundation for the land classification work, through the detail of several experts, who have just returned from an extended trip to the several localities in which the field parties are now operating.—C. L.—Conservation.

CONSERVATION OF FISH, BIRDS AND GAME
A report just issued by the Commission of Conservation, "Conservation of Fish and Game," directs attention to the great value of these resources to Canada. The volume is a report of the proceedings of a conference of the Committee on Fisheries, Game and Fur-Bearing Animals of the Commission, and contains a fund of information regarding the present condition and the necessity for protection of Canada's fish, birds and mammals.

Canada is taking a prominent part in the international movement for the protection of wild life. A Migratory Bird Treaty between Canada and the United States is under consideration. Through the influence of the Commission of Conservation and other interests, bird reservations are being created, where the birds may find safe nesting and breeding places. The fur-bearing animals of Northern and Western Canada are being rapidly exterminated. This is clearly shown by the present report. To secure their more adequate protection, the Commission is advocating the amendment of the North-West Game Act to place responsibility for its administration upon the Dominion Parks Branch, which already protects the animals in the Dominion National Parks.

The future of the fisheries of Canada is dealt with in an able manner by the highest authorities in this country. That they are of great present value is recognized, but there is also a potential value in our oceanic fisheries, which, when properly developed, would mean the creation of new industries. To meet this condition, the Commission is suggesting vocational training and simple demonstration stations for the fishermen, that they may take advantage of the practical and modern methods of their calling.

The report is replete with illustrations applicable to the subject matter.

"No," said the fair one, "I can never marry you. I have decided to go on the stage and make a career for myself." "Football girl," exclaimed the wooer. "Don't you know you can never make a career on the stage until you have been divorced at least once? And how can you be divorced without first getting married?" "Harold," she cried, "your arguments are unanswerable. I am yours."

LETTY'S GLOBE

WHEN Letty had scarce passed her third glad year, And her young artless words began to flow, One day we gave the child a colored sphere, By the wide Earth, that she might mark and know, By tint and outline, all its seas and land. She patted all the world; old Empires peeped Between her baby fingers; her soft hand Was welcome to all frontiers. How she laughed, And laughed and prattled in her world-wide bliss! But when we turned her sweet unlearned eye On our own Isle, she raised a joyous cry—"Oh yes! I see it—Letty's home is there!" And while she hid all England with a kiss, Bright over Europe fell her golden hair.

WEALTH OF OSAGES OF OKLAHOMA

More good fortune has come to the Osage Indians, who are noted as the wealthiest people, per capita, in the world, and whose lands in Oklahoma are rich with oil, gas, and other minerals. Announcement was made to-day at the Interior Department that the Osage Indians have received a check for $1,000,000, the proceeds of the sale of their lands, which were sold in 1915.

By this new arrangement between the Indians and oil operators, the average annual income of more than 2,000 allotted Osages will be increased from between $900 and $1,000 per annum to something between $1,000 and $1,500 per annum. The per capita wealth of these Indians is estimated by the Indian Office at about $20,000, the new leases for a period of five years, but may run up to $100,000, provided oil and gas continue to be found in paying quantities.

The 680,000 acres of land involved was held under the "Foster lease," by about 100 sub-lessees in areas ranging from 10 to 300,000 acres. Under this lease the sub-lessees covering their former holdings, not exceeding 4,800 acres each, and aggregating about 190,000 acres, of which about 120,000 acres by quarter-section units is subject to a rental of $100 per acre for the old lease to be leased for oil in the future.

The Osages will receive under the new oil leases one-sixth royalty from wells producing less than 100 barrels per day and one-fifth royalty from wells producing 100 or more barrels daily; also a rental of $1 per acre per year on each 160-acre tract of undeveloped land. Furthermore, as a result of the recent sales at public auction, the Osages will receive $500,000 of the proceeds of lands formerly held by operators on which producing wells have less than 25 barrels of oil per day and 1,760 acres on which the wells average over 25 barrels per day. These lands are being sold at 15 cents per acre, which would aggregate about $3,233,000, in addition to the stipulated royalties.

Former gas leases covering the same land embraced 680,000 acres. New gas leases covering about 600,000 acres, under which the Osages receive $100 per acre per annum for each well in service, which aggregated about $12,000,000 annually, will aggregate at least $2,500,000 in addition to the $3,233,000 received in cash at recent sale, as against about $500,000 heretofore received annually under the old lease.—New York Evening Post.

The per capita wealth of these Indians is estimated by the Indian Office at about $20,000, the new leases for a period of five years, but may run up to $100,000, provided oil and gas continue to be found in paying quantities.

The 680,000 acres of land involved was held under the "Foster lease," by about 100 sub-lessees in areas ranging from 10 to 300,000 acres. Under this lease the sub-lessees covering their former holdings, not exceeding 4,800 acres each, and aggregating about 190,000 acres, of which about 120,000 acres by quarter-section units is subject to a rental of $100 per acre for the old lease to be leased for oil in the future.

The Osages will receive under the new oil leases one-sixth royalty from wells producing less than 100 barrels per day and one-fifth royalty from wells producing 100 or more barrels daily; also a rental of $1 per acre per year on each 160-acre tract of undeveloped land. Furthermore, as a result of the recent sales at public auction, the Osages will receive $500,000 of the proceeds of lands formerly held by operators on which producing wells have less than 25 barrels of oil per day and 1,760 acres on which the wells average over 25 barrels per day. These lands are being sold at 15 cents per acre, which would aggregate about $3,233,000, in addition to the stipulated royalties.

Former gas leases covering the same land embraced 680,000 acres. New gas leases covering about 600,000 acres, under which the Osages receive $100 per acre per annum for each well in service, which aggregated about $12,000,000 annually, will aggregate at least $2,500,000 in addition to the $3,233,000 received in cash at recent sale, as against about $500,000 heretofore received annually under the old lease.—New York Evening Post.

LETTY'S GLOBE

WHEN Letty had scarce passed her third glad year, And her young artless words began to flow, One day we gave the child a colored sphere, By the wide Earth, that she might mark and know, By tint and outline, all its seas and land. She patted all the world; old Empires peeped Between her baby fingers; her soft hand Was welcome to all frontiers. How she laughed, And laughed and prattled in her world-wide bliss! But when we turned her sweet unlearned eye On our own Isle, she raised a joyous cry—"Oh yes! I see it—Letty's home is there!" And while she hid all England with a kiss, Bright over Europe fell her golden hair.

WEALTH OF OSAGES OF OKLAHOMA

More good fortune has come to the Osage Indians, who are noted as the wealthiest people, per capita, in the world, and whose lands in Oklahoma are rich with oil, gas, and other minerals. Announcement was made to-day at the Interior Department that the Osage Indians have received a check for $1,000,000, the proceeds of the sale of their lands, which were sold in 1915.

By this new arrangement between the Indians and oil operators, the average annual income of more than 2,000 allotted Osages will be increased from between $900 and $1,000 per annum to something between $1,000 and $1,500 per annum. The per capita wealth of these Indians is estimated by the Indian Office at about $20,000, the new leases for a period of five years, but may run up to $100,000, provided oil and gas continue to be found in paying quantities.
