Daylight Saving for Athens

At a largely attended meeting held by the citizens of Athens on April 3, 1919, in her return from the war zone. Miss the Agricultural Dept. Rooms, the following resolution was adopted:

Moved by W. G. Parish, Seconded by A. W. Johnson, that the Village adopt the Daylight Saving Plan as already adopted by the Railways, to come into effect on G. W. Lee.

M. B. Holmes Chrirman Secretary

Immediately following the citizens meeting a special meeting of the Athens Village Council was called with all the members present, when the following resolution was introduced-

Moved by Mr. W. H. Jacobs, seconded by Mr. Geo. T. Gifford:

That whereas the time of the Canadian Railway passenger service, and the time of the Canadian Railway Mail Service has been moved ahead one hour and this said change of time is reported as having the approval of the Canadian Railway War

And Whereas it is expedient that time pieces in the Incorporated Village of Athens should harmonize with this said change.

Therefore be it resolved that on and after two o'clock a.m. on April 7th, 1919, all clocks and time pieces in the Village of Athens be moved ahead one hour in harmony with the changed time of the said Railway passenger service and the said Railway Mail service and to so remain during the continuance of said order of the said Railway Board.

And be it further resolved that the citizens of Athens are respectfully requested to comply accordingly-Carried unam ously.

It is said that man is an animat. and as such of course he is inclined to be gregarious. It is not susprishing then that boys and young men gather in flocks and give vent to their animal spirits. This is not objectionable under proper conditions and in proper places, but when young men make it a practice to loaf and crowd home in Smiths Falls after spending street corners in business places, it becomes a nuisance, especially where their conversation is embellished with profane remarks, and where rudeness is exhibited. Perhaps some young married men are the worst offenders, who try to excel each other in big talk. This is not a very good environment for small boys and parents should keep tab on them. #### Sugar Making.

Sr. III.-Waldon Avery.

One of the many interesting side lines of the Eastern Ontario and Quebec farming industry, is one which comes with the early spring and appeals to everyone, old and young, namely, the making of maple syrup and sugar. The Indian was the first to indulge in the making, handing it down later to the white man.

In olden times, syrup was made under great difficulties, as there were no conveniences in those days for tapping the maple trees. The spiles through which the sap runs from the trees was made from sumac wood, and before the coopers made cedar buckets, common wooden troughs were used to catch the sap. Nowiedays we have more up-to-date methods, tin buckets, patented spiles and evaporators.

As soon as the buckets are filled. then comes the gathering of the sap. Generally a sleigh bearing large barrels or cans drives around from tree to tree and the sap is poured from bucket to barrel, and then away for the boiling down process.

After the sap has been gathered and taken to the sugar house, it is deposited in a tub which feeds into evaporator. In olden times earthen pots and fron boilers were used, but the farmer of to-day is more fortunate in having more up-todate utensils. As the sap boils it gradually becomes thicker and thicker, until it is syrup and ready to be cleansed, and then cured.

To make sugar, the syrup has to have further boiling. Generally the syrup is taken to the farm house and made into sugar. After boiling to 3 certain thickness it is stirred until it cools and is then set away to harden. Lastly, the farmer places his syrup on the market for sale and it usually brings a good price. In war times it was sent in large quantities to the

FACTS ABOUT RUSSIA

(Saturday Evening Post).

While the rest of the world complained that trustworthy information about Russia was not obtainable, be-cause everything coming out of that country was distorted one way or the Socialists collected a great deal of authentic Russian information for the guidance of their recent interna-tional convention at Berne. They went to the Bolsheviki themselves for the information, and having digested if they denounced the Bolsheviki rule.

Though suppressing every Russian publication not friendly to them the Bolsheviki are great publicity artists on their own side. They have their official and semi-official newspapers and various government organs covering particular fields. It was from the files of these publications that the Socialists compiled their report, taking from non-Bolshevik source and giving the authority for their statements in each case.

The Socialists were not interested in what the Bolsheviki did to the bourgeolsie and they paid no attention to that, their general idea being the more anybody does to the bourgeoise, or property owning class, the better. They were not interested in reports of Bolshevik terrorism, massacres, and so on, for they allow that much disorder of that sort will usually accompany a revolution. They confined their attention solely to the result of Bolshevism upon the very class in whose exclusive interests it professes to rule namely, upon the proletariat, or urban wage earners. Socialists condemned Bolshevism because they found, out of its own mouth, that it was destroying the very class it is supposed to benefit

The Bolsheviki's own reports showed that the population of Petrograd had declined about two-thirds, only about 80,000 inhabitants being left out about 2,400,000. Population of Moscow had declined about 60 per cent. In one group of Petrograd factories the number of workmen had fallen from 277,000 to 120,000. Moscow metal workers' unions had lost 123,000 members out of 183,000. Chemical workers' unions had lost three-fourths of their members. Other such instances are cited from Bolshevik reports.

City wage earners have been disappearing into the highly paid army, drifting out to the villages, turning peddler and petty speculator. Output of a large group of textile factories had declined three-quarters.

Not only has the number of workers greatly decreased, but output per man has fallen. The Petrograd Soviet re-ported that the state had advanced oles to the famous Putil loff works—of which 66,000,000 rubles had been expended in wages, while total output of the works in the same period was valued at only 15,000,000 rubles. From various reports it seemed that the total factory output equal-ed only about half the sum drawn from the state treasury; hence an official complaint that the Government has been obliged to print paper money at the rate of 200,000,000 rubles a day, and that the value of its rubles in the interior of the country has fallen 95

Last November the central executive committee declared that the food short age in Moscow was largely due loafing and plundering. In December a Government organ complained that the mass of new industrial officials

No wonder Kautsky declared: "The great engagement of Socialism is that great argument for Socialism is that it is more efficient than the capitalist system, but the Bolsheviki are under mining this argument."

Of course they still say that though it worked most disastrously in Russia it would work beautifully some other place—any place where it has never been tried. But there is its own report of itself in the only place where it ever has been tried. In the days before the war, one of the features of Ryde, Isle of Wight, was the fleet of obsolete warships which rode mournfully at anchor to the west of the pier. Recognizes the Armistice of Last November.

Misunderstood the Order-Smuts to Budapest.

Paris Cable-Budapest advices to the French Foreign Office state that Bela Kun, the Hungarian Foreign Minister, is willing to recognize the armistice of November. Although the Allied missions were temporarily deprived of their liberty in Hungary and finally expelled, the new Hungarian Government apparently does not consider it has broken relations with the allies, and desires to maintain them.

In conference circles it is felt that the misunderstanding by the Hungarians of the neutral zone created be tween Hungary and Roumania led to the original action.

A semi-official statement says: "The Premiers in conference to-day decided to send to South Hungary for information concerning the situation and to remove the misuderstanding that has arisen regarding the frontiers of new states. It has been said that the revolutions have largely been brought about by a mistaken notion regarding the intentions of the Allied Commission in Hungary."

It is officially announced that Gen-

Bolsheviki Horrors

Copenhagen-One of the most horritying chapters in the annals of Bolshevik crime is formed by the narrative of the appocities perpetrated in Esthonia. Now that the country is cleared of Bolsheviks, the Esthonian authorities have begun an investigation as thorough and conscientious in its methods as it is ghastly in its re-sults. The first official report deals with the Bolshevik atrocities in Weswith the Boisnevik atrocties in Westerberg and Dorpat. The graves of those murdered at Wesenberg were opened on Jan. 17 in the presence of a number of high officials, including the Town Governor. The vicinity of the graves showed with what brutality the Bolsheviks had executed their victims. All around was to be seen congealed blood, amongst which lay torn pieces of clothamongst which lay torn pieces of clothing, brains, and fragments of skull, with hair. Sixteen bodies were found in the first grave opened. The authorities had these shocking relics of the Red Terror photographed, and the photographs which your correspondent has seen will be an enduring remainder of Belsouth informs. minder of Bolshevik infamy. Among them are a doctor, a priest, a soldier, a merchant, a railway official, and a shoemaker, a selection which testifies to Bolshevik impartiality in at least one respect. The second grave open-ed also contained sixteen victims. The third and largest of the graves was opened on Jan. 18. It was four metres long, two metres deep, and filled with corpses, says the official report. It contained fifty bodies, of which forty-one were recognized. Five which lorty-one were recognized. Five at least were women, one Jeanette Baroness Wrangel of Wesenberg, another a sister of Mercy. Everything except their linen had been taken from the victims, even their boots had been removed. The Bolshevik executionremoved. The Bolshevik executioners had shattered the skulls of thirty three of the victims, and, not content with shooting, had pierced most of them with bayonets and eviscerated

"EXECUTION" OF WOMEN. Proprietor A. Munstrum, who mira-culously escaped death at the hands of the Bolsheviks, described the scene of one of the executions. On the afternoon of Jan. 11, he said, fifty-six of us were led to the place of execu-tion, where the grave was already made. Half of us, including six women were to be executed first. One woman tried to escape, but the Bolsheviks fired after her, and she sank to the ground wounded. They then dragged her by the feet into the grave, fired at her, and stamped on her body until she was silent. Then a volley was fired at the other victims, who were also cast into the graves and done to death with butt-end of rifles and bayonets, after which the Bolsheviks trampled on the bodies. In Dorpat the Bolsheviks perpetrated the same kind of atrocities as in Wesenberg. The official report furnishes the names of the victims and an account of the execution. The Bolsheviks used to make them stand in a row, and call out the names of the victims. They were then robbed of their clothing, boots, and valuables, led to the cellar of the bank, and done to death with hatchet blows and bombs. About twenty were done to death in this manner, and only the hasty flight of the Bolsheviks saved the rest, about eighty of whom were women. Among those murdered wcre Archbishop Platon, a university professor, and a grcy-headed clergyman. The photograph taken of the cellar is a ghastly souvenir. A doctor who examined the place shortly after the murders says the floor was covered with bodies piled on one another in the most unnatural positions, which could only be attributable to violent death. In nearly every case the skull had been totally shattered. The whole place was covered with blood, which has also splashed the walls. At Nava thirty people were murder-ed en masse, chiefly women. Stones were hung around their necks, and they were thrown into the water. Be-fore their retreat the Bolsheviks seized the girls, whom they took away with them.

The official report is a cold, monot-

At Simuna a number of people were unable to purchase their lives by disbursing large sums. In Werro the Bolsheviks mobilized forcibly all men of military age, and sent them to the Viatka front. They tortured the miller there for the purpose of extracting money, breaking his legs, and stabbing him with bayonets, and as a further refinement broke the fingers of the miller's son.—Reuter's Special Service.

THE FIGHTING IN STUTTGARI

City is Growing Nervous as to Outcome.

Strike Intended to Become General.

Stuttgart Cable - Proclamation of a general strike of working people Wurttemburg Tuesday throughout was met by a counter strike on the part of the Bourgeoise. Street fights developed in the afternoon and three persons are believed to have been killed, while many were injured.

The casualties occurred when a column of strikers, holding a demonstration for their demands, met a large detachment of Government troops with machine guns and armored cars. The troops insisted that the strikers disperse. The strikers refused and adopted a threatening attitude. After several warning shots, the troops fired. There was some brief hand-to-hand fighting, after which the demonstrators were driven off and order restored for the time being.

Stuttgart, however, is growing nervous. The gas and electric supplies have been shut off and the food situation is serious.

Although the demands of the strikers are ostensibly for the removal of martial law, the release of political prisoners and new elections for the Soldiers' and Workmen's Councils, it is believed in Government circles that they are working systematically under the surface to bring about the downfall of the Government, by which they hope to endanger the national Government. It is claimed that it is intended that the strikthere shall speard all over Germany.

BROWNED TRIPE.

Make a good plain sauce with the addition of the volk of an egg; add to the sauce small squares of boiled tripe. Butter a serving dish and place in the dish some nicely seasoned cold mashed potatoes, in which the beaten white of the egg has been added. Cover with the tripe and sauce and bake until nicely brown. Oyster, onice or tomato sauce will be equally delicious with the tripe and potatoes.

BRAINS. Brains should be blanched by soak ing in salt water overnight and skin-ned or by boiling a few minutes in salt and water, skinned and plunged into cold water. They may be scram-bled with eggs, creamed by adding thick white sauce, rolled in flour and bread crumbs, cooked in hot fat and greed with hominy cakes, stewed with dumplings, scalloped or prepared in casserole. Brains and kidneys are comparatively low in fuel value, so that a method of cooking like frying makes of them a "heartier" dish. LIVER LOAF.

One calf's liver, one-half cup bread crumbs, one-half teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful kitchen bouquet, one table-spoonful vinegar, four slices salt pork, chopped; two tablespoonfuls chopped onion, one cup stock, a little nutmeg.

Wash and chop liver, cook five min-utes (boil) in stock, add ingredients mould into loaf. Bake one hour in a slow oven.

German Commission Finds Mannheim Officer Guilty.

Wittenburg Camp Charge is Thrown Out.

(From George Young.)

Berlin Cable — The commission of inquiry appointed by the Government to-day investigated the case of the shooting of French prisoners at Mann-heim after the armistice, and the circumstances of the typhus epidemic at the Wittenberg camp in the winter of 1914-15. The commission decided against Germany in Mannheim case and favorably to Germany in regard to the Wittenberg complaints, exonerating the German, Dr. Aschenbach. The evidence, it is stated, showed that the camp was properly equipped supplies and that the statistics of the sickness and mortality were no worse than those of similar epidemics elsewhere, while the statements of the British doctors are considered to have been based largely upon hearsay or up-on misunderstanding.

REFERENDUM PROMISED

Voters Will Be Asked Four Questions.

Premier Hearst Explains the Fcatures of the Ballot to Be Taken During the present Year - Citizens May Repeal Ontario Temperance Act and Several Substitutes Are Suggested.

TORONTO, April 8 .- The Ontario were announced in the Ontario Leg-islature by Sir William Hearst, Mon-day. The Prime Minister, contrary to expectations, did not bring down the legislation upon which the referendum will be based, but in a lengthy statement he gave the House a clear outline of what the legislation will be. The Government's policy may be summed up under two heads; its referendum proposals and its policy of ownership and control in the period that must elapse before the will of the people can be fully expressed. The Government in pursuance of the appropriate made by ance of the announcement made by the Prime minister several months ago, will bring in legislation provid-ing for the taking over of the business of selling liquor under the On-tario Temperance Act, the establish-ment of distributing warehouses and agencies in various parts of the pro-

So much for the temporary policy. The policy for the temporary policy. The policy for the future will depend upon the vote of the people, for the four questions which Sir William announced will be submitted to the people will record public opinion absolutely. If the people vote for the continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act that Act will stay upon the statute books. If at the same time they give a majority for the sale of light beer in standard hotels after a vote by the municipal elec-tors, amendments will be made to the Ontario Temperance Act to make the Ontario Temperance Act to make such sale possible.

The other two questions will be in exactly the same position. If the people give a majority vote for one or the other that one will be made effective. Thus it is possible, though not probable, that the province, by its vote way say, it wants the Orteins. its vote, may say it wants the Ontario Temperance Act amended to permit the sale of light beer in sealed packages, in Government agencies, in standard hotels ever the bars, and spirituous liquors generally in Government agencies. A full vote on all four questions is assured by the simple plan of requiring the elector to vote on every question or have his ballot thrown out.

The Prime Minister in making his statement referred to the enactment of the Ontario Temperance Act as a war measure. He spoke of his ex-planation of the purpose of that bill and his declaration that the Government would not have thought of urging the passage of such a bill without the vote of the people, but for the war and the obligations it imposed. At that time he had given the word of the Government that when the death struggle in France and Flan-ders was over and the soldiers who were fighting for liberty had return-ed to exercise the full rights of cit-zenship the question would be defi-nitely settled by the submission of a

The time had about arrived to make good that pledge, and for some time past the Government had been giving thought to the best form in which a referendum could be sub-mitted so as to fully express the will of the people.

The questions to be submitted are as follows:

as follows:

1. Are you in favor of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act?

2. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer, containing not more than 2 51-100 alcohol weight measure, through Government agencies and awardments to the Ontario Temperamendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?

3. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2 51-100 per cent. alcohol weight

PRUSSIA'S WAR LOSSES.

4,530,000 Men Killed, Wounded and Missing

A.550,000 Men Killed, Wounded and Missing |

BLECLIN. April 8.—Prussia's huge losses in officers and men during the war are indicated by a staff officer, who writes in the Lokal Aanzeiger. He submits figures compiled from the official casualty lists to show that 32,554 active officers at the front were killed, wounded or missing out of a total of 34,350, and that more than 4,330,000 soldiers were killed, wounded or missing out of 10,178,000 who actually fought at the front. He points out that these figures belie the stories sometimes heard that the Prussian officers did not attack with their men, and asserts that their losses were particularly heavy in the first two years, but were much less in the later years of the war because the officers had to be saved for general staff work.

The figures show also how little Germany counted on a long war, for the Prussian mobilization contemplated 3,000,000 to which approximately 6,500,000 had to be added before the end. Germany started the war with 19,826 active Prussian officers and drew 14,524 more into the service.

Every step in its manufacture is closely watched by chemical engineers-nothing is left undone which would help to maintain the quality of the world's finest white lead.

Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead

is different from any other white lead. To begin with, it is corroded by several secret processes which are then merged into a pigment of marvellous smoothness. This pigment is ground no less than five times, first under huge stones, and finally between heavy steel rolls. In this grinding process, it is made into a pulp by being mixed with pure refined linseed oil made in our own linseed oil mills.

Whenever you paint, use Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead if you mix your own paint. If you want to save the labor of mixing you can ensure the use of this quality pigment only by getting B-H "English" Paint.

Forces in Russia Menaced by Bolsheviki.

Relief Forces Are Being Sent Forward at Once to Assist British and American Armics-Archangel Situation Unchanged, But Evacuation of Archangel Is Expected.

LONDON, April 8.—Arrangements force to Northern Russia are being pushed forward. The earliest advance guard leaves on April 9 for Murmansk. There it will be in a favorable position to proceed at the first opportunity to Archangel. The main force proceeds in two sections, the force proceeds in two sections, the first at the beginning of May and the second a fortnight later. It is intended that the main force shall consist mostly of volunteers. The War Office will probably make an immediate appeal for volunteers, not only to troops of the armies of occupation and men preparing to go to overseas garrisons, but to discharged and demobilized men.

Important developments on the Murmansk front may be expected in a few days owing to a threatened defection of Finnish troops, according to the Mail. It is said that it was to meet this danger that American detachments were sent on two American cruisers, which will reach Murmansk early next week. Other allied reinforcemfents are being prepared.

President Wilson is reported to President Wilson is reported to have ordered the sailors of the two cruisers to land with the troops, if necessary. British relief forces have gone on board of two especially constructed ice-breaking transports, with which they expect to get through the ice two weeks earlier than they could on any other type of vessel.

An official statement dealing with the operations on the Murmansk and Archangel fronts says: "Gen. Maynard is taking energetic action to deal with the situation, which is causing anxiety 120 miles south of Murmansk. Reinforcements of infantry and marines have been rapidly moved and marines have been rapidly moved down the railway line, and it is hop-ed that they may succeed in nipping in the bud the mutinous tendency among the Finnish troops who form part of Gen. Maynard's forces. The object of these latter is believed to be to effect a junction with the Bol-shoviki. sheviki.

"The Archangel situation is un-changed."

Christ-Our Saviour, Matt. 20: 27; John 1: 35-51; 3: 16; Rom. 8: 31, 32. Christ—Our Saviour, Matt. 20: 21.
John 1: 35-51; 3: 16; kom. 8: 31, 32.
Commentary.—I. The supreme gift to the world (Matt. 20: 27, 28; John 3: 16; Rom. 8: 31, 32). The purpose that Jesus had in coming to earth is impressively declared in Matt. 20: 27, 28.
He came "to give His life a ransom for many." Although He "thought it not robbery to be equal with God," "He humbled Himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross," that He might render the highest possible service, supreme service, to man. He did not come for the purpose of being exalted, but to take a lowly place and pour out Himself for the salvation of man. He gave Himself "a ransom for many," but the Father also was a party to this gift, for "He gave His only begotten Son" that man might be saved (John 3: 16). That the Father gave His Son

3: 16). That the Father gave His Son to be our Saviour is further declared through Paul's words in Rom. 8. 32. He "spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all." Jesus is presented to us as our divine Lord.

II. Jesus the Lamb of God (John 12.5 4.25 Again the part day —The

1, 35-42). 35. Again the next day —The day following the one on which John the Baptiet said to the people, "Behold the Lamb of God." The records of his testimony as to Jesus are that o nthree successive days he declared to the people that Jesus was the Messiah. He gave witness of this fact to the pries's and Levites who came from Jerusalem. He introduced Jesus from Jerusalem. He introduced Jesus to the multitudes. He declared this truth privately to two of his disciples—We are not told how many disciples John the Baptist had. From this chapter we learn that some of them directly became followers of Jesus. From the account of his sending an inquiry from the place of his imprisonment. from the place of his imprisonment, asking Jesus of his Messiahship, we know that he had disciples then (Matt. 11. 2-6); and he had disciples at the time of his death (Mark 6. 27-29). 36. Looking upon Jesus—The verb has in it the thought of beholding with intense interest. Behold the Lamb of God—"Behold, the Lamb of God!"—R. V. This announcement delared both the nature and mission of clared both the nature and mission of Christ. 37. They followed Jesus — They followed Him because they were convinced that He was the "Lamb of God' to take away the sins of the world. They followed Him through re-proach and shame and through suf-fering, but they followed him to eternal fering, but they followed him to eternal triumph and bliss. 38. Rabbi — A Jewish title. Jesus forbade His disciples to accept it (Matt. 23. 8). It means master, or teacher. Interpreted — John explained the Hebrew term rabbi for the benefit of those who were no Jews. Where dwellest thou—They wished to know where He lodged that they might have an extended interview with Him. 39. Come and see—Jesus gave them a hearty welcome. view with Him. 39. Come and see—
Jesus gave them a hearty welcome.

It recognized their sincerity and devotion. About the tenth hour—According to the Roman method of reckoning it would be ten o'clock in the forenoon, but according to the Jewish method it would be four o'clock in the forenoon, but according to the Jewish method it would be four o'clock in the afternoon. The latter was probably the hour. 40. One of the two... was Andrew—Andrew's name was probably the hour. 40. One of the two... was Andrew—Andrew's name is the first mentioned in the list of Christ's disciples. There is no doubt as to the other one, for it must have been John, the writer of this Gospel. He always modestly refrained from mentioning his own name. 41. He mentioning his own name. 41. He first findeth his own brother Simon—The language in the Greek would imply that such of the two disciples sought at once his own brother to bring him to Jesus, and Andrew succeeded first in bringing his brother Simon. Thus each disciple sought to Simon. Thus each disciple sought to binon. Thus each disciple sought to bring some one to Jesus. This has ever been the method of advancing the cause of Christ. We have found the Mccolas—There was an expecta-tion at that time that Christ was

When Energy and Vitality are Lowest, then-Influenza?

(By S. C. BOWER, M. D.)

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin and feel the exhileration of real good health tingling thru their bodies. Good pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. You are apt to suffer from an attack of Influenza if your health is run down.

Purify the blood and you can defy influenza. This is the time to clean house and freshen up a bit.

Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. It contains no alcohol or narcotics and is made into tablets and liquid. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. for trial package.

STRATFORD, ONT .- "For many years I suffered with nuralgia. It would affect my head, extending down into my neck and shoulders. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and was completely cured. I have also taken 'Pleasant Pellets' and found them an excellent remedy for constipation, billous attacks, also atomach and liver troubles. They seem to regulate one's whole system. Ever since I can remember Dr. Pierce's medicines have been used in my family. I am always ready to recommend them."—W. J constination, billous attacks, also stomach and Tame, 272 Railway Avenue.

His home was in Galilee, and the people of that district were not closely bound up in religious customs and hence would be open to

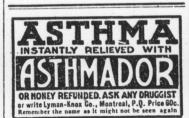

Christ's teachings. 4. Bethsaida—There was a village by this name on the northwestern shore of the Sea of Galilee and one also at the north end, east of where the Jordan flows into the sea. This was called Bethsaida Julias. The home of Philip, Andrew and Peter was the Bethsaida first mentioned. The name means house, or place, of fish. 45. Philip findeth Nathanael—As soon as Philip became a disciple of Jesus he went forth to bring another to him He became at once a winner of souls. In the law—The Pentateuch, or the five books of Moses. The prophets—The Old Testament prophets foretold the coming of the Messlah. Jesus of Nazareth-Nazareth, the early home of Jesus, is a city about fifteen miles west of the Sea of Galilee, situated among the hill, high above the plain of Esdraelon. 46. Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth—This question implies rather than Nazareth was an insignificant town or that it bore a bad reputation. Nathanael lived in Cana, only four miles from Nazareth, and he was astonished that the Messiah should come from that place. 47. Behold an Israelite indeed—Jesus not only saw Nathanael as one man sees another, but he also understood throughly his character. 48. Whence knowest thou me—Nathanael was not acquainted with Jesus and he was filled with wonder that Jesus should know him. 49. Thou art the Son of God-The bearing of Jesus together with the marvelous knowledge that he manifested drew forth from Nathanael this sincere and weighty confes-sion. He declared that he was the Messiah and the long-expected King of Israel. 50. Greater things than these—Jesus gave Nathanael to know of Israel. that he should see greater proofs of divinity than he had yet beheld. Nathanael wondered at Christ's seeing him under the fig tree, but he should see greater displays of divine wisdom see greater displays of divine wisdom and power. 51. Angels of God ascending and descending—This doubtless indicates the closeness and constancy of the relationship between Jesus and the Father. Son of man—This is the title that Jesus applies to himself many times. Questions-In what sense did give his Son to the world? In what sense did Christ give himself as the world's Redeemer? How much did God love the world? What did John the Baptist announce to two of his disciples concerning Jesus? What course did those disciples take? Why did they address Jesus as "Rabbi"? Who were the two disciples did they go to see?

PRACTICAL SURVEY. Topic.-Christ the wold's Redeemer.

1. The price of redemption. II. The power of redemption.

1. The power of redemption. Redemption, as used in religious phrase-ology, means to rescue from sin and its consequences. Its necessity is grounded in racial moral collapse through the disphedience of the folcasi through the disobedience of its federal head. Its origin is in the infinite, compassionate love of God (John 3:16). The first necessity in the individual noral standing and deranged moral relationships. This is possible only through provisions which, rendering complete atonement to assaulted holiness and entire satisfaction to offended justice, permit the righteous exercise of divine clemency in "the remis sion of sins that are past." The law can not, without self-destruction, re-linquish its demands or remit its penalties, but can accept a properly accredited substitution. Here arise the necessity of the incarnation and the efficiency of the atonement. It is evident that Jesus regarded his own death as a ransom price paid for the redemption of mankind. "The Son of man (not of a man), came....to give his life a ransom for many." Apostolic language is equally plain (Gal. 3:13; Titus 2:14; 1 Pet. 1:18; 2:24; 1 John 2:2; 4:10). The unavoidable penalty 2:2; 4:10). The unavoidable penalty of disobedience was immediate spirit ual death, entailing physical death.

This could be met vicariously only by he voluntary surrender of a life upon which the law had no punitive claims. Jesus as a racial representative, by his upreme act of "righteousness" (Rom. :25) beyond the personal demands of the law, created a new moral value which could be accepted as a racial atonement. Any higher offering was mpossible; any lesser insufficient.

II. The power of redemption. laims of the moral law include both conduct and character. Hence the second necessity of redemption is the enlisting of moral energies sufficient for the complete renewal of disordered noral nature. This is found in the mmediate and individual operation of immediate and individual operation of the Holy Ghost, the supreme and effi-cient purchase of the atonement. 1. Redemption is universal. Both the fall and atonement are racial in extent. None are excluded from its provisions and possibilities. There is virtual sufficiency in the death of Christ for the salvation of the entire race, and personal efficiency for every man who meets its conditions. The individual choice is the determining factor. The purchase of the race was the price of one soul. Invitations as wide and varied as the world's need are extend-The entire value and virtue the atonement are immeditably available for every individual. 2. Redemption is complete. "That he might redeem us from all iniquity," is the apostle's statement of its purpose and scope. The psalmist declares, restoreth my soul," and the moral up-lift is as inclusive as the wreck of the fall. Spiritual disaster entailed mental and physical disorder and destruc-tion. The entire being has been im-paired. Spiritual restoration involves the rebuilding of the entire intellectual and physical manhood. The com-mencement is at the cross, the consummation is in the "eternal weight of glory.'

SHEEP TIPS FOR BEGINNERS.

Th beginner in sheep raising can acquire more information regarding the types and habits from a small flock than he can from a large one. A flock of 25 ewes would be sufficiently large from which to take note of the capacity of each for producing wool and lambs. With a small flock he is able to develop a conception of the type of ewe hat is prolific, motherly, and able to produce sufficient milk to rapidly grow her lambs. By observing certain individuals from day to day, he also heave a correction of the content of the correction of also becomes familiar with the habits of the sheep and learns to know when they are slightly "off" in health. A little attention in the first stage of illness will frequently restore a sheep to complete health, while if neglected until the arinwal polarice a stempts to til the animal no longer attempts to stay with the flock, the task of treating it is much more difficult.

Except in certain periods such lambing time, 15 to 25 ewes require little, if any care than from two to 10 head. He should have enough to justify giving them adequate attention, for a busy man with three or four sheep on his hands will find they re-quire more time than the returns will justify, and he will be apt to not give them the care they should have.

CHARACTERISTICS OF BREEDING EWES.

For breeding purposes ewes should be well grown, healthy and spirited. They should be sound in mouth and milking organs; should be from one to four years of age, and covered with dense coats of marketable wool. They should be uniform in body lines.

should be uniform in body lines, show-ing capacity for feed.

It is highly important that the ewes be in good health, which is indicated by lively, energetic movements, by a bright, clean sin, deep pink except fe occasional specimens of the dark-faced breed, and by bright eyes, with prelty of red blood shown in the veins a the whites of the eyeballs.

The best ewe for the beginner is from two to thre years old. At this age they are in their prime for preducing lambs and wool. Having rate-ed from one to two crops of lambs they have less trouble in delivering their lambs and are better mothers than young ewes.

The wool is a very important factor which too often is partly overlook. ed in selecting breeding ewes. A awayielding less than eight pounds should be discarded unless she is an except tional producer of lambs. To get a fleece of desirable weight, the bedy must be densely covered with weel. The purchaser should see to it that the belly is well covered and that the wool extends to the knees and hocks, and all so over the forehead and cheeks. The fleece should be even in quality, and for farm flocks should grade from onefourth blood staple to fine staple. addition to its commercial value a dense, compact fleece protects her health by keeping ner skin dry and by essening the effects of sudden changes in temperature.

Ews having capacious bodies and straight/body lines are likely to have well-formed lambs and to nourish

THE KIND OF RAM TO BUY. In the selection of the ram there should be even more care taken than in the case of the ews. It is an old say-ing that "a good ram is half the flock, and a bad one is more than half." If possible, a pure bred ran should be secured, because he will impress his characteristics on his offspring in greater degree than will a grade. If a suitable pure bred cannot be found, the next best is a ram from a high-grade flock belonging to a man who has added his ewes carefully and who has used good pure bred rams of the same breed for a number of years. It is a risk to buy a ram without having any knowledge of his breeding:

having any knowledge of his breeding; and no matter how good the breeding; it is poor practice to select a ram that does not conform to a high standard

In selecting the ram, one should endeavor to get one, that is bold in head features and strong in constitution. He should be active, vigorous and from 1 to 3 years old; symmetrical and evenly covered with a dense fleece.

It is possible at times to secure an excellent pure-bred ram for a grade flock at a comparatively cheap price, because he is deficient in one or two breed characteristics. In hornless because he is deficient in one or two breed characteristics. In hornless breeds, a ram having strong stubs of horns cannot be sold at a high figure; nor can a ram having dark wool on his head command a high price if the breed requirement calls for white wool in that region. In case a man starts with a ram belonging to a breed generally recognized as being adapted to his community, he should select rams of that breed year after year. By usof that breed year after year. By using care in selecting his rams he sould be able to correct any marked defi-ciency in his flock without introducing a ram of another breed.

HOTBEDS AND COLD FRAMES.

The surest way to have an early garden next spring is to prepare a hotbed and a cold frame, or a combination of the two, before the ground freezes this fall. After the ground freezes hard it will be impossible to dig a pit properly and construct the frame preparatory to making a hot-The essentials are a framework of boards and sash or light canvas for a covering. Standard hotbed sash are by 6 feet in size, and the frame can be made to fit one, two or more of these sashes. frame should be so arranged that the sash will not only clide on ways but also may be lifted or titled at any angle for ventilation. The framework should be painted, and the sash should be given at least two coats of white lead and linseed oil, with a little drier added, before the glass is put in. In glazing hotbed sash the putty is first spread in the grooves on the sash bars, the glass then being bedded in the putty and well pressed down. The bottom light or glass in each row should be put in first; then the second light should overlap the first one about onefourth of an inch; and so on until each section of the sash is filled, the last section of the sash is filted, the last pieze of glass being cut to fill out the remaining space. Each piece of glass is fastened in place by means of special glazing points driven into the wooden sash bar.

The hotbed pit should be 12 to 14 inches deep and just a trifle smaller than the framework of boards. The dirt removed from the pit is used to bank around the frame. The plt may be filled with leaves during the early winter to prevent the soil freezing, and the sash stores where they will be protected from the weather until time to start plants in the bed. If this part of the work is done there will be no difficulty in getting an early start for a spring garden.

Frances and Agatha had been very arefully reared. Especially had they been taught that in no circumstances must they tell a lie-not even a white lie"-or deceive any one.

One day, during a visit made by these little girls to an aunt in the country, they met a large cow in a field they were crossing. Much frightened, the young sisters stopped, not knowing what to do. Finally Frances said:

"Let's go right on, Agatha, and pretend that we are not afraid of it. But Agatha's conscience was not slumbering. "Wouldn't that be deceiving the cow?" she objected.

Please Mention This Paper,

Christ-Our Saviour, Matt. 20: John 1: 35-51; 3: 16; kom. 8: 31, 32.

Commentary.—I. The supreme gift to the world (Matt, 20: 27, 28; John 3: 16; Rom. 8: 31, 32). The purpose that Jesus had in coming to earth is impressively declared in Matt. 20: 27, 28. He came "to give His life a ransom for many." Although He "thought it not robbery to be equal with God," "He humbled Himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross," that He might render the highest possible service, supreme service, to man. He did not come for the purpose of being exalted, but to take a lowly place and pour out Himself for the salvation of man. He gave Himself "a ransom for many," but the Father also was a party to this gift, for "He gave His only begotten Son" that man might be saved (John 3: 16). That the Father gave His Son John 1: 35-51; 3: 16; Rom. 8: 31, 32. 3: 16). That the Father gave His Son

3: 16). That the Father gave His Son to be our Saviour is further declared through Paul's words in Rom. 8. 32. He "spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all." Jesus is presented to us as our divine Lord. II. Jesus the Lamb of God (John 1, 35-42). 35. Again the next day —The day following the one on which John the Baptist said to the people, "Behold the Lamb of God." The records of his testimony as to Jesus are that on three successive days he declared to the people that Jesus was the Messiah. He gave witness of this fact to the pries's and Levites who came to the people that Jesus was the Messiah. He gave witness of this fact to the pries's and Levites who came from Jerusalem. He introduced Jesus to the multitudes. He declared this truth privately to two of his disciples—We are not told how many disciples John the Baptist had. From this chapter we learn that some of them directly became followers of Jesus. From the account of his sending an inquiry from the place of his imprisonment, asking Jesus of his Messiahship, we know that he had disciples at the time of his death (Mark 6. 27-29). 36. Looking upon Jesus—The verb has in it the thought of beholding with intense interest. Behold the Lamb of God. Behold, the Lamb of God. Behold, the Lamb of God. They followed Jesus—They followed Him because they were convinced that He was the "Lamb of God!" They followed Jesus—They followed Him because they were convinced that He was the "Lamb of God!" the lamb of the lamb of God!" They followed Jesus—They followed Him because they were convinced that He was the "Lamb of God!" the lamb of God!" the lamb of the lamb of God!" the lamb of God! They followed Jesus—They followed Him because they were convinced that He was the "Lamb of God!" the lamb of They followed Him because they were convinced that He was the "Lamb of God" to take away the sins of the world. They followed Him through reproach and shame and through suffering, but they followed him to eternal triumph and bliss. 38. Rabbi—A Jewish title. Jesus forbade His disciples to accept it (Matt. 23. 8). It means master, or teacher. Interpreted —John explained the Hebrew term rabbi for the benefit of those who were no Jews. Where dwellest thou—They wished to know where He lodged that they might have an extended interthey might have an extended interview with Him. 39. Come and see Jesus gave them a hearty welcome. He recognized their sincerity and devotion. About the tenth hour—According to the Roman method of reckoning it would be ten o'clock in the forenoon, but according to the Jewish forenoon, but according to the Jewish method it would be four o'clock in the forenoon, but according to the Jewish method it would be four o'clock in the afternoon. The latter was probably the hour, 40. One of the two... was Andrew—Andrew's name is the first mentioned in the list of Christ's disciples. There is no doubt as to the other one, for it must have been John, the writer of this Gospel. He always modestly refrained from he always modestly refrained from mentioning his own name. 41. He first findeth his own brother Simon—The language in the Greek would imply that such of the two disciples sought at once his own brother to bring him to Jesus, and Andrew succeeded first in bringing his brother Three seeds disciples sought.

When Energy and Vitality are Lowest, then-Influenza?

(By S. C. BOWER, M. D.)

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin and feel the exhileration of real good health tingling thru their bodies. Good pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. You are apt to suffer from an attack of Influenza if your health is run down.

Purify the blood and you can defy influenza. This is the time to clean house and freshen up a bit.

Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. Nathanael lived in Cana, only four miles from Nazareth, and he was astonished that the Mestabolic come from that place. 47. Behold an Israelite indeed—Jesus not only saw Nathanael as one man sees another, but he also understood throuoghly his character. 4S. Whence knowest thou me—Nathanael was not acquainted with Jesus and he was fillacquainted with Jesus and he was ini-ed with wonder that Jesus should know him. 49. PRACTICAL SURVEY.

Topic.-Christ the wold's Redeemer 1. The price of redemption.

II. The power of redemption. The price of redemption. Redemption, as used in religious phrase.

ology, means to rescue from sin and its consequences. Its necessity is grounded in racial moral collapse through the disobedience of its federal head. Its origin is in the infinite, compassionate love of God (John 3:16). The first necessity in the individual process is the restoration of forfeited moral standing and deranged moral relationships. This is possible only through provisions which, rendering complete atonement to assaulted holi-ness and entire satisfaction to offended justice, permit the righteous exer cise of divine clemency in "the remis sion of sins that are past." The law can not, without self-destruction, re-linquish its demands or remit its penalties, but can accept a properly accredited substitution. Here arises a properly the necessity of the incarnation and the efficiency of the atonement. It is evident that Jesus regarded his own death as a ransom price paid for the redemption of mankind. "The Son of redemption of mainfield. The Son of man (not of a man), came....to give his life a ransom for many." Apostolic language is equally plain (Gal. 3:13; Titus 2:14; 1 Pet. 1:18; 2:24; 1 John 2:2; 4:10). The unavoidable penalty of disobedience was immediate spiritual death, entailing physical death. This could be met vicariously only by the voluntary surrender of a life upon which the law had no punitive claims Jesus as a racial representative, by his supreme act of "righteousness" (Rom. 3:25) beyond the personal demands of the law, created a new moral value which could be accepted as a racial atonement. Any higher offering was impossible; any lesser insufficient.

II. The power of redemption. The plaims of the moral law include both conduct and character. Hence the second necessity of redemption is the enlisting of moral energies sufficient for the complete renewal of disordered moral nature. This is found in the munediate and individual operation of the Holy Ghost, the supreme at a fficient purchase of the atonement. I. This is found in Redemption is universal. Both the fall and atonement are racial in extent. None are excluded-from its provisions and possibilities. There is virtual sufficiency in the death of Christ for the alvation of the entire race, and personal efficiency for every man who neets its conditions. The individual phoice is the determining factor. The ourchase of the race was the price of Invitations as wide and varied as the world's need are extend-The entire value and virtue the atonement are immeditaely available for every individual. 2. Redemption is complete. "That he might redeem us from all injusty," is the apostle's statement of its purpose and

The psalmist declares, restoreth my soul," and the moral up-lift is as inclusive as the wreck of the fall. Spiritual disaster entailed mental and physical disorder and destruc-tion. The entire being has been impaired. Spiritual restoration involves the rebuilding of the entire intellec-tual and physical manhood. The commencement is at the cross, the con summation is in the "eternal weight of glory.'

SHEEP TIPS FOR BEGINNERS.

Th beginner in sheep raising can acquire more information regarding the types and habits from a small flock than he can from a large one. A flock of 25 ewes would be sufficiently large from which to take note of the capacity of each for producing wool and lambs. With a small flock he is able, to develop a conception of the type of ewe hat is prolific, motherly, and able to produce sufficient milk to rapidly grow her lambs. By observing cer-tain individuals from day to day, he also becomes familiar with the habits of the sheep and learns to know when they are slightly "off" in health. A little attention in the first stage of illness will frequently restore a sheep to complete health, while if neglected until the animal no longer attempts to stay with the flock, the task of treating it is much more difficult.

Except in certain periods such as lambing time, 15 to 25 ewes require little, if any care than from two to 10 little, if any care than from two to 10 head. He should have enough to justify giving them adequate attention, for a busy man with three or four sheep on his hands will find they require more time than the returns will justify, and he will be apt to not give them the care they should have.

CHARACTERISTICS OF BREEDING EWES.

EWES.

For breeding purposes ewes should be well grown, healthy and spirited They should be sound in mouth and milking organs; should be from one to four years of age, and covered with dense coats of marketable wool. They should be uniform in body lines, showing capacity for feed.

It is highly important that the ewes be in good health, which is indicated by lively, energetic movements, by a bright, clean sin, deep pink except in occasional specimens of the dark-faced breed, and by bright eyes, with prelty of red blood shown in the veins of the whites of the cycballs.

The best ewe for the beginner is The best ewe for the beginner is from two to thre years old. At this age they are in their prime for producing lambs and wool. Having raised from one to two crops of lambo they have less trouble in delivering their lambs and are better mothers than young ever than young ewes. The wool is a very important factor which too often is partly overlooked in selecting breeding ewes. A ewo yielding less than eight pounds should yielding less than eight pounds should be discarded unless the is an exceptional producer of lambs. To get a fleece of desirable weight, the body must be densely covered with wool. The purchaser should see to it that the belly is well covered and that the wool strongly to the kneep and hocks and so extends to the knees and hocks, and also over the forehead and cheeks. The fleece should be even in quality, and for farm flocks should grade from one fourth blood staple to fine staple. In addition to its commercial value a dense, compact fleece protects her dense, compact fleece protects her health by keeping ner skin dry and by lessening the effects of sudden changes in temperature.

Ews having capacious bodies straight body lines are likely to have well-formed lambs and to neurish them well.

THE KIND OF RAM TO BUY. In the selection of the ram there should be even more care taken than in the case of the ews. It is an old saying that "a good ram is half the flock, and a bad one is more than half." If possible, a pure bred ram should be secured, because he will impress his

HOTBEDS AND COLD FRAMES. HOTBEDS AND COLD FRAMES.

The surest way to have an early garden next spring is to prepare a hotbed and a cold frame, or a combination of the two, before the ground freezes this fall. After the ground freezes hard it will be impossible to dig a pit properly and construct the figure preparatory to making a hotframe preparatory to making a hot-bed. The essentials are a framework of boards and sash or light canvas for of boards and sash of hight canvas for a covering. Standard hotbed sash are 3 by 6 feet in size, and the frame can be made to fit one, two or more of these sashes. The framework the title of the sash should be said the sash should angle for ventilation. The framework should be painted, and the sash should be given at least two coats of white lead and linseed oil, with a little drier added, before the glass is put in. In glazing hotbed sash the putty is first spread in the grooves on the sash bars, the glass then being bedded in the putty and well pressed down. The bottom light or glass in each row should be put in first; then the second light should overlap the first one about onefourth of an inch; and so on until each section of the each is filled, the last piece of glass being cut to fill out the remaining space. Each piece of glass is fastened in place by means of special glazing points driven into the

The hotbed pit should be 12 to 14 inches deep and just a trifte smaller than the framework of beards. The dirt removed from the pit is used to bank around the frame. The pit may be attent with leaves during the early bank around the traine. The pix may be filled with leaves during the early winter to prevent the soil freezing, and the sash stores where they will be protected from the weather until time to start plants in the bed. If this part of the work is done there will be no difficulty in getting an early start for a spring garden.

Deception.

Frances and Agatha had been very carefully reared. Especially had they been taught that in no circumstances must they tell a lie-not even a 'white lie"-or deceive any one.

One day, during a visit made by these little girls to an aunt in the country, they met a large cow in a field they were crossing. Much frightened, the young sisters stopped, not knowing what to do. Finally Frances said:

"Let's go right on, Agatha, and pretend that we are not afraid of it."

But Agatha's conscience was not slumbering. "Wouldn't that be deciving the cow?" she objected.

"And very silly," said Lady Maud, with gravious queenliness. "That came from Mr. Fopton, I suppose; it has an odor of his absurdity about it."
"No," said Jack, looking modest. "I invented it. Don't look shocked, Maud, I have caught you in your own net. And now I will have a glass of the same Moet, if you please, and you, dear lady, shall pour it out."

Lady Maud was in good humor, and Lady Maud was in good numer, and when Mr. Porter, with immense grav-ity, approached with the bottle, she took it in her dainty hands and, pro-testing that she should let it fall, filled

Jack's glass. Through the several courses and to the termination of the repast, the light talk ran trippingly, harmonized occasionally by a hearty laugh from Jack, and a smooth, well-bred smile from Lady Maud, and then, after just sipping her glass of old port, Lady Pace-well arose, saying, as Jack held the

Mr. Shallop took out a dainty memorandum book, more like a lady's play-thing than a lawyer's notebook— and jotted a note to that effect.

Jotted a note to that effect.

"You take an interest in the east of London?" he asked.

"Eh?" said Jack, rather hesitatingly.

The lawyer repeated his question.

"Yes," said Jack, 'I saw it for the first time a few weeks ago," and he sighed.

"Now, what the deuce does she want down to the east?" queried the lawyer, his sharp eyes twinkling in the firelight. "Indeed," he added, aloud, "a dreadful place, was never down there but once, some law business, I remember. In fact, it was business connected with the Pacewell estate," and he laughed, softly.

And he inclined his head respectfully to Jack, who quietly poked the fire.

"I don't know that," he said. "But why should he have been in hiding?

What had he done?' Well, I never could find out quite, said Mr. Shallop. The Pacewells were always a close family. I fancy that he was given to drinking and made a mesalliance, fell out of their circle and into disrepute; and if I am right in my confectures, it needed right in my conjectures, it needed nothing more to keep him out of the The Pacewells were as sensitive way. Mr. Shallop's eyes opened a little, but he took out his notebook and made an additional bequest.

"You are interested in theatricals?" he asked, quietly.

"Yes, I am," said Jack, with just the slightest flush, "and now you mention it I don't think I can do better than ask your advice upon a matter I have in hand. That sounds quite commercial, doesn't it?" and he laughed, but with a certain shyness.

"And yet," said Mr. Shallop, echoing the laugh, "I hope it is not commercial, for, with all due deference, you do not manage your money affairs

Jack poked the fire again and cleared his throat.

"Mr. Shallop," he said, "I am very much interested in an individual, a gentleman, who is, I believe, placed in trying circumstances by ill-luck and those accidents which will befall the best and worst regulated humán lives. That was neatly turned, I think. Thank Heaven, if anything happens I can earn my living in the compilation of polite letter-writers."

TERRIBLE AGONY FROM RHEUMATISM

A Sufferer Shows How Complete Relief Was Obtained. Rheumatism is a trouble extremely difficult to get rid of. If a tendency to rheumatism is established in the system it makes itself manifest by a system it makes itself manifest by a return of the acute pains with every spell of bad weather. This is why so many people think the trouble is due to cold or damp. The fact is known, however, to medical men, that with the appearance of rheumatism there is a rapid thinning of the blood, and that the rheumatic poisons are only expelled from the system when the blood is restored to its normal condition. This means that to drive rheumatism from the system it nust he treated through the blood, and for this purpose no other medicine has been so successful as Dr. Williams' been so successful as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills renew and enrich the blood, thus driving out the rheumatic' poison, easing the aching, painful, swoilen joints, and restoring the victim to general good health. Among the rheumatic sufferers who have been cured by the use of this medicine is Mrs. Wm. Johnston, Chatter of the current way. ham, Ont., who says: "Some years ago, while living in Mount Forest. I was stricken with inflammatory rheumatism, from which I suffered ter-rible agony. Neither the doctor who attended me, nor the remedies I tried gave more than a little relief for a time, and as a consequence, I grew very weak and was on the verge of nervous prostration. At this stage an uncle advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they had cured him of a severe attack of rheumatism. I took his advice and faithfully used the pills for several months, when I found myself fully restored to health, of the rheumatism and every symptom of the trouble gone. I have had no return of either trouble since, and feel very grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me.'

The effect of cold on the eyes is ers. The effect of cold on the eyes is very dangerous. It causes them first gradually to close and then to freeze tight.

Beards do not freeze except where the moisture from the breath is converted into snow, but the color glands are rendered somewhat torpid by the cold, and dark beards gradually become lighter, until after a while they seem entirely changed in color. Another curious fact about the cold of the Arctic regions is that when a person stops walking or working, in any way whereby the feet get the sole of the foot loses all sense of feeling. In all extremely cold lands, the moisture exhaled from the body condenses into small, hard crystals which make quite a bit of noise as one walks about.
