One of the Great Feats of Warfare.

General Maurice, discussing the impressions received on his tour of the Italian front, says: "The visit has given me a greatly increased respect for what the Italians have done. From the beginning of their campaign the Italians have been dominating the enemy—fighting a real uphill battle, with all approaches and communication lines in full view of the enemy. But when they reached the plateau, the situation was still difficult for they found themselves in a country where everything, even water, must be brought up with great physical exertion. The Italians, now for the first time, have gained a position where they dominate the Austrians. But the advance is still difficult, and cost-

Justice to Premier Borden.

Under the heading, Justice to Premier Borden, the Canadian Courier prints an article by Professor Mac Mehan, of Halifax.

The Halifax writer thinks that the country should avoid party bickerings and all the injustice involved in the political 'hubbub of lies,' and look at the situation from the standpoint of patriots. He says:—

'Let the Administration of Sir Robert Borden be judged by what it has accomplished—as it will be by the future Macaulays of Canada. In the United States and in the British Empire, ultimately, of 8,000 men at Tampa, to throw into Cuba in 1914, Canada (if I may not write the Borden Government) mobilized, equipped and despatched overseas a force of 9,000 men in three months, with much less delay, confusion and friction. That feat is no slight one and must be put down to the credit of the present Administration. To have put into the field four divisions and have kept them up to strength to have cared for the soldiers' dependents, the wounded, the sick, the returned men as has been done would be a credit to any community of eight millions in the world. Let us be just. To speak of such a record as a 'tragic failure,' while obstructing, capping and holding back, is simple misuse of language. Let us remember that this is our first real war. The Americans had the experience of their Civil War behind them.

'Dealing with the cry 'conscription of wealth,' the writer points out that the Government has laid a progressively heavy tax upon all incomes over $3,000. He adds: 'If that is not conscripting wealth, what is? What more would a Liberal Government do? Let us try to be just. I know the appeal is vain, it made to the present on either side; but I believe there is a large number of men in Canada who honestly desire to be just. It is for these I have written. The war is by no means won. The Prussian tyran is not yet overcome. There is nothing for hum-kneeling Canadians to do but to give the gallant Canadians on the firing line all the support that they need. The only way of aiding them the reinforcements for which they are asking is to assist Sir Robert Borden in securing all the patriotic elements in the population behind the Allied cause. The Prime Minister has stood the test of the war better than any other public man in the Dominion. And yet we believe the new Parliament which is about to be elected will be the strong War Parliament for which he has asked.'

'Ralph Connor' in the Synod

The Synod of the Presbyterian Church of the Maritime Provinces met in session at New Glasgow last week. There were some 300 delegates in attendance. The Enterprise says: The different sessions were all full of interest, but to our mind the greatest event in all the Synod's meetings was the address of Mr. Rev. Charles Gordon (Ralph Connor) who is home from the front. He poured out of his heart and his soul and his life what he had seen and taken part in the most stupendous events that are taking place, since the crucifixion of Christ on the Cross. This message of Rev. Charles Gordon, as he told of the boys who are living and dying with their faces to the fire, on the border land of the eternal verities of the Bible, and the boys who are undismayed, and who feel that the great forces which ever roll on in their majesty and might are on our side. Before their inward eyes rises the phantom host of those who fall in the great cause, and whose graves are scattered in endless numbers in Flanders and France, but whose names and memories in the mother heart of Britain are secure for evermore.

He told of the passion of devotion and the wealth of sacrifice that abounds in this war of souls. One thing the Germans forgot—that this war will ultimately be won by the courage of those whose conscience are clear.

There is abundance of the essence of religion at the front. Distinction of Catholic and Protestant have disappeared. Two things are in the boys' creed at the front. The first is that 'God is around somewhere,' and the second is 'We will do our duty even unto death.'

The Chaplain's duty is to look after the bodies, the tempers, spirits, faith, and keep them fit and steady. The greatest Chaplain at the front is 'Charlie Chaplin.'

The men feel that God is near. He is kind and good. Trust in Him, give him your confidence, and he will help. They all feel that a great, good sympathetic God is over and near them. In Mr. Man's Laid 'The Lord is My Shepherd.' Yes, he had seen the thing work.

The most wonderful thing in this war is the sympathy and kindness

"Let Me Help You Carry the Burden, Mother"

"If Canada fails us in October, we must curtail many of our activities."

Mr. ARTHUR STANLEY,
Chairman, Executive Committee,
British Red Cross.

It now costs $300,000.00 a week to carry on the work of the British Red Cross, or $16,000,000.00 a year. Every minute of the day and night it costs $30 to minister to the sick and wounded and dying. Last year Canada's magnificent contribution paid for the entire work of the British Red Cross for nearly seven weeks. This year, in view of the greater need, it is earnestly and confidently hoped that Canada's contributions will be as great proportionately as the magnificent offering of last year. Our trust is, that the Citizens of Canada will give generously to this noble cause on

A Few Facts about British Red Cross Work.	IN GREAT BRITAIN	$220,000 spent on equipment of King George Hospital (1,850 beds) and $130,000 a year contributed to cost of its maintenance.
The British Red Cross Society is the only institution which carries voluntary aid to the sick and wounded of the British forces on land and sea in every region of the War.	57,000 Hospital beds found in the United Kingdom.	$225,000 spent on building and equipping Netley Red Cross Hospital (1,500 beds); and $625,000 spent on maintenance.
Its work is therefore the concern of all classes of British subjects, whether living in the British Isles, in the Dominions and Colonies beyond the sea, or in foreign countries.	30,000 of these provided with Nursing Staff.	$175,000 for Orthopaedic Curative Workshops and Training Fund.
	2,000 Trained Nurses working at home and abroad.	$185,000 for Facial Injury Hospitals.

Beulah had a new dime to invest in ice-cream soda. "Why don't you give your dime to missions?" asked the minister who was calling. "I thought of that," said Beulah—but I think I'll buy the ice cream and let the druggist give it to the missions, Christian Herald.

Editorial Brevities.

A British Government book has been issued which states that nearly 50,000 houses were destroyed by the Germans in Belgium.

Since war began many thousands of sick and wounded Canadians have been cared for in British hospitals by British doctors and nurses.

The first call under the Military Service Bill is now being made. It is a call to every unmarried Canadian between the ages of 20 and 35 and to every widower, without children, between the same ages.

Here is an optimistic view of a matter which excites some interest in many places, Wolfville included.

The philosophy of a war garden consists not so much in the profit it returns as in the increase of the country's products it brings.

A Good Suggestion.

The first comment that THE ACADIAN has had with reference to the proposed memorial to our soldier heroes came in a private letter to the editor this week from a Wolfville lady now residing in Boston.

A public library with reading room, a hospital or sanatorium, or the founding of a soldier's home, would all be excellent, but what has appealed to me most is the laying out of a park by purchasing the land known as Randall's Hill.

The Governor's Appeal.

TO THE PEOPLE OF NOVA SCOTIA: Once again an appeal has come to us to assist the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John in the magnificent work these organizations are doing to meet the needs of the sick, wounded and imprisoned soldiers and sailors of the Imperial Forces.

"If Canada fails us in October," Sir Arthur Stanley, Chairman of the British Red Cross Executive, informs us, "we must curtail many of our activities."

His Excellency the Governor General and Her Excellency the Duchess of Devonshire, who, by reason of their close personal association with the Red Cross work under the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, have had ample opportunity to watch the growth of the operations under the control of these societies, recommend the Red Cross as the channel through which effective relief can be afforded to the sick and wounded of the Imperial Forces.

Wednesday, October 24th, has been fixed as the day in this Province when all collections for this purpose should be completed.

Union Government.

The expressions of opinion in the press of Canada regarding the new National Government are distinctly favourable. There are instances, of course, where there is open antagonism, and there are other instances of moderate disapproval, but generally there is hearty approval both of the idea and of the personnel of the administration.

The Crushing Reply.

Col. Richard O'Leary recently received a letter from his son, Henry, which contained the following example of the retort courteous: 'The people in England have been very good in lending their private automobiles to the war effort admirably, etc., and in many cases the driver of the car is the charming daughter of the wealthy owner and not infrequently she happens to be the Hon. Miss So and So.'

'Quite recent in the war office detailed one of those private automobiles, driven by the Hon. Miss—, to call for an American general, at a certain hour, at his hotel. The car was late in arriving and the punctual American general, very wrathfully, exclaimed: 'I suppose, Miss, you know that you are ten minutes late!'

'The crushing reply was: 'Jump in General—, you are three years late!'

A Pretty Wedding.

TAYLOR-ROYCE. On Thursday afternoon, Sept. 27th, at half past two o'clock, the Baptist church at Falmouth, which had been prettily decorated for the occasion, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Myrtle Taylor, daughter of Mr. W. O. Taylor, of Wolfville, and adopted daughter since infancy of Mr. and Mrs. Burpee Shaw, of Falmouth, became the wife of Mr. James C. Royce, of Royce Bros., Brokers in Cotton Exchange, New York.

The bride, who looked exceedingly well in a handsome tailored traveling suit of navy blue serge with hat to match, entered the church with Mr. Burpee Shaw as the organist. Mrs. L. F. Folk, rendered the wedding march. After the ceremony a reception was held at 'Oakdale', Falmouth, the home of the bride, at which a large number of relatives and friends were present from Falmouth, Wolfville and Middleton.

Every Man KNOWS A WOOL-BUYER

You cannot pull the wool over the eyes of the modern housewife. She knows or soon finds out the quality of what she buys. In former times many fraudulent articles were advertised in the belief that people liked to be fooled. Nowadays, to make advertising pay, there must be repeat sales and established confidence. That means the article advertised must be worth the price asked.

OVER 40 YEARS ON THE ROAD

The name of W. G. Reid of Hamilton, Ont., is a familiar one to thousands throughout the Dominion. For over forty years Mr. Reid has been service as a commercial traveller. A letter recently received from him indicates how he suffered from Rheumatism, and at last found relief.

Read this letter: Hamilton, Ont. "About four years ago I wrote you of my condition from Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble and my efforts through travel and change of climate to rid myself of these troublesome guests, and how I only found relief in Gin Pills after spending a lot of time and money in foreign lands. Since then Gin Pills have been my sheet anchor. I find in advancing years a tendency of the kidneys to get out of order more so than formerly, but a few doses of Gin Pills puts them right and wards off other and more serious troubles. I feel it not only a duty but a pleasure to recommend Gin Pills for Kidney and Bladder Troubles to my thousands of personal friends throughout Canada to whom I am well known as a commercial traveller of over forty years' service."

Yours truly, (Signed) W. G. Reid. A sample of Gin Pills sent free upon request to National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, or to the U. S. address - No-Drug Co. Inc., 2022 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y.

The Man Who Was Sent.

"Why, men, you're burying your talent in a place like this!" the minister's head said earnestly, almost indignantly, "Out in the thick of things, with your abilities, you could accomplish almost anything. If you stay on here, the world will soon forget that there is such a fellow as Ralph Denniston."

Devotional.

There were no tears—this is not the time for tears. But throughout the hall we heard sob, dry, sob, sob, sob, and a silence—an awe inspiring silence that weighed heavily upon one's heart.

Strong People Needed.

The need for people to be healthy is urgent. Those whose illness has put outside the ranks of robust men and women feel their position keenly. They are handicapped in every walk of life and weak men and nerve-worn women need more earnestly than ever to put their health right and become active and strong.

Those Not Knitting.

Those who did not knit, spoke they voiced the loftiness of their conception of duty. They exhorted their sisters to greater endeavor. They soared to heights of patriotic fervor, and sounded the depths of dire necessity. They were Mrs. Huestis who was chairman, Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, Mrs. Parsons (who has four sons at the front) and Miss Templeton-Armstrong, of Port Rowan, Norfolk.

Specific for Bronchitis.

The turpentine used in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is not the ordinary commercial article, which is little used because of the unpleasantness of taste, but is specially extracted from tannic and spruce gum and so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be not only palatable but also effective in the treatment of all forms of bronchitis, coughs and croup.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tried again and again and had headache much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to alling women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCasland, 509 Hawthorne St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from indigestion and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were leaving down pains, headache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. Osborn, 1 Harrison Park, Roxbury, Mass.

BRING IMPRESSIONS OF THE "WINNING WAR" CONVENTION.

There was not a tear on the cheeks of the women present—this is no time for tears. There was not a sigh from the hearts of the many—what does it avail to sigh?

They sat there those two thousand souls or more, and listened—and knitted. The soft, incessant click of their needles, was expressive of their grim determination. Ours before in a century past, women knitted thus. They knitted the loose ends of the reformers' plights into the reality of the French Revolution. Each click of the needle meant a drop of human blood—spilled in the aggressive. To-day, too, the needles are turned. The women knit, as it were, in self defence.

As the sun strikes upon the water and affects each wave in a different way, so the light of victory and freedom, as radiated by the speakers, in the Arena at Toronto, that night was reflected upon the sea of faces in as many myriad colors.

Women of wealth heavily veiled in mourning, with faces set, applauded with something more than enthusiasm. Their less fortunate sisters raised weary, workworn hands in impressive gestures of commendation, and many a pretty maiden sat proudly beside the war-scarred hero, and when clapping was required, clapped for two.

Lieut. MacNeil, of the Great War Veterans' Association, was speaking with feeling—"It is the women of Canada who have suffered most. The suffering of the men at the front is nothing to the suffering of the women at home, who sit day after day wondering what is happening in the trenches and who, too often, receive those cables beginning: 'We sincerely regret to inform you—' My own mother has received that cable."

They envied her. Col. Mulloy, probably more familiarly known as 'Blind Trooper Mulloy,' opened his heart. It was a reminiscence of the time when other heroes marched away—to South Africa. He is a living example of the lik of men who fight, and suffer—and sometimes die, for their country. He pleaded for a better national morality. 'The present morals of the British people is doomed,' he declared. 'A change in the moral system here so in the United States is also necessary.' He cited reasons why the voluntary system had fallen down, and brought cheer from the entire audience. Eighty per cent. were women.

When Colonel Mulloy's wife left him from the platform there was no woman present who did not every day, 'One could see it in their faces. It is from the silence that is more eloquent than words.'

And all the while, the women knitted. Sgt. Knight mounted the platform. He told of the German atrocities. He outlined things the women already knew. They did not resent the repetition. These matters have now become a part of them. Expression through another is but for them thinking out loud.

But a new thought that he expounded, and the idea that gripped them and held them spellbound, was his utterance—if we do not send

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine—Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:

North Grandon, Wis.—"When I was 17 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and I was told that I would never have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. MAJES ANSON, North Grandon, Wis.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tried again and again and had headache much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to alling women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCasland, 509 Hawthorne St., Lawton, Okla.

My symptoms were leaving down pains, headache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. Osborn, 1 Harrison Park, Roxbury, Mass.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Old Fashioned Winter.

(Hartford Courant.)

Despite the fixed belief of many that fifty or seventy-five years ago, winter began before Thanksgiving Day and lasted until near Easter, it is not difficult to accumulate testimony to show that the old days brought us many mild winters as they did severe ones. One bit of evidence which a Courant man has seen recently, is a note book kept by a farmer named Knowles, who lived at Point Judith, R. I., and which ran from 1798 until 1830 or thereabouts. Besides being something of a moralist, Mr. Knowles was an observant man who measured his growing corn on July 1 of each year and jotted down the height of the stalks, thus showing whether the season had been early or late, and who made an entry whenever a body washed ashore on the point, to be given Christian burial by the nearby farmers. So it happened that he wrote on January 1, 1799, that he found in his stackyard that day 'a mushroom two or three days' growth and as large as a teacup.' He added that the weather had been very moderate. So, too, in January, 1823, he noted that he had ploughed on his farm 'the greatest part of the month and that the weather was the most moderate' one of his name that he had ever experienced, thus indicating that it was more mild than January, 1799 the month he had

Sleepless Nights With Eczema.

Mrs. Link, 12 Walker St., Halifax, N. S., states:—"After three years of miserable torture and sleepless nights with terrible eczema, and after trying over a dozen remedies without obtaining anything but slight temporary relief, I have been perfectly and entirely cured by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. After the third or fourth application of this grand ointment I obtained relief, and a few boxes were sufficient to make a thorough cure."

found the mushroom. These two Januaries it will be seen, are sufficient to show that the old-fashioned winter period and will serve to show its mythical character. If there are still persons who cling to it they are invited to produce the date of some killing frost which struck that vicinity at an earlier date than that of this month. The production of such a record would aid in establishing the era in which old-fashioned winters were common.
