Medical Council of Ontario.

JUNE 11th.—The Council met at ten o'clock, the President in the chair.

At 2 o'clock the Council resumed.

Dr. Yates read a memorial from the Kingston doctors, recommending that some steps should be taken for the better collection of debts due to medical men, Moved by Dr. Fulton, seconded by Dr. Sullivan, that in the opinion of this Council, instead of amending the Medical Act as it at present stands, it would be advisable to commence de novo and frame a new act such as would be acceptable to the wants of the profession.

Moved in amendment by Dr. Lavell, seconded by Dr. Berryman, that the Council be requested to meet and arrange the amendments to the new Bill in time for submission to this Council, for their consideration, at an adjourned meeting of this Council, to be called by the President before submitting such amendments at the next session of the Legislature, Moved by Dr. Brouse in amendment to the amendment, seconded by Dr. Clarke, that inasmuch as the special committee to whom is intrusted the amendments of the Medical Bill, have certain instructions for their guidance, still as other changes may be required for the better working of the Act, and not expressed in those instructions, we hereby delegate such powers to the committee that will enable them to seek such additional alterations as may be considered by them necessary for the benefit of the profession.

On motion of Dr. Turquand the Council acknowledged the able services of Dr. Walker as an examiner of students for matriculation.

Dr. Morton presented the third report of the Finance Committee, recommending the payment of a number of accounts.

Dr. Dewar reported that in absence of the chairman of committee appointed to confer with authorities of various colleges relative to Central Board of Examiners, the committee have no report to submit.

Dr. Macpherson presented report of committee on registration, to the effect that as the diploma of Jas. Hay Sive-wright, of Chatham, had been fraudulently obtained, he had no legal authority to practice medicine, and that his name be expunged from the register.

Moved by Dr. Richardson, seconded by Dr. Morton, that the committee on amendments to the Medical Act be instructed to prepare an amendment to the Act, so as to provide that duly certified certificates from the authorities of any Institution entitled to confer medical titles, diplomas and qualifications which is situated out of the Dominion of Canada, shall be deemed evidence sufficient to commit in prosecution under the 31st, 32 and 34th clauses of the Medical Act, and under the 4th clause of the amended Act.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. Richardson, seconded by Dr. Lavell, that this Council would express its extreme surprise and regret that the committee appointed to confer with the authorities of the various Universities and Colleges in Canada with reference to the establishment of a Central Board, have neglected to carry out the wishes of the Council. Carried by 7 to 5 on a division.

Moved by Dr. Richardson, seconded by Dr. Turquand, that the Secretary of this Council be instructed to communicate direct with the President of the Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow, informing him that many persons are in possession of diplomas of that College whose names do not appear in the list of graduates supplied to this Council: one such person has already been registered and several others have applied to be registered under such diplomas, that the honor and dignity of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow is as much concerned as the interests of the medical profession in this Province, and that therefore this Council cannot think that the authorities of that College can have sanctioned the demand for compensation for the certified list of Licentiate sent to the Secretary of this Council, and that immediate steps would be taken by this Council to prosecute one James Sive-wright for misdemeanor under the medical Act, if it were not that from the character of the offence, it was necessary to require the attendance of the authorities of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, of Glasgow, at the trial, the expense of which would be so great as to deter the Council from taking such a course, and that the Registrar of this Council be empowered to notify the Imperial Medical Council of such a state of affairs existing in this Province.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. Berryman, seconded by Dr. Fulton, that the kind attention of the President be drawn to the fact that the Medical Profession is at present entirely ignored in remuneration in criminal cases in Courts of Justice, and that this Council do empower and request the President, Dr. Brouse and Dr. Beaubien to urge the matter on the attention of the government of the Dominion.—Carried.

On motion of Dr. Morton, a vote of thanks was passed to the authorities of the Council for the use of the Council Chamber during the sittings of the Council.

The business being finished Dr. Turquand was moved to the chair, and a cordial vote of thanks passed to the President for the courteous and able manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the Council.

The Council then adjourned sine die.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

Thursday, June 11.

THE QUEEN vs. ALEXANDER SHARPE.—The prisoner was put upon trial charged with the larceny of a shirt, gloves and some other small articles from the store of Mr Aldhous Hillsburg. There was no defence. Verdict, Guilty.

THE QUEEN vs. HENRY POWELL.—The prisoner was charged with having stolen a pocket-book containing about $50 in money, together with some promissory notes (among them one against himself), from a Mr Tuck, a short time ago. It appeared that the prosecutor was on a collecting tour, and came at night to the prisoner's house, near Glenallan, in the township of Peel. They had been burned out a short time before, but arranged for Tuck's staying for the night by him and the prisoner sleeping together, while Mrs Powell occupied another bed with the servant girl. The prosecutor, watching over his valuables with jealous solicitude, had rolled the pocket-book and a pair of braces in a handkerchief, put them into a pocket of his coat, and put the coat under his head. At least he thought he did all these things. About two o'clock he awoke from a dose, for he appears to have been too suspicious to sleep sound, and found that the prisoner had been out of doors, and when he arose in the morning and discovered that his pocket-book was gone, but that the braces and handkerchief still remained, he was impressed with the belief that prisoner instead of being up on a natural occasion, as had been asserted, was secreting the pocket-book. The evidence of the prosecutor was very contradictory. Mr Peterson for the Crown; Mr Guthrie for defence. Verdict not guilty.

In the case of MICHELE BERNAN the jury returned first with a verdict for the defendant. The judge wanted a special, and not a general verdict, and he accordingly sent them back, having given them some written questions to answer. They returned with the answers, which were not exactly to the purpose, and His Honor having given them further instructions they again retired, and afterwards brought in a verdict for the plaintiff of $99.23.

FRIDAY, June 12.

QUEEN vs. DEACON.—This was a case of pound breach. Eight pigs belonging to the defendant, who lives in Luther, were impounded on the 29th of April last. The poundkeeper having in a neighbourly manner informed the defendant that his pigs were in durance vile, defendant asked him what was to pay. He was told that the damages according to by-law were 50 cents per head. Defendant offered a smaller sum, and when it was refused took up an axe and having sworn considerably broke the lock, and took the grunts home with him. Verdict, guilty.

SAUNDERS, Assignee of Carter, vs. CHAMBERS.—This was a suit brought by the Assignee of David Wells Carter, an Insolvent, to recover from defendant, Chambers $175 alleged to have been paid by insolvent to defendant within the thirty days next preceding the assignment. To ensure his success it was necessary that the plaintiff should be able to prove clearly the payment of the sum within the time specified, and his counsel not being able to do so accepted a non-suit. Mr. T. W. Saunders for plaintiff. Mr. Drew for defendant.

MCCORMACK vs. CARROLL.—This was an action brought against defendant, an administrator of the estate of Peter Crawford, deceased, on a note which defendant said was satisfied by part payment, and for the balance. Messrs. Lemon & Peterson for plaintiff. Messrs McCurry & Mitchell for defence. Verdict not given.

Congregational Church of Canada.

The Congregational Union met in annual session in the Chapel, Hughson-st., Hamilton, on Wednesday morning, and was opened with devotional exercises. The delegates, from the Guelph congregation, are Mr. S. Hodgskin, and from Eramosa Messrs. Jas. Peters and Thos. Armstrong. Rev. R. Lewis was appointed Minute Secretary, and Mr. J. D. Nafmith, Assistant Secretary. Rev. L. Kribbs moved a resolution with reference to the lamented decease of the Rev. John Clinie, Chairman of the Union. The resolution was passed by the members of the Union rising in solemn silence. On nomination of the Union Committee Rev. Robert Robinson, of Owen Sound, was elected Chairman of the Union, by a unanimous vote. Rev. Mr. Robinson, on being introduced to his place by Rev. T. Pallar, addressed the Union. The Standing Committees were then appointed.

Despatches to the Evening Mercury

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

London, June 11.—The following particulars of the assassination of the Prince Michael of Serbia, which occurred at grade yesterday, have been received by telegraph from that city to-day.

Prince, while walking leisurely through one of the public parks, at about 6 o'clock last evening, was suddenly attacked by three assassins, who were armed with revolvers. He was accompanied in his ramblings by his cousin and a daughter of the latter, together with his usual attendants. The assassins directed their fire promiscuously at the royal party, the first shot, the Prince fell and expired immediately. The cousin of the Prince was also hit, and died in a few minutes afterwards. The daughter received a severe flesh wound, but is not dangerously injured. One or two of the vallets were slightly wounded. The assassins were recognized as three brothers; one of them was promptly taken while hurrying from the scene of the tragedy, and thought that the others will not be so escape the vigorous measures taken by the authorities for their capture.

assassination has produced the most found excitement and sorrow throughout the country.

London, June 11th.—The last despatch from Belgrade represents that the excitement prevailing in that city and throughout the principality is intense and unrelenting. No outbreak, however, has occurred in consequence. Two of the assassins, Prince Michael have been arrested, has been ascertained that it was not the brothers who fired the fatal shots, the father and his two sons. One of the latter is still at large, but it is believed that he cannot escape.

Paris, June 11th.—The Moniteur states that the Czar of Russia has made a position to the Emperor Napoleon III. Russia and France unite in an effort to induce all civilized nations to abstain from the use of torpedoes and projectile time of war. The Moniteur adds that this humane proposition meets with favor of the Emperor, who however, considers that it may still be necessary to employ torpedoes for defensive purposes.

New York, June 12.—The steamer City of New York, from Liverpool, has arrived with two cases of small pox, and is detained at quarantine.

The Herald Cincinnati special agent a well known Democrat in the northwest has received a letter from a prominent member of the Jeff Davis government, in which he states any candidate—Chief Justice O'Connell—nominated at New York and acceptable to the northwest, would also be cordially supported at South.

The writer says the question of franchise should be decided exclusively by the States.

Washington, June 12.—The government has received no official or unofficial news upon the subject of alleged purpose of the Roman government to enlist soldiers in the United States. Of course if this should be done in violation of any law, the ties concerned in the proceeding would be liable to prosecution as in any other similar case.

Synod of the Canada Presbyterian Church.

MONTREAL, June 9.—The first session of this Synod was held this evening at Erskine Church. The Rev. Mr. Proffoot, the retiring Moderator, presiding. The meeting was opened by devotional exercises, led by Mr. Topp. Rev. J. Proudfoot preached the retiring sermon, taking his text from Luke xvii. 5, "The Apostles said unto the Lord: 'Incorporate with us.'"

After the sermon the Synod was constituted.

Rev. Wm. Reid said the Presbytery had all united in nominating one man, Rev. Alex. Topp, A. M., Toronto.

Rev. Mr. Proudfoot then left the chair, and Rev. Mr. Topp was called on to preside. In taking the chair, he begged to thank the Synod for the honor they conferred on him in elevating him to the position of retiring officer.

It was particularly pleasing to him to find that he had been the unanimous choice of all the Presbyteries. He was happy to say that under the blessing of God the Presbyterian Church was progressing, and extending throughout the land. He did not know whether or not the question of Union with other Presbyterian bodies would come before the Synod, but he had no hesitation in expressing his opinion that union was highly desirable and expedient, if it could be accomplished with a regard to principle and on honorable terms. Negotiations for union were going on in Scotland, and also in the United States, which he believed would ultimately meet with success.

And now that the union of Provinces, politically, had been accomplished, he saw no reason why all Presbyterian bodies in the Dominion should not be united in one, with General Assembly meeting in Montreal. A vote of thanks was tendered to Rev. Mr. Proudfoot, for his admirable sermon, and for his efficient discharge of the duties of Moderator last year.

FENIAN RAID CERTAIN.

The following from the Globe is published upon, there seems no doubt we shall have a Fenian raid next week.

We have it on authority beyond dispute that the Fenian movement upon the Niagara frontier has actually commenced. The Fenians are being gradually concentrated at Buffalo, and we suppose, at other places. Forty Fenians from Huron and its neighborhood are to be sent to Buffalo by the Grand Trunk on Tuesday. Some suppose that the attempt to cross the frontier will not be made till after the Democratic convention meets in New York, on the 4th of July, but it seems more probable that the movement will be made earlier. Probably the day has not yet been finally determined upon, or it will be only known as yet to one or two persons. Any day after the 20th of June, a raid will be a possible event. There are indications that the gathering on the Niagara and Detroit rivers will be more formidable than in 1866, and it is probable that an attempt will be made to convey by steamer on Lake Erie or some other convenient waterway on Lake Erie, a force which will at some point on our shore, perhaps Port Dover or Port Burwell. These plans will, in all probability, break down in the execution, but we cannot afford to neglect any precaution.

Washington correspondent of the London Herald, writing May 16th, confesses to have received information which convinces him that the Fenian movement against Canada will be executed in June or July. O'Neil's purpose, the writer says, is to take advantage of the political excitement of the day, he reasons that party leaders will not dare to oppose him at a time when votes are sought at any sacrifice. This correspondent forwards to the Herald a copy of a secret circular by O'Neil to the Fenian circles, which the following is the concluding portion, expressive of O'Neil's views and purposes—

And now, brothers, on you rests the responsibility of success or failure. We will in any event, and if you do your duty success is sure to be in our efforts. But you must do it now, the hour is propitious. Obey orders and instructions sent to you from these headquarters. Pay no attention to counsel or advice from any source. Beware of political agitators, who may want to join our organization for their own selfish purposes; they have worked much mischief in the past—have nothing to do with them in the future. Our organization has only one mission—the liberation of Ireland. All side issues, induced by designing men, are simoniacal to detract and mislead from the original purpose, and must be rejected.

Grey and Bruce Railway.

Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Grey and Bruce Railway was held in Toronto on Monday last. The important question of the final location of the route of the railway was taken into consideration and a decision came to it. It was resolved that the route of the railway pass within one mile or nearer to the town of Village, thence to Charleston, in the County of Orangeville, or within one mile of the village, or to the limits, or within the limits of the Corporation of Orangeville, thence to direct a line as possible through the town of Luthers, and Arthur, to the limits, or within them, of the Corporation of Mount Forest, thence between the townships of Egremont and Normanby as straight a line as is economically practicable, to the precincts of the village of Luthers, between Bentinck and Glenora, thence due northwards as practicable between the townships of Holland and Ivan, Derby and Sydenham, and the navigable waters of the Georgian Bay at the Sound.

The line to the county of Bruce is hereby fixed to start from Mount Forest through the townships of Minto and Howard, about the fifteenth concession in the townships, to the proximity of Belleville, near the northern border of Bruce, thence northwards along the western boundary of Carrick, near Calross, to within one mile and a half, or nearer, of the village of Walkerton, thence northwards near the western boundary of the County of Greenock, to the immediate vicinity of Paisley, thence along the northern bank of the Saugeen river, through the extreme north eastern corner of the township of Bruce, and through the township of Saugeen to the village of Port Arthur, thence north to the harbour of the County of Southampton, within the limits of the Corporation. The branch from Walkerton to Kincardine is left in abeyance until the directors have an opportunity of conferring with the County Council of Bruce.

An English officer with the Abyssinian expedition, in a letter dated Magdala 120, says: "We are now on our backs, and all are delighted to get this God-forsaken country. For the three days we have tasted no drink but kind but muddy water—no milk. Our food has been preserved mutton, tough beef, and Abyssinian bread, which is the most awful combination of straw, gravel, hair, ungrain and beastliness of all sorts that can be imagined. The very thought of bread and cheese and beer makes me sick."

SCENE AT THE SCAFFOLD—LAST LOOK AND LAST WORDS OF THE CONDEMNED MAN.

(From the London Times May 27th) Yesterday morning, in the presence of a vast concourse of spectators, Michael Barrett, the author of the Clerkenwell explosion, was hanged in front of Newgate. In its circumstances there is very little to distinguish this from ordinary executions. The crowd was greater, perhaps, and better behaved; still from the peculiar atrocity of the crime for which Barrett suffered, and from the fact of its being probably the last public execution in England, it deserves more than usual notice.

THE CONVICT BARRETT. By a predetermined arrangement, and contrary to the usual practice, the convict was not pinioned in the press room, as it is called, but in his own cell, and this process over, he was conducted to the drop by a private way, accompanied by his priest and attended by the executioner and three or four warders, the prison bell and that of St. Sepulchre's church hard by, tolling the while. The sheriffs and under sheriffs, who, with others stood in a group in a gloomy corridor behind the scaffold, just caught a glimpse of the doomed man as he emerged with his attendants from a dark and narrow passage and turned a corner leading to the gallows. He was dressed in the short scarlet color coat and the grey striped trousers, both well worn, by which had become familiar to all who were present during his protracted trial. His face had lost that florid hue it then wore, and in other respects he was an altered man.

THE EXECUTION differing little from other similar exhibitions. On Monday the barriers were put up, and on Monday night a fringe of eager sightseers assembled, mostly sitting beneath the beams, but ready at a moment's notice to rise and cling to the front places they had so long waited for. There was the usual cat calls, comic choruses, dances and even mock hymns, till towards two o'clock, when the gaiety inspired by alcohol faded away as the public houses closed, and popular excitement was not revived till the blackened deal frame which forms the base of the scaffold was drawn out in the dawn, and placed in front of the door from which Barrett was to issue. Its arrival was accompanied by a great cheer, which at once woke up those who had been huddled in doorsteps and under barricades, and who joined in the general acclamation. The arrival of the scaffold did much to increase the interest, and through the dawn people began to flock in, the greater portion of the new comers being young women and little children. The crowd was most unusually orderly; but it was not a crowd in which one would like to trust. It is said that one sees on the road to Derby such animals as are not elsewhere: so on an execution morning one sees faces that are never seen save around the gallows or near a great fire. Some laughed, some fought, some preached, some gave tracts, and some sang hymns; but what may be called the general good-humoured discord of the crowd remained the same, and there was laughter at the preacher or silence when an open robbery was going on. None could look on the scene, with all its exceptional quietness, without a thankful feeling that this was the last execution in England.

Towards seven o'clock the mass of people was immense. A very wide space was kept open around the gallows by the police, but beyond this the concourse was dense, stretching up beyond St. Sepulchre's church, and far back almost into Smithfield—a great surging mass of people which in spite of the barriers, kept swaying to and fro like waving corn. Now and then there was great laughter as a girl fainted, and was passed out hand over hand over the heads of the mob, and then there came a scuffle and a fight, and then a hymn, and then a sermon, and then a comic song, and so on from hour to hour, the crowd thickening as the day brightened, and the sun shone out with such a glare as to extinguish the very feeble light which showed itself faintly through the glass roof above where the culprit lay.

ON THE SCAFFOLD. With the first sound of the bells came a great hungry roar from the crowd outside, and a loud continued shout of "Hats off!" till the whole dense, bareheaded mass stood white and ghastly looking in the morning sun, and the pressure on the barriers increased so that the girls and women in the front ranks began to scream and struggle to get free. Amid such a scene as this, and before such a dense crowd of white faces, Barrett was executed. His clergyman came first. Barrett mounted the steps with the most perfect firmness.

THE HANGMAN. Instantly put the cap over his face and the rope around his neck. Then Barrett, turning, spoke through his cap and asked for the rope to be altered, which the hangman did. In another moment Barrett was a dead man. After the bolt was drawn and the drop fell with the loud boom which always echoes from it, Barrett never moved. He died without a struggle. It is worthy of remark that a great cry rose from the crowd as the culprit fell—a cry which was neither an exclamation nor a scream, but it partook in its sound of both. With the fall of the drop the crowd began to disperse, but an immense mass waited till the time for the cutting down came, and when nine o'clock struck there were loud calls of "Come on, body snatcher!" "Take away the man you've killed!" &c. The hangman appeared and cut down the body amid such a storm of yells and execrations as has seldom been heard even from such a crowd. There was nothing more then to be seen, so the concourse broke up with its usual concomitants of assault and robbery.

THE BODY was placed in a shell and removed to an adjoining building in the presence of the sheriff, the governor, the prison surgeon and the ordinary. There the rope having been removed from the neck, and the leather straps by which the legs and arms had been pinioned, the surgeon certified that life was extinct. The expression of the face was marvellously serene and placid, and the features composed to a degree irreconcilable at first sight with the notion of a violent death, though the lips and parts of the forehead were unusually livid. Towards the evening the body was buried in the accustomed place within the precincts of the prison, in a grave upward of five feet deep, in the presence of the governor and other officers of the jail. Barrett was an Irishman by birth, about twenty-seven years of age, of a thick-set, muscular figure, rather below the average height, and with a prepossessing countenance. He was unmarried, and by trade a stevedore. Neither before nor after his conviction did any relative call at the jail to see him; and after sentence he was only, or chiefly visited by the Rev. Mr. Hussey, who was with him a considerable time daily, and by his counsel, and occasionally by one or other of the sheriffs. His behaviour in prison submitting himself at the same time with affectionate docility to the exhortations of his priests, and gratefully receiving the consolations of religion.

The Braes of Yarrow

An Historical Tale of the Sixteenth Century.

A shade of doubt or jealousy—his heart did not distinguish which—passed over Gilbert, and he said abruptly—
"Now, lady, I am ready—our lives depend on your speed."
With a peculiar solemnity of manner she touched the fringe of her brow. The latter, raising slowly to consciousness, fixed his heavy eyes upon her, with a cruel smile of hate. She drew away from him and placed her trembling hand in Gilbert's. He grasped it with a jealous eagerness, and, raising her in his arms, stepped lightly upon the table, then upon the ledge of the window. He buckled a broad leathern belt around her waist, and, gripping it firmly, entrusted himself and his precious burden to the strength of the rope. The darkness favored them, and the table reached the ground in safety, and sped to the thicket, where Andrew waited with the horses. Lady Spens was mounted behind Gilbert, and the horses' heads were turned toward Selkirk, and at the same time the door of the round chamber was opened by Tushielaw, and the plight of his ambassador and the escape of his prize discovered.

CHAPTER IX.—FLYING AND SEEKING.

A dull grey haze was rising from the earth and indicating the approach of daylight when the fugitives reached Merlin's Cairn. They did not know whether or not they had been followed, but as they had made a circle in order to baffle their pursuers, and as Andrew had got the horses shod backwards, the pursuit in the darkness after midnight must have been carried on at a disadvantage.

When she decried the house of the cairn the heart of Lady Spens bounded with unutterable joy. She would be restored to her child now; they would fly on to Edinburgh, and there she would thrust herself upon the protection of her former mistress, the Queen Dowager, and with her help be able to set Tushielaw and all his power at defiance. She did not doubt for an instant that Her Majesty would refuse to believe her assertion of her own and her husband's innocence of all thought of treachery to the royal cause.

They could see no sign of light burning within the house. Gilbert, however, knocked loudly at the door, and they waited patiently for it to be opened.

But there came no answer, no sound to indicate that the house was inhabited. Gilbert knocked again, more loudly this time and with a certain degree of punishment in his mind. There was still no answer, and at length they were forced to the conclusion that the house was untenanted.

Gilbert quieted the anxious fears of her ladyship.

"Do not fear, madam, the bairn is safe," he said confidently; "safer than if we had found her here, for she is on the way to Edinburgh."

He pronounced his words confidently enough, but in his heart he feared that they might prove false. This was certainly the day on which he had charged the Chevalier Night, in the event of his failing to return, to convey the little Alice to the capital. But it was yet very early in the day, and so he feared that some new mischance had occurred. However, circumstances of which he was yet ignorant might have compelled the Chevalier to move northward sooner than was intended. With this hope he buoyed himself up, and was able to speak cheerily to the anxious mother.

They hastened on to Selkirk. The royal burgh, with its straggling houses and irregular architecture, had usually a quaint homely air, suggestive of comfort and honest work. But when our three friends passed up the banks of the Ettrick and entered the town on this December morning of 1615, the place had a dishevelled look like that of a woman who sits down with her cast loose and dress disarranged, lamenting the loss of father, husband, or children.

This, in truth, was the position of Selkirk on that day; for of the hundred sturdy burghers—made up of footers and weavers—who had followed the town clerk, William Brydce, to the field of Flodden, only about twenty had yet returned to cast the town in mourning for its own and Scotland's heavy losses.

Brydce, however, was amongst those who had returned, and with a noble, albeit sad heart, he set himself to work to give what consolation he might to the afflicted ones. In this he was not a little assisted by the merry-eyed weaver, who brought from the field fought field an English standard as a token of his own and his comrades' worth.

Everywhere there were indications of disorder, and even the Souther's hostelry in the ancient market-place had a melancholy look. But Gilbert, delayed here no longer than was necessary to afford Lady Spens an hour's rest and to procure fresh horse. They were soon upon the road again; and having now a comparatively even way they made good speed to Edinburgh, where they arrived towards afternoon, and took up temporary quarters near the foot of the Cowgate.

They desired as far as possible—or rather Lady Spens desired—to remain unrecognized until she had obtained audience of the Queen Regent. For this reason, instead of seeking out friends, they hired quiet lodgings, up three flights of stairs, of a little prim old lady, who was very particular to have a portion of the rent paid in advance.

Fatigued as she was by the journey and by troublous thought, Lady Spens would have hurried to the palace at once had not Gilbert persuaded her to delay till the morning. His persuasion was successful only when he remembered the words of Tushielaw—that her husband had been condemned by the secret commission, and that the lives of herself and her child were in peril.

But you—you will prove his innocence; you will point out the guilty one, and my husband's honour from the stigma which now rests upon it," she said softly, and laying her hand upon Gilbert's arm looked up confidently into his face.

"I have sworn to do it," he said with quiet firmness.

Her fingers tightened gently upon his arm and a faint sad smile illumed her face. That was his thanks and he was satisfied.

He had set himself a difficult task—that of solving the mystery of her husband's fate and of all the treachery that had surrounded the King at Flodden. He recognized the difficulty, but in the ardent sanguinity of youth he never doubted that sooner or later he would win his object. And then? He did not know then; but he looked yearningly toward the lady for whom he already risked so much and to whose service he had devoted his life.

TO BE CONTINUED.

Dickens has sent to Dr S. G. Howe of Boston, an order for $1,700, to be appropriated in printing copies of the Old Curiosity Shop in raised letters for the blind.

Mr. Callicott, the Speaker of the State Legislature of New York, has been convicted of defrauding the U.S. revenue of $48,000 duty on whiskey, and has been sentenced to pay a fine of ten thousand dollars and to suffer two years' imprisonment in the Albany Penitentiary.

THE ONE-ARMED HERO.—The Franklin supposes that Gen. Sweeney has been arrested. It says: "Last week, Capt. Rowe, of No. 1 Company of Light Infantry of Richelieu, arrested at Charlevoix a suspicious person, who appeared to observe with much interest the volunteers drill. He had him taken to Sweet'sburg, where he is yet detained. The prisoner has only one arm, and answers exactly to the description of Gen. Sweeney. Persons who have seen the General and know his features well, declare that he is the person in custody. We do not know how true this may be, but it is certain that the individual, who possesses a good education, has been observed for several weeks to go about our country parishes and townships, taking very attentive notice of all meetings of volunteers. [It has turned out that the individual referred to is a mere loafer.]

Goods will be sold by the piece, only to the highest bidders. TERMS LIBERAL, and made known at sale. At the same time, over 2,500 barrels COAL OIL will be offered in lots to suit purchasers. Mr. LEWIS trusts his old customers will be present as the Goods will be sold without reserve, even though the loss be heavy. Catalogues furnished at earliest opportunity.

FRENCH TROTTER STALLION,

ROUVILLE ST. LAWRENCE
WILL stand for Mares at his own stable, at the ...
Anglo-American Hotel, Guelph, this season. ...
Terminable last year, 28, 25 and 20. This ... is the best made horse and fastest trotter in the ...
County of Wellington. He is the stock of the ... fastest trotting horses on record. His sire was sold ... for $8500; his time on Long Island Course being ...
2:24; his dam trotted on the New York Fashion ...
Course in 2:50; his dam's full sister has made her ... time in 2:25, and is now owned by the celebrated ...
horseman, Robert Bonner, of the New York Ledger. ...
In consequence of the last judgment of the ... judges appointed at the last Horse Show at Guelph ...
I will not disgrace my horse by travelling against ... such a horse as got the first prize in his class ... shown. Favoritism and want of judgment is the ... general rule now adopted, so that no good horses ...
will be expected to show here another season.

hours day and evening, on ... all Chronic Diseases, Dis- ... eases of Women and Chil- ... dren, Midwifery, &c., to- ... gether with those of a pri- ... vate nature. He has de- ... voted over 30 years to the ... treatment of the above- ...
named diseases, and the ...
success so far has been without a parallel, as ...
may be seen from the numerous testimonials ... in his possession.
No Mercury Used—Patients at a dis- ... tance can be treated by corresponding with ... the Doctor, stating the symptoms of the dis- ... ease, age, length of time afflicted, &c., and re- ... ceive his celebrated remedies by express, or ... otherwise directed, securely packed from ... observation. A reasonable remittance on all ...
such applications will be required.
Femine Pills.—Dr. Davis' celebrated ...
Femine Pills for Irregularities, Suppression ... of the Menstrue, Leucorrhoea or Whites, and all ...
female difficulties, have been before the pub- ... lic for the last ten years, and are universally ... admitted to be the best remedy for which they are ...
recommended of any now in use.
The Doctor can be consulted at all times ... with the utmost secrecy, as his office is so ar- ... ranged that it is impossible to see each other, ...
unless by consent. No charge for advice ... when obtained at the office. If by letter, $1.
All letters must be addressed (prepaid) to ...
Dr. Davis, M. D., Hamilton, and to contain a ... postage stamp when an answer is required.
