Our clients are ready to pay the money required by the conditions of sale, execute the necessary documents, take possession of the property and at once proceed to take the steps necessary to change the system.

If there is further delay, it will be impossible to do anything in the way of change this season. We know of no reason for further delay,

We know of no reason for further delay, and if it is a question of expense, we will agree to pay one-half of Mr. Blake's fees or will arrange to meet Mr. Blake at Montreal, Quebec or Murray Bay. Yours truly, Kingsmill, Symons, Saunders & Tor-Rance; Bain, Laidlaw & Co.

Editor World: Mr. H. W. Charlesworth's etter in Saturday's issue, in which he gives his impressions of the use of the Orange order, is clearly an evidence of youth and inexperience. If his impressions of things in general are on a par with those expressed in his letter then his mental capacity sadily needs undergoing repair. The sconer he institutes an enquiry into the aims and objects of the Orange order the better, because one completely ignorant of the subject is not qualified to intelligently discuss it—much loss is he in a position to give an opinion. Caricature is not argument, but is rather to train the expression of egotism. If the writer desires to pose as a modern Pharises, socially, religiously and politically perfect in thought, word and ided, let him publicly exhibit himself, because great good might result therefrom.

The Orange Order, as regards its members and obligations, need not be alarmed because some through ignorance and others through prefudice assall it. The lesson it teaches is one calculated to encourage benevolence and patriotism amongst its members. Can the writer say as much for himpelf, is his self-conceited conception of Orangeism the product of prejudice adulterated with gross ignorance, or are his impressions of those who get a little too much drink for their own good on anniversary occasions to blind his judgment as to the goodness of God cannot be called in question because tares are permitted to grow in the wheat field. When my friend appears in prit again let him be a little more charitable in his views regarding a body of men whose efforts are directed to defend Profestantism and promote patriotism and benevolence amongst their brethren. W. H. Scott.

Editor World; Whatever good points the ecently enacted bylaw may have, the administration of it is certainly unjust since one and all are not treated alike.

On general principles there can be no reasonable objection to the people who hold forth on the east side of the park reading Scriptural passages, but is not reading St. Paul's epistle to the Corinthians, for example, just as much park speaking as to iread anti-poverty on Nationalistic literature? There is not the least doubt in the minds

There is not the least doubt in the minds of many who visited the Park yesterday that had an attempt been made to read extracts from any book other than the Bible the scenes of Sunday before last would have been repeated.

Whether the bylaw be just or not is another question, but it is certainly not justly carried out so long as the authorities show favoritism as they unmistakably did yesterday.

EQUITY.

Here Lies! Epitaphy is a demoralizing kind of taffy. It appears on the tombstone and eulogizes the dead almost to the very stars. The usual method of beginning is: "Here lies." Very suggestive, for the lies are frequently quite astonishing—almost enough so to both amuse and amaze the dead of whom they are written. A truthful epitaph, in whom they are written. A truthful epitaph, in many instances, would bet, "Here lies one who jomitted to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery." If sick and suffering and dreading premature death, test the potent remedy. It cures all chronic liver, blood and lung diseases, as billousness, skin and scalp diseases, serofulous sores and swellings, saltrheum, tetter, crysipelas and even scrofula of the lungs (or consumption) of taken in time.

Mr. Gibson Explains.

Editor World: As your journal has brought my name into this street railway iness I trust you will permit me to explain my position in the matter.

Mr. Macdonald accompanied by Mr. Wallbridge came to my office a week ago last Sat-bridgy afternoon and asked me if I had my camera down town and if I would make a photo for him. It is not unusual for me to bblige a client with a photograph, as I am an amateur photographer and use the camera in my profession as an architect, and I naturally assented. I was very busy at the time and my experience with Mr. Macdonald did and my experience with Mr. Macdonald did not lead me to think he had any dishonorable motive in asking me to do this for him, and I did so in my hurry without thinking anything about the matter.

The Best Pills.—Mr. William Vandevoort Sydney Crossing, Ont., writes: "We have been using Parmelee's Pills, and find them by far the best pills we ever used." For delicate and debilitated constitutions these pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

J. J. Dixon & Co.'s advices state that the lead ing speculative products to-day, were affected by a general closing up of outside contracts, which seemed to be induced by conflicting reports of probable receipts on one hand, a very uneven tone among European markets on the other.
Traders generally expected markets to rule very weak, and sold freely, but closings showed prices to be recovering under an active demand from short sellers.
