GERMANY AFTER THE GREAT WAR

Interesting Article by a German Painter.

(By Pastor Paul Le Suer, Berlin, in 'The Rocky' (Highway) Translated by C. W. F. Campbell, 40 Leinster Street, St. John.)

After ten years, Tuesday, 23rd August, 1924. The German flag flies at half mast. It is no longer the same banner that ten years ago waved so proudly in the breeze! Germany thinks of her dead who have been wrested from her in the world war; of the many, oh! so many, who lie in their soldier graves out there at the bottom of the sea; of the many, oh! so many, who died of their wounds, of sickness and pest, as the result of battles, of hunger, of all the bitter misery at home and abroad.

The Germans also think of the dead of their erstwhile enemies—might we say erstwhile? The dead are estimated in the world war at about thirty millions. That is a number that no one can grasp. Just think! If soldiers were marching by, ten in a row, with ten seconds between each row, daily, for ten hours, one would have to wait for more than four months before all had marched by.

And after that comes the procession of mothers, wives, betrothed, who have lost their dearest, of the orphans and then come the crippled, the sick, the undernourished, also those who have run off the track and the unprotected.

The horror makes us shudder. And over and above all, the misery. In London the number of streetwalkers is said to have quadrupled since the war in Paris and Berlin it is said to be worse. The former Italian minister, President Nitli, says: "As large as has been the loss of life and property, it is still a lesser evil compared with the moral disintegration of culture and civilization without its equal! And for what? For one gets a clear idea of the present state of Europe, the horrible idea must seize hold of one that the whole of it is without rhyme or reason, a trick of insanity. But then to be a man is to despair, and God is a nursery tale. What floods of lies, meanness, wickedness have flooded the world in the last ten years. And then the experts are plotting the next war, describing the terrible things of the Americans, against which there is no protection. Where it kills no blade will grow for seven years. With a few bombs the whole population of Berlin can be annihilated at a blow. They talk of a war of rays of bacilli! Then there is our maimed country, the occupation of the Rhine and the Ruhr and all the German misery, is it not enough to drive one to despair?

Some let it pass over them apathetically, others clench their fists in impotent rage and bitter hatred. Others again laugh at all patriotic ideals. But all that is the "sorrow of the world" that, according to St. Paul, worketh death, offended, indignant selfishness.

Poor dead souls! for you there is no new time coming. But St. Paul tells us there is another sadness, the godly sorrow, and it "worketh repentance that bringeth salvation." The world does not know that pain, but its salvation does not in the least resort, depend on us Christians baring our souls to it. Not that sorrow should grow less. On the contrary, the sorrow of the whole world storms into our souls and our hearts are so full of dire distress that we cannot bear it any longer. But with this burden upon us we throw ourselves into the hands of the living God. Hurt selfishness does not cry out in us, but deep, and love. And before us there appear the question of guilt, in comparison with which all haggling about the guilt of the war appears very insignificant. Do you really believe that the Millers, the Comhous and Clemenceaus, the Kivolskys and whatever their names are, could have brought about such happenings through their plots? That the stupidity of German politics could have had such an enormous effect? Oh no, there lie other, much deeper reasons at bottom. No bad will

Obituary

Mrs. I. M. Longley.

Early Sunday morning, Mrs. I. M. Longley, passed away at her home here, aged 82 years. Mrs. Longley, who had been an invalid for several years recently contracted pneumonia from which she failed to rally. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harding Morse, of West Paradise. Her husband, the late I. M. Longley, a well-known high school teacher, predeceased her more than twenty years. During her long illness Mrs. Longley was always bright and cheerful and interested in church and community affairs, with which, in health, she was identified. She leaves two daughters—Mrs. F. Doig, of St. John, and Mrs. Neil Balcorn, of St. John; and four sons, Dr. Wm. H. of Baltimore; Major H. G. Longley, of Paradise; Reginald and Ewart, principal of Paradise school, at home. Three sisters—Mrs. John Spurr, of Deep Brook; Mrs. H. Fowler, of Wolfville; Mrs. J. P. Crawford, of New York, and three brothers—Arthur and Eugene Morse, of West Paradise, and Rev. Alfred Morse, D.D., of New York, also survive.

OBITUARY.

C. Wallace Rumsey.

Mr. C. Wallace Rumsey passed away at Paradise. He had been in poor health for a number of years, but had attained the ripe age of 84 years. Mr. Rumsey was a member of the Paradise and Clarence United Baptist Church. He was a man of sterling integrity, honest and just in all his dealings. He is survived by two daughters, Jessie (Mrs. Thomason) of New York, and Amy, at home. The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. W. Steadman Smith.

OBITUARY.

B. B. Hardwick.

Annapolis Royal.—The funeral of the late B. B. Hardwick took place on Tuesday afternoon, and was largely attended—the majority of the business men of the town being present. The service was conducted at his late residence, Upper St. George Street, by Rev. M. H. MacIntosh, assisted by Rev. B. C. Borden, Rev. T. C. Mellor and Rev. A. Gibson—the hymns being rendered by the choir of St. George's United Church.

The interment took place at Woodlawn cemetery, the pall-bearers being George Wells, F. M. Dargie, and two nephews of the deceased—Ira W. Hardwick of Brooklyn, N. Y., and B. Bertram Hardwick, of Annapolis Royal. Alfred T. Hardwick, of Toronto, Harry Hardwick of Chicago, and Miss Mary Hardwick, are the surviving nephews and nieces.

REPORT OF CROWN LANDS DEPARTMENT.

Surplus of Over Fourteen Thousand Dollars Last Year.

The report of the Department of Crown Lands, tabled in the House of Assembly Wednesday by Hon. W. J. O'Hearney shows the total receipts last year to have been $21,928.22, and the expenditure of the Department, $7,793.40, leaving a net surplus of $14,134.82. Last year 2,759 acres of crown lands were granted, 2,117 acres were leased, three were renewals of lease on 24,295 acres and 795,493 acres of crown land remain unleased or ungranted. The greatest acreage of ungranted or unleased crown lands is in Yarmouth County (189,459 acres) with Victoria County in second place (115,963 acres).

The estimated amount of taxes under the Land Tax Act for the year 1924 was $85,900, and the total amount collected up to the end of the fiscal year was $82,277.65.—Chronicle.

PRISONERS' DEPENDENTS.

Social Service Council of Canada.

"She was the keeper of a common lawfully house. Yes, and arraigned in court on the charge. But will any man or woman here stand up and say that hers was the guilt for that sordid crime?"

Rev. Neil MacLellan speaking before the Annual Social Service Council Convention in Hamilton on the necessity of making some provision for the support of prisoners' dependents concluded his remarks with this pointed question and all the room was silent. He had been relating a touching story of hardship that had come under his own observation.

This is the story, briefly:—A little over four years ago a man was sentenced to ten years imprisonment on a charge of breaking and entering. The prisoner when sentenced had a wife and six children in age from a babe up to twelve years. The wife and mother finding her husband unable to help her in any financial way, tried to support the family by securing boarders. But unfortunately on account of the husband being in the penitentiary she could not secure a very desirable class of boarders and too many evaded payment.

This method of making a living having failed, she tried other honorable methods until her health broke down. Partially recovering she cared as best she could for her family during the days, and in the evening after she had put some of the children in bed half the length of the night she would tramp back to the length of the city scrubbing offices and doing such work as she could find. Then she would tramp home, sometimes through snow, hungry and cold and sad. This unspeakable existence continued through the years. A local church was extending limited help, which was however, utterly inadequate to meet the need.

This was a virtuous, faithful wife and mother. She did what she could to train aright her children and keep them from starvation, but the struggle was too much for her. Temptors shadowed her, volunteered their help. The final outcome was that the home was raided and a charge of keeping a disorderly house was laid against her.

In 1921 a Royal Commission was appointed to investigate and report on penitentiary conditions in Canada. Owing to a change in government the report was finally pigeon-holed but when the public demands it will be resurrected quickly enough.

Speaking on the necessity of providing constructive work for prisoners, the report says:—

"The mere provision of work is not, in the opinion of the Committee, sufficient. That the heaviest penalty for a crime is paid not by the criminal but by his dependents has been chiefly emphasized before the Committee, not by philanthropists and charitable workers, but by judicial, police and penitentiary officers of long standing. Their views are based upon the unfortunate and expensive social consequences of the pauperization of decent women and children upon the destruction of the convict's sole anchor holding him to decency of conduct after discharge by his being, during his term, deserted by his wife for some one better able to support her, and upon the frequent inevitability of a return to crime immediately upon his release of an ex-convict turned out into a society from which he has certainly been absent for years and perhaps for decades with five or ten dollars and a railway ticket to the place at which he was sentenced."

Extraordinary Construction Feat at Famous Mountain Resort

Next, the shell in course of erection. Left, the cover beneath which the construction work is going on. Below, Chateau Lake Louise, as it will appear upon completion.

Architects and builders all over America are much interested in the progress of the re-building of the Canadian Pacific hotel at Lake Louise, Alberta. The site of this building is over a mile above sea level, and the thermometer frequently takes a sensational drop, there being winter days with a 50 below zero in no record. It was imperative that the new work, which is being built to replace that burned down last summer, should be finished and open for the coming season, and that work on it should therefore, not be interrupted by winter weather.

Several architects and contractors from United States cities, who have visited the site, expressed doubts as to whether the job could be done during the cold weather, particularly in view of the fact that so much of the work consisted in pouring cement. This had to be safeguarded from freezing, and it was finally decided to build a huge wood-and-steel-paper lined shell around the entire space to be occupied by the new wing of the hotel. On the inside of this shell were hung thousands of feet of temporary steam coils, kept hot by 300 horse-power steam boilers, the effect of which was to provide a safe, summer-like atmosphere for the carrying on of the work.

The erection of so important a building in a position so comparatively difficult of access, as is the Lake Louise Chateau, is a matter calling for unusual engineering skill, the task of getting the materials to the site being by no means an easy one. With a night and day service, in spite of ice and snow, over 26,000 tons of material and coal are being delivered by the winding narrow-gauge tramway on a four per cent grade for a distance of 3 1/2 miles from Lake Louise depot to the Chateau. Canadian Pacific forces are supervising the work, supplying steam and electricity, and delivering material to the site.

This extension will enable the Chateau to accommodate seven hundred guests in a fireproof building, with every modern convenience, and one of its features will be the magnificent view of the lake and the group of mountains surrounding it from the ball room, rotunda, lounge and dining room through enormous plate glass windows which feature the whole length of the building. The extension was designed by Messrs. Barrett and Blackader, of Montreal, who have done other important work in connection with Canadian Pacific hotels and the contract was undertaken by Messrs. Carter-Halls and Aldinger, of Winnipeg.

Its Uniform Quality is due to Infinite Care

YOU know how impossible it is to judge flour quality by a mere inspection. Different flours may cost the same and look the same, yet give entirely different results. Then, too, you will often find a good flour, that varies in quality—a success in one baking and a failure in the next.

Your only real safeguard in buying flour is to select one that has been tested and proven in advance—and is guaranteed uniform in quality.

Maple Leaf Flour is made from the finest selected Canadian hard wheat, skillfully blended and milled. Exact tests at every stage of its milling makes possible its sale under a definite "money back" guarantee of uniform quality and satisfaction. You can depend on Maple Leaf Flour for unvarying baking results—always.

WORRYING ABOUT CANADIAN NAVY.

London "Truth" Comments on Advantage of Training.

London.—"Truth" says today that the destroyer "Patriot" of the Canadian navy is now in Bermuda waters with the North American squadron of the British Navy and the Canadian Department of Defence maintains that the advantage of such squadron training is so manifest that the practice may be continued. "We cannot help wondering," "Truth" remarks "why the other Canadian destroyer 'Patrician' is kept in solitude at Esplanade to venture forth now and then into the vast Pacific to teach herself such manoeuvres as the originality of its commanding officer can devise?" The same journal, commenting on the visit of the United States Pacific fleet to Australia next July, remarks that the decision has apparently been arrived at without the usual formality of consulting the country to be visited. "The strategical significance of the cruise will not be lost on the Japanese," "Truth" says.

THE SAME OLD TUNE.

The difference between science and the game of diplomacy is interesting. Science studies facts, and, having made an error, rectifies it before going ahead. Its mistakes are milestones and monuments; they represent paths along which experience has made discoveries from the patient study of quest and correction. A proven mistake in science marks the end of travel in that particular direction. Science knows that it cannot blink facts.

Diplomacy, however, is not fettered by any such early realism. Feeling mostly with men's lives it deals with facts as encumbrances. So, despite starkest revelations of the stupidity of its methods, it goes serenely ahead, blinking history's record, the laws of economics, the patent facts of biological truth, social reality, and human nature, ignoring the fruits of all the bitter lessons of yesterday and the day before.

The reason for the difference and its persistence is plain. An error in science, however knowingly, is liable to show the head of him that refuses to admit it. But the burden of trouble produced by diplomatic tactics doesn't fall on its creators. It falls on the public.

All this does a clue to anyone who is watching the political crossword puzzle in Europe today and wondering what it's all about. The old men of Europe (and some younger men who seem to have the old men's kind of minds) are at it again, trying to patch up balances of power. Balances of power or course have always ended in gory rows. The history of Europe is full of the facts about them. A blindingly clear illustration came not so long ago in what was termed "the war to end war." But, "Bless us," remark the diplomats, "bless us what do we care? Let's try again!"

From this point to construct financial hegemony over Europe as a next to French military hegemony; settling nothing at home—housing, public works doles (unemployment mounting again toward million and a half mark); busy quarrelling with Labor party about political funds instead; trying to reconstruct Empire trade as key to recovery; abiding a balance of power on Continent as further check to French; purposes Germany be revived thoroughly, in interests of trade; asks France to guarantee German Eastern frontiers against French allies in return for any general agreement guaranteeing French Eastern frontiers by Germany; sits on League of Nations protocol; defends column traffic squabbles with French Near East policies.

NATURE'S WARNINGS

Danger Signals That Everyone Should Take Seriously.

Pain is one of Nature's warnings that something is wrong with the body. Indigestion, for instance, is characterized by pains in the stomach, and often about the heart; rheumatism by sharp pains in the limbs and joints; headaches are a sign that the nerves or stomach are out of order. In some ailments, such as anæmia, pain is not so prominent. In this case Nature's warning take the form of pallor, breathlessness after slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, and loss of appetite. Whatever form these warnings take, wise people will not ignore the fact that many diseases have their origin in poor blood, and that when the blood is enriched the trouble disappears.

Finally, consider Germany. Ebert, the "chancellor of the Republic," the republic itself weakened by five years' tactics of England and France; reversion; monarchists and nationalists sniffling victory at new elections; vast financial scandals; hope for French moderation policy, distrust of French aims, venomous hatred of French aims, venomous hatred of French activities; ferment; debt, poverty.

And so forth. Week to week, while the wheels of economic reality roll across everywhere the old men still fiddle. England's "puffs," forcing the power of domination in France, drop plans to co-operate with her against Germany, and manoeuvre to compel her to co-operate with England and Germany and Trade Revival, France, realising her power and her financial danger, confuses up the tired dog of German fear and begins heronting it again to distract French attention from approaching trouble.

Twelve or fourteen million of the best young men in the world will have died in wars, says one of England's sane observers, "if we are going to keep this beautiful old Europe as a perpetual slaughter ground and shambles." Unhappy truth! How much further must it go, one wonders, before the idea of co-operation finds lodgment in Europe?—Uncle Dudley in Boston Globe.

PRIZE WINNERS IN THE TOURIST SIGN CONTEST.
 Kentville.—The Tourist Committee of the Kentville Board of Trade, in order to stimulate interest and to place the town more in the public eye, has arranged a Tourist Sign Contest for the purpose of informing visitors as to the entering and leaving town, and what it had to offer. The contest was open to the pupils of King's County Academy. The prize-winning signs were cleverly designed and to the point as follows:

"Entering Sign" was in the form of an archway with words "Welcome to Kentville," and contained suggestions as to its erection. It was the work of Walter Weaver. The "Farewell Sign" depicted a four-leaf clover with the caption "Good Luck Till Next Time," the work of Robert Bishop. Many other signs were of defied merit.

The prizes, a fitness jewelled watch, and a five dollar gold piece, were presented on behalf of the Board of Trade by H. M. Chas. president who congratulated the pupils on the work done and the keen interest taken in their town.

The signs were judged by George F. Graham, P. J. Purser and Dr. A. R. Donahoe.

CHANGE INDUSTRIAL DISPUTE ACT.
 Ottawa.—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, has given notice of a bill to effect changes in Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, made necessary by the recent session of the Privy Council that the Act is ultra vires of the Federal Parliament. The new bill probably will be brought down this week.

A VIGOROUS PROTEST.

At a meeting of Brotherhood of Railway Carmen in Toronto a few days ago there was a thought provoking discussion which is of interest in every part of Canada. The subject of deliberation was the practice of many Toronto business houses of having printing done in outside cities and the practice of business houses buying advertising in circulars and papers printed outside the city. Following discussion the Brotherhood adopted a resolution of protest declaring the policy complained of bad because the printing and advertising, if given out in Toronto would aid to some extent in alleviating unemployment. The complaint that much printing is sent to outside printers is as true of Saint John as it is of Toronto and it is not beside the mark to say that some of those who are helping to build up outside communities at the expense of Saint John profess support of and faith in the buy-at-home movement. What is true of printing is true also of many other commodities which are bought outside of Saint John, although the home market is able to supply requirements. Patronage of the home dealer would encourage employment and aid in upbuilding the city. Every purchase made in Saint John is a help to the city. Every purchase made outside when the purchaser could be supplied at home is a trade handicap. It matters not whether the purchase is a suit of clothes by one who thinks only an English tailor can supply his requirements or a costume by a lady who convinces herself that the home stores are not sufficiently well stocked to supply her wants. It matters not whether the article bought is costly or cheap, the purchase elsewhere of things that could be secured in the home stores is a handicap to home trade. Only when that thought becomes the predominant thought in the mind of the city buyer—male and female—will the true significance and value of the buy-at-home movement become a development factor of real and enduring worth. Every purchase helps to bring that time nearer. Every purchase encourages the home dealer to meet the demands of his trade.—(St. John Globe).

BIT OF A JOKE.

Newfoundland Asks British Board of Trade to Survey Ship Being Built in Holland.

London.—British shipbuilders, while still smarting under the loss of large contracts to German shipyards, have had salt rubbed into their wounds by the Newfoundland Government, Newfoundland has ordered a passenger steamer from a Dutch firm, which in turn placed an order for casting with the Skoda Works of Czechoslovakia. So this passenger ship will be thoroughly continental in construction.

Not content with this, however, the Newfoundland Government asked that the vessel be built under the survey of the British Board of Trade. The Board of Trade so far has seen the humor, but not the logic of this proposal.

DECISIONS IN HUNTING CASE.
 Judge Wallace gave judgment in County Court yesterday in two appeals in matters connected with game and hunting. In the case of the King vs. Clyde Johnston, of St. Margaret's Bay, defendant had been charged with killing a moose without having a license so to do. The charge was dismissed by a magistrate but his honor adjourned defendant guilty and imposed a penalty of $50. The King vs. Egan was a charge of unlawful attempt to kill player and yellowlegs by use of an automatic gun, contrary to the regulations under the Migratory Birds Convention Act. The magistrate convicted and imposed a fine of $50 and costs, $7.90. His honor said the charge had been established beyond reasonable doubt and that he was compelled to confirm the conviction.—(Chronicle).

JUVENILE CRIME IN THE PROVINCE.

Large Increase in The Number of Offenders During Past Year.

The annual report of Ernest H. Bois, superintendent of neglected and delinquent children, was tabled in the House of Assembly Thursday. It contains the reports of the Children's Aid Societies in the Province, the two Juvenile Courts at Halifax and New Glasgow, the reformatory institutions, children's homes and shelters and the financial statement. The report is for the year ending September 30th, 1924.

The reports of the Children's Aid Societies show that 196 children in the Province were delivered to the care of Societies and Superintendent during the year, 167 children were placed in foster homes, 41 were returned to parents or guardians, 45 were removed from foster homes, 250 were in temporary homes or shelters.

The report of Judge Hunt, of the Halifax Juvenile Court, gives the number of delinquent children brought before the Court during 1924 as 243, an increase over 1923 of 66. Of this number 228 were males and 15 females.

The charge of theft promulgated in the offences charged, with truancy next in order, 207 of the delinquents were between the ages of 7 and 17, and 21 were adults. The ages of the greater number of the offenders were 12, 13, 14 and 15. The report of Judge Crockett, of the Juvenile Court for the County of Pictou, gives the number of delinquents brought before that Court as 65—64 males and one female. There is the principal offence.

There are four reformatory institutions in the Province; The Halifax Industrial School for Protestant boys, the Maritime Home for Girls for Protestant girls (Truro), St. Patrick's Home for Roman Catholic boys, and the Monastery of the Good Shepherd for Roman Catholic girls. The four institutions are under Government inspection and receive per capita grants from the Provincial Treasury and the Municipalities for inmates legally committed. Both delinquent and neglected children are committed.

The total number in the Halifax Industrial School during the year was 80, 58 being committed for criminal offences; in the Maritime Home for Girls there 84, 20 for criminal offences; in the Monastery of the Good Shepherd there were 180, 13 for criminal offences; in St. Patrick's home there were 93, 51 for criminal offences.—(Chronicle).

Russian Steamer Pays High Price For Entering United States Port.

Savannah, Ga.—The Russian steamer Watslav Vorovsky, a vessel of the merchant marine of the present Russian government, docked here from Antwerp, Belgium, and according to the ship's master, is the first Russian steamer to enter a port of the United States since 1917.

The customs authorities assessed an additional customs tax of $1 per net ton on the ship. This means that instead of paying a tax of $180 on the Watslav Vorovsky, which has a net tonnage of 2,672, a tax of $2,672 must be paid as well as the $180 as there is no existing commercial treaty between Russia and the United States.

Police officers say that the majority of criminals come from homes which are only nominally connected with any church. To get at the children in such breeding places of crime will be a job for the police authorities before it is a churchly task. "In the final analysis it may come to a point where some sort of rigid home inspection and supervision will be necessary if society is to be safeguarded. We would be the last to favor this, but what other solution can be suggested? "The criminals are here and they are growing in numbers. Our courts
