Dominion Election Would Find United Conservative Party Strong as Ever.

Hon. Robert Rogers, brown as a berry, and apparently in the best of health and spirits, arrived in Toronto yesterday from his summer home at Kenora. He will be in the city a day or two straightening out the Toronto harbor tangle, which comes under his jurisdiction, as minister of public works.

Not at all, Mr. Rogers replied, emphatically. "The party would make a stronger showing than ever before in Manitoba."

ALLIES ADVANCE IN DARDANELLES

Sir Ian Hamilton Reports Fresh Landing and Further Gains.

CONCERTED EFFORT

London Hopes Forcing of Straits is Not Far Off.

The Gulf of Saros, opposite the neck of the Gallipoli Peninsula, and near Avl Burnu. This latter place, not shown on available maps, is believed to be at the foot of Sari Barr, just north of where the Australians are holding a strong position.

At Avl Burnu the Turks admit that the landing was successfully carried out, but they claim to have dispersed the troops which landed near Karacahill. It is believed in military circles here that the landing at Karacahill was only a feint to disguise the real intention of the allies, although it is said that the putting ashore of a strong force at this point might result in their working around and cutting the Turkish line of communication at the Gallipoli Peninsula, above the Bulair line, across the neck of the peninsula.

Official Statement. The British official statement follows: "Sir Ian Hamilton reports that fighting at several points on Gallipoli peninsula has taken place during the last few days. Substantial progress has been made. In addition, it is believed by the military observers that a success here would bring the Balkan States over to the side of the allies. It is understood to be prepared to lend a hand in the Dardanelles operations."

CROP LOSS TOTALS SEVERAL MILLIONS

Ontario Minister of Agriculture Makes Estimate of Storm Damage.

WHEAT SUFFERS MOST

Twenty-Five Per Cent. of Oat Crop Has Been Totally Ruined.

In spite of the widespread crop destruction of recent storms, Ontario is still to have better than an average crop, according to Hon. J. S. Duff, minister of agriculture, in a report issued yesterday.

According to the minister the wheat crop has suffered the greatest from the storm, and this is particularly to be regretted because farmers paid special attention to wheat growing this year for patriotic reasons.

Twenty-five per cent. of ten million bushels of wheat, or two million bushels, has been lost.

The statement reads in part as follows: "From reports received by this department there is no doubt that Ontario farmers have lost several million dollars as a result of the severe rains and winds of the past week or ten days.

The loss represents to a considerable degree the difference between a good average crop and the almost record crop which seemed to be promised two or three weeks ago.

Standing in the fields, the wheat crop this year might have aggregated upwards of twenty million bushels in value, which is more than 50 per cent. more than usual.

It is estimated that the loss of wheat is about $10,000,000. The loss of oats is estimated at $2,000,000. The loss of corn is estimated at $1,000,000.

HOLLAND IMPORTS WAR MATERIALS

"To Maintain and Enforce Absolute Neutrality," Declares Dutch Attaché.

GERMANS NOT AFRAID?

Alarmed at First, Now Quiet After Promising to Be Good.

Special to The Toronto World. NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—That the Government of the Netherlands has been one of the heaviest European importers of war materials during the last two months has long been known to local representatives of the German Government.

This was confidentially admitted yesterday by an attaché of the German embassy, who, owing to the recent order issued by Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, is not permitted to speak officially.

Privately I can say that despite occasional reports to the contrary, the people of Holland, and especially the Government of the Netherlands, are warm friends of Germany and her ally, he said.

While the German attaché refused to venture an opinion as to Holland's object in importing huge quantities of munitions and materials of war, Count J. A. Z. Von Beieren Limpurg, attaché of the Dutch legation, practically admitted yesterday that his government had been preparing to take any steps necessary to maintain and enforce absolute neutrality.

Count von Limpurg refused to state whether Holland intended to take the initiative through aligning herself with either side of the belligerents.

ANIMATED SCENE AROUND ARMORIES

Fine Weather is Material Help to Recruiting Sergeants in Toronto.

INTERVIEW OFFICERS

Young Men Told Requirements and Number Largely Increased Daily.

Another thousand were being drilled on the avenue and parade grounds. Business was brisk at the recruiting tents, scores of young men interviewing the officers there with regard to the requirements for membership in the various units.

When the official figures for the day were certified and sent in to Lieut. Legend Reed at military headquarters on Simcoe street, the total of accepted was 195. This increase for the day brought the total overseas men being trained in Toronto to 2342. The overseas men are distributed among the city regiments as follows: 2nd Q.O.R., 299; 10th R. G., 432; 12th Yorks, 482; 24th Peak 77; 48th Highlanders, 300; 10th Regiment, 615; G.G.B.G., 20; 2d M. H., 107.

TWO NOTABLE BANDS AT SCARBORO BEACH.
There are two very interesting musical engagements at Scarborough Park this week. As an exclusively brass band, they will bear comparison with any other band in the province.

On Thursday another local organization, the Russian Juvenile Concert Band, of 42 pieces, under the direction of M. Lennox Glass, will begin a series of six concerts. This band, at the name implies, consists of boys, and among the soloists are lads of twelve, Wilson and Wattle, the comedy cyclists, and Billy Ritchie, in his moving picture comedies, complete the week's bill.

BEAUTY DOCTOR TELLS SECRET

Detroit Beauty Doctor Gives Simple Recipe to Darken Gray Hair and Promote Its Growth.

Miss Alice Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, promote its growth and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of oxycodone compound and 1/2 oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look like a young one. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair, relieve itching and scalp disease, and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

BULGARIA IS SOON TO FIGHT TURKEY?

Serbia Said to Be Ready to Make Important Concessions.

GREECE IS INVOLVED

Joint Communication Addressed to Bulgaria by Allied Powers.

NIS, Serbia, Aug. 10.—Possibility that a Balkan agreement would be reached by which Bulgaria will march against Turkey loomed large this afternoon, when it was officially announced that Serbia is willing to make important concessions to Bulgaria.

It was announced that Serbia is willing to make these concessions, the exact nature of which was not stated, provided the allies secure assurance from other Balkan States that they will negotiate in a conciliatory spirit.

An Athens despatch today declared Greece has agreed to Bulgaria's request in which to consider the proposal of the allies that she cede Kavalla to Bulgaria, receiving Smyrna in compensation at the end of the war. The Greek Government is said to have asked the Serbian foreign office today whether Serbia is willing to negotiate on the basis suggested by the allies. The Serbian foreign office replies in the affirmative.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The correspondent at Salonika of the Havas Agency, telegraphs that diplomatic representatives of France, Russia, Great Britain and Italy have delivered a joint communication to the Bulgarian Government with a view to procuring the collaboration of that nation with the allies, as part of a common understanding with the Balkan States.

This action was taken in conjunction with the presentation of similar communications to Greece and Serbia, as recently made known. It is in reply to Bulgaria's request on June 14 for information from the quadruple entente powers concerning the advantages she might expect in changing her active co-operation with them.

AT THE STRAND.
Packed houses were the order of the day at the Strand Theatre yesterday, where a very generous program was presented. The feature, "The Puppet Crown," with Ina Claire in the role of the heroine, is a modern romance, with the events occurring in a fictitious city. The plot is that of a crown well lost for the king. The princess, whose father, the king, had been unable to stem the tide of revolution, loses her throne, but gains the love of a very gallant American. The cartoon-comedy, "Rastus' Rabbit Hunt," is extremely funny, and the beautifully colored pictures of the life history of a ferret are remarkably interesting.

Rheumatism
A Home Cure Given By One Who Had It

In the spring of 1892 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it can describe for over three years. I tried every remedy at hand, but doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have since been able to take my usual work, and I effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatism to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proved itself to be that long-sought-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you must send me the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it, but that fair. Why suffer any longer when positive relief has been offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

Shall It Be Always the Summer Season?

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1915, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

"YES," said the middle-aged woman, who will be elderly before very long. "I love spring, it's so green and wistful and hopeful, but I don't want it to be spring all the time.

"I am glad summer has come, when summer is here—July and roses and moonlight—and then, along about September, I'll begin to be glad it's fall.

"I want to see the ripened grain. I want to go out in the woods and gather nuts, and I think an apple orchard in full bearing, russet and red and gold, is as pretty as any orange grove in full bloom any day in the year.

"And then, November. What a joy the frost is in the air!

"I never really appreciate home till winter comes.

"The warm room, the leafing fire, the good old books, the bad new magazines, the letters to write to old friends and plenty of long, shut-in hours to write them; the red geranium in the window, the evening lamp, the children gathered around it doing their school work; the wind howling in the chimney, the sleet against the pane, and in the house love and comfort and quiet companionship and memory. I don't know which I love the best of all the seasons, but I think, somehow, I believe, that after all, winter is about the best, for me.

"You see, my hair will soon be white, to match the snow."

What the Years Brought.

I looked at my friend, the middle-aged woman who will soon be elderly, and while I looked at her I loved her and thought how wise she is.

She does not try to keep the years of her life always at the same season, as so many restless, unhappy souls are wont to do.

When she was a girl she lived the life of a girl, with some one older than she, who loved her, to keep the sorrows out of her life, and to meet old-fashioned responsibility at the door and turn him away before the girl could realize who it was that knocked.

When she was a girl she began to know sorrow, too, just a little, but not yet responsibility.

She married, and then she had them all—Joy and Sorrow and Heavy Care and Cruel Anxiety and deep and tender Love, that was a pain, too, as well as a pleasure, as all great pleasures always must be.

Then, as she grew older and the great and thrilling joys departed, the sorrows left her, too, and the responsibilities. And now she can sit serene and watch them all in the procession that passes like a dream before her—great Joy, great Sorrow, great Anxiety, great Failure, great Success, Love and that twin glister of Love, who is often mistaken for what she is not, Pain, Relief, Envy, drab-faced Jealousy, with the glinting eyes of green, sweet Consolation, frank Friendship—all, she sees them all.

She is arriving at the harvest time of life. She sowed the seed, she saw the blossoming plant, she marked the fruit as it ripened, and now she sits serene and sees how the others work to make their gardens grow.

She Grows with Time.

She isn't in love with Love, not she.

She knows Love too well, and, although she laughs to remember the joy of it, she shudders when she thinks of its pain, and she is glad that absorbing Love has gone at last, temporarily, out of her life.

Jealousy cannot sting her now, nor bitter Disappointment. Those are for the women who are still living in spring and summer.

"The roses die in October," says my friend who loves all the seasons and lives them, each in its turn, "and so do the smiles." She does not try to look like 20 and to feel like 20 and to dance like 20.

She does not attempt to be at the head of a household, like 35, or to weigh out justice with even hand, as the woman with a family must try to do along about 40, when the boys grow up and want to cut the apron strings and the girls are beginning to demand their share of the family rights.

She sits serene, untroubled—the keeper of all the secrets, the peace-maker, the pointer of the way to troubled waters, the counselor, the friend, the grandmother, and she does not try to make her grandchildren call her "aunt" either.

She is not miserable trying to turn the hands of the clock back to spring, or even to gorgeous summer—not when it is striking fall—and when winter comes she will not pull down the curtains, light all the lamps and try to make herself believe that it is June in the garden and the butterflies are winging from rose to lily in the streaming sunshine.

What a wise woman she is, my dear, dear friend, and what a comfort to every one who knows her.

"I wish, they say, is only matter out of place.

If we can only grow, each of us, to fit our own particular places and be happy in them as we grow older, what a relief the process will be to us and to all who love us.

Diary of a Well-Dressed Girl

By SYLVIA GERARD

Making a Practical Coat of French Cretonne.

EVERY girl at a summer resort where everybody knows everybody else, are, as a rule, very clammy, and dress as much alike as peas. The minute one of their number appears wearing something a little out of the ordinary it is the signal for every other girl to get the same thing, with a slight modification, perhaps.

"Dirt," they say, "is the fact that you are 'copied' you 'sort of' swell up with pride that they like your hat, frock or coat well enough to want others like it.

When I first noticed this fact I resolved to be the exception to the rule and not be a "copy cat," but this year my resolution was broken. The cause of my fall from grace was Olive Howell's cretonne coat.

Cretonne Coat in Vivid Colors.

She wore it one evening to the Campbell's lawn party over a white lingerie frock, and it seemed such a practical, summery garment and so simply made that I just couldn't resist the temptation to duplicate it.

Mother bought a generous supply of cretonne and chintz before we came here to redecorate the cottage, and there were yards and yards left. So I had a vision of Cicely "tossed out" in a coat made from the leavings of the blue guest room, and I in one made from the scraps left from the hangings and cushions in mother's room.

Olive loaned us her coat to use as a pattern, and we soon had ours well under way. They had to be cut rather like a smock, hanging full from the shoulders to form deep folds about the hem.

I made mine slightly different from Olive's by shortening the coat in front and making a square rolled-down collar instead of a rounded one. Just by way of a little contrast I used plain, cream-colored cretonne for the belt, cuffs and collar, fastening the belt with a flat button covered with the plain material.

The sleeves caused me a lot of trouble, for I had cut them too wide to fit the armhole without gathering them a trifle. This fulness seemed to spoil the coat, so I had to rip them out after having finished them with three rows of machine stitching, and cut them smaller.

Then I added to each side, for when they become soiled soap and water will make them like new. They can be slipped over the plain lining, and washed or over the more elaborate evening gown when the weather is chilly. And besides all this they are loads of fun to make.

"Of course I've always cared. I'm sorry you ever doubted. But a husband can't keep his love upmost as a foolish boy does. When you have to worry about the rent and the bills—"

Hints for the Housewife

By ANN MARIE LLOYD

When mending a glove, if you put your finger into a thimble and then into the glove you will find mending quite an easy task; especially if the hole occurs at a seam. It is an easy matter to keep the thimble firmly under the hole. This plan prevents pricking the fingers, and a much neater darn will result.

Clean knives by rubbing with a cork dipped in slightly damp knife powder, and polish with dry powder, and they will last far longer than if cleaned on a knife board.

Jam-making time is beginning, and if you are wise you will take my tip. I always reserve the bottom of the preserving pan with best salad oil before putting in the fruit, and find it quite prevents the jam from burning. I also add a lump of butter about as big as a walnut for every six pounds of fruit, putting it in when the jam comes to the boil after the sugar has been added and let melt.

By the way, one should never let jam boil after the sugar is put in till it has really melted, or the jam will go thin.

During the summer months ironing is a trial. If you can manage to do it under the kitchen window, where there is plenty of fresh air and light, you will find it much less tiresome. If you must iron in the parlour, plant a small air will have very little effect upon the iron, and if they do lose just a little heat, the benefit you obtain will atone for it.

Here is a plan that is very useful for removing the disagreeable odors of cooking from a room. Take a few pieces of brown paper and soak them in salt-petre water. Remove them and allow them to dry. When necessary, take a piece of the paper so treated, place it on a flat tin, and put a handful of dried lavender upon it, and apply a light fire. The aroma is very refreshing and agreeable, and will quickly do away with objectionable reminders from the kitchen regions.

If you have any delicately colored rugs that have become creased and shabby looking, this is the treatment for them: Turn the rugs upside down and wet the backs with a broom dipped and shaken out in cold water; then stretch the rugs out firmly on the floor, and secure the four corners with rustless tacks. It may be necessary to use a few more if the mats are inclined to shrink up.

Warm water, to which a little vinegar has been added, will freshen up the colors in almost any kind of carpet, and

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Treat an Insect Bite as You Would a Wound

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University)

THERE are few persons at this moment who will stand sponsor for the housefly. Even those who never read a newspaper do not obstruct health officers in their earnest attention to anti-vaccinationists have as yet claimed that the fly has a soul or is innocent of scraping its dirty, germ-laden feet over a vaccination mark, thus to be the origin of the blood-poisoning and lockjaw rashily and illogically blamed on the vaccine.

Unhappily, this unanimous conviction of "musca domestica" stops just there. It should go much farther. The condemnation must be extended to the little, hovering, fluttering fruit fly, which hangs around the banana basket, the apple bowl and the fruit tree.

"Drosophila"—the fruit fly—is one of the most interesting and tamest of little flies. Alike to the naturalist, the poet and the housekeeper, it has hitherto escaped with barely a hygienic slap upon the wrist. Yet it is a vandal to health and happiness.

The irritating Jigger.

The fruit fly visits the sick chamber and the hospital bed by virtue of the fruits it clings to. It gathers up tubercle bacilli and typhoid microbes, when evil-doers of the other fly tribes have been driven out. The fruit fly carries more mischief in smaller compass than a score of stable flies and houseflies combined.

One of the nastiest of the insupportable insect pests to come under notice is the "jigger," "chigger," or if you are a pundit and prefer it, "leptus irritans." Time was when entomologists, bug-doctors and parasitologists could not be convinced that "jiggers" were a menace to health. It is only within the past decade that these minute, scarcely visible mites have been admitted into the list of unhappy hooligans, which destroy the vigor and well being of man.

Found upon the tips of foliage and grasses, in harvest season and out of it, they leap from the blades and twigs upon the clothing, to which they attach themselves by their forepaws. Soon or late, they crawl into the skin, where they burrow down into the perspiratory canal and irritate body and soul. No hornet, scorpion, or ugly customer of the mosquito clan could keep you awake more easily.

Other Insect Enemies.

Furthermore, over and above these inquisitorial torments, if they happen to have hopped from the Soylas of a diseased person to the Charlydas of a susceptible one, the jiggered victim will fall ill. The modicum of venom of the jigger nips you much after the fashion of the female mosquito.

The bite of a flea, a sandfly, a gnat, a caterpillar, a moth, or any other pest of the insect kingdom should be treated immediately in some way with ammonia or baking soda. That bane of a diseased person to the Charlydas of a susceptible one, the jiggered victim will fall ill. The modicum of venom of the jigger nips you much after the fashion of the female mosquito.

Answers to Health Questions.

J. L. T.—Q.—Please prescribe a remedy for recurring guma.

A.—Receding gums or pyorrhoea is treated hygienically with one-half grain of emetine; with staphylococcus and streptococcus vaccines; with increasing doses of iodine of potassium in water after meals, beginning at 15 drops and increasing one drop at a time until 40 drops are being taken, and with scraping of the teeth by the dentist. All of these must be done.

D. D. D.—Q.—What can I do for my hands? When I put them in cold water or even if they get cold they turn red and swell, itch and burn like fire.

A.—Massage your hands with glycerin and cornmeal flour. Keep this on them and wear cotton gloves when you work around the house. Apply at night: Calamine, 2 1/2 drams; glycerin, 3 drams; zinc oxide, 2 drams; phenol, 1/2 dram; lime water and rose-water enough to make 3 ounces.

NOVELS in a NUTSHELL

William M. Thackeray's

Condensed by

"HENRY ESMOND"

AUGUSTA SHELBY.

DURING the reign of Queen Anne lived Henry Esmond, a young man of exceedingly noble qualities. He dwelt as a dependent in the home of his second cousin, the Viscount Castlewood, whose daughter, the legitimate daughter of his father, had never been proved.

Despite this fact he was dearly loved and received every expression of consideration from the entire family, which consisted of Lord Castlewood, his beautiful young wife, a son, Francis and a daughter, Beatrice. These were children of a former wife, however, for Lady Castlewood was not a great deal older than her stepdaughter.

Lord Castlewood was inclined to be thoughtless and failed to show his wife with the attentions due her youth and beauty. This unintentional neglect exposed Lady Castlewood to the attentions of Lord Mohun, a man of evil traits of character, whom she despised.

Subsequent events led Lord Castlewood to challenge Mohun to a duel, in which the former was killed.

In the mean time Henry Esmond was found to be the legal heir to the Castlewood estate, and because of this fact Henry of allowing her husband to fight Mohun in order to inherit the estate.

At this time Henry really proved his nobility of character. His high sense of honor and the gratitude which he had shared, caused him to refrain from telling the real reason for the duel. And

After a long lapse of time he returned to his native country, and Lady Castlewood, having forgotten her grievance, welcomed him affectionately to her home.

Here he again saw the lovely Beatrice, now a woman in the height of her beauty, and immediately fell in love with her. He spent 10 years of his youth in this capricious maiden, but the brilliant beauty was too ambitious to please herself to Henry Esmond. She favored the suit of the Duke of Hamilton and finally became engaged to him.

She was destined not to wear the diadem crown for the worthy duke was killed in a duel.

Esmond was devoted Jacobite and made every effort to bring the "Pretender" from Paris to London so that he would be on hand to succeed Queen Anne, who was in ill health. With the aid of other followers of the Stuarts he managed to land the prince in England, but instead of laying siege to the throne the gallant Pretender stormed the heart of the fair Beatrice.

This caused the failure of the project to restore the crown to the Stuart line.

Subsequent Events Led to a Duel Fatal to Castlewood.

and Henry, learning of the prince's unfaithfulness to the friends who were willing to risk their lives for him, challenged him to a duel.

After satisfying Henry's demands the Pretender returned to France and the fair Beatrice soon followed him.

Then Henry suddenly discovered that the affection that he once had for Beatrice had changed to a strong love for her stepmother, despite the fact that she was eight years his senior.

This tender, lovely woman found a corresponding love adams in her own heart and they were married without further events.

Esmond had large plantations in Virginia, and desiring to go there to live, left Francis in possession of Castlewood and with his bride sailed for the new world.

The Good-Night Story

THE KIND BROWNIE By Vernon Merry

ONCE upon a time there was a farmer and he had a large barn filled with hay and grain, for he was a very prosperous farmer.

In those days little folks called brownies went about the earth playing pranks, helping Mother Nature do her work, and doing good deeds for the unfortunate.

Now, although he was wealthy, the farmer was too stingy to buy enough horses to do the work on the farm, and made one horse—faithful, willing Dapple Gray—do all the ploughing and harvesting.

One day a brownie wandered to the farm and saw how the farmer kept the horse working from morning until late at night, so he concluded to come and live in the farmer's barn for a while and see what he could do to help Dapple Gray.

That night he said to the tired horse: "Tomorrow I am going to take your place, and you stay here and rest," and he touched the horse with his cap and immediately the brownie became Dapple Gray, and the horse became the brownie.

When morning came the farmer drove the horse from the barn and loaded the cart with more grain than the animal could pull. When the horse could not move it the angry farmer raised his whip to beat the patient beast, but something knocked the whip from his hand. This occurred several times, and finally the farmer was forced to remove some of the sheaves of wheat from the cart.

Then the farmer started and drew the load to the barn. He was kind to Dapple Gray that he did his work willingly, but as soon as he was cruel and started to beat the animal his arm became helpless or the whip was knocked from his hand.

When the brownie had worked in Dapple Gray's place for a week the farmer had changed from an impatient, cruel man into a kind, gentle one. He bought two more horses to help Dapple Gray with the work and would never even think of beating a horse again.

As time wore on he grew richer and richer, for the brownie continued to live in his barn, and wherever a brownie was there good luck was sure to be also.

Subsequent Events Led to a Duel Fatal to Castlewood.

and Henry, learning of the prince's unfaithfulness to the friends who were willing to risk their lives for him, challenged him to a duel.

After satisfying Henry's demands the Pretender returned to France and the fair Beatrice soon followed him.

Then Henry suddenly discovered that the affection that he once had for Beatrice had changed to a strong love for her stepmother, despite the fact that she was eight years his senior.

This tender, lovely woman found a corresponding love adams in her own heart and they were married without further events.

Esmond had large plantations in Virginia, and desiring to go there to live, left Francis in possession of Castlewood and with his bride sailed for the new world.

Going It Blind: A Board of Trade Farce in Several Acts.

One of the latest announcements about the union station is to the effect that the government is being urged to guarantee the cost of the postoffice end of the plans so that the contractors may be allowed to begin work at once and cinch their end of the business...

There have been quite a few of these of late. The harbor commission plans are under inspection the way they are being carried out...

We have indicated some of the flaws which arise from the dependence of the plans on the project of building a mud wall and pier by tunnels at street crossings 230 feet long...

We believe that if the plans were thoroughly understood the citizens would not be satisfied to sink so much money in the proposals now seeking final settlement. When the union station is built, if it is built on the present plans, the public will be admitted to a ticket hall on Front street...

This mud wall is going to surpass all the botches that have yet been perpetrated on the city in the way of expense. No man knows within several millions what it is going to cost. There is to be a bridge over the Don which no official has yet had the courage openly to estimate upon...

The insane policy of opposing everything that anyone else proposes kept the whole question of the Esplanade and the Union Station open for years, till some one rushed in and proposed a mud wall and in sheer desperation this was taken up by the board of trade and put in hands...

Neutral Nations and the War. After the first year of war it has been abundantly shown that the only nation in Europe thoroughly prepared for war was Germany...

This indubitable fact is enough to discredit the parrot cry of German apologists that this war was forced on Germany and is one of defence alone. If the militarist party in Germany had no aggressive designs in Europe why the ramifications of the odious spy system...

The neutral nations of Europe are not without intelligence nor free from apprehension on the subject of the German menace to their rights and liberties. They know very well that a victorious Germany will neither be held nor bound...

Much of the prosperity of Holland and Belgium in normal times came directly from small holdings of land and intensive farming. Industry and skill combined have enabled peasant proprietors and small leaseholders to live in comparative comfort...

ITALIAN OFFENSIVE WILL BE DELAYED

General Cadorna Will Give Troops Rest Before Isonzo Lines.

TO FORTIFY POSITIONS. Eighty-Five Thousand Casualties Sustained by Austrians—Fresh Troops Arrive.

Information has reached Udine to the effect that Gen. Cadorna, the Italian commander-in-chief, has decided not to resume the offensive on a large scale until his troops are well settled and organized in the positions lately occupied.

The losses of the Austrians in wounded alone are reported to have reached a total of 85,000. They are in need of fresh troops, and not wishing to weaken their armies on the Serbian and Russian fronts have brought in three army corps from Pola to the Isonzo front.

A cause of great suffering to the Austrians on Carso plateau is lack of water. Until recently water has been obtained from Doberdo Lake, but this supply has been cut off, as Doberdo is under fire of Italian artillery. The appearance on the Italian front of Austrian troops, believed to be released from the Russian campaign, is announced by the Tribune of Geneva in a despatch from Laibach, Austria. These troops to the number of 30,000, which are equipped with artillery sufficient for two army corps, attacked the Italians yesterday outside of Gorizia.

The Italian army, which has been in the possession of the Gorizia front since the beginning of the war, has been driven back to the Isonzo river. The Italian army, which has been in the possession of the Gorizia front since the beginning of the war, has been driven back to the Isonzo river.

The leading film producers and exhibitors, it is announced, have been brought into a cooperative scheme, so that no single firm shall have a monopoly of the pictures. The first photographs will be taken in about a week.

NINETY MEN ENLISTED FROM CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 10.—Campbellford citizens turned out in large numbers today to say farewell to 90 men who are joining the troops for the front. They paraded to the station led by the Citizens' Band. They were in charge of Capt. Sauve of the 5th Battalion, Kingston. At the station Mayor Armstrong made a few brief remarks and led in cheering for the men. This makes over 90 who have enlisted from here, and there will be others leaving town later this week.

GOODBYE TO THE HUSTLERS LEAFS TOOK TWO OF THREE

Divided the Double Bill Yesterday—First Game Won By Locals 4 to 2—Manning's Poor Pitching Lost the Second Fixture.

When they split the double-header with the tribe of Ganzel yesterday, the Leafs made it two out of three on the series. Fred Herbert pitched masterly ball in the first game and the Leafs had no trouble in winning, 4 to 2. They hit like champions behind the pitching and piled up a total of 14 safeties. It was good to look at.

They turned right around in the closing offering. Manning started to twirl, but five runs and six hits chased him to the barn with only one out in the opening innings. Rochester won, 8 to 2.

The first game was good to look at. The Leafs stepped into the arena's offerings with ginger and banded well as usual. They won 4 to 2 and deserved it handsomely. Herbert was a little unsteady at the beginning, but settled away in nice fashion and was the master of the second round. He was called smoothly and only eased up in the eighth, when on the other hand, the Leafs kept pecking away at Hunsicker, until finally they found him and crushed across their four runs close together.

Herbert's worst session was the opener. Clemens smashed out a hit and was handed second free. Herbert dropped the ball in winding up and it was called. President Barrow's ruling was "no play." Prez whiffed, out keenly dropping the third strike, but had no time to hit into a double play. Cook had hardly found himself in the second. Palmero and Clemens hit safely and Prez sacrificed. Zimmerman's poke counted Palmero, and a sacrifice fly let the latter drive in the shortstop's run. Palmero got by for three innings. In the fourth after Graham rolled out Daley, Williams offering go thru his legs. Kocher hit to centre to let them both count. Ball walked, but Rath and Cook felled miserably, the former fanning and the latter driving into the shortstop's hands.

A fine chance was wasted in the sixth. With two out, Kocher walked and Ball singled, but Rath died easily. This was all the scoring. League was at second base in place of Wares, who injured himself on Monday.

Winnipeg Scottish and Lancashires Meet in First Game Tonight at Stadium.

The Winnipeg Scottish, accompanied by E. Bailey Fisher, H. Foster and J. Sutherland, arrived in the city yesterday morning for their Dominion championship game with Toronto Lancashires. They will play the day after tomorrow in the ball games and a show at night. They will be tendered a civic reception today.

President Fisher announced that there must be no more games to keep in line with the elimination final. He stated that the Winnipeg team, after traveling 8,000 miles, had to play the Dominion event, and it should not be any hardship on the Lancashires, who are practically at home. They will, therefore, be a game on Wednesday evening and one on Thursday evening, the team scoring the most goals in the two games to be declared the winner of the cup. On each evening the kick-off will be at six o'clock. A reception has been appointed referee, with W. S. Murchie as reserve.

Orchard F.C. players are requested to be at Appleton avenue on Thursday at 6:45 p.m. for practice, providing they do not receive notice of postponed league game. At St. Thomas—St. Thomas and Guelph played a 14-inning tie yesterday in one of the best ball games seen here in years. The game was finally called on account of darkness. Fulton, star of the St. Thomas team, played a magnificent game, hitting left field for St. Thomas, started his brilliant catch of a terrific smash by Schaefer in the 10th inning, preventing what threatened to be a Guelph victory. Howick pitched a magnificent game, the visitors getting to him in but one inning, the tenth, when they bunched hits off him for two runs. Score: R. H. E. Guelph, 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-2 8 3. St. Thomas, 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-2 7 1. Batteries—Greenwell, Kiley and Fisher; Howick and Lage.

Eight Straight for Dodgers Over Cubs

At Chicago (National)—The Brooklyn club won its eighth straight game from Chicago yesterday when it defeated the local 3 to 1. It was their third straight win in the 19th inning, preventing more than 2 to 1, but Adams generosity in passes and his fumble of a sacrifice hit, together with opportunity leading, cost the local the game. No Chicago player bunched second until the ninth, when he hit. Score: R. H. E. Brooklyn, 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0-3 4 1. Chicago, 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-1 9 1. Batteries—Smith and McCarty; Seabel, Adams and Gibson.
