Marguerite listened—half dazed as she was—to the fast-retreating, firm footsteps of the four men.

All nature was so still that she, lying with her ear close to the ground, could distinctly trace the sound of their tread, as they ultimately turned into the road, and presently the faint echo of the old cart-wheels, the halting gait of the lean nag, told her that her enemy was a quarter of a league away.

This time it was quite unmistakable, only one particular pair of essentially British lips could have uttered those words, in sleepy, drowsy, affected tones. "Damn!" repeated those same British lips, emphatically. "Zounds! but I'm as weak as a rat!"

In a moment Marguerite was on her feet. "Was she dreaming? Were those great, story cliffs the gates of paradise? Was the fragrant breath of the breeze suddenly caused by the flutter of angels' wings, bringing tidings of unearthly joys to her, after all her sufferings, or—just and if—was she the prey of delirium?"

She listened again, and once again she heard the same very faintly spoken words, good, honest British language, not the least akin to whisperings from paradise or flutter of angels' wings.

She looked round her eagerly at the tall cliffs, the lonely hut, the great stretch of rocky beach. Somewhere there, above or below her, behind a boulder, or inside a crevice, but still hidden from her longingly feverish eyes, must be the owner of that voice, which once used to irritate her, but which now would make her the happiest woman in Europe, if only she could locate it.

"Percy! Percy!" she shrieked hysterically, tortured between hope and hope, "I am here! Come to me! Where are you? Percy! Percy!"

"It's all very well calling me, 'm'dear!' said the same sleepy, drowsy voice, 'but odd's my life, I cannot come to you; those damned frog-eaters have trussed me like a goose on a spit, and I am as weak as a mouse. . . I cannot get away.'"

And still Marguerite did not understand. She did not realize for at least another ten seconds whence came that voice, so strange, so dear, but alas with a strange accent of weakness and suffering. There was no one within sight . . . except by that rock . . . God! the Jew!

Was she mad or dreaming? . . . His back was against the pale moonlight, he was half crouching, trying vainly to raise himself with his arms lengthened and pinioned. Marguerite ran up to him, took his hand in both her hands . . . and looked straight into a pair of blue eyes, good-natured, even a trifle amused—shining out of the weird and distorted mask of the Jew.

"Percy! . . . Percy! . . . my husband! she gasped, faint with the fulness of her joy. "Thank God! Thank God!"

"In a moment," he rejoined, good-humoredly, "we will both do that anon, an you think you can loosen these damned ropes, and release me from my inelegant attitude."

She had no knife, her fingers were numb and weak, but she worked away with her teeth, while great welcome tears poured from her eyes, onto those pinioned hands.

"Odd's my life!" he said, when at last, after frantic efforts on her part, the ropes seemed at last to be giving away, "but marvel whether it has ever happened before, that an English gentleman allowed himself to be licked by a damned foreigner, and make no attempt to give as good as he got."

It was very obvious that he was exhausted from sheer physical pain, and when at last the gods gave way, he fell in a heap against the rock.

IMPORTANT RESOLUTIONS AT CLOSING OF WORLD'S W. C. T. U.

Boston, Oct. 20.—Amid great enthusiasm the triennial convention of the World's Christian Temperance Union and the greatest convention that organization has had in its history, since it was formed in this city fifteen years ago, came to an end late today. The following officers elected today, will serve during the next three years:

President, the Countess of Carlisle, Castle Howard, York, England. Vice-presidents at large, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, Portland (Me.), Honorary secretaries, Miss Agnes E. Slack, Ripley, England; Miss Anna A. Gordon, Edinburgh. Treasurer, Mrs. Mary E. Sanderson, Danville, Quebec.

The matter of the next meeting place was left to the executive committee, consisting of the officers, invitations having been received to Sydney (N. S. W.), London and Glasgow. Members of the union from all parts of the world have attended the convention, which officially opened on Thursday, Tremont Temple, where the sessions have been held, has been elaborately draped with flags of all nations and the symbolic white ribbon, and portraits of departed leaders in the union have occupied places on the wall above the platform. On every one of the three days of the convention the great auditorium has been crowded, hundreds of visitors occupying the balconies.

The executive committee then presented the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, that we reaffirm our adherence to the principle of total abstinence as the corner stone of our organization, and we are greatly encouraged by the increasing volume of scientific and physiological evidence in support of this position, which is in harmony with the spirit of Christ's teaching.

"Whereas, the purity of national life is dependent upon the purity of individual life.

"Resolved, that we believe in an equal standard of purity for men and women, and that standard always the highest."

"Resolved, that we are opposed to all state regulation of vice and shall endeavor to secure in all countries legal protection for the innocent and defenseless and impartial punishment for all offenders.

"Whereas, the action of the second liquor conference may do much to diminish poverty, distress and injustice between nations, therefore.

"Resolved, that we earnestly petition the King of Great Britain, the president of the United States and the official heads of each other government in the world to use their influence to support the resolution, the late international conference to the end that there be established a general arbitration treaty, a peacemaking assembly, immunity on private property, sea in time of war, the reference of international disagreements to an impartial tribunal of investigation, before declaration of war, and a proportionate limitation of armaments.

"Resolved, that the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union be urged to study the significance of these specific measures and to arouse discussion on them on the part of clergy, teachers, editors, business men and all other persons of influence.

"Whereas, the liquor traffic in all nations is the great foe to righteousness in the individual, the home, the church and the state, we hereby declare our opposition to all forms of license, whether high or low, state control or public management, and we reaffirm our belief in the principle that the prohibition is the only solution of the liquor problem, and that we will not cease our efforts until in all lands law and custom shall unite to overthrow the liquor traffic.

"Whereas, the ballot is the mightiest weapon in a representative government for the defense of the home, and, therefore, we hereby declare our opposition to the franchise for women on the same terms as men."

In addition, the executive committee presented the customary resolutions of the convention, which were adopted as follows:

"Resolved, that the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union be urged to study the significance of these specific measures and to arouse discussion on them on the part of clergy, teachers, editors, business men and all other persons of influence.

It was voted to leave the disposition of all unfinished business to the executive committee.

MANY TRIBUTES OF RESPECT AND LOVE FOR MISS J. E. MCKELVEY

A large concourse of sorrowing friends attended the funeral of Miss Jessie E. McKelvey, only daughter of John McKelvey, of the customs department, yesterday afternoon. Rev. A. Graham and Rev. L. A. McLean conducted the services at the house and at Fernhill, where interment was made. There were no pall-bearers; members of the family carrying the casket to the funeral car and to the place of interment. The funeral carriage left the house shortly after 2 o'clock and was one of the largest seen in St. John in recent years, the procession being over a quarter mile in length.

The early ending of a bright young life will be felt keenly by Miss McKelvey's friends, as she was a valued member of character made her a general favorite. OBITUARY

The news of the death of Emil Hansen, which took place at his residence, 9 Magazine street, yesterday, after a short illness, will be heard with regret by his many friends. Mr. Hansen was the youngest son of the late Sir Hans Christian Hansen, of Copenhagen, Denmark, and was forty-five years of age. He married Teresa Williams, of Paradise Row, and a sister of Mrs. Wm. Nansbury, of California, who is the mother of the well known actress, May Nansbury. Had Mr. Hansen lived until today he would have been twenty-one years married. He is survived by his wife and nine children, the oldest of whom is a daughter in her twentieth year. Mr. Hansen, by profession, was a painter, but he was able to turn his hands to many kinds of employment. For some time previous to his being taken sick he had been working for the Rockporters' Fathers on St. Peter's church. Mr. Hansen was a man who made many friends and much sympathy will be felt for his family on their bereavement.

SCOTCH SETTLERS FOR NOVA SCOTIA

DIGBY, N. S., Oct. 18.—Options are being taken on a large number of abandoned farms on the North Mountain in Kings county, by persons in close touch with the provincial government, to whom it is believed they will be sold, in connection with a scheme for bringing out Scotch settlers to the province. For some two years now, the boards of trade have been urging government action in regard to the securing of permanent settlers, and the government declared itself ready to give consideration to any scheme which promised a successful issue. The trouble hitherto has been that old countrymen coming to Nova Scotia were unmercifully fleeced, as their land made them to purchase most unpromising farms, at exorbitant prices. The present plan would obviate this difficulty.

Mrs. William Hurley, of Halifax, who has been visiting friends here, has returned home.

Mrs. Robertson, wife of Dr. Robt. Robertson, returned home Saturday from a visit to friends in Boston.

They reached there, got their load, which filled the sailboat and a dory that they had in tow. They sailed for home on Tuesday evening, but never reached there. A strong northeasterly wind was blowing when they started and they set out under the

MONTREAL COMMENT ON STOCK MARKETS

(Montreal Witness, Friday)

While financial New York is not apprehensive of the political situation, it is certainly sufficiently in doubt of the ultimate outcome of the struggle to make aggressive operations out of the question. M. Hearst has a distinctly strong feeling against the present situation, and although present indications point to him being badly beaten, it is not at the same time a self-evident proposition that his defeat will be complete.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The market has been floating on an even keel. Securities prices have maintained a firmness, with no particular advances. Confidence seems to possess the holders of securities as well as the large interests that the outcome of the elections will be favorable to the conservative element, and the need of public utility stocks, which would be most affected by the success of Hearst and his radical followers, display no signs of weakness, here on the stock exchange.

TONIGHT'S MEETING. The main question which is to be considered by the board of trade committee on harbor improvements this evening being they make up their report is that relating to the closing up of the west channel and the straightening out of the east channel.

Mr. Cote some years ago, Mr. Shown at a later period, and the transportation commission still later recommended the closing of the west channel. Many citizens also favor it. Some, however, do not. It is largely to give the latter an opportunity to state their views that the meeting is to be held this evening.

THE DREDGING

About the time it was decided to send the dredge inspectors to Boston this paper dissented from the strongly expressed views of some aldermen and some members of the board of trade that the dredge should be purchased. That dissent is justified by the report of the inspectors. They would not recommend the purchase of the old dredge.

It appears, however, that there is a new dredge, which would cost about $100,000 and the duty, which they would consider good value if the city really must have a dredge and has work or can secure work for it to do. For this dredge account would have to be provided.

There should be no difficulty in deciding this question. There are sturdy persons who can tell how much there is to be done and how much the dredges now here can do in a given time.

THE DEEPER THINGS

A minister in a city pulpit yesterday protested against that spirit, whether material or spiritual matters, which would accept everything as finished, and merely be content to accept what the past has delivered to humanity.

does the span of one little human life, and its effort, amount to in the whole of life and the whole of the universe—why need I care? The speaker answered this query with another: "What if all assumed that attitude—and nobody cared?" Obviously there would be an end of all human progress and a return to barbarism.

There is ground for much individual thought and self-examination in this suggestion. Put the case in another way. What if everybody cared—and everybody sought to carry forward to greater fruition the labors of bygone generations for the good and the true? Obviously then the woman who on Saturday evening, drunken and profane, attracted a crowd on one of the streets of this city would be a sober woman; the man who left a considerable share of his week's pay in the saloons would take it home to his wife and children; the fortunate man would not be unmindful of the woes of less fortunate neighbors; the politician would not offer nor the voter accept a bribe; the minister would more often get within hailing distance of the real problems that press upon the hearts of his hearers; the end of social life would be selfish pleasure, but the general good; and in that great and unending creative process man's work from generation to generation would yield ever greater and grander fruits.

It is well that a voice betimes should break in upon the commercial or social, or even upon their religious self-complacency, and give attention if but for half an hour upon that which transcends the material, and is not bounded by the limits of a human life, but which nevertheless makes for human happiness and the world's best development. The golden age, to quote again from the minister, was not in the past; it is ever in the future. It is in the power of every human soul to contribute toward the realization, and to find in the effort a foregleam of the very joy of attainment.

The work of the school board commissioners shows that there are children at work in St. John who ought to be at school. Of course this is not news. The important fact is that the work now begun will result in the discovery of all such children and the guarantee that they shall not be deprived of their right to the benefit of the schools.

The annual meeting of the Associated Charities, which will be held in the board of trade rooms tomorrow evening should be largely attended, in order that citizens generally may become more familiar with the work of this very valuable and important social organization.

The late Hon. P. G. Ryan, though for quite a number of years living in retirement, was for a very considerable period a force in provincial politics. He was a capable administrator, and was respected by political opponents as well as by those of his own party.

The education bill, the Irish question and the labor question are considered likely to give the British government a good deal of trouble in the session that opens tomorrow.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The Ellis Co. will open up their third week by presenting tonight at the Opera House the beautiful pastoral play of Down on the Farm, a companion play to Way Down East, to be followed by the comedy An American Citizen. The next week Miss Helen Ambrey will appear in the title role of that strong play Zira, in which a St. John girl, Miss Margaret Anglin, made such a hit in New York last year. The sale is now on. New features will be introduced next week.

FELL FROM TRAIN AND WAS KILLED

Montreal, Oct. 21.—Homer Taylor, of Taylor & Bros., a Montreal firm dealing in railway supplies, was killed on Saturday, falling from the rear end of a train near Altonville, on the C. P. R. line between Ottawa and Montreal. At Altonville Mr. Taylor remained in the lunch room until his train started but after a chase he caught the rear end of the last car. Getting a foothold he found the vestibule door closed so that it was impossible for him to open it from the outside.

For several minutes Taylor, who was 40 years of age, hung to the steps before he was discovered in his precarious condition, but just as the parcel car conductor noticed the sweating figure of a man on the steps and opened the door to clutch him, Taylor lost his hold and fell from the train, which was running 60 miles an hour. When picked up the old man was dead from a crushed skull.

Taylor was a prominent golfer and a lifelong member of the Dominion Commercial Travellers.

CHURCH PARADE AT HALIFAX

Halifax, Oct. 21.—The entire garrison, regular and militia, had a grand parade this afternoon to two of the Halifax churches, where divine service was held. An informal inspection was held by Colonel Drury in front of the Public Gardens after the service.

The churches and Sunday school people are indulging in a vigorous kick on account of the parade, which consumed the whole afternoon and which they say demoralized the attendance of children at the Sunday schools. They allege that the affair was not a genuine church parade but was too much of an inspection and more spectacle, which should have been confined to a week day and not spread over school hours on Sunday.

Miss Jennie O'Neill left for New York Saturday evening.

A CHURCH ROMANCE. It is reported that Thomas Hardy is turning back from poetry to fiction. His poetry, the most notable of which being the dramatic epic called "The Dynasts," has received much adverse comment both in England and America. The following specimen may be said to show an unusual smoothness of literary diction. (Circa 1880).

In the high parish tower until her night swept the west gully, and caught its row of music-men with viol book and bow. Assist the sinking and tower-window light. She turned again; and in her pride's despite One strenuous viol's inspirer seemed to show. A message from his strings to her below, Which said: "I claim thee as my own for ever!"

IN LIGHTER VEIN. A NECESSARY PRECEDENT. "I wonder what caused their divorce?" "Their marriage." "EASY." "Does your wife always want money?" "No; she always wants wood, and stove, and groceries and easy things like that."

HE DOESN'T CARE. "That is a terrible scandal caused by the marriage between Mrs. Howard Gould's sister and a Chinaman, isn't it?" "From an American point of view; but the Chinese don't mind scandals." HIS SCHEME. A beautiful woman named Esther met a man in the dark who caresther. And she raved such a row. That her husband explained how He'd arranged the whole thing just to testher.

SEVERE LOSS BY FIRE AT RESERVE MINES. Sydney, N. S., Oct. 21.—The bank-head and machine shop of the Reserve mine of the Dominion Coal Company was destroyed by fire this morning. The conflagration originated in a pile of slack coal and shales immediately beneath the bank-head. The colliery brigade turned out, but were unable to save the property. Had it not been for a favorable wind the car compressor house and other buildings would have been burnt down.

Yacht on Which Two Men Were Killed and Three Others Seriously Burned

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Two men were killed and three others seriously burned by the explosion of a steam pipe on the 'Colonia', a yacht owned by Commodore Frederick G. Bourne, of the New York Yacht Club, as she was about to leave Oyster Bay for New York at noon on the 14th inst.

THE DEAD. Hipp, Alfred, fireman, 33, Brooklyn; burned on face, arms and legs, died at Nassau Hospital, Mineola. Southard, James, fireman, scalded on shoulders, legs and arms, died at Nassau Hospital, Mineola.

THE INJURED. Edwards, James, 38 years, Brooklyn; scalded by steam and burned by fire, may die; in Nassau Hospital, Mineola. Leonard, John, chief engineer, Mason street, Brooklyn; scalded face, arms and body; in Nassau Hospital, Mineola; will recover.

O'Hara, James, stoker, Brooklyn; burned about limbs and body; may recover. While John Leonard was suffering great pain in the Nassau Hospital at Mineola, he detailed to a Herald reporter the nature of the accident and told, between gasps of pain, the heroic work of Captain Finn, assistant engineer, and Conrad Goldstein, a fireman.

There were no preparations except to get up sufficient steam to leave the harbor at Oyster Bay. Mr. Leonard was in the fire room superintending an inspection of the boilers when the pipe, known as a manifold, burst. Before the men had been fairly knocked to the floor of the room the scalding steam enveloped them.

They were blinded, and Leonard was the only man who retained consciousness. He dragged himself to the door of the fire room and Fimm and Goldstein placed him there. They could not see the men in the fire room, but located them by their groans. Fimm and Goldstein assisted Leonard to the engine room, from which he was driven back by the blast of hot air, but he muffled his head and entered the steam again.

Goldstein was equally courageous. They found two men and dragged them to the door, then they filled their lungs with air and returned. It was a terrific task to enter the fire room, filled as it was with clouds of scalding steam, but Fimm and Goldstein did not hesitate.

They entered the room and stumbled over O'Hara and Edwards. Southard and Hipp had been passed to other members of the crew on the first visit to the fire room. Signals for assistance made by Captain Peter Breitfeld, of the 'Colonia', brought to the yacht, which lay off Moses Point, a half mile, a fleet of launches from the Seawanhaka Yacht Club, and in them the injured were taken ashore and laid on the lawn of the club house.

Uncle Sam's Troubles in the Philippines. Complaint of Gen. Wood About Poor Material in the Army—Nettled by Japanese Criticism—Bodily Exercise One Secret of President Roosevelt's Ability to do Hard Brain Work.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—We need much of the deadwood in the line and staff cleaned out of our Philippine Army," says Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood in his annual report to the War Department. "Moreover, while I realize that shot guns and bolos are not supposed to be furnished to a regular army, bolos are so necessary to guerrilla warfare that if the government does not provide them it will be necessary for soldiers to purchase them themselves."

WAS CHARMED WITH THE WEST

P. H. Green, photographer, returned on Saturday after a very pleasant five weeks' trip to the west, going through to Vancouver. Like all others who have toured the west, Mr. Green is enthusiastic over the great developments in progress all along the line. He stopped off, among other places, at Winnipeg, Moose Jaw, Regina, Calgary, Banff, and in the Okanagan valley. The latter, he says, is to be the California of Canada. Men from the east and from the states are buying land and planting orchards of peaches, pears, apples, etc., and the yield on matured orchards is very large. The soil is very fertile and the climate almost perfect. At towns in the west are going ahead by leaps and bounds. Both farm lands and city properties are rising in value. He met many American investors who are seeking out and buying up farm lands. The wheat crop this year is of excellent quality, as well as a record crop in quantity. Mr. Green met many eastern men, among them John E. Irvine, in Calgary, where the former St. John man is doing well and is happy. Mr. Knight, also from St. John, is successful Calgary grower. It is one of the brightest towns in the west.

THE UNIFORM RANK KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

A New Company to be Organized at Charlottetown This Week--Others in Prospect.

Alfred Dodge, adjutant of the 1st Regt., uniform rank, Knights of Pythias, of the maritime provinces, will leave tomorrow for Charlottetown, P. E. I., where he will officiate at the organization of a new company of the uniform rank. Adjt. Dodge will be accompanied by Capt. A. J. Tingley, of Moncton, and Capt. Stewart McLeod, of New Glasgow. Grand Chancellor H. G. Marr, of Halifax, will also attend.

The new company will start with a charter membership of about twenty-five. The organization meeting will be held on Wednesday evening and will be followed by a reception for the visiting officers. On Thursday evening the grand chancellor will officially inaugurate the lodge, No. 18, and a reception will be tendered him. The new uniform rank company will be known as Victor, No. 7. Considerable interest is being manifested in the uniformed branch of the order and there is talk of other companies being formed in various parts of the province which are now not represented in this portion of the order.

THE SCARLET MYSTERY

The York Theatre will be occupied on Wednesday by the "Scarlet Mystery," a mysterious company of artists from London, who are making their first appearance in Canada under the direction of Edward Branscombe. The company number eight performers, all of whom not only enjoy English reputations, but claim individually to excel in some "specialty." The performances given are musical, and of a humorous character throughout, the programme including the concerted recitations of choruses with action and dances songs both comic and romantic, burlesques in character, funny dialogues, sentimental and serious quartets, comic monodies and dances.

These alert entertainers promise to provide a thoroughly bright and cheerful programme, and throughout in spirited fashion, making fast and furious fun, without the introduction of any element of vulgarity. By adopting these lines they have been able to secure the patronage not only of the ordinary theatre-goer, but to also attract from both clergy and laity. Referring to these performances, we quote the following from a London paper: "The entertainment was one of the happiest, and the happiest I have attended for some time. It was carried through without a break in the gayest spirit, so that the audience were quite carried out of themselves for the time being. Songs--all admirably rendered--succeeded one another in rapid succession, the concerted numbers with action and dance were excellent, burlesques and comic melodies followed by just and quip; lightning sketches, a directing business not to mention a screamingly funny "sketch" all capably carried out, constituted an entertainment which afforded one of the most delightful methods of passing an evening that could be devised." Seats now on sale at the box office.
