LIMIT OUTSIDE LABOR TO 30 DAYS

St. John Assessment Bill Before Committee.

P. R. Officials Ask for Exemption for Railways and Object to the Collection of Taxes by Employers—The Matter Goes to a Private Session.

(Official Report.) Committee Report, Fredericton, N. B., March 28.—The municipalities committee met this morning, with Mr. Hayes in the chair, and took up consideration of a bill relating to assessment in the city of St. John. Mayor Schofield, commissioners Bullock and Frink appeared for the City of St. John. County Engineer J. King, Kelly and Councilors Campbell and O'Brien of the municipality of St. John; Chief Engineer Frink and F. R. Taylor, K. C., for the P. R.; G. R. Melvin, for the N. B. Labor Federation, and J. F. Winslow appeared in connection with the bill. The session relative to the taxation of transient labor was the subject of much discussion. Mr. D. W. Meserve said that he had been an employee of the Canadian Pacific Railway and knew the manner in which the railway had taken special employes from place to place on its system to perform small repairs of such work. If the section were amended as he did not believe he could support the bill. Chief Engineer Kirby urged that railways be exempt. Transient labor had to be employed constantly. Councilor Campbell said that he was a P. R. employe himself, but he favored this legislation which the railway opposed. What the parish of Lancaster wanted was a just assessment on a certain class of labor which had been brought in by various companies, had worked for several months and left without the parish receiving a cent. Chief Engineer Kirby said that a head tax worked an injustice. He cited the case of a bridge crew from Fredericton Junction and vicinity harassed by tax collectors while working a few days. Hon. Dr. Roberts suggested that Mr. Taylor prepare an amendment which would exempt the transient labor from a tax which he could see no way why he should prepare a bill for three months that a time limit of three months be imposed for transient labor. PRESSING FOR TRANSFER OF ITS RESOURCES

Winnipeg, March 29.—The legislature yesterday passed unanimously a resolution proposed by Premier Norris for transfer of its natural resources to the province. It calls for an accounting on a fiduciary basis since the province confederated and urges the establishment of an arbitration board to deal with details.

LATE SPORT NEWS

Spokane, March 29.—Ivan Semens, 175 pound wrestler, suffered a temporary cerebral dislocation, resulting in blindness when he was hurled on his head in the fourth round of a wrestling bout with Tom Grant here last night. The referee awarded the decision to Grant. Philadelphia, March 29.—The Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals were scheduled to play the third game of their exhibition series today at Beaumont, Texas, while the Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals were scheduled to play the fourth game of the exhibition series today at Beaumont, Texas, while the Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals were scheduled to play the fifth game of the exhibition series today at Beaumont, Texas. The Phillies overwhelped the Florida champions 20 to 0 yesterday. Washington, March 29.—The Washington Americans won a heavy stake to overcome a seven run lead and take the fifth game from the Boston Nationals at Tampa, Florida, yesterday, 12 to 9, which gave them the edge on the series. Zachary, starting for Washington, spotted the Braves a seven run lead in the first inning, but McGridge, his successor, proved a complete rube and held the Nationals leaguers useless until the Nationals started their scoring in the fifth. Washington had been unable to do anything in the four innings in which Marquard worked but lambasted the next three Boston pitchers, Desjardis, Conroy and Miller. Jewett to Chicago Sale. Fredericton, N. B., March 29.—Harry Jewett, owner of the Exposer, 2,06, and other well known horses, has gone to Chicago for the horse sale, there this week. He has been carrying on negotiations for the purchase of several horses owned in Illinois. Amherst, N. S., March 29.—The Amherst News says that St. Patrick's victory over Vancouver has been hailed as a triumph in "Red" Stuart's hometown. Greater interest was occasioned in the St. Pat's by the fact that four Nova Scotians served with the team during the season, Stuart, Stackhouse, Nolan and Jackson. Ken Randall also played hockey in the province. Only three of the number broke into the series, Stuart and Randall playing important parts.

DISAPPEARING

An old land mark, known as the cannon house, and situated at the top of Fort Howe hill, is slowly being dismantled. The small structure is on the highest peak of the hill, overlooking the harbor, and for many years it was customary for the caretaker of the magazine to host the Union Jack on the attached to the building. A few days ago lightning struck and demolished it in half and it was never replaced.

London Conference For Betterment In Ireland Is Begun

Five From Ulster, Four From South Meet Churchill in Formal Conclave—The Army Troubles—More Outrages Throughout Country.

(Canadian Press Cable.) London, March 29.—The conference of northern and southern Ireland and the British government began this morning, the discussion being the Irish crisis, and with much official secrecy. The conference was probably the most thoroughly representative held in London since the earliest days of the peace negotiations and it was the first time the north and south had been brought together in a formal conclave of this kind. The leading representatives were: For northern Ireland: Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, and the Marquis of Londonderry. For south Ireland: Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, and Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail. For the imperial government: Winston Churchill, secretary for the colonies, who presided, and Lord Birkenhead, the lord chancellor. At the conclusion of the meeting no word was given out as to the proceedings of the conference.

London, March 29.—London today again became the centre of interest in the efforts to pacify Ireland, with the opening of a conference called by the imperial government to consider the situation growing out of the recent disorders. The meeting was to be under the presidency of the imperial secretary for colonies, Winston Churchill. Five members of the Ulster government and four southern ministers are attending, and some members of the British cabinet besides Secretary Churchill will be present at part of the time. Premier Lloyd George, who left last night for Chequers Court, his country home, was not expected to return to the conference, and it is understood he will take no direct part in it. Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail, and one of the leading southern delegates, had a preliminary talk last night with Secretary Churchill. Today Premier Sir James Craig, of Ulster, had an interview with Mr. Churchill.

Sir James Craig, accompanied by the Marquis of Londonderry, minister of education, and Lieut.-Col. W. B. Spencer, secretary for the Ulster cabinet, arrived this morning soon after Michael Collins and two other representatives of the provisional government reached London. Press despatches today reported all quiet in Belfast, and the correspondent of the Evening News ventures the opinion that the warring elements have called a truce until the results of the conference shall become known. Dublin, March 29.—Michael Collins last evening, prior to his departure for London, commented on the speeches delivered in the Ulster parliament yesterday by Sir James Craig. Mr. Collins repudiated the assertion that he had kept Sir James or anybody else in the dark. He referred to Clause 12 of the Anglo-Irish treaty, which lays down the boundaries shall be determined in accordance with the wishes of the inhabitants, as far as is compatible with economic and geographical conditions. "I stand by my signature and the treaty," Mr. Collins added.

Police Barracks Raided. Belfast, March 29.—The police barracks at Belcoo, near the Fermanagh-Cavan border, were raided last night by armed men who crossed the Cavan county border, which is only 100 yards distant. Of the garrison of twenty one Royal Constabulary and special constables, only six escaped. The other fifteen, with all the post's arms and ammunition, were captured, and taken to the Free State territory. A party of Ulster specials patrolling the Armagh-Louth frontier were fired upon when they inadvertently crossed into Free State territory. One constable was wounded. The fire was returned with unknown results. A freight and mail train bound from Belfast to Dublin was derailed by a large party of armed men near Newry early today. Nine cars, including the mail car and their contents were burned by the raiders. The postal staff escaped. In consequence of this incident the Great Northern Railway has decided to suspend operations of all main line trains out of Belfast at night, with the exception of locals.

GIRL KILLED IN DEFENCE OF HOME

Dublin, March 29.—Armed men yesterday raided the home of a farmer named Dominick Horan, near Stradale, County Mayo, the birthplace of the late Michael Davitt. The daughters of Horan held back the raiders until their father and brothers made their escape through a back door. During the raid the men fired at the girls, one of whom was badly wounded that she died later in a hospital. One of the raiders also was wounded. The supposition is that he was accidentally shot, owing to darkness, by one of his companions.

Constable's Brother Shot

Belfast, March 29.—Wm. Fleming was shot and fatally wounded this morning in his farm in County Armagh, while carrying water for breakfast. He died in the Armagh Infirmary. Fleming's brother is a member of the special constabulary and the attack is believed to have been in reprisal for the shooting of Constable's brother.

NATIONALIST TURKS MAY WRECK NEAR EAST PEACE PLANS

London, March 29.—The latest news from Ankara indicates a strong majority against accepting the Allies' proposals for a Near Eastern settlement, says a Constantinople despatch to the Evening News today. The main objection of the Turkish Nationalists is to the award of Adrianople and the Gallipoli peninsula to the Greeks. It is believed, asserts the despatch, that the entire settlement scheme will probably be wrecked on this point.

"Look-a-her!" said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to the Times reporter, "I want you to say in the paper that Silas Jones did rob a hen roost." "I must decline," said the reporter. "What's a newspaper fer?" demanded Hiram. "To give the news and keep the staff out of jail," said the reporter. "You're always knockin' somebody," said Hiram. "I've heard it said all a feller hed to do was fix you right in 'ya, you say anything?" "Well," said the reporter, "I'll print that. Go on." "Aint that enough?" demanded Hiram. "What hev you got to say about it?" "That the lars are not all in the news paper offices," said the reporter. "I'm so. An' I guess you're mo're'n half right at that—yes, sir."

The proposal will be submitted to the railway association of Canada by the workers' organization next month as a counter proposal to the request of the association for changes in the existing agreement. CONCENTRATE ON ULSTER

Dublin, March 29.—Republican members of the Dail at a meeting here yesterday adopted a resolution proposing immediate suspension of the political campaign in Southern Ireland in order to concentrate on the situation in Ulster. The resolution declared that the division in the Dail and the country was caused solely by the proposal to accept the Anglo-Irish treaty, and asked that the Dail cabinet and the majority in the Dail proceed no further with their campaign, allowing public attention to be concentrated on the situation in Ulster. Owen O'Duffy, chief of staff of the Irish Republican Army, has issued a statement declaring that all officers and men are relieved of the responsibility of obeying orders given by any superior officer who served his connection with the army through attending the "irregular" convention of last Sunday or who recognizes the "so-called" executive council election by the convention. The organizers of the convention claim to have eighty per cent. of the army with them.

THEEVES BACK TRUCK INTO LIQUOR DEPOT

New York, March 29.—Whiskey thieves invaded the Ocean Storage Warehouse, 163 Pacific street, Brooklyn, used by the government as a depository for confiscated liquor, and after holding up three men at pistol point, made away with 151 cases of an auto truck which they backed into the warehouse. Seven men, described as roughly dressed, some of them in khaki shirts, participated in the hold-up. A heavy traffic flow through the neighborhood at all hours of the night, and several garages and stables are near the warehouse. Representatives of the District Attorney's office, called for the purpose of devising a uniform method of procedure in the civil prosecution of drug law violations. Ralph Day, State Prohibition Enforcement Director, and his assistants, including William H. Anderson of the Anti-Saloon League, had received threatening letters from time to time. "I've since have held this office I have been receiving letters, postals and telephone calls threatening my life," he said. "Skills and cross-bones, smoking revolvers, and pincered hearts are among the inscription on the epistles. The wording of a great many communications of this character to the effect that if a man is going to shoot me he is apt to do it first and explain afterward."

London, March 29.—Premier Lloyd George, it is authoritatively said, will himself move a resolution in the House of Commons inviting a vote of confidence in his Genoa policy. Proposals for securing cessation of the practice of issuing uncovered paper money in Europe will be included in the programme of the Genoa conference, so Lieut. Commander E. H. Young, financial secretary of the treasury, announced in the House of Commons yesterday. He said the British delegates would do their utmost to secure such action.

TRAINER CLAWED BY LION

Thomas Wilmoth, a lion trainer in the circus, was badly clawed by one of the lions during a dress rehearsal in Madison Square Garden, New York. The lions were in the centre cage and were going through their act when one of them, excited by the lights and noise of the first exhibition under cover, lashed out with his paw at Wilmoth. The trainer seized a chair and, holding it in front of him, backed to the entrance of the cage and got out. His arm was deeply cut, but he will be able to go on with his act when the circus opens.

SUSTAINED BY 120 MAJORITY

Record is Made in Commons at Ottawa.

Conservative Strength But 42 on Vote of Non-confidence in the King Government—Crerar Applauded as He States Position.

(Canadian Press) Ottawa, March 29.—For the first time this session, the House of Commons divided yesterday—and the government, sustained by the Progressives, had a majority of 120. The division came on a straight motion of want of confidence and after a long afternoon of fighting, of recrimination and charges of broken faith. It was a sequel to the bitter debate of Tuesday. Then Conservatives had charged the government with repudiating a pledge to give cash grants to returned men. Yesterday, the charge was repeated and, in a formal motion, presented by Col. Arthur of Farry Sound, the House was asked to declare that the present attitude of the government constituted a "repudiation of a solemn obligation and a disregard of political honor."

Col. Arthur's motion was submitted as an amendment to a meeting to go on supply and it was defeated on the following vote: Against 102, for 42. The progress of the division was followed with intense excitement. Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressives, had previously made it clear that he intended to vote with the government. "The resolution," Mr. Crerar exclaimed, "is a feature of the division and departure from political honor against the Liberal party. Were I convinced that it had a substantial foundation, I would not vote against it, but I am so convinced."

THE PUBLIC HEALTH

Some people, because they would rather see an increase in the death rate than in the taxes, and some other people because they appear to value a partisan advantage more than a human life, have done all in their little power to discredit Hon. Dr. Roberts and the New Brunswick Health Act.

It will occur to the reader of the speech of the minister that it is very fortunate indeed that there is a minister of health, and that it is thus made possible to have the highest deliberative body in the province and there fully debated. It is quite easy to make aspersions, to mislead and to arouse prejudice in small communities here and there, greatly to the detriment of the public health service; and a municipal partisan, clothed in a little brief authority, can sometimes create a hostile atmosphere where there should only be co-operation for the general good; and it is therefore both desirable and necessary that there should be on the floor of the legislature a responsible minister ready to meet and refute the false or misleading statements made about the department and its work, and that all the facts may be placed clearly before the elected representatives of the people.

If the people do not seize the present opportunity they will go on paying high taxes, without hope of the development that would come in the train of cheap light and power. It should not be hard to decide which is the wiser policy.

THE KINDERGARTEN.

One of the most striking testimonials to the value of the kindergarten that could be offered was the simple statement before the Free Kindergarten Association yesterday by Dr. Farris that at the East St. John hospital a kindergarten class is helping them to cure tuberculosis. There is a class of twenty children, and the kindergarten quickens their minds, introduces a new interest into their lives, brightens their outlook, and makes them more susceptible to treatment. Is not the like true in the school that is outside of the hospital? Does it not also tend to increase the resisting power of the child, who might under less favorable conditions be much less lively and healthy? The kindergarten does not weary the brain with studies, but it does set the children thinking and doing, and so makes their world larger, brighter and more full of interest and promise. Moreover, the child needing better clothing or better nourishment is revealed to those who sympathize and are ready to help. The kindergarten teacher is worthy of her hire. Her work calls for training, for a constant outpouring of sympathy, for a giving of herself to the work in an exacting way. Else she is not a true teacher and a successful one. And if she is a true teacher and successful, the value of her services is not to be reckoned in dollars and cents, especially if she gets barely enough to pay for her board and clothing, and is frequently tempted to give from her slender purse to brighten the lives of those under her care.

THE FREE CLINICS.

Dr. Farris says, basing his estimate on well established data, that there are at least six hundred unknown cases of tuberculosis in St. John. Every such case should be under treatment. It is especially important to get in touch with children who are infected. There are far too many advanced cases in hospital. There would seem to be few or none of such cases, with all the suffering, loss and grief which they involve. The cases of infected children were discovered and treated. The purpose of the three days' clinics in four different places in the city next week is to give a free examination of every person, young or old, who may have symptoms which would suggest the possibility of tubercular infection. The examination will be by experts and the only object is to discover cases and give the person, young or old, the best advice as to treatment to eradicate the disease. There is nothing to fear but everything to hope for in connection with these clinics. They offer free what would ordinarily cost money which many can ill afford. It is therefore desirable that every person who knows of a possibly infected child or adult should make a visit to one of the clinics next week.

The past history of the relations between the city and the New Brunswick Power Company does not make the citizens keen to hand over to it the distribution of the Musquash current.

Cheap light and power mean progress. The continuance of high rates means stagnation.

THE TAX BOGEY

Civic distribution of hydro will not result in increased taxation. The taxation bogey is being waved industriously before timid taxpayers who would shy off from civic ownership if they thought their taxes would be increased.

The users of the electric current will pay for it. Some financing will be necessary at the outset, until the market has been developed, but that is an ordinary business proposition, such as any private business concern would have to reckon with in starting a new enterprise.

It is beyond belief that any man who is or aspires to be a member of the city council would for a moment argue that civic control of hydro would increase the burden on the taxpayers. What it would do, in providing cheap light and power, would be to expand the city's industries and increase the number of taxpayers, thus lessening the burden upon individuals.

Between the present date and the date of the civic elections all kinds of bogeys will be produced to frighten timid people, in order that the New Brunswick Power Company may go on having everything its own way, but the experience of hundreds of Ontario municipalities where hydro has not increased taxation but reduced the cost of light and power and increased the number of taxpayers by attracting new industries, is the best answer to the scare-mongers in St. John.

If the people do not seize the present opportunity they will go on paying high taxes, without hope of the development that would come in the train of cheap light and power. It should not be hard to decide which is the wiser policy.

HAVE WE FAITH?

If any citizen expects that Mayor Schofield will shed any new light on the hydro question next Tuesday night he is doomed to disappointment. The cards are on the table. Messrs. Kirby and Phillips placed them there, and in doing so merely confirmed what had already been asserted by those who do not view the situation through the spectacles of the New Brunswick Power Company. The Hardware Clerks' Association, and later the United Organizations, saw the light before the Kirby-Phillips committee was appointed. Mr. Phillips himself had made the facts clear. So had Mr. Holgate of Montreal and the Mitchells of Toronto.

Ancient charts, before the Atlantic had been crossed by hardy voyagers, showed to the westward of the then known world the hand of Satan thrumming forth from a Sea of Darkness, warning adventurous souls not to risk the dangers of the terrible unknown. One would almost be led to believe that not less dreadful are the possibilities for this city if it should recklessly adventure forth upon the sea of civic ownership. We must wait, wait, wait. Soundings must be taken and there may be very few who are qualified to cast the lead.

And yet it is plain falling. The city is offered hydro-electric current at 1.2 cents per kilowatt hour. If it can take and sell 8,000,000 kilowatt hours it can make a rate of four cents. That it cannot do so at once goes without saying, but the man who says it cannot be done, and exceeded, in a few years, is a man with no faith in St. John. That is the real question—have we faith in St. John?

Referring to the demand that the citizens get the full benefit of the hydro development, the Standard says: "At the bottom of this whole agitation should cease from now on to be the determining factor in this situation." Who are the individuals whose "row" had such an effect upon the Hardware Clerks' Association and the other organizations now lined up for civic distribution of hydro? The organ of the New Brunswick Power Company should be more explicit.

The Conservatives at Ottawa were only able to muster 42 votes for a want of confidence motion yesterday. The King government had a majority of 120. The Progressives are not disposed to countenance purely factious opposition. They and the Liberals want to get on with the business. The result of this vote should tend to curb Mr. Meighen's young ambition for the immediate future.

SONGS FOR MUSIC

No. 3—Jack. While landmen are peacefully resting, At night 'neath the silent stars, Then Jack is the huge billows breasting, And seeking for sheltering bars; But whether the wild waves are sweeping, While thunder-storms rend the air, Or when they are vanquished and sleeping, 'Tis always the sailor's prayer— Over the bright waves dancing with glee, God speed our good ship over the sea, Back to the dear home where I long to be, Back to the lass that I love.

Brave Jack will the angry storm weather, And anchor in summer climes, But when his mates round him gather, He'll still sing the dear home rhymes; For no place to Jack can be fairer, Though all o'er the world he'll roam, And no dreams are sweeter or rarer To Jack than his dweener of home.

Over the bright waves dancing with glee, God speed our good ship over the sea, Back to the dear home where I long to be, Back to the lass that I love. HOPE A. THOMSON.

Breaking the News. "Bad news should be broken gently," said Otto Kahn, the New York financier, apropos of the failure of a bank. "The bank tried to do the thing gently, but it didn't succeed any better than the young sphenore who was expelled from college." "When this young man turned up at home with his belongings, his father said: "What are you doing here? A holiday?" "Yes, a holiday," said the boy. "A long one?" "A very long one. The fact is, dad, I'm not going back to college any more." "Don't say that, boy!" cried the father. "Don't say that! That institution has turned out some of the finest men our country boasts." "Yes, I know—it's turned me out," said the young man. —Detroit Free Press.

There were mutinous murmurs aboard a certain merchantman when word spread among the crew that the ship would not, after all, put in at the next port of call, but merely drop the mail into a small boat and go on. The ship had been put into a port for many weeks, and all the crew longed for a spell ashore. The disappointment was too much for one seaman, who, when a platoon was called, leaped into the sea and started to swim for the visible shore. The captain ordered the best swimmer in the crew to go after him and bring him back before he reached land. An excited lookout kept all on deck posted on the progress of the race. "He's gaining! He's gaining! Two hundred yards! Hundred yards! Fifty yards! In a dozen strokes he'll have him! Five more strokes! A yard to go! Great Scott!" "What is it? What is it?" asked the skipper. "Great Scott, sir, he's passed him!"

Proof. She looked at him dubiously after the proposal. "The man I marry," she said, "must be both brave and bold." "Well," he declared, "I think I can lay claim to both." "I didn't you are brave," he replied, "because you extended my life when that boat upset the other day, but that wasn't bravery, was it?" "I upset the boat?" "What is it?" "He's retored. 'I upset the boat'."

BOY START RACE FIGHT. Shots Fired in Clash Between Brooklyn Negroes and Italians. When four boys, two Italians and two negroes, were fighting at York and Adams streets, Brooklyn, the other day an Italian separated them and chased them home. Several negroes thought the Italian was beating the negro boys, and they assaulted him. Several Italian came to the rescue of their countrymen, and a lively fight resulted.

George Washington, negro, of 238 Clinton street, fired five shots, according to the police. The shots were wild. Patrolman James Murray chased Washington to 88 Front street, where he was visiting friends, and arrested him on a charge of felonious assault. An empty revolver was found under a bed.

MILIONS OF YEARS AGE OF THE "SHOE"

Specimen Found in Limestone of Triassic Period Amazes Scientists.

What appears to be the petrified sole of a carefully made shoe has been submitted by John T. Reid, a mining engineer of Lovelock, Nev., to Dr. James F. Kemp, Professor of Geology at Columbia University, and to Dr. William D. Matthew, Paleontologist of the American Museum of Natural History. If it is what it looks like, it is proof that human beings were walking about in shoes of finer workmanship than are made today on this continent between 100 million and 300 million years ago. The seeming fossil was found in blue limestone of the Triassic period on a summit in the southern extremity of the Hurricane Ranch range in Nevada.

Both Dr. Matthew and Dr. Kemp said that the object was the most surprising imitation by nature of the workmanship of man which had come to their attention, but that it was absolutely impossible that it could be a genuine fossil because the evidence was overwhelming that the case of human beings on earth was not over half a million years, whereas the Triassic rock of which the petri sole is made is so ancient.

Shows Lines of Stitches. It would fit nicely a boy of ten or twelve years. The edges are as smooth as if freshly cut. But the surprising part of it is what seems to be a double line of stitches, one near the outside edge of the sole and the other about a third of an inch inside the first. The "leather" is thicker inside the inner welt and appears to be slightly bevelled, so that at the margin, half an inch wide, which runs outside, the sole is something like an eighth of an inch thick. The symmetry is maintained perfectly throughout. The perfect lines pursued by the welt and the appearance of hundreds of minute holes through which the sole was sewed to the shoe are the things which make the object such an extraordinary freak in the eyes of the geologists who examined it.

Under a strong glass, Mr. Reid found that the tiny holes appeared with such regularity that it set at naught the laws of probability to believe that the thing was anything except the handiwork of man. The edges are rounded off smoothly as if it were freshly cut leather from the hands of an expert cobbler. The stone to which it is attached is about the size of a brick. The head part of the sole appears, the toe end being missing.

"It is not extraordinary," said Professor Kemp, "to find a fossil shoe in a limestone of the Triassic period, but it is most extraordinary to find a shoe in a limestone of the Triassic period, which is so old, and which is so perfectly preserved. They turn up frequently. But this is by far the most perfect thing of the kind that I have ever seen."

Insists It Is an Accident. "On the other hand, I have no hesitation in saying that it is not a fossil but an accident. If it were a fossil, it would probably be 10,000,000 years old or older, because it appears to come from a Triassic formation. Man did not exist that long ago. This is so absolutely certain that I told Mr. Reid that he had a fossil shoe in his pocket, and he said, 'It is not a fossil shoe, it is a shoe.'"

Mr. Reid said that the object was found by Albert Knapp, a prospector in the Hurricane Ranch area, and was brought to him by the striking resemblance to a cobbler's work. This appearance is aided by the fact that the color is that of leather, which is due, according to Dr. Matthew, to iron sulphide present in the alleged fossil, but not in the rock on which it is embedded.

The two scientists that I have talked to simply take their stand that the Darwinian theory is so completely proved that it is not necessary to entertain during the Triassic period, that only lower forms of life then existed," said Mr. Reid, "and they say that no amount of evidence that this was a genuine fossil shoe would convince them that it was, although they admit that the resemblance to the sole of a shoe is so exact as to extend to many particulars. "Under a glass, it is perfectly plain that the leather was first perforated by a fine perforating machine before it was sewed. They call it an 'accidental' creation. But they admitted that they would not consider any evidence of the genuineness of the fossil because they were so wedded to a theory which would make it impossible."

HOME GARDENS ENCOURAGED. Elementary Agriculture Taught in Jersey Grammar Schools. The teaching of elementary agriculture the children is being introduced in the grammar schools in many suburban districts in New Jersey. At West Orange, where work of this kind has just been started, a practical farmer has been engaged to instruct the pupils. Instructions will be given for the first year only to pupils in the fifth and sixth grades, but Superintendent of Schools S. C. Strong, who with the aid of the Board of Education formulated a course of study, hopes to increase the scope of the work during the second year. A practical farmer and experienced teacher, who has been secured by the West Orange authorities to conduct the course, will meet each class once a week and give lectures that will tell the children something about where and how the farmer produces food for the nation. He will stress home gardening and in order that the children shall acquire a correct practical knowledge of garden culture he will urge each child to plant and care for a home garden and will visit homes from time to time to help with them. Courses of this kind are rapidly gaining favor with the teachers in the schools, according to the New Jersey State Department of Public Education, in a report on the subject the department writes: "Instructions in agriculture in the elementary schools is not one of the so-called new fads in education. It has been tried out in many places and has proved to be a success, provided the man employed to conduct the work knows how to interest children in living things. In reality this kind of instruction is nature study, and what is more, it is nature study of the best kind. The children not only learn about nature, but they learn how nature in the great growing living plants and animals of the farm provides us with our daily food supply. "School teachers at times criticize such work because they say it takes too much of the school time of the children. Such criticisms are made without giving the matter much thought, however, for with the plan followed out at West Orange, only one school period each week is devoted to the work. The other practical knowledge of garden culture he will urge each child to plant and care for a home garden and will visit

Barry Swim Tells Of Woodstock Double Murder

Woodstock, March 28—"It's awful what a woman will bring a man down to," Bennie Swim in a conversation so expressed himself this afternoon when visited in his cell at the jail here. He talked freely concerning the awful crime of yesterday when two persons were sent into eternity with tragic suddenness. He is rather a good looking chap and was twenty-one years old last October. In his story of the affair, he said: "It was all over ten minutes after I arrived at the house." Olive Swim was not his wife as has been reported, but had lived at his home all winter and they were engaged.

Marrried to Trenholm.

One day she left and he next heard of her at Harvey Trenholm's, at Benning Ridge, where he said he went to her two weeks ago and asked her to go back. About this time the girl, who was eighteen years of age, was married to Harvey Trenholm by Rev. Mr. Worden, at Meductic. Swim's story is that Trenholm had the revolver threatened him when he went there yesterday. Swim took the revolver away from him, the prisoner says, and shot him, killing him instantly. The girl came to the door and Swim asked her for his ring. She made no reply, refusing to give it to him, when he shot her in the breast, and on her turning to the house he followed and shot again, this bullet going through her heart. He then went to a sheep pen about five rods from the house and shot himself, the bullet going in near his ear and is lodged over his right eye.

Tonight he is suffering considerable pain and the doctors decided to operate tonight and try to extract the bullet. The revolver is a "five shooter." Swim had another cartridge in the chamber, but he evidently lost his nerve and did not finish the job on himself. He bled considerably and started away, going a distance of seven miles, when he arrived at a house in which a man named Larr lived. He asked for something to eat which was given him. He then went to a house further when he came to Doherty's house, almost exhausted, as he was bleeding from the self-inflicted wound and was easily tracked through the snow by the blood spots.

Arriving at Doherty's house Sheriff Albion Foster went upstairs and found him in bed, when Swim exclaimed: "Sheriff, this is awful, I will hang for this." He was cautioned to not make any statements that might be used against him. When asked about the revolver he said he threw it away. The officers took him to the spot where he said he left it and after some delay he showed them where it was concealed. "I loved this girl and would die for her," he said, when talking about the affair. He was brought before Police Magistrate Comben this afternoon and remanded until next Monday at two o'clock. Both bodies are at Henderson's undertaking rooms where an autopsy will be held. The inquest will be held tomorrow before Coroner W. W. Hay. Harvey Trenholm is a returned soldier and has discharge papers from the 26th Battalion. His father lives in Baie Verte, Westmorland county, and efforts are being made to get in communication with him. Arrangements for the burial of the bodies are not yet completed.

A large representation of citizens met at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon to consider the Prohibition Act and its relation to the province of New Brunswick.

CHILD'S PATHETIC STORY OF DEATH OF HER PARENTS

"Mamma Got Good and Mad and Hit Papa Hard and He Lay Still"—Both Adults Dead and Child Almost Overcome by Gas.

Philadelphia, March 29—"Mamma told me that I couldn't kiss my papa good-night or kneel beside him to say my prayers. She tossed about in bed and kept me awake all night, but papa did not wake up. Then I smelled something and fell asleep."

Lying on a small white bed in the accident room of the children's homeopathic hospital, little seven-year-old Frances Marie Porter told in her own way the events which transpired in her home from Saturday afternoon until her step-mother and father were found lying on their bed dead, with the little daughter in an almost unconscious condition from gas. The family lived on the third floor at 928 Poplar street.

The father, James Porter, a plumber, when found, appeared to have been dead twice as long as the stepmother. His head and face were covered with blood, which has led the police to believe that the father was killed by the mother, who then sought to cover up the crime by killing herself and her stepdaughter.

"Mamma and papa were always hitting each other," continued the girl. "Papa went to work every day, but always drunk, and this made my mamma mad, and she sometimes cried, but papa never minded that, so papa went to work Friday and came home and was drinking again. Saturday he stayed at home. In the afternoon he drank something he had in a bottle and started arguing and fighting with mamma again. He ran around the room and hit her several times."

"Mamma got good and mad and I got scared and hid behind the table. She hit papa hard and he fell, turning round and hitting his head on a big chair beside him. He lay still for a little while and mamma looked scared. She picked him up and carried him to the bedroom and put him on the bed. He laid still. I called to him and cried, but he did not answer. Mamma then put a cloth over his face and she began crying, too."

"So I got dark and I got sleepy and wanted to go to talk to my papa. I love him because he always treated me good even if he did drink. He was a good papa. But she would not let me talk to him. I went over beside him to take the rag from his face to kiss him, but mamma ran over and stopped me. She wouldn't let me see papa, good-night and I cried, but he did not do anything he always made mamma treat me nice."

"Then I knelt down beside the bed near him to say my prayers. I always say my prayers, but mamma ran over again and would not let me do it. I was crying and she said keep quiet. She went to bed and made me lie beside her. She rolled around and could not sleep. I guess it was a long time after that she got up and came back and went to sleep. She went to sleep, too. Then when I tried to get up this morning I was sick. Some policeman got me and gave me to another man and now I'm in the hospital. I don't know what happened but I want my daddy to come to me. Where is he? Mamma hurt him."

RECENT DEATHS

Daniel J. Seely, Daniel James Seely, passed away at the General Public Hospital last evening in the ninety-sixth year of his age and in his death the city and the province has lost a man of outstanding character, who will be deeply and sincerely mourned. Mr. Seely was the son of a Loyalist and was, possibly, the last of the first generation of the Loyalists. He was the youngest of a family of ten and was born at St. George. His father was Josiah Gilbert Seely who came to St. John from Orange (N. Y.), in 1782. After a brief stay in St. John, the family went to reside on the Washademoak, later moved to Nova Scotia, from there

After a brief illness, the death of Marie Estelle, wife of J. E. Moore, of this city, occurred in this city yesterday. Mrs. Moore was thirty-eight years of age and, besides her husband, she is survived by one son, Mrs. A. E. Bennett, and the Misses Florence, Elizabeth, Etta, Nellie and Sarah, all in New York, and Miss Gertrude, in Boston, and two brothers, Lawrence and Joseph, in St. John. The funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

Dr. C. M. McLean.
Miss Elizabeth MacLean of the Fallsville teaching staff received a cablegram last evening with the sad message that her brother, Dr. C. M. MacLean, had passed away yesterday at Erlangen, Germany, where he had gone for treatment.

Miss Bessie Sheehan.
The death of Miss Bessie Sheehan occurred last night at the residence of her mother, 64 Portland street, and will be heard of with deep regret. Miss Sheehan was a resident of the North End with a wide circle of friends and will be greatly missed. She leaves to mourn her mother, Mrs. Thomas Sheehan, and one sister, Miss Nora, at home. The funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

William A. Davie.
Word has been received by Mrs. Samuel Souther, of Bayswater, of the death of her uncle, William M. Davie, aged 101 years and eight months. He died in Stillacoon (Wash.), where he had gone from Pittsburg (Pa.) after he had passed the century mark. He had resided with his daughter, Mrs. R. C. Galley in Pittsburg, but on account of his daughter being ill and having to give up housekeeping, he went to his son's in the northwest. Mr. Davie traveled the 2,800 miles unattended. He was born in Dartmouth (N. S.) in 1820.

SEEK AUTHORS FOR COUNTY HISTORIES

Possible authors for the histories of the various counties of the province were spoken of at the meeting of the New Brunswick Historical Society held last night in the Market building with the president, Rev. William Armstrong, in the chair and it was agreed to use every endeavor to have these histories written. On the motion of B. E. Peterson, the society extended a vote of thanks to the dominion archives for assistance in securing the muster rolls of the early militia regiments of the province and for binding the muster rolls in permanent form.

The society also expressed its gratitude to the dominion archives for having given storage room for several years to the library and possessions of the society and for clerical and other assistance in the preparation of the index catalogue of the property of the society.

A lawyer's people book, entitled "Supreme Court Record Book," for the years 1818 to 1824, from the library of Ira Cornwall, was presented at the meeting and was the gift of Dr. Chester J. Brown who is the son-in-law of Ira Cornwall.

An inquiry as to descendants of first common clerk of the city, was referred to the corresponding secretary, George Henderson.

When the discussion of possible authors for the county histories was in progress reference was made with regret to the recent distribution of a local library of valuable and rare books.

The paper of the evening was read by John Willet, K. C., the recording secretary, and was an article published some years ago in the Montreal Star in the series "Sidelights of Canada." It was an account of the hardships endured by the first English speaking man and British subject in New Brunswick, John Gyles, who was taken captive by Mallicet Indians and spent six years of untold suffering as their prisoner at Port Meductic, near where Woodstock now stands, later was sold to Louis d'Amboise, the seigneur of Chaffour at Jemseg.

Mrs. Angus, who organized the society eleven years ago, and whose home now is in Montreal, is in the city visiting her mother, Mrs. John A. Pimples and boils

—caused by errors of diet

A well-known skin specialist says that pimples are "signal flags of danger" often indicating errors in diet.

Indeed pimples are so frequently associated with faulty habits of eating and improper digestion that the first thing to do is to see that our food is right.

Fresh yeast is a wonderful corrective food for these skin disorders. Fleischmann's Yeast is rich in the elements which improve appetite and digestion and which keep the intestines clean of poisons.

Physicians and hospitals all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast for pimples and boils. It gets right at the basic cause of these complaints.

Eat 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before or between meals to keep your skin healthy. Buy Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

practice of pre-war days, when the Army chartered its own boats, we cannot say. It depends a great deal on the government's immigration policy, which so far is a matter of conjecture. The Globe was told.

This same feeling of uncertainty regarding the Federal government's plans as to the matter of immigration during the coming season is encouraged in all large steamship offices. Officials are expectant, and most of them even feel confident that there will be a fair resumption of travel. New ocean steamers have recently been placed in commission for immigrants transportation, and there is the expectation that they will be filled with human cargo bound for the shores of Canada and the United States.

During the coming season there will be parties of Scandinavian sons of the soil, while more than a hundred Swiss farmers are scheduled to arrive in June. Their destination is west of Winnipeg.

MUCH OF SWEDEN IS ELECTRIFIED

Whole Country Will be Run by Electricity Within Few Years.

Stockholm, March 1—(By Mail)—Electricity has conquered one-third of the entire cultivated area of Sweden, according to the latest official reports. If Sweden continues electrifying at the present rate, it will only be a few years till almost the whole country will be run by electricity.

Most of the farms within the electrified area are now tapping the new source, and nearly all the power used in the daily labor on these farms is derived from the high-power lines which span whole sections of the country.

Large power stations deliver most of the electric energy used in the rural communities; but in many places the farmers themselves have installed turbines and built private power stations, harnessing for this purpose swift streams

A great deal of the most arduous farm labor is performed by electrically-driven machinery at a cost far below the cost of machines propelled by steam or horse-power or hand labor. Water is pumped for cattle by electricity, threshing machines are driven by electric current, and farm hands are no longer ordered to cut firewood by hand because it is cheaper to have even that labor done by electricity. Candles have almost disappeared.

In many cases grain is dried and cleared by being passed through electrically-driven hot-air fanning machines. It is not uncommon to find on the larger estates electric elevators which lift entire wagon loads of hay or grain and dump them where desired in the barns. One Swedish estate owner has installed an electrically-operated irrigation system whereby a large field can be watered in times of drought. It is now only a matter of a short time till plows and harrows will be propelled by electric motor.

erts sounded a note of optimism in regard to conditions in New Brunswick compared with world conditions generally. Speaking of the department of health, the minister declared that this department would in time occupy the first place in the state and the opposition would place it there when it realized what the department was for.

An exhaustive review of the present act was given by the speaker, and he explained the pains taken in formulating it, the gathering of much data. He pointed out the vast amount of good that public health service had done throughout the world, and cited specific instances in regard to certain diseases where much improvement had been made and the death rate greatly reduced. The minister told of the deplorable conditions that were disclosed by the survey made by John Hall before the present act came into effect, and in contrast pointed out the vast improvement since the act became operative.

During the course of his address Hon.
Dr. Roberts said that if possible next year he would ask the government to finance the medical inspection of schools.
This would relieve the cost on the municipalities and place the work under direct control of the government. It was the intention to divide the province into sections and have full time inspectors on the job. The work of the sanitary inspectors was reviewed and the necessity for them shown. The minister said, however, that this year it would be optional with the municipalities whether they had these inspectors. The grave menace of venereal diseases was thoroughly dealt with by the minister and the danger of not doing so after this phase of public health was shown.

Hon. Dr. Roberts said that an amendment would be brought in to amend the representation of the municipal council on the board of health four out of the five members, thus giving the council greater authority. Another amendment to be brought in would provide for the inspection of hotels throughout the province.

In conclusion, he made a strong plea for co-operation from both sides of the house in carrying out the humane work of public health improvement.
Adjournment of the debate was moved by F. W. Smith, of Carleton.

The house went into committee at 10 o'clock to consider certain bills.

Hon. Mr. Roberts introduced a bill relating to sewerage in the parish of Simonds.

Hon. Mr. Meserve introduced a bill to amend the act relating to Women's Institutes. He explained the progress of these institutes had become of great importance in connection with the agricultural department and the object of the bill was to give them a legal status to enable them to own property.

Hon. Mr. Byrne introduced a bill to amend the act relating to justices. He said that the object of the bill was to exempt postmasters and their officials from service on juries.

Hon. Mr. Byrne introduced a bill to amend the St. John city court act. He explained that under the law attorneys of the supreme court could not be sued in the St. John city court, although action could be taken against them before justices of the peace. The bill proposed to extend the jurisdiction of the police magistrate of St. John.

Hon. Mr. Byrne introduced a bill to amend the act relating to the New Brunswick baristers' society. He explained that under the existing law were admitted to practice without examination. Under the proposed amendment it would be necessary for them in future to pass an examination prescribed by the Baristers' Society. Another section of the bill empowers the society to elect former members.

Hon. Mr. Michaud introduced a bill relating to the town of Edmundston, a bill to enable the trustees of the parish of Madawaska to issue debentures and another relating to the town of St.
Leonard.

Hon. Mr. Foster introduced a bill to provide for the payment of pensions for teachers in the public schools. He explained that the present act provided for a maximum pension of $400 per year on a teacher completing thirty-five years of service, and was based on one-half the average salary for the last five years.
Under the old law there was no allowance for disability. Last year there was paid out under the act the sum of $11-824.47. The cost to the government in 1917, $8,293.89, and in 1921, $11,860.18.
Under the new act for those in active service and not drawing pensions prior to July 1, 1922, the maximum would be $800. In the case of teachers who might become disabled after twenty years of service there would be an allowance equal to three-fifths of the total pension owed according to half the average salaries for the last five years of their service. The teachers would contribute to the fund five per cent of their government grant, which for the past school year would amount to approximately $12,000. The provisions of the proposed act would apply to all persons holding valid licenses, and who at the time of its passage are employed as inspectors, normal school instructors, local superin-

we are going to be forced to let up. The members of the house can do much to relieve the expenditures for one year at least upon roads. And that is to cut down their demands in their districts and let the people feel for a little the actual state of affairs that exist. The minister also praised the results accomplished by the Department of Agriculture.

Public Health.
Regarding the department of public health, he then went on to speak of the transition from the old regulations to the new, and declared that, had it not been that a separate portfolio had been declared and a minister of health appointed, the legislation that this province has today never would have existed.
He showed clearly that the public health act is neither an octopus or incubus, nor representative of any of the epithets that it has pleased the critics of it during the few years of its existence to hurl at it with the hope that some one of the missiles would administer the deadly blow.

Some of the Benefits.
Dr. Roberts continued:
"The following is a list of a few of the accomplishments of public health administration in several parts of the outside world:

(1) The virtual abolition of bubonic plague in western Asia.
(2) The almost complete abolition of Asiatic cholera in Europe and America.
(3) The widespread abolition of yellow fever in many seaports of Mexico and Central and South America.
(4) The abolition of malaria in the same regions and most particularly in the Panama canal zone and in most of the southern states of the union.
(5) The abolition or very great reduction of the hookworm throughout the southern states of the union.
(6) The gradual suppression of sleeping sickness throughout great tracts of the African continent.
(7) The vast reduction of small-pox by vaccination.
(8) The conquest of hydrophobia
by serum inoculation.
(9) The eighty per cent reduction of deaths from diphtheria by anti-toxip.

(10) The sixty per cent reduction of more deaths from typhoid fever by the introduction of the bacillus of prevention of this disease and the prevention of this disease and of diphter-ia by inoculation.
(11) The reduction of deaths of infants less than one year old by from over one-half to two-thirds.
(12) The extension of the expectation of life about fifteen years during the last half century.
(13) The reduction of the normal death rate from over twenty per thousand to less than ten per thousand.
"As to a few things that have been accomplished by the public health act in this province during the three years in which its services have been organized and set in motion," said Dr. Roberts, "the first was the making of a health survey to ascertain conditions as they existed in 1917 in this province, made by a gentleman especially qualified and highly recommended by Professor Herman M. Biggs, of New York city, the latter services have been suggested this as a wise procedure before undertaking to organize. The following are a few of the conditions that obtained under the old dispensation as found by Mr. Hall:

The Old Conditions.
1. Communicable diseases running riot, as far as placarding, quarantining, fumigation and school.

2. No campaign of education.
3. Deaths apparently needless from exposure that should not have attended.

4. No attention given to water supply.
5. Four great epidemics of small-pox, thousands of cases, hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed because no named advise or supervision.

6. School buildings in rural districts neglected and, as the result, degrading to the health, morals and lives of the students who are to be our future citizens.
7. No attention given to the inspection, but which since having been adopted proved that at least 65 per cent of our children are suffering from physical or mental deficiency.

8. No efficient collection, collating and publishing of vital statistics.
9. "Communicable diseases as far as preventive measure were concerned were running riot, little attempt being made to quarantine or segregate cases in the interests of prevention. This was a part of the medical school inspection service. Under the old regime, the municipal councils would have had to pay private physicians either fifty cents or one dollar per school. What does this mean—forty thousand school children vaccinated? It means an army of defence when the much to be dreaded scourge of smallpox presents itself and the barrier over which it is absolutely impossible for smallpox to gain an entrance.

"Further, from year to year, every scholar that enters school must become vaccinated. In country districts, remember, as well as in the city. This means a continued line of defence becoming stronger year by year. As a result of this service, together with the fact that upon every occasion of an outbreak of smallpox, which is recurring almost every week or two, due to people coming from lumber camps, from neighboring states and provinces, there are large numbers being vaccinated as contacts.
Just a few years more of such a service and apart from the individual case coming within our gates, above referred to,
there will be no opportunity for a spread among others.
"From careful reports made of some twenty-five years of experience under other forms of health legislation, there is no doubt in my mind, the annual saving to the province as a whole, an amount that would represent nearly the net amount of money today being paid out in support of the department at Fredericton and its staff.
"Will my honorable friends discount this and say that this service is not efficient? And, if so, will they kindly point out the table of the house some other plan that will be less expensive and more efficient?
"Kindly remember that practically all I have referred to thus far concerns the folks in rural districts whom my friends in opposition claim are not in need of such health legislation.

"In addition to the vaccination of school children, we have attempted to make a careful physical examination of every child attending the public school in this province, at the latest, during his second year in attendance and endeavor to have pointed any condition either physical or mental that would serve to depreciate his future progress in seeking an education and later in life that would render it other than a perfect citizen.
"Can my hearers for one moment estimate what a service such as I have just outlined, properly applied and carried out would mean to this province, not only along the lines of health, peace and happiness but, when you consider how both general tuberculosis, insane, for eventually lowered because of such vaccination? Reduce, if you will, fifty per cent at least of the cause for hospitalization, both general tuberculosis, insane, for the indigent, municipal homes, children's aid, many instances orphan's home, and, in case of criminals, your jails and penitentiaries, and I do not think it would take a specialist in mathematics to see plainly what the results would be and yet, do my friends still contend that the cost to this country is proportionous and should be reduced? Mr. Speaker, you will kindly bear in mind what this great expenditure means practically incurring, as it does, our citizens against epidemics, contagious diseases, such as smallpox, typhoid, diphtheria, etc., preventing the cost connected with illness and, in many instances, death of those who are near and dear to us. I say, do you realize that the expenditure for all of this amounts to twenty-five cents per capita or about one mill on the dollar of the taxable values of this province.

"While the physicians who have been acting as medical school inspectors have rendered so good a service, nevertheless, co-operating faithfully, and considering the limited time at their disposal and perhaps, in some instances their inability from a practical viewpoint, have in many instances as called for today schools who have set aside a post-graduate course especially for such a service.
"When a physician examines a child under the provisions of medical school inspection, it is most important in justice to the child, to the state and to the public, that nothing, regardless of how insignificant or latent the condition may be, that would predispose that child to mental or physical disability, be overlooked. So, having this in mind for more than a year, I have noted some of the lapses just referred to, such as not carrying on the state and not being upon at all; and when done so, in many instances a most superficial examination made for reasons above referred to. To this end, I might say, that during the year I have met the several sub-district boards of Health in general and laid before them the idea of declaring some six medical school inspectors, and over each of them to have placed an all-time man, who would give his entire attention to this work, and who would not be permitted to accept any other private engagement, and who would also be available to assist in case of epidemic or other emergency. And I might say, that with this exception all were unanimous in giving the suggestion a trial for one year, my having assumed the responsibility of providing a more efficient service, at no greater cost than the sub-district board's estimate for medical school inspection last year.
Optional.
"I have decided to make this service optional this year, so that any one of the groups may, beginning with July next, arrange their medical school inspection in this way. Then we will be able to demonstrate the difference in the results of the work achieved. The boards who do not acquiesce at this time with the idea may then, as before, make their own arrangements. And I might say, that with

TWO SIDES TO STORY
 A traffic case in which the usual order was reversed took up about an hour of the time of the police court this morning. Louis Hayes pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving his horse and wagon on the wrong side of Union street.
 Abraham Levine testified that he was driving his automobile up the left side of Union street about twelve o'clock on Sunday night, and near the corner of Mill street he saw the horse driven by the defendant coming down the wrong side of the street, traveling at a high speed, and in an effort to avoid an accident he drove the car onto the sidewalk. When the front wheels were on the pavement, he said, the horse struck the automobile, causing the shafts to go through the windshield and damaging the front right-hand fender. The horse then backed away from the car and kept on its way down Union and along Dock street. The witness said he turned the car and caught up with the accused at the head of the ferry floats. Policeman Hughes was there and took the defendant's name and address. Policeman Hatt was present also, the witness said, when the defendant admitted he was on the wrong side of the street, and asked him what he was going to do about it. He denied having threatened to take the damage out of the defendant with his fists.
 Maurice Aronoff gave similar evidence. Hayes swore that he was going down the left side of the street, but had had to cross over to the right a little because of the speed at which the complainant's car was on the street. When the crash occurred, he said, he was on his own side of the street. He did not run away after the crash, but the horse became frightened and he couldn't stop it. When they were by the ferry floats, he said, the complainant wanted to know if he was going to pay for the damage and he said "No." The complainant then said he would take it out of him with his fists and told the policeman that the defendant was drunk. He denied saying he was on the wrong side of the street. Wilbert Kearns gave corroboratory evidence, and the case was set over until Monday.

City Voters' List is Reduced by the Chamberlain's Office from 18,304 to 9,708.

The civic voters' list, when it was sent down to the chamberlain's office by the common clerk contained some 18,000 names. The chamberlain's staff waded in and did terrible execution, so that when they struck out the names of those who had failed to pay last year's taxes, those who had died and those who had removed from the city, the pages looked to put it into words of one of them—like the stars and stripes, with more stripes than stars and approximately 9,700 people were shown as being qualified to vote in the coming civic contest.

 Mr. Winslow said that if the purpose of the bill was to exclude non-residents from carrying on an occupation in the county of St. John, that purpose had better be stated.
 Councillor O'Brien said that such was not the intent of the bill. Outside labor was welcomed to the county of St. John. The parish wanted a fair assessment, that was all.
 Mr. Melvin said that the crew of the Dominion Bridge Company on the new C. P. R. bridge furnished an example of non-residents working for almost a year and paying nothing. But two residents of Lancaster worked on the job. If there were not a provision of this kind, employers could bring in people from outside while residents were in want of employment, and the parish would receive no benefit.
 Dr. Curren suggested that the limit should be thirty days. That finally was agreed to.

Collection by Employer.
 Mr. Winslow objected to a section providing that employers should deduct from the amount of taxes owed, saying the employer should not be made a tax collector.
 Chief Engineer Kirby said that the precedent was dangerous. The C. P. R. could not become tax collector for all the municipalities which it traversed.
 Councillor Secretary Kealey said the provision was to apply only when the assessors decided it necessary to hold a court.
 Mr. Melvin said he would oppose if the provision were intended to apply to residents.
 W. E. Scully, speaking to the section providing for the furnishing of a true statement of income, said that it was all right to require an employer to furnish a copy of his pay-roll or salary list, but what was to be done to compel a man not a wage earner or salaried man to furnish a true statement. He had a case in mind of a man paying on an assessment of $600 who was known to be receiving $3,000.
 The section providing for deduction of taxes by an employer from an employee was referred to private sessions.
 The Contentious Clause.
 The greater number of sections of the bill were agreed to by those interested, but that relating to assessment on income was contentious. The section seeks to give the municipality the right to assess on income at the place of residence irrespective of where the income was earned.
 Mr. Harrison objected on the part of the city, saying that such a power given the municipality would repeal a portion of the St. John City Assessment Act.
 Mayor Schofield pointed out that residents of the county of St. John who earned their income in the city as employees of the dominion government, the railways or other employers enjoyed as much benefit from the departments supported by the city as did the residents. It was not fair that the assessment on their income be payable entirely outside the city.
 Mr. Estabrooks (Westmorland) said it looked as if St. John City were trying to get the whole thing.
 Mayor Schofield replied that the statement was uncalculated for. The people of St. John City always were ready to contribute to the relief and assistance of people outside if it were required.
 Dr. Curren supported the section. He said the only question was where assessment on income should be paid.
 Councillor O'Brien pointed out that many persons were moving to the suburbs of St. John City and, unless owners of real estate, were under the city assessment act escaping taxation at their places of residence. Their children were being educated in schools to the upkeep of which they did not contribute.
 Councillor Campbell pointed out that the right of taxing income at one time was possessed by the county, but the city assessment had taken it away.
 Councillor Golding was heard in support of the section.
 It was pointed out that legislation existed whereby the assessment referred to could be divided evenly.
 The section was referred to private session.

Those present included: Mayor Schofield, Commissioners Thornton, Frink and Bullock and E. Murray Olive, representing the city; Councillors O'Brien, Golding and Campbell of Lancaster; J. King Kelley, county secretary; F. R. Taylor, K. C., and C. C. Kirby, representing the C. P. R.; J. J. Fraser Winslow and Stanley Jones, representing the Nashwanak Pulp and Paper Company; Guy Randolph of the firm of Randolph & Baker; Chester Gandy of the Provincial Lime Company; Alex. Wilson of the Wilson Box Company, and L. W. Simms of T. S. Simms & Company.

Store Suit No Longer Byword. (Dry Goods Economist) The whole experience and history of garments sold over the counter has been that of increasing specialization. A "store suit" sixty years ago was a byword for misfitting clothing. Lincoln's famous address at Cooper Union was unflatteringly characterized by the press as wearing a store suit. Similar conditions prevailed in women's clothing. At present it is true that the carefully designed garments seen in the best stores take equal rank with the products of Paris and Fifth Avenue dressmakers. This improvement has been gradual and has been brought about by a combination of two things—the demand for good and stylish clothing by increasing numbers of women, and the ability of the modern store to fill the need. Along with this demand came a problem that could be solved only by experiment. To fit the few women who could claim the "perfect fit" was a simple task for the garment-maker. Nevertheless, he had to dress the masses diverging in every way from the ideal proportion. Particularly in America, must this have been a difficult obstacle to overcome. For two and a half centuries this land has been a melting pot for European races. At present this is more true than ever before, varying from the short heavy Slav to the tall Scandinavian. In such a heterogeneous people variations in size and proportion are bound to be many.

Prohibition Seen As Effective (New York Times) As a contribution to the controversy over prohibition, and as a commentary on the claim that it does not permit, there may be some utility in printing here a passage from a letter sent to the Times by the principal of a public school that stands considerably less than a hundred miles from New York city. That the law relating to the manufacture, importation and distribution of intoxicants is extensively violated the writer of the letter does not deny. He knows that it is, just as everybody else knows it, and in that sense and to that degree he

CROPS IN BRITISH INDIA.

The Department of Statistics of India telegraphs to the International Institute of Agriculture the following information as regards cultivated areas and the har- vests in India.

The area sown with wheat in 1921-22 is estimated at 28,012,000 thousand acres, showing an increase of 20 per cent, as compared with last year's area and a de- crease of 1 per cent, when compared with the average of the previous five years.

The yield of rough rice is given as 1,138,164,900 thousand centals, being 19 per cent above that of the preceding year and 8 per cent above the five years' average.

The cotton-yield is estimated at 17,920,000 thousand centals, which shows an increase of 24 per cent, as compared with last year and 2 per cent above the average.

As regards cane sugar this year, the resulting yield is 58,060,800 thousand centals or 8 per cent over that of last year and 9 per cent below the five years' average.

Price of Tea Highest in Years Montreal Gazette.—During 1920 so much more was produced than was required throughout the world that the market dropped to a comparatively low point. So serious was the position of the growers in India, Ceylon and Java that they agreed to produce 20 per cent less tea during 1921. The result was that less tea was produced than was re- quired, and now all surplus stocks have pretty well been exhausted to fill the deficiency. Prices in the last four months have steadily advanced, until the market today is at an even as was ever before reached, even as was ever before reached, even as was ever before reached.

The Permanent Executor

A man by becoming an executor does not cease to be a man. He still has his private business, his personal interests, which are bound to take first place in his plans. He is still liable to run out of town for a business trip or a fishing trip—perhaps just when your wife most feels the need of consulting him. He is still subject to illness, years, loss of business acumen—

Your affairs need a permanent executor, such as The Canada Perma- nent Trust Co.

City Asks for Authority to Operate N. B. Power Co. Services if Need Arises

In Whole or in Part, as Utilities Board Might Deem Necessary—Not a Provision for Purchase—Bill Approved by Council Yesterday Also Would Give City Authority to Distribute Hydro Current.

The city of St. John would be given authority to take control of the whole or such part of the operations of the New Brunswick Power Company as might in the judgment of the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities be necessary to provide reasonably adequate and proper service for the public, should the company fail to provide such service when ordered to do so by the Utilities Board, according to the terms of a bill, a draft of which was accepted by the city council yesterday afternoon and which will be presented today to the provincial legislature.

In the event of the failure of the company to yield enough revenue to cover the cost of operation of the city would be empowered, should the bill become law, to make up the balance out of general city revenues and, further, the Lieutenant-Governor in Council might authorize the city to sell the property and franchises of the company in order to reimburse the city for the amount of money advanced to cover operating costs.

The bill would also make it lawful for the city, upon completion of a contract with the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, to engage in the business of selling electric light, heat, and power to persons and corporations within the limits of the city of St. John, the county of St. John and the parish of Rothesay in Kings county.

After the mayor had read the draft of the bill he outlined its important features. Mr. Frink said that taking over the Power Commission's services was made obligatory by the bill. It provided a means of restoring any of the utilities that might be shut down. In case of such a thing occurring the city would have a remedy.

Mr. Bullock said that the bill would empower the council to do what it might find necessary in the best interests of the city. Mr. Jones asked if the city might take over all the services and the mayor replied in the affirmative. There was some discussion, introduced by Mr. Jones, as to the word "shall" in its relation to what the Utilities Commission might do if the company failed to furnish the service ordered. Mr. Jones asked whether the bill ought not to be read "may" instead of "shall".

Mr. Thornton said the bill would provide a safeguard for the city. At present the Utilities Commission could do as it pleased with the company so much per day in the event of failure to provide the service ordered. The bill would enable the city to undertake to furnish the service itself.

EXPENSE EXPECTED DELAY IN PIPE

T. McAvity & Sons Tell the Council of an Arrangement with Power Commission.

The draft of the proposed bill that would confer upon the city in certain contingencies the power to step in and operate any or all of the services conducted by the New Brunswick Power Company and, if operated at a loss, to sell the plant to reimburse the city, the submission of the report of the city controller and the chamberlain showing the city to be in a strong position financially, and incidentally the resignation of the Power Commission to supply an industry situated in the east end of the city with electric energy at the same rate at which it has been offered to the city at Fairville, featured yesterday afternoon's council meeting at which His Worship Mayor Schofield presided.

The firm, in a letter to Mr. Jones, said that they would be willing to supply part of the quantity by that time at the stipulated price of $63.50 per ton and that they would undertake to supply the rest by importing it from the old country at $51.50 a ton, the lowest price quoted at the time tenders were called for the pipe.

Mr. Jones moved that the order be cancelled and new tenders called for, but the mayor pointed out that the contract had been given to the local firm at a price higher than the lowest bid for the dual purpose of encouraging local industry and of providing employment for those out of work.

Blackheads indicate your cleansing method is wrong USE this famous treatment to keep your skin free from blackheads: Each night before retiring apply hot cloths to the face until the skin is reddened. Now with a rough washcloth work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and rub it into the pores thoroughly with an upward and outward motion. Rinse with clear, hot water, then with cold. Finish by rubbing your face for 30 seconds with a piece of ice. Begin this treatment tonight. Within a week or ten days your skin will show a marked improvement. The Andrew Jergens Company. HOCKEY. St. Patrick's Win. Toronto, March 28—St. Patrick's, of Toronto, are the professional hockey champions of the world. They defeated Vancouver Millionaires 5 to 1 in the fifth and final match of the series here tonight, the standing for the series being three wins to two for the Irishmen. The game tonight was not by any means as one-sided as the score would indicate, for, while St. Patrick's had somewhat the best of the play, they had also decidedly the best of the breaks. St. Patrick's second goal was disputed by the visiting players. They claimed to win the goal post and the fact that the shot rebounded over that end of the rink and that the puck bounded straight into their crease, contented them. However, the referee sustained the claim of the goal judge that the puck hit the net. But St. Patrick's need not be so doing, there will be afforded the thrill of a mystery story such as are developed in "THE GREAT IMPERSONATION."

BILLIARDS. Schaefer Still Leads. Jake Schaefer, 18 balk-line champion, increased his lead over Willie Hoppe, former world's champion, in the second block of their 1,500 point match in Chicago last evening. Schaefer won 800 to 488. At one time Schaefer was leading 800 to 97 when Hoppe staged a sensational up hill drive.

Confused identities, due to the twin-like resemblance of the brothers Henry J. Miller of 286 William street and George J. Miller, a policeman attached to the Atlantic avenue station, Brooklyn, who was put on trial at New York police headquarters on the charge of assaulting Harry Kalmers of 52 Pike street on November 18, caused so much doubt in the minds of witnesses that First Deputy Police Commissioner Leach had to reserve decision until he could solve the puzzle.

Inspector Coleman investigated this case some time ago, when he learned there had been a fight by a group of men in Kalmers' saloon, at Rutgers and Madison streets, during which the proprietor said he had lost four good teeth. He and several witnesses had identified Policeman Miller as one of the assailants, and said the officer was in plain clothes.

"I was not in Kalmers' place, or near it, at that time," declared Miller to the trial commissioner yesterday. "I was two miles distant from it, with Patrolman Joseph Petersen of the West Thirtieth street station, investigating an alleged illicit still location. They have mistaken me for my brother Henry, who tells me he was in the saloon at the time of the fight." His brother was called into the trial room.

"They are twins!" gasped Kalmers, when the policeman and his brother stood smiling before him. Although the complainant and his witnesses had told Inspector Coleman that they believed Policeman Miller to be the man, they admitted then to Leach that they were unable to say which of the brothers was in the saloon. Henry J. Miller, while admitting he was one of those involved in the row, denied he had hit Kalmers. Miller said he had merely defended himself as best he could when a free-for-all fight started over a dispute and he had got out as soon as he could reach the door.

NEED NATIONAL SENTIMENT

Readjustment Problems Discussed Upon War Discussed by J. W. Dafoe—Says Two Party Political System Has Served Its Purpose.

It was argued by John W. Dafoe, editor of the Manitoba Free Press, at the Montreal Canadian Club the other day, that Canada, in common with all the world, is in a state of change, with a readjustment of parties and the development of political groups, into a new parliamentary system. This was divided between the extremes of ultra-conservatism, determined to hold on to existing conditions, and the opposite extreme of the Reds, determined to upset the existing order of things, while between these there was the great mass of the people, who were considering the course of events, without violent tendencies either way, but determined to secure such action as would work for the advancement of the dominion as their own country.

In face of such conditions, Mr. Dafoe argued that the only thing to do was to face things as they were, permit full and free discussion by all concerned, no matter what their views, and eventually work out a reorientation of public opinion, so that gradually the country would emerge from this transition period with its usual sane and safe method of dealing with affairs, both political and in other lines of endeavor. But the backbone of the whole situation to meet the new order of things was that Canadians should learn a lesson from the men who had fought overseas, and be willing to make the necessary sacrifices for the advancement of their common country.

Broader Immigration Policy. As to the troubles in the west, Mr. Dafoe referred to them only incidentally, with a remark that immigration from other races must be encouraged unless the progress of the west was to be held back by fifty years of a century. There was a good-sized gathering, about 300 members being present, while at the head table was an unusual gathering of those prominent in newspaper life. Lieut.-Col. A. A. Magee presided, with Mr. Dafoe and Lord Atholstan on his right and left, others at the head table including Hon. Stephen White, General Sir Arthur Currie, Grant Hall, Jas. Brierley, Col. A. S. Eve, Dr. A. T. Hazin, George Lyman, Brig.-General J. Ross, E. Lamarche, C. L. Sibley, L. Houle, Mr. Justice MacEwan, C. Paré, C. F. Sise.

In presenting Mr. Dafoe the chairman remarked that he needed no introduction, since he had started his journalistic career three forty years ago, and had spent a number of years on Montreal newspapers until he succumbed to the lure of the west.

Mr. Dafoe was received with much applause, and at once plunged into his subject: "Canadian National Unity and the New Order," remarking he had many good friends who became restive at the words New Order, replying that there was no new order, nor would there be. He ironically remarked that these people admitted there had been a bit of a war and a few million men killed, that a number of empires had disappeared and one great civilization temporarily submerged; that the machinery of international trade was disarranged, while throughout the world there was labor unrest, poverty, unemployment, and the countless personal tragedies these things involved, but apart from these few little matters they thought things were about as they used to be, and looked forward to happier and unchanged conditions to come.

But, said Mr. Dafoe, those who surveyed the world as observers knew there were forces moving throughout the world which might become dangerous, and certainly could not be ignored. It was obvious that there had been a re-orientation of people toward their surroundings and the problems for the future, although Canada, with its habitual stability, had escaped much of this as yet.

Mr. Dafoe said he would confine himself to the political field in Canada, as viewed it at close range during the last ten days, at Ottawa. His parliamentary experience covered thirty-eight years, since the Fifth Parliament, while this was the 14th. There was not a single member of that or the succeeding parliament left in the House, and only one of the next, showing the instability of political ambition, although some had been translated to the Senate.

This change had not been confined to the membership, but to the very texture of parliament. For the first time he saw a government in power without a majority, the old theory being that a government must have a majority of at least twenty. The late government as official opposition, had fifty seats to the left, flanked by a body of mostly young and interested men filling the rest of the Opposition benches, marking the advent of the new order, instead of definitely committing a box or girl to a reformatory or industrial school for a term of three years, had the power to make it from one to three or four years, dependent upon the progress of the child. Judge Choquet was not quite convinced as to this argument of various acts, and it was finally decided to refer the problem to the Department of Justice for an interpretation.

TO RAISE AGE OF YOUNG OFFENDERS

Proclamation of Amendment to Juvenile Delinquents Act will be Urged—New Court Wanted.

In all likelihood the age of boys and girls dealt with by the Juvenile Delinquent court of Montreal will soon be raised from sixteen to eighteen, for a recommendation to this effect has been made to the Federal Government by the advisory committees, both Catholic and Protestant, which assist Judge Choquet in his work. At a special joint meeting of these two committees which was held at the court, there was a full discussion not only upon this point, but also on certain other phases of the juvenile delinquency problem. In a resolution making the recommendation referred to, the joint committee meeting also recommended the establishment in Montreal of a domestic relations court. Further, they decided to urge upon the executive committee of the City Council the question of more adequate premises for the Juvenile Court and the provision of proper detention home. Judge Choquet was present at the meeting, and it is understood that he acquiesced with the findings of the meeting, with the exception of another matter which was discussed, which was that of the indeterminate sentence for juveniles. It was decided, however, to refer the problem to the Department of Justice for an interpretation of the law.

While most of those engaged on the two committees realize that the establishment of a domestic relations court is greatly needed, there were one or two members who were of opinion that until the Juvenile Court is properly equipped and staffed, it is a mistaken policy to ask for the establishment of another court. On the other hand, it is in the minds of the committees that it may be possible to use the same court for the dual purpose, sitting on different days or at different hours. Further, it is urged by the advocates of the domestic relations court that it is a natural corollary of the Juvenile Court, as many of the cases of juvenile delinquents are the direct outcome of unhappy parental relations. The meeting decided to make a recommendation that such should be established.

On the question of the indeterminate sentence for juveniles, it appeared that the legal members of the committees, after some discussion, had arrived at the conclusion that the Judge of the Juvenile Court instead of definitely committing a box or girl to a reformatory or industrial school for a term of three years, had the power to make it from one to three or four years, dependent upon the progress of the child. Judge Choquet was not quite convinced as to this argument of various acts, and it was finally decided to refer the problem to the Department of Justice for an interpretation.

The members of both committees were convinced as to the inadequacy of the present court premises on Champs de Mars street. It is contended that the court itself is not large enough, and does not allow of sufficient privacy; also that the detention home on the premises is altogether insufficient; hence it was agreed to make strong representations to the executive committee of the city council as to the need for new premises. The two advisory committees of the Juvenile Court have lately received strong support from a joint committee of the Rotary and Kiwanis Club, which has studied the question of juvenile delinquency in this city, and which in a special report on the subject has urged the need of new premises and of a proper probation staff.

THORNE LODGE CONCERT. The concert in Thorne Lodge hall last evening, under the auspices of Thorne Lodge I. O. G. T., was a fine success despite the weather. There was a good attendance and the programme presented reflected credit on those who were responsible for it. T. D. Owens acted as chairman and introduced the performers. The programme was: piano solo, Miss Gussie Treacart; eccentric dancing and singing, little Miss M. Mills and little Miss McMahon; vocal solo, W. McEachern; reading, Miss Marion Brown; instrumental selections, Messrs. Stanton and Mills; solo, Miss Hilda Williams; piano solo, Miss H. McEwan; instrumental, The Sison Musical Quartette; musical, The Cohen Trio. The programme concluded with a ninth-producing minstrel show that made a great hit with the audience with their songs and patter. J. McEachern was interlocutor. During termination, candy was sold under the direction of Miss Marion Brown.

The extension of the age of 18 years will, if it comes into effect, considerably add to the work of the court, and this fact has been one of the things that caused those who are interested in such problems to hesitate, for it is realized that with the present equipment and probation staff the Juvenile Court is already carrying a heavy burden. At the same time, social workers recognize that there are very many boys and girls between 16 and 18 who are, at all intents and purposes, children and ought to be dealt with in the same way as those under sixteen.
