KING AND LABORER TOGETHER AT SERVICE IN MEMORY OF HEROES

St. Paul's Thronged as Scott and Party are Honored

Chance to Rescue Them Declared to Have Been Lost by Acting Commander's Inexperience and There is ill Feeling—Criticism Over Response to Scott's Appeal

(Canadian Press)

London, Feb. 14.—The British nation today paid its last respects to the memory of Captain Scott and his heroic companions who died in the white of the Antarctic after reaching the South Pole. A great memorial service was held in the cathedral of St. Paul's in the centre of the metropolis and this was attended by people of every walk in life, from King George in the uniform of an admiral of the fleet, down to the common laborer, who was proud to feel that the men who had met such a noble death were his countrymen.

The king, surrounded by a brilliantly uniformed staff, occupied a seat between the great dome, while the other parts of the cathedral were filled by the general public to the fullest extent of the accommodation. Only a few seats had been reserved for the royal party, which comprised representatives of Queen Mother Alexandra and of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall. Premier Asquith, with all the cabinet ministers, was present and many members of the foreign diplomatic corps and their attaches were there.

Hours before noon, the time set for the singing of the first hymn, "Rock of Ages," the police had regrettably to turn away many thousands who could not even get within view of the dome of the cathedral. The service was a simple but solemn one. It included the playing of the Dead March in Saul, in which the great cathedral organ was accompanied by a military band. The service concluded with the hymn "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

In the closing collects, the names of the five dead explorers were included. The whole service was most impressive. Vast crowds remained throughout outside the cathedral and a great number of British blue jackets were present both inside and outside.

Christchurch, N. Z., Feb. 14.—Commence was made here yesterday for the effect of Captain Scott, Dr. Wilson and Lieut. Bowers might have been saved if the rescue party had pushed south vigorously from the base in March, 1912. Its failure, according to the critics, was apparently due to the inexperience of the acting commander, Surgeon Atkinson, who allowed the bulk of the party to remain at Cape Evans, out of open water from Hut Point at the edge of the barrier.

At the end of February two men were 100 miles to the depot near which Scott, but returned on March 10. On March 17, Doctor Atkinson and one companion went on eighty miles and then returned. The southern explorers, the critics argue, were left to their fate at the very time when the delay in their reappearance made it obvious that their need of assistance was intense.

Feeling, it is asserted has been aroused among the survivors of the expedition by this failure. The relations between Commander Evans, now the leader of the expedition, and Surgeon Atkinson are reported to be very much strained. Asked for a statement regarding the rescue party, Commander Evans said:

"There is Doctor Atkinson. He is the man who knows. If he makes a statement, I shall have something to say after him." Surgeon Atkinson did not reply to a formal inquiry as to the conduct of the search expedition.

London, Feb. 14.—In response to a cablegram from the editor of the Chronicle inquiring him of that paper's donation of 2,000 pounds to the Scott memorial fund and asking for further news of the expedition, Commander Evans has to be excused from "going into the details which may be painful in regard to the end of our beloved comrades."

"The whole history of this expedition," he adds, "will certainly be given to the public in due course, but please let us complete our work in quietness. We are pledged to do our utmost to bring this expedition to a successful termination. Included in that is the publication of the scientific and other details as a leading tribute to those who have not been spared. Perhaps now you can realize why the official telegram was so short. Surely its painful brevity needs no defense."

FURTHER DETAILS OF FEARFUL MARCH London, Feb. 14.—Commander E. R. Evans sends further particulars in a despatch from Christchurch (N. Z.), as of the ill-fated British Antarctic expedition. The party under Captain Scott, after leaving Commander Evans on January 4, 1912, marched an average of twelve miles daily and reached the pole on January 17. Capt. Scott's observations by the theodolite on January 18, fixed the pole within half a mile of Amundsen's observations. The Scott party had followed Amundsen's track and found his camp within three miles of the pole. Several photographs of Scott and his comrades at the pole were obtained. From the time of reaching the pole, Petty Officer Evans' condition gave great anxiety, but good progress was made on the return journey over great plains in medium weather. Before descending the Beardmore glacier, Doctor Wilson and Lieut. Bowers collected fossils on Bickley Island.

The descent of Beardmore glacier was accomplished in thick weather, and deep snow greatly delayed the march. Petty Officer Evans fell on the rough ice and sustained concussion of the brain. His condition caused further delay and the surplus food was consumed. On Feb. 17, Evans collapsed and was placed on a sledge. He died a few hours afterwards. The bad ice surface and the illness of Captain Oates still further hampered the progress and weakened the energies of the party. Sometimes they made only three miles a day. Then came blizzards and head winds which completed the disaster. The searching party under Doctor Atkinson found their tent on November 10 half covered by the snow. The bodies were identified. A tent was placed over them and a large cairn of snow erected. A cross with a brief record was placed on top, this signed by all the members of the searching party.

The searching party employed mules, which hauled heavier weights and proved generally more efficient than ponies.

CRITICISM OVER MATTER OF APPEAL

New York, Feb. 14.—A London cable says—Criticism in some of the government delay in making any definite announcement of its intention to carry out the promise by Premier Asquith that Captain Scott's body would not fall on deaf ears.

It is suggested that the progress of the search for the bodies of the explorers is due to the desire of the public to wait and see what the government's plans are before contributing. None of the newspapers subscriptions up to the present shows total donations at all commensurate with the depth of public feeling and the first days response to the lord mayor's appeal was remarkably small, the chief contributors being Mrs. Agnes Webb Medley, who gives £1,000, and Sir Charles and Lady Waldstein, who send £100.

The Daily Express has an editorial article entitled "A Debt of Honor," in which it says:

"Three days have passed since Mr. Asquith made his promise, and nothing good or worthy has been done. Captain Scott's papers have opened funds for public subscriptions, there is the lord mayor's fund and there is another fund organized by the private committee responsible for the Scott Antarctic expedition. But the response is meagre and belittles the honor of the nation."

"The right course was an announcement of a generous grant intended of a vague promise, not yet fulfilled. In taking that course Mr. Asquith would have honored the government and the nation. Instead, we have this painful official silence and these modified private funds, which almost suggest that Captain Scott's official neglect when he wrote his impressive appeal."

"The whole situation has been grossly mismanaged and an appearance is given of a slur on heroic memories, of national reluctance to respond to the most stirring appeal that ever a dying hand penned."

Queen Alexandra has addressed the following letter to Lord Curzon, president of the Royal Geographical Society:

"Dear Lord Curzon:—Queen Alexandra desires me to tell you how deeply grieved she is to hear the terrible news of the death of Captain Scott and his party in the Antarctic. Her Majesty feels that the death of these brave explorers and their intrepid leader is an incalculable loss, not only to the nation, but to the great society of which you are president. It may be some slight consolation to know that their purpose has been achieved, and Her Majesty is certain that their splendid, successful undertaking in the cause of science and discovery will be forever gratefully remembered by the people of this country. Her Majesty has read the pathetic, touching message which Capt. Scott left behind him, and is confident that it will not pass unheeded."

"I am to assure you of Queen Alexandra's intense feeling of sorrow at the disaster, and to say how full her heart is of sympathy for Mrs. Scott and the relatives of those who perished in their performance of their duty."

"Believe me, yours sincerely, HENRY STURGEON, Marshal."

HAD LIVED IN REIGN OF SIX BRITISH RULERS

Brampton, Ont., Feb. 14.—After braving the storms of life for more than a century, Matilda La France, an Indian of the Mohawk tribe, died yesterday in the house of refuge here. She lived to a great age under the reign of six British monarchs, and tradition places her years at 108. Although she was born on the old Indian reserve at Port Credit, there seems little doubt that the woman was descended from the Mohawk branch of the Six Nations at Caughnawaga.

A CAUCUS TODAY IN FREDERICTON

Government Supporters Called For This Aforenoon

RE-ORGANIZATION RUMORS

Whisper of Tariff Board Post For Premier—Some Bothersome Complications Over Legislation—The Heads of Committees

(Special to Times)

Fredricton, Feb. 14.—A caucus of government supporters is called for this afternoon at four o'clock. This is unusual to say the least, and indicates that some measure of importance are to be decided or discussed by the rank and file.

In spite of denial, there are persistent rumors in connection with the re-organization of the government. These rumors are all based upon the assumption that Premier Fleming will hand over his office and his trouble in the near future to some of his colleagues. It is even mentioned what position the premier would consent to accept. The permanent tariff board measure bowled over by the senate last year may go through this year and that whereupon the premier's resignation is insisted a position should be found for him.

The caucus will not likely discuss this matter, but there are some measures of importance demanded by the people that require careful consideration. The agitation for permanent roads has given the administration some anxious moments. Just what to do to satisfy both automobile owners and farmers is a problem that must be faced. The proposed change in the railway railway may come up for discussion, the demands of the temperance people, which will no doubt be backed by all the members who pledged themselves to prohibition, must be met as well as the interests of the farmers.

The assistance asked for by the dry and steel manufacturing industry did not appear so favorably to the members of the caucus. It is expected that the government will proceed with caution before entering into any decision.

This morning the groups of members are exchanging views on the naval question and filing recommendations for the chief contributors being Mrs. Agnes Webb Medley, who gives £1,000, and Sir Charles and Lady Waldstein, who send £100.

Hon. James Murray and Messrs. Tilley and Hickey, in reply to the governor, were the committee named yesterday to prepare over contingencies. Ship of the new offices of the government in the residence formerly belonging to the Church of England bishop.

There will be but few changes in the membership of committees as scheduled on this morning at a meeting of the nominating committee. Pinder remains chairman of public works, Slipp of corporations, Munro of municipalities and Dixon of agriculture. Woods or Murray will prepare over contingencies. Slipp of the library committee, Murray of standing order, Gummer of law practice and procedure and privileges.

KNIGHTS OF THE ROUND TABLE ARE HOSTS

Banquet Given Portland Methodist Sunday School Executive—A Presentation

The Knights of the Round Table, a body of young men forming a class connected with the Portland Methodist church Sunday school last evening tendered a banquet to the members of the executive of the school, the teachers and others. About 60 were present. An enjoyable time was spent and the young men having charge of the arrangements were given much praise for the successful manner in which the affair was conducted. Every detail was carefully attended to and all present had a fine time.

R. T. Hayes, superintendent of the school, presided, and made an interesting address, reviewing the work of the last year, which he said had been most successful. Other addresses were made by the pastor, Rev. H. Pierce, F. S. Thomas, William Young and Captain W. B. McLean. An interesting feature of the programme was the presentation to the Sunday school teachers of a well equipped teachers' library, which was presented by the young men through their president, James Stern, and thankfully acknowledged by the chairman, Mr. Hayes. The gift is greatly appreciated by the teachers.

The Sunday school is in excellent condition and it has been a notable feature that the average attendance has been very large. On one Sunday in January the attendance was 478.

Big Crowds Gather to Cheer Louise and Her Prince—Wilhelm Presents Bouquets to Empress and Daughter

(Canadian Press)

Berlin, Feb. 14.—Between the speeches, which he has been so busily making during the last week, the Kaiser found time to arrange a picturesque state entry into Berlin yesterday for his only daughter, the Princess Victoria Louise, and her fiance, Prince Ernest of Cumberland.

The royal lovers, accompanied by the Kaiserin, arrived from Kieltrappe at 8.30 in the morning. Many thousands of people assembled in front of the Potsdam station where, by command of the Kaiser, four squadrons of the Zeiter Red Hussars, to which Prince Ernest has just been assigned, were drawn up with guards for the escort duty.

The Kaiser was wreathed in smiles as he assisted his daughter and his daughter-in-law to alight from the train. He handed the Kaiserin a bouquet of red carnations and his daughter a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Princess Louise, who was followed by her fiance, a tall slender figure with black, closely cut moustache, and in the uniform of the Bavarian heavy dragoons, the Prince's baggage, which included a plumed and when the burgomasters presented her a bouquet of orchids and welcomed her with a cordial welcome to Berlin.

The Kaiser, Kaiserin, princess and prince then entered a four-horse carriage with outriders, and proceeded to the royal castle, escorted by Zeppelins Hussars.

Late in the afternoon, according to the party a hearty welcome. The new Princess's reception, which was the Kaiser's birthday, was the Kaiser's birthday, which was the Kaiser's birthday, which was the Kaiser's birthday.

ATHENA WAS ON FOUL GROUND; FREED AGAIN

(Canadian Press)

Mexico City, Feb. 14.—The rebel battle today at a quarter to six when they started firing in the direction of the federal concentration points. It had been expected that the federals would attack first.

President Madero this morning sent another ultimatum to Felix Diaz demanding his surrender, and the reply came in the shape of cannon balls from the insurgent biggest guns.

A constant stream of refugees, most of them Mexican citizens, was observed carrying bundles and scurrying toward the suburbs from the densely populated districts between the arsenal and the national palace as soon as the firing became more intense. In many of the churches special services were started for the restoration of peace to the capital. Thousands of refugees knelt and joined in the prayers, at the same time raising not a little in the heavy walls for protection against the flying projectiles.

Felix Diaz made preparations to contest every inch of the advance of the government. He told the government that he and his followers preferred to die at their posts, rather than surrender.

Soon after 8 o'clock a concert, five blocks beyond the national palace, was wrecked by a shell from a rebel gun and a number of the people in it were killed.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Mediation in Mexico, rather than intervention by the appointment of a Pan-American committee, was urged today upon President Taft, Senator Cullum, of the foreign relations committee, and Representative Ford, of the foreign affairs committee, by John Barrett, director-general of the Pan-American Union.

Laredo, Tex., Feb. 14.—Federal telegraph officials in communication with the town of Victoria Tamaulipas last night were informed that fighting was going on there.

ANOTHER SUFFRAGE INCIDENT IN THE BRITISH COMMONS

Interruption From Gallery; Offender Bundled Out; Another Faints

New York, Feb. 14.—A cable from London says: Another exciting incident in the suffrage agitation took place last night in the House of Commons. While Hon. C. T. Mills, member for Ulbridge, was speaking on the Indian silver question, a man in the stranger's gallery arose and shouted:

"I protest against your brutal treatment of women!" Since the last scene of the kind occurred, several private detectives have been on duty in the gallery and these jumped up before the man had time to utter any further words, he was overpowered. One of the detectives put his hand over the man's mouth and the other carried him bodily out of the gallery. After being detained some time he was escorted out of the building.

A few minutes later another man who evidently had become excited in consequence of the incident, fainted and was quietly removed.

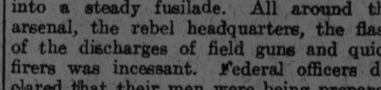

LONG WHARF SEWER TROUBLE

An unpleasant situation has arisen at the head of Long Wharf through the blocking of a sewer. When the cold storage plant was built the company agreed to put down a new sewer to replace one which ran through their site. This was done and most of the properties were connected with the new sewer, but two houses at the head of Long Wharf were overlooked and have been depending on the old main.

This has become blocked, flooding the premises occupied by Mr. McGowan and threatening to do the same in Mr. Doherty's house. The matter has been reported to the city commissioners and they will take it up with the C. P. R.

RELIGIOUS LOSES HER LIFE IN FIRE

Sister St. Simon of Oblate Fathers' Scolasticate, Ottawa, Burned to Death—Others Narrowly Escape

(Canadian Press)

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 14.—Sister St. Simon, sister superior, connected with the Oblate Fathers' scolasticate, Ottawa, lost her life in a fire this morning which destroyed the three story building adjoining the scolasticate, and used as a cooking house and linen room. There were twelve sisters sleeping on the top floor, but eleven found their way to safety by the fire escape. The sister superior, who was on the same floor, but in a private room, was rescued and came out following the fire escape. Just before she reached it, she was heard to cry: "I'm fainting," and a minute later she fell with a scream.

She was not seen again, and all efforts to reach her were futile, owing to the rapid spread of the flames which beat back a party of priests who attempted rescue with ladders.

One of the nuns had a leg and arm broken by falling from a fire escape, and the others were painfully treated in their hospital exit.

In the main building there are seventy seven fathers and brothers, but the fire did not reach it. The sisters were all from France, the sister superior having come to Ottawa only last September. Previous to then she had been in South Africa, though her home was in Brittany, France.

The building was located in a large park on the outskirts of the city, about 1,000 feet from the nearest hydrant, which made the work of the firemen slow, and water pressure poor owing to the long stretch of hose. It was impossible to save the structure. It is considered fortunate that, under the circumstances, the other eleven sisters succeeded in escaping without assistance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

DEATH OF MRS. JANE DUNK

Husband Was I. C. R. Man—Moncton Papers Were Hit by Gas Trouble

Moncton, Feb. 14.—The body of Mrs. Jane Dunk, whose death occurred at Shediac Cape on Wednesday afternoon, will be taken to Amherst this afternoon for interment. She was the widow of George Dunk, and was seventy-two years of age. She died suddenly. Her husband, whose death occurred about four years ago, was very well known among employees of the I. C. R., having been a baggage master at Springhill Junction. Mrs. Dunk was a native of Edinburgh, and came to this country about thirty-five years ago. Three daughters and two sons survive—Mrs. Clarence Ross of Wolsey, Sask.; Mrs. W. R. Fitzmaurice of Amherst; and Mrs. Arthur Macgridge of Shediac Cape; Andrew Dunk, I. C. R. chief train dispatcher in Sydney, and D. W. Dunn of Marcus, Washington.

The Moncton newspapers were hit quite hard by the freezing up of the natural gas main. It was impossible to issue the Transcript on Wednesday afternoon, but on Thursday morning Wednesday evening's edition was printed. Since 1881, when Mr. Havelle assumed the proprietorship, this is the first time that the Transcript failed to publish on the date which appeared on its page, that on the day was abandoned. This morning the Times appeared as usual.

GAMBLER QUARRELS WITH WIFE, SHOTS AND CHILD IS KILLED

New York, Feb. 14.—James Purcell, a veteran gambler, who testified before the aldermanic committee last week that he had paid police graft over a period of seventeen years, quarrelled early today with his wife in their apartment, and was shot.

Mrs. Purcell fainted, but wild bullets struck their thirteen-year-old daughter, Agnes, who lay covering in bed, and killed her almost instantly. Thinking that he had murdered both women, Purcell surrendered himself to the police.

GOSTLY VALENTINES RULE THIS DAY OF CUPID

Flowers in Baskets and Candles in Rare Boxes. The Rivals of Fancy Lace Paper and Hearts

(Copyright, 1912, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Next to flowers, candy makes the most acceptable valentine. All the candy dealers recognize this fact and prepare special assortments for use on St. Valentine's day.

BASKETS AND BOXES FOR CANDY.

Among the attractive candy holders are the white split reed baskets, suitable for the candy is gone for gloves, handkerchiefs, note paper or any feminine odds and ends. These baskets are decorated with huge bows or rosettes of light color satin ribbons which tie in place bunches of life-like artificial flowers. One basket, for instance, is topped with a rosette of spring, when every one is pining for a breath of the woods, and because flowers have always been credited with an especial understanding of the tender passion which for centuries has prompted men to send valentines, flowers seem to form the most suitable remembrance of this festive day.

Any flowers from the six fruit roses in a bed of ferns which can be bought for 30 cents to the basket of orchids which might cost half as many dollars are acceptable valentine gifts. Baskets or boxes of several sorts of flowers combined are especially pretty and suggestive of spring and everything that spring typifies. Charming combinations are white lilacs and lilies of the valley, trimmed with white ribbon, massive primroses and purple violets with ribbon the color of the primrose, pink hyacinths, and pussy willows with pink ribbon, pink and white-striped tulips, deep rose colored cyclamens and a spray of apple blossoms, and jonquils, yellow primroses and green or yellow ribbon.

Most florists have baskets in which they arrange flowers, banking them up with moss and ferns and tying the ribbons of harmonious colors on handles and sides of the baskets. If the florist has no basket, the basket can be bought separately and filled at home. The baskets are suitable after the flowers are gone for work baskets, garden baskets or for holding other flowers or any knick-knacks.

Some of the florists combine flowers and fruit in a way which adds to the beauty of both. A basket of flowers and a few choice grapes of any kind would make a welcome valentine.

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIRS

A Few Applications of a Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashioned "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair-tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It removes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay another minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

day before, the luncheon she mailed to her own address a little package for each guest. At dessert the maid answered a ring at the door given by an imaginary postman—really a small daughter who thought it great to be in her mother's secret—and appeared in the dining room with a trayful of packages of paper done up with red twine with hearts of paper used as seals.

A merry ten minutes followed while the guests unfastened the bundles. Some of the gifts enclosed were happily ironic on the hobbies of the guests. A woman with a weakness for sweets found a little satin heart full of bonbons. A woman with a taste for pretty clothes unrolled layers of waxed paper to find a true confessor of the milliner's art—a canopy hat, trimmed with candy flowers and ribbons. The unmarried guests found little plaster cupids—one wedding an arrow, another carrying a heart, another linking two rings together.

A SCHEME OF DECORATION.

The table decorations at this luncheon, designed by the clever hostess, showed a bank of red carnations and apricots fern in the centre of the table. Half a dozen small plaster cupids were hidden in the greenery and flowers. To the hand of each cupid several streamers of red satin ribbon, baby width, were tied, and these streamers led to each guest's place where they ended in a rosette fastened to the place card—hand painted with cupids and hearts. Under the rosette the stems of long-stemmed carnations and a sprig of fern were slipped, with a pin to fasten the flowers in the corsage.

Plaster cupids, in marble white, five inches tall and well modelled, make attractive place favors. Each of these cupids carries over his arm with a colored ribbon a square box—about an inch square. Each box could contain a different sort of cracker—one that would call attention to the various follies and fancies of the guests, if the hostess wished. Rings and doves, slippers and hearts in white and gilt china, a bundle of tiny square envelopes made of writing paper, and tied, lozenges, with blue ribbon, a little scroll containing a pertinent quotation—all these would be appropriate knickknacks for these gifts.

There is a new sort of poppy cracker which is bound to please any gathering of children on Valentine's Day. These crackers which have only one fringed end, stand on little pasteboard platforms. They lift up from the platform to disclose the other end of the snapper without which no cracker would be complete. The Valentine's Day crackers are made in red and are adorned with cupids, hearts and doves.

Wonderful French dolls dressed in the latest devices of fashion are made in the form of candy boxes. Some of these, whose clothes, to be sure, are not quite up to the latest mark, are sold for 50 or 75 cents. The dolls dressed in the latest price cost three times as much as those of more moderate style. Any of these French dolls, filled with fine bonbons, would be attractive valentine gifts or favors.

QUARTETTE MAKING GREAT WINNINGS AT MONTE CARLO TABLES

Monte Carlo, Feb. 13.—While the social life of Monte Carlo goes on day after day without much variety, and the same people take depose, tea and dinner with one another in the same places and in the same little sets, as much cannot be said of the gambling, which each day has surprises, pleasant or otherwise, in store for those interested in the luck of several very high players who are here just now.

Probably the most talked of persons in Monte Carlo these days are three men—a Frenchman, an Austrian and an Englishman—and there is also one member of the fair sex who, for plucky and often lucky play, is not out of the picture.

Not infrequently when a favorite number turns up some 20,000, or 40,000, are paid out. A proof of the extent to which the bank was obliged to count out notes the other night is that more money was sent for three times, and within one hour there were only twelve spins.

There was an amusing scene, "renouveau" between the "chef de partie" and the French and Austrian players.

At last the Austrian said—"I insist upon playing 12,000, and if you won't let me play it on black I'll play it on red."

And back red he did, and red turned up five times, with the result that instead of being out 111,000-franc he was 60,000-franc to the good.

Two other two have always been very high players, and are more or less accustomed to differences of two or three hundred thousand francs a day, but the Englishman still about a week ago was playing silver and small gold pieces.

His luck, however, has been quite wonderful, and now he has, too, a playing notes and 100,000 francs.

THEN AND NOW

In March, 1909, Mr. R. L. Borden, speaking in the House of Commons said:—"I am entirely of opinion on the first place that the proper line upon which we should proceed is the line of having a Canadian naval force of our own. I entirely believe in that. The other experiment has been tried as between Australia and the mother country, and it has not worked satisfactorily in any respect."

In October of the same year, addressing the Canadian Club in London, Mr. Borden said of the resolution, which had been passed by the parliament of Canada:

"The resolution in the form in which it was passed, while its terms might not appear on the surface seem as significant as the offer of one or two Dreadnoughts would have been, laid down a permanent policy for the Dominion of Canada which would serve a more practical purpose than any such offer of Dreadnoughts."

Still later in the same year, speaking in Halifax, Mr. Borden said:—"One governing principle at least should control, namely, that out of our own industry and our own people any necessary provision for our naval defense should be made, so far as may be reasonably possible. In this connection, may not we hope that there shall be given a stimulus and encouragement to the ship building industry of Canada which has long been lacking?"

Last night at Ottawa Mr. Borden joined with his Nationalist allies and voted down a resolution to carry out the policy which less than four years ago he declared to be the right policy for Canada. The streets of Ottawa are so dear to the Nationalists, that they have no difficulty in repudiating that which they formerly advocated. Nevertheless the policy which is now and was before supported by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal party is the right policy for Canada and must in the end prevail. When the people have an opportunity to express their views upon the whole question, Mr. Borden and his Nationalist allies will understand more clearly how completely they misinterpreted the feelings of the people regarding the matters of Canadian autonomy and imperial defense.

STREETS AND TREES

They have in Nova Scotia an act to provide for the planting and care of shade trees. It is known as the Street Tree Act, and provides that in any town or city a shade tree commission of three persons may be appointed, who shall serve without compensation, and who shall have power to plant and take care of shade trees on any of the public streets of the city. Where there is a public park commission already in existence, it may be charged with the duties of the street tree commission. The act provides that the cost of the work done by the commission in planting trees shall be borne by the owner of the property in front of which the trees are planted, while the city or town must pay for cutting or replacing such trees. This appears to be a very useful act, and, if the people of the cities and towns take full advantage of it, the result will be a great improvement in the beauty of their streets.

TAX REFORM

There was an interesting discussion in the Toronto legislature the other day on the subject of taxation, and one of the speakers who supported Sir James Whitney and is opposed to anything approaching the single tax, presented what he regarded as a conclusive argument in support of his own views. As a matter of fact the same argument had been presented before by Sir James himself. The speaker took the case of a rich man and a poor man on opposite corners, whose lots were of the same value, but whose houses were assessed the one at $44 and the other at $18.20. He contended that under the single tax, the poor man would have to pay $20 more and the rich man nearly $18 less.

The Toronto World, Conservative, replies very effectively to this line of argument. It says:—"The land tax reform cannot be settled on one or two cases separated from the operation of the system over the whole area of a municipality. Land tax reform contemplates a re-assessment of the whole of such areas, when central properties would bear a very much higher proportionate assessment than they do at present, and the assessment roll in general would be increased without bearing unduly on the owners of cheaper outlying property. It has not yet been shown in practice that the land tax discriminates against the poor in favor of the rich. The poor support it for the reverse reason, and the rich object to it because it requires them to pay more than they do under the old system."

THE HOUSING QUESTION

The Amherst News is urging upon the Greater Amherst Committee, which is to that town what we may assume the Greater Board of Trade will be to St. John, the importance of preventing the growth of slums as the town expands. The News looks for a population of 20,000 in Amherst within the next five or six years, and the growth would be brought about by the establishment of new industries

COUGHING BURST

BLOOD VESSEL
Says Danger Avoided and Cures Coughs in 5 Hours

A writer for the medical press states that coughing is responsible for the bursting of blood vessels quite frequently. A cough or cold means inflammation of the throat and chest, and these in turn indicate that the body is full of poisons and waste matter. Simple relief as found in patent cough medicines, and a whiskey, often result in more harm than good; as they cause more congestion. A tonic-stimulant more congenial. BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

FEBRUARY FOURTEENTH

This is the seventy-eighth birthday of the Hon. John Valentine Ellis, the veteran publisher of the St. John Globe, who was born in Halifax in 1833. Commencing as a printer's devil, he went to St. John in 1857, and started work as a reporter. Five years later he bought out the Globe, which he has since published continuously. He has been in partnership with the brother, removing to Toronto in 1887, where he became interested in the pork packing business. He has been wonderfully successful in his ventures and is now connected with many industrial and financial companies, being rated as a millionaire. He has given liberally to charity and education, and is on the boards of the University of Toronto and the Toronto General Hospital.

WOMAN'S PREROGATIVE

"Does your wife ever change her mind?" "Only on some minor matters," replied Mr. Meekton after careful thought. "I believe I recall that she once expressed an intention to divorce me, but she never got to the point of doing so, but she now goes to let other women see what she is wearing."

TRUSTS' PROSPERITY

Discussing the high cost of living, Henry S. Oliphant, a Des Moines banker, said frankly at a banquet:—"The price of a commodity is what it will bring, and when monopoly is once secured, that price mounts pretty high. Look at oil. Look at meat."

WHAT FOLLOWED A CUT

A Magistrate's Wonderful Experience With Zan-Buk

Mr. J. E. Arsenault, a Justice of the Peace, and station master at Wellington, on the Prince Edward Island Ry., has had a wonderful proof of the healing power of Zan-Buk. He says:—"Four years ago I had an accident. I slipped in the station and fell on a freight truck, sustaining a bad cut on the front of my leg. I thought this would heal, but instead of doing so it developed into a bad ulcer and later into a form of eczema which spread very rapidly and also started on the other leg. Both legs became so swollen and sore that I could only go about my work by having them bandaged. My doctor said I must stop work and lay up. After six months of this trouble I consulted another doctor, but with no better result. I tried all the salves, liniments and lotions I heard of, but instead of getting better I got worse. It was my condition when I got my first box of Zan-Buk. Greatly to my delight that first box gave me relief. I continued to apply it to the sores, and day after day they got better. I could see that at last I had got hold of something which would cure me, and in the end it did. It is now over a year since Zan-Buk worked a cure in my case, and there has been no return of the eczema or any trace of it. Such is the nature of the great cures which Zan-Buk is daily effecting. Purely herbal in composition, this great ointment is a cure for all skin diseases, cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, alopecia, blood-poisoning, various sores, piles, scalp scabs, ringworm, inflamed patches, cuts, burns, and bruises. All druggists and stores sell at 25¢ box or just five from Zan-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of order."

PRESBYTERIANS AND PEACE CAUSE

Movement in Support is Started in West

A PEACE MANIFESTO

Resolution Passed in Westminster and Copies Sent to Political Leaders in Canada and to All the Other Presbyteries

(Winnipeg Tribune).
 The Presbytery of Westminster has taken the first step toward eliciting the active support of the Presbyterian church of Canada for the cause of world peace. On the motion of Rev. John MacKay, D. D., principal of Westminster hall, the presbytery adopted unanimously the following resolution and caused copies to be transmitted to Premier Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and also to the other presbyteries of the church throughout Canada.

Peace Manifesto

Whereas the parliament of Canada is soon to decide its attitude to naval armaments; and
 Whereas, there is a growing opinion among thinking men of civilized peoples as to the utility of armaments, as absolutely out of place in the twentieth century, as it is wasteful and wicked; and
 Whereas the loss of life and physical suffering entailed by war falls largely upon the producing classes, and the resulting sorrow and bitter struggle for existence upon their wives and helpless children; and
 Whereas the immediate duty of civilized nations is to right the wrongs of the vast numbers within their own borders, who are handicapped by poverty and harsh economic conditions; and
 Whereas, the immense sums now being spent on armaments would vastly lessen the poverty of the civilized world; and
 Whereas, the development of the United States has been made possible by drawing upon the population of all nations of Europe, and the development of Canada depends upon her ability to draw largely upon the same sources; and
 Whereas, because of the complex interdependence of the world's financial and commercial centers, any European war would produce practical industrial paralysis in the United States and Canada with its attendant frightful loss of life and property; and Therefore, we believe that the time has come in the history of Christian civilization when a serious effort should be made by the nations of the world as to the necessity of war. In order to secure this inquiry we suggest the following procedure to the parliament of Canada now in session:

1. That both parties unite in a declaration which will make it quite clear to all the world that while Great Britain should withdraw her troops from Egypt to avoid the awful catastrophe of a European war, yet should such a war result, Canada is ready to stand or fall by the Empire.
 2. That the parliament of Canada should approach the president and congress of the United States, looking toward joint action in making overtures to the European nations, and that each of their representatives to consider afresh their international relations. This council should proceed with an exchange of information, and should honestly and earnestly seek to find some common ground, justifying international differences more in harmony with the spirit of modern civilization, and recognizing the fact that conditions that bind all peoples, into one world family are now so many and so intricate that no two nations ever separate without seriously affecting all others. The refusal of any European nation to enter such a conference, being understood as an act, may be followed by economic penalties, such as the surtax on its commerce with the United States.
 3. That it be arranged by the United States and Canada that as soon as an understanding has been arrived at between European powers, they will call a council representing the world's powers to establish a permanent court for the settlement of international disputes by reason and righteousness, and not by blind passion and brute force.
 When the Church Should Lead
 The presbyteries, commenting on the manifesto, says:
 The peace manifesto of the presbytery of Westminster is a document of utmost importance, partly on account of the proposals which it makes for parliamentary action, but even more because it is a recognition of the church's duty to share, say, to lead in the enterprise of promoting international peace.
 There is great need for leadership in this movement. Many people have not yet learned to think properly on the subject. Their eyes are blinded by the false glances of military glory; a spurious patriotism holds in check their human sympathy. Their imagination has not yet been kindled to realize the ghastliness and devilry of war. Our political leaders express themselves publicly as favoring peace but one looks in vain for any practical step towards its promotion. Days of debate are spent in parliament in discussing how $3,000,000 can best be expended in preparation for war; but not an hour nor a dollar is given to furthering the cause of international good will.
 And yet there is a great deal of genuine peace sentiment in the country if it could be consolidated and organized. Within the past two or three weeks the Grain Growers' Association of Manitoba, the Dominion Grange, and the United Farmers of Alberta have all expressed themselves as opposed to armaments and in favor of international arbitration. The labor organizations take the same position, and there are thousands of thoughtful men of every rank waiting an opportunity to range themselves on the side of so humane and Christian a movement.
 In the past, the church has not taken the position which it was her privilege and duty to take with reference to war and peace. Too often she has followed in the military procession and sought to beat the drums and rouse the fighting fever. At best she has been content to do little or nothing to stem the drift towards war. Let us be thankful for an indication, such as that afforded by the British Columbia manifesto, that the church in Canada is coming to a better mind. Who should lead in a movement against war, if not the church? General Sherman said that war is hell. If the church has nothing to say against murder, if she has no light to wage against the powers of hell, her occupation is gone and her doom is sealed.

 What can the church do? Her synods and assemblies call at least, bear their testimony and, so far, deliver their souls. But the church can do more. Her courts can memorialize parliament to take action for the establishment of good international relations, and her pulpits can create a public sentiment to sustain such action. And better yet, the church can join with other organizations to make the peace propaganda international. Her representatives can meet the representatives of sister bodies in other countries and arrange to work on corresponding lines. When the International Socialist congress met in Basel in November, it issued a manifesto calling upon the Socialists in all the countries of Europe to join in an international campaign to make peace. Surely the brotherhood of Christianity which unites the nations is not less real than the brotherhood of Socialism.

Socialists have vowed that they will shoot down their brother Socialists. If the members of the Christian church were to vow that they would not shoot down their brethren, who believe in Jesus Christ, war would come to an end. Let the church lead towards the great consummation. To a willing heart the way will be disclosed by which God's will can be accomplished and fulfillment given to the prophet's dream of a time when nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

TOO MUCH FOR HIM.
 It is said the present Liberal government have passed into law no fewer than 236 new acts of parliament. In this connection D. H. L. Young, of Crutcherland, relates a rather amusing experience he had the other day with a farmer. "They tell me," said the farmer to Mr. Young, "the Liberals have made 236 new laws; is that true?"
 "Oh, well, they have been very busy, and that may be the number," was Mr. Young's reply.
 "Aweel," rejoined the farmer, dropping into the Doric, "there are only Ten Commandments, and I am no' able to keep them. I dinna see how I can be expected to ken, far less keep, 236 new acts of parliament."
 Mr. Young tells the story with great glee, apropos his argument that the legislation of the country these days is going too fast.

LIFE'S LITTLE ECONOMIES.
 They were discussing men people, and during the course of the evening, all manner of little acts of stinginess were described.
 "Then the silent man began to speak. 'I once knew a woman,' he said, 'who had a cat. She went out shopping one morning, and ordered a few cheap groceries, together with a pennyworth of meat for the cat.
 "The goods had to be delivered three miles away. But as the van was about to leave, late in the afternoon, a servant rushed into the shop in a state of great excitement.
 "'Mistress! things gone yet?' she asked anxiously.
 "'Gone going,' replied the assistant. "'Well, you must change the order,' gasped the breathless girl. 'Don't send the meat. The cat's just caught a bird!'
 Chicago clubwomen distributed 12,500 large red apples to school children of the city recently, one of each child.

Willie Ritchie Has Been Very Quiet for a Champion Boxer

By TOM ANDREWS

FOR a real champion Willie Ritchie, head of the 133 pounders, has been about the quietest thing in the fight world the last few months, or in fact since he annexed the title from Ad Wolgast last fall.

Jack Britton has been hot after Ritchie ever since he won the title and has made offers to the coast boy which Billy Nolan, manager of Ritchie, cannot well afford to ignore.

COBB BLAMES MUCH OF IT ON THE BASEMEN

By TOM ANDREWS

"I would not intentionally hurt a fellow player for twice my salary, and yet when ver-foam-body bumps up against these spikes of mine they say I do it intentionally," said Cobb the other day.

"Nowadays," says Cobb, "the basemen seem to think the way to stop a runner is to use football tactics—to step over on the side nearest the approaching runner and block him off the bag. They receive you on their shins or feet; they strive to check your stride so that it will be an impossibility for you to reach the base, and then they bring the ball down on you for an out."

Had Pimples on Face And Back Was Literally Covered With Them.

Bad blood is the direct cause of pimples breaking out on the face and body, and it is impossible to get rid of them unless you cleanse the blood of all its impurities.

Burdock Blood Bitters is without a doubt, the very best medicine for this purpose.

This old and reliable remedy has been used for over thirty-five years, and has a reputation unequalled by any other for purifying the blood.

Mr. Peter La Pierre, Assistant Postmaster, Touchwood Hills, Sask., writes: "The fall before last, I was very much troubled with pimples on my face and back. My back was literally covered with them, and I could not lie on it at night, they were so painful. One day my sister advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got two bottles, and before I had taken all the first one, the pimples had nearly disappeared, and now I am completely cured."

TOO MANY IN PROVINCIAL HOSPITAL

There Were 585 Patients in Residence at End of Fiscal Year—Per Capita Cost Reduced—Farm Yielded Profit

The annual report of Dr. J. V. Anglin, medical superintendent of the provincial hospital, states that the number of patients treated last year showed the unusual increase of 42, and Dr. Anglin points out that since the hospital has in its now at least 100 patients above its normal capacity, the question of providing more accommodation must be seriously considered. Obviously there should be no overcrowding in an institution for the insane.

At the close of the year ending October 31st, there were in residence at the provincial hospital 585 patients, of whom 327 were men and 258 women. A total of 718 men and women were occupants of the wards for a portion or all of the year. More patients were admitted last year than in any previous year with the exception of 1902. In that year 164 were received, and last year the number was 192. Of the total admitted last year there were 125 new cases, and there were 37 readmissions. The foreign born patients numbered only 17. Of the 162 persons admitted, 140 were born in this province. There were 40 admitted from this city alone, and the next largest number, 14, came from Northumberland; while Kings and York each sent 12, Gloucester 11, and other counties less than 10 each. Sanbury was the only county which sent no patients to the hospital during the year. Twenty-three men and 21 women died during the year, but the death rate was lower than in any year since 1905. Sixty-six patients were discharged as recovered, and six as improved. Dr. Anglin says it is not probable that the number of cases from mental disorder will ever be materially increased. In another paragraph he says:

"The only way to reduce the number who require maintenance in insane hospitals is to expedite the carrying out of those reasonable social reforms which have the improvement of the race as their object, and to foster a spirit of self-control, of personal responsibility, of independence, and of an earnest desire to do some useful work in a world which should be the better and not the worse for our brief sojourn in it."

With regard to the cost of maintaining the institution, the superintendent says: The cost of maintaining the 718 admitted persons who are under the care and treatment of the hospital during the year was $85,212.65. For salaries and wages the outlay was $26,797.01; for food of all kinds $28,339.27; for heat, lighting, power and water $13,374.91; for clothing $4,797.04; for furnishings $3,646.85; for the farm $2,291.41; for drugs and sanitary supplies $2,063.14; for miscellaneous items and including repairs, stationery and laundry $4,880.42. The per capita cost, calculated not on the whole number under treatment but on the exact daily average of patients in residence, was $115.60. For 1910 the total cost was $105.00, and for 1911 was $105.46, so that a reduction of some importance is shown for 1912, and must be considered when the total amount expended is criticized.

With regard to the current year, the superintendent says that the increase in number of patients and the higher cost of living must be reckoned with, and that it is not possible to get through the year on less than $86,000 for maintenance. Against the expenditure of $85,212.65 there was an income last year from all sources of $27,744.10. This would reduce the cost per head to the government to an average of $110.65. The revenue is derived from municipalities, friends of patients and articles sold from the farm.

The total value of the products of the farm was $12,361.39, and the cost of production about $9,000. There was therefore a net profit on the farm of nearly $3,000, and the superintendent estimates that, if deprived of the farm, the cost of maintenance would be at least $4,000 greater. Three points stand out clearly in the report. One is that the per capita cost of caring for the patients was reduced this year, but the number of patients was increased. The second is that the province must provide increased accommodation for the increasing number of patients. The third is that the farm connected with the institution is a paying investment.
