Venezuelan question. JAPANESE MURDERED.

Yokohama, March 24.—The rebels recently attacked the Japanese near Fusan. After several days' fighting the rebels were repulsed. Many Japanese have been murdered and Japanese warships have been sent to the scene of the disturbance.

MUTINY AT DUNDALK. Dublin, March 24.-Mutinous conduct on the part of the Thirteenth Hussars is reported from Dundalk. The cavalrymen are said to have hacked to pieces 28 saddles and bridles. Several of the Hussars have been arrested in consequence of this demonstration. SALISBURY'S GRAND OPPORTUN-ITY. London, March 24.-Commenting on Lord Salisbury's reply to the Peace Society's memorial favoring arbitration of the Venezuela question, the Daily News says: "If Lord Salisbury is able to convert his words into deeds, he will go far to make his present term of office illustrious and beneficent."

"HONOR" SOON SATISFIED. Rome, March 24.—The ill-feeling aroused over the political situation ame to a point between two individuals on Saturday. Gen. Mocenni, the deposed Minister of War, had a dispute with Signor Barzalai in the Chamber of Deputies over the recall of Baratieri. The insult that can only be "washed out in blood" was given, and they fought a duel. Barzalai had his cheek cut open, and honor was satisfied. LETTER FROM GLADSTONE. IN THE TRANSVAAL. London, March 24 .- A very uneasy feeling has suddenly arisen at Pretoria regarding President Kruger's acceptances of Mr. Chamberlain's invitation to visit London to discuss Transvaal affairs. The influence of the Hollanders is gaining ground. They are hostile to the visit and to any friendly settlement of the situation between the Transvaal and Great Brit-

AMERICAN PIG IRON. London, March 24.-Much interest is manifested in commercial circles over the announcement that a leading iron firm has made extensive purchases in Between Great Eri ain and Venezuela-Alabama of pig iron, and is arranging for further purchases. Commenting upon the this, the Iron and Coal Trade Review says: "England is threatened with an invasion of American pig iron. This is one of the most serious blows to the supremacy of Great Britain as a manufacturing nation." ITALY WELCOMES WILLIAM. Rome, March 24.-The New York Herald's dispatch says: "On acount of the excessive pecuniary demands made by Menelek, it is improbable that peace will be concluded. Signori Ricotti and Rudini, who are in accord with the King, will refuse the payment of any money indemnity. The German Emperor will have a most enthusiastic reception at Genoa. Naples, too, is preparing to receive his Majesty in magnificent style. King Humbert will go on board the royal yacht Hohenzollern to meet his distinguished guest.

DEATH OF THOMAS HUGHES. London, March 24.-Thomas Hughes, Q.C., author of "Tom Brown's School Days," "Tom Brown at Oxford," etc., and founder of the British settlement of Rugby, Tenn., which did not prove successful, is dead. Thomas Hughes was born in Berkshire, England, in 1823. He was educated at Rugby, and was at one time associated with Canon Kingsley and F. D. Maurice in the movement for improving the condition of the poor, known as Christian Socialism. He lectured in the United States in 1870, and in 1880 he founded the "Rugby colony," in Tennessee. He wrote "The Scouring of the White Horse," "The Manliness of Christ" and "Rugby, Tenn.," in addition to the works mentioned above.

He desired to accept Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's invitation to visit London and confer with the British authorities with reference to the Transvaal affairs, it is asserted, but the Hollanders (or Boers) objected. Mr. Kruger left the question to be decided by the Volksrad (Legislature), which refused to grant him permission to go. This action has caused consternation on the Rand. THE REPORT CONFIRMED. London, March 24.-A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon from Johannesburg says that the Transvaal burghers are assuming an alarming attitude. It is added that a strong feeling exists among the Dutch throughout South Africa, and that they are nerving themselves for a supreme struggle with Great Britain. No reason is assigned for the sudden withdrawal of the bail of four members of the reform committee. They had been permitted to go to Johannesburg to attend to their private affairs, but all have now been arrested and are kept under guard in a private house in Pre-

Lieut.-Col. Fuenmayor died while leading his troops on and shouting "Long live Spain!" Owing to the fact that the meeting between the two columns took place at midday, the explanation furnished by the Spanish commanders is considered unsatisfactory, and court martiel will follow.

NEW TROUBLE

Seizure of an English Schooner. New York, March 24.-A letter from Bridgetown, Barbados, is to the effect that new trouble was there threatened between Great Britain and Venezuela. officials. It appears that an iron mine in Venezuela, on the southern bank of the Corosimi River, one of the affiuents of the cate. In the interests of the owners, Geo. Turnbull, of Boston, visited Barbados, chartered the British schooner New Day, Capt. Baxter, and sailed for Venezuela with about 80 laborers and a miscellaneous cargo. Nothing more was heard until Baxter returned here, and reported that after many annoying delays his ship had been seized by the Venezuelans. Baxter reported that he and his crew were taken before a court. No charge was made or fault found with his papers or actions, yet clearance of the vessel continued to be withheld. On the advice of the acting consul, Capt. Baxter then took passage for Barbados via Trinidad.

H. M. S. Cordelia, the letter says, was then preparing to sail. It is said that she had been ordered to Bolivar to demand the clearance of the New Day and indemnity for her detention. The Government, it is believed, will follow the precedent set by the United States three years ago, when the Kearsarge was sent up the Orinoco to Cuidad Bolivar to investigate alleged outrages by the Venezuelan authorities on the United State consul at that place.

Toronto, March 24.-Sir Oiliver Mowat was somewhat surprised yesterday when asked by a News representative to verify a statement made at Philippe de la Prairie on Saturday by J. Israel Tarte, M.P., to the effect that Ontario's Premier would direct the approaching Dominion campaign in Ontario as Mr. Laurier's first lieutenant. After giving the matter his most deliberate and careful consideration, the Attorney-General said: "I do not see that I need make any statement on the subject." Yesterday was private members' day, but after the usual orders were disposed of, Sir Oliver Mowat proposed that Government measures should be proceeded with. This was agreed to by Mr. Marter. The Attorney-General also gave notice to have Government business take precedence over all other business hereafter, and for the House to sit on Saturdays. ### LOYAL TO GEN. BOOTH Chicago Salvationists Are Solid Against Secession.

Chicago, March 24.—About 150 officers of the Northwestern branch of the Salvation Army were present at a meeting here yesterday. Commissioner Eva Booth addressed the meeting. which was behind closed doors, on the question of loyalty to Gen. Booth. have traveled over Australia, India and all the world," said Miss Booth, referring to the rebellion in the east, "but anything more disgraceful than this lamentable affair I have never witnessed." The cheer which greeted this outburst of the commissioner augured poorly for the success of an attempt to sever the American army from the main branch in England. Secretary Fielding, of the northwestern branch of the army, said there was not a single officer present at the meeting who would be disloyal to Gen. Booth. Every one of the 150 officers present was solid against secession.

Explanations in Regard to the Mission to Winnipeg.

Sir Charles Tupper Given the Lie by a High Tax Supporter.

Raising the Salaries of Well-Paid Officials, and Appointing Servile M. P.'s.

Ottawa, March 24.-When the Senate met yesterday afternoon, Premier Bowell announced, as stated in my dispatch yesterday, that the Government had decided that Parliament would not be warranted in sitting longer than April 24 at midnight.

. The tdea of referring the matter to the Supreme Court was abandoned, as a decision could scarcely be obtained in sufficient time to be of any use to the Government. Between taking refuge behind the Supreme Court and the Governor-General, responsible government is beginning to be a farce.

Another reason which has forced the Government into taking a correct view on the life of Parliament is the attitude of some of the Conservative members who have informed their leaders, Sir Charles and Sir Mackenzie Bowell, that they would not stay here any longer than the 25th of April, as their minds were fully made up on the mat-The general opinion here today is that dissolution will take place before three weeks are over. As soon as Messrs. Dickey and Desjardins come back from Winnipeg arrangements will be made for dissolution, and the issuing of the writs for the general election. The Government have gone as far as they are able to go with the remedial bill, and they are now looking to get some small excuse from Premier Greenway to drop the affair. At any rate, their Ontario supporters will carry them no further, as far as the Hill is concerned, and every day that they remain in session now is a loss of time politically or otherwise to them. So to be able to get the elections over and the supplies voted for another year, the Government is now beginning to recognize that the sooner dissolution is brought on, the better.

There is one question which is troubling the party badly, and that is the leadership. Sir Charles has proved to be a gigantic failure, and many are urging that he should go back to London and permit Sir Mackenzie to continue Premier. If Sir Mackenzie would take back Sir Hibbert this might be accomplished. But the friends of Sir Mackenzie say he is sick of the nest of traitors and will resign Very shortly.

In the recent debate on the conduct of Sir Charles Tupper in first emasculating a confidential telegram sent by Premier Greenway, of Manitoba, to Sir Donald Smith, and then publishing it without the leave of either of the two parties to it, Mr. Martin pointed out the enormity of the offense of which Sir Charles had been proved guilty. He said that it was necessary that the House should be in a position to believe implicitly in every word that dropped from the leader of the Where would the House be when any document was read to it, if it did not know whether the real document was being read or only a portion of it. The object of the Secretary of State in garbling this telegram was to keep his followers in line by creating the inference that Mr. Greenway's position had undergone a change and that a settlement with Manitoba was possible. In order to prevent such an inference Mr. Greenway had inserted in his telegram to Sir Donald Smith the words, "We do not consider ourselves in any way to blame for the situation as it is today," which words were omitted by Sir Charles Tupper. Mr, Greenway did not receive the announcement that the telegram had been read to the House from the Government, as Sir Charles had said, through the public press. Sir Charles in addition to mutilating the telegram had obtained it in confidence from Sir Donald Smith and used it improperly. He referred to the fact that Mr. Greenway had refused to consent to the introduction of Sir Donald Smith's telegram, possibly feeling that it would not be a fair presentation of the position of affairs to disclose that document without the whole of the negotiation-if that inference were correct how great was the magnitude of the offense which Sir Charles Tupper had committed? Could anyone imagine Mr. Balfour or Mr. Gladstone obtaining a private communication in confidence, disclosing it in violation of confidence, and deliberately misrepresenting its contents to serve a political end? If they did such a thing their immediate departure from public life would be demanded. Such conduct would not be tolerated in the British House of their likely to return to a high tax policy. disclosing it in violation of confidence, Commons. If an offense of that kind were committed in England it would not be pardoned by the guilty person getting down on his knees and asking pardon for the offense, as Sir Charles Tupper had done.

Mr. Casey said it was interesting for the House to know what were Sir Charles Tupper's ideas of honorable conduct.

Mr. Davies pointed out that the Secretary of State had told the House on March 2 Sir Donald Smith had had an interview with the Premier, and had reported his plans to him. Then the Premier adopted Sir Donald's proposal, and at his instance Sir Donald had sent a telegram of a hundred words. It was a private telegram, but none the less official. Now, while the leader of the House had given the reply to the House he had wreated Sir Donald's dispatch as a private document. The fact was that all through there had been deception on the attitude of the Government toward the House which deserved the censure which had been directed toward it. ....

The Controller of Customs gives notice of a bill to amend the act respecting the Department of Customs and Department of Inland Revenue. The object of the bill is to increase the salary of the Commissioner of Customs from $2,800 to $4,000. The salary of the Commissioner of Inland Revenue is increased from $3,200 to $4.-000. Mr. Kilvert, collector of customs at Hamilton, who for several months past has been Acting-Commissioner of Customs, will succeed Mr. T. J. Watters in that position, and Mr. Alex. McKay, M. P. for Hamilton, one of the coercionists, will succeed Mr. Kilvert in the collectorship of Hamilton.

Another illustration of a party "with the instinct of government," which does not know how to govern, is furnished by Sir Charles Tupper's answer to a question put by Mr. Casey in the House yesterday afternoon. Sir Charles Tupper said that the order in council appointing his acting-High Commissioner had been rescinded, and this was done at the morning's council meeting. The Opposition held that it was an ilelgal act to appoint an acting High Commissioner, and the Government have discovered that Opposition were right. An has therefore been put end to farce of an acting High the Commissioner, which has been enacted on each occasion Sir Charles Tupper left his office in London and came to Canada to take part in the general election. This and his inability to take a point of order in Parliament that the chair would uphold show to what extent the "instinct of government" prevails in the present set of incompetents.

The Evening Journal says: It is to be hoped there will be no more storms blocking the railways west of here. The Dominion Government's conference commissioners might arrive in Winnipeg on April 1.

The Ottawa correspondent of La Presse gives out the curious story that Hon. Mr. Laurier gave him to Winlow and daughter, of Sarnia, are understand that Sir Oliver Mowat would stand for Nipissing if the Ontario Premier decided, as everyone expected he would, to abandon the Provincial arena, to serve under Mr. Laurier in the House of Commons.

Mr. Laurier has entirely recovered from the slight attack of inflammation in the face from which he suffered for the past few days. He was in his place in the House all day yesterday.

* * * * Today Mr. Foster will move that Government business take precedence hereafter on both Mondays and Thursdays, and the Government will take them in spite of the protests against this unfairness, but there is likely to be lively opposition to the proposal.

The debate on Mr. McCarthy's amendment to refer the Remedial Bill to the Supreme Court should be resumed today. It is officially announced to be the Government's intention to put the coercion bill through, no matter how the Winnipeg negotiations result, or how conciliatory Manitoba may be. This attitude does not bear out the pretensions of the high tax leaders. They have been asserting that if Manitoba would only do 'something' the coercion bill would not be proceeded with.

* * * * Sir Charles Tupper, in reply to Mr. Laurier, said "I take this opportunity of saying how glad the Government will be to have the kind co-operation and influence of the leader of the Opposition, with his friends in the Government of Manitoba, in doing what he can to facilitate the object of the commission." Mr. Laurier remarked: "I am glad to say that the honorable gentleman will have that, and always has had it. Although this is a tardy step, I think it is a most important step that they have taken of doing at last what they should have done long ago, in my estimation."

Mr. McNeill rose to move "that it would be to the advantage of Canada and the empire as a whole that a small duty (irrespective of any existing tariff) be levied by each member of the empire against foreign products imported by them, and that the proceeds from such duties be devoted to purposes of Imperial intercommunication and defense."

Mr. Davin seconded the motion, after which Dr. Weldon indorsed the motion. though he considered that it would require a good deal of supplemental

Mr. Charlton said he sympathized with the motives of Mr. MoNeill, though possibly he might not agree with the methods of carrying out the project. Carrying out in full the scheme proposed would lead to absolute Imperial control and the abrogation of the self-governing powers of the colonies. The chief cause of Canada's debt was her contributions to the Imperial defense, the C. P. R., ocean steamships and defenses at Esquimalt, and this was a fair share for her to While the union of the colonies would be of great event, an alliance to include the English-speaking people of the world, who live under the Stars and Stripes, would be greater.

Sir Charles Tupper complained because Mr. McNeill did not first submit his resolution to him. He held that the preferential trade question now was in such a position that it did not require the resolution proposed. The United Empire Trade League was effecting

Mr. Davies ridiculed this view of the question. Sir Charles Tupper said Manitoba produced as much wheat as England last year, but the fact was that Manitoba only produced half as much. If Sir Charles Tupper's other statements were on a par with this one, what dependence was to be placed on them? England had a period of depression from 1890 to 1894, but there was a revival last year, and, while "protectionist" countries had a deficit, England had a surplus of $40,000,000. The debate was continued by Mr.

Stairs and Col. O'Brien. Mr. McNeill was surprised to hear Sir Charles Tupper say he had not been consulted regarding the form of the motion. He had conversed on the subject with Mr. McNeill, and he read a letter from Sir Charles acknowledging receipt of a copy and promising to aid its passage through the House. Mr. Powell moved the adjournment of the debate, which practically kills the motion, and the House adjourned at

Manitoba School Conference.

Preparations at Winnipeg for the Meeting,

Further Trickery by the Men in Power at Ottawa Will be Checkmated.

Winnipeg, March 24.—Members of the Manitoba Government are making preparations for the meeting of the schools commission in this city week. The first conference will take place Friday in the Executive Council room at the Government buildings. Premier Greenway returns to the city today. The proceedings of the conference will not be public, but it is stated that the Manitoba Government will take precautions to see what goes on will not be capable of being misunderstood or misrepresented at some later time. As all the propositions have come from Ottawa the local members of thec onference will likely take the attitude of hearing what the eastern men have to say. They will be the parties approached, and should they offer anything to the Ottawa delegates it will undoubtedly be in writing. A reporter was assured today that there was no danger of the principle of National schools being departed from. If secular schools would be considered satisfactory this much might be conceded. A prominent politician pointed out to on March 18. Sir Charles declared: 'That it (the Manitoba Government) had dishonestly robbed the minority of their money and their property." St. Thomas-Large Attendance. St. Thomas, Ont., March 24.-The first annual convention of the Epworth League of the London Conference of the Methodist Church opened in the First Methodist Church last evening by a public meeting, with an attendance of about 275 delegates and a large number of citizens. The number of delegates is expected to be increased to upwards of 300 today. Rev. Dr. Hannan, the pastor of the church, presided, and also delivered an address of welcome, which was responded to on behalf of the delegates by Rev. R. J. Treleaven, of Aylmer. The president of the association, Mr. A. W. Thornton, of Chatham, spoke briefly, and in the course of his remarks pronounced the great inequality in the salaries of ministers as a lack of fulfilling the duty imposed on us as members of the great brotherhood of man. Rev. A. C. Crews, of Toronto, general Epworth League secretary, made an inspiring address on "The New Movement," in which he treated of the points of resemblance between the crusade of the thirteenth century and the Epworth League of the nineteenth, avowing his belief that the latter had already been, and would

DIVORCES IN DETROIT.

Startling Figures - Chicago and San Francisco Thrown Into the Shade.

Detroit, March 24.—Monday evening's News says: Rev. J. M. Patterson preached in the Westminster Presbyterian Church last night on "Divorce. The number of divorces in this country, from 1867 until 1888, he said, was 328,716. While the population had increased 66 per cent, the number of divorces had increased 157 per cent. During those years Michigan had granted one divorce to every twelve marriages, but Wayne county had made a much more remarkable record. Chicago and San Francisco weren't in it with Detroit. From Jan. 1 to March 18, the Wayne Circuit Court had granted 67 divorces, and the county clerk had issued 422 marriage licenses. This was an average of one divorce to six mar-riages. In San Francisco the average was 1 to 7 and in Cook county 1 to 13. These figures became much more startling when compared with the European statistics. The proportion of divorces to marriages was 1 to 20 in Switzerland, 1 to 24 in Denmark, 1 to 100 in Germany, 1 to 109 in France, 1 to 122 in Holland, 1 to 134 in Sweden, 1 to 445 in Scotland, 1 to 487 in Russia, 1 to 718 in England and Wales, 1 to 1,428 in Norway, and 1 to 9,932 in Ireland.

Mr. Patterson found that some of the reasons were the prevalence of "free love" ideas, deception before marriage, hasty and clandestine marriages, and the growing independence of women, but the supreme reasons, in his estimation, were the ease with which divorces could be secured, and the per-mission to marry after being divorced. He advocated a law which would make adultery the only ground for divorce, while legal separations, without the privilege of remarrying, might be granted on other grounds.

ANXIOUS TO SEE ACTIVE SER-

VICE. St. John, N. B., March 24.—The Eighth Regiment, Princess Louise Hussars, Kings county, N. B., through its commander, Lieut.-Col. Domville, has notified the British Government, through Ottawa authorities, that they will raise volunteers out of the regiment to send four squadrons to the Nile on the proposed expedition. This regiment made a similar offer for the Soudan for Gen. Gordon's relief, but Australia was ahead.
DID SALISBURY SURPRISE THE

CABINET? Ballard Smith cables the World as follows: "It is stated on the best authority that the majority of the Cabinet knew nothing of the intended Nile Campaign until they saw it announced by the Times' Cairo corres-pondent. It is said that even the Cabinet inner circle, consisting, with Salisbury, of Balfour, Lansdowne, Chamberlain, Goschen and Devonshire, were first apprised of Lord Salisbury's definite decision to send the expedition when Lord Wolseley was introduced at their meeting to give his opinion regarding military details. The Ministers, in fact, were rushed into this expedition before they had time to consider its possibilities and character. Their speeches in Parliament have Impressed the House of Commons with the idea that they are profoundly doubtful themselves as to the wisdom or the defensibility of the policy on which Lord Salisbury has compelled them to enter. A movement is on foot In influential circles, it is understood, to induce him to resign the Foreign Secretaryship in favor of Lord Lansdowne, ex-Viceroy of India, who would be amenable to the influence of his colleagues, and is a man of great caution and tact, though not of first-rate

DERVISH TACTICS. A correspondent of the Army and Navy Gazette states that the Dervishes are now able to deliver a deadly rifle fire. They will combine European tactics with the formidable onsets of the cavalry and spearmen in the old style. The correspondent declares that the British tactics of forming squares and awaiting the shock of battle will not do now in fighting the Dervishes, and if they are followed will result in rout and ruin. The consensus of mili-tary opinion is that if a reconquest of Soudan is intended, a picked force of British and Indian troops 20,000 strong will be necessary. AT CAIRO.

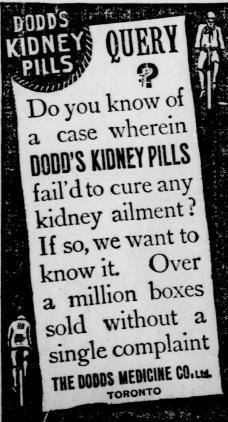

The war spirit is running high. The troops in Alexandria are to be removed to Cairo in a few days, and two regiments from Malta will take their places. The Mediterranean squadron is expected at Alexandria this week. The recruiting of Egyptians and Soudanese for army service goes on rapidly here. Great numbers of camels, mules, and horses are being shipped up the river. It is rumored that Hunter Bey, who is advancing upon Akasheh, has met the enemy. The tone of the French press here toward the English, which has all along been hostile, has been more bit ter and intense during the last week All the best posted military men in Cairo predict that fighting of an earnest kind will take place in a few days, If it has not already begun. The Khedive and Lord Cromer, the British dip-Somatic agent, are working together in perfect harmony as regards everything connected with the Dongola expedition. The Khedive delivers vigorous and patriotic speeches to all the departing FRIENDLY ARABS. The Morning Post's correspondent Bays that several friendly Arab tribes have volunteered to help the Egyptians in the campaign against the Dervishes, and that their offer has been accepted.

FRENCH MUTTERINGS. A Paris dispatch says: The newspapers contain a semi-official note affirming that unanimity on the part of the powers is necessary to enable the expenditure of any part of the Egyptian reserve fund for the defraying of the expenses of an expedition to Dongola such as proposed by England. Germany's adhesion to England's proposal, the note contends, does not imply that Germany regards unanimity as needless.

M. P.'S BOUND FOR EGYPT. The dispatch of the Soudanese expedition has caused a number of the members of the House of Commons to decide to spend the Easter Parlimentary recess in Egypt, where they will study the situation thoroughly.

The Movement to Exclude Canadian

Second Reading of the Bill by the British Parliament.

London, March 24.-In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Walter Long, President of the Board of Agriculture, moved the second reading of the bill permanently excluding live cattle from England. Liberal members from Scot-land, Norfolk, Suffolk and Manchester had on the order paper motions for the rejection of the bill. The Canadian Government's latest protest was circulated among the members.

James Martin White, the Liberal member for Forfarshire, moved the rejection of the bill, and quoted the views of Scottish farmers. These were to the effect that the Canadian cattle are the healthiest on the market. He declared, amid general Liberal cheers, that the bill was the most insidious form of protection. If it became a law the bill might do a trifle of good as against the enormous harm which would result to the food consumers in this country and the injury to the col-It was, he declared, the silliest form of protection. Mr. Robert Johnson Price, member for the east division of Norfolk, sec-onded the motion. He said the bill was a serious menace to Canadian trade, and would injure the graziers of the United Kingdom. It was protection of the breeders against the feeders. So few cases of pleuro-pneumonia were discovered in Canadian herds that such drastic measures as the bill proposed were unwarranted. Right Hon. Sir Geo. Trevelyan, who sits for the Brighton district of Glasgow, said that if the bill were passed the House would bind its own hands and those of future Governments by an act which could not be repealed without the assent of the House of Lords, who would never assent to its repeal. The Conservatives, he said, would only pass the measure if it was to make practically impossible henceforth the importation of live

Mr. Long, the introducer of the bill, said the sole object of the measure was to give the owners of breeding stock in the United Kingdom that security without which they could not carry on their industry. The Board of Agriculture felt that they could not adequately perform their duty under present conditions, and asked Parliament to relieve them of a part of their task through the bill.

Sir Albert Kaye Rollit, Conservative member for South Islington, declared that the bill committed the country to protection. It was certain to evoke public opposition when its real character became known.

Grant Lawson, M. P. for Thirsk and Malton, said he did not care what mame was given to the malady; the fact remained that disease was imported into Britain by Canadian Right Hon. James Bryce and Right Hon. A. J. Mundella opposed the bill. Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Government leader in the House, defended the measure. He denied that it was a protective measure.

The motion to reject was defeated by a vote of 244 to 95. Many of the members abstained from voting. The bill then passed its second reading without a division.

The Spanish Press Invite Uncle Sam to Stop Talking.

Madrid, March 24.-La Epoca, miniserial organ, says that if the United States are serious about active interference in Cuban affairs, let them stop talking and declare war. Spain, the paper says, will answer as behooves her, and that anything is better than these continued threats which hide the intentions of those aspiring to the annexation of the island.

London, March 24.—A Madrid dispatch to the Standard says: "Almost all the newspapers here regard as unfounded the rumor that President Cleveland will appoint a Cuban commission. No official intimation of such a commission has yet been received

The Standard declares it is evident that Spain will refuse to allow an American commission to enter Cuba, chiefly because she could not assent to its finding. Such action, on the eve of the election for members of the Cortes, would seriously damage the prestige of the Cabinet.

Madrid, March 24.-An immense anti-American demonstration took place at Barcelona Sunday, in which 6,000 persons participated. The United States consulate was guarded by the police, and was not visited by the crowd. ### WOMEN FOR PEACE.

Efforts to Establish an International Peace Tribunal-Help for Armenians.

Washington, D. C. March 24 .- An effort is being made to secure the co-operation of women's organizations throughout the country to aid in the movement for an international peace tribunal. Petitions are being circulated both in this country and in Britain by the Women's International Peace League, and Mrs. M. F. Ormsby, of this city, president of the American branch of the league, is forwarding the petition for signatures to women in the United States. The petition expresses hearty sympathy with the men in favor of the establishment of a permanent arbitration tribunal between Great Britain and the United States. It is asserted that such a permanent court would present an example which would gradually be followed by other nations, causing the present ruinous expenditures in armaments to cease and permitting the people to enjoy the fruits of their labors in peace.

The Halifax Local Council of Women has cabled to Lady Henry Somerset $2,181, to be by her forwarded to Miss Clara Barton to help in the work of Armenian relief. The money was collected in Nova Scotia.

THE DUBOIS CATASTROPHE.

Dubois, March 24 .- It is learned that at least fifteen persons were killed by yesterday's gas explosion at the Berwind-White shaft, in the eastern limits of this city. Fifteen dead bodies have so far been recovered. It is not believed there are over three more, if any, still in the mine. The dead George and Henry Harvey, Harry Smith, James Graham, Sr., James Graham, Jr., Lindsey H. Bradley, John Monroe, George and Jess Pestlethwaite and Andrew Nowak. David Bell, Reuben Nobie and George Ainsley and supposed to be dead.

THE IRON HIGHWAYS.

The Snow-Plow Record Beaten-Lease of the C. P. R. Ottawa-Aylmer Branch

A Medowville, Ont., dispatch says: The greatest victory over "Texas Jack" in the ecent storm was won yesterday at Campbell's Cross, nine miles west of Brampton, on the C. P. R., when Conductor Osborne, with engines Nos. 541 and 617 and snowplow No. 4.194, cut a clear tunnel, 200 yarns long and 20 feet deep, through a solid snow bank in two minutes.

According to a Press telegram the C. P. R.'s Ottawa-Avlmer branch has been leased for a period of 35 years to the Hull Electric Company. The company, which is mainly held by Ottawa capitalists, will convert the road, which is nine miles long and connects Hull and the summer resort of Aylmer and the Pontiac and P. J. Railway, into an electric road. An electric engine, the first to be used in Canada, will be put on. The company also have the monopoly of lighting Hull and Aylmer by electricity. They will have a power house at Deschene, halfway between the termini.

FLOGGED BY HIS WIFE.

She Tied Him Up by the Thumbs and Then Laid on the Whip.

San Bernardino, March 24.-Mrs. Wm. Martin, of this city, tied her husband up by the thumbs yesterday morning and gave him such a horsewhipping as he will not soon forget. The punishment was inflicted early in the day in fact, shortly after the recreant husband had returned from a night outbut was witnessed by the neighbors, and they predict that Martin will forswear the gaming table, the cause of his squandering a small legacy to which he recently fell heir.

Three weeks ago Martin, who had been a man of all work in town, was notified that he had $800 waiting for him in Kansas, and he went to that State to claim his own. When he returned to the city a few days ago with the $800 he felt that he should enjoy himself. Taking $80 of the money he made the rounds of the resorts, and by morning his $80 was gone. He reported at home for breakfast, but found that his wife had more than breakfast waiting for him. The Martins live in a cottage in the northern part of the city, and what was the surprise of the neighbors who were astir to see Mrs. Martin leading her husband toward the barn. He is rather small of stature, and his wife, while not tall, is muscular, as the issue de-monstrated. She forced Martin along until the fence in the rear of the barn was reached, when she produced a rope and proceeded to knot it about both his thumbs. This done and securely tied, she brought him up to a post and tied the rope over, and the captive husband was in suc. a position that the more he pulled the greater was his pain. She went into the barn for the whip Martin uses when driving, and she knew what to do with it. She belabored her husband around the back and shoulders, and continued to lay on the blows even when he begged her to desist, and made all sorts promises for his future conduct. She did not seem to be moved by them, Agricultural Society met on Saturday and continued the whipping until she had beaten him into quietness and submission. Then she untied him and

The chief source of the public revenue of the province is its crown lands, and for this reason alone the departmental report which deals with the administration of those lands must always be interesting. Last year the collections of the department from all sources reached the large sum of $947,-947, or nearly one-third of all the moneys paid into the treasury of the province. But the report tells us that filling of the public treasury. ,

For example, there is the lumber and timber industry, which employs large amounts of capital and many thousands of laborers, besides the market it besides square timber, cordwood, pulpindustry when we learn that it contributed to the department for timber dues $715,106.

There is also the mining industry. lands, and the total receipts from sales are presented by the superintendents and rentals were $41,829. But the cap- of each, showing what progress is be-Ital and labor which the industry em- ing made in making the parks serve ploys, and which it gives promise of the purpose for which they were inemploying, are of vastly more con- tended. Here is an extract from the cern to the country than the revenue superintendent of Algonquin Park, from the lands, and there are hopeful signs of progress visible. In the Sudbury district the report of the commissioner of crown lands states, the ore smelted in the furnaces of the nickel and copper mines last year was equivalent in metallic contents to 4,puted at the selling price at the works was 566,073. Those works gave employ- tato patch. While out last February, ment to 419 men, whose earnings were two of the rangers and myself came $210,000. But the settlers are benefited across two deer and two moose yards also, as good markets are maintained for all kinds of agricultural produce, and large quantities of cordwood are were entering an immense farmyard; required. It is certain, indeed, that many thousands of square miles in the northern regions of the province have never been trodden by the foot of a white man, and end of the park, and they encountered no one can pretend to know what riches may be hidden in them. During the last three or four years promising gold discoveries have been made in the Huronian rocks in a field 2,000 square miles in extent east and south of Lake of the Woods, and between that lake and Lake Superior there deposits of hematite and magnetic ores in the Province. "The completion of a blast furnace at Hamilton will," the report says, "it is confidently hoped, result in the establishment of a good local market for iron ores, and already some progress has been made in opening iron mines, notably in the county of Hastings and on the no.th shore of Lake Superior, in anticipation of this demand. The immense bodies of hematite ore on the Mattawin River and of magnetic ore on the Atik-okan River, in the western part of the province, when reached by railway communication, will supply ore excellent in our rounds. quality and practically unlimited in

But the value of our heritage to the agricultural industry is also well deperving of notice, for although Sie sales of crown lands for farming purposes is not as large now as they were 25 or 40 years ago, it must not be supposed that the province has reached the limit of possibilities in this respect. There are yet millions of acres of fertile lands in the northern regions, capable of sustaining a larger population than now occupies the older settlements, and when mining and farming go hand in hand we may confidently look for as prosperous and progressive a community in the north as we possess in the south. The commiscioner of crown lands appears to be fully alive to the value of our new Ontario as a field for settlement, as shown by the literature on the subject which he has had prepared and published, and the migrating classes in the old Ontario are beginning to understand that good lands are awaiting them at home.

location under the Free Grants and such a sensation. For the publication Government does not neglect the new settlers, we find in the report that there was expended on colonization roads last year $116,706, with the result that 311 miles of new road was constructed, 526 miles repaired and 85 bridges erected.

There are many other interesting features of the report which deserve mention, among them the situation of the lumber trade as a result of the depression in the United States, where our principal market is found for lumber, and the measures taken for the prevention of forest fires.

The fre ranging system was adopted in 1886, and consists of the employment of a number of men in the dangerous period of the summer on licensed and lumbering, or other cause fire is so frequently used as to be a source of in one case was any considerable dam- lie. age done by forest fires.

"A judicious extension of this system into our wood, railway ties, etc. Some idea as yet unpenetrated northern regions is may be formed of the value of this very desirable," the commissioner very pertinently remarks.

Nor should the provincial parks be overlooked-Algonquin in the north Last year 8,924 acres were sold, and and Rondeau on the shore of Lake acres leased as mineral Erie in the west. Interesting reports which illustrates how game animals are increasing under the protection af-

We had occasion following day, and found that the moose had again cut up the snow-shoe trail, so as to make the hauling of the stove on a hand-sleigh very tedious work. Another party of rangers were away at the same time near the north similar difficulty in traveling in three different places, having come across three separate moose yards. Another was found about five miles down stream on the same river that had probably met his death by breaking through the ice. In the month of June one of the rangers and myself espied two moose crossing a bay of the lake on which we were at the time, and made all haste to have a good look at the noble animals. We got within twenty feet of them, and they were certainly splendid specimens of our biggest game. These are a few of the instances in which the presence of moose and deer was quite evident to us when on

General Manager Hays' Policy Will be in Harmony With the Shipping Interests of Canada, Toronto. March 24.—The following letter,

"My Dear Sir,-My attention was drawn to a letter you had written to the Globe concerning new estimated weights charged on horses, etc., the increase in which I believe you attribute to the new management of the Grand Trunk Railway. "I think it only fair that you should know that this increase was arranged by the classification committee of the Association of General Freight Agents of Canada some time in November last, and was printed and put into effect as from Jan. 1, 1896. Neither Mr. Hays nor any of the new officials of the Grand Trunk Railway ever had the slightest intimation that a change was being effected, and I believe they were not even aware of it until your letter came out.

"I may tell you in confidence that the change does not meet with their approval, and that it has already been modified, and I should not be greatly surprised if still greater modifications are made

"The whole tenor of my instructions since January 1, 1896, has been in the direction of a policy in harmony with all the shipping interests of Canada. "For your information, I may add that the voice which carried the change at the meeting of the classification committee was not by any means a Grand Trunk Railway voice. 'ARTHUR WHITE, "District Freight Agent."

THE TURF.

The will of the late Isaac Murphy, the colored jockey, has recently been admitted to probate. The estate amounts to about $30,000, all of which Murphy left to his wife.

THE COMING TROTTER. "Has the limit of trotting speed been reached?" This question was recently propounded by the writer to J. Malcolm Forbes, the Boston millionaire

"I do not think so," was the anwer; "in fact, I am positive it hasn't. I believe that the two-minute goal will be reached, and even shaded. Everything points to this conclusion, and while it would be foolish to pick out any one animal for the task or set any approximate date, I think it more than possible that before the end of the present decade the 2:03 3-4, which represents the trotting record today, will be considerably lowered.

"As to the possibility of the pacing record, I cannot speak with such certainty, for it is a branch of the business that I have never studied. consensus of opinion, however, and the statistics of the track seem to indicate that the two-minute goal will be sooner reached by a horse of that gait. Everything in the trotting world is progressing. Naturally, now that the figures have settled to a point below 2:04, the progression is bound to be slower. It is the pace that kills. When Maud S. trotted a mile in 2:08 3-4, and that record stood for over five years, it looked as if the mark had been well nigh reached, but now, with many trotters below that figure, and one five seconds faster, it looks as if it were foolish to set a limit.

"I believe the future of the sport depends on the closer and more scientific application of the principles of breeding. If a Dictator got a Director, and he in turn a Directum, the speed element being intensified with the progression in production, why may not Di-rectum's son be greater than he and his grandson even more advanced?

"Horses are being shod, harnessed, trained and driven more scientifically than ever; they have better tracks to race on, and the instinct which teaches a horse to trot and keep trying harder to maintain that gait, to the limit of his speed ability is being intensified. BASEBALL Certain families of trotters are noted as phenomenal speed producers. In the judicious breeding of the best obtainable members of those families, with a due care for size, strength and brains, lies the best possible chance for a marked reduction of the record. I am a firm believer in American ingenuity, pluck and faith, so that I deem it almost assured that one day we will the two-minute trotter.

This event was for 3-yearolds and upwards, for a purse of 2,000 sovereigns, the second to receive 100 sovereigns, and the third 50 sovereigns, out of the stakes. There were eighteen starters over the straight mile. The following is the result: Mr. A. F. Free and Easy, carrying 84 pounds, 2; Col. North's bay horse El Diablo, aged, by Robert the Devil out of Tantrum, carrying 108 pounds, 2. Prior to the running of the Lincolnshire handicap Col. North's Hebron and El Diablo, F. Luscombe's King's House and A. F. Basset's Clorane were the four most pronounced favorites, selling at 100 to 7 each. Every prominent horse owner in England, with the exception of Lord Rosebery and Capt. Machell was represented in the field of 40 horses which accepted weights, besides several foreigners. The only American en-try, Mr. R. Croker's Americus, was scratched. He was quoted at 33 to 1 in the betting, and evidently his owner shared the opinion of the English critics that he had no show against the cracks of Britain. Although the Lin-

It is rumored that Breitensteen, the celebrated St. Louis pitcher, has been sold to either Boston or New York. The Boston club has been willing to pay cash for his release, and it is said that the New York club has also signified his willingness to exchange Rusle for the star left-hander.

Pitcher Rusie says he will never sign a New York contract until the $200 fine standing against him is remitted. The president of the New York club, on the other hand, says the fine stands, and Rusie's salary will be $2,400-$600 less than last year. He adds, too, that "Rusie's conduct last year was that of a drunkard and a loafer, who disgraced and disorganized the whole

HIGHEST TOTAL ON RECORD.

The last issue of Cricket says: The highest total in a match in England for the last fourteen years has been the 920 of the Orleans Club against Rickling Green, at Rickling Green. It remains so still, though Australia went one better, or, to be precise, four better, on the 8th of this month. Though there has been some heavy scoring in Australia during the present season, all was outdone by the performance of the Carlton team against Melbourne University on Saturday, Feb. 8. Their total reached 924, and of these J. Worrall, a member of the Sixth Australian team which visited England in 1888, if I remember rightly, scored 415 not out. At the same time I do not quite see how this 924 of Carlton can be fairly called the highest authenticated total on record. Exception, I know, has been taken on this side to the admission of the huge score of 1,238, made at Pyrmont, Sydney, somewhere early in the eighties. The contending clubs were Ulster and Macquarie, and the match lasted four afternoons. Still I have myself a distinct recollection of the verifloation of the record in the Sydney Mail some years ago. Moreover, it is vouched for by one of the most painstaking of cricket statisticians, Mr. F. J. Ironside, for whose capacity I can my-self vouch. Anyhow, I think it worth while to reproduce the score as I saw it first in Mr. F. J. Ironside's Australian Cricketing Handbook, published in

Ulster vs. Macquarle Club, played at Sydney—J. Flynn, 249; H. Brown, 147; T. Flynn, 94; G. Mullins, 247; B. Brown, 25; J. Williams, 0; T. Williams, 1; J. White 178; T. J. Williams, 1; J. White, 178; T. Leaky, 3; M. Brereton, 186; R. Gibson, 8; extras, 100. Total, No date, it will be seen, is

A Terrible and Fatal Explosion at Petrolea.

Two Men Torn to Fragments - Corey's Torpedo Factory Utterly Destroyed.

From Our Own Correspondent. Petrolea, March 24.-About 1 o'clock yesterday a terrific explosion startled the residents of Petrolea and surrounding country and shook buildings all over the vicinity. Inquiry proved that Corey's torpedo works had been destroyed and that two more victims had been added to the long list of killed through the agency of premature nitro-glycerine explosions. The building was a frame structure, located about two miles from the town, and but three men were employed in the business, two of whom were blown into shape at Rochester, N.Y., and to pieces so small that it was almost third employe, Mr. J. Vandewater, did not happen to be working, and consequently escaped a horrible death. The two victims are well known as hard-working and steady mechanics. John Owens, one of the victims, came here about five years ago and secured a position with H. Corey & Son as foreman of the torpedo works, and he worked steadily. He leaves a young wife and child to mourn his loss. Wm. Huggard, whose folks reside here, was a hardworking young fellow, and one of the best musicians in the town. He remarked before going to work this morning that he did not feel inclined to start out, as he had never had any experience in this business, and said he might be blown up before he returned home. The deceased young man is a nephew of Mr. Joseph Huggard, of Toronto.

The cause of the explosion can, of course, only be surmised, and it is thought, while one of the men was putting the stuff through the process some of it was accidentally dropped. Fragments of the unfortunate men's odies were found 300 yards from building where they had been employed, while about the only trace of where the factory stood was a large hole, covered partly by some rubbish. The horse which the men used to carry them to their work was stabled in a shed about 25 feet from where the glyto say, was unharmed. The scene of the disaster was visited by hundreds during the afternoon. The remains were taken in charge by Chief Jackson. An inquest will be held today.

cerine was being handled, and, strange

A FORMER EXPLOSION. This explosion will, no doubt, bring back to memory the terrible disaster which happened five years ago next month, in which Bradley Chambers and McDermid were blown to pieces at Bradley's torpedo works, mixing glycerine.

Gregorian Requiem Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral-Imposing Rites.

The funeral of the late William Francis Harper, formerly manager of the Merchants' Bank, took place this morning, A large number of friends of the deceased assembled at the family residence, Colborne street, and several hundred (among them many former business associates) also gathered at St. Peter's Cathedral, where mass was said for the dead. The cortege left the house at 10:30 and arrived at the cathedral shortly before 11. The cathedral bell was tolled, and the casket was met at the door by Fathers Tiernan and Noonan and several altar boys bearing candles and incense. As the body was borne down the aisle to the receptacle, which was placed in front of the altar railing, Mr. W. C. Barron played the "Dead March in Saul." Mrs. Cruickshanks, who is the regular organist at the cathedral, is a daughter of deceased. The Gregorian Requiem Mass was celebrated by Father Tiernan, and during the recital Mr. J. C. Lockhart, tenor, sang a selection from Handel's "Messiah." Mr. J. T. Dalton, baritone, also sang There Is a Green Hill Far Away,' with much feeling. The statuary and images in the niches were draped with purple, and the altar was covered with black and white. As the coffin was borne out, Mr. Baron played "Nearer, my God, to Thee." The pall-bearers my God, to Thee." were Messrs. McIntosh, J. McGarvey Jas. Slater, E. J. Parke, James Wright and Geo. C. Gibbons, Q.C. The front windows and door of the Merchants' Bank were draped in black yesterday and today out of respect for Mr. Harper.

FOR THE BRITISH FLAG

That's What Jameson Told His Troopers

Bechuanaland mounted police, at Dr. Jamtified to having refused to join Dr. Jameson's expedition, and added that Col.

Grey questioned the troopers prior to starting and informed them that they were not supremacy of the British flag in South Africa. The sergeant also testified that Commissioner Newton dispatched him from Mafeking, on Dec. 20, in pursuit of Dr. Jameson's column, telling him to catch the latter at any cost. When the witness caught up with the column he handed his dispatches to Colonel Grey, who ordered him to give them to Sir John Willoughby, who told Sergeant White to give them to Dr. Jameson. The latter, however, sent him back to Sir John Willoughby, testified that he did not see any of the dispatches given to Dr. Jameson. According to White, Sir John Willoughby said:

"Tell your commanding officer that the dispatches have been received and will be also said, then proceeded in the direction of

THE POLICE COURT.

Ald. George Armstrong, acting mayor, presided at the Police Court this morning in the absence of Police Magistrate Parke, who was attending the funeral of the late Wm. F. Harper, of Colborne street.

Frank Rourke, charged with vagrancy, was remanded for a day at the request of Chief Williams, who notified Ald. Armstrong that the police magistrate had partly heard the case against Rourke a week ago. Rourke is the fellow who has been arrested nearly fifty times, and in that respect is a close rival of Hugh McCurdy.

The case of George Flannigan, charged by his father, Dennis H. Flannigan, with abusive language, was also postponed for a day at Mr. Williams' request. The father has two of his sons summoned as witnesses for the prosecution.

It was Samuel Atkinson's first appearance in the court for being drunk, and he looked as though his spree had an ill effect on him. "I have had cramps all winter," he told the acting magistrate, "and I just took something to try and stop them."

"But you were going the way to get more cramps," said Ald. Armstrong. Chief Williams suggested that the medicine may have been a little too strong.

Atkinson was discharged with a warning. The court lasted about five minutes.

But as he worked steadily, filling bag after bag, he found that, although he had reached at the outer edge of the floor of the mound what seemed to be a pavement of stone, there was still a considerable depth of gold in the center of the floor. Now he worked faster, telling Shirley, who was outside, that he would not come out until he had reached the floor of the mound, which was evidently depressed in the center after the fashion of a saucer. Working with feverish haste, the captain handed up bag after bag, until every little bar of gold had been removed from the mound. The bottom of the floor was covered with a fine dust, which had sifted down in the course of ages from the inside coating of the mound, but it was not deep enough to conceal a bar of gold, and, with his lantern and his foot, the captain made himself sure that not a piece was left. Then his whole soul and body thrilled with a wild purpose, and, moving the ladder from the center of the floor, he stooped to brush away the dust. If there should be a movable stone there! If this stone should cover a smaller cavity beneath the great one, what might he not discover within it! His mind whirled before the ideas which now cast themselves at him, when suddenly he stood up and set his teeth hard together.

"I will not," he said. "I will not look for a stone with a crack around We have enough already. Why should we run the risk of going crazy by trying to get more? I will not,' and he replaced the ladder.

'What's the matter there?" called Shirley from outside. "Who're you

The captain came out of the opening in the mound, pulled up the ladder and handed it to Shirley, and then he was about to replace the lid upon the mound. But what was the use of doing that, he thought; there would be no

As for me, I have tried hard to stop thinking about the business, and I have found that the best thing I could do was to try and consider the stuff in these bags as coal; good, clean anthracite coal. Whenever I carried a bag, I said to myself, 'Hurry, up, now, with this bag of coal.' A shipload of coal, you know, is not worth enough to turn

That was not a bad idea," said the captain; "but now the work is done, and we will soon get used to thinking of it without being excited about it. There is absolutely no reason why we should not be as happy and contented as if we had each made a couple of thousand dollars apiece on a good voy-

"That's so," said Shirley, "and I'm going to try to think it." When the last bag had been put on board, Burke and the captain were walking about the caves looking here

'No," said the captain. "I thought it better that whoever discovered that empty mound after us should not know what had been in it. You see, we will have to circulate these bars of gold pretty extensively, and we don't anybody to trace them back to the place where they came from. When the time comes we will make everything plain and clear, but we will want to do it ourselves and in our own way."

There is sense in that," said Burke. "There's another thing I want to ask you, captain. I've been thinking a great deal about that mound, and it strikes me that there might be a subcellar under it, a little one, most lite-ly, with something else in it-rings and jewels and nobody knows what not. Did you see if there was any sign of a trap-door?"

'No," said the captain; "I did not. I wanted to do it, you do not know how much, but I made up my mind it would be the worst kind of folly to try and get anything else out of that mound. We have now all that is good for us to have; the only question is whether or not we have not more than is good for us. I was not sure that I should not find something, if I looked for it, which would make me as sick as Shirley was the first time he looked into the mound. No, sir; we have enough, and it is the part of sensible men to Talmage Preaches on a Popular stop when they have enough."

Burke shook his head. "If I'd been there," he said, "I should have looked for a crack in the floor." When the brig weighed anchor, she did not set out for the open sea, but proceeded back to the Rackbirds' cove, where she anchored again. Before setting out the next day on his voyage to France, the captain wished to take on board a supply of fresh water.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

That night George Burke went off his watch at 12 o'clock, and a few minutes after he had been relieved he did something he had never done before—he deserted his ship. With his shoes and a little bundle of clothes on his head, he very quietly slipped down a line he had fastened astern. t was a very dark night, and he reached the water unseen, and as quietly as if he had been an otter going fishing. First swimming and then wading, he reached the shore. As soon as he was on land, he dressed, and then went for a lantern, a hammer and a cold chisel, which he had left at a convenient spot. Without lighting his lantern, he proceeded as rapidly as possible to caves. His path was almost invisible, but having traveled that way so often, he knew it as well as he knew his alphabet. Not until he was inside the entrance to the caves did he light his lantern. Then he proceeded, without loss of time, to the stone mound. He knew that the ladder had been left the aid of this he quickly descended into the mound, and then, moving the foot of the ladder out of the way, he this was done, he held up the lantern, and carefully examined the central -a space about three feet square was marked off on the pavement of the placed rather irregularly, but some of Putting the ladder in place, he ran up with his lantern and tools and descended to the outside floor. Then he examined the floor of the cave where the rod must run if it came, outside the mound. He found a line of flat stones, each about a foot square, extending from the mound toward the western side of the cave.

"Oh, ho!" he cried, and on his knees he went to work and soon forced up one of the stones, and under it was the metal rod, lying in a groove considerably larger than itself. Burke now followed the line of stones to the western side of the cave, where the roof was so low he could scarcely stand up under it. To make sure, he took up another stone, and still found the rod. "I see what this means," said he: "that bolt is worked from clean outside, and I've got to find the handle of it. If I can't do that. I'll go back and cut through that bolt, if my chisel will

He now went back to a point on the line of stones about midway between the side of the cave and the mound, and then, walking forward as nearly as possible in a straight line, which would be at right angles with the metal rod, he proceeded until he had reached the entrance to the passage way which led to the outer caves, carefully counting his steps as he went. Then he turned squarely about, entered the passage, and walked along it until he came to the door of the room which had once been occupied by Capt. Horn. "I'll try it inside first," said Burke to himself; "and then I'll go outside.

America succeeded by Benjamin Harris' first weekly paper, called Public Occurrences, published in Boston in 1690, and by the first daily, the American Advertiser, published in Philadelphia in 1784. There is nothing that despotism so fears and hates as a printing-press. It has too many eyes in its wheels. Austria could not endure Kossuth's journalistic pen, pleading for the redemption of Hungary. Napoleon I., trying to keep his iron heel on the neck of nations, said: "Editors are the regents of sovereigns, and the tutors of nations, and are only fit for prison. But the battle for the freedom of the press was fought in the court-rooms of England and America, and decided before the century began by Hamilton's eloquent plea for J. Peter Zenger's Gazette, in America, and Erskine's advocacy of the freedom of publication in England. These were the Marathon and Thermopylae in which the freedom of the press was established in the United States and Great Britain, and all the powers of earth and hell will never again be able to put on the handcuffs and hopples of literary and political despotism. It is notable that Thomas Jefferson, who wrote the declaration of American independence. wrote also: "If I had to choose between a Government without newspapers, or newspapers without a Government, I should prefer the latter." To publish a newspaper requires the the precision, the boldness, the vigilance, the strategy of a commander-in-chief. To edit a paper requires that one be a statesman, an essayist, a geographer, a statistician, and, in acquisition, encyclopedic. To man, to govern, to propel a newspaper until It shall be a fixed institution, a national fact, demands more qualities than any business on earth. First of all newspapers make knowledge demo-cratic and for the multitude. The library is a hay-mow so high up that few can reach it, while the newspaper throws down the forage to our feet. Public libraries are the reservoirs where the great floods are stored high up and away off. newspaper is the tunnel that brings them down to the pitchers of all the people. The chief use of great libraries is to make newspapers out of. Great libraries make a few men and women very wise. Newspapers lift whole nations into the sunlight. Better have 50,000,000 people moderately intelligent than 100,000 Solons. A false impression is abroad that newspaper knowledge is ephemeral because periodicals are thrown aside, and not one out of five thousand people files them for future reference. Such knowledge, so far from being ephemeral goes into the very structure of the world's heart and brain and decides the destiny of churches and nations. Knowledge on the shelf is of little worth. It is knowledge afoot, knowledge harnessed, knowledge in revolution, knowledge winged, knowledge project-ed, knowledge thunder-bolted. Adams and Hancock, and Otis used to go to the Boston Gazette and compose articles on the rights of the people. Benjamin Franklin, De Witt Clinton,

Hamilton, Jefferson, Quincy, were odical. All Macaulay's essays first appeared in a review. All Carlyle's, all Ruskin's, all McIntosh's, all Sydney Smith's, all Hazlitt's all Thackeray's, all the elevated works of fiction in our day, are reprints from periodicals, in which they appeared as serials. Tennyson's poems, Burns' poems, Longfellow's poems, Emerson's poems, Whittier's poems, were once fugitive pieces. You cannot find ten literary men in Christendom, with strong minds and great hearts, but who are or have been connected with the newspaper printing-press. While the book will always have its place, the newspaper is more potent. Because the latter is multitudinous, do not conclude it is necessarily superficial. If a man should from childhood to old age see only his Bible, Webster's Dictionary and his newspaper, he could be prepared for all the duties of this life and all the happiness of the next. Again, a good newspaper is a useful vented. Once more I remark that a good newspaper is a blessing as an evan-gelistic influence. You know there is great change in our day taking place. All the secular newspapers of the day-for I am not speaking now of the religious newspapers-all the secular newspapers of the day discuss all the questions of God, eternity and the dead, and all the questions of the past, present and future. There is not single doctrine of theology but, has been discussed in the last ten years by the secular newspapers of the counry. They gather up all the news of all the earth bearing on religious subjects, and then they scatter the news abroad again. The Christian news-paper will be the right wing of the apocalyptic angel. The cylinder of the Christianized printing-press will be the front wheel of the Lord's chariot. I take the music of this day, and I do not mark it diminuendo-I mark it crescendo. A pastor on a Sabbath preaches to a few hundred, or a few thousand people, and on Monday, or during the week, the printing-press will take the same sermon and preach it to millions of people. God speed the printing-press! God save the printingpress! God Christianize the printing press! When I see the printing-press standing with the electric telegraph on the one side gathering up material, and the lightning express on the other side waiting for the tons of folded sheets of newspapers, I pronounce it the mightiest force of our civilization. So I command you to pray for all those land, for all type-setters, for all reporters, for all editors, for all publishers, that, sitting, or standing in positions of such great influence, they may give all that influence for God and the betterment of the human race.

JAMES AGNEW'S MURDER.

Resumption of the Inquest on the Lindsay Tragedy-Evidence Offered.

Lindsay, Ont., March 24.-A provincial detective arrived here last night to investigate the circumstances of the shooting of James Agnew on Tuesday night last. The inquest was continued last evening and adjourned till Wednesday, to permit of additional evidence being offered.

A good deal of time of the jury last night was taken up with arguments between counsel as to whether the Carney boys could be compelled to give evidence or not, and whether certain statements made by the boys after their arrest to the chief of police could be received as evidence. Patrick Carney, who is held as an accessory to the murder, was sworn, but refused to make any statement on the advice of his counsel. Miss Ellen Marron, a maid at Logie's farm, where John Carney, who is accused of the murder, worked, identified at the inquest the trigger of a revolver which was found by the police at Logie's. John Car. ney's revolver had the trigger missing-Constables gave evidence as to the ing of the murdered man's watch at the Carney house. Plaster paris casts of the foot-prints of the supposed murderer were produced, and John Carney's overshoes, which he is said to have worn on the night

Agnew was shot, were also exhibited. Mrs. Carney, the mother of the boys. testified that her son Pat was home on the night of the murder shortly after 9:30, and did not go out again, and this evidence was corroborated by Alexander Petrie, who testified that he drove Pat in the direction of his home about that hour on Tuesday

Will be London's Synonym in the Near Future,

If the Citizens Continue to Build New Churches and Beautify Existing Ones-Astonishing Retrospective List-More to Come.

The last half-dozen years or so has made a wonderful difference in the church architecture of London. The new buildings and additions to old buildings have been remarkable, and even yet the movement for modern churches has not abated. Londoners have seen new churches going up almost every year, and have come to look upon the process as a matter of course. When the two large churches at present being built are finished, Lon- with a bigger load than he can comdon will have the most modern churches in Canada, and will probably have more comparatively new houses of worship than any other city of its size in America. Of course, the causes which necessitated the rebuilding of the two largest Methodist churches in the city were not the most desirable, but good has even come out of fire. The congregations have been moved to unprecedented exertion, and their zeal has been quickened under the additional burdens laid upon them. And now as they see the stately piles taking the places of the old buildings, they have come to regard the destruction of the former churches as a sort of blessing in disguise. The work in connection with the First Methodist Church will cost about $60,000, and that of the Dundas Center about $45,000—no inconsiderable amounts for any congregation

A little over a year ago the Anglicans spent $55,000 or more in rebuilding St. Paul's Cathedral and erecting present accessible and imposing strucand the grounds tastily rearranged, so that the present buildings and grounds bear no resemblance whatever to those of a few years ago. The winter just ending also saw the completion of a modest and comfortable Anglican church in East London, which takes the place of the wooden building which for many years had served as a place of worship for the St. Matthew's congregation. It was at one time the chapel and dead house at St. Paul's Cemetery, and will now be turned into a carpenter shop and dwell-

It is also not so very long ago-the foundation stone was laid on May 24, strictly first class company and there is 1894—since the beautiful building now not a weak spot in the cast. Tonight the occupied by the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church was built. Other city Presbyterian churches have also shown signs of activity in the building line—Knox Church, South London, last year completed a series of alterations and improvements almost equal to an entirely new building. The year before the same building spirit came over the congregation of King Street Presbyterian Church. Their building was enlarged and the ground built upon to the street front, with the most advantageous results. In 1893 the old frame church that did duty as a place of worship for the Queen's Park Methodists was moved to rear and relegated to Sunday school uses, and the present handsome brick "Centennial" was built in its

Some time before, "All Saints' Mission," an adjunct of the Memorial Church, was built on the and save a great many dollars in the Hamilton road. It is a compact brick course of the year. One ten-cent building, and added its small quota to the advancement of London churches. In 1890 the new Colborne Street Methodist Church was completed during the pastorate of Rev. E. B. Lanceley, who is now pastor of the Dundas Center Church. The year before saw the completion of another church in the North End—that of St. John the Evangelist. Some alterations and additions were necessary there this year also, to accommodate the growing Sunday school.

After devotional exercises and the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, the treasurer, Rev. Our preparations for Easter are notable in several ways, includ ing the largeness of stocks the extent of varieties, the richness of styles and the closeness of prices. We are far out of the crowd in Stylish Cloaks and Drest Goods, and you can't imagine a worthy style or quality that we haven't got New things are constantly coming to us from the leading fashion centers, and a larger intelligence inspires the management to do better and better. It is easy; we're not resting on past reputation. Our ambition, our business, our ideas are progressive, and the best possible values of last season are surpassed by the better possible values this spring. Everything is leaning your way, and those who investigate these goods and prices will fare better than those who
