AKER CHAMP CLARK IN LEAD FOR NOMINAT HEADS FIRST BALLOT AFTER ALL-NIGHT SESSION

Polls 4411-2 Votes to Wilson's 324, Harmon and Underwood Trailing.

ONE VOTE FOR "PEERLESS ONE"

Convention Hall Plunged Into An Uproar When Bryan Moves Sensational Resolution.

[Canadian Press.] Baltimore, June 28 .- The official result of the first ballot for the presidential nomination was: Clark, 4411/2; Wilson, 324; Harmon, 148; Underwood, 1171/2; Marshall, 31; Baldwin, 22; Sulzer, of New York, 2.

Necessary to a choice, 728.

Baltimore, June 28. - At 6 o'clock this morning the Democratic national convention was still listening to nominating and seconding speeches on presidential candidates-Messrs. Underwood, Clark, Wilson, Harmon, and Governor Marshal, of Indiana, had been placed before the convention, and only seconding speeches remained to be heard before the. first ballot was taken.

The convention has been in session since 8 o'clock last night. The delegates were many of them asleep in their seats, the galleries were all but empty, the policemen wide-eyed and weary, but the flood of oratory went on.

Baltimore, June 28.—Chairman James at 6:43 ordered the first roll call on the presidency. An attempt was made to adjourn, but motion and ordered that the roll Says That Water Commissioners of my property," said one ratepayer, call proceed. The first test of strength between the rival candidates then began.

Baltimore, June 28.-The convention recessed until 4 p.m. after the first ballot.

Baltimore, June 28. - After sitting all through the night, the Democratic national convention reached the first ballot on the presidential nomination shortly before 7 o'clock this morning. There was no choice. In fact, all of the candidates were so far away from the two-thirds vote necessary to nominate that the delegates today looked forward to a long, hard fight.

After the first ballot the convention at 7:16 a.m. took a recess until 4 o'clock this afternoon. In the meantime there will be much studying of the figures on the test vote and many conferences among the leaders. Champ Clark Led.

As was expected, Speaker Champ Clark led all of the other candidates on the first ballot. He received 4401/2 votes to 324 for Woodrow Wilson, his nearest rival. This, however, left the Speaker 2861/2 votes short of the necessary two-thirds. Governor Judson Harmon, of Ohio, aided by New York's solid block of 90 votes, was third, with 148. Representative Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, received scattering votes, but the fact that he Mr. Brown's car was standing in front dld not show any strength whatever on the first ballot did not discourage them. They still felt that in the event be checked. The Brown car came out of a deadlock, which early today seemsecond best, both axles being slightly of a deadlock, which early today seemed more than probable, Mr. might be turned to again lead his party in the presidential race. The Totals.

The totals of the various candidates on the first ballot were: Clark 4401/2, Wilson 324, Harmon 148, Underwood 117%, Marshall 31, Baldwin 22, Sulzer (New York) 2, and

Reforms-Enactment of an income tax law; declaration International Improvements-Liberal appropriations for rivers and harbors; federal control of Mississippi levees. favorable to primary system,

Mr. Bryan had a good deal to do with he building of the platform, but some of his pet ideas were rejected. For example, the committee refused to adopt a plank favorable to an inheritance tax as recommended by the Commoner. A strong feeling was developed in the committee against a third, or even a second term for the President. The platform declares for a constitutional amendment limiting the tenure to one term, the length of the term being left to the discretion of

His Friends Say That None But

Progressive Can Be Nominated. [Canadian Press.] Baltimore, June 28-Wm. J. Bryan had no word to say today on the first ballot cast for the presidential nomination by the convention, and after the adjournment of the all-night session, the Nebraskan hurried to his hotel where he retired for a needed rest. He indicated that the delegates had already spoken their mind against Underwood, but was non-committal as to whether his choice was Clark or Wilson, although he added that he had voted for Clark.

Employees of the street railway company are holding an indignation meeting this afternoon to consider what further action will be taken concerning the request which they submited a fe wdays ago, asking for an increase in the scale of wages paid, particularly to relief men.

It is declared by certain of the men most prominent among the employees that a strike is imminent, and that while they are prepared to accept reasonable treatment, they will not continue under present conditions.

The dismissal of three of their number this morning because of the fact that they were looked upon as agitators, it is alleged, has also created much dissatisfaction, and the immediate reinstatement of the trio is to be asked for, it is claimed.

A Secret Meeting.

The matter was thoroughly discussed by a number of the employees who congregated about the corner of Dundard Flighth streets opposite the das and Elizabeth streets, opposite the London street railway offices, this morning, and before noon the fact that a general indignation meeting was to be held this afternoon was quietly spread to all motormen and cinductors. The location of the meeting-place was kept erligiously secret out-side of those directly interested. Superintendent Young, of the street

No arrangements for the future were made at that time, and no promises are to be made to the men in the present difficulty.

All Are Interested.

While the men assert that all are directly interested in the agitation for better pay, and that every motorman and conductor will abide by the decision of their committee, the street railway officials claim that at the time of the last strike of the regular men the spare men filled the vacancies, and that as a result the is some ill-feeling now and that the reinstated regulars will not interest themselves.

Easy for Busy Man to Keep Posted if He Has The Advertiser's Dictionary.

How many of the new words do you know? The man who does not have a good stock of words in his vocabulary, words which were not in common use a year or two ago, is far behind the times. Are you one of the laggers in the march of progressive events? If you are, The Advertiser can enable you to catch up with even the leaders. It is very simple—all you need to do is to secure one of the Webster's New Illustrated Dictionaries, which The Advertiser is presenting to its readers. It

No Man Need "Take Risk"

In Buying His Clothes There are stores from which the risk element is forever barred, and this Smallman & Ingram Men's Clothing Store is one of them. We firmly believe that it is impossible for any store in Canada to have Men's Suits made up exactly as our Men's Suits are made and to sell them for prices lower than our prices. We have very serious doubts as to whether any store could get Suits made exactly as ours are made, and then sell them for prices as low as durs. If you believe in one standard as to fabrics, and that the most equivocal; if you believe in scientific accuracy of fit and true interpretation of fashion; if you believe in the highest class of workmanship for the lowest price at which expert and honorable men will turn out that class of work, you believe in Smallman & Ingram Clothing, because Smallman & Ingram Clothing stands for all these things, and we stand ready with an unprecedentedly fine stock to prove as much.

Former Liberal Whip Shows That He Had Absolutely Nothing to Do With the Bank.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, June 28 .- At the Farmers' Bank inquiry yesterday Dr. Beattle Nesbitt said that on the request of General Manager Travers, he made application to Hon. A. J. Matheson, provincial treasurer of Ontario, for provincial deposits in the Farmers Bank. He was partially successful, securing a small initial deposit.

He subsequently "may have spoken to some friends" with a view to having them bring pressure to bear on the minister The names of these "friends," Dr. Nesbitt told the commissioner, he did not remember. Such were the additional contributions to the evidence being collected by Sir William Meredith, in his conact of the Farmers Bank inquiry, at Osgoode Hall yesterday, Dr. Nesbitt was on the stand and was examined at length by Mr. Frank E. Dr. Nesbitt made the statement that he had never received a cent of money from the Farmers Bank that was not part of a strictly business transaction. No money had been lost by the bank in business transactions with him. He had turned over Keeley stock which he considered worth more than the bank advanced him, and he still thought the mine was good. He said he was frozen out of the Keeley mines just before the bank failed. He had not heard of the Keeley mine until after he was president of the Farmers Bank. #### LONDON, FRIDAY, JUNE 28. THE FRENCH LANGUAGE CON-GRESS.

The participants in the Frenchspéaking congress at Quebec act very naturally in seeking to preserve the use of their native language in Canade. Englishmen similarly placed would do the same thing. The French-Canadians have reason to be proud of their speech, both on literary and on historical grounds.

With the Indians nearly gone, the French are our original Canadians. Over a large part of the continent they are the original Americans. Before the English colonists had penetrated past the Atlantic border, French ploneers had carried the flag of Bourbon France over the lake region, the central prairie and the whole Mississippi valley. Who does not admire the voyageurs and feel the romantic thrill of that word? It has no English translation. The French language is a beautiful one, one of the most humane of languages, and embellished by ages of literary genius and hegemony.

It is the part of a manly and generbus Englishman to yield full respect, and indeed gratitude, to the French race, the French language and French national pride. We shall do well in Canada to maintain the dual elements of culture for the greater enrichment of our country's life. The dream of making English the only language of Canada or of the world has its attractiveness, and yet, as it takes shape in many minds, there is in it something Philistine. By all means let the use of the French tongue remain among us. So Canada will be the gainer in culture, in picturesqueness and in piquancy. There is nothing essentially hostile to British institutions in the persistence of the French language. An Ill-natured attempt, however, to suppress it by steam-roller methods might convert our friends and fellowcountrymen into enemies. Jerseymen speak French and love Britain; so it is

If any criticism is to be made of the Congress at Quebec, it would be on the note, which seems ever and anon recurring in the proceedings, of suggestion that French-Canadians are an oppress-One or two speakers particued race. larly have ranted with eloquence about a galling oppression. The rhetoric itself sounds a little strange in English ears, and the burden of the complaint stranger still. The English speaking not the slightest notion that any liberties of French Canadians are threatened. The privileges allowed them are defined in the constitution. No people, in fact, is better treated than the people of Quebec. Thinking French-Canadians have reason to be proud of distinction attained in public life. Some English-speaking Canadians nurse a domination." French-Canadians are here to stay, it seems. Sensible English-Canadians recognize that. Senator Belcourt exaggenerates when he claims that efforts the farm, are being made to destroy the French language in Ontario. Few in this province really wish to deprive our 250,000 French citizens of their language. What is really desired in this province, in the interests of citizens, French and English alike, is that the schools shall provide every boy and girl with a fair chance to succeed in life. The English language is an absolute essential to this end, probably even in Quebec, let alone in Ontario. The decision to restrict the use of French in classroom work to the minimum is not to be interpreted as an attack on the French danguage which the children learn at the mother's knee. Such an interpretation confuses the issues. The movement is not properly to extirpate the French language, but to make fully informed and capable citizens.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The surprise in the first ballot at the Democratic convention was the strength shown by Harmon and Underwood. The former, who is the governor of Ohio, was expected to carry only the delegates of his own state, but the New York contingent went over to him in a body, Underwood, of Alabama, the leader of the Democrats in the House of Representatives, drew heavily upon the Solid South. The vote of Champ Clark, of Missouri, Speaker of the House of Representatives, was smaller than his supporters hoped for, but the succeeding ballots may show a drift to him from the Harmon and Underwood forces, It is certain that the New York delegation will go to him on later ballots. There is a general belief that Clarke, Harmon and Underwood have an understanding, and as a last resort their followers will combine in favor of Clark, against Governor Wilson, of New Jersey: The votes for Marshall and Baldwin were merely a compliment from their own states.

Under the two-thirds rule, 728 votes are pecessary to a choice. Clark, Harmon and Underwood together se-watching the outcome. The man they most fear is Governor Wilson. He is credited with being more radical than credited with being more radical than The Rooseveltians are eagerly any of his competitors, and it is believed he would appeal particularly to the element in the Democratic party which might otherwise be attracted to Roosevelt. The bull moose party, as the Roosevelt faction has been named, even hopes to capture Bryan, if the Democrats fail to nominate a radical.

With Wilson and Clark in a nopeless deadlock, the Nebraska man's opportunity would come.

In the meantime, Bryan has been getting his own way in other respects. On his motion the convention passed a sensational resolution, pledging the party to oppose any candidate who was under obligation to J. P. Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan or August Belmont, the great triumvirate of Wall Street. He has shaped the platform to suit himself. The tariff plank marks a return to the old fighting ground of the party. As a candidate Mr. Bryan was lukewarm on the tariff question, but the Democrats in Congress have shown in the past two years some of Cleveland's spirit and courage. The convention will declare for a tariff on revenue only, and join issue with both the Republican and the Roosevelt partiesfor even Roosevelt has been a standpatter on the tariff. The Democratic party is now the one party from which Canada can expect tariff favors.

A MEAN CONSPIRACY. Some of the noble and other English ladies who are unwilling to help their servants to benefit by the Insurance Act have tried to organize a general defiance of the law. Some thousands of maid-servants were collected in Albert Hall by their employers or employesses and put through the motions of passing a resolution not to pay the prescribed premiums. Partly, no doubt, they knew very little what they were about, partly they may have been cajoled or coerced in the mat-

Now many titled women of the party raise the Abigails and incite them to break the law. They are simply copying the men who nurse rebellion in Ulster. This is the party of law and order, the champion of the constitution.

Mr. Bryan is the Barkis of the Democratic convention.

The Democrats have had the courcitizens of Canada have, at any rate, age to stand by the reciprocity agreement in spite of the western American farmers, and the Liberals will have the courage to stand by it in spite of the eastern Canadian interests.

The census shows an increase of 62 rer cent, in the urban population of city." Canada, and of 17 per cent, in the rural, in the past ten years. This is a lop-sided growth, which cannot contoo much power, and talk of "French tinue long without bringing evils in its train. There is an actual decline in the rural population of Ontario of over 250,000. It ought to be the aim of statesmanship to turn the tide back to

> It is now conceded that Mackenzie & Mann have got hold of the electrical interests of Hamilton, which embraces a dozen concerns. The purchase of the Electrical Development Company was forced on them by the refusal of the Ontario Government to take it over and protect the British bondholders. That was the starting point of the merger, which has now assumed colossal proportions.

The Toronto Mail and Empire presumes to foreshadow the Borden naval policy. It says:

"Whatever may be the nature of the arrangement decided upon, we may be sure there will be no aratist Canadian navy; there will be no following the Laurier model. "Fortunately for Canada and the other British dominions, it is no less their interest than their duty to help to make the central navy strong. What amazing folly it would were any of the dominions to set about to build itself up into a great naval power."

But the Hon. Richard McBride is for the Canadian navy idea, and he will not be denied. His motives may be secnational standpoint. Borden will follow the Laurier model, and the Mail loyal it is not necessary to be prating about it all the time. We can show it and Empire will follow Borden.

POIGNANT STORY.

[London Spectator.]
A letter under the title "Mother A letter under the title "Mother! Mother!" which appeared in your last week's issue recalls to my mind a story told in connection with the late Miss Florence Nightingale which I have all ways thought one of the most poignant and touching stories of its kind. Those of your readers with whom it is unfamiliar may be glad to make acquaintance with it. An old Crimean veteras, the tale runs, was asked by a lady if he had known Miss Nightingale out in the Crimea. "Know her?" he answered, "I should think I did. If ever there was ance—if it really exists—the control of the convention. But the Alliance may be largely conjectural, and Clark's failure to get the necessary managed to raise myself on my elbow to look where the voice came from, and there lay a little drummer chap with half of his face shot away. And then, what it was an angel—it's a fact, I did. She had heard the poor lad's cry, and was making straight for him. Then she

WHERE WHISTLER IS BURIED

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

There has recently been erected in Chiswick Churchyard a tomb bearing an inscription to the memory of Whistier and his wife, who sleep there side by side. The tomb is of bronze. It rests upon a die and step of green whelt down right there in the snow and put her arm under his poor head, and I heard him say. 'O mother, I knew you'd come!' And there, fast folded in her loving arms, his bleeding face on the eccentric artist who wrote a book her breast, he died."

granite, and the character of the design is that of the Italian renaissance. It is significant that this memorial to the eccentric artist who wrote a book "On the Gentle Art of Making Enemies" was not erected by friends or well-wishers, for the cost was defrayed out of the estate. Most suitable is it that the character of the design for the tomb should be that of the Italian renaissance, for James McNeill Whistler, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, and Oscar Wilde, all members of the aesthetic school, which flourished in London in the eighties, were born out of due time. They should have lived in the Italy of the Borgias, when men threw all moral restraints aside' and revelled in the joys of the senses. In dress, in morals, in artistic sympathies, Whistler was a true son of that pagan world which handed on its devil-may-care freedom, its love of color, and its passion for new sensations to the Eliza-> his day, he created a new school of art, and by his mastery of technique brought England to his feet. Whenever I read his life, however, I am tempted to believe that he was as crazy as a March hare. But I suppose we should say that his eccentricity was the insanity of genius. It was in May, 1881, that Whistler took a studio at 13 Tite street, Chelsea, and began to be the most talked-of man of the day. "He filled the papers with letters," write Mr and Mrs. Pennell in their life of the artist, "London echoed with his laugh. His white lock stood up defiantly above his curls. His canc lengthened; a series of collars sprang from his overcoat; his hat had a curlier brim, a lower tilt over his eyes; he invented amazing costumes. was known to pay calls with a long bamboo stick in his hand and pink bows on his shoes." When Mr. Pennell first saw him in his studio at Tite street in July, 1884, "he was all, in white, his waistcoat had long sleeves, and every minute it seemed as if he "The names of those who must begin to juggle with glasses, For, to be honest, my first impression was of a bar-keeper strayed from a Philadelphia saloen into a Chelsea studio Never had I seen such thick, black, curling hair. But this dandy, this wit, this famous me again with a great wakening quarreller with Ruskin and others too ius. His portrait of Carlyle and his portrait of his own mother, whom'he escorted to the church door every Sunday and then returned to his painting, are two of his most celebrated works. A copy of his portrait of Carlyle hangs over my study table as I write, and whenever I look at the grim picture of the Chelsea sage in his fine coat which pouts so gracefully over the breast, I smile to think of the time Whistler had in getting old Tom to keep quiet.

As we might expect Carlyle was very loath to give sittings. There is a note in Allingham's diary, dated July 29, Mrs. McFee to her husband, who, like 1873, which throws a lurid flash of light over that spectacle of the two great eccentrics imprisoned in one room: "Carlyle tells me that he is signs of changing his position Whistler Some Fight Shy of the Big screams out in an agonized tone, 'For God's sake, don't move!'" But lety seemed to be to get the coat painted to ideal perfection; the face went for little. He had begun by asking for two or three sittings, but managed to get a great many. At last Carlyle flatly rebelled. He used to define Whistler as "the most absurd creature on the face of the earth." But he knew how to paint, and, in his way, he was as great a man as Thomas Carlyle himself.

half a ton. One salamander, such as used by plasterers to dry out houses. Six planks, twelve feet long. One family table. Two chairs. Several shovels. Sundry other articles."

This was the list of discoveries in the tile of Carling's Creek where is crosses Lorne avenue, as made by Assistant Engineer Brazier. When Chairman Robinson and the members of the board of works heard the list read, they looked at City Engineer Wright and asked who was writing musical comedy libretto in the engineer's office. "No lawyer ever came near to a story that kind," quoth Ald. J. Percy

Moore, disconsolately. It appears that the tile which carry water of the creek are very large, and that in a pinch the fire ould be squeezed through. This is why Brazier was able to locate all the truck named, which had resulted in the plugging of the tile, and a consequent notice of suits for damages from the residents of the avenue, who had been flooded out by the heavy rain of May 19.

Suit for Damages.

Mr. J. F. Faulds has threatened to sue, and the city, was about to cry "Lay on, Macduff, and bluffed be he who first rles hold, enough," but the reading of the engineer's list of findings rather put a different face on the situation. However, it was deemed imprudent to hand over money to the injured parties without a fight, and the city solicitor was instructed to defend the actions should they be entered, and to have the City Gas Company, who had run a pipe through the creek tile on Dufferin avenue, made part/defendants, as the city engineer claims the Gas Company are nore to blame than the city for the plugging of the sewer.

Some millers have decided not to enter the merger. Mr. Dexter, of Dexter's mills, was approached, but the proposition did not appeal to him, and he would not consent to enter into the merger. Other local millers have been approached, but they have all fought shy of the arrangement, and it is likely that no local mills will be included in the consolidation, if it goes through. However, the general n among the trade is that the thing will fall through eventually.

ESTENOZ KILLED

Cuban Rebei Leader Siain in Skirmist With Rebels. [Canadian Press.]

Santiago, June 28.—Gen. Evaresto Esenoz, the rebel leader, was killed yesterday at Vega Bellao, six miles from Micara, in the vicinity of Songo, by Gov. ernment troops under command of Lieut. De La Torre, after a battle in which 100 insurgents were killed. The dead include probably also Gen. Pedro Ivonet, whose body, however, has not yet been found.

rene Borough, near here, was awakened from his slumbers early today by a burglar walking around in his room. The stranger dashed out of a rear door, pursued by the officer. The man attempted to pull a weapon, when Kileen shot him through the head, killing him instantly. The dead man was apparently a Slav, aged about 40, and from papers found on his body a resident of Shenandosh, Pa. Kileen gave himself up.

There comes a time to a girl when, vithout apparent cause, she likes to go off by herself, and dream.
It is not of a lover, her family avers, because not only does she have none but she is too young to have one. But one doesn't have to have a lover to dream of one. And one is never too young to dream.

Those who have known distillusionment who have found that the taste at the bottom of the glass is bitter, though it was sweet at the beginning, will say in some bitterness, that "she will soon wake

Perhaps, who knows? Perhaps she may never wake up. The happiest folks never do, and some wouldn't wake up if those who are bitter through experience didn't take pains to awaken them.

But because she is happy in her dreams, encourage her to dream. It is all there is to life. The Dream part. If a girl dreams, she is living a life that is her ideal. In her dreams she is knowing every joy she has longed for, she is realizing every secret ambition, She knows no fear of sorrow. When that fear reaches her, she will cease

they are, are yet as deeply convinced

With the first breathe of the summer breeze with the first softness in the ers, or long mornings spent between the hot sand and the cooling waves of the hot sand and the cooling waves of the beach, came the eternal question of what is fit—fit not only in the way of clothes, but what is correct in the destalls, the satchels, the bags, steamer rugs, dressing cases, and all the paraphersalia of traveling of which a voman who likes to be well appointed is so careful. It is not a case of fitness alone, but of greatest ease and compactness, combined with the latest designs. The traveller wants her things when she wants them, and not to find them a half hour later or after rumpling up everything else before reaching the coveted object. And each year sees the stores smoothmind of those who journey by rail or boat for week-end jaunt or summer in

The new hand satchels are no longer the square shape of a year ago. Instead the side slope giving a pointed effect, while the linings are of moire silk—violet, tan, black, to suit any preference. Naturally the black takes precedence as as far as utility is concerned.

An excellent way has been found for overcoming the heaviness that always results in a hand satchel being weighed down with either the leather toilet case or even where the toilet articles have places in the satchel. A light square holder has been made, covered with the moire silk to match the lining of the satchel, which will hold just the toilet articles-comb, clothes, hair, tooth brushes and soap.

Another advantage this new holder has, besides adding practically no heaviness, is that the flap which is used for covering can be turned back to become a support, so that the case can stand ready to your hand on hotel bureau or friend's dressing table. Ivory, and ivory alone, is the last word for tollet articles. True, one still sees the ebony, but every day ivory, Paris fvory, or ivotan is usurping place of other materials. And how fresh and clean it looks in comparison to dark ebony or even the silver finish! Ivotan is the least expensive; that and the Paris ivory are used almost exclusively. Peterboro, Ont., June 27.—The White sixth on Nasher's single, Rewan's sacri-Caps completely turned the tables on fice and Beard's safety to left. The Visitors never had a chance. Score:

Furssedon started for London. Nasher, the first man up, started with a homer, but "Fuzzy" went along well after that, until the fourth, when he hit Swartz and passed Byrne. A fumbled grounder by Brant gave Tully a life, filling the bases, Furssedon passed Trout, forcing in a run. Tracey hit to Brant, who fumbled again, and Byrne came in. A wild pitch scored Tully, and Trout counted on Nasher's sacrifice, giving the Petes four runs without a hit. After passing Beard and allowing Swartz to hit safely in the first, was yanked, and succeeded hits—Off Tracey 1; off Reitzman 1. Struck out—By Reitzman 1. Struck out—By Reitzman 4. The wonderful leap made by Frank Irons, in 1908, when he jumped 24 feet, 61/2 inches, may not be exceeded, for it is doubtful if there is a 24-foot man competing today. Irons did 22 feet, 91/2 inches in the Olympic trials at Evanston, Ill., and Worthington's best at Cambridge, Mass., was 23 feet, But this pair are good enough to out-jump the best abroad.

Platt Adams, who jumped 10 feet, 8 inches in the standing broad jump at the eastern Olympic trials, and F. #### ROLLING MILLS WIN CUP BEAT M'CLARYS BY 2 TO 1

The London Rolling Mills wen the championship of the City Soccer League by defeating McClarys in the final game played at Chelsea Green last evening by the score of 2 to 1. It was one of the hardest-fought games ever played in this city, and was only decided after thirty minutes of overtime had been played. A large crowd of supporters of both teams attended the match and cheered on the teams.

The Rollers were a trifle heavier than the McClarys, and in the long run their superior weight told. They also played a better defence game than their opponents, and time and again broke up dangerous rushes on the part of the McClary forwards.

McClarys Fast.

The McClary team, although light, were very fast, and they played their positions better than their opponents. Patterson, in goal, was a star, and his excellent blocking and punting pulled the foundrymen out of dangerous periods time and again. Aldridge, the centre forward for McClarys, also played a great game. He was one of the most game. He was one of the most dangerous men on the McClary forward line, and was watched closely. Hyde, left back, also played a stellar game for McClarys, his work helping to keep down

At full time the score was still a tie, and Referee Hollins decided to play 15 minutes each way. In the first 15 minutes the Rolling Mills started several rushes but could not score. Just as the first half was about up the forwards made but could not score. Just as the first half was about up, the forwards made another attack on the McClary goal, Collins and Hyde both tried to stop it but the ball dribbled through them. Patterson blocked it, but in kicking it out from the goal it struck one of the Rolling Mills' players and bounced through the posts. Although McClarys tried hard during the remainder of the game, and the Rolling Mills had several narrow escapes, they could not tie the score, and the cup went to the tie the score, and the cup went to the rollers.

Expert Attention, Best Tailoring, Absolute Quality in Every Suit

There may be some few people in this city who have not visited the Scotland Woolen Mills Company store. We honestly believe that these few people do not realize that the Scotland Woolen Mills Company gives unusual value for the money. We positively know that the suits we make cannot be duplicated at from twenty-five to thirty dollars anywhere beyond our doors.

Every suit is made to individual measure. It receives the same attention that is accorded an order by your regular high-priced custom tailor. The one difference being that the men who cut our clothes are experts in their particular line, they are graduates from the best cutting schools in London and New York.

A blue serge suit makes a splendid and dressy costume for summer. The blue serge sold by us is a selected weave specially put through the looms for our Canadian weather. It is light in weight, strong in texture, of fast color, and is smooth to the touch. Our blue serge is made from pure all-wool Botany Bay yarn, dyed before being spun.

varney passed from his mind. He stood ready, powerful, concentrated, determined, confronting an almost certain enemy with the flerce heart and envenomed glance of the fighter at bay.

He had scarcely assumed this position when the window was opened, and a man was thrust violently through into the room. At the first glance, Thorne as yet unseen, recognized the newcomer as his elder brother, Henry Dumont. Unlike the two famous brothers of the parable, these two loved each other.

Thorne's muscles relaxed, his hand still clutched the butt of his revolver, he was still alert, but here was not an enemy. He began at oftee to fathom something at least of the plan and the purpose of the people who had trapped him. In a flash he perceived that his enemies were not yet in possession of all enemies were not yet in possession of all enemies were not yet in possession of all the facts which would warrant them in laying hands upon him. He was suspected, but the final evidence upon which to turn suspicion into certainty was evidently lacking. He could feel, although he could not see them, that every door and window had eyes solely for him, and that he was closely watched for some false move which would betray him. The plan for which he had ventured so much was still possible; he had not yet failed. His heart leaped in his breast. The clouds around his horizon lifted a little. There was yet a possibility that he could succeed, that he could carry out his part of the cunningly devised and desperate undertaking, the series of events of which this night and the telegraph office were to be the culmination.

Thorne stood motionless, silent, walting; just as he might have stood and waited had he been what he seemed and had the newcomer been utterly unknown and indifferent to him.

His brother was dressed in the blue uniform of the United States; like the others it had seen good service, but as Thorne glanced from his ewn clothes to those of his brother, the blood came to his face, it was like seeing his own flag again. For a fleeting moment he wished again. For a fleeting moment he wished that he had on his own rightful uniform himself and that he had never put it off bill to prohibit the manufacture and sale of absinthe came up again in the French Senate. A committee reported that the consumption of absinthe in France had increased from 14,775 gallons in 1873 to 5,062, 300 gallons in 1911. Evidence had been taken to show that some plants used in making absinthe were injurious while others were not. The committee

"Absinthe is a producer of epilepsy of the first order, hyosope gives ef fects almost identical with absinthe sage is productive of convulsions, and tansy causes tetanus and violent con-vulsions. The active principle of these substances is thuyone. Harmless components are aniseed and fennel."

The committee therefore recom mended that only absinthe containing harmless ingredients should be allowed and all containing thuyone in manufactured and if possible sold.

The committee further proposed that the importation of absinthe should be stopped immediately and that its manufacture should be prohibited in two years and its sale

The Government was prepared to support the committee's solution of the problem and M. de Lanarzelle agreed to withdraw his total prohibition bill in favor of one on the lines proposed by the committee. The discussion will be continued in the senate.

The British Governmen Contract For First Great Stations.

EACH ONE TO BE GREAT FORTRESS

Home Govt. Will Contribute Three Millions and Australia $500,000 For Scheme.

New York, June 27 .- A London cable ays: The wireless convention now in session here has found its great difficulty to lie in dealing with wireless telegraph as a commercial agent.

England, like other European countries, regards wireless as a great instrument of war, and the agreement with the Marconi Company has been made with this as the

One station is to be in England, one in Australia, one in India and a fourth at Port Said. The other two, it is presumed, will be in South Africa and at Hong Kong. There is also a station at Glace Bay, while land installations cross the Dominion of Canada.

Circle the Globe. It is estimated that if the work is begun immediately the stations will be finished in a year, and that England will then have a circuit of communication around the earth independent of cables. Each station is to be built as a fortress capable of successful defence. While the stations are to be built by the Marconi for service, the Marconi interest ceases. The $3,000,000 supplied by the Government will pay only for the wireless installation. The ground, the buildings and everything except what relates solely to wireless communication, will be furnished by the Government.

The British Government now owns all he country's telegraph and tele hone systems, and will-now also own its own cound-the-world communication. This is the reason-the Government monopolythat the wireless convention still finds itself helpless to make rules and regulations for commercial wireless. It was believed that a knowledge of the provisions of the British Government's agreement with the Marconi Company would simplify the question of commercial rules, but, despite this, it still appears that the convention will adjourn with nothing done to regulate commercially the wireless

THANKS FROM CHINA

Central Famine Relief Committee Write Mr. J. K. H. Pope.

The following is an extract from a letter received by J. K. H. Pope from Earl H. Cressy, assistant secretary of the Central China Famine Relief Committee, Shanghal: behalf of the Central China Famine Relief Committee, I wish to express to you our hearty thanks, and beg that you will, as far as possible, transmit to these who have made contributions some expression of our appreciation. "The famine is neary over for this year, and while we have been able to deal with only some thirty per cent of the need, it is some satisfaction to know that we have saved the lives of some half a million people. We are making efforts at present toward the prevention of famine in these districts during the years to come. The money which has come to us has been given in return for work on dykes and canals, which will be of help locally in preventing a recur-rence of the deplorable conditions this year. We have hopes that the Govern-ment may finally shoulder the whole re-sponsibility."

ST. THOMAS PEOPLE WANT SUNDAY CARS

Strong Resolution Passed by Trades and Labor Council Against Recent Action.

St. Thomas, Ont., June 27.-Following the judgment of Chancellor Boyd fining the London and Lake Erie Transportation Company for operating cars between London and Port Stanley on Sunday, in an action against the company by William Kerley, and the Lord's Day Alliance, it is understood that the company will not run to Port Stanley this coming Sunday, pending the appeal to the supreme court. A large majority of the citizens of St. Thomas are very indignant at what and Mr. D. Brocklebank of Arthur they consider to be the unwarranted Intereference of the local branch of the Lord's Day Alliance, which, in their view, looks like class legislation, preventing the poor man from getting to the lakeside, while the rich and well-to-do have their horses and auto-mobiles. Many citizens declare they will withdraw their financial support from the churches if the clergymen keep on instigating such movements through the Lord's Day Alliance.

Conveners for the various polling subdivisions were also appointed. Mr. James McEwing, ex-M. P. P. for West Wellington, and Mr. John Pritchard At a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last night in St. Thomas the following resolution was passed without a dissenting voice:
"The Trades and Labor Council condemns the action of the Lord's Day Alliance in using Mr. W. Kerley as an agent to keep the workingmen of St. Thomas from visiting the lakeside on Sunday by way of the traction line and denying them the right of breathing God's fresh air on the Sabbath a

Names of the Winners of the Different Events on the Programme of

The largest picnic of the year at Port Stanley was held Thursday by the Methodist Sunday school of Lambeth, and nine other Sunday schools of that vicinity, when over one thousand passengers were carried to Port by the London and Lake Erie Traction Company from points between Glendale and Tempo. The outing yesterday was the fourth annual of the Lambeth Sunday school, and in connection with it an innovation was tried which resulted in a far more successful outing than the committee had imagined. Invitations were sent to and accepted by the Sunday schools of Glendale, Littlewood, North Street, Sharon, White Oak Methodist Churches, the Tempo and South Delaware Presbyterian Churches, the Pine Grove union Sunday school, and Trinity Anglican Church of Lambeth.

Civic Holiday.

As Thursday was civic holiday in Lambeth, all the stores and places of business were closed, and everybody journeyed to Port Stanley. Nine special cars were furnished by the Traction Company, and the trip to Traction Company, and the trip to Port Stanley was made in quick time, the first car arriving there at half-past ten. #### GERMAN OFFICIALS AND SHIPPING POOL

Discrimination at Frontier Against the Independent Lines.

New York, June 28 .- At the continued hearing in the Government's suit to dissolve the so-called "shipping trust" to-day, attorneys for the defendant steamship companies sought to bring out, through the Government's witnesses, that the German Government, and not the alleged pool, was responsible for the fact that steerage passengers, who were to sail on an independent line, were turned back at the German frontier. Previous testimony had indicated that passengers to Rotterdam to take passage on ships of the independent Uranium Line were not allowed to go through Germany, but were forced to get new tickets good on lines alleged to be concerned in the "pool." Paul G. Foreman, passenger agent of the Uranium Line, was the Government witness questioned.

"Isn't it a fact that since 1908 immigrant passengers bound for America are not allowed to cross the German frontier to reach Rotterdam unless they pass a health examination at the German frontier?" asked John C. Spooner of counsel for the defence.

The witness said his line never object ed to its passengers being examined as leaders who aided in the renomination of to health at the German frontier, and he President Taft, the President learned for did not know why they had not been permitted to pass through Germany. They were stopped at the frontier "control" stations, he said.

"Don't you know that without exto pass its frontier?"

A most successful garden party was given at the residence of Mrs. Richmond, 181 Oxford street, last evening. under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Talbot Street Baptist Church. A large number were present, and the short programme, rendered by Misses Dale and Shoebottom, Messrs. Webster and Bate, and the Sunday school orchestra, was enjoyed by all. The committee in charge reports that the social was a great success in every way.

A Successful Affair.

A garden party and lawn social was given on the grounds of Christ Church rectory last night in aid of the A. Y. P. A., and it resulted in a great success, both financially and otherwise. In the absence of the rector, Rev. Gunne, Mr. R. Franks acted as chairman. A musical programme was given under the direction of Mr. Fred Fitzgerald, the organist of the church by Mr. and Mrs. May, Misses Hessel, and Gladys Webb, Messrs. Geo. Steer and Charles Foulkes, and the First Hussers Band. Strawberry Festival.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Memorial Methodist Church gave a very enjeyable and successful strawberry tival in the schoolroom last night. The room was decorated, and a number of booths for the sale of strawberries and cream, ice cream and cake, were erected in different parts of the building. During the evening a pro-gramme was given by Miss McLeod, Mrs. Eackrett, Miss Anderson and Mr. J. Chapman

PRESENTED WITH PURSE OF GOLD

Rev. George W. and Mrs. Dewey Hon ored by Young Men's Bible Class.

The Francis young men's Bible class of Empress Avenue Church gave a lawn social at the parsonage last evening, at which a splendid musical programme was rendered. The most pleasing event of the evening was the presentation to Rev. George W. and Mrs. Dewey of an address and a purse school during the past four years. The address was read by Mr. Wm. Glbson, and the presentation was made by Mrs. North. Rev. Mr. Dewey, on behalf of Mrs. Dewey and himself, made a very suitable reply.

The fellow-scholars of Miss Ruth

Dewey also presented her with a volume of Whittler's poems.

polled as to whether or not Mr. Bel-ment's presence in the convention was Bryan's Resolution. The storm became so great that Mr. Bryan decided to strike out that part of the resolution which would have dismissed Messrs. Ryan and Belmont from the convention, but insisted upon a vote on the first paragraph, "Resolved, that in this crisis in our to the people of the United States, and assures them that the party of Jefferson and of Jackson, is still the champion of popular government and equality before the law. As a proof of our fidelity to the people, we hereby declare ourselves opposed to the nomination of any candidate for president who is the representative or unspecial cause for satisfaction in Many of the delegates seemed misapprehend the resolution as the voting began, and there were many which soon afterward were noes, which soon afterward were changed to ayes, and the resolution was adopted by a wide margin over a two-thirds vote. Even the New York delegation, "not to be led into a trap," as one of them expressed it, voted for the resolution "noes."

The conservatives declared it would cement the opposition to Mr. Bryan, while the latter's friends claimed today that the result of the fight, as well as the result of the first ballot, a position to "dictate the nominee." The Demonstrations. The all-night session of the convention was picturesque. In all there were eight hours of oratory and demonstra-tions. The Clark and Wilson forces were the principal contestants in the struggle to see which could keep up as the ballots progress, and there is a chance that the big block of votes onstration, the first big one of the evening, lasted one hour and five minutes. The Wilson people, when their turn came, declined to quiet down until after they had passed the Clark re-cord, and added ten minutes to it. During both demonstrations many outsiders invaded the delegate section of the hall. During the Wilson burst several marching clubs came into the hall. There seemed today to be little chance of a stampede. Any attempt to nominate Mr. Bryan would meet with seeming to realize that this maze had to be threaded before the serious work of voting was begun. After day had broken and the artificial lights in the big armory were giving way before the gray shafts streaming through the windows, the pangs of hunger and the fatigue of the long sitting drew upon them and they began to call to the speakers to make what they had to say as brief as possible The wiser men among the scheduled orators heeded this advice. Those who attempted to make the eagle scream and the flag wave in wordy pictures were treated with scant ceremony. and asked immediate consideration of a resolution which would have thrown Thomas F. It required half an hour to call the roll and figure the results. Then came the motion to recess and it was carried despite the throaty-voiced protests of some delegates who were ready to go on with the battle to the bitter end. The session over, the big hall was emptied in a few minutes.

SEVENTH REGIMENT IS HOME AGAIN

"The Boys" Reached the City in Splendid Shape After Their Outing.

TRAINING WAS STRICT

Hussars Complain of the Service Accorded Them, on the London, Huron and Bruce Railway.

Five days in camp, a portion of the time in weather conditions that lent a touch of serious campaigning, were concluded by the men of the Seventh Fusiliers yesterday, the "boys" re-turning in a special train on the G. T. R. at 8 o'clock last evening. All were in excellent shape and bore tanned skins that might have come from the African veldt. Londoners did not provide much practice for the physicians of the camp hospital, George Dent, of A company, the lone patient from the ranks of the Seventh, being discharged yesterday morning.

The grand finale of the Goderich camp kept the men at work from 4 a.m., and when home was reached last evening, few expressed regret. Early in the day the Seventh Fusiliers, with other regiments of the First Brigade and Grey's Horse, were called out as the blue force to defend Goderich harbor against the reds.

Exciting Battle.

The battle was an exciting one, but during the melee the canvas was lowered and baggage and stores were loaded for the return trip. The Twenty-fifth Elgin Regiment followed the Sevfifth Elgin Regiment followed the Seventh off the camping grounds last night and today the Twenty-sixth came down the Bruce in a little less strenuous fashion than they proceeded north. The two London squadrons of the First Hussars and the Service Corps, in charge of Lieut. W. G. Coles, formed along the road out of camp and gave the boys of the Forest City a cheer as they passed out.

heer as they passed out. The First Hussars have some humorous stories to tell of their trip to the training camp. They assert that eight hours were consumed between London and Goderich, and that famous slow train through Arkansas looked like a runaway automobile in comparison.

Beat the Train. At one point up the Bruce the Hus-sars' train came upon a road paralleling that on which the Twenty-sixth Regiment was marching north from Lucan crossing. The Middlesex men made party's career, and in our country's an even start with the train, but were an even start with the centralia was a lot to the good when Centralia was reached. #### KING SENDS MESSAGE TO FRENCH CONGRESS

Pope Sends His Benediction and French Academy Congratulations.

[Canadian Press.]

Quebec, June 28 .- At the Congress of the French Language this morning, Bryan was at its height there were many hurried conferences on the floor of the hall, and anxious inquiries as bronze medal, commemmorative of the congress. He afterwards conferred in the name of Laval University the degrees of doctors in letters on the French poet Zidler, and Abbe Theller presentative of the clergy of France. Abbe Theller thanked Laval University in an admirable speech which was loudly applauded.

Mgr. Roy, auxiliary Bishop of Quebec, who presided at the sitting, read messages from the King of England, indicated that Mr. Bryan was still in the Pope and the French Academy in answer to the homages which the ongress had cabled.

The King's message read as follows: "I am commanded by the King to bank you and all who have associated themselves with you for the cordial and loyal sentiments you have expressed.

(Signed) "STAMFORDHAM." Cardinal Merry Del Val, secretary of state of the Vatican, sent the following: "Holy Father sensible to the hom age, filial attachment and submission and firm desire to keep forever intact the deposit of their faith tendered by French-Canadians assembled in Que-bec, sends heartily to yourself, to them and to their families apostolic benedic tion, and implores assurance of divine favors. (Signed) "Cardinal Merry Del Val."

The French Academy sent the fol owing cable:
"The French Academy is much ouched by your message, and sends to French-Canadians and Acadians of Canada and the United States its thanks and its most cordial congratu-lations for their valiant movement and their attachment to the best French traditions'
